

I am Another Yourself
© 2013 by Annabella Wood

I am another yourself.
I am a facet of you.
I'm not on your side, oh how could I be?
When I'm a different side of you.

I am another yourself.
We burst forth in different ways.
I to the north and you to the south.
Together a starburst we make.

I am another yourself.
Why would you want to change me?
Whatever you think, I think something else.
The truth lies somewhere in between.

What I'm trying to say, It's important to stay
True to who you are.
Life appointed you, To hold you point of view
And shine as you are.
You're a star...

I am another yourself.
I'm sure that we are one.
But that doesn't mean, we should be the same.
Our differences make life so fun.

I am another yourself.
I am a facet of you.
I'm not on your side, oh how could I be?
When I'm a different side of you.

I am another yourself. (I'm a different you.)
I am another yourself. (Shine a different hue.)
I am another yourself.