

THE YEARLINGS

“One of the best roots rock records I’ve heard from Australia, or anywhere, this year.”

★★★★☆ NOEL MENGEL, COURIER MAIL

For some time now The Yearlings have been calmly carving out a giant piece of real estate in the Australian alt. country landscape. Their latest album ALL THE WANDERING (Vitamin Records) is another gem to add to an already glittering catalogue.

Their fifth studio album ALL THE WANDERING, released in May 2014, ended up on many top album lists of the year, including a spot on Rhythms Magazine’s Top 10 by Marty Jones and a Top 50 spot for their song “Blue Sky Boy” on ABC Radio National’s Inside Sleeve with Paul Gough.

Since they met back in 2000, Robyn Chalklen and Chris Parkinson have been making music that exudes raw beauty, honesty, intimacy and passion, have made numerous festival appearances across Australia and internationally and supports include Steve Earle, The Punch Brothers and Justin Townes Earle. The Yearlings give a new strain of acoustic music, distilling Americana alt. country through the filter of distinctly Australian life.

With Parkinson’s signature tones and Chalklen’s hypnotic prose they deliver tunes with a confidence that carries an addictive fragility. Quiet, intimate, raw and powerful, drawing on influences as far reaching as The Band, Gillian Welch, Gerry Garcia and Matt Walker.

“This is the record I’ve been waiting for.”

MARTY JONES, RHYTHMS MAGAZINE

“In ALL THE WANDERING, individual crafts come together to create a polished river stone, so picking standout tracks on this record is an act of futility. Press play - they’ve taken care of everything.”

HAYWARD WILLIAMS
