

Dave was a child prodigy who took up the guitar at an early age and quickly destroyed because in his words "If you love something you must destroy it". He then inherited a new guitar in his early teen years and began writing music with lyrics that were inspirational to some and utterly devastating to others. Dave played in many different bands in the Northwest before moving to the Heartland to write and record music with several different local artists. He eventually moved back to Pacific Northwest where he lives today. Dave is currently playing Taylor guitars and Epiphone guitars.
