Forgive me. What did you say?
Even though it sounds cliché
I was deep in my thoughts
Even feeling quite distraught
'bout all the things that lead me to today

Even weak I know I'm strong
Though I'm tired keep pushing on
How much more will I have to take
Before there finally comes a break

I am not weak
Because of a moment of weakness
Do not think me meek
Because I'm trying to address
In which direction I must go
My tattered heart no longer knows
I dare not speak
I'm lost in this moment of weakness

Show me the way to a brighter day
To these changes underway
I surrender & I pray
These hardships all will fall away (bis)

Even weak I know I'm strong
Though I'm tired keep pushing on
How much more will I have to take
Before there finally comes a break

I am not weak
Because of a moment of weakness
Do not think me meek
Because I am able to confess

That there are times we all must grow
It's not about the status quo
To reach the peak
We all must overcome our weakness

I found the way to a brighter day
Didn't lose my head found my heart instead
There's so much more
Beyond our moments of weakness
I had a moment of weakness
