

The Chosen One

words & music Bianca Pittoors & Marc Langis

Copyright © Bianca Basso Inc. All rights reserved. Tous droits réservés.

We won't choose
I heard her say
You're both our friends
That's how it stands today
But when this life pulls you away
You know, you're not the chosen one

So life goes on Still we make our way
Taking deep breaths
Living day by day
Navigating this pain that wants to stay
When you know, you're not the chosen one

Wondering when in life it gets easier than this Believing beyond fairy tales there is a life of bliss
Breathing life into the dreams that you can not dismiss
Wanting to be the chosen one

You feel such pain within your heart
You're sure that it break
Looking to understand it all
Don't know how much you can take
In the dark, down on your knees
Only prayers can save you now
Asking for some guidance
A sign to show you how

And so it comes, as you're sitting in the pews
A voice so clear that you can not confuse
Live your joy, in the moment of each day
The suffering, is sure to fall away.
In the mirror you have found the chosen one