
ABOUT MHBS

Denver is known as The Mile High City. When you think of Denver you often think of a much larger geographical area than just Denver proper which is actually relatively small. People often refer to a Denver that spans several cities including, but not limited to, Arvada, Aurora, Brighton, Broomfield, Englewood, Golden, Highlands Ranch, Lakewood, Littleton, Northglenn, Thornton, Westminster and Wheatridge. The Mile High Blues Society is here to serve Denver and beyond and we welcome members from all over the state.

We believe a blues society needs to be rooted and concentrated among its members where we can provide the most support for our musicians, fans, venues and membership family. This is why the MHBS concentrates most of its efforts in the Denver Metropolitan area.

Our Board of Directors is elected by the members and all members are welcome to attend MHBS board meetings.

OUR FOCUS

- To work together as a close knit community to not only keep the blues alive but to grow the appreciation for blues in Colorado!
- To promote and present live blues shows and concerts featuring local and regional talent.
- Present the "Road To Memphis" International Blues Challenge competition for Colorado musicians.
- To stage the official MHBS blues jam, with top local musicians hosting and networking among musicians and fans.
- To work with youth musicians and encourage their appreciation of blues and performing live.
- To team with local charities for benefit concerts.
- To nurture appreciation for America's greatest music from which all other popular music springs, the Blues!
