Peter Apel has been a wonderful bonus to our preschool music curriculum. Most all of the children thoroughly enjoyed discovering that the voice on some favorite songs belonged to a real person. They enjoyed interacting with him, learning about the guitar and care of an instrument, and having their requests played live. He is very aware and sensitive to the attention span and interests of such a young audience.

I think it's wonderful to see an adult being silly and sharing their talents. I believe many young minds were inspired, to dance, to play, to sing and to respect the field of music.

With love and appreciation,
