Todd Grebe & Angela Oudean

We are a husband and wife duo that started "Cold Country Music" after moving back to Alaska, our home state, from Nashville, TN where we lived for several years playing and studying bluegrass, and Americana music. Todd is an accomplished guitarist and songwriter, and was awarded the Rasmuson Individual Artist Award in 2015 to promote his CD, "Citizen." Angela is a nationally recognized fiddler with an award from the International Bluegrass Music Assoc. for Album of the Year in 2006. Both of us were in Alaska's popular national touring band "Bearfoot." With them we taught kids music camps and school workshops all over Alaska and the Lower 48.

Do I need my own instrument? Yes. You can buy your own, or you can rent one from Petr's Violin Shop or another music shop in town.

What is a Fiddle? It's another name for a violin. If you play folk, or country music you call it a Fiddle.

Are there smaller instruments to fit smaller children? Yes. Violins come in many sizes, and smaller nylon string guitars are good for very small children.

What about Homeschool students and Grading? We are flexible to your needs and can work with parents and teachers to accomplish your goals.

Why Learn Folk Music? Because it is a social and cultural American music that you can play for the rest of your life with your friends and have tons of fun!!
