

ARCTIC SEA ICE LOSS

Predictions of sea ice loss by climate models have been compared with actual observations and measurements, which compliments how well models are representing the real world.