

Tried AND True JOB

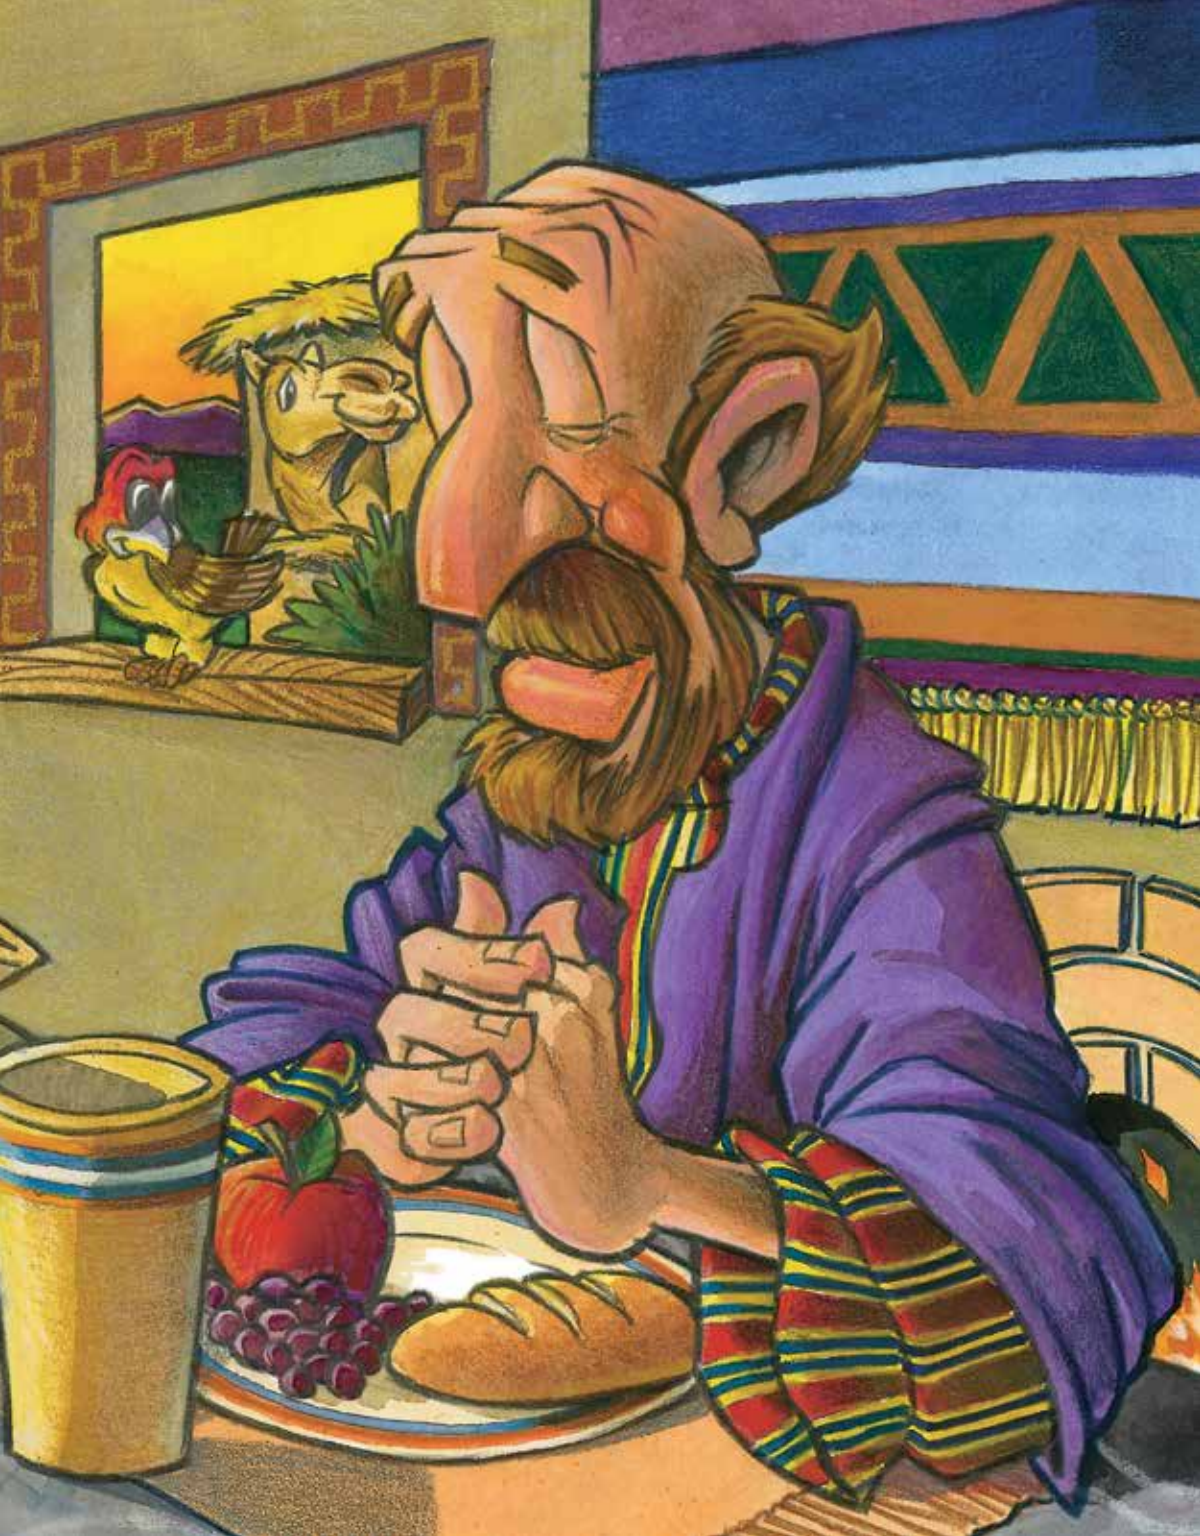

The Book of Job for children

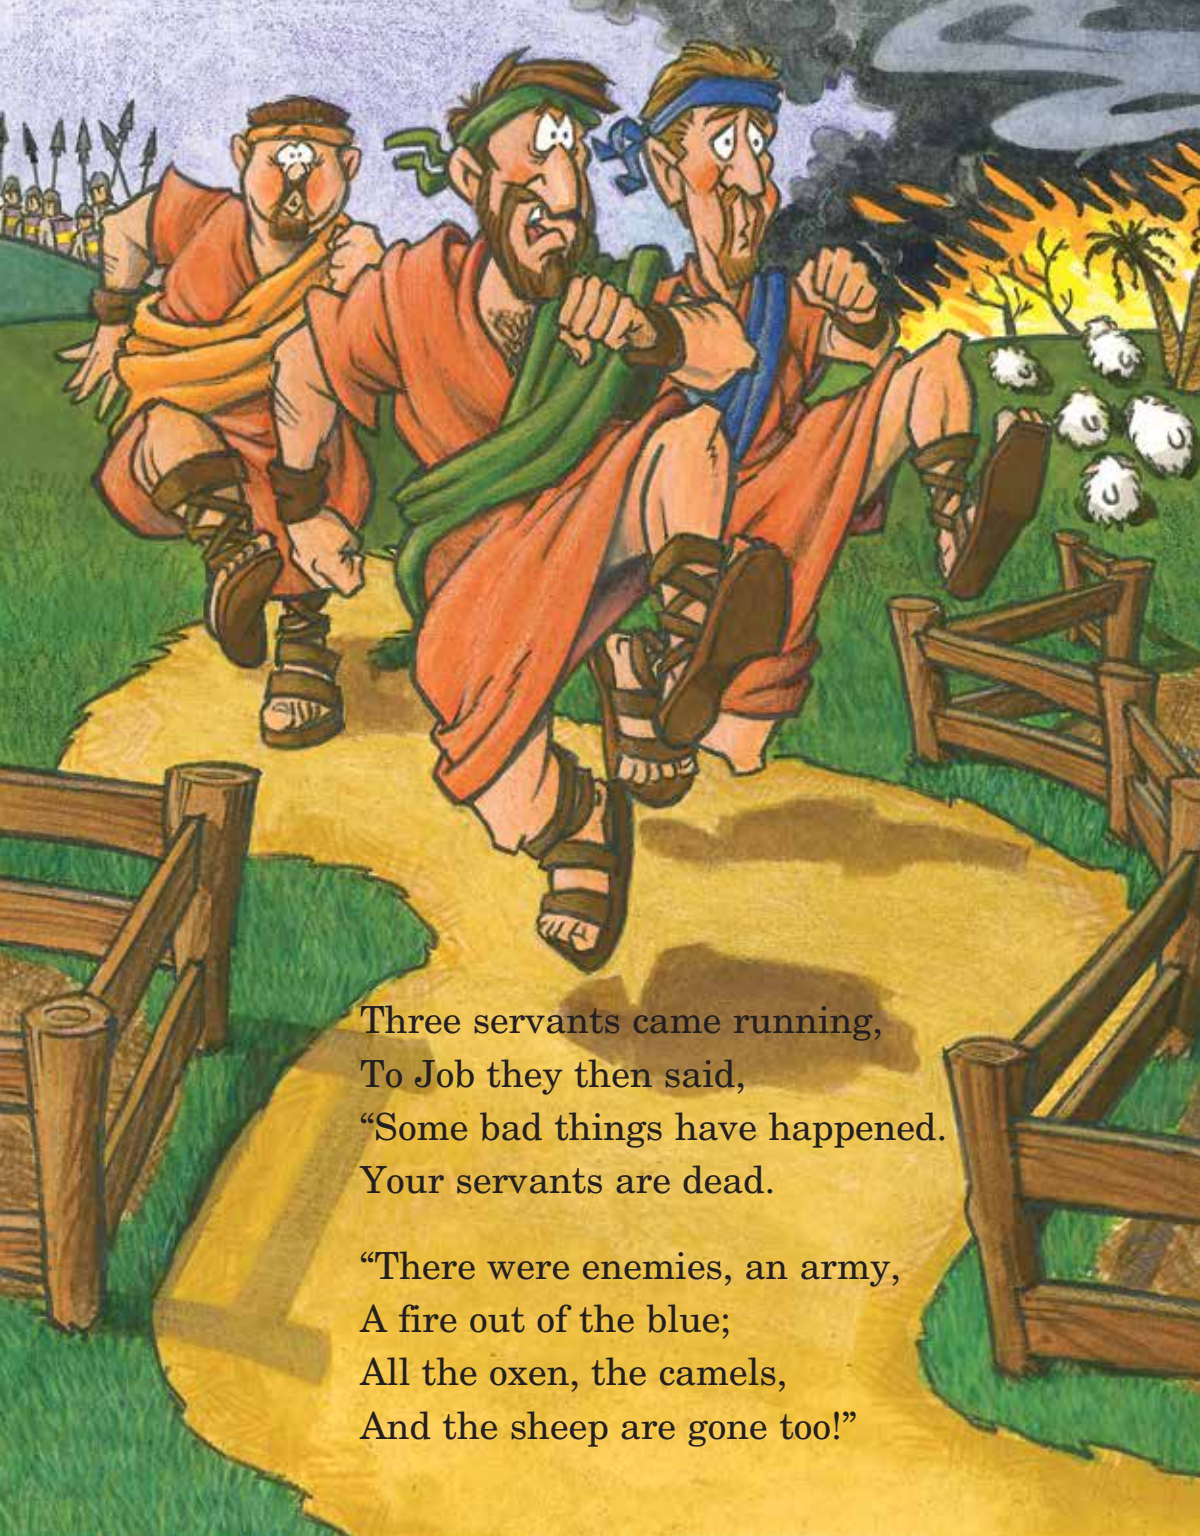

Written by Tim Shoemaker
Illustrated by Cedric Hohnstadt

Job got up in the morning,
Had some food, and got dressed.
He had no way of knowing
He was starting a test.

Satan said Job believed
Because God had blessed him.
God gave Satan a chance
To torture and test him.

Three servants came running,
To Job they then said,
“Some bad things have happened.
Your servants are dead.

“There were enemies, an army,
A fire out of the blue;
All the oxen, the camels,
And the sheep are gone too!”

A fourth servant ran up,
“The wind knocked your house flat.
Your kids were inside
And were killed—just like that.”

His children all dead.
Now what could be worse?
Oh, what had Job done
To deserve such a curse?

