

Jesus Enters Jerusalem

Matthew 21:1–11, Mark 11:1–11,
Luke 19:28–38, John 12:12–19
for children

Written by Jane L. Fryar
Illustrated by Michelle Dorenkamp

In spring of each and every year,
God's people came from far and near
To tell what their great God had done,
To shout the victory He had won.

"Let's praise our Lord who set us free
From Pharaoh and from slavery."
"You've saved us, God!" the people sang.
Along the road their glad song rang.

As Jesus neared the city gate,
He paused and asked His friends to wait.
He looked at them, then said to two,
“I have a job for you ... and you.”

“Go to the village over there.
Look for two donkeys—colt and mare.
Untie them. Bring them here to Me.
I need them, as you soon will see.

“If someone tries to stop you, say,
‘The Master sent us here today.
He needs the colt. Please, let us do
What our Lord Jesus told us to.’”