

THE CONCORDIA
ORGANIST

About The Concordia Organist

The Concordia Organist provides organ accompaniment for the hymns and liturgical music in Lutheran Service Book. It is designed to accompany singing both in and out of the sanctuary and in any situation where an organ or organist is not available.

Important features:

- Each hymn is found in its entirety on a single track.
- The number of stanzas matches that of Lutheran Service Book.
- Each hymn has an introduction.
- When a hymn has a final doxological stanza, a short bridge is played before the final stanza.
- Where appropriate, intonations are provided for liturgical music as separate tracks. These tracks may be skipped if they are not needed.
- Because the Psalms vary in length, only intonations are provided. The Psalm may then be sung unaccompanied.

Six hymns have unique features:

- LSB 447 “Jesus, in Your dying woes” only has three recorded stanzas. The track may be repeated seven times for each of the seven words of Christ.
- LSB 505 “Triune God, be Thou our stay” is offered in two versions. The first track may be used when only one stanza is sung. The second track may be used when three stanzas are sung.
- LSB 536 “One thing’s needful” is offered in two versions. The first track may be used when all five stanzas are sung. The second track may be used when only four stanzas are sung.
- LSB 922 “Go, My children, with My blessing” has an optional wedding stanza. When this version of the hymn is sung, the accompaniment for LSB 894 may be used.
- LSB 943 “Kyrie—I” is offered as two tracks. The first track may be used before the petitions, and the second track may be used as many times as necessary after each petition.
- LSB 951 “Alleluia—I” is offered as two tracks. The first track may be used before the verse, and the second track may be used after the verse.

While nearly every hymn in Lutheran Service Book and the twenty additional hymns in Lutheran Service Builder are provided, certain hymns were intentionally left out of this collection. LSB 776 “Come, Lord Jesus, be our guest” is meant to be sung in unison or in canon and has no accompaniment. The biblical canticles (LSB 925–929, 931, and 983–986) require chanting that cannot be accompanied by a recording.

The Concordia Organist was recorded between June 2008 and February 2009 on the organ housed in Kramer Chapel on the campus of Concordia Theological Seminary, Fort Wayne, Indiana. Built in 1958, it was the first large installation of Herman Schlicker, a third-generation organ builder. Though the organ has undergone minor tonal revisions in recent decades, it remains essentially the same instrument. Its three manuals and pedalboard control fifty-seven ranks of pipes, with the number of pipes totaling just over 3,000.
