DISCRETIONARY SELECTION (if applicable)

USA Cycling may choose to fill quota slots through the selection criteria in order to select athletes with medal capability in the Time Trial or Road Race; athletes who can contribute to medal winning efforts in the Road Race; or athletes who can achieve the best result for Team USA in the Time Trial or the Road Race.

Due to the nature of the sport of cycling, whereby tactics or happenstance often dictate results, and the competitive structure of Junior World Championship cycling, whereby selection of athletes to one event can be related to the selection of another event, USA Cycling has determined that the use of discretionary selection is essential to maximize Team USA’s medal chances overall. While it has established automatic criteria by which athletes, through extraordinary achievement, have demonstrated very clear evidence of high potential for winning a Junior World Championship medal, USA Cycling will use a discretionary selection process to select all athletes who have not qualified automatically.

If positions remain after the automatic criteria above have been applied, the USA Cycling National Team coach will recommend athletes, according to the criteria below, to the USA Cycling Selection Committee for selection to the Junior World Championship Team through discretionary selection. The Selection Committee will review data on all nominated athletes when considering the recommendations. The USA Cycling Selection Committee will consider the following criteria in any order when making selections for team-based events (Road Race). When making selections for individual events (Time Trial), only A., B., and C. may be considered in that order.

A. Medal Capable Athlete– A medal capable athlete is one who has clearly demonstrated the ability to produce a medal winning result in the competition for which the athlete is being selected for by achieving one of the following criteria:

- Winning a medal (top 3 finish) at the most recent Jr. World Championships and demonstrating the continuing ability to perform at that level or higher based on performances in International Competition in the last 12 months or

- Beating previous year’s Jr. Worlds medalists in International Competition in the event for which the athlete is being selected on multiple occasions in the past 12 months.

B. Future Medal Capable Athletes– An athlete who is future medal capable is one who has the potential to produce a medal winning result at the Junior or Elite World Championships or Olympic Games by:

- Demonstrating a trend of improving performance that, when logically extended out 2-5 years, in consideration of the athlete’s development path, intersects the future medal standard for the event under consideration

C. Best Predicted Finish - USA Cycling’s Selection Committee may choose the athlete or athletes who are most likely to finish with the highest placing in the event.

D. Athletes Who Maximize Team Performance - These selections are essential for the Road Race where the team director has devised a race strategy that designates one or more athletes as team leaders, and another athlete’s contribution may assist a team leader in achieving a top performance. For example, even though the Road Race event is scored individually, athletes who sacrifice their own individual result to execute a team strategy for the designated team leaders can have a profound impact on the ability of a team leader to achieve a top performance.

An athlete who can maximize team performance is one who, based on her or his experience, tactical proficiency, physical abilities, and willingness to work selflessly for the team objective, is expected to contribute to the performance of a medal capable team or designated team strategy. An athlete who can maximize team performance must have the right combination of physical ability, skill, knowledge and attitude. Athletes will be selected to play specific roles within the team based on their demonstrated physical capacities, skillset and experience fulfilling their roles. The coaches’ judgement supported as much as possible by objective data, described below, will be used to differentiate between athletes being selected for team event roles.

This criterion does not apply to the individual event of the Time Trial.

Importance of International Competition in Discretionary Selections
As used herein, “International Competition” includes any competition in which the field of athletes is sufficiently strong that performances in that competition are indicative of how an athlete can perform in the competition that the discretionary selection is for. International Competitions need not occur outside the United States, as “international” refers to the competitiveness of the field (i.e., includes many of the best riders from leading cycling nations around the world), not the location of the event.

Data to Support Discretionary Selections
When athletes on the Long Team are eligible for discretionary selection, due to the availability of quota slots after automatic selection, Long Team athletes and the National Team coach will be given the opportunity to submit data to the Selection Committee for consideration in the discretionary selection.

In addition to performances in International Competition or competitions specified in the Athlete Selection Procedures, the Selection Committee may consider for discretionary selections, as appropriate to the discipline, the following:

1. All selection categories – Validatable and credible performance data such as times on courses (or portions of courses) of similar length or course profile and/or in similar environmental conditions to the event being selected for; athlete power data; or aerodynamic drag data (if relevant); or event and specific role demand data.

2. Athletes Who Maximize Team Performance Only – Demonstration of successful execution of relevant team tactics and evidence of being able to meet the physical requirements of the event being selected for when considering key factors like course profile, environmental conditions, and levels of competition. Specifically, single day road races similar in length and topography to the Junior World Championship Road Race will be most strongly considered.

3. Choosing between multiple athletes in a selection category (Medal Capable, Best Predicted Finish, Athletes Who Maximize Team Performance) – In addition to the data described in 1 and 2 above, data may also include any or all of the following in no specific order of priority:

- Race results in top international competitions;
- Race results in top national level competitions;
- Head to head competition results or performances between multiple athletes in consideration for a discretionary position.

The inclusion and order of priority for any data set may be different from event to event as determined by the USA Cycling Coaching staff and USA Cycling Selection Committee.

USA Cycling Selection Committee
Recommendations for discretionary nominations will be made by the USA Cycling National coaching staff. However, the USA Cycling Selection Committee (see the USA Cycling website for member names) will review data on all petitioning athletes and approve ALL athlete nominations using the discretionary criteria described above.

Any member of the selection committee that has a possible conflict of interest must disclose it. Another member of the Selection Committee may also raise a potential conflict of interest of another member. For any conflict raised, the remainder of the selection committee will decide if the conflict is material by vote. In the case of a tie, the tie will be broken by the USA Cycling Vice President of Elite Athletics. If such conflict exists, the selection committee member must recuse him/herself from committee discussions and voting. Further, the committee member should not otherwise influence other members of the committee in the nomination process. However, a committee member who recused him/herself, but who has relevant and necessary information with respect to athlete performance, may, if requested by the selection committee, provide such information to the committee so long as such information is provided in a fair and unbiased manner and the committee member who declared the conflict of interest does not vote toward the final decision.
