AROUND THE CSAC

BAPTIST BIBLE

The Defender golf team will kick off their spring season this week on Thursday, as they participate in a quad-match at the University of Scranton against the host school, Wilkes University and Keystone College.

CABRINI

With the cancellation of the Cabrini College Quad last week, the Cavaliers did not compete last week. They will return to the course today, in the Immaclata Spring Invitational at Pickering Valley Golf Course.

CAIRN

The Highlanders played in one match this past week at the Dickinson Spring Invitational. This match featured the hosts along with their "White" team as well as Gettysburg College and Cairn. The Highlanders finished in fourth out of the four teams with a 356. Cairn showed much improvement over their first match of the spring season; shooting 31 strokes better. The Highlanders will take the next week off and return to action on April 13.

CENTENARY

The Centenary golf team will begin competition Monday March 30th at the Immaculata Invitational.

IMMACULATA

The IU golf team did not compete this past week, but they will host the Immaculata Invitational at Pickering Valley Golf Club on Monday afternoon.

AROUND THE CSAC

Keystone was idle this past week and is scheduled to return to the links on Thursday with a match against the University of Scranton at the Glenmaura National Country Club in Moosic, Pennsylvania. The Giants defeated the Royals 328-334 when the two squads met in the fall at the Stonehedge Golf Course.

KEYSTONE

Marywood did not have any matches this past week and is scheduled to return to action April 6 when they host the "Marywood Invitational" at Glenmaura National Golf Club.

MARYWOOD

Neumann participated in the Griffin Invitational on Tuesday. The Knights came away with a score of 331. Neumann finished in eighth place out of 14. Brendan Thompson led the Knights with a score of 79. Neumann will participate in the Spring Golf Invitational at Pickering Valley Golf Club on Monday before taking part in the Philadelphia University Invitational at the ACE Club on Saturday.

NEUMANN

The spring season commences on Monday as Rosemont participates in the Susquehanna Spring Invitational on Monday afternoon. Next week the Ravens will play at the Lebanon Country Club in an event hosted by Lebanon Valley College.
