Enter a Spray Tan Booth and Exit as an Entrepreneur!

They aren't Clark Kent changing in a telephone booth. They may not leap tall buildings in a single bound. 'Superman' isn't part of their identity. But they are using a spray tan booth to change into money making entrepreneurs. We're talking about mobile spray tan stylists. These business owners are starting mobile spray tan businesses in a time when spray tans are all the rage. Spray tanned bodies look bronzed and confident. Customers can't get enough of looking their best without the health risks of traditional tanning salons. Mobile spray tan stylists are taking advantage of this knowledge.

One of the great things about the spray tan industry is that it is projected to be one of the top 10 fastest growing businesses in 2012. This is great news for a lot of folks who were struggling to make ends meet due to a faulty economy. As one working mom puts it "Have Spray Tan Booth, Will Travel!"

The mobile spray tan business has many perks appealing to people of all backgrounds. Some are moms working in the evenings. Others are college students looking to help pay their tuition added to the expense of living on their own. Still, others are shrewd business owners who recognize that this is a great business opportunity with little overhead beyond a small investment and a limited amount of necessary equipment. Pick up a spray tan booth (aka 'spray tan tent'), invest in a portable spray tan machine with accompanying accessories and you are on your way. Companies like REMOVED FOR PRIVACY even help you out with marketing materials, business recommendations and other instructions.

Interested entrepreneurs have questions about exactly what a spray tan booth is, how it works and if a mobile spray tan business is feasible for everyone. Most spray tan stylists will tell you that the hours are great because you determine when you work. You can decide how far you will travel, how much you want to charge for a tan and pretty much make your own rules for your business. As for the spray tan booth? Those are obtainable and easily set up if you select wisely. "Choose a tent that is easily set up. It shouldn't take you more than a minute to have it ready to go. Also, look for a tent that is six pounds or less," advises John Elemond*, CEO of a prominent spray tanning chain.

Spray tan booths/tents are found along with eco-friendly and 100% plant certified organic tanning solutions and skin care products at REMOVED FOR PRIVACY. You can also choose from a variety of tanning equipment to keep your spray tanning business ahead of the competition.
