I cannot tell you, my beloved Brother how gratified I feel, that the journey you took out of kindness to me present entirely satisfactory to you - it delighted me to see you, and will long be remembered with gratitude, that you visited them in their own homes and became acquainted with their children.
You see we are still with I suppose we have escaped the hot season in Phil^a - here we have enjoyed a very pleasant ~~atmosphere~~ atmosphere climate sitting with closed windows every evening. There has been sufficient rain to keep vegetation in good order. but I cannot say much in favor of Canada fruits & vegetables perhaps the latter may be owing to a defect in their gardening arrangements

we hear regularly from Horace, who makes no complaints of his solitary house-keeping. He dined with Ben & Eliza on Sunday, and took a lesson of patience from him, Fanny & Mary being the only members of that family at home. As the Doc^r he always finds an agreeable conversation in Sally Hays. His last letter says she was suffering with a cold, he feared it might be the commencement of her annual attack. I have at length got rid of my cough and its attendant inconveniences, and hope, as I feel is also well, that the remainder of our sojourn here will be more agreeable.
The Prince's visit is still occupying the imagination of his loyal subjects (ah!) we walked to the Genl's house on the Mountain, preparing for his use, it is undergoing an entire refit & repair The situation is really beautiful, surrounding an extensive view of fine scenery

Sam & Julia desire their affectionate remembrance to you & Ann & the dear girls.

I have begged from my dearest Uncle to send you my thanks for the pleasure your short visit gave us. And to assure you that whenever you come back either alone or with your family your presence at our home would always give us so much happiness.

My precious Aunt has quite recovered from her cold and is looking very well. And cheerful. Will you present me kindly to my Kentucky friends that remember me and with affectionate greetings to Aunt Ann & your daughters

Ever believe me your loving niece
