My Dear Ann

He arrived here on Monday, and I take the earliest opportunity to apprise our Dear Ben and yourself how greatly you surely would add to our satisfaction. I left home very reluctantly, from a conviction how little congenial such a place as this would be to my present feelings, but yielded to the wishes of those around me, and hope to derive benefit from the water, tho' by no means disposed to mingle in the crowd.

We left our sister wife, Rosa Mulcahey is with her, we brought Minnie to Troy to join her family and were glad to find the Major & Liza so well pleased with their new home, I suppose Waterloo the most desirable station, though they will find the winter climate rather severe. at present it is lovely. So has promised to spend a day there next week. it is less than two hours journey from here.

My letters from Saco give very satisfactory accounts of the move--ing of her little boy. the girls were all well before she left.
Phil & Mrs Blair are travel-ling some where to the North, Lizzie writes that they will go to Mon--real, Mr B's health is the object of their journey. it must have been a trial to her mother, to have Lizzie at this time. Her -journeys family too are absent.

our dear Mary Briggs wrote me a few hasty lines before she sailed. Mr R suddenly de-

Please let us know when you will come, that I may engage rooms, as at this season there is always difficulty in getting good ones.

I receive his love. give mine to my dear Ben and believe me, ever my dear Ann your affectionate sister
