

particular of her - the youngest of my dear family - daughter of my dear friend her little Emily companion, & so often described - I sent you dispatch on the 5th Jan. a containing some tidings, & would safely, if not, let will inquire about it at the but Brother Jac continues as when Ben was here the rest of My dear received his Whiskey & day, and with no doubt perform his friend of its perfection - his thanks I know he was much gratified by the letter which accompanied it & rather immaculate its arrival

I will tell my dear Anna, accept the love of all this house hold - and give mine with cordial good wishes to all my beloved ones in Lexington - and believe me ever most affectionately Your sister W. G.

Remember me to Mrs. Brewster
J. M. MacCallister -

...entirely unable to assist her for the last year, she is fond of sweetening Baruch's table usually with her own a good deal during the winter. Sara is still under the nursery, not being able to she has to depend on a very people who will never make she has been obliged to provide one. Her baby has been sick these months over, the wife is much and spirit the necessary care of her wife interest her and effect her case she carries a listless, dejected of this maternal duty and the child, dejected or other members of her family. Truly writes cheerfully of her boys. Sara is almost thirteen years old. They are all well. Our sister Mary enjoys excellent health this winter. The happiness of one dear friend's visit is still a favorite theme with us. He looked so well and was so full of love for us all that the dear delight of recalling the period he was with us, is a renewal of its enjoyment.
Sister Hoffman & Norrie shared the pleasure of our domestic evenings. If he were here now he would be called away from us frequently to gay scenes. Mrs. Ruth's grand ball took place last night. Is the sales