

Washington has no doubt told you, My dear Maria that Sally is recovering. or Sally Ogden who saw her on Friday can give you a more particular account of her than he. She has had no unfavourable symptoms since, and I now hope will have no further drawback. Your dear little George has I hope recovered as you do not mention him in your last I conclude your anxiety on that score has ceased. I hope you do not allow him to go to school except on sun shining days his education at this early period is of much less importance than the husband is worth. nor is it paying you a compliment to say - he may be better instructed at home than with Mr Stansbury for the present. I shall rejoice to hear that your husband has retained the' by the papers I find there is not much dispatch used in the Council. and he will not be Secunder as soon as might been expected.

Our Troops are just forming their parade notwithstanding the rain and snow. the George. Is a great soldier to day with a big sword & cap and I wish he was here to see him. Mrs. Ainge gives a grand Ball here for the Birth-night. this is the first time in my recollection that there has been no Public Ball for the Gentry of Phil^a - they have had no city Assembly either this winter, yet I am told the fashionables are very gay -

I beg you will feel no concern about my health, My Dear Friend, I shall
