

329
poor thing! ought to come home for the benefit of her spirits for she cannot get any sympathy in her affliction, at home, where she has a right to look for it, she ought to be allowed to come among her own friends where she will find those who will, than who will not do ~~wrong~~ even that good may come of it - - Mrs Gratz says I must tell you from

My friends must be disease I suffer and ought to rejoice to Tell Elizabeth that with her learning & will come up to see & know you promise

so I thank you again and as to sense. I can since feeling towards intentions were good of charity I cannot
2. Give my best love to see you both here your attached sister M.S.

mere ten thousand times however that little symptom of repentance makes me have a slight sensation of compassion for you - 'Hush!' how strange are thy ways. I remember once upon a time old Joe Scott was quite in a passion with that fourth son balking of ~~Butts~~ Jack
- son before the "gals" - it was the first time I ever