Last Return of EXPORTS for one Year, £46,784.

Consisting principally of Wool, Timber, Oil, Tallow, &c.

NAPIER.

Napier is the capital of the Province of Hawke's Bay, and is situated about 200 miles by sea from Wellington, and 370 from Auckland. It possesses a fair harbour for steamers and coasting craft. Various villages and townships are also springing up in the province.

POPULATION, 1,827.

STEAM COMMUNICATION.

Steam communication between Sydney and Auckland at least once a month, sometimes more frequently. Fares—Saloon, from 13 to 15 guineas to Sydney, and 4 guineas to Auckland.

Average time of transit 10 days to Sydney, 2 days to Auckland.

There is steam communication to the different ports of New Zealand. Fares according to distance.

The passage from London is performed by Clipper Ships in about 90 days. Fares—Saloon Cabin, 50 guineas and upwards; Second Cabin, 30 guineas; Third Cabin (intermediate) £18, enclosed berths; Third Cabin, £16, open berths.

NELSON.

This Province of New Zealand is situated in the north of the Middle Island. On the south it is bounded by Hurunui and Grey rivers, separating it from the province of Canterbury. Its surface is chiefly mountainous, rising in Mount Franklin to 10,000 feet. It is rich in mineral wealth of all descriptions, and the climate is by its inhabitants said to be the finest even of New Zealand.

SUPERINTENDENT—His Honour O. Curtis.

EXTENT, 15,000,000 square acres.

POPULATION, about 25,000.

PRINCIPAL TOWNS.

Nelson, Dillon, Grey, Buller, and Motueka.

Consisting principally of Ales, Wines and Spirits, Apparel, Hardware, Stationery, Machinery, &c.

Last Return of EXPORTS for one Year, £650,400.

Consisting principally of Gold, Wool, Copper, Coal, &c.

NELSON.

Nelson, the capital of the Province, about 150 miles by sea from Wellington and New Plymouth, was the third settlement founded by the New Zealand Company. Standing on the margin of a dock-like harbour, at the bottom of a noble bay, and protected from cold south winds by a circle of precipitous hills, Nelson enjoys a climate of brilliant serenity.

POPULATION, about 9,000.

STEAM COMMUNICATION.

Frequent Communication between Melbourne and Sydney, and the principal ports of New Zealand, by Steamers. Fares:—Saloon, from 13 to 15 guineas to Melbourne and Sydney, and 5 to 6 guineas to Auckland. There is Steam Communication between the different ports of New Zealand.

OTAGO.

The Province of Otago comprises the larger portion of the southern part of the Middle Island of New Zealand, and has Canterbury on the north. Its area is about four-fifths that of Scotland. It is well watered, and possesses excellent harbours, the most important of which is Port Chalmers, one of the most securely land-locked and picturesque bays in the world. The original settlers were connected with the Free Church of Scotland, but any exclusiveness has long since passed away. The average temperature being remarkably even at all seasons of the year, it much resembles that of England, with half the cold of the English winter. It is eminently adapted for agricultural and pastoral pursuits. The gold-fields are a permanent source of wealth in Otago.

SUPERINTENDENT—His Honour James Macandrew.

EXTENT, 20,876 square miles.

POPULATION, about 55,000.

PRINCIPAL TOWNS.

Dunedin, Oamaru, Palmerston, Hampden.

PRINCIPAL PRODUCTS.

Gold, Gum, Oils, Timber, Wool, &c.

TRADE RETURNS.

Last Return of IMPORTS for one Year, £1,639,516.

Consisting principally of Ales, Wines and Spirits, Boots and Shoes, Coals, Drapery, Hardware and Cutlery, Iron, Ironmongery, Flour, Sugar, Tea, Tobacco.

Last Return of EXPORTS for one Year, £1,160,147.

Consisting principally of Gold and Gold-dust, Gum, Oil of all kinds, Timber, Wool.

DUNEDIN.

Dunedin is the chief town of Otago, and the seat of Government. It is finely situated, on the Upper Harbour, backed by hills, presenting the appearance of an amphitheatre, with the houses rising in tiers to the summit. There are many public edifices, the town is well laid out, lighted with gas, and well supplied with water and every convenience.

POPULATION, about 23,000.

STEAM COMMUNICATION.

Frequent communication between Melbourne and Otago by steamers. Average time of transit 7 to 8 days. Fares—Saloon, from 13 to 15 guineas.

Time of voyage from England by sailing vessels 90 to 110 days. Fares—Saloon, 50 guineas and upwards; Second Cabin, 30 guineas; Third Cabin (intermediate) £18; Third Cabin, £16.

There is steam communication to the different ports of New Zealand. Fares according to distance.

TASMANIA.

This island, better known by its former name of Van Diemen's Land, is situated south of Australia from which it is separated by Bass's Straits, about 129 miles in width. The climate is very salubrious, and well adapted to the constitution of English people. It exports largely to Australia, especially to Victoria. The soil is fertile, and the woods are very fine and abundant. Coal is found in most parts of the island. Tasmania has a Governor, appointed by the Crown, assisted by responsible members, and a Parliament composed of a Legislative Council and House of Assembly.

CAPE COLONY.

The Cape Colony was founded originally by the Dutch, about the year 1652. It was taken in 1796 by the English, who, at the peace of Amiens, gave it up, but took possession again in 1806, from which time it has remained a British colony. The Cape Colony is usually divided into the eastern and western districts. The principal occupations of the people are the production of wool, wine, the breeding of horses, sheep and cattle, and the culture of wheat, &c. The Government is vested in a Governor and Executive Council, appointed by the Crown, with a Legislative Council and House of Assembly.

CAPE TOWN.

This city is built on a gradual slope, between Table Bay and Table Mountain, at the foot of the latter. As the seat of Government, and the capital of the colony, the public business is concentrated there. It has now telegraphic communication with the principal places, and a railway has been opened about sixty miles in length, which passes through the most fertile and most populous parts of the country. A great trade is carried on by the coast, and internal traffic is being opened up in all directions. There is a regular line of steamers from England to Cape Town, and communication thence with Natal and intermediate ports.

POPULATION, 29,823.

PORT ELIZABETH.

Port Elizabeth, the port of Algoa Bay, is the chief seaport to the eastern districts of the colony. It is 85 miles from Grahamstown, and its position enables it to command the most of the trade of the eastern districts, as well as the Free State. Its advance has been most rapid. It contains many fine buildings, and a handsome Town Hall, a Custom House, an Educational Institute, and several places of religious worship. The inhabitants, who are nearly all of British origin, are remarkable for their energy and enterprise in commercial matters, and the town bids fair to attain the highest rank among the towns of the colony.

POPULATION, about 20,000.

GRAAFF-REINET.

This town, the capital of the midland districts, is one of the most pleasing and regularly laid out in the colony. It is about 160 miles north of Port Elizabeth, and 142 from Grahamstown. Few towns have advanced so steadily as Graaff-Reinet, owing, in a great degree, to the energy of its inhabitants. Much business is done in the town, which supplies the surrounding villages of Hanover, Hopetown, Richmond, Murraysburg, Aberdeen, &c. The seasons are nearly the opposite of ours; the climate in winter is much colder, in consequence of the elevation of the locality, than on the coast. There are no manufactures; everything can be imported cheaper than it can be made. In the stores of the general dealers almost everything can be had. This description of business arises out of the necessities of the population, who visit the town periodically for the supply of all their requirements.

POPULATION, about 4,000.

GRAHAMSTOWN.

This is the principal town of the Eastern Province, and the head-quarters of the British troops. Its principal trade is with the sheep farmers of the surrounding districts, which produces an increasing supply of wool. It is a large town, and very pleasantly situated, the scenery in the neighbourhood being very romantic. It is a cathedral city, has a public library, several literary and philanthropic societies, a well laid-out Botanic Garden, and a Natural History Society. In aspect the town is pleasing, with wide streets, and many good buildings, public and private.

POPULATION, including the Districts of Albany and Bathurst, about 22,000.

COMMUNICATION.

From Port Elizabeth by road to Grahamstown, distance 84 miles.

KING WILLIAMSTOWN.

King Williamstown, the largest town on the eastern border of the Cape Colony, is situated on the left bank of the Buffalo River, about 80 miles east of Grahamstown, and 36 from the port of East London. It is a town of considerable size, containing many houses, churches, and some large military buildings. It possesses a handsome Town Hall, a Botanic Garden, Public Library, Banks, and a flourishing Agricultural Society. It is 680 miles from Cape Town, and 165 from Port Elizabeth. A few years since, it was the Capital of British Kaffraria, a Crown colony, but in 1866 it was annexed to the Cape. Being exposed to the incursions of barbarous native tribes, it is obviously the most suitable site for the head-quarters of the military. The climate is salubrious, the surrounding country very picturesque, and sportsmen have ample scope for indulging in their favourite pursuit. The district is remarkable for its splendid sheep-walks, and its agricultural capabilities.

POPULATION (including Natives), about 50,000.

NATAL.

The colony of Natal was discovered by Vasco di Gama, on Christmas-day, 1497, and hence its name. It lies on the south-east coast of Africa, about 800 miles from the Cape of Good Hope. Its only harbour is Durban, or Port Natal, which admits only vessels of a certain tonnage. The climate varies according to situation from tropical to nearly European winter, and is very healthy. Its vegetable products are valuable, and coal, ironstone, limestone and marble are among its mineral products, which promise great increase. The principal towns possess municipal institutions. In 1856 it was erected into a separate and distinct colony, with a Lieut.-Governor, aided by an Executive Council, and a Legislature. The capital is Pietermaritzburg, on a branch of the Umgeni River, about 50 miles inland from Durban.

SIERRA LEONE.

Sierra Leone (Mountain of the Lion), the most considerable of our British possessions in the west coast of Africa, consists of a Peninsula 18 miles in length by 12 in breadth. The climate is moist and unhealthy, especially during the wet season, from May to September. The exports are chiefly, gold, palm oil, palm-nuts, ivory, and teak timber, used in our dockyards under the name of African oak. Freetown is the seat of the Central Government of the West Indian settlements. The Governor is assisted by an Executive and Legislative Council.

ST. HELENA.

This island lies in the South Atlantic Ocean, 800 miles from Ascension and 1,200 from the nearest point of the African Continent. It was discovered by the Portuguese in 1501, on the 21st May (St. Helena's day). It was taken possession of by the Dutch, from whom it was taken in 1673, by Captain Munden, of the English Navy, and soon afterwards the East India Company obtained a charter for its occupation from Charles II. It was by them ceded to the British Government. It is frequented by ships on their homeward voyage from the East Indies, for fresh provisions and water, which constitute the chief trade of the island. Only one good inlet exists on the north-west of the island, St. James's Bay, with a good harbour where the chief town stands.

DOMINION OF CANADA.

The Dominion of Canada is a name given in 1867 to the provinces of Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. The first settlement was made by the French and called Quebec. From them, in 1759, Quebec was taken by General Wolfe, and the whole territory was given up to the British. The Governor-General and Privy Council possess the executive authority, and the legislature is vested in a Parliament composed of the Queen, Senate, and House of Commons. The capital of Canada is Ottawa, situated on a river of the same name. The most valuable part of Canadian commerce is Timber, though the progress of agriculture, which is advancing rapidly, will ere long produce a great change in this respect. The fisheries are valuable, and the mineral products, though not yet fully developed, comprise Iron, Zinc, Lead, Copper, Silver, &c. Recently there has been a large trade in Petroleum. From May to September are the seasons of Spring, Summer and Autumn, in October the frosts begin, and in November and December are snow storms. Then succeeds an intense dry frost, lasting till April or May. In all parts of Canada the air is dry and healthy. The French inhabitants of Lower Canada still preserve their native language and customs.

As the Exemptions form such a large portion of the Tariff, they are included alphabetically in the foregoing Table.

All articles manufactured or grown in any of the provinces, now forming the Dominion, are admitted free of duty.

PROHIBITIONS.

The following articles are prohibited to be imported, under a penalty of two hundred dollars, together with the forfeiture of the parcel or package of goods in which the same may be found, viz.:—Books, Drawings, Paintings and Prints, of an immoral or indecent character; Coin, base or counterfeit.

MONTREAL.

This is the chief seat of commerce of Canada East, situated 140 miles from Quebec. It is divided into an upper and a lower town; in the latter, along the river, the trade is principally carried on, and in the former reside the principal merchants. Montreal is connected by railway with New York, Boston, and Portland. There is a magnificent bridge, across the St. Lawrence at Montreal, which completes the entire chain of railway communication between the Atlantic and the Western States of America. It has an increasing trade in cast-iron founding, distilling, brewing, and ship building, with factories for soap, candles, tobacco, hardware, and floor-cloth. Montreal was founded in 1640, and taken from the French in 1760.

POPULATION about 130,000

HALIFAX.

This is a maritime city, and the capital of Nova Scotia on the South East Coast. It stands on the declivity of a hill 250 feet high, facing the harbour, and its houses are mostly of wood, though recently they have been constructed of stone and brick. Its chief trade is with North America, West Indies, and the United States. Its exports are preserved fish, timber, coal, grindstones, corn, flour, cattle, cheese, butter, whale and seal oils, and furs. Its imports are colonial produce from the West Indies, timber and flour from the United States, and manufactured goods from Great Britain. It has some manufactures, a considerable fishery and lumber trade. It was founded in 1749 by the Hon. Edward Cornwallis, Governor of Nova Scotia, who named it in honour of the Earl of Halifax.

POPULATION about 50,000.

KINGSTON.

The chief town of the county of Frontenac, is situated at the head of the river St. Lawrence, where lake Ontario, the last link of the chain of the inland seas of Western Canada, together with the Bay of Quinte and the Great Cataraqui Creek, is united to the channel which conveys and empties their waters into the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Kingston, at no distant day, promises to be an important manufacturing city. Already the trade of ship building has arrived at great proficiency. Sailing vessels and steamboats of every capacity are here built and fitted out with every requisite for lake or ocean navigation. The Marine Railway has built and fitted out several large vessels, which have been loaded and sent direct from Kingston to England. The Grand Trunk Railway passes within a mile of the city, connecting with the city by a branch. The city possesses two colleges, Queen's and Regopolis, and considering its resources, is perhaps possessed of the best common schools in the province. It is distant from Montreal 198 miles, and from Toronto 165 miles.

POPULATION, 15,000.

OTTAWA.

This is the new capital of Canada, situated at the Rideau River, on the south-west side of the Ottawa River, which is crossed by a fine suspension bridge. The river divides Upper from Lower Canada, entering the St. Lawrence about 40 miles west of Montreal, after a course of 600 miles. The navigation is much impeded by rapids and cataracts, which add much to the beauty of the scenery.

POPULATION, about 25,000.

TORONTO.

This is the capital of Ontario, the largest, and in every respect the most important city, with a population of 80,000. It is well situated on Lake Ontario, and is very handsomely built, containing probably as large a number of fine buildings as any city of the same size in the world. The mean temperature of the year is $44^{\circ} 4'$, winter $26^{\circ} 4'$, summer $63^{\circ} 8'$. The harbour, a circular bay, of $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile across, is formed by a peninsula projecting into the lake for about six miles.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

British Columbia and Vancouver Island constitute a British Colony, lying on the North West Coast of North America. British Columbia formed a part of the Hudson's Bay territory, but in 1858 a great immigration from California, attracted by the gold found in the rivers, rendered it necessary to secure order and protection to life and property, and the country was formed into a colony. At first it was placed under a Governor, who issued laws, sanctioned by the Imperial Parliament, but in 1863, a Legislative Council was established. The population is migratory. Agricultural operations during the last few years have developed the good quality of the soil, and the climate is agreeable. Besides gold, the country produces excellent timber, wheat, barley, and oats, and there is a considerable trade in furs.

GOVERNOR—Anthony Musgrave, Esq.

EXTENT, 202,080 square miles.

SOUTH & CENTRAL AMERICA, WEST INDIES, &c.

BRAZIL.

This is by far the most extensive State in South America, extending upwards of 2,000 miles from North to South, and about the same from East to West. Of its population, nearly a million and a half are slaves, and the Indians are estimated to number about 5,000,000. No country in the world can boast of so many or so large rivers, among which are the Amazon and its mighty tributaries, the Parana, Araguay, Paraguay, and Uruguay, which uniting form the estuary of La Plata. It contains immense forests, abounding in the greatest variety of useful and beautiful woods, amongst which Rosewood and Brazil-wood are the most important. Towards the interior, the land rises to elevations of 5,000 feet above the level of the sea, in which European fruits flourish. In the vicinity of the coast are raised the chief productions of export enumerated below. The minerals are valuable, and Gold, Diamonds, and precious stones are abundant, but the wealth and resources of the country are, from the comparative scantiness of the population but very slightly developed.

EXTENT, 3,100,104 square miles.

POPULATION, 11,780,000.

PRINCIPAL TOWNS.

Rio de Janeiro (the seat of Government), Bahia, Pernambuco, Maranhão, Rio Grande do Sul, Para, Santos on the coast; San Paulo, Goyaz, Ouro Preto, in the interior.

PRINCIPAL PRODUCTS.

Coffee, Cotton, Tobacco, Sugar, Cocoa, Tea, Rice, Maize, Hides and dried Meat, Timber and Dyewoods, Tapioca, &c. Caoutchouc is also an important production of Para. The best Coffee is grown in the Provinces of Rio, Espírito Santo, and San Paulo. The best cotton in Maranhão, Pernambuco, Bahia, and San Paulo, and the best tobacco in Bahia and San Paulo. Hides and dried Meat are exported from Rio Grande; Timber and Dyewoods from the vicinity of the coast, where there is facility for carriage. Maize and Rice are grown for inland consumption. Prepared from the Cassava plant, Mandioca Flour takes the place of Wheat, and Tapioca, a sediment from the juice, is a well-known article of export. Wheat is grown in Rio Grande. Minerals of all kinds are numerous, and in some localities abundant. Coal exists and is found near the surface; but, with the exception of Gold and Diamonds, the cost of carriage of most mineral productions is a bar to their exportation.

TRADE RETURNS.

Last Return of IMPORTS for one Year £11,521,580.

The Imports consist chiefly of Cotton, Linen, Woollen and Silk Manufactures, and of articles of clothing generally:—Dried and Preserved Meats, Flour, Butter, Cheese, Oil, Wine, Ale, Spirits, Dried Fruits, and articles of food of all kinds:—Drugs and medicines of every variety:—Timber, Iron Framework, Glass, Bricks and other materials for house or shed building:—Furniture and household ware of all kinds:—Stationery, Books, and Prints:—Tools and all kinds of raw material used by artisans or mechanics:—Guns and other material for war:—Machinery and Coals:—Watches and Scientific Instruments:—Perfumery and articles of luxury, &c. But the details in the following 36 classes of the Tariff exhibit more fully the variety and extent of these respective items.

Last Return of EXPORTS for one Year £15,145,920.

CUSTOMS' TARIFF.

PRELIMINARY OBSERVATIONS.

As this Tariff is framed upon an elaborate system, and enters into a minute investigation of all articles of Import, over which it takes an extensive range, it has been found impossible to adhere to the plan adopted in other cases, but with the following explanatory observations, the given analysis of the official Tariff will enable a general view to be obtained.

Imports are divided into thirty-six classes, comprehending 1,275 heads, and where these separate heads comprise various shades of quality, they are, in several instances, further subdivided into numerous items, each one having its own distinct value, upon which the specified per centage of duty is levied. This renders it obvious that, economy of space having to be regarded, such valuations must be omitted, but it may afford a guide to an approximate estimate of the actual duty, if it be stated that the equitable design is that all valuations should be based upon the bonâ fide value. In cases where more detailed information is essential, a reference from the Class may be made to the revised official Tariff,* where full particulars will be found.

Commencing the classification with live animals, the others follow in a natural order, proceeding in a range from animal productions down to those of vegetable or mineral origin, comprising in each class the articles into which these are manufactured.

Upon the Imports thus classified the duties range from 5 to 50 per cent., but the general principle is a basis of 30 per cent.

From this basis there are exceptions:—

Some articles, as coal and salt, and others, amounting to 26 in number, the introduction of which would benefit, or undoubtedly contribute to the development of the resources of, the country, are free.

The exceptions from the 30 per cent. duty are in favour of a few articles which pay 5 per cent., and 20 per cent., and of those more numerous instances, where a 10 per cent. is levied. Such occur in the latter case when the general principle is a regard for the interests of the country, a consideration for the poorer classes, or where again the protection of native manufacturers or the advancement of science is consulted.

On the other hand, a protective duty is charged where the article imported enters into competition with a native manufacture. Thus a duty of 40 per cent. is levied upon ready-made clothes, and certain other articles.

Fermented liquors, spirits, and furniture specified in Classes IX. and XII., are subject to 50 per cent.

In addition to the above varying scale of duties, a further 5 per cent. is charged on all Imports.

And furthermore, by the new Lei do Orçamento, which became operative from the 1st January, 1870, there is a still further charge of 40 per cent. (which in exceptional cases will be reduced to 30 per cent.), and this charge is explained, in a circular from the Minister of Finance, to mean an increase, not upon the value, but upon the sum of the duties collected, so that those articles which are rated at 50 will, as a matter of fact, pay, either 70 or 65, according as they may be liable to the 40 per cent. extra, or the corresponding 30 exceptional, and this without reference to the extra five per cent. charged on all Imports.

The amount of this extra per centage of 40 or 30 will vary hereafter according to the rate of exchange, and will be annually determined upon the inverse ratio to the rise above 1s. 6d. The articles of Import subject to the exceptional extra rate of 30, will, in the following epitome, be found printed in italics.

A further circular from the Visconde de Itaboraá, of the 22nd October, further states that the increase in duties referred to in the foregoing does not apply to those called additional, which are excepted from the increase by the first paragraph of the law in question.

Neither does it apply to goods paying ad valorem duties, because the reasons upon which said provisions are founded do not apply in regard to such goods.

When gold or silver forms part of any manufacture it becomes liable to double duties; and, in a similar way, ivory, mother-o'-pearl, or tortoise-shell, increases the valuation by 50 per cent.

Goods partially manufactured are charged as though completed. Articles liable to distinct duties, or manufactured from materials enumerated in distinct classes, pay upon that material which preponderates. When in the same article there are the materials of two separate classes, or when there are accessories liable to distinct duties, these, in such cases, are charged in addition.

Besides those articles designated in the Tariff as free, exemptions are further made on the following articles, upon the bonâ fide representation that they come within the meaning of such exceptions:—

The household chattels and effects of any kind, the tools, hand-machines, and utensils of Immigrants or Colonists, who are allowed to pass the provisions requisite until they obtain employment, and one fowling-piece free. The personal effects, the requisite clothing, bedding or instruments, jewellery, books, private property or portmanteaus, artists' pictures unfinished, and tools or accessories generally for personal or daily use of Captains, Crews of Vessels, or Passengers. The books and instruments of Naturalists. The stock and material of Dramatic, Operatic, or other Theatrical Companies. The following also are excepted:—Scientific Collections for the purpose of exhibition (but in these cases bond must be given that they will be re-exported). The personal effects and property of Diplomatic Agents on their arrival, and on Material of War, specially sent by any Government for the use of their vessels. Models of invention and ability. Steam Engines in general. Agricultural and Manufacturing machinery and extra pieces of machinery sent as provision against casualties. Gold or Silver, in coin, bar, dust or otherwise. Numismatic Collections, and old plate inutilised. Packages and Packing Materials, provided they be not separate from their contents, and possess no marketable value, as cases, casks, ordinary glass and earthenware bottles, tin or metallic lining, sacking or wrappers of any kind, and straw as packing. Samples, the duties on which do not exceed 200 rs. Condemned Vessels, sold by auction, these being liable to a special tax on change of flag. The produce of Brazilian Fishing Vessels. Images and objects of religious culture, imported by the parochial administration of cathedrals and churches.

The following articles are prohibited:—Any figure, drawing, or representation of an obscene character, or offensive in any way to the established religion, decency or propriety. Daggers or double-edged knives, sheath knives or facas de ponta (excepting hunting, cooking, or those knives for legitimate uses), air guns, dagger cases, sword-sticks and treacherous weapons of offence, housebreaking instruments:—Drugs and food injurious to health or unsuitable for consumption. All the above-named articles are seized and destroyed, but if there be other inoffensive articles with them which can be preserved these may be entered on payment of 50 per cent. additional duties. Counterfeit works will be confiscated, and war material, without a license, warehoused.

Manufactures embroidered or ornamented with gold or silver, pay duties ad valorem, upon a comparison with those chargeable on the same material in its plain state. Woven manufactures of mixed materials, upon which, separately, different duties would be chargeable, are liable to duties as follows:—To those chargeable on the material which may predominate (silk not forming any portion); but, if the materials be equal in quantity, upon the highest duty of the two. When silk predominates, the duties upon silk are charged; when there is half silk, half the silk duties are levied, but when less than half silk, then the duties on the predominating material; but, these being equal, then on that which is liable to the highest duty, 30 per cent. being added in these latter cases, where the silk is less than one-half.

* Tarifa das Alfandegas do Imperio do Brasil Rio de Janeiro, 1869.

The duties on any article not specified will be assimilated, as far as possible, to those payable on that to which it has the most resemblance.

Articles which pay duty ad valorem are those thus specified in the Tariff, those not mentioned, and the gear and appurtenances of Vessels, Passengers' property of small value, Samples worth less than 100 milreis, and those allowed to be thus entered, upon requisition. The value must be fairly assigned by the importer. Upon suspicion of inadequacy, the inspector may order the goods to be attached and sold by public auction, after such assigned value, with the addition of 5 per cent., has been paid to the importer.

Allowances are made for tare, for damage, and for breakage or leakage. Those for tare are specially enumerated. Damaged goods must be entered or sold (upon permission obtained) within 10 days. If considered noxious to public health, they will (after official verification be established) be destroyed. Certain articles of consumption, as Tea, Drugs, Liquids, Dried Fruits, &c., are not allowed to be entered as damaged; but the damaged portion may be separated and abandoned. In the case of breakage or leakage, certain per-centages are allowed.

In the last revision of the Tariff, the metrical system of weights and measures, as common in France, has been substituted in lieu of the ancient Portuguese mode.

RIO DE JANEIRO.

This, the capital of Brazil, is the most commercial city of South America, situated on the west side of a vast bay. The city suffers from suffocating heat, which the sea breezes in the middle of the day somewhat relieve. There are many churches, public edifices, educational establishments, a national library, a museum of natural history, and a public botanic garden. From its position it is naturally the great mart of Brazil, and its advantages admirably adapt it for commerce. Its imports comprise the products of every country, and it exports cotton, sugar, coffee, rum, leather, tallow, gold, diamonds, &c.

POPULATION, about 1,500,000.

BAHIA.

This is a Seaport of Brazil, and the capital city of a Province of the same name. It is about 880 miles from Rio de Janeiro, and has a mixed population of whites, mulattoes, and blacks. It possesses a cathedral, many religious houses, an exchange, arsenal and imperial dockyard. The houses are mostly built of stone, and the city is defended by forts. It was founded in 1549 by Thomas de Souza, and is a commercial city of importance. Among its exports are sugar, cotton, coffee, tobacco, rice, rum, diamonds, horns, hides; and it imports manufactured goods, flour, salt, iron, wines, and glassware.

RECIFE.

Recife (erroneously called Pernambuco) is the capital of the province of Pernambuco, which ranks among the most important of Brazil, as regards material progress and geographical position. The climate of the province varies according to the nature of the ground; on the coast it is hot, though refreshed by the sea-breeze; in the interior it is hot and dry, and refreshed by a land breeze; it is very healthy, without any endemic sickness. The yellow fever which formerly prevailed has disappeared long ago. Like all the northern provinces of Brazil, Pernambuco has two seasons, the one rainy from March to July, the other dry from August to February. The chief productions are cotton, sugar, and hides. The population of the province is estimated at 1,200,000, the great part of whom are engaged in agriculture.

POPULATION, about 68,000.

ARGENTINE OR LA PLATA CONFEDERATED REPUBLIC.

This is a Republic of South America containing a mixed population of Spaniards, British, Italians, Germans, and Americans. Nearly the whole country belongs to the basin of the Plata River. The most important product is cattle. Oxen in millions roam over the plains, or are reared on breeding estates. There are immense herds of horses and mules, but the breeds of sheep and swine are of inferior quality. Agriculture has recently made very great progress. Maize and millet are grown everywhere, wheat in the Plata Basin. Cochineal, tobacco, indigo, chinchona bark are among the products, and minerals are found in great abundance. The country was discovered and settled by the Spaniards, but in 1816 it asserted its independence.

EXTENT, 542,786 square miles.

POPULATION, about 2,000,000.

PRINCIPAL TOWNS.

Buenos Ayres, Santa Fé, Cordova, Santiago, Tucuman, Rosario, San Juan.

PRINCIPAL PRODUCTS.

Timber, Paraguay Tea, Maize, Millet, Wheat, Barley, Rice, Sugar, Cotton, Wines, Brandy, Cochineal, Tobacco, Indigo, Cocoa, Madder, Chinchona Bark, Wool, Gold, Silver, Copper, Iron, Marble, &c.

TRADE RETURNS.

Last Return of IMPORTS for 1867, £6,675,000.

“ “ “ 1868, from United Kingdom, £1,984,730.*

Consisting principally of Woollen and Cotton Goods, Sugar, Rice, Haberdashery, Perfumery, Ready-made Clothes, Wines, Gin, Coal, Groceries, Ironmongery, Writing Materials, &c.

Last Return of EXPORTS for 1867, £5,600,000.

“ “ “ 1868, to United Kingdom, 1,496,130.*

Consisting principally of Wool, Hides, Ox and Cow Grease and Tallow, Sheep Skins, Salt Meat, Horsehair, Ostrich Feathers, Bones, Otter Skins, &c.

CUSTOMS' TARIFF.

Owing to its extent, the variety of the articles enumerated, the distinctive prices and qualities of each and besides the alterations to which these are liable upon revision; the necessity of combining economy of space with utility for those seeking information has prevented an adherence to the form of the other published Tariffs.

All articles of import are ranged under seven divisions. The three first comprehend Dry Goods of all descriptions; the four last, Hardware, Eatables, Drinkables, and Drugs.

* The total returns for 1868 have not been completed.

Duties are levied upon a valuation which is revised at intervals of six months.

The general rate upon all articles is 18 per cent., except upon the following:—

Silk manufactures; Precious Stones, unset; Jewellery of Gold or Silver, with or without precious stones; any instrument or utensil where such Jewellery, in the handle or otherwise, increases the value by one-third. In these instances 10 per cent. is charged.

The following articles are free:—Gold or Silver, coined or in bullion; Books; Paper for Printing purposes; Plants of every description; Fresh Fruit; Ice; Wood for Fuel and Charcoal; Animals for breeding purposes.

The following also are free on its being verified that such articles are applicable to the purposes declared:—Objects stated and claimed to be for religious uses; Scientific Instruments and Apparatus; Machinery for the amalgamation of metals and for the establishment of new manufactures and occupations; Furniture and Tools of Immigrants, and of such things as they require exclusively on settling; Agricultural Seeds.

Five centimes for each eight arrobas,* or its equivalent in measurement, is charged for wharfage.

Five per cent. is allowed for breakage of bottles.—for leakage from casks of wine and such liquids 10 per cent. for those from places north of the line, 6 per cent. for those from the south of the line, and 3 per cent. from inside ports.

The duty on damaged goods is estimated in accordance with the value realised at auction.

Duties under $50 are payable in cash:—over $50, in bills, at three and six months.

Articles not in conformity with the manifest are charged with double duties.

BUENOS AYRES.

This city is situated on the south of the Plata Estuary, about 150 miles from the sea. It is regularly arranged, its streets crossing at right angles, and mostly paved with granite. The houses are nearly all built round courtyards, with flat roofs, and one story in height. It is badly provided with water, which is conveyed by carriers from the river. There are churches, a cathedral, convents and hospitals in the city, also a university with an extensive library, public schools, and manufactures of carpets, furniture, &c. The navigation of the Plata is difficult, and large ships are obliged to anchor seven or eight miles from the town, to which goods are conveyed by lighters and oxcarts. In 1806 it was taken by the English, but the same year it was recovered by the Spaniards.

POPULATION, about 200,000.

CHILI.

This is a Republic of South America, bounded on the east by the Andes, and on the west by the Pacific Ocean. The climate of Chili is hot and dry, but, on the whole, healthy. The products of Chili include Indian corn, wheat, barley, oats, and there is an abundance of figs, grapes, pomegranates, oranges, and olives. On the pastures are fed large herds of cattle, horses, asses, mules, and goats. On the coast are whale, cod, and pilchard. There are gold, silver, and copper mines, lead, iron, and tin. The silver mines are found on the highest part of the Andes. The manufactures are earthen and copper wares, cordage, linens, soap, and brandy. The population consists of the descendants of the Spaniards and the Aborigines. Chili became independent in 1818, and was formed into a Republic. The government is vested in a Dictator, a Senate, and a House of Representatives. It is the best governed and the most flourishing of all the South American republics. The capital and seat of government is Santiago.

EXTENT, 115,802 square miles.

POPULATION, 1,676,243.

PRINCIPAL TOWNS.

Valparaiso, Santiago, Coquimbo, Valdivia, and Concepcion.

PRINCIPAL PRODUCTS.

Indian Corn, Wheat, Barley, Hemp, Figs, Grapes, Good Timber, Tallow, Hides, Silver, Lead, Iron, &c.

TRADE RETURNS.

Last Return of IMPORTS for 1867, £4,974,899.

" " " 1868 to United Kingdom, £2,023,062.*

Consisting principally of Apparel, Beer, Coals, Coffee, Gunpowder, Hats, Iron, Machinery, Cotton Manufactures, Silk, Stuffs, Woollen Manufactures, Mercery, Rice, Sugar, Tea, Tobacco, &c.

Last Return of EXPORTS for 1867, £5,998,585.

" " " 1868 to United Kingdom, £4,366,590.*

Consisting principally of Copper Ore, Wheat, Flour, Hides, Lard, Leather, Provisions, Silver Ore, Wood, &c.

CUSTOMS' TARIFF.

CALCULATIONS, CURRENCY, WEIGHTS AND MEASURES ARE ESTABLISHED AT VALPARAISO ON THE DECIMAL SYSTEM.

The Dollar, $, is the monetary standard. This is divided into cents. Its equivalent value in sterling is about 4s. 3d., and thus:—1 Dollar 20 Cents, which would be written $1. 20, would be equal to 5s. 1d., or thereabouts, in English currency.

The weights and measures in Kilogrammes and Metres are adopted from the French system. Thus:—1 Kilogramme = 2½ lbs. English, or 2·2048 lbs.
The Metre = 39·371 inches or 3·280 feet.

The Decimetre, Centimetre, and Millimetre are respectively the $\frac{1}{10}$ th, the $\frac{1}{100}$ th, and the $\frac{1}{1000}$ th parts of the Metre.

The Litre is a cubic Decimetre, and contains 1·761, or nearly 1½ pint.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS.

All articles imported into Valparaiso pay an ad valorem duty of 25 per cent., excepting those which have been specified in the foregoing scale. These exceptions consist chiefly of certain agricultural implements, carpenters' and other artisans' tools, stores needed in repairs of vessels, and other sundry objects of utility for industrial purposes, which pay 15 per cent.

Bullion, ornaments, and certain jewellery, chiefly used in the manufacture of gold lace and embroidery, household plate, gold and silver articles and jewellery, precious stones, &c., gold and silver watches, pay 2 per cent.

But in such case they must be distinct from other articles liable to a higher duty, or the full rate will be charged.

EXEMPTIONS.

Raw Cotton, in the seed, or cleaned; Animals from foreign parts, alive or preserved; Fire Engines and their appurtenances; Cases of tools for Carpenters, Gardeners, or any other business; Corn Seed of any description; Objects intended for Divine Worship, provided at the port of shipment they have been declared as being on account of the Communities, Monasteries, or Churches for whose use they are intended, and that they be of such description and quantity as would be exclusively applicable to the service of the altar; Effects which at the port of shipment have been sent on account and for the use and consumption of the diplomatic agents accredited by any power to the Government of Chili; Effects of diplomatic Chilean ministers, for their own use and consumption, upon a value which, at a tariff valuation, is not in excess of the amount of one year's pay of the said functionaries, and provided always that such effects be imported within four months preceding or four months after their return to the Republic; Effects which are imported or which are purchased in the warehouses of deposit on account of the State, of corporate bodies, or for Societies of charity; Personal Baggage, by which it is to be understood such things as clothes, shoes, jewellery, household plate, printed books (previously revised), and eatables, all for the use of the person to whom they belong, and in a quantity proportionate to his position and circumstances, but not furniture, although second-hand, nor entire pieces of any kind of stuff; Portions of Shipwrecked Vessels, in which is not to be comprised the "ranchos," nor the provisions on board at the time of the shipwreck; Fresh Fruit, Flour from Wheat; Printing-presses and their appurtenances; Surgical, Mathematical, Scientific and similar Instruments; Slate Pencils; Firewood; Printed Books (previously revised), firmly bound; Machinery, which in the opinion of the President of the Republic, may be useful for the development of agriculture, mining, or the arts and sciences; Coined Money; Gold in dust or bars; Paper specially adapted, or that which is unsized, for printing purposes, and slips of paper for telegraphic impressions; Slates, with or without lines, for instruction in schools; Foreign Plants, and seeds of the same; Silver in brass or amalgam; Lithographic Presses; Produce of fishery, procured in National vessels; Prepared printing and lithographic Ink; Samples are subject to the same import duties as the articles from which they are taken, but should these be less than a dollar, they are exempt from any charge.

The following is a translation of the law just past by Congress exempting certain articles, known as naval stores, from duty:—

Clause 1.—The following articles shall be free of import duty:—Tar, iron anchors, iron buoys with chains and appurtenances, pitch, boats, iron chains of iron not less than 30 millimetres in diameter, anchor stocks, oakum, felt for ships, anchor shackles, iron and wood knees for vessels, capstans, iron piers and appurtenances, iron and copper bolts for vessels, and bars of metal for the same, copper and metal sheathing, paper for sheathing, spars for yards and masts.

Clause 2.—Ships' stores consumed in Chilean waters by vessels from foreign ports, and by those employed as coasters, even when the stores may be transhipped or taken out of bond.

Clause 3.—Clause 1 of this law shall take effect sixty days after its publication in the Gazette.

PROHIBITIONS.

Eatables in a decayed state, and other articles prejudicial to health; Paintings, Statues, and other objects which, by their character, tend to the perversion of morality and becoming behaviour; Wild Animals, Reptiles, and Poisonous Insects, except when in special cases they are sanctioned by the President; Gunpowder, except for mining purposes; Armoury, Fire Arms, and every description of war material, which are only allowed to be imported into the port of Valparaiso at the special permission of the President of the Republic, who will give his sanction or not, as he may think proper; and Playing Cards and Tobacco, which can also only be imported by entry made on account of the "Factories Jeneral del Estanco."

VALPARAISO.

This is the principal seaport town on a railway, 60 miles from Santiago, on the Pacific. It is situated on a steep declivity, and is constructed of bricks dried in the sun, and is well paved. Most of the merchants live in a suburb to the eastward. Several forts defend the harbour, which is said to be filling up. Most of the foreign trade of Chili passes through this town, which exports wheat to Callao and Panama, and large quantities of hides, tallow, gold, silver, copper, indigo, wool, and drugs. Its markets are well supplied with European goods, and it has several coasting vessels. The foreign commerce of Chili is carried on mainly with Great Britain, almost entirely through the port of Valparaiso.

SANTIAGO.

This is the capital of Chili, about 60 miles from Valparaiso, and about 2,600 feet above the level of the sea. It is surrounded by a dyke, to protect it from the inundations of the river, and is laid out with great regularity. The houses are mostly of one story, but substantially built, in wide streets, in consequence of the frequency of earthquakes. Its immediate vicinity is fertile, well cultivated, and sprinkled with villas, vineyards, and orchards. There is a railway to Valparaiso.

POPULATION, about 100,000.

COMMUNICATION.

By Railway from Valparaiso, 60 miles distant.

COPIAPO.

This is the most northerly town of Chili, the capital of the department Atacama, on the Copiapo River, 30 miles from its mouth in the Pacific. The district is rich in metallic products, but with a barren soil and scanty population. It is connected by railway, with Caldera on the north-west, and Pavillon on the south-east. It exports silver, copper, and copper ore. Fossil remains and silicified wood abound in this district. The bay and port of Copiapo are at the mouth of the river.
