

Why the Dawg Tree Pee Guard Is So Effective

The Dawg Tree Pee Guard is a tree protection device that prevents dogs from having access to the base of the tree to mark their territory. It forces them to plant their leg safely away from the base. It is effective and simple to use. It is made of plastic rods that are 20 inches in length. The spacing at the bottom is approximately 4 inches between each rod. It secures around the tree with a weatherproof bungee that allows for growth and expansion. It works with any tree up to 17 inches in circumference/5 inches in diameter. If the tree base is thick enough, the unit may be rotated up for landscaping purposes.

The Dawg Tree Pee Guard may be used for other structures – such as mailboxes, etc...that will allow the unit to surround it appropriately. New trees can be very expensive – The Dawg Tree Pee Guard is an inexpensive – revolutionary way to protect your investment. When purchasing, you are one step closer to ensuring a healthy tree.

Our Story

The Dawg Tree Pee Guard was created out of the love for my trees and a little bit of frustration. As a home owner and dog lover, I tried everything to protect my trees. Having 4 dogs of my own, ranging in size from a Yorkie to a Malinois, and 3 dead trees later - something had to be done.

The traditional tree guards were not effective, as the dogs would still jump over and accomplish their mission. I attempted wrapping my young trees with green bags to protect the base. If the wind blew, it became a toy and I ended up with pieces of bag in my yard. Wrapping my tree with vinyl or utilizing a PVC Pipe wasn't an option. I wanted the trunk to still receive sunlight, wind, and rain without worrying about insects/worms making a home underneath. The only real solution was creating a 360 degree barrier with a fence. I didn't want to have an eye sore in my yard, let alone a headache from mowing and trimming around the fence. Enter – The DAWG TREE PEE GUARD -

Please visit my website to view videos of testimonials and how effective and easy it truly is. There are also links that will take you to scholarly documented articles that explain the damaging effects of canine urine on a tree. It still is very important to provide a healthy base of mulch around the tree and replace as needed.

Even if you don't have a dog but you have "those" neighbors – invest in a DAWG TREE PEE GUARD today – you won't regret it.

The Dawg Tree Pee Guard provides 360 degrees of protection for newly planted trees and established young trees. The bark is an essential layer of protection that repels disease and mold. It is imperative that this natural barrier of defense be safeguarded from the damaging effects of canine urine. The Dawg Tree Pee Guard forces a canine (of any size) to plant his leg – securely away from the base of the tree – thus keeping the urine off of the tree. While still allowing the natural elements (sun, wind, rain, etc...) to access the tree base.
