11:00 PM - What can High Plains Resource Conservation and Development do for YOU??

The High Plains Resource Conservation and Development organization helps people in rural northwest Oklahoma plan and carry out activities that improve conservation of natural resources, support economic development, enhance the environment and standard of living in our local communities. High Plains covers the eight northwest counties of Oklahoma. High Plains is a non-profit 501 C 3. (Beaver, Cimarron, Dewey, Ellis, Harper, Texas, Woods, and Woodward Counties)

Because High Plains RC&D is a local organization, sponsored and led by local volunteers. The programs provide an ideal way for residents to join to decide what is best needed for their communities and region. Local people create and organize their own RC&D areas, define their own goals, and work with a broad range of public and private entities to achieve objectives. People in your community make choices every day to better your life: whether they work on the land, conservation, water management, environmental enhancement, community development, or something unique to their area. In every case local people are making the difference. We now have a membership to help support the work we do in your communities.

12:00 PM – Brunch

Followed by OWPHA Board meeting

Larry Wiemers, HPRC&D Chairman
