The Commercial Alliance enables fabricators to leverage Deceuninck's range of resources, expertise and products, delivering exceptional energy efficiency and low cost of ownership.

“Through the Commercial Alliance, Deceuninck is collaborating with window fabrication companies to develop industry-leading window and door system profiles that surpass energy efficiency standards, provide many color options and deliver visually appealing design,” said Sheldon Kahan, who leads Deceuninck North America's commercial sales division. “We have completed dozens of projects from revitalizing a historic village to creating beautiful, functional installations for large-scale multi-family housing spaces.”
