Deceuninck North America Sells Deck and Rail Business (Clubhouse) to The Tapco Group

Divestiture demonstrates Deceuninck's commitment to continued growth in fenestration

Deceuninck North America has divested its decking and railing business (Clubhouse) to The Tapco Group®. Terms of the sale were not disclosed. There will be a transition period to provide a seamless transfer of assets with uninterrupted service.

“We are focused on continuing to achieve growth in our core fenestration business. The divestiture of the Clubhouse decking and railing business enables Deceuninck to apply even more of its collective energy to innovating and growing the core fenestration business,” said Filip Geeraert, president and CEO of Deceuninck North America. “We also believe the Clubhouse business will flourish in its new home.”

The Tapco Group, based in Wixom, Michigan, is a leading provider of easy to install, premium, innovative interior and exterior products, specializing in the manufacturing of siding, decking, trim, tool systems, egress systems, shutters and siding accessories.
