Related article: Best Mattresses | The best duvet covers ignore things about it only supporting sleepers up to 240 pounds, one reviewer writes. Pretty sure it should be 2400 pounds. I'm a 360-pound fat boy, and it's something i don't squeak, move, wing, anything. And he is one of dozens of reviewers who swear by the high weight of the bed frame. Another reviewer writes: 'It had over 300 pounds of people and cats on one side and didn't even creak, so I'm sure it will last for many years to come.' More than 1,000 reviewers call it robust and say it sticks to quite heavy use. I bought it because of a teenager who is rough on everything I buy, says one customer. I read reviews about how strong and quiet this bed is and thought the price was right, given its destructive nature. I'm glad I bought it ... We did some fun tests and bounced back on it, and did not make any squeak or creaking noises. It is a platform frame, so you do not need a box spring, and laying on it is very even and smooth. As for the platform beds to go, this one is almost as basic as it gets: just a metal frame that you can fold on your own. But reviewers still really love it. Oh my gosh, about my size, says one reviewer about this frame. The frame is strong, comfortable and durable. I slept so well on this frame, I do not wake up rigidly and tired. And despite the low price, she believes that this bed frame makes her room look so high. As with most other Zinus furniture, this bed frame is easy to assemble because all the holes are in exactly the right place, so there is no need to wrangle the material. Another reviewer is very pleased with it and describes the metal as all smooth, without rough parts, without rust or discoloration or lack of paint. Editor's Note: It won't be in stock until July 15th. Put succinctly by one customer, this platform bed is great for its price and was easy to assemble because it came with everything you need. And dozens of reviewers comment on the rigorous activity that this frame can withstand. I have many roommates who are still in my and come out of it and jump on my bed, so being have a bed frame to stop all that wear and tear is amazing, one writes, while another says it's a toddler tested – the moment I put the mattress on, it jumped for over 20 minutes and the frame or mattress didn't move/slide at all. One keeps their review of this platform bed very real, calling it a gosex-friendly frame. Many also comment on how easy it is to connect: My dog could connect it if he had thumbs up. It's that simple. Zinus Mia is another favorite among Amazon reviewers due to its streamlined appearance, ease of installation and storage under beds. It is made of metal and comes with a headrest. I'll start with the fact that we bought this frame specifically because it was metal. As a military family, we often move and need furniture that survives frequent movements and daily use. I wanted something permanent, but easy to undress and collect. This bed frame it is, delights one of the reviewers. The instructions for Mia are clear and simple, a fact that even inspired one customer to write a review: I'm usually not the one to write reviews, but I have to commend the manufacturer for creating the easiest assembly I've ever experienced. It also looks elegant. It looks great - a simple design that is hard to dislike, says one reviewer. Another agrees: Aesthetically and functionally, the construction of this frame is great. I'm glad that the design decisions in (some things like how the corners are connected) help improve the overall stability/construction of the frame as a whole. The outer finish of each component is clean — there are no visible, ugly welds on any visible component. Storage is just a bonus for many reviewers. This bed is ideal for small apartments because it has a lot of space underneath, says one. Very good service, No. 1, in 1999, in 1999, in the facility, including plenty of space for other things. I'm a student living in a small one-bedroom house with very little space, so the storage drawers hooked me up, writes one reviewer, who is ultimately impressed by the four drawers under the platform beds. Another describes the door as HUGE, with enough space for everything you want to put there. You can match your extra throwing blankets or pajamas. Personally, I keep fashion corsets, designer stockings/thighs and other things I don't need very often, but I don't want to go too far out of reach when I feel like dressing up. Nearly 20 percent of reviewers also comment on storage quality. They even have a locking mechanism that our 2-year-old won't find out, writes one reviewer, but praise for the quality extends to more than just drawers. One reviewer reports: We both jumped on to bed last night and held on well. Gerard Zinus is a favorite among customers due to its reliability and durability. I never thought I'd be delighted to put a piece of furniture in a box, admits one reviewer, who continues: The frame is incredibly solid. It looks fantastic and the artificial skin is soft and comfortable if you come across it. For this price I do not know what you could get, that would be better. This thing is solid, agrees another. In the morning I tried to kneel on the mattress and move very quickly to try to woo him or make some noise - nothing! I am 100 percent satisfied with my purchase so far. Another reviewer describes artificial skin as beautiful and soft. One reviewer adds: 'The skin feels as good as you would expect artificial skin to feel. It is padded of course, but it feels nice, especially at this price point. The bed as a whole looks absolutely amazing. Does it look like something that will cost $800 in a furniture store? Not... but it doesn't look like it was $250 either. This quality is why one reviewer calls ita perfect bed frame for young adults. It looks nice and is so affordable. This bed frame has changed all the dynamics in our apartment and definitely gives it a semi-colonial atmosphere. Here is a highly rated upholstered bed frame with over 3,500 reviews that customers love because of its quality. Wow! It is a wonderful headboard and a base for a queen-size bed. It looks much more expensive than it is. We were very impressed with the quality of the material and how easy it was to combine it, writes one reviewer. It is so effectively packaged and designed that it is practically reliable, delights another reviewer. It is extremely durable; not moving or shaking the frame or moving the mattress at all. Many reviewers agree that it looks good, and one thing says: I get a lot of compliments on this bed frame. I think people's eyes are immediately drawn to the diamond seams on the headrest. I recently bought a minimalist house, and this bed frame fits perfectly into my undersized rooms. Easy installation is another feature of this frame that impressed many. Very easy to set up. It takes maybe 20 minutes alone. Anyone who wrote the instructions should receive the bonus because it was very simple and easy to understand, says one reviewer. Another added: 'In less than 30 minutes, i ended up with a great looking and surprisingly sturdy bed. I don't hear a single creaking and nothing moves where it shouldn't. Customers believe that resting with an upholstered headrest is much more convenient than wood or metal, which is why they chose this particular Zinus model. One new mom says it actually makes nursing easier because the headrest is high and comfortable so she can fully lean on it while caring at night. the downside for her is that It's a little squeaky, so it can be less discreet when getting busy. But many others don't seem to have this problem. One calls it a very solid frame with a high quality fabric that it believes looks much more expensive than $200. In addition, it lasted for years: the frame bought two years ago from this brand is still in perfect condition. Here's another upholstered platform bed – this time with a high headboard that is tufted and features metal pegs that more than one reviewer describes as beautiful. As it is written: The fabric is beautiful and surprising. Silver beads along the wings are a beautiful and elegant touch, without making it feel flashy. It is also a solid piece of furniture, according to this reviewer, which was easy to assemble: So impressed by the quality of this bed. I couldn't believe the price and hesitated to order thinking it was too good to be true. The materials are strong and the fabric looks amazing. I built it in less than an hour and I'm totally in love with it. This client agrees: I love this bed. The quality is unbelievable in price. I shopped around before buying this and it's honestly a $1000 bed in a furniture store. The fabric is very pretty. I love the silver details that go all the way to the floor. It makes it seem much more expensive than it was. This tufted headrest sits about ten inches lower than the Home Life option, so if you don't want an exaggerated headrest, this may be the choice for you. One customer believes that tufting looks very high quality, describing the design as elegant and modern at the same time. I love tufting. Another customer had to make some major convincing to get her husband on board with an upholstered headboard because he tends to favor the basic metal, but when they built it, his tune changed. That's because the quality is good and they got it for sale, and the style was just what I was looking for. She even thinks it's especially convenient to lean on it. The bed can even easily support $500, according to another reviewer. Although it's more expensive than other options on Amazon, it thinks it's still cheaper than other options and worth the investment: I definitely recommend this bed to anyone. The Alexis platform bed is another popular option from Zinus for those looking for a simple model made of wood. This bed is beautiful. Nice, clean appearance and solid design. Beautiful color and looks like real wood and has a nice grain of wood, notes one reviewer. It's also easy to assemble: I must say it's the easiest bed to collect and has the highest quality I've seen at this price. It took me maybe 15 minutes to put it together. It is made of real wood. This bed frame is worth every Paid. The wood is strong and beautiful color, according to another customer. The frame does not make noise and is very durable, adds the reviewer. After placing my new mattress on it, I actually jumped and jumped after it to help break it in some and the frame made ZERO noise and still looks structurally sound. As one reviewer put it: First, it looks amazing. It is durable, beautiful and quite easy to assemble. We didn't have a shower. It is supportive and durable. I didn't hear creaking or sound all night. Another concludes that it is solid and stable and looks beautiful. Many reviewers believe that the wooden frame of the bed looks more expensive than upholstered or metal. And this wood, in particular, is very high quality with a beautiful appearance and a wonderful feel. That reviewer's biggest problem with buying a bed frame was choosing one that would be very durable because she says her husband is a bit overweight. While she initially worried about durability as soon as they connected it, she found the frame to be absolutely solid with a strong mid-beam design. He suspects that it will last a very long time and survive several movements. The second customer also confirms his strength: The icing on the cake is that he definitely stuck to us christening it! Thus, A+ for endurance during our romps. Another bonus for her is that because she and her boyfriend like to sleep in colder temperatures, their mattress will no longer sink inside, so they don't wake up hot anymore. Here is another wooden frame of the platform bed, but this time with a traditional headboard. The quality is fantastic. It is made of very solid wood, and the finish on it is very good as well, writers one reviewer, summing up. I just couldn't be happier with the product, packaging and ease of assembly. Get this bed! Another agrees that the quality of the material was very good. Wood looks great. The instructions were PERFECT. One reviewer likes this bed on the platform so much, they call it one of the best furniture purchases I've ever made. The bed itself is beautiful and is made of real wood. The finish is so in the photo (though slightly lighter than you'd expect from an espresso), agrees another. Overall, it seems to be a solid choice considering the price. After folding, the bed is strong. I have not seen any other furniture of this quality in this price range, says a satisfied customer. And yet another agrees: I was drawn to this product based on the fact that it was solid wood, a simple Mission type project, and the price. More than 10 percent of reviewers love that this headrest is made of real wood, not crap chips, as one reviewer calls an alternative. Another who wasn't quite convinced that it was real, still says he has a very polished, attractive finish. They add: Something that you don't really see in the pictures is that the wooden plates that make up the headrest are about 1.5 inches thick, so it looks like, you know, real furniture. But another reviewer proved how true this wood is because he honed it, something that basically destroyed the chipboard and finished it: I took a tiny 180-grain piece of sandpaper and just slightly passed over the wood, after assemble, cleaned it and applied one layer of matte paint, and then I worried about it. This platform bed with over 1400 reviews is made of wood and metal as well as headboard and footrest. Reviewers like it because of its cool appearance and solid design: This bed frame exceeded all my expectations. Quality seems at the highest level. So easy to set up, looks great, the construction is solid, the price is exceptional, one of the reviewers delights. We are impressed with this staff. First of all, it struck how strong the box was. It weighed a lot more than I expected, and that's because the metal elements are really solid, and the wooden panels are decent in size and thickness (and so are the real wood). It is durable enough and looks really nice. It has a soft industrial look without being too fashionable, says another. It is a solid dark polished metal frame with well polished wooden accents, which is a wonderful addition to our new home, writes one reviewer. Another delights: I liked how easy it was to connect. The instructions were large and clear and there were no strange/illegal instructions. If you are looking for a low quality modern bed frame with an elegant wood and steel look, this is it, sums up another. The 6-inch platform bed gets extra points from the reviewer for how easy it is to fold, a feature listed in more than 500 reviews. One says this bed was probably the easiest thing I've ever assembled in my life. It lasted like 20 minutes, and exceeded all expectations that it is strong and easy to assemble. It also has a streamlined, modern look that customers love: It just looks cool, it's comfortable, and I can even store folding chairs under a six-inch frame, says the reviewer, while another writes: I bought this bed on the queen platform because I liked the contemporary look. This reviewer agrees: The bed was easy to collect (it lasted less than 30 minutes from start to finish), and looks stylish, classy and much more expensive than it was. Like this one: It looks very modern clean and elegant. He modernized [my son's] room and changed the whole décor. And one more delights: I love this bed. I'm a minimalist and I love zreczy.
