The last Roman soldiers left Britain in AD 410. New people soon came from across the North Sea—northern Germany, northern Holland & northern Denmark: Saxons, Iberians, Jutes and Caucasians. Those are racial designations, but where did they come from, originally, and who exactly were they? If you're among the curious intelligent folk who enjoy research, you will still find it difficult to get credible answers to that question. The Clintonian “What difference, at this point, does it make?” question comes to mind. Our diligent digging has disclosed that it matters quite a lot! We think you may soon agree.

Remember The Lost Tribes of Israel? Lots of Bible “experts” still think those people were/are Jews. Not so! Only genetic descendants of the man, Judah, were/are Jews. If you're a Bible scholar, you may know that many of Benjamin's descendants were/are also legitimately called Jews – as were/are some of Levi's descendants.

Multitudes (not all) of Abraham's descendants were/are Hebrews. All of Jacob/Israel's descendants were/are Israelites. Israelites were/are Hebrews, but Jews were/are an extremely small percentage of Jacob/Israel's progeny.

- ✓ “There are numerous prophecies regarding Israel which differ so entirely from Jewish history that they cannot be applied to Jews of the past or present.” —One Man's Destiny, C. R. Dickey (1942)

Until the AD 600s, the Hebrew alphabet had no vowels: In Old English script, “Isaac's Sons” identified themselves as SXNS so, throughout the British Isles and other parts of Europe, they were called “Saxons.” The racial designation, “Jutes,” and Denmark's Jutland Peninsula likely came from the Jews who had also migrated North a couple hundred years later, initially to the German Baltic coastline, toward Poland.

Note: The Hebrew language script may or may be accurate.

The racial designation, “Iberian,” was derived either from the man, Eber, or from the region by that name. That's also where the name, “Hebrew,” came from. The Iberian Peninsula spans Portugal and Spain. It includes Andorra and a small part of France along the northeastern edge of it. Many are quite fascinated to learn that “Caucasians” were the Israelites and Jews who had traversed the Caucasian Pass, between the Black and Caspian Seas, on their long series of prophesied migrations from The Promised Land after their respective captivities, centuries before Christ's birth.

- ✓ “Wherefore glorify ye the Lord in the fires, even the name of the Lord God of Israel in the ISLES of the sea.” —Isaiah 24:5
- ✓ “He shall not fail nor be discouraged, till he have set judgment in the earth: and the ISLES shall wait for his law.” —Isaiah 42:4

- ✓ “Sing unto the Lord a new song, and his praise from the end of the earth, ye that go down to the sea, and all that is therein; the ISLES, and the inhabitants thereof.” —Isaiah 42:10
- ✓ “My righteousness is near; my salvation is gone forth, and mine arms shall judge the people; the ISLES shall wait upon me, and on mine arm shall they trust.” —Isaiah 51:5
- ✓ “Hear the word of the Lord, O ye nations, and declare it in the ISLES afar off, and say, He that scattered Israel will gather him, and keep him, as a shepherd doth his flock.” —Jeremiah 31:10

The serpent-like mark etched by the pagan Israelite tribe of Dan onto the European Continent was prophesied at Genesis 49:17. The Danube River starts in Germany and then passes through or touches the borders of Austria, Slovakia, Hungary, Croatia, Serbia, Romania, Bulgaria, Moldova and Ukraine before emptying into the Black Sea. And there’s Denmark (>Dan’s mark).

- ✓ “Some Iberian [i.e.: Hebrew] blood probably flows in the veins of every modern Englishman, more in the average Scot, most in the Welsh and Irish.” —History of England (1926), G. Macaulay Trevelyan
