“Once you really start to face the history and open your heart, now that I’ve done that, I can say it actually becomes very natural to want to make things right. Not out of personal guilt, but out of grief.”

—Katrina Browne, director of “Traces of the Trade”

Watch Katrina Browne’s film “Traces of the Trade: A Story from the Deep North,” in which she confronts the black/white divide on Friday, March 3, 7-9 p.m. See the short film “Repairing the Breach” on Saturday, March 4, for a co-facilitated discussion with Browne and Dr. Felicia LaBoy from 9:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m. Dr. LaBoy is Associate Dean of Black Church Studies and Advanced Learning and the Associate Professor of Black Church Studies at the Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary. She will also present materials regarding racial reconciliation.

Visit episcopalky.org for more about the Brennan Lecture series. Visit tracesofthetrade.org for more about Browne’s documentaries.