Workshop Descriptions

2:00-3:00 - Session #1

Church Media as Evangelism (Dean's Hall)
As evangelists, we are called to share stories of the way God transforms our lives. As people called to love our neighbors as ourselves, we are called to deep listening, to hear our neighbors’ stories. As a church, our job is to help amplify these stories, to create opportunities and platforms on which these stories can be shared. The digital space is a platform so often used to hear the divisive, excluding stories. So often this space is used as a platform to spew hate and to belittle and other those who think or live differently. We, as communities of faith, have a story the world craves to hear—a story of love, mercy, forgiveness, acceptance and complete and total inclusion. How can we use the digital world to tell the story of God’s unconditional all-encompassing love? Whether you are clergy or lay, a formation person, a communicator, a ministry leader, a digital native, or a technophobe, this workshop is for you. What’s your story? Come and share it.
Presenter: the Very Rev. Katherine Doyle

Deep Green Gospel: Proclaiming and Becoming Good News to All Creation (Choir Room)
One of the most important gifts the Christian church can offer the world is to raise our voice for creation in proclamation, worship, prayer, and teaching. With an eye toward our spiritual lives and the church, this workshop will explore ways to move beyond the frame of environmental stewardship and eco-justice onto the church’s natural gifts of doxology, liturgy, and community together. The workshop will also introduce nature contemplation as an ancient and established practice of Christian prayer. Presenter: the Rev. Jerry Cappel

Racial Reconciliation Task Force (3rd Floor)
We'll ask you to help tell the story about how our diocese is working together on racial healing. Members of the task force will present what we hope will happen in the diocese next year, and we'll offer resources for participants to take back to their communities. Presenters: The Racial Reconciliation Task Force
3:15-4:15 - Session #2

The Way of Love (Dean's Hall)
At this workshop, we will discuss Presiding Bishop Curry’s Rule of Life that he calls The Way Of Love. Bishop Curry says, “As the Episcopal branch of the Jesus Movement, we follow the Way of Jesus. His way is the Way of Love, and that love has the power to change lives and change the world.” Join us to learn about the seven practices of this rule of life: Turn, Learn, Pray, Worship, Bless, Go and Rest and how to intentionally make them a regular part of your life. Presenters: The Department of Justice and Jubilee

Dismantling Racism (Choir Room)
An overview of a curriculum that can be used at the congregational level for youth regarding racial healing. Presenter: the Very Rev. Katherine Doyle

Light from Light: Engaging the Nicene Creed in the 21st Century (3rd Floor)
This workshop is part of Canon Amy’s grant from the Louisville Institute studying how Christians relate to the Nicene Creed. Participants will be guided through two exercises with the Nicene Creed and will consider other ways for Christians to engage with this ancient text. You can learn more about the “Light from Light” project here: https://www.nicenecreedproject.com Presenter: the Rev. Canon Amy Real Coulta

Living from the “Why” (Choir Room)
Know the “why” of what we do is central to a productive and meaningful life and ministry. Knowing the “what” and the “how” of what we do is important as well. However, articulating the “why” in a compelling and authentic way enables an engaged and passionate approach to the “what” and the “how” of life and ministry. Come, learn about the “Golden Circle” and what it means to live and minister from the “Why.” Presenter: the Canon Rev. Jason Lewis
