24 Questions Your Church Should Answer Before People Return

This week we all received good news from our president: the country is going to slowly reopen, and that includes houses of worship. I can guarantee that we will not go back to “business as usual” as a country, and that includes our churches. If you think we’ll all rush back to church and pick up where we left off, don’t kid yourself – it’s not going to happen. Or at least it shouldn’t happen. We need to think and plan carefully so we do not endanger people simply because we let our guard down and believed that the Coronavirus crisis had passed. Now, as believers let’s agree to live by faith and not operate in fear, but let’s also agree to be proactive and to act in wisdom towards our members and guests, especially those among us who are most susceptible to becoming infected with COVID-19.

We have a short time to prepare for the return of the church to the church campus. As I have thought about my church, and listened to friends and ministry experts over the past several weeks, I’ve compiled a list of things that most of our churches are not thinking about. Don’t let the excitement of finally coming back together cloud your judgement or cause you to ignore the “new normal.” Let’s think through 20+ things that we must think about before the church returns to the building:

1. What if your worship gathering is initially limited to no more than 100 people? Never happen, you say? Remember that we’ve been limited to gatherings of no more than 10 people in the recent past. Take my church, for example. Pre-COVID 19 we averaged 350 in worship (two services). Should we be planning on adding a third service, reducing the time to 45 minutes with a 15 minute “passing period” so that worshipers can either go to Bible study or go home? One friend in ministry has said, “My church runs 2000 people in worship – we can’t have 20 worship services all weekend long! What will we do?” If we are limited to a smaller number of people by our government leaders, what’s the plan at your church to provide a place and time for them to worship?

2. What adjustments will you make to the Lord’s Supper, baptisms, and your choir ministry? Do you believe you can conduct communion like you have in the past? Your church’s tradition may involve passing a plate of elements, or it may include drinking from a common cup in some denominations. Will you use the self-contained juice and cracker cups? What about baptism – it’s going to be impossible to practice physical distancing in a baptism pool. And as one reader said, “What do I do about my church’s choir program?” He realizes that people standing side-by-side won’t be practical.

3. Are you canceling camps and VBS, or delaying them until later this summer? This is a big question on people’s minds. One church leader asked me, “May I return $6000 of VBS materials we’ve purchased?” There are alternatives, and I know many churches that are delaying VBS until August, using it as a big back-to-school event. Other churches are using their VBS materials in backyard Bible clubs (so that groups are smaller). Other churches are going to do VBS over 5 weeks, one day a week (such as Sunday night), or they plan to use VBS resources during Fall Break. Click here to read an article by Lifeway about VBS in the wake of COVID-19.

4. Is a physical “pass the plate” offering a thing of the past? How would you feel if you were the 100th person in a worship service to touch the offering plate that 99 other people just touched? Would you be worried about COVID-19 transmission? Sure you would. So how will you take up your weekly offering? Will you install boxes at the doors of the worship center, and perhaps place some of those in the lobby, so that worshipers can slide their envelopes, cash, or checks into those secured boxes?

5. What are you doing now to sanitize and sterilize your church building? Now is the time to wipe down all classrooms (especially those where children meet because of the toys and other items they touch during the course of a Sunday or Wednesday class experience). Have you sprayed pews and chairs with disinfectant? Who is wiping door knobs and handles? Have you had carpet cleaned and disinfected? Now is the time for all this to take place, not the week of the “you can go back to church” announcement by government officials.

https://kenbraddy.com/2020/04/18/20-questions-your-church-should-answer-before-people-return/?fbclid=IwAR0sDX59aanFD9sfQvLYLkXvdzGPe7...
6. Are you going to continue offering children's church? Can you guarantee moms and dads that their children will be absolutely safe in a room in which dozens or hundreds gather for a kids' worship time? This is going to be a top concern for parents of younger children. They may view kids' worship as a Petri dish into which they are throwing their children. As an alternative, is it time to encourage family worship as the primary option in these COVID-19 days? Should parents take their kids to worship, practice physical distancing, and keep a close eye on their little ones?

7. Are you going to continue hosting special events? Will your church continue to host weddings? How about funerals? Revivals? Dramas? Bible Drill events? Children's programs/choir? You get the idea — there are a number of special events that our churches might host. Which ones will continue, and which ones will be put on hold? And how will you explain which ones continue and which ones don't?

8. Are you continuing to provide coffee stations on campus? Many churches have invested serious dollars in creating a coffee shop experience. My church has a coffee station in the center of our foyer (a self-serve station). Is that a good idea anymore? Tables and chairs may need to be placed in storage so that people don't congregate within a couple of feet of one another.

9. Will you continue offering virtual online worship? Some churches may think of their recent foray into Facebook Live as a means to provide a worship experience for their people a thing of the past — a stop-gap measure during some really strange days. Happy they can meet together again, Facebook Live services may give way to worship experiences on campus. But is that the right strategy? I have heard of church after church whose leaders tell me their worship attendance and group attendance are up — significantly — because people are finding them online. It was reported that one Hispanic church in Las Vegas, Nevada, had 1300 people watch their service online a few weeks ago. Why is that a big deal? They normally average 100 on campus.

10. What is your plan when volunteers step down? I’m already hearing that older volunteers are telling their church leaders they aren’t coming back to teach their preschool and kids’ classes until a vaccine is readily available — it’s just too risky for them because they are most at risk from COVID-19. Will you be able to fully staff your classes like you did back in February? If you can’t find enough volunteers (younger families may be hesitant to return because of the fear of exposing their children to COVID-19, which means their parents won’t be leading younger children’s groups), what will you do?

11. What’s your strategy to clean and sanitize your church in real time? It’s one thing to prepare in advance of people’s return to the church building, but how will you keep the place clean and disinfected on a Sunday or Wednesday? Does this give rise to a new team of people on campus whose ministry is to walk around wiping door knobs and other surfaces? Who is going to clean restrooms throughout the morning or evening? Remember you’ll have hundreds (some of your churches may have thousands) of people touching things while they are on campus.

12. Do door greeters do their jobs differently, or at all? Not have door greeters? Seriously?! We’ve always had door greeters. But in a COVID-19 world, do you really want a door greeter holding the door open while a parishioner walks by within a foot or two of them? That’s not in line with good physical distancing practices, is it? The new normal may be for greeters to stand back six feet, inside the church building, and welcome people verbally without opening the door for them. You experience that at big box stores now. A greeter is there to say hello, but they don’t make you pass within a foot of them! Welcome to the new world COVID-19 has created.

13. Is this the time to end your church’s “meet and greet” time? Because of physical distancing rules, it is. This practice has been on the decline in recent days, and many churches have already abandoned it because of its ineffectiveness with guests, not because of COVID-19 concerns. Thankfully my church eliminated this about 18 months ago, so we’re ready. How about your church?

14. Because people may return very slowly to church, how will you count attendance and effectiveness? The question has already been raised about should we or should not we take attendance during online worship and online group Bible studies. It’s almost a sure thing that worship attendance on campus will not be what it was pre-COVID-19. You need to decide now if you’re going to count on-campus only attendance, or merge and add online attendance, too. And how will group leaders take a count in their online groups and go about reporting that?

15. Should you add and/or shorten worship services to allow for social distancing? I touched on this in #1 above, but let’s drill down a bit. If physical gatherings are limited in size, you have a few options: (1) offer more services (2) encourage people to continue worshiping online (3) remove chairs from your worship center to help people avoid close contact (4) block off pews so that people no longer sit right behind someone, reducing the chances of them sneezing or coughing directly into the back of the person in front of them. If your church reopens with the “worship only” option, you’ll have to decide these things now.

16. What are you going to do about larger Sunday School groups? Let’s get real for a moment — no one is going to want to sit in a crowded room for Bible study, yet so many of our classes have been allowed to grow to have very large attendance. Do you feel good about letting 25 or more senior adults meet in a room that holds, well, 25 or 30 senior adults? Not me. If you have space to start new groups, now is the time — help people spread out. But if your church is out of space, like mine is, what’s the next step?? One option is to start another hour of Sunday School. For my church, we’d go from two hours to three. Yours might go from one hour to two. Or another option is to place some groups online while others remain on campus. There’s not going to be a quick and easy solution to this.

17. What’s your plan for Sunday School curriculum? Most churches have provided print products — we call them Personal Study Guides (for group members); some adults still refer to them as “quarterlies” because they are distributed at church at the beginning of a new quarter. But because of social distancing and the new emphasis on virtual groups, should you keep print products but add digital ones for those groups meeting off campus? Thankfully, my company, LifeWay, creates digital versions of all its ongoing Bible study products, so we can meet whatever demand the church has. I have been providing print products at my church, but I’m about to add digital so my groups can be flexible in meeting on or off campus.

18. Will you reopen the doors of your church with a “worship only” strategy? I am hearing of more and more churches that are choosing this option whenever we are allowed to meet again on campus. They are adding services, removing chairs, practicing social distancing, and focusing on regaining momentum in worship. Bible study groups will remain online for safety in the short-term, and will be added back to the on-campus experience in time.

19. Do you have a plan for reducing expenses if your church’s offerings don’t rebound? This is the time for a “budget scrub” — while offerings are still decent and expenses have been lower because of reduced activities. Churches need to be thinking, “What if...” — what if our offerings don’t hold steady because of rising unemployment of members? Before the church returns to the building, every church needs a “plan B” strategy just in case giving drops in late summer or early fall. I have friends in ministry that I deeply respect who believe we (the church) have not felt the financial impact of COVID-19 like we will in the days and months ahead. I think they may be right.

https://kenbraddy.com/2020/04/18/20-questions-your-church-should-answer-before-people-return/?fbcld=IwAR0sD59aanFD9sQvlYLoKvzdrGPe7...
20. How will you deal with the rise of COVID-19 related addictions? One mental health expert said in a webinar meeting last week, "I'm hearing that porn sites are giving away free memberships during COVID-19...just what people don't need." In that same webinar last week on mental health, the presenter assured the audience that substance abuse is on the rise, too. Alcohol sales are soaring. He cautioned us to be ready to do lots of counseling and referring of people to professionals in our post-COVID-19 reality.

21. Are you going to decrease the fellowship time between on-campus worship services? Some churches that have multiple services and Sunday School hours schedule up to 30 minutes of time between those events because they value the opportunity to gather, have coffee, and fellowship. In a COVID-19 world, it is a good idea not to let that happen. Shorter times between worship services, and the elimination of coffee bar areas (yes, I know...it's sacrilege to think about not having coffee stations around the building!) will help keep people moving to their next destination, a worship service or a Bible study group, and it will help reduce the "let's hang out and give each other COVID-19."

22. Are you going to cancel mid-week Wednesday night services, meals, and Bible studies? This won't be a forever thing, but in the near future following the return of the church to its buildings, will you continue a virtual, online prayer meeting and Bible study time? Can you find volunteer workers to support a Wednesday night strategy on campus? Do you want to put many people around tables for the traditional mid-week meal on Wednesday nights?

23. Should you be investing in new digital equipment right now? Yes, we've all hopped online and used Facebook Live to broadcast our worship services. Some of us are doing that with iPads and other devices, but is this the time to admit that online worship is probably here to stay? If yes, then it makes sense to invest dollars now so that cameras and other equipment can be purchased that will help the church be more professional in the new online world of worship.

24. Will a new staff or volunteer position emerge from COVID-19? Because the church has permanently moved online now, could it lead to the adoption of a new position of leadership? Will churches turn their attention to a Virtual Pastor whose job it is to oversee the technical aspects of the new digital frontier? Will they become responsible to develop groups and strategies to reach people online? It's highly likely that this is going to take place; the role may first be added to a staff person who is currently serving the church, but when it is possible to split that role and afford a new person, churches may hire online pastors.

This list of questions is not exhaustive. It's representative of many things we should be thinking about right now, before we get the OK from government leaders to gather again.

What would you add to this list? What have I left out? Let's pool our experience and wisdom to help Jesus' bride be prepared for the new world we find ourselves in. I'd love for you to respond to this post, share your thoughts, and then share it in social media. We've got to get the church thinking and talking about these things.

Follow my blog by signing up on my home page in the upper right sidebar. Click here to jump to my site (http://kenbraddy.com) – it's free to follow!

BEST PRACTICES
SUNDAY SCHOOL

- COVID-19
- RETURN

Published by Ken Braddy Jr

LifeWay's Director of Sunday School, Manager of LifeWay Christian Resource's Adult Ongoing Bible Studies & Adult Trainers, education pastor 20+ years, author, conference leader, and blogger View all posts by Ken Braddy Jr

179 comments

1. Kurt Wesolowski says:
   APRIL 20, 2020 AT 12:33 AM
   It makes me wonder if there will be a significant increase in the number of full-time pastors that will have to transition to bivocational ministry because of financial considerations for the church and how many of the churches will navigate that change when it comes on top of everything else.

   REPLY

   • Ken Braddy Jr says:
   APRIL 20, 2020 AT 6:51 AM

https://kenbraddy.com/2020/04/18/20-questions-your-church-should-answer-before-people-return/
Kurt, I think the answer is yes. Here in Tennessee our state convention leaders tell us that 90% of churches have bi-vo pastors. Because of the coming financial challenges (it really hasn’t hit yet) I believe some full time pastors will become bi-vocational ones. My small church doesn’t have a large financial reserve and at least one of the two full time pastors has already begun planning to be bi-vocational if things go south.

REPLY

○ Kurt Wesolowski says:
April 20, 2020 at 4:47 PM
It will likely be a challenging transition for many of those churches, especially if they haven’t had a bivocational in many, many years, if ever.

REPLY

○ Ken Smith says:
April 20, 2020 at 9:10 PM
How is it ok for pastor’s to work secular jobs, but somehow to dangerous to pastor a church. You have not thought this through, we need to be positive and encouraging to people rather than fearful and unbelieving. I can hear Jesus now, O ye of little faith. If I can go to walmart I can go to church.

REPLY

○ Ken Braddy Jr says:
April 20, 2020 at 9:16 PM
Ken you missed my point, sir. It’s not that I or others have little faith. It’s about us using the common sense God has given to us. Churches will reopen. What I am suggesting is that every church and its leaders must decide how they will protect the most vulnerable members, and what level of risk abatement they will pursue. It isn’t a lack of faith to act with prudence.

○ Onalee Gillette says:
April 20, 2020 at 7:40 AM
Great food for thought !!! I also sing in the choir. In my church( in the (Sanctuary) the congregation is mostly the elderly. Also with health issues, Also I sing in the choir When will we ever be able to feel safe. We are all victims. of everything always. What should we so?

REPLY

○ Ken Braddy Jr says:
April 20, 2020 at 7:42 AM
Onalee, thanks for your reply to the blog post. Elderly congregations are facing special challenges, no doubt. All we can do is to make wise choices and trust God for protection. This won’t last forever, and a vaccine will be created. Pray for scientists to discover it. Ask God for wisdom to know what steps your church should take. Thanks for your reply!

REPLY

2. Sheila Mitchell says:
April 20, 2020 at 12:50 AM
Great and informative article. It contains numerous suggestions that we can implement. Thank you.

REPLY

○ Ken Braddy Jr says:
April 20, 2020 at 6:49 AM
Thanks, Sheila. May the Lord guide you to make the decisions that are right for your congregation.

REPLY

3. Wendy says:
April 20, 2020 at 3:55 AM
We are currently a church plant and meet at a local elementary school. I’m not sure what our plans will be going forward. We have recently acquired a building but it needs a lot of renovation. Definitely creates some challenges but God knew this before we started and we have an amazingly dedicated church family that will see this through!

REPLY

○ Ken Braddy Jr says:
April 20, 2020 at 6:48 AM
Wendy, bless you! My first church to serve was a church plant and I can identify with you. You are right – God knew and He is able and will see your congregation through this.

REPLY

4. Ken Stefanko says:
April 20, 2020 at 4:50 AM
Ken, those are some really good thoughts to ponder. You may have covered it, but I don’t recall seeing an exit plan after the service. We are a smaller congregation, around 100 members.

https://kenbraddy.com/2020/04/18/20-questions-your-church-should-answer-before-people-return/?fbclid=IwAR0sDX59aanFD9sQvl.YLkJXvdzGPe7...
However, dismissal at the end of the service needs to be considered. The majority exit the pews via the center aisle to head out which creates a bottleneck of members shoulder to shoulder exiting the sanctuary. Do we need to dismiss a row at a time as you sometimes do at a wedding to give everyone space to self distance? Something to consider.

- Ken Braddy Jr says:
  APRIL 20, 2020 AT 6:47 AM
  Ken, that’s such a good point! Wow. Appreciate your forethought on this. I had not considered the exit plan.

5. Trese Linton says:
  APRIL 20, 2020 AT 7:23 AM
  Perhaps door greeters will need to check each entering with a no touch thermometer.

- Ken Braddy Jr says:
  APRIL 20, 2020 AT 7:27 AM
  I hadn’t considered this, Cheryl…thanks for your thoughts. One-way traffic may be a good temporary practice.

7. Donna Montgomery says:
  APRIL 20, 2020 AT 7:48 AM
  My church is already thinking about it this is good thinking.

8. Week Six – Another Breed of Cat says:
  APRIL 20, 2020 AT 8:06 AM
  […] example, I saw an article today that mentioned alcohol sales skyrocketing, and pornography sites are giving away free […]

9. The big difference and the big deal between physical and social distancing – Ken Braddy says:
  APRIL 20, 2020 AT 8:13 AM
  […] Saturday morning just two days ago, I released a blog post titled 20 Questions Your Church Should Answer Before People Return. In one day, Saturday April 18, it had 72,000 views. By the end of the day on Sunday over 325,000 […]

10. Michael Gill says:
    APRIL 20, 2020 AT 8:54 AM
    Thanks for the article as it does provide good questions and things to consider. Some of these questions we have asked while many we will start to ask now. One thing to consider is the idea of opening with worship only. Depending on the state the opening will be in stages of 10, 50, 100+ much like the closing. If that is the case why not start with Sunday School/Small Groups meeting and wait on worship services. If we as a church are to focus on training, equipping, teaching, and discipleship those things typically happen in a small group setting. Yes, the groups will need to be smaller and space considerations addressed. But is it safer to have a group of ten in an enclosed room spread out or 100+ in a closed room spread out? Something to consider. I see this as an opportunity to refocus on small groups and as you pointed out it will have to be in a different way. Thanks for the article and the questions.

- Ken Braddy Jr says:
  APRIL 20, 2020 AT 9:33 AM
  Michael, thanks for your excellent thoughts. So many unknowns at this time. I know that God will guide His church to make the right decisions. It won’t be forever, but if we can be more ready for the return to the church building, I believe we will save lives.

11. Sharon Henderson Alsup says:
    APRIL 20, 2020 AT 9:05 AM
    this appears to be a very comprehensive list…thank you. As the leader of a pre school program I would like to share this with our staff…can you give me permission to copy this article for private use only?

- Ken Braddy Jr says:
12. James says:
   APRIL 20, 2020 AT 9:11 AM
   These are all good questions but there are no suggestions as to how to handle these issues. Too much negative to be honest.

   REPPLY

   ○ Ken Braddy Jr says:
     APRIL 20, 2020 AT 9:31 AM
     James, glad you read the post. I have not been overly prescriptive because every church will have to decide how it will handle these issues...no 2 will be the same. And the post is not being perceived as negative, but as a proactive way to create discussions so that congregants are not put in harm’s way when we return to the building. Be safe!

   REPPLY

13. Deanna says:
   APRIL 20, 2020 AT 10:15 AM
   As a pastor’s wife, it has been my experience that “COVID-Pastoring” has kept us far busier and has been far more work than our prior pastoring style. I’m not sure how my husband would have time to return to a bi-vocational style of church leadership. He’s now the audio/visual department as we shelter at home in addition to shepherding.
   As I read this list of items to ponder, I wonder if we will be able to take a few queues from similar places that gather in our region such as preschools, theatres, high school choirs, etc? Here in Canada, these venues are augment in the eyes of our society.

   REPPLY

   ○ Ken Braddy Jr says:
     APRIL 20, 2020 AT 10:21 AM
     Deanna, thanks for posting your comment! I have no doubt that you and your husband are tremendously busy in these days. I cannot imagine what the church world might look like if we didn’t have the technologies we do. As for taking queues from other places, absolutely! They can help inform us of best practices. Some readers have accused me of stirring the pot and causing paranoia, but if we don’t think about these issues now, make preparations today, and create as safe an environment as we can, some of our most vulnerable members will be put in harm’s way. Thanks for your well-articulated thoughts!!

   REPPLY

14. Peggy Ball says:
   APRIL 20, 2020 AT 10:20 AM
   What about alter calls in Evangelical Churches?

   REPPLY

   ○ Ken Braddy Jr says:
     APRIL 20, 2020 AT 10:40 AM
     Peggy, that’s a great one. We need to think that through. This whole thing just leads to more questions! I appreciate your thoughtful response.

   REPPLY

15. Jerry Smith says:
   APRIL 20, 2020 AT 10:42 AM
   Consider also: Churches that have any kind of food service, funeral dinners, wedding receptions, sports programs, or transportation ministries. I hope this calls us all to deeper prayer in that our churches will return to be called a house of prayer.

   REPPLY

   ○ Ken Braddy Jr says:
     APRIL 20, 2020 AT 10:44 AM
     Tremendous, excellent thoughts, Jerry. My small church has all of those things you mentioned. Wow. Lots more to think about.

   REPPLY

16. Mark Adams says:
   APRIL 20, 2020 AT 11:08 AM
   I am a pastor of a very small rural church (about 25-30 on Sunday morning). We are located in a town with a population of about 160. The population of our county is less than 3,000. The next nearest church of any type is about 10 miles away, as is the school. The main building of our church is over 100 years old with the main part of the sanctuary having screwed down pews. Our congregation is an aging congregation. There is only one person under 39 that regularly attends. Nearly all are 65 or older (my wife and I are both 62). Online services are not practical as a good portion of our attendees do not have computers, and/or may not do facebook. I have been trying to keep in contact by phone with some of the attendees and by sending out a weekly letter (most are sent out the old fashion way by USPS) with some thoughts from the Bible. I am not sure what changes we will make from normal when we restart services. So far there have been no confirmed cases of Covid-19 in our county nor in the counties to the east and west of us. If that remains true, we may just start up things like they were before.
Ken Braddy Jr says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 11:22 AM
Mark, thank you for your comments and for letting us know about your church. I imagine this is fairly typical of many rural churches. I am praying for you as you lead your people.

17. qcontrary says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 11:40 AM
I am the Children’s Minister and my hope is to do VBS in October instead of Fall Festival. It will save so much money as these are the two biggest events our church does. And also I’ve already taken a team to LifeWay’s VBS training AND we have bought all the curriculum and decorations!

Second thought, and I think someone else said this, I don’t see how it is possible to hold kids Sunday School classes and such while the schools are still closed. All the guidelines given by the president and our governor show schools opening way down the list of reopenings.

Awesome article, thanks!

Ken Braddy Jr says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 11:44 AM
Great thoughts! Thank you for sharing with all of us. I had not thought about swapping Fall Festival for VBS! Great alternative.

18. S Johnsamson says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 12:57 PM
Should there be a gap in time between services due to how long virus can lives on surfaces?

Ken Braddy Jr says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 2:26 PM
I believe so. Perhaps a team could run through the worship center and wipe things down. Same thing for other surface areas around the church. Hard to believe we are actually having to talk about this!

19. Ginger Ketzel says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 1:48 PM
Mandi – this is good stuff. If you think it appropriate/ helpful you might want to forward it to Rick.

20. Rick says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 2:45 PM
Request permission to share with my leadership team.

Ken Braddy Jr says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 2:50 PM
Rick, absolutely. Share as you wish.

21. Courtney says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 3:09 PM
These are great questions and they will surely help churches (and other religions) to ask even more questions. I hadn’t even thought about VBS! My goodness. I passed this on to my minister. I appreciate your thoughts. I told my minister that whenever the time comes that we can all be together again, I hope the first song is “When we all get to heaven,” because I’ve been singing it in my mind. I sometimes change the words to say, “When we all get together!” We must remember that many churches are aging congregations and we must protect our elders. We must think of them before we rush to the pews. Take a moment to think, “would I be ok with my grandparent(s) going there or doing that?” Blessing to you and to all who read this.

Ken Braddy Jr says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 4:19 PM
Thank you, Courtney! Appreciate your time to write this and share with everyone.

22. Chris Booker says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 6:34 PM

https://kenbraddy.com/2020/04/18/questions-your-church-should-answer-before-people-return/?fbclid=IwAR0sDX59aanFD9sfQvLYLkXvdzGPe7...
Thank you so much for this thoughtful article. We like other churches are wrestling with everything you mentioned. One thing I don’t think was mentioned is hymnals. Should we put them away and go to slides only? Do they need to be cleaned?

Chris Booker
Praise and Worship leader
Hunt United Methodists Church
Hunt, Tx

Ken Braddy Jr says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 8:50 PM
Hey Chris...aaahhh...a fellow Texan (I’m from Arlington). The hymnals would most likely need to be wiped down...the safer play is to temporarily remove them.

George Archer says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 7:16 PM
Is God scattering the church? Interesting, not one growing vibrant church had any of these questions in their radar for the future plans. I think we might want to open our ears and seek a “new” Word from God about the church being the body of Christ in our current culture. Perhaps we were on the wrong path all along...

Ken Braddy Jr says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 8:49 PM
George, I have said in another blog post that we are literally experiencing the second great diaspora of the church. 4 weeks ago almost no church was broadcasting online or holding online Bible groups. God may use this pandemic to squeeze us out of our campuses and into cyberspace. I hear daily stories (I led a webinar earlier today for Pacific Rim churches) of churches that are reaching many new people. They are seeing worship and group numbers soar. The Great Commission begins with “go,” which is rendered “as you go” in Greek. So now we are doing that in new ways. Maybe just one of the good things coming out of this

Robyn Bray says:
APRIL 21, 2020 AT 5:28 AM
I believe God has been urging the the Ecclesia to participate in home studies and fellowships for a good while now. Many churches have “dipped into it,” but God wants the walls to come down... not just practice programmed exercises in our homes or elsewhere, but get to know each other, pray together for each other and invite friends and neighbors to join us.

Around 10 years ago, my sister and I planned monthly parties over a period of several months. Some parties had a food and decor theme, like Mexican, Hawaiian, holiday or just pot luck. Just being who we were, someone would suggest a sing along, and casually, we began to sing whatever guests suggested. This usually merged into prayer.

People gathered, chatting, in groups of 2 or 3, encouraging and each other. People who had been hurt in organized church were among our most faithful guests. Because it wasn’t called “church” there were no rules, expectations or judgment.

At one point, circumstances led us to discontinue, but I’ve had the strongest sense that at some point believers may meet as “book clubs,” “dinner clubs,” or potluck groups rather than something called “church.” We ARE the church.

It could be that such a time is approaching, or already Dawning. This doesn’t necessarily solve sanitation or social distancing issues, though each small group would be exposed to far fewer people than in a larger class or congregation.

If worst came to worst and building were not affordable, connected fellowships could still meet on a larger scale in a public place or park... if leaders felt it was necessary. Or group leaders could meet for prayer and support.

I know this is long. I’ll likely clean it up and post it on my website, but I felt this a forum where it might be a catalyst for prayerful thought and spark other ideas.

I thank you for your article. It blesses me to see people taking on reality in a positive way. It often takes crisis to crwck our shells of habit and tradition, then we can be amazed at how God brings us to life in a Spirit led, world changing dynamic!

Ken Braddy Jr says:
APRIL 21, 2020 AT 5:34 AM
Robyn, this was well-said. I believe like you, that the church is experiencing a second great diaspora. The first one sent it scrambling out of Jerusalem in Acts 8. This one is sending us online and will lead to more groups meeting on days besides Sunday, and in places besides the church building. Thank you for sharing your thoughts here!

Rhonda Talmadge says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 8:31 PM
Your article is well done and very realistic. A couple of my thoughts...
As handshaking is such an automatic response for meeting someone (whether in church or elsewhere, and especially in the south), AND one of the #1 ways of spreading germs, it seems that church leaders should be very proactive in discouraging this practice among congregants. Obviously, the idea of no handshaking won’t sit well with many, so there needs to be a clear and polite way for a person to communicate with others that he/she has chosen to refrain from this practice. For an alternative to handshaking to be effective, it is imperative that it start with the top leadership of the church and be introduced in a positive manner. There are several good suggestions online for alternate methods of greeting, depending on the personality and preferences of individual church bodies.
My last thought is a strong suggestion that touch-free hand sanitizer dispensers be placed at strategic locations around the church building...then highly advertised and promoted.
Thanks for the great ideas and the opportunity to add more.

REPLY

○ Ken Braddy Jr says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 8:45 PM
Rhonda, you are so right. Church leaders must set and initiate examples of good interpersonal contact. Churches could have some “fun” with this and introduce a new way to greet one another that is unique to their church. I’m personally hoping that Mr. Spock’s Vulcan hand greeting takes hold at my church...I learned to split my fingers and do that greeting years ago. 😊

You’re also right about hand sanitizing stations. And do we come back wearing masks initially? So much to think through.

REPLY

○ Rhonda Talmadge says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 8:55 PM
Yes, my husband agrees with the Spock greeting! 😊

REPLY

○ Ken Braddy Jr says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 9:00 PM
😊

25. Stephen Parks says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 8:33 PM
I would add- how is your church equipping parents to have family worship together and how are parents be equipped to train and disciple their children at home?

REPLY

○ Ken Braddy Jr says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 8:42 PM
Stephen, that’s a big opportunity right now. Thanks for bringing it up here!

REPLY

26. Cedric says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 9:10 PM
Thanks for this insightful article! As churches begin planning for return to church buildings, we will also need to consider how we will conduct ministry beyond the church walls, i.e. visits to sick and shut-in whether at homes, hospitals, or nursing homes? Also, our church has a van for picking up seniors form their homes for church services. I think we will have to consider if and how we resume this service in light of social distancing. If the van is even half full, I don’t know if there would be enough distance between the passengers.

REPLY

○ Ken Braddy Jr says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 9:14 PM
Great thoughts, Cedric. Thank you for posting them

REPLY

27. Melissa Jensen says:
APRIL 20, 2020 AT 10:55 PM
So glad I found this as we are having similar conversations. While logic dictates small groups and classes first because they are smaller than larger corporate worship. So many classes couldn’t meet in their current space and have adequate social distancing, plus all that passing one another in hallways, corporate worship seems easier. Plus that’s so many surfaces to keep clean. I’m suggesting no tables in our rooms it’s easier to spread chairs. How will people respond to asking them to wear masks if we can’t insure social distancing? So many questions on how to come together safely. We will continue to have a robust online presence.

REPLY

○ Ken Braddy Jr says:
APRIL 21, 2020 AT 12:09 AM
Melissa, those are great observations. Glad we are thinking and planning now to ensure as safe a re-entry for our most vulnerable members as possible
28. Becky Smith says:
APRIL 21, 2020 AT 12:50 AM
For those churches who elect to have multiple services, how are you going to be able to clean the entire church in the short time you will have between services?

29. Ron Allen says:
APRIL 21, 2020 AT 1:34 AM
We have a special needs ministry (Joyful Praise) for the emotionally challenged. I am wondering what that class looks like when we return? Some of them will not comprehend social distancing. One of the guys is a compulsive handshaker. Wow… this is going to be hard for him.

One thing that is on my list, I call it a “high-risk room” like an overflow room but for the high-risk, or early service is the high-risk service. (like some of the stores have first hour for seniors.) it provides space for social distancing, anyone in the room must have a mask, must use hand sanitizer station at the door. temp check before entry, no touch offering and communion.

One more item on my list, as a Security Director in the Motor City, (Yes, we rank high on the list you don’t want to be on.) what is my Safety Team doing with someone who starts coughing? Could be a dry throat, could be an intentional disruption, could be COVID. I’m thinking ask them to step out and temp check them, get them some water… let them go back in if temp check is good?? If temp check is bad, document who was around them so maybe the whole church is not forced to quarantine.

30. COVID-19 Resources Update #4 - Looking Ahead Together - Anglican Compass says:
APRIL 21, 2020 AT 6:08 AM
[...] here is a great set of questions each congregation should be answering as we look ahead together from Ken Braddy of Lifeway [...]