

The background of the entire page is a repeating pattern of Delta Gamma symbols. The symbols include the Greek letter Delta (Δ), the Greek letter Gamma (Γ), and a stylized rose. These symbols are arranged in a grid-like fashion, with some symbols being larger than others, creating a textured, wallpaper-like effect. The entire pattern is in a dark blue color against a slightly lighter blue background.

We began our journey as Delta Gammas, anchored in a friendship that grew effortlessly into a lifetime of sisterhood—a powerful force uniting us at the heart with the ambitious charge, left to us by our Founders, to “Do Good.” Our 2018-2019 Annual Impact Report proudly celebrates each of you for your generosity and commitment to volunteering. Last year, you dedicated an astonishing 240,642 service hours. This inspired philanthropy moves us forward with the confident, clear vision of giving HOPE to others.

Your belief in Service for Sight has given the visually impaired community the promise of access, independence and reassurance. You sent children to camp, published books in braille, sponsored guide dogs and helped injured veterans. Your gifts to the Foundation support the remarkable work of our five Delta Gamma schools in Los Angeles, Kansas City, St. Louis, Denver and Phoenix.

Your giving spirit continues to inspire and assist our collegians and alumnae with merit-based scholarships, graduate fellowships, interest-free student loans and incredible leadership opportunities. You reach out to sisters in unexpected financial need with Anchor Grants and embrace our collegians who are struggling with student loan debt with Sisters Helping Sisters: A Need-Based Scholarship Program, inspired by visionary Carlene Moore Ellis, Delta Iota-Georgia.

Your pride in Delta Gamma makes us leaders in the fraternity/sorority community for the education and leadership opportunities we offer our members. In fact, you have made it possible for the Foundation to grant more than $6.7 million dollars over the last 10 years to our beloved Fraternity.

With generous gifts from more than 5,700 extraordinary donors, in addition to the fundraising efforts of our house corporations, alumnae groups and collegiate chapters, we marked another successful year, raising $7.4 million. We share with greatest pride that every collegiate chapter donated to the Foundation. They continue to be our greatest fundraisers by holding 655 fundraisers and raising $2.2 million in the 2018-2019 fiscal year.

We are empowering lives and redefining futures, while knowing that no single one of us could make the impact we are making together as a powerful sisterhood. On behalf of the Delta Gamma Foundation Board of Trustees and the Delta Gamma Foundation staff, we share such joy in being part of your Delta Gamma family. Thank you.

Empowering learning...

Alyssa Ciango, Delta Beta-Kentucky, hadn't always planned on working with students, but leadership opportunities funded by the Delta Gamma Foundation have, in many ways, defined Alyssa's personal and professional goals. Her experiences in Delta Gamma have led her to pursue a master's degree in higher education and student affairs at The Ohio State University. "Going to Lewis Institute, Delta Gamma's own leadership program, was a pivotal experience for me. It catapulted me into leadership as president of my chapter," she says. During a time of immense change, Alyssa strived to be a beacon of light for her chapter and to implement a Culture of Care based on DG values. Her success as president prepared her to spend the next two years as a Collegiate Development Consultant (CDC), the first of which she was named as the Baynard Consultant to support Delta Gamma's newest chapters. Alyssa says she loves working with all students, but her favorite moments are "encountering collegians just like me, women who need a bit of confidence to be great leaders. They just need a little pick me up to say 'Hey, I can do this.'"

As a recipient of the Carmalieta Jenkins Memorial Fellowship from the Delta Gamma Foundation, Alyssa will be able to meet her educational and professional goals to be a positive force in the lives of students. "This fellowship means that I'll be able to pursue a variety of professional development opportunities in my field without the burden of worrying about finances," Alyssa said. She'll help students in her professional role, but she also plans to continue advising collegiate chapters and facilitating Lewis Institute to pay forward the assistance she's had from Delta Gamma: "I want to lift them up, the way I was lifted up."

"The Foundation serves as a champion in developing students in their learning and academics, to reach their leadership potential, and to become overall better Delta Gammas and sisters, by embodying Delta Gamma values."

-Alyssa Ciango, graduate fellowship recipient

For Brittany and Nathan Clarkson, learning their eight-year-old daughter Addyson was born completely blind was startling news. "We just weren't sure how she'd be able to do things," Brittany said. They were quick, however, to dive in and find Addy what she needed. One of the resources they found was Braille Tales, a program funded by a Delta Gamma Foundation Service for Sight grant to the American Printing House for the Blind (APH) in Louisville, Kentucky. The program provides popular children's books six times a year to over 1,700 families across the United States with members who are blind or visually impaired.

"We feel so fortunate to live in an area like Louisville that has the APH and other amazing resources. That's how we learned about Braille Tales. When you learn about something new, you just get so excited for what is out there for your kids," Brittany said. Addy's family was eager to take advantage of this opportunity and enrolled in Braille Tales when she was just a baby.

Kids love getting packages, and Addy is no exception. She wanted to read with her parents as soon as the books arrived, even before she learned braille. By age three, Addy was on her way to becoming an excellent reader and writer of braille. Now, she's perfecting it. Addy's favorite part about reading is using different voices: "Being a good reader means I can read with expressions. It makes reading more fun," Addy said. "I can't just read, I've got to think if the character feels sad or mad — you've got to do the expressions!"

The Braille Tales program is unique — the stories are not reprinted in braille, but rather a clear braille overlay is placed on the pages of the books. This enables both readers of braille and persons who are sighted to experience the books together. For Addy, this means she can read to her little sister Kennedy, a three-year-old who is sighted, and Kennedy can enjoy the pictures. The books also help Kennedy understand what blindness is, and how Addy learns and experiences the world differently than she does. For other families, parents and grandparents who are blind can read to children who are sighted. Access to these resources is vital to ensure that all people can experience the joy of reading.

Brittany and Nathan know the importance of programs like Braille Tales for Addy. "At first, you think your kid is going to miss out on all the things other kids have, and so it feels good to know that there are people out there advocating and constantly creating and making things accessible." Since 1951, the Delta Gamma Foundation has advocated for the blind and visually impaired community by providing grants to organizations that share our sight-related mission. Learn more about APH and Braille Tales at www.aph.org.

Collegians and alumnae spent 240,642 hours in service to others in the 2018-2019 fiscal year alone.

In the 2018-2019 fiscal year, the Foundation awarded grants totaling $920,603 to national organizations through Service for Sight, and to local organizations through the Chapter Giving Program.

The Foundation supported the five Delta Gamma schools for children with visual impairments with Service for Sight grants of $25,000 each.

THANK YOU!

Your gifts to the Foundation empower Delta Gammas.

Delta Gamma's leadership and educational programs are empowering women to take the lead in their chapters, on their campuses, and in their communities. Madison Scott, Pi-Montana, had always wanted to be president of her chapter, but didn't think she had what it would take. "I didn't have the courage to put myself out there." Delta Gamma's leadership and educational programs, including the Lewis Institute, prepared Madison to lead with authenticity. "The Lewis Institute gave me courage and confidence, and equipped me with new skills to make a tangible difference in my chapter." Madison's wish turned into a goal, and she was elected president of her chapter last fall.

Since its creation in 2014, the Lewis Institute has empowered over 1,000 Delta Gamma collegians to become leaders for life. Your gifts to the Foundation make accomplishments like this possible. Thank you.
