Dear Sir -

This letter is merely to express a "Thank you" for your innovative game.

Our son, Bill, now going on seventeen years of age, has once again expressed his desire for yet another game.

Having listened and observed more many hours spent at the kitchen table with his neighborhood friends (the baseball, football and basketball) season this past six years, it can only be related that nothing else has captured the attention and imagination of these young men like your game has. An entire closet shelf is full of old statistics seasons, play offs, "All Star Games", etc.

Thank you for all the enjoyment and mental preoccupation that your game has afforded these boys.

It wouldn't surprise me a bit to get a request from some far off college in another year for yet another game!

Thanks again.

Sincerely,

Marion E. Sargent
