Hi, Steve,

It was great seeing you, Hal, Pauline, James, and Sheila and meeting Hal's kids as well as the author of Hal's book. (I bet that Adam is a real "heart-breaker" -- what a personable, handsome young man.) And Annie reminds me so much of Sheila when I first met her.

I did read the book this week-end and it was very interesting, informative and exciting. I remembered when SI was 'after' Hal when we were at South Bayles. I may have only been in my teens at the time, but I felt I had "lived" Strat-o-Matic for a number of years of my life. I also learned a lot from Hal, as I am sure you can relate. Believe it or not, but I draw on some of those early experiences in running my own company now. I guess everything we do, everybody we meet in life, and all of our daily activities throughout the years really contribute to who we are. Not to wax poetic, but when I saw you again and spoke with you, it was as if time had stood still--even though I'm certainly not that teen-ager anymore. LOL

Again, it was great seeing you again. Please feel free to e-mail and keep in touch. It is a small world out there! If you happen to run into Karen T., please also tell her I said "hi".....who knows if I'll make it to my 40th Reunion - gosh!!

Take care and thanks again for your hospitality. It meant a lot to me.

Fondly,
Lynn

P.S. I think the pictures came out well, especially since we used only a camera phone -
