(Self-Canadian, Ralph Waldo Emerson) Ralph Waldo Emerson's self-sufficiency is a classic essay on the importance of incoherence, individuality and self-sufficiency. The ideas contained in the essay provide a much-needed antidote to the consistent pressures of our age, since Emerson was a strong believer in the importance of not ing with the masses, instead staying true to our own path and domestic law. Society versus individual For non-compliance, the world whips you with its ruthlessness. (Self-Canadian, Ralph Waldo Emerson) Non-conformists are perceived by the majority as a threat, as individuals who must learn from the ways of the world – domesticated by a socially accepted world view and values. This fear of nonconformists is from the fact that nonconformists are, by their very nature, creators – individuals who cut out their views on reality and come up with their own idea of what it means to be human; about what's good, beautiful and real. The masses despise such people, in emerson's words, they love not reality and creators, but names and customs. Names, customs and institutions give the conformist a sense of stability and security; these are the signers and anchors they perceive to gain some experience amid the ambiguity and uncertainty of reality. As a creator, a nonconformist accepts the inconsistency of reality and cuts out life based on their uniqueness. For such an individual, internal marriage is higher than collective laws, and the world within is more important than social idols worshipped by others. And it really requires something divine in him that has reassing the common motives of mankind and has secured himself to trust himself as a taskmaster. High your heart, faithful to his will, cleanse his vision, that in good case the doctrine, society, the law, himself, that his simple purpose could be as powerful as the iron necessity for others! (Self-Canadian, Ralph Waldo Emerson) Being great is to be misunderstood, in Emerson's view, one of the reasons why many are fleeing self-reliance in the comforting uterus of custom and tradition, because of the need to seem consistent in the eyes of others. Each individual is a dynamic entity. Within each of us is a network of drives, beliefs, relationships and desires that change and evolve forever. In order to remain true to our domestic law, we must remain true to this. our character; and therefore, from time to time, contradict yourself. Walt Whitman expressed this idea: Am I at odds with myself? Okay, then I'm at odds with myself. I'm big, I'm in the masses. Or as Emerson says, stupid consistency is a hobgoblin of small minds: You speak what you mean now in hard words and tomorrow you say what you do-tomorrow's re-thoughts with hard words, even if it goes against every thing you say today. Is it so bad they don't understand you? Pythagoras was misunderstood and Socrates, Jesus, Luther, Copernicus, Galileo, Newton and every pure and wise spirit that ever ate meat. Being big is to be misunderstood. (Self-Canadian, Ralph Waldo Emerson) The Genius Within and the Fallacy of Insignificance Man is thyme and apologetic; is no longer upright; He doesn't dare say I think I am, but he's quoting a saint or a frog. (Self-Canadian, Ralph Waldo Emerson) 20th century author Colin Wilson is reassigned that the psychology of a modern individual is being hinged by irrelevance. The modern individual wrote: is society conditioned to lack confidence in its ability to achieve anything truly valuable, and thus to be consistent with society in order to escape their feelings of irrelevance and inapplicability. Emerson also noticed the irrelevance that was ingly utility for his contemporaries. He suggested that an individual could overcome this imperfection by acknowledging that the power that resides in it is new in nature, and no one knows what he can do, nor does he know until he tries. (Self-Canadian, Ralph Waldo Emerson) Such recognition ensures a stubborn but healthy insistence on staying true to yourself. There are too many of them today, taken into account by irrelevance, looking outwardly in search of meaning and guidance for life. They try to embed themselves in a social structure, believing that they are alone and without support unworthy and that their lives are meaningless. In self-exhi d'oeuancy, Emerson explains the flaws in this behavior, providing a cure for the irrelevance that affects so many people today: I remember the answer that, when I was quite young, he called me a respected counsellor who didn't want to import me with the expensive old-schooled church. On my saying, what do I have to do with the sanctity of the tradition if I live entirely from the inside? Suggested by my friend,—But these impulses can be from below, not from above. I replied: They don't seem like that to me; But if I'm a devil's child, I'm going to live the hell out of here. No law can be a world for me except the law of my nature. (Self-Canadian, Ralph Waldo Emerson) Further reading It is so bad, then, that it Pythagoras was misunderstood and Socrates, Jesus, Luther, Copernicus, Galileo, Newton and every pure and wise spirit that ever ate meat. Being big is to be misunderstood. I went into the woods because I wanted to live on purpose, to face only the essential facts of life, and to see if I couldn't learn what to learn, and not when I came to die, to discover that I didn't live. I didn't want to live what wasn't life. it's so expensive to live; I also did not wish to make a resignation unless absolutely necessary. I wanted to live deep and suck the whole heart of life, live so strong and sparrit, to put everything that wasn't life, cut a wide path and turn close, start life into a corner and cut it to the lowest conditions. Page 1 of 7 – Prev1234567Next -- Nonconformity Quotes Where everyone thinks the same there is little risk of innovation. -- Edward Abbey It's a sign of an educated mind that you could rely on thoughts, but that you don't come to her. -- Aristotle (384-322 BC) The most important curse to resort was stagnation, banal living, silent tea, out of need for conformity. -- Deepak Chopra I think my brother-in-court is a wonder. We should all celebrate our individuality and not be ashamed of it. -- Johnny Depp When I was four years old, they tried to test my IQ, they showed me this picture of three oranges and a pear. They asked me which one is different and doesn't belong; They taught me differently. -- Ani DiFranco Often with a trivial, even anecdotal decision, we channel our activities into a particular channel to determine which of the potential expressions of our individuality becomes manifest. Normally, we don't know anything about the final direction or exit we're traveling towards, and the stream dries us to the formula of life from which there is no return. Every decision is like murder, and our step forward is above the still-born bodies of all our possible self, which will never be. -- René Dubos * Human diversity makes tolerance more than virtue; it's a survival requirement. -- René Dubos Really a valuable thing in the choice of human life seems to me not a political state, but a creative, sensitive individual, personality, only in this creates noble and sublime, while in the mind is dull and dull in feeling. - Albert Einstein The Great Spirits have always encountered violent opposition to medium-sized minds. The narrow mind could not understand a man who refuses to blindly bow to conventional prejudices and chooses to express his opinions bravely and honestly instead. - Albert Einstein The Great Spirits have always found violent opposition to mediocritetiv. The latter cannot understand this when a man does not give a free - Albert Einstein Minority, the current ruling class, has schools and press, usually the Church, under his thumb. This allows him to organize and fluctuate the emotions of the masses, and make them his own tool. Albert Einstein, who gleefully marches to music in rank and file, has already earned my contempt. They gave him a big brain by heart, because his spinal cord would be enough. - Albert Einstein Here in America, we are in the spirit of the descendants of revolutionaries and rebels - men and women who dare to dissent from accepted doctrine. - Dwight D. Eisenhower All my life I've been looking for something, and everywhere I've turned someone has tried to tell me what it is. I, too, accepted their answers, although they were often contradictory and even self-conducive. I was naïve. I've been looking for myself, asking everyone but myself that me and only me could answer. It took me a long time, and a lot of painful boomeranging of my expectations, to achieve what everyone else seems to have been born with: that it's just me. Ralph Ellison Being your own in a world that constantly tries to do something else is the greatest achievement. -- Ralph Waldo Emerson The world is easy to live by world view; in soly it is easy to live on your own; The great man, however, is the one who maintains in the middle of the crowd with the complete sweetness of independence of solitude. Ralph Waldo Emerson Whoso would be a man, he must be inconsistent. Ralph Waldo Emerson, don't follow the path. Go where there's no way and leave a trail. Ralph Waldo Emerson and truly demand something divine in him that dispelled the common motives of mankind and wanted to trust yourself to master the warrants. Ralph Waldo Emerson Envy is ignorance. Imitation is suicide. # Ralph Waldo Emerson Every revolution was first thought in one man's mind, and when the same thought occurs to another man, it is the key to this age. -- Ralph Waldo Emerson Masses is rude, obedience, rude, mean in his demands and influences, and they do not have to be flattered, but educated. I don't want to tell them anything, I want to tame, drill, divide and corrupt and extract individuals from them. Ralph Waldo Emerson This is the main point of happiness that a man is willing to be who he is. -- Desiderius Erasmus Education either acts as an instrument that is used to facilitate the integration of the younger generation into the logic of the current system and brings coherence, or becomes the practice of freedom, the means by which men and women engage critically and creatively with reality and discover how to participate in the transformation of their world. - Paulo Freire It's easier to live through someone else than to be perfect alone. Betty Friedan. Considering the regrettable lack of public taste, it is for you not to turn it on. - Janeane Garofalo We are at a moment when a 400-year-old age is dying and the other is fighting for birth- a shift in culture, science, society and institutions that were remarkably larger than the world has ever experienced. Next, the possibility of regeneration of individuality, freedom, community and ethics, like the world, has never known, and harmony with nature, with each other, and with divine intelligence like the world, never dreamed. Dee Ward Hock, founder of Vise. Most of the things we do are done for no better reason than being done by our fathers or by our neighbors, and the same goes for the greater part of what we suspect of what we think. Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr. Consistency is at odds with nature, as opposed to life. The only perfectly consistent people are dead. -- Aldous Huxley Mental slavery is a mental death, and every man who has given up his intellectual freedom is the living coffin of his dead soul. Robert Green Ingersoll It's a blessed

Angelina Jolie is a prisoner of freedom and an enemy of growth. -- John F. Kennedy Hope for a safe and bridged world lies with a disciplined nonconformist dedicated to justice, peace and brotherhood. -- Martin Luther King, Jr. * Peace is not only the absence of war, it is an active presence of capacity for love and compassion, and reciprocity. The awareness is that our lives must not only live for themselves by expressing our individuality, but affirming the purpose of our lives by working to express a common sense of community in a purposeful and practical way; to preserve our own lives, we preserve the lives of others - in the family, in the community of neighbourhoods called the city, and in the community of nations called the world. - Dennis Kucinich When you're satisfied that you're simply your own and you're not comparing or competing, everyone will respect you. Lao Tzu takes care of people's approval, and you're going to be their prisoner. - Lao Tzu New opinions are always suspicious and usually contradict, for no other reason, but because they are not common. - John Locke * Emancipate is made of mental slavery. No one but us can free our minds. Aren't you going to help sing The Song of Freedom? - Bob Marley The fatal tendency of mankind not to think about anything when it is no longer doubttable is the cause of half of their mistakes. John Stuart Mill, who dares to be eccentric, is the main danger of this time. - John Stuart Mill, whatever crushed individuality is John Stuart Mill Our emotional symptoms are valuable sources of life and individuality. Thomas More It's hard to be a diamond in the rhino world. - Dolly Parton Celebrates a lot of mediocre and many wonderful things that are ignored or deterrence. -- Sean Penn Do what you feel in your heart to make it right -- because you're going to be criticized. Eleanor Roosevelt, in all matters, is a healthy thing to hang up on things you took for granted for a long time. - Bertrand Russell Finding the occasional straw of truth twists in a vast ocean of confusion and bamboo requires intelligence, alertness, dedication and courage. But if we don't practice these difficult habits of thought, we cannot hope to solve the serious problems that are facing us - and risk becoming a nation of naïve people who will be grabbed by the next charlatan who comes along. - Carl Sagan Custom will reconcile people with any atrocity; and fashion will drive them to acquire all customs. George Bernard Shaw forgives him for believes that the customs of his tribe are the laws of nature. - George Bernard Shaw The rational man adapts to the world; relentless insist on adapting the world to themselves. That's why all progress depends on a senseless man. -- George Bernard Shaw Progress is impossible without change, and those who can't change their mind can change anything. George Bernard Shaw All lies and jokes, still a man hears what he wants to hear and ignores others. - Paul Simon Everything is the result of the progress of the people who have taken on unpopular positions. Adlai Stevenson be yourself, no matter what they say. Every generation laughs at old fashions, but religiously follows the new one. - Henry David Thoreau If a man doesn't stick in his pacier with his companions, maybe because he hears another drummer. Let him go to the music he hears, no matter what the measure or the far away. Henry David Thoreau, whenever you find yourself on the side of the majority, it's time to pause and think. - Mark Twain We all live in the protection of some cowards we call our principles. - Mark Twain's loyalty to the recoisted opinion has not yet broken the chain or freed the human soul. - Mark Twain in America, with the pressure of compliance, there is freedom of choice, but nothing to choose. Walt Whitman I believed that each of us has a personal call that is unique as a fingerprint - and that the best way to It's to discover what you love and then find a way to offer it to others in the form of a service, work hard, and also give the energy of the universe to guide you. 20 (2015) Individuality is sacred. -- Frank Lloyd Wright Page 2 If we can't provide excellent educational opportunities for all children, safe communities, quality health coverage, or a robust and fair path to wealth creation, then our nation will be increasingly at risk. Cory Booker, I believe there is an American majority for advanced economic change. -- Bill de Blasio In one way or another, this is the oldest story in America: a struggle to determine whether we, the people are a moral compact, embedded in a political treaty or merely a charade that masquerases and manipulates the powerful and privileged to sustain their way of life at the expense of others. - Bill Moyers facebook.com/AlterNetNews we really have a problem with justice: some feel so entitled to power & wealth that they are willing to undermine our economy and our democracy. - Annabel Park The key to understanding rising inequality is not technology or globalisation. It is the power of monetary interests to formulate detailed market rules. -- Robert Reich Now is the time to change our government. Now is the time to stop the movement against the oligarga. Now is the time to create a government that represents all Americans, not just the 1%... No more excuses. We all need to get involved in the political process. -- Sen. Bernie Sanders We need a growing middle class, not one that's been disappearing for 40 years. We need a vibrant democracy for one person, not a democracy dominated by billionaire campaign donors. It's time for a political revolution. It's time for our government to work for all of us, not just 1%. -- Sen. Bernie Sanders facebook.com/senatorsanders Moral and Political War Against Gross Wealth and Income Inequality... We understand that when we're together, we're always going to win. -- Sen. In the United States, today we have the most unequal wealth and income distribution of all the major states on earth -- worse than at any time since the 1920s. This is an economy that needs to be changed in fundamental ways. -- Sen. Bernie Sanders Is talking about class warfare -- the fact is, it's been a class fight for the last 30 years. These are the few billionaires who are taking over the entire middle class and working class of this country. And the result is that you now have the most uneeasy distribution of wealth and income in America of all the major countries on Earth and the worst inequality in America since 1928. How anyone can defend the top 400 richest people in a country with more wealth than the bottom half of America, 150 million people? -- Sen. Bernie Sanders ... Forty years, the American middle class has been disappearing. Millions of people are working longer hours for lower wages despite the huge increase in technology and productivity. And what we've seen in this period is a massive transfer of trillions of dollars from the middle class to the top tenths of 1 percent of America - massive wealth and income inequality, where you have 99 percent of all new income today going to the top 1 percent. -- Sen. Bernie Sanders That means income inequality in America, and why it's growing among the very rich and everyone else. According to a recent study, the CEO's salary is now 295 times more than the salary of a typical worker. In 1965, the difference was 20 times. We need to create an economy that works for everyone, not just the top 1%. -- Sen. Bernie Sanders facebook.com/senatorsanders facebook.com/senatorsanders trickle-down experiment, which began in the Reagan years, has failed the American middle class. Of course, the rich are doing great. Big corporations are doing great. The lobbyists are doing great. But we need an economy where everyone else who works hard has the opportunity to do a great job! -- Elizabeth Warren Facebook.com/runwarrenrun2016 this country does not work for working people.
