CONGREGATIONAL CLOSE-UP

Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, Hollidaysburg

Bishop Scanlan will be visiting Holy Trinity, Hollidaysburg this Sunday, October 14th at 9:00 a.m. The Rev. Jeanne Jacobson and the members of Holy Trinity will be joined by the congregation of St. Luke's, Altoona, who are currently without a priest. The joint choirs of St. Luke's and Holy Trinity have prepared special music to welcome the Bishop.

Holy Trinity members are very involved in the Hollidaysburg community. They participate in the local community garden; host ongoing centering prayer opportunities that are attended by people beyond their church congregation; support the St. Luke's food bank; and respond to various other individual and group needs as they are able.

Hollidaysburg has a rich railroad history. It was established in the mid-1800's when it became the main transfer point between the Pennsylvania Canal and the Portage Railroad, a gateway to western Pennsylvania. And did you know that the Slinky has been manufactured in Hollidaysburg for most of its life?
