Transcript from September 20, 2010 Meeting

29:44

Mary Ellyn Penicook, President: Okay, but does it become a public document tonight after we approve it?

Rob Bush: Well, well, yeah, but all you're gonna do is take what you're doing – take the handwritten changes insert it into a final document.

Unknown male voice: So, can we go about –

Rob Bush: What you're passing tonight is now final, it's just not going to look very pretty – we're just going to make it look pretty.

Mary Ellen Penicook: Okay, but my question is, it becomes a public document tonight after we pass it?

Rob Bush: Yes.

Mary Ellen Penicook: And so, if we have the members of the audience come back and want a copy of it, do we have to give it to them?

SPECIAL REGULAR BOARD MEETING - SEPTEMBER 20, 2010

Rob Bush: Not tonight – you don't –

Mary Ellen Penicook: Okay.

Rob Bush: Well, I suppose you can make a copy if you want to at the end of your meeting and hand it out but technically, if they want a copy, they would have to put in a FOIA request and they would have to wait five days. Now, you can tell them that you're going to give it to them after we finish putting the handwritten changes into type fashion and it will be available to whoever wants to see it tomorrow.

Dean Bissias: Well, we need to say we can put it on the website tomorrow.

Rob Bush: Sure.

Dean Bissias: And that way there – anybody who wants it can come get it off the website.

Rob Bush: Right.

Mary Ellen Penicook, President
