

START

SYRACUSE DAILY ORANGE

VOL. 6 | 1

FEB 3 1964 - JUN 6 1964

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY

LIBRARIES

1986

GEORGE ARENTS RESEARCH LIBRARY

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY

Syracuse, New York

Section I Original Material (as filmed)

Title: Syracuse Daily Orange.

Period Covered: February 03, 1964 to June 06, 1964. Volume 61.

Place of Publication: Syracuse University, Syracuse, New York.

Holder of Original Material: Syracuse University Archives.

Editor and Publisher of Microfilm Edition: Syracuse University,
Syracuse, New York.

Holder of Master Negative: Syracuse University Archives.

Restrictions: None.

Section II Technical Microfilm Data

Producing Laboratory: Syracuse University Archives. Date: 1986.

Processing Laboratory: Amtek, Syracuse, New York.

Film Size: 35mm.

Reduction Ratio: 20X

Image Placement: 2B

The inconsistent assignment of volume, number, and date makes it difficult to accurately collate the Syracuse Daily Orange and ascertain missing issues. The following is an indication of the problems encountered.

Volume 61	number	17	10/08/1963
		17	10/09/1963
	number	21	10/15/1963
		23	10/16/1963
	number	47	11/22/1963
		47	12/03/1963
	number	67	02/07/1964	Friday
		69	02/09/1964	Monday

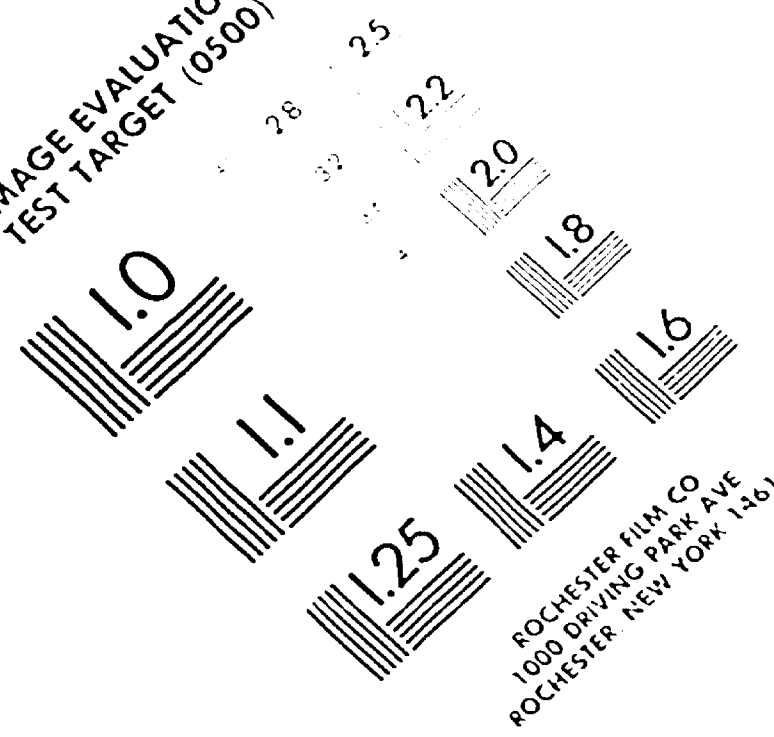

AT SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY • SYRACUSE, NEW YORK 13210

The funding for the microfilming of the Syracuse Daily Orange was provided by the State of New York through grants for Preservation and Conservation of Library Research Materials.
The collection was filmed by Amtek, Syracuse, New York.

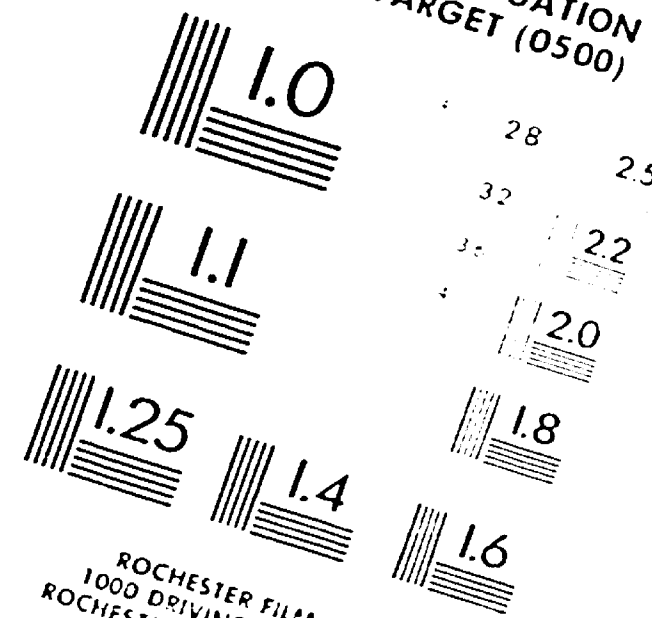

REDUCTION RATIO: 20X
FILMING DATE: 1986

IMAGE EVALUATION
TEST TARGET (0500)

ROCHESTER FILM CO
1000 DRIVING PARK AVE
ROCHESTER NEW YORK 14613

IMAGE EVALUATION
TEST TARGET (0500)

ROCHESTER FILM CO
1000 DRIVING PARK AVE
ROCHESTER NEW YORK 14613

IMAGE EVALUATION
TEST TARGET (0500)

ROCHESTER FILM CO
1000 DRIVING PARK AVE
ROCHESTER NEW YORK 14613

ROCHESTER FILM CO
1000 DRIVING PARK AVE
ROCHESTER NEW YORK 14613

ROCHESTER FILM CO
1000 DRIVING PARK AVE
ROCHESTER NEW YORK 14613

FEB

Merchants Gripe Over Shoplifting By SU Students

By ANDY PORTE
News Editor

Widespread shoplifting by university students has brought charges from several Marshall Street and downtown merchants that university officials have been willing to let violators escape with a minimum penalty.

One store owner commented, much too soft. We lose a considerable portion of our revenue to shoplifters."

Another merchant surveyed the situation, stating, "Shoplifting is ever, ever, ever present, and we catch none of the offenders. All we can do is go by hope."

The shoplifting problem has reached a peak this year, claimed one local retailer. "It's worse than ever before. We lose mostly small things, and it's quite bad. We just try to keep our eyes open."

A brief survey of merchants indicated that shoplifting rates are much higher in university area stores than in downtown department stores, but two of the downtown merchants stated they had encountered problems with Syracuse University students.

The haven for shoplifters has been the university bookstore. According to Burton Fink, bookstore director, 30-35 students are caught every year for shoplifting.

Fink pointed out that in one 10-day span three years ago, 38 shoplifters were apprehended. He explained that increased police protection has aided in a reduction of shoplifting cases.

A peak of shoplifting, Fink said, is reached "during each semester's 'book rush', but then we may go months without one case."

Fink added that only three people with more than $10 in goods had been caught shoplifting in his four-year term at the bookstore. "It seems people are stealing for fun, rather than for profit," he commented.

All students caught shoplifting are turned over to university officials for disciplinary action, Fink said.

One downtown store manager (Continued on Page 4)

Jurisdiction Explained

JSC Suspends Two; Handles Six Cases

By DANIEL RITEY
Junior Editor

Two Hill students were severely disciplined by Joint Student Court for "flagrant violations of university standards" resulting from infractions of civil regulations.

Court also handled five other cases resulting in another suspension and four disciplinary sentences, announced JSC Chief Justice Herbert Lustig.

Daily Orange sources reported that senior Piety lineman John Paglio and sophomore lineman Peter Colino were the two students involved in the major infractions.

Lustig declared in relation to the first two cases:

"It is JSC's opinion that in cases involving violations of civil ordinances, irrespective of guilt or innocence, solely on the involvement itself, if the students in question so flagrantly violate the standard of ethics and rules that are made to apply to those living within the University community, they are subject to disciplinary action from within SU."

The first case involved a student who was apprehended by a detective after shoplifting in a downtown store. Following his arrest by city police—and the ensuing dropping of charges—he was brought before JSC.

"In view of his past disciplinary record and his full admission of the recent charges," Lustig said, "the student was suspended immediately from SU until June, 1964." Lustig cited previous difficulties with parking regulations, money owed for tickets and an earlier appearance before court which had resulted in dismissed charges.

"It should be emphasized," Lustig noted, "that this student had received a warning that any further action bringing discredit upon SU would severely jeopardize his position here."

The student in the other major case was involved in a fracas in a local drinking site in which he punched another man, breaking the latter's nose and two of his teeth. The student asserted that the other man had shoved him and had been obnoxious. Both had been drinking.

The SU student was arrested by local police and held in $1,000 bond. His trial has been postponed and has been reset for Feb. 18.

"JSC was not necessarily concerned with the guilt or innocence of this student," stated Lustig, "we were only concerned with his admitted participation in the incident and the degree to which he was involved."

The court felt that the student's involvement warranted disciplinary probation until February, 1965 with the resulting loss of any University financial assistance and the right to participate in any SU activities during that period.

Lustig had several comments regarding court's jurisdiction in these cases. "In cases of violations of civil codes SC has no (Continued on Page 5)

Wiley Gets Peace Council Prize For Non-Violent Protest Method

By SANDI EHRLICH
Junior Editor

Dr. George Wiley, assistant professor of chemistry on the Hill, Thursday night received the Annual Syracuse Peace Council award. The award was given to Wiley, community relations director for the Syracuse chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality, "for demonstrating the worth of the non-violent method in recent housing protests."

The award is given annually to a Syracuse individual who has made an important contribution to the cause of peace. Previous recipients include Alexander Jones, editor of the Herald-Journal, and Benjamin Shove, local attorney.

Wiley and Jones are not members of the Peace Council.

"There is an important relation between the peace movement and the civil right drive in the sense that the major types of dilemmas facing the world seem to be struggles for and suppression of freedom," Wiley said in an interview Thursday.

"As far as I'm concerned, this award belongs to CORE and to all the people who have contributed to the demonstrations over the past years," Wiley continued.

"The award is certainly unexpected in the sense that I realize the kind of activities I participate in are normally ones without honor. I think it's fairly courageous on the part of the Peace Council to single out some one from the civil rights movement," said Wiley.

In presenting the award to Wiley, Mrs. Adelaide Webster, Peace Council chairman, said in part, "Although the Syracuse Peace Council is devoted to educational work in the field of peace and international relations, and does not advocate specific techniques of peacemaking, we have long been interested in the development of non-violent techniques of direct action, including the deliberate use of civil disobedience by those individuals who find themselves in conscience opposed to the law."

She cited Wiley as "the leader and eloquent spokesman for the campaign to combat discrimination in Syracuse by direct action." She added, "In presenting this award, the Syracuse Peace Council commends Dr. Wiley for his splendid leadership, and expresses our gratitude for his new demonstration of the worth of the methods of non-violence."

DR. GEORGE WILEY

Opinion Poll

Students, Administration Say Daily DO Best

By MARLENE CIMONS

A brief survey Friday indicated university officials and students were nearly unanimous in agreeing that the Daily Orange should remain a five day a week publication, rather than a suggested thrice-weekly newspaper.

Some SU administrators have contended that the costs of operation of the paper are much too high, and an official proposal should be made to curtail publication of the DO to solve these financial problems.

"I feel strongly that we should have a daily," stated Dr. Robert Root, head of the religious journalism program in the SU School of Journalism. "Especially as communications moves into a larger role in the Newhouse Center, I think we should not be talking about cutting back but rather considering ways of getting a bigger and better Daily Orange."

When asked how he felt about the newspaper, Alfred H. Cope, assistant dean of the College of Liberal Arts, remarked: "I read it every day."

"I have been interested in and informed by the DO and have been impressed by the accuracy and scope of its reporting on the Citizenship program," declared Prof. Donald Meiklejohn. "I should hope a way might be found to maintain the present schedule of publication."

"What am I supposed to do the other two days?" queried Robert Blanchard, assistant to the dean of the Maxwell School, when asked his opinion of a three-day a week DO. "Besides," he added, "I don't think the DO people would pass any more courses with two more nights to study."

Registrar Edwin D. Smith said simply: "It was my understanding it was a daily."

Wesley C. Clark, dean of the SU School of Journalism said: "I'd like to see it published every day. The Daily Orange is not only a service to the students but a service to the entire university community."

"The Daily Orange is a valuable campus tradition," replied Bernard Lipsy, director of community press relations. "As a student of the press, it hurts me to see any newspaper curtailed. On the other hand, holding the position I do, a three-times-a-week DO would make my life about 40 per cent easier."

Syracuse student opinion generally ran along the same vein. "I agreed with the editorial that slowing down publication would be weakening the effectiveness of the DO," declared Jere Wrightsman, '67.

Nancy Gaubatz '67 said: "I feel that the DO should be published daily as it has been in the past."

"I think the DO is part of SU and shouldn't be an every other day affair. I look forward to it every morning," stated Andrew Kosstandt '67.

Max Vinkler '64 declared: "I think it should be published every day, with more topics concerning campus activities." It would be disappointing if it came out only three times a week," replied Audrey Freeman '66. "I look forward to it every morning. It's the first printed material I see each day-it's much better to look at than a book."

Terry Bullitt '65 answered: "The DO should definitely be published every day. It's important to have the announcements it carries daily."

"I thought the reasons in the editorial were quite valid and the Daily Orange should remain a daily," stated Bill McClellan '64.

Lee Ruble '67 declared: "I don't like the idea of the DO coming out only three times a week. It should continue to be published daily."

Only one student interviewed expressed an opposite opinion. Emily Leiding '67 said: "It wouldn't make any difference to me one way or the other since I only get to read the paper about three times a week."

Jay Litwin, speaker of Joint Student Legislature, commented, "A library and a newspaper are organs of an academic institution, and to limit either one is to stifle the very purpose of that institution."

Frosh Guide Sales Continue

Sale of the Orange Aid, the freshman class directory, will be held on campus Wednesday, according to Carl Corrallo, junior class president. Tickets for the Winter Weekend New Christy Minstrels concert will also go on sale.

A New Breed

There is a serious problem of shoplifting among students (see front page article) which is perplexing university personnel officers.

It has become evident recently that a good number of Syracusans (possibly one per cent or more) have been caught engaging in the new fad.

Many attack the problem merely by attributing it to the "new generation." This excuse becomes worn as easily as the dusting cloth, for a university of such stature as Syracuse cannot afford to condone such an attitude among its students.

Downtown merchants, Marshall Street merchants and even the University Bookstore are continuously perplexed by this everincreasing problem. They even, in fact, compound it.

Several merchants have admitted that it is their policy to release university students caught shoplifting. The reason is simple: false arrests. Too often stores have lost suits involving their biggest nemesis, the shoplifter, and therefore, will not prosecute and take the risk.

One merchant put forward the position of many stores. "We keep our eyes open and pray." But the university cannot adopt this policy. It has the task of providing America with responsible young men and women and must seek a solution.

This university is confronted with a situation which could affect 30 to 50 per cent of SU students, who according to an informal poll, have walked off from at least one store during the student's stay at Syracuse.

The university has only one method to deal with the problem: use a stiff penalty, such as disciplinary probation or suspension. This should work, but the only offenders reported to the university are those who steal from university stores.

Downtown merchants perpetually complain about thievery among students, but seldom do anything about it. The dean of men's office this year has received the usual shoplifting complaints from merchants, but has only been informed in one case.

The merchants complain but do not report the incidents to the university. Their security officers often grab thieves and let them free, only to catch the same student again.

What is needed as an initial step in solving the problem is better cooperation between downtown merchants and the university. There can be no false arrest suits if the violations are turned into the university even though formal charges are not brought.

The only possible result we could forecast from such a trend would be that the university would punish the offenders, setting a stiff example among the whole university community.

Let's Start

We find ourselves entering the month of February, only one month away from Spring and four months away from graduation.

While the university resumes its hustle and bustle with the beginning of the new semester, the Syracuse University senior is ready making plans for graduation -- how many should I invite... where will my parents stay...

While the student is making his preparations, the university has even started its preparation. The only definite thing about this year's graduation is that it will be held June 7 in the stadium (only if the weather is clear.)

The commencement committee has yet to hold its first meeting. Members of the senior class have not as yet been polled on their choice of a speaker and no arrangements have been made for the Kum Bak Show.

We strongly urge both the senior class officers and the commencement committee to start work immediately if the commencement is to be a rewarding experience for the Class of 1964.

NEVER ON SUNDAY

The Grading Robot

By Charles Steinberg

The semi-annual inquisition period is over at Syracuse University and that cold, merciless robot, the grading system, has gone through its paces once again.

As a result, a large number of students currently face the prospect of academic disciplinary action for not having made a 1.0 average.

The robot will also shower other students with academic honors and accolades.

There are idealists, like last year's Syracuse 10 staff who will argue that grades have no place in education and should be eliminated altogether. Such a system might work at a small liberal arts college with uniformly high admissions standards, but for pragmatic purposes the grading robot at Syracuse University is here to stay.

Thus resigned, the most we can expect of the robot is that it work with as much precision as possible.

The fact of the matter is, however, that many of the students faced with academic censure at Syracuse University did actually earn 1.0 averages, and there are a number of students who will be passed by for honors who are equally deserving.

These students are innocent victims of Syracuse's outmoded, inadequate grading system.

So too are all students potential innocent victims of the present system. For all students are cast into a predicament where cumulative grade point averages decide such important matters as future employment, admission to graduate schools, eligibility for certain campus activities, sophomore eligibility to operate an automobile, admission to honoraries, commencement honors, class standing, etc.

The grading robot totals up the number of "grade points earned," divides by the "number of hours carried" and the quotient is supposedly the measure of a student's academic achievement.

Since students are cast into this predicament for reasons beyond their control, and a grading system is inevitably necessary, the university does have an obligation to see that each student receives all the "grade points" to which he is entitled.

In this respect the present grading system is woefully inadequate because the grade divisions are far too broad.

The grade divisions in the present Syracuse system are approximately 10 percentage points wide; a D supposedly represents the 60-69 range; a C, 70-79; B, 80-89; and A, 90 per cent and above.

In a check of college catalogs, Syracuse was found to be one of the only schools in the country with above-average admissions standards to employ this wide-range grading system.

The basic failing of this system is that it fails to take into account the very wide difference between a grade of eg. 70 and a grade of 79. The result is that the student who receives the 79 is unduly penalized, not receiving credit for his significantly higher performance.

The present grading system leads to the awesome predicament where if a student just misses a particular grade level by one percentage point, the grade he receives is a full ten percentage points (one letter grade) lower than the grade he might otherwise have received.

Perhaps in an educational institution where there is an unusually wide range in the abilities of students, such as a public high school, an A-B-C-D-F system can be used. But at a good university where the "spectrum of abilities" is not extremely wide and all students are relatively competent, it is difficult if not impossible to draw only a few grade divisions.

Some educators might argue that students should not be so concerned with the precise grade they receive and the "approximate" grades presently awarded are sufficient. But the inevitable inaccuracies in such approximation can spell the difference in making one of the sorely-needed required grade point average foisted upon students.

There is no reason why Syracuse students, like students at almost all other leading colleges, shouldn't be protected as much as possible from the clumsiness of the grading robot.

The solution, as long ago discovered by SU's sister institutions, is to make the grade divisions narrower, possibly 5 percentage points wide instead of the existing 10 points.

Such a system, which could be immediately adopted at Syracuse without having to alter previously assigned grades, would read as follows:

A ---- 3 points (per credit hour)
B+ ---- 2½ points
B ---- 2 points
C+ ---- 1½ points

C ---- 1 point
D ---- 0 points
D- ---- ½ point
F ---- 0 points

This system, if adopted, would significantly alleviate the inequities of the present system. Students with 69, 79 and 89 averages would be assured of receiving a fairer grade, and for the faculty the agony of dropping these near-borderline students a full ten percentage points would be reduced.

The superiority of the modified system is finally attested to by the number of universities which use it compared with the number using A-B-C-D-F.

No student's grades, it should be noted on careful consideration, would be lower under the modified plan and could only be slightly raised, if anything.

The question remains how could the system be changed?

The change should come about through the self-initiative of the SU administration which should recognize the problem and act to solve it. However, as with many campus problems, this may be too much to hope for.

Joint Student Government has been interested in seeing the grading system changed and JSG head Jim Morris has spoken to Vice President for Academic Affairs Frank Piskor about the matter.

According to Morris, Piskor said he would be receptive to changing the grading system "if student opinion favored it."

Toward this end much can be done. Students who feel grading system can each initiate petitions. (The Daily Orange will collect any such petitions). Joint Student Legislature and JSG can also initiate action.

POLICY ON LETTERS

The letters column is maintained for the expression of opinion by readers. However, the Daily Orange reserves the right to edit letters for grammar and good taste or to reject letters. Letters should be written legibly, preferably typed and no longer than 250 words. All letters must be signed with names and addresses; names will be withheld on request.

How to Get Through School

1. Bring the professor newspaper and magazine clippings dealing with his subject. If you can't find clippings dealing with his subject, bring in clippings at random. He thinks everything deals with his subject.
 2. Look alert. Take notes eagerly. If you look at your watch, don't stare at it unbelievably and shake it.
 3. Nod frequently and murmur "How true." To you, this seems exaggerated. To him, it's quite objective.
 4. Sit in front, near him. (Applies only if you intend to stay awake.)
 5. Laugh at his jokes. You can tell, if he looks up from his notes and smiles expectantly, he has told a joke.
 6. Ask for outside reading. You don't have to read it. Just ask for it.
 7. If you must sleep, arrange to be called at the end of the period. It creates an unfavorable impression if the rest of the class has left and you sit there alone, dozing.
 8. Be sure the book you read during the lecture looks like a book from the course. If you do math in psychology class and psych in math class, match the books for size and color.
 9. Ask questions you think he can answer. Constantly avoid announcing that you have found the answer to a question that he couldn't answer, and in your sister's second grade reader at that.
 10. Call attention to his writing. If you know he's written a book or article, ask him in class if he wrote it.
- That's all there is to college.

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2

February 3, 1964

Editor-In-Chief
Business Manager

Allan T. Kort
Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor: Clayton E. Richards
News Editor: Andrew Potts
Editorial Director: Adair Duffine
Sports Editor: Bernard MacCallum
Arts Editor: Rea Turlet
Photography Editor: Steve Schamper

BUSINESS STAFF

Asst. Bus. Mgr.: Jon Westberg
Editor: Martha Jelenicki
Editor: Lynn Mandel
Circulation Mgr.: Christine Sedzick
Promotion Mgr.: Stu Shapiro

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 200 Bro-Wick Drive, Lenoirville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter on U.S. Post Office, Lenoirville, N.Y.

Opera

“Tosca”

by Steffan B. Aletti

Last Wednesday night, the Syracuse Symphony under the direction of Maestro Karl Kritz, presented a truly fine performance of Puccini's Tosca.

It has been a wonderful experience for this reviewer to watch this orchestra grow - over a period of only three seasons - from a loose and poorly backed organization to a mature and tightly knit group of which the city can be proud.

Wednesday night's performance was characterized by good balance - in spite of the far from perfect acoustics of the Loew's State theater - and excellent timing.

Maestro Kritz's tempi were vigorous and always appropriate, and he would often whip the orchestra into an excitement rarely found even in Metropolitan Opera performances. The mistakes - there are always mistakes in live performances - were relatively few, and were not very noticeable.

The singing was excellent throughout. The star of the evening was the brilliant Ludzin, who delivered a wonderfully intense and menacing Baron Scarpia. His singing was flawless throughout, and his acting was of the highest order, especially in the 2nd act scene with Tosca; his death scene was hair-raising.

Eileen Schauler, the Tosca, looks like a Tosca should look - she is tall and striking, with the right amount of arrogance; unfortunately she was a bit cold and stylized, especially in the first act. Her singing, though, was excellent; in spite of occasional tight high notes, hers was a warm and full voice, capable of fine pianissimi and vocal subtleties.

The third star of the evening was Jacob Barkin as Mario. He did not seem as confident of himself as he might have, for his voice was a reliable one, with a good range and very exciting high notes. He was a little weak and stiff in the first act, but he seemed much more at ease thereafter.

The supporting cast including Richard Churchill as Angelotti, Leon Carpetyan as the Sacristan, Anthony Battaglia and Lionel Croll as Scarpia's men, and Ellen Nash singing the offstage shepherd, was a good one, though generally weak in volume.

Especially fine were the sets by N. James Gregory. They were, to say the least striking and sumptuous, and costuming also very well done.

A final work is necessary on the English translation by Machlis. I am used to hearing the Italian, and I prefer it personally, yet this was an excellent translation, and, with the help of the artists' good articulation, it worked out very well, and was enjoyable to listen to.

In closing, I say once again, that the whole production was excellent. Maestro Kritz is to be heartily congratulated.

Dual Piano Concert Given This Evening

Two graduate piano majors, Stuart W. Raleigh and Stuart W. Lanning, will give a program of music for piano-four hands and for two pianos 8:30 p.m., today, in Crouse Auditorium.

Both young pianists were recipients, during their undergraduate years, of the Lena Corbin Fausey Prize for outstanding piano performance. Each one has played several solo recitals and last year they played their first two-piano recital together.

This year's program includes, in response to many requests, a repeat performance of the final selection from last year's program -- Wallingford Riegger's "Finale" from the "New Dance." In addition the pianists will perform a "Movement" for piano-four hands by Donald Lybbert, Claude Debussy's "En Blanc et Noir," and the "Concerto for Two Solo Pianos" by Igor Stravinsky. The Stravinsky piece is acknowledged as a modern masterpiece; it presents enormous problems for the participating pianists to solve and as a result it is rarely performed.

MON - FEB. 10
8:30 P. M.

Circle-in-the-Square presents

Six Characters In Search Of An Author

N. Y. Direction by Wm. Ball
Tickets: $3.00, 2.50, 2.00
Reservations, 476-4536
UNIVERSITY REGENT THEATRE

Tuesday
Evenings
Two Showings
7 and 9 p.m.

University
REGENT
Theatre

820 EAST GENESEE

TOMORROW

Shakespeare
Film Series

"RICHARD III"

(Great Britain)

Tickets:

Single 75c, Series $1.50

one guy... three girls... one ring!... Paradise?

TOM COURTEMAY
AS "BILLY LIAR"

with JULIE CHRISTIE. Screenplay by KEITH WATERHOUSE and WILLIS HALL. Based on the novel and play "BILLY LIAR" by JAMES HEAL. Directed by JOHN SCHLESINGER. A JOSEPH JANNI PRODUCTION. A WALTER READE STEELING PRESENTATION.

PLUS
"THE IMPERSONATOR"

Riviera CINEMA
3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. GR8-4021

Daily Crossword Puzzle

- ACROSS
- 1 Chemist's glass tube.
 - 6 Historic French town.
 - 10 Headquarters.
 - 11 Resemblance.
 - 15 Eight, in Italy.
 - 16 Italics; Abbr.
 - 17 Town in Surrey.
 - 18 10th cen. Holy Roman Emperor.
 - 19 Loyal; Scot.
 - 20 Guile.
 - 21 Beggars; Slang.
 - 24 Boundaries.
 - 26 Provide (with something).
 - 27 To (every one); 2 words.
 - 28 Leather.
 - 30 U.S. President.
 - 34 Masculine; Abbr.
 - 35 Leaves the beaten path.
 - 37 Feminine name.
 - 38 Fur-bearing animal.
 - 40 Signal at sea.
 - 41 Masonic doorkeeper.
 - 43 Suitable.
 - 44 Slip away.
 - 47 Wings; Anat.
 - 48 Proofreader's concern.
 - 50 Where Ottawa is; Abbr.
 - 51 Pile.
 - 52 Harsh and throaty.
 - 54 Rodent.
 - 56 Deteriorated.
 - 60 Year; Span.
 - 61 Chills and fever.
 - 62 Wall set in ditch.
 - 63 Leader of the Green Mountain Boys.
 - 65 Feminine title.
 - 66 Amo, amas, Abbr.
 - 67 Large ruminant.
 - 68 Having patches of two or more colors.
 - 69 Head; Fr.
 - 70 Glacial direction.
 - 11 To (precisely); 2 words.
 - 12 Region of W. Europe.
 - 13 Building wings.
 - 22 Invites.
 - 23 Old-fashioned "dared."
 - 25 Contemporary of D. W. Griffith.
 - 29 "boy!"; 2 words.
 - 31 Uproar.
 - 32 Qualms.
 - 33 Gems; 2 words.
 - 36 Association; Abbr.
 - 39 Backward; Comb. form.
 - 42 Metric foot.
 - 45 Ridicule; 2 words.
 - 46 Common French verb.
 - 49 Word to seal a bargain.
 - 53 Design.
 - 55 U. S. president.
 - 56 Highway entrance or exit.
 - 57 He; Ital.
 - 58 Bulrush.
 - 59 Engagement.
 - 64 Site.

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14					15				16
17					18				19
20				21	22				23
24			25			26
27					28	29		30		31	32	33
34					35			36			37
38				39		40			41	42
43				44	45			46		47
48			49				50			51
				52			53		54	55
56	57	58						59			60
61					62				63	64
65					66					67
68					69					70

Casual miso sale

especially selected... dresses, coats, suits, skirts, slacks, blouses, sweaters, shirts, rainwear, jewelry, sleepwear, handbags, etc.

Sorority Rush: Inside and Outside

- the frosh -

This article has been written in a satirical vein by a freshman rushee. It is not meant to be critical of sororities. It is only what a certain freshman thought after 25 parties within a three-day span.

By SHIRLEY BOARD

What's your name? Where are you from? What does your father do? What is your major?

The freshman rushee has been asked this at least 3 times in each house and there are 25 houses. That's at least 75 times, probably a lot closer to 100.

During the first round of Shoplifting . . .

(Continued from Page 1)

whose store has been marred by cases of university students participating in shoplifting said, "We don't intend to be easy, because this kind of thing involves quite a bit of money and is one of our biggest problems." He pointed out that all cases are reported directly to Syracuse city police.

Other downtown retailers also stated that shoplifting is one of their main problems, but added that they do not take affidavits of anyone caught stealing goods. "We leave that to the police," one pointed out.

Joint Student Court this year has repeatedly placed offenders of shoplifting rules on disciplinary probation. Herbert Lustig, chief justice of the court, came chief justice of the court, commented earlier in the year, "he court will continue to treat theft as a most serious crime."

Lustig pointed out that shoplifting is doubly serious as it involves violations of both university and civil codes. Student court placed eight accused shoplifters on probation in one week earlier in the school year.

The Syracuse Chamber of Commerce conducts an active "anti-shoplifting" campaign, according to spokesman Walter Iring, together managers, owners and store personnel to discuss the problem and ways of cutting down on the number of offenders.

BEAT NIAGARA

Success comes early to college women who supplement their education with Gibbs training—who obtain marketable skills that gain them quick entry into the fields of their choice.

SPECIAL COURSE FOR COLLEGE WOMEN—8½ MONTHS

Write College Dean
for GIBBS GIRLS AT WORK

KATHARINE GIBBS SECRETARIAL

BOSTON 15, MASS., 21 Marlborough Street
NEW YORK 17, N. Y., 209 Park Avenue
MONTCLAIR, N. J., 33 Plymouth Street
PROVIDENCE 6, R. I., 155 Angell Street

parties the sororities are permitted to offer the prospective sisters only cigarettes and water. By the end of the evening one begins to feel like a steam engine or some similar contraption.

Is it really necessary to smile so much that by the end of the evening you begin to feel that your face is going to crack? Why of course! It's all part of the Greek system.

The first parties are informal, if anything during rush could be called informal. The rushees are asked to wear "skirts and sweaters and knee socks," but naturally the girls go all decked out in their most expensive and in vogue clothes. It may be freezing out, but never fear, rush is worth pneumonia.

Speaking of freezing weather, the way the system is set up this year girls are required to spend as much as ten minutes waiting in front of a house while the girls put the finishing touches on their hair.

How well can you get to know a person in 5 minutes? That's about how much time is allowed in between taking off and putting on coats at the first parties. Bids seem to be given on the basis of whether some one in the house knows you or not.

- the sister -

This is a short commentary. It is on rush. It is from the sorority woman's point of view. It is superficial. It is true.

By AGNES GRINDL

Put on their coats, bring them to the door, clap hands and sing and smile and smile. Then run into the house, empty the ash trays, wash the water glasses, grab a cigarette.

Here they come again! Take off their coats, introduce them to your sisters....and on and on and on....

That's right, you guessed it, it's time for that activity known to all Greek coeds as RUSH. And the rush is on again, complete with smiles and countless glasses of water and more smiles and the singing.

What's it like on the inside? One word answers that--HECTIC!

But no matter how confused you get, one thought dominates the brain--SMILE. Continuously, brightly, intelligently, any-crack around a broad grin.

Then there is the problem of conversation...we must not talk about politics, religion, drinking, dating, etc. etc. etc.

So what's left to talk about? The safest topic is the rushee herself... where she's from, what her major is, what she did last summer...the list is the same in any house.

The types of rushees a sister can meet are many, first is the yes and no girl. She is incapable of saying anything but "yes" and "no" to the barrage of questions posed her; it's a fight for time to see who runs out first, the sister out of questions or the rush party out of time.

Then there's the rushee who is full of questions of her own, samples of these questions go from, "Are your houseboys cute?" to "How old is your housemother?" to "What are the meals like here?"

The conversation is the same all over; it ranges from light and impersonal to lighter and more impersonal. No world situations are solved, no issues are debated, and by her third party, the rushee knows that she'll never have to explain anything more complex than where East Podunk is.

One coed, settling down into a plushy chair, told a smiling soror that she was tired of being asked the same questions again and again. "Why don't we just sit here and not talk at all," she said. "I seem to have run out of trivialities."

The end result? Rush yields pledges and the system continues and lifetime friends are made. Just remember to smile.

Smile until your cheeks ache, smile until your teeth are cold, and RUSH RUSH RUSH!

Senior Wins Scholarship

Theodore Goldberg, a senior zoology major, was the only Syracuse University student to be awarded a 1964 New York Regents Scholarship for Dental or Medical School. Goldberg finished twenty-eighth in the state competition, out of about 3,000 contestants.

The scholarship examination is taken by pre-dental and pre-medical students all over New York State. The award consists of full tuition at any dental or medical school in the state.

YES, TEXTS

- ART
- CHEMISTRY
- EDUCATION
- ENGLISH
- HISTORY
- JOURNALISM
- PHILOSOPHY
- PHYSICS
- POLITICAL SCIENCE
- PSYCHOLOGY

... if you need Text Books in these areas, why not avoid the rush and try the quick service at . . .

THE
SYRACUSE
BOOK CENTER

113 MARSHALL STREET
PHONE GR 5-7540

OPEN EVERY EVENING OF COURSE

Onondaga staffers hustling to beat their three-month deadline. Each representative who sells yearbooks is promised "a very shiny quarter" for every one they sell.

JSC Suspends Two

(Continued from Page 1)
particular concern with the guilt or innocence as established in another law court.

"Court senses that in these matters there are two separate ethical and legal codes involved," he continued, "that is, a violation of University regulations and rules is not necessarily a violation of civil ordinances and visa versa."

The issues that may justify no action by civil authorities may at the same time justify action by University (JSC) authorities, the chief justice added.

"SU is a community within a community and operates on standards and rules that may not be applicable to the community in a larger sense," Lustig said.

This student university code of ethics is derived from the rationale and sense of good judgment of students and administrators in an academic environment and is manifested in rules and regulations established by the University, students and officials, he concluded.

In other action, court suspended another student and disciplined four more.

A junior, without a 1.0 average, had been driving a car at SU last Fall in violation of the University car policy and was suspended by court until September, 1961.

Another student, a sophomore, was arrested by city police for public intoxication and placed on disciplinary probation by JSC until February, 1965. He was also given a 10 p.m. curfew from Sundays through Thursdays for the spring term.

A freshman student, returning to SU with a supply of firecrackers, was caught by his dormitory director with his cache after a warning had been issued about firecrackers. He was placed on court probation until June 1964, given a strict reprimand and advised to actively participate in some outside activity.

The last case involved two freshmen who rented a car for social purposes and were observed driving downtown. They claimed that they had misinterpreted the driving-on-campus rule and were referred to court.

JSC ruled that the driver of the car should not be allowed to drive during his sophomore year regardless of his average and placed him on disciplinary probation until June, 1964. He other, who supplied the rental funds, was put on court probation for the same period of time and also lost his sophomore driving privilege.

Miss Mead Wins Scholarship

The Boxboard Research and Development Association Scholarship for 1963-64 has been awarded to a senior specializing in pulp and paper technology at the State University College of Forestry.

She is Susan Beth Mead, 20, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Donald H. Mead. Judge Mead is a former Syracuse mayor.

The $250 scholarship was presented to Miss Mead by Dean Hardy Shirley of the forestry school in ceremonies held on the campus.

Also awarded at the same time were the $500 Harold Austin Memorial Scholarship to Paul Menge of Buffalo, and the $250 Geigy Dyestuffs Scholarship to Raymond White of Sauquoit.

ISO Elections Slated Feb. 12

International Students Organization will elect its officers Wednesday Feb. 12. Nominations will be open until Friday Feb. 7 and should be submitted to the International Student office, 711 Comstock Ave.

The officers being elected are president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, social chairman, publicity chairman and "newsletter" editor.

BEAT
NIAGARA

RUTH'S GIFTS

731 S. Crouse Avenue

SPECIAL

We Are Reducing
Our Overstock Of Lavaliers

Reg. Price $5.00

Now Only

$2.75

With Chain

While They Last

You have room for growth in data processing—at IBM

IBM offers graduates with bachelor's or advanced degrees in Engineering, the Sciences, Business Administration, Economics, or Liberal Arts challenging assignments in the marketing of information systems and equipment. ■

Rewarding opportunities exist in more than 190 IBM Sales and Service Offices located in major cities throughout the United States. ■

These opportunities increase with each new system that is designed to meet the growing needs of business, industry, government, research, education, or space. ■

wide range of positions

Marketing: ■ The IBM Data Processing Representative is a consultant to his customers. ■ He demonstrates how customers can achieve better business management and controls through data processing. ■

Systems Engineering: ■ IBM Data Processing Systems Engineers are men and women who study customer requirements in depth, devise an approach, define a preferred machine and operational solution, and assist in implementing this solution. ■

opportunities for advancement

IBM, an Equal Opportunity Employer, offers you extensive training in the area of your special interest. ■ This training continues as you advance along a planned career path leading to professional or managerial positions. ■

We also have comprehensive company-paid benefits plans...training programs to keep you abreast of developments in your field...and a tuition-refund plan to give you financial assistance for graduate study. ■

on-campus interviews

See your college placement director to determine when IBM will interview on campus, and make an appointment to see our representative.

If the interview date is inconvenient for you, please write or call: ■ W. J. Waibel, Branch Manager, ■ IBM Corporation, 1000 James Street, Syracuse 3, N. Y., GR 2-7851. ■

February 25-26 Liberal Arts Placement
February 27 Women's Placement
February 28 Engineering Placement

MOVE AHEAD WITH

IBM

DATA PROCESSING

LOHENGRIN

CAST:
Jess Thomas, Elisabeth Grümmer,
Dietrich Fischer-Dieskau, Christa
Ludwig, Gottlob Frick, Otto Wiener Rudolf Kempe, conducting.

The First Stereo Recording of Wagner's most spectacular Opera

ANGEL ALBUM (S)3641 E/L

RECORD

SALE

ALL LP's REDUCED
Lohengrin — 5 LP's
Mono — Reg., 25.00
Sale Price, 18.75
Stereo — Reg., 30.00
Sale Price, 22.47

University Hill
MUSIC BOX

OWNED AND OPERATED BY SU STUDENTS
754 So. Crouse 475-4116
Open Monday thru Friday, 10-8 — Saturday 'til 5:30

J-School Sets Ad Seminar

Forty advertising executives from New York state newspapers will participate in an advertising seminar conducted by Syracuse University next month.

The New York State Publishers Assn. and the Newhouse School of Journalism are sponsoring the seminar February 13-15. The announcement was made today by Dr. Wesley C. Clark, dean of the school, and W. Melvin Street, general manager of the association.

Three such seminars have been held in the past two years at the University's Minnowbrook Center, but the winter session in Syracuse has been added to enable more people to attend conveniently the announcement said.

Prof. Edmund C. Arnold, chairman of the graphic arts and publishing departments will conduct the seminar as he has the past three. He has also staged similar training sessions throughout the country.

The seminar begins Thursday afternoon (Feb. 13) and closes with luncheon Saturday (Feb. 15).

Lesiuk Named Cadet of Month

Cadet Sgt. Joseph Lesiuk, a junior in the College of Engineering, has been chosen as the Outstanding Cadet for the month of January.

Cadet Lesiuk was selected on the basis of his outstanding leadership qualities, and his knowledge of military subjects.

As the outstanding Cadet of the month, Lesiuk is permitted to wear orange and white leadership tabs.

The outstanding cadet is picked each month by the Army ROTC Staff.

MONDAY
4 p. m. Volleyball, Gym B, Women's Building.
9 p. m. The P. Union, Dean Smith's House.
TUESDAY
7 p. m. Delta Sigma Phi, 202 Journalism Center. All riders must report at 7:45 p. m.
WEDNESDAY
3-5 p. m. Bandmen must return uniforms at Marley Field House.
8-11:15 p. m. Orange Club Square Dance. Bus leaves SMC at 7:45 for Skilton. Admission for members $4.50, non-members $6.
THURSDAY
1-3 p. m. Bandmen must return uniforms at Marley Field House.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE
B A J A C A R E D S I L T
A T U B O R A T E T R O W
V I N Y H I N U S R A T I E
C E S T M A G N I F I Q U E
M E U S E O D I S T
P T I S A N R E L E E
L O S S I E S T A N E C K
O N T H E Q T A M A T E U R
P E S O U N I T E D L E I
S K E A N L L O Y D S
A O R T A C A L I X
G U E E N E L I Z A B E T H
U N T A L P I P I T Y O Y O
A I C T E O P I N E E R M A
S E A R S A T E D S I N K

Last Call For 'ON'

Time passes . . . Thursday will be the last day to sell yearbooks as the ON is going to be coming out in less than three months. Each representative will get a very shiny quarter for every yearbook they sell.

Remember! All stubs and money must be accounted for and returned by Thursday to Prefab 7D by 5 p.m. If no one is there please go to the ON financial advisor, Mr. O'Brien in Prefab 7B.

Troyer Rejoins Education Staff

Dr. Maurice Troyer, formerly a professor of psychology in the School of Education, will return to the Hill next fall. Since 1951, Dr. Troyer has been serving as vice president of International Cristian University in Tokyo. He is in charge of faculty and curriculum.

Before joining the Tokyo school, Dr. Troyer was director of Syracuse University's evaluation center in the psychological services. He was appointed to the SU faculty in 1936.

Dr. Troyer will serve as a visiting professor in the School of Education for one year.

W A E R
88.3 MC
MONDAYS
4:00 Sun On, News, WAER Highlights
4:15 Experiment in Music
6:00 BBC World Report
6:15 Communique
6:30 Team Stone and the News
6:45 International Report
7:00 Syracuse 1964 Drama Workshop
7:30 Challenges to Democracy
8:30 The 8:30 Report
8:45 Contemporary Scene
10:45 The Late Night Report
11:00 The Sounds of Jazz
12:15 Headlines and Sign Off

Nine Maxwell Students Depart

Leaving for India Feb. 15 are nine students in Syracuse University's Graduate School of Citizenship and Public Affairs who are seeking a new degree of master of International Public Administration.

The students, who are combining one year of work abroad with one year of academic courses, will spend 1964 working in such agencies as the American embassy and consulate in India as well as the Agency for International Development and U. S. Information Agency.

The group already has taken introductory courses in public administration which were given here last summer. During the fall semester the students took more specialized courses relating to international affairs.

Presently the group is half through a one-month orientation period which includes language training and a course in the organization and administration of U.S. overseas operations. When the students arrive in India, they will have an additional month of cultural orientation before they are assigned specific jobs.

A university faculty member will accompany them and meet with them occasionally during their stay. The students will return to Syracuse in January 1965 for another semester of academic work and will receive their degrees in the early summer.

This new program is, in part, an out-growth of the Maxwell program begun in 1959. The program allowed graduate students to study and work in overseas operations of U.S. agencies in Italy, Japan, Nigeria and India. It now has been combined with the master's degree in public administration program so that some public administration candidates may branch out into international affairs.

Completion of the program will prepare students for work in multinational organizations, overseas representation of business firms, or professional, educational, or religious associations in addition to work in U.S. overseas operations.

BEAT
NIAGARA

THE "BOOKSTALL"

147 Marshall Street
Fascinating Gifts, Fine Stationery, Fabulous Cards
38 Years by the Campus
Your Friendly Alumni Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow

CLASSICAL RECORDS SALE!!

SELECT FROM HUNDREDS OF TITLES AT HUGE SAVINGS

WESTMINSTER WERE $4.98 - $1.98 EA.
SCHWANN LIST

BRILLIANT WORKS OF YOUR FAVORITE COMPOSERS

VOX $4.98 - $2.69 EA.
SCHWANN LIST

ARTISTS AND CONDUCTORS OF WORLD RENOWN

MONITOR $4.98 - $2.69 EA.
SCHWANN LIST

FACTORY FRESH LPS OF THE HIGHEST QUALITY

VOX STEREO $4.98 - $2.69 EA.
SCHWANN LIST

KAPP $4.98 - $2.69 EA.
MONO and STEREO SCHWANN LIST

COME EARLY — Quantities Of Individual Titles Are Limited

SALE BEGINS NOW

COLLEGE STUDENTS
An Exciting 7½ Week
Summer Adventure

KIBBUTZ & VACATION
in ISRAEL & EUROPE

JET DEPARTURES: June 27 & July 9

Program Features:

- 14 days of full-time work and other work in Galilee Kibbutzim
- 7 day "Go Native" sightseeing tour throughout Israel
- 14 days of rest and recreation at the ASHKELOH — village de vacances on the Mediterranean
- 14 day tour of Italy, Switzerland and France

For further information & reservations contact:

HISTADRUT STUDENT TOURS
33 East 67th St New York 21, NY
RE 4-7440 or RE 4-6010

Chuck for Two

Orange center CHUCK RICHARDS (55) goes up for a bucket in Syracuse's 96-65 win over Manhattan Saturday at the Manley Field House. Looking on are NORM GOLDSMITH (11) and PHIL SCHOFF (30) of the Hill eagles. Richards scored 28 points and hit on 13 of 16 shots as Syracuse rolled to its ninth victory in 11 outings. The next Orange contest is Wednesday night on the road against the Niagara Purple Eagles.

SU to Offer Summer Course For 40 High School Students

Syracuse University will offer a six-week summer science training program in biology for 40 secondary school students of high ability under a $16,940 grant from the National Science Foundation.

The college level training for high school students of junior and senior standing will be under the direction of Dr. Marvin Druger, assistant professor of zoology and of science teaching. The program begins June 29.

For the fourth consecutive year students will participate in discussions, special demonstrations, student seminars, field trips, project work and intensive laboratory experiences. The program also includes guest lecturers, and the experience of living in student dormitories.

Topics included in the six-week program include cytology, genetics, physiology, microbiology, ecology, biochemical processes and coverage of recent advances in molecular biology.

Registration must be received by April 5, 1964 and should be sent to Dr. Druger, 400 Lyman Hall, Syracuse University. Selection of participants will be based on recommendations from high school science teachers, scholastic average and completion of high school courses in chemistry and elementary algebra.

SU Radio Station Extends Broadcasting One Hour

The newest nightowl on the Hill is campus radio station WAER, as it begins the Spring term with a change in sign-off time from 12 midnight to 1 a.m.

The new schedule will be in effect Monday through Friday nights.

Another addition of the station is block programming, which will provide public affairs programs from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday. This plan will enable listeners to tune in on news commentaries on local and world events.

GO GREEK

A Alpha	I Iota	P Rho
B Beta	K Kappa	Σ Sigma
Γ Gamma	Λ Lambda	T Tau
Δ Delta	M Mu	Υ Upsilon
E Epsilon	N Nu	Φ Phi
Z Zeta	Ξ Xi	X Chi
H Eta	O Omicron	Ψ Psi
Θ Theta	Π Pi	Ω Omega

L. G. BALFOUR CO.
Fraternity & Sorority Insignia
Jewelry • Rings
Stationery • Favors •
Gifts • Ceramics
Leathergoods
Carl Sorensen, Prop.

129 S. Crouse

GR 5-7837

Offer Scholarships For ROTC Students

The Army is offering two programs providing an opportunity for graduates of accredited colleges and universities in the United States regular Army.

Under normal circumstances if a college student graduates from a school offering ROTC and does not participate in the program, he cannot become an officer in the regular Army.

The first of the Army's scholarships is given to an individual who is scholastically outstanding and was unable to participate in his school's ROTC program for valid reasons.

The second program is one of a technical nature. If an individual has a master's degree with practical experience, he may apply for the Technical Specialist program.

If appointed in the regular Army, he will receive a special course of training in military fundamentals and then advanced training in his field of specialization. He will then be assigned in his specialty.

For additional information about these programs, interested persons may contact the Professor of Military Science at the nearest college, their local reserve center, and recruiting station or the Office of the Adjutant General, First U. S. Army, Governor's Island, N. Y. Telephone: Whitehall 4-7700, Ext. 3931.

Arnold Gets National Prize For Service

A national award was presented to a member of the faculty of the Newhouse School of Journalism at Syracuse University this month.

Prof. Edmund C. Arnold, chairman of the graphic arts and publishing departments, received the Elmer G. Veigt Award of the Education Council of the Graphic Arts Industry for outstanding service in the field of graphic arts education.

Arnold was nominated by the National Editorial Assn., primarily for his work in conducting clinics and workshops for professional newspapermen.

He has directed such meetings in every state and in most Canadian provinces. Next month he will conduct a 3-day seminar here for newspaper advertising personnel.

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	$.55
2 days	1.05
4 days	3.15
5 days	2.40
6 days	3.85
7 days	5.20
8 days	4.55
9 days	5.85
10 days	6.45
11 days	7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, P.O. Box 70, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL, 110 S. 4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy, GR 6-3995.

LOST — on or about 2:00 P.M. Thursday, Jan. 24, One MINOX camera, 4" long, silver-colored, in Men's room of Main Library building (Carnegie Library). Please turn in to Lost and Found Building 19. Owner will pay reward of $25.

AUTO DRIVING — Learn before Summer. Featured for college students, 5 lesson course. Sullivan's School, 110 S. 4451.

GREYHOUND TICKETS, schedules, information, bus and air charters. Hotel reservations, foreign tours. FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC., in the Savoy, Monday-Friday, 1-4; Thursday night, 7-9. 476-8533.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired, Rented, Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. AL GR 8-8833. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

FOR SALE

FREE SOLDERING, all charms bought here. Charms, lozenges, jewelry, watch repair. Greeting cards. Personalized stationery. Valentine gifts and cards. Riviera sunglasses for men and women. Ruth's Gifts, 734 S. Crouse.

SORORITIES - FRATERNITIES! For rushing, Greek letter matches, napkins in proper colors. Napkins to order — many matches in stock. Name tags, pins, place cards, candles, pledge ribbons. Bookstall.

NEW SUPPLY OF Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of 4 colors of paper, 3 colors of ink, 2 sizes of sheets. Bookstall.

1962 RAMBLER AMBASSADOR V-8, 4 door sedan. Automatic transmission, power brakes, power steering, reclining seats, snow tires, heater, many other extras. Perfect condition. Driven only 16,000 miles. Only $1,795.00. M. W. Jennison, 210 Lyman Hall.

WANTED

EXPERIENCE TYPESET, Part time or full time employment. Own transportation necessary. After 5, call GW 9-2829.

PART TIME MALE IBM PROOF machine operator, 5:00 A.M. to 9:00 A.M. Monday thru Friday. Downtown location. Apply Personnel Dept., Marine Midland Trust Co., 344 S. Warren St.

MEN — We need four or five men on a part-time basis from now till finals. Excellent income and experience. Call 472-6556.

WAITERS and KITCHEN HELP wanted for fraternity. Call GR 5-3920. Ask for Curly Monday thru Thurs.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students

APARTMENTS FOR RENT, One, two, three, and four rooms. Call 446-2709 for appointment.

TWO BLOCKS FROM FIELDHOUSE, 225 Lorraine Ave. Modern 4-room upper, 2 bedrooms. Large closet, brick cupboards, refrigerator and stove. Picture window, living room and kitchen, ceramic tile bath, private parking area, on bus line. Available immediately, $115. NE 8-0497, GR 6-1473.

FURNISHED APARTMENT — 2 blocks from campus; complete kitchen; private bathroom with shower; living room; bedroom combination; 1st floor; $90. Call 476-1481 evenings.

UNIVERSITY MALE grad student or instructor to share convenient desirable apt. with two other grad students. Parking. Eves. 475-7337, GI 6-1537.

ROOM for rent, Girl student — private home. Kitchen privileges. GR 2-3578. BERKELEY PARK SECTION, Spacious, attractive rooms, private phone in quiet home. Women. GR 2-5621.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS, Late models, also sales and service, special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

EXPERT TYPING, Theses, theses, term papers, 488-0141, after 6 p.m. TYPING IN MY HOME, 12 years' experience. Reasonable rates. Call 488-6671 any time.

Engineers & Scientists

Discuss Current Openings with RAYTHEON

CAMPUS INTERVIEWS

February 12

See your placement director now to arrange an interview with the Raytheon representative.

Raytheon offers challenging assignments for BS and MS candidates in EE, ME, Mathematics and Physics. Openings are in the areas of:

RADAR, INFRARED, MISSILE & SPACE SYSTEMS, COMMUNICATIONS & DATA PROCESSING, SOLID STATE, SONAR, ELECTRON TUBE & COMPONENTS TECHNOLOGY, MICROWAVE ELECTRONICS, MANUFACTURING & FIELD SERVICE ENGINEERING

Facilities are located in New England, California and Tennessee. If an interview is not convenient on above date, forward your resume to Mr. G. W. Lewis, Manager of College Relations, Raytheon Company, Lexington 73, Massachusetts.

RAYTHEON

An Equal Opportunity Employer

SU Rides High After Downing Manhattan

By JUDY ADAMS
Associate Editor

"Basket, Richards. Assist, Bing."

Syracuse basketball announcers have been reciting this combination more often than any other this season. Saturday night they gave it its most vigorous workout of the campaign as Richards "basketed" more accurately and Bing "assisted" more often than has any other player in the short life of Manley Field House.

With the duo in their finest form, Syracuse stormed to a 96-65 win over Manhattan.

The second largest crowd of the year, 3830, saw Chuck Richards miss only three of the 16 baskets he attempted as he racked up 28 points.

Using the now-familiar, off-balance, turn and toss, the 6-8 junior bettered his earlier mark of 11 for 11.

Meanwhile the genius of Dave Bing was preventing the lopsided contest from growing dull after the first five minutes.

Bing, whose finesse sends you to a thesaurus for adjectives, had perhaps one of the best all-round nights of his career. Frolicking up and down the court, picking off rebounds like the answer to a coach's dream and playing his usual unusually amazing game, he picked up 11 assists, 8 rebounds and 20 points.

The assist total was four more than his old record and equaled Manhattan's sum.

Syracuse had two others in double figures. Frank Nicoletti ran up 10 in his second half appearance. And Norm Goldsmith, who earned a starting role after last week's 19 point

The zest of the victory was somewhat dulled for the Orange by the injury to Manhattan's Larry Lembo early in the first period.

Lembo was carried from the floor after being accidentally struck in the mouth beneath the basket.

The 6-4 junior had worried Fred Lewis enough to make him the exclusive property of Penecol, an honor reserved only for the best. With Lembo gone, Manhattan's game was obviously hurt.

The Orangemen, now 9-5, at home have won three in a row and seven out of eight.

It was their third highest scoring night of the year, just two baskets shy of their second 100 night in a row.

INTRAS

BASKETBALL

7:00 — Booth 1 vs. Sims 1; Watson E 1 vs. DellPlain 1; Booth 2 vs. Sims 2.

7:15 — Watson W 2 vs. Sadler 2; Watson E 2 vs. DellPlain 2; Booth 3 vs. Sims 3.

8:30 — Watson E 3 vs. DellPlain 3; Booth 4 vs. Watson W 4; Watson E 4 vs. Sadler 4.

Nance & Company Make Like Texas And Dump Navy

By HOWIE SCHNEIDER

At 1:42 in the first period of his heavyweight match Saturday afternoon, massive Mr. James Nance promptly put Ed Carlin's Orange wrestling squad back into contention for Eastern honors.

The N.C.A.A. heavyweight title-holder lifted Navy's undefeated John Nichols III (there may never be a IV) to his shoulders and then, like they do on television, slammed him to the mat. By the time the stunned sailor could look up the 1,345 delighted fans were filling out of Manley Field House, and Carlin and crew owned a 19-13 victory.

The win boosted the Hill mark to 2-2, a respectable while not impressive record, and toppled previously unbeaten Navy from their No. 1 spot in the East. The Midshipmen are now 4-1.

The Syracuse triumph was not an individual one. The Nance-Nichols dual being foreshadowed in the 177-pound contest between Orangeman Lew Roberts and Pete Morgan.

With Syracuse holding an 11-8 lead, Roberts trailed his opponent 5-3 late in the match. Time running out, the speedy Roberts tied the score on a take down only to find that Morgan, with an escape again went ahead. Roberts came back with his second take down and then won riding time by 1½ seconds to decision Morgan, 7-6.

The Roberts victory gave the home team a 14-8 margin going into the last two matches. In the 191-pound clash Navy's Gerald Franzen, last year's Eastern 177-pound champ, pinned Syracuse's Barry Raichlin, at 4:50 of the first period.

With the score 14-13, the stage was set for the dramatic Nance victory.

Orangeman Ron Pritts and Midshipman Dale Lucas opened the contest, fighting to a scoreless tie in the 123-pound class. Terry Haise then out-battled Navy's Fred Crawford, 5-4, giving Syracuse a 5-2 advantage.

The Men of Annapolis dominated the 137 and 147-pound classes with undefeated sophomores Wayne Hicks and Bob Sanders decisioning James Murrin and John Dussling.

Carlin's squad then came back to win the next two matches, giving them an 11-8 lead. Captain Dick Slutsky remained undefeated in the 157-pound class, beating Tom Grim, 6-4. In the 167-pound category George Riedener handily whipped Buford Wiley, 5-1.

NORM GOLDSMITH (11) of the Syracuse basketball team eludes three Manhattan men and scores two of the 10 points he contributed in Saturday's Orange romp over the Jaspers. Goldsmith, a sophomore, was recently elevated to a starting role by Hill coach Fred Lewis.

Tangerines Tan Canton's "Hyde"

By JIM KLURFELD

Watching the freshman basketball team play reminds you of the story of Dr. Jeckyll and Mr. Hyde. There is one team on the court but it has two personalities. The first plays basketball in a rather sloppy fashion but still manages to win as in Saturday's 66 to 55 victory over Canton Tech. The other show flashes of exciting play and teamwork.

In the first half Saturday the Tangerines displayed their Hyde complex. Canton was a team with a 2-11 record and yet the highly touted freshmen were winning by only one point at half-time, 27-26.

Then Dr. Jeckyll appeared in the second half. In four minutes Canton was behind 36-28 and with 10 minutes left in the game they trailed 50-34. The personality change may have been precipitated by something Coach Morris Osburn said at intermission.

"I just told them that they had better stop playing their back-alley type of basketball. All that fancy passing and shooting isn't going to win ball games. Those boys have great potential, but they have to play straight basketball."

Osburn's point was proved in the second half as Vaughn Harper, Val Reid and company combined hustle and the quick break to pull away from Canton.

Harper, who says he feels more comfortable in the forward slot, was particularly valuable in the frosh scoring spurt as he took full advantage of his uncanny passing ability leading the fast break.

Val Reid was also pivotal as he controlled the boards and played fine defense.

Actually the frosh's biggest problem this year has been the absence of an outside shooter. With five centers recruited last year it is an accomplishment if someone hits the backboard when shooting beyond the foul circle.

The Frosh coach was surprised that Canton played a one-three-one zone against his team. "Once we get the ball inside we are dangerous," he explained, "so any defense that clogs the middle should be effective against us. But the one-three-one is designed to stop outside shooting."

The only bright spot for Canton was the scoring of Marty Rosen who was high for the night with 21 points.

Syracuse wrestling captain DICK SLUTSKY battles Midshipman TOM GRIM in the 157-pound class at Saturday's Orange-Middle wrestling match. Slutsky won 6-4 and remained unbeaten on the season. The Orange team won also, downing the Annapolis squad, 19-13.

Swimmers Split Pair

Something had to give as Syracuse's swimming team placed its winning streak on the line against unbeaten Bucknell Friday at Orange Pool before a large crowd.

Counting seven wins on the nine-event slate, most by the smallest possible margin, the visitors posted a 58-37 victory. With a bit more luck Hill Coach Ted Webster's charges would probably still be undefeated.

The locals are now 4-1 while Bucknell, the defending Middle Atlantic Coast Conference Coast champion, raised its log to 8-0, on the eve of its Colgate clash. Syracuse bounced back Saturday to defeat Lehigh in an away meet.

Top performers for the Bisons were freestyler Jerry Thimme and Jim Smigie, specializing in the butterfly.

Thimme, a precocious sophomore, was the meet's lone double winner as he swam the 100-yard distance in :51.3 and the 200-yard event in 1:56.7.

Smigie, a junior, won the 200-yard butterfly in 2:05.9 to set a new Orange Pool record. The old record of 2:08.6 had been held by former Piety star Greg Pond, a member of last year's Actually Smigie's performance was subpar for him, for earlier this season he swam his specialty in 2:03.6 to set a Bucknell standard.

Smigie also teamed with Al

Hanford. Phil Reynolds and Jack Fleming to win the 400-yard medley relay.

Reynolds, another sophomore, raced to victory in the 200-yard breaststroke with a 2:28.7 clocking.

A third versatile rookie, Hanford, splashed home first in the 200-yard backstroke by stopping the clocks at 2:18.6.

Other winners for the Pennsylvanians were captain John Weinmann in the 200-yard individual medley at 2:16.8 and diver Dick Sheldon with a score of 191.30.

Syracuse's lone individual winner was freestyler Jim Myerberg, winning the 500-yard event with a 5:41.5 clocking.

Friday Curfews Extended

(See Center Column Below)

DAILY

Syracuse University's Daily

ORANGE

Newspaper Since 1903

Vol. 61, No. 64

Syracuse, N. Y., Tuesday, February 4, 1964

8 Pages

Rustin, Bailey Speak Today

By SANDI EHRLICH

Bayard Rustin, coordinator of Monday's boycott of the New York City schools in protest of their integration policies, and Maxwell School Dean Stephen K. Bailey will discuss "Civil Rights and Civil Disobedience" at 8 p.m. today in Hendricks Chapel.

The discussion, which is sponsored by the citizenship department, will be moderated by WAER-FM (88.3 mc) will carry the Rustin-Bailey discussion live at 8 p.m.

George Wiley, Hill chemistry professor and recent winner of the Syracuse Peace Council award for 1963.

Rustin, who has been active in peace and civil rights movements for 25 years, was also deputy director of the August 28 March on Washington.

A Quaker and former advisor to Martin Luther King Jr., Rustin has been arrested over 20 times in the civil rights struggle.

Born 53 years ago in the Philadelphia suburb of Westchester, Pa., Rustin attended numerous colleges but never received a degree. He was the first field director of the Congress of Racial Equality.

A conscientious objector to war, Rustin spent three years in prison during World War II. He is a member of the executive committee of the World Peace Brigade and is presently executive secretary of the War Resisters League.

BAYARD RUSTIN

Rustin was a director of the 1958 and 1959 Youth Marches for Integrated Schools in Washington, D.C.

He has also travelled widely in Asia, Europe and Africa in connection with the colonial revolution.

Rustin's philosophy is that America's political institutions as they stand today are not capable of solving the Negro problem, according to several members of the Congress of Racial Equality. Rustin believes that unless there are changes in the machinery of our government

(continued on page 6)

Coeds Given 1 a.m. Curfew

Beginning February 7, Friday night curfew for all coeds will be 1 a.m. according to an announcement made by Sharon Katz, vice president of the Association of Women Students.

Miss Katz said the decision was made after a survey of curfews at other schools with the same general characteristics as Syracuse University. She said AWS also took a report of the theater and bus schedules in the city into consideration.

The proposed change was unanimously approved by the AWS assembly which is composed of the presidents of all women's living centers and the vice presidents of those living centers with more than 40 residents.

After recommended approval from the dean of women's office, the proposal is now in effect, she said.

Miss Katz said no proposed change is being considered for the Saturday curfew. The survey showed Syracuse was in the middle range for university Saturday curfews, she said. The last curfew change was Feb. 2, 1956, when second semester freshmen were given 10:15 p.m. curfews instead of 9:15 p.m.

JSL SURVEY

All representatives must turn in the Joint Student Legislature food service survey 1-5 p.m. Wednesday in the Joint Student Government office, Marion basement. Results will be announced Friday or Monday.

SU to Assess Fee for Cars

By DANIEL RITEY

SU students will have to pay the university for the privilege of owning and operating a car on the Hill beginning with the fall semester of 1965.

"Some basic charge system for the students, staff and faculty will be set up on either a yearly or semester basis," James V. Latorre, assistant to the vice president for research told the Daily Orange.

"The proposed rates would vary with the parking space," he said, "that is a higher rate would be charged for graded spaces and a lower rate for open surface spots."

Latorre added that the university parking committee is trying to work out a system whereby Manley Field House parking areas would be used to relieve the pressure on campus parking sites.

"A shuttle-bus system would be inaugurated which would provide transportation to campus for those who would park their cars at the fieldhouse," he said.

University officials are tentatively planning to begin the fieldhouse shuttle-bus system sometime this Spring, Latorre noted. Planners are seeking a 25 cent roundtrip fare for those having to use the busses.

"The fee for parking cars beginning in 1965 will be nominal," he went on, "and the university may end up subsidizing parking expenses as it currently does." No student without a car would be affected by these charges, he added.

Commenting on the current jammed campus parking situation, Latorre estimated that over 1,000 cars now vie for the approximately 500 available campus spaces.

"The university parking committee is carefully screening all applications for campus parking permits in order to get a closer balance between permit holders and available spaces," the administrator added.

To compensate for additional class buildings that are slated for construction, additional parking facilities are planned for the new highrise dormitory, the space presently occupied by the School of

(See SU, Page 6)

JSC Opens Four Posts

Applications are being accepted for four vacancies on Joint Student Court. The positions open are for three present sophomores and one present junior.

The applications, which should be written on the student's paper, must include name, campus address, telephone, cumulative average, activities and ideas. Each applicant must have a 1.5 cumulative average.

Students should turn in the applications to the dean of men's office by Monday.

Interviews will follow filing of the applications. Each applicant will be contacted as to time of interview.

$500,000 Awarded To SU

Maxwell School Gets $276,000

Syracuse University today received a $276,500 grant from the Carnegie Foundation to conduct a study of how the nation's largest cities reach decisions on educational problems.

The grant goes to the Metropolitan Studies Program which is part of the university's Maxwell Graduate School of Citizenship and Public Affairs. Announcement of the grant was made by Maxwell dean Dr. Stephen K. Bailey and metropolitan studies director Dr. Alan K. Campbell.

Under plans approved by the Foundation, the two-and-a-half year study will analyze decision-making in five major areas: allocation of fiscal resources, racial balance among schools, curriculum administrator - teacher relations, and equality of educational output.

Campbell said the study will begin immediately, although the cities to be surveyed have not been chosen. Twenty persons will be hired to work on the project.

"The study is designed to find out who are the primary decision-makers in education," Dr. Campbell said. "We also will be seeking the nature of the decision-making process and the quality of the decisions."

Bailey said: "Quality public education in America's large central cities is perhaps the single most important domestic problem facing the country. It is within the central cities that the great majority of the urban disadvantaged groups reside and, of all units of government in the United States, the large-

(continued on page 7)

$$$ Flow By Millions At Maxwell

The Carnegie grant announced today brings the total of Maxwell School grants received since 1960 to more than $4.7 million.

The various grants finance national programs and international programs in all parts of the world except Latin America. Many of the programs are administered by Maxwell professors.

The largest single grant was for $750,000 from the development administration of un-recently used for the Africa-Asia Public Service Fellowship Program, administered by Prof. Arthur Osteen.

The Ford Foundation sponsors the East African Program under a 175,000 grant. Established in 1961 under the direction of Prof. Fred G.

(See Flow, Page 4)

Hill Engineering Gets $227,464

Syracuse University has begun a $227,464 experiment to improve electrical engineering education on the Hill and at other institutions around the nation.

A 10-man team-including a staff psychologist-will prepare do-it-yourself tests, arrange self-directed laboratory projects, produce special films and write programmed text books for 100 Syracuse sophomores taking a course called electrical science.

Object of the two-year experiment is to "integrate the total learning experience" of these students, according to an announcement today by project directors Dr. Norman Balabanian and Dr. Wilbur R. LePage.

The U.S. Office of Education has contributed $137,630 toward the project.

Explaining the areas their experimental course will cover, Balabanian and LePage said movies-produced in cooperation with the SU Center for Instructional Communication--will be available for students to study on their own time.

Laboratory projects will be arranged so early experiments will be directed by instructors with more advanced work being left to the individual student to conduct by himself, the professors said.

Programmed text books will be written allowing students to proceed at their own paces. They move ahead as they complete each hope but do not encounter new material until their responses show previous information is understood.

Before a student takes a formal examination in the course, (See Engineers, Page 6)

A Morsel Of Bread

O Say Can You See

Ron Corwin: In Retrospect

By Ken Auletta

Syracuse University has finally revised a segment of its archaic curfew system, but has in the process condoned many rulings that are as old as grandfather's clock.

The Association of Women Students standards committee Thursday passed a ruling giving a 30-minute extension of curfews on Friday nights to all women in university housing.

The group decided not to change Saturday night curfews "because we were at par with other institutions of the same characteristics on the Saturday night curfews."

However, many fallacies of the system weren't even touched. AWS gave no mention of special weekend curfews. Whereas girls in nearby universities have three and four o'clock curfews on big weekends, Syracuse coeds still rush to get under the wire by two o'clock.

While senior women in three Upstate New York colleges (Cornell, Rochester and Buffalo) have no curfews at all, Syracuse seniors are placated with "late twelves" every week night.

The university argues against extension of senior curfews "because you would have to put all the seniors in one dorm to police curfew." Why not follow the practices of other schools and allow senior women to have apartments where no curfew policing would be necessary?

Furthermore, in practicing "in loco parentis" Syracuse University has relegated its freshmen women to the status of animals in cages, permitting "these young girls" to leave their buildings until 9:15 p.m. every week night in the first semester.

And then there are the problems of city overnights, and signing out for weekend at other universities. These issues were overlooked.

But the Association of Women students and the dean of women's office have accomplished one thing—they have placated the women students at Syracuse University. Give a starving man a morsel of bread and he thinks you've done him a great service.

But Syracuse University, is, and will remain far behind the curfew standards of most Eastern colleges.

And this only comes about because the coeds at Syracuse are willing to accept a morsel of bread.

It was once said of him by disturbed letter writers that "because of this column it is hard to believe that anything Mr. Corwin has written or will write can now be taken seriously." We need no longer concern ourselves, Ron Corwin is gone, fired by his adopted parents of the D.O. Corwin was never a member of the Family; always he was the orphan who wrote because his parents tolerated it; he was a child of mischief, estranged from his parents, yet fed by them until they too were fed - too much.

It was all very strange: Syracuse is a place where just about anything can be hidden: code numbers or student leaders, beer cans or Head Residents. Almost everything and everyone that is, save Ron Corwin. He was different. Once every other week, his name would blaze on this page - then he would be found pontificating in some dorm lounge. Again, his column - and then the sight and sound of him downtown, obstructing Santa's path while trying to make fellow orphans of young and protected children. His column, again - followed by the merry-go-round path he wove about the Administration Building. Another two weeks, another column-leaving disturbed and quietly within the cells of our brain. It was difficult for us to hide from him. Now he will be hidden from us. An invisible man. But maybe now, at his wake, the petty and secret jealousies, the stapled animosities, the fears, will subside enough so that we may catch a glimpse of ourselves, and maybe something, also, of him.

He was the one who in history class knew all the answers and did not hesitate to tell them, above the drone of his classmate's grumbling; he was the nagging reminder that our cherished self-concepts did not square with our real selves; he reminded us of the Willie Loman within all. He was the "pusher," the "brain," the "apple-polisher," the "he's good, but I've seen better," the "she isn't that pretty without her make-up on," sort of all in one. In short, he was the mirror which nakedly displayed our raw and competitive selves for all to see and laugh. He was very cruel.

It was only natural that we, in self-defense, would protect ourselves from ourselves. The weapons we used were effective. We labeled him and imputed his motives. Because we could not see ourselves doing what he did, there need be something wrong with him—not us. A Communist perhaps, but more likely something else: an Egotist! A vain and selfish person more concerned with himself than his professed goals. A rebel for rebellions' sake. Someone with an angle—indeed, we need have one—didn't we?

Thus he was "insincere," of questionable motives, and certainly not to be taken seriously. What was said was no longer as important as who was saying it. After a while wasn't really inconvenient at all: We would turn to the by-line and grunt at the name and then dismiss - just like that - the entire column because it was "too emotional," or because "oh, I know what he's going to say." Or perhaps we were those who resented the preachment because to accept it would be to accept personal guilt. After all, we were all in this mess (suddenly it is recognized) together—what right had one of us to play "holier than thou"? Or maybe, we were the majority of letter-writers, sincere in our zeal to play in loco parentis to our readers, so we attacked Corwin - clubbing and pounding him, rather than his arguments?

He once wrote a column which more than suggested that most of the late Ernie Davis's friends were shallow in their friendship. Letters poured forth. Mr. Norm Wish admonished him to "drop emotions and stick to facts." But the prejudice of which Corwin spoke is not easily footnoted in history books, the subject is itself an emotion. The Ward can be seen - if one chooses - as the result of white prejudice or negro indifference - one man's fact is another's emotion. A letter writing team of Kramer and Gelula responded:

"The reference to inter-racial dating was in the worst possible taste. For surely this is something that involves both families and if Mr. Corwin considers this sort of thing as a great advance for the negro people it sheds serious doubts on his knowledge of this subject." Just like that, nothing else was said—we were not told why we were to have "serious doubts;" in brief, we were told little about Corwin's emotions and much about theirs.

And - oh yes - there were the professional "liberals;" people who believe what they are because they are afraid to know what they are not; those of us who found agreement with Corwin a clever vehicle for detachment and scorn of fellow classmates. We knew that Corwin was not speaking of or to us, for we were on his team, as long as no effort was involved - save words.

But what of him? Was he dispassionately fair and free of the contradictions of which he justly accused us? We should not have feared him so; the difference between he and us was less than that which exists between the 15th and 17th Wards here in Syracuse - and that doesn't scare us all that much. No, Ron Corwin had deep contradictions: He fell victim to that which he admonished us to discard; he came to view the word as a conspiratorial battleground, a sort of Armageddon, with the lack of sufficient success causing resentment and even hatred for those of us who could have delivered victory, but did not. He began to group white people the way we do black. Virtue being scarce, one tends to hoard it. The cause was right, and since most people were not a part, they need be wrong. Dean Bailey (see unsigned letter of Dec. 17, 1963 which Corwin wrote to the D.O.) was thus grouped with the George Wallace's of this world (as if an inconsistent speech were a passport to Hell). To condemn became a fixation. We, on whom victory unfortunately be persuaded with reason and love, yet treated with contempt and even hate. It should have mattered little to he and his friends how much more understandable and "human" was his hate, for it was hate just the same.

The negative in Ron Corwin should not greatly comfort us, for we should not so easily excuse ourselves. A judgment of his worth and justness need be weighed against our own worth and justness; a half truth is not necessarily the lie. Ron Corwin scared us because he was, basically, as honest as we might have been had we been what we should have been.

Charles V. Cifunisi

Kids

To the Editor:

It seems that Mt. Olympus is the home of children. Don't get me wrong girls-I don't think so-but various members of the Dean of Women's and head resident staff must judge from their actions.

You are all old enough and mature enough to go out on a serious date and have a 1:30 curfew (sometimes). Many of you are mature enough to be thinking of marriage. Someone thinks that you are not mature enough to be unbothered by inconsequential rules.

Take "signing-in." The minute you sign-in you must run off to your floor. Just try to linger in the lobby after signing-in (whether to discuss school work or say goodnight to the guy you are engaged to), slapped with late-minutes or reprimanded like a child will be your reward.

Have you ever tried to remain in the lounge wearing slacks after a certain time? Oh no, that is not allowed, you don't "look ladylike." Do you ask any male that question, and notice his answer.

Why don't some girls try to do something about this situation. Do you, too, consider yourselves children? And so, "Good night sweet princess" and get in before curfew.

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2 February 4, 1964
Editor-in-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor Clayton E. Richards
News Editor Andrew Pottle
Editorial Director Adair Dufine
Sports Editor Bernard MacCallum
Arts Editor Rea Turel
Production Editor Steve Schummer

BUSINESS STAFF

Asst. Bus. Mgr. Jon Weisberg
Circulation Mgr. Martha Johanski
Editorial Asst. Lynn Mendel
Classified Mgr. Christine Sedzak
Promotion Mgr. Stu Shapiro

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 200 Brooklyn Drive, Fayetteville, New York. Printed at Student Class Mailer, 101 S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

TREVER ON CAMPUS

A FALL IN OLYMPIC UNIVERSITY HAS BEEN TREATING ITS FRESHMEN TO AN INTELLECTUAL RENAISSANCE. AS TO THE GREEK WORLD AT L.O.U., HOWEVER, THE FROSH MIGHT AS WELL BE IN THE DARK AGES. THESE YOUNG INNOCENTS ARE CAREFULLY PROTECTED FROM ANY NAUGHTY GREEK-ROW INFLUENCES (OR IS IT VICE VERSA?) BY A PLOT CALLED DEFERRED RUSH. THOSE SURVIVING THE FIRST-SEMESTER GAUNTLET (LOOK AROUND - YOU'RE BOUND TO SEE ONE OR TWO) ARE REWARDED WITH THE RACE-RACE CALLED "BATTLE OF THE BLIZZARDS," IE. RUSHING.

WHILE I.F.C. CONFUSES E.M.
THOSE FROM K-MI WHO ARE LEFT-HANDED AND BORN UNDER THE SIGN OF TAURUS WILL RUSH GROUP Q. THOSE OVER 5-FOOT-0 INCHES AND...

PANEL ABUSES E.M.
UNIFORM COKE PARTIES OF 8-11 MINUTES AT ALL 26 HOUSES, WEARING HEELS AND SEPARATES COSTING NO MORE THAN $29.95...

NATURALLY THIS IS A TIME OF GREAT EXPECTATION AMONG GREEKS
O, THROBING ECSTASY!
RUSH TONITE

AND FROSH ALIKE.
HEY! WHERE Y'GON?
WE GOTTA RUSH!
TO, GAT!
RUSH??

Parenthesis

The Mouths of Babes

by Jay Zelermeyer

There exists in this city an organization known as the Syracuse Musical Drama Company, and, after viewing its most recent production, I felt it my duty not to compose a review.

To have done so would have been but cold and cruel and without much point, so with little difficulty, I managed to absent myself from the typewriter. I say this not because I am going to review the show in this space, but only to indicate my shock at the glowing reviews which subsequently appeared in each of the local newspapers.

The best part of the show occurred not during the intermissions, as I had suspected, but actually on stage between 8:30 and 11:45.

But this was not the first time I, and others, have been surprised by the "critical" meanderings of the people downtown. In fact, going only by their reviews, Syracuse, thus far, has had a better season this year than both Broadway and Off-Broadway combined. Let those New Yorkers come up here for a while. We'll show them what good theatre is really like.

I do not mean to make totally light of the offerings to be found here; on the contrary. We have had, during recent years, some very fine productions, in both content and performance.

But certainly not all of them are great. Let us not call all of them great, merely because, well, this is Syracuse and we are Syracusans, and well . . .

It hurts both the hearts and the pocketbooks of those involved with the better productions to read some of the local writings. After radiating nothing but warmth over an infantile "carousel," and quivering at the mere mention of the name "Brecht," what is left to be said about the real superiority of this year's "Fantasticks" or last year's "Little Mary Sunshine."

We in Syracuse have been blessed with a drama department which is active, which is growing, and which, at the very least, is capable of putting together shows which are smooth and mechanically well done.

We have also been blessed with a city in which everyone wants to get into the act, or at least, up on the stage, in an attempt to do something artistically worthwhile.

Well, let us be proud and happy to have both. And let us encourage both. But let us also be aware of the responsibilities involved. We have a duty, both to ourselves and to the would-be artists, not to become so slovenly in our thinking and our criticism, that we call every show wonderful and tell every twelve year old that he (or she) is ready for Broadway.

We must be both perceptive and honest in our appraisal and appreciation of these efforts, for anything that is less is less than art and anything close to it. We must be willing to praise but if anything must characterize our apprenticeship in the arts, it must be perception and honesty. Anything less is disaster.

Boar's Head Initiates Six

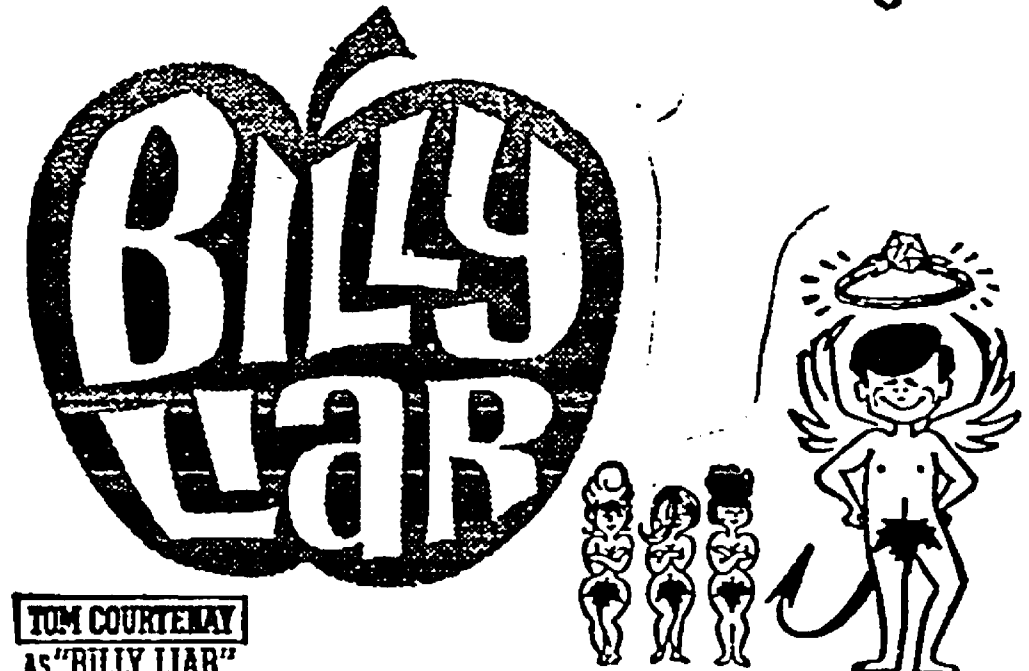

Boar's Head, the dramatic honorary, initiated six new members last Sunday. The newly initiated are: Edye Comins, Loraine Siegel, Jack Suesse, Holly Hinek, Nanci Fried and Mary Kaufman.

New officers were also elected at the meeting Sunday night. They are Richard Folmer, president; Jean Stitzenberger, vice-president; Gretchen Smith, recording secretary; Loraine Siegel, corresponding secretary; and Leslie Meek, treasurer.

W A E R
88.3 mc

TUESDAYS
4:00 Sign On, News.
4:15 WAER Highlights
4:15 Experiment in Music
Germany Today
6:15 Communicate
6:00 Germany Today
6:30 Dan Stone and the News
6:45 Smoke?/Position Paper
7:00 Maxwell Comments
7:30 Georgetown Forum
8:10 Score
8:30 The 8:30 Report
8:35 Choral Concert

one guy... three girls... one ring!... Paradise?

BILLY LIAR

TOM COURTEMAY
AS "BILLY LIAR"

with JULIE CHRISTIE. Screenplay by KEITH WATERHOUSE and WILLIS HALL. Based on the novel and play "BILLY LIAR" created by JOHN SCHLESINGER. A JOSEPH JANTZI PRODUCTION. A WALTER READE-STERLING PRESENTATION

PLUS
"THE IMPERSONATOR"
Riviera CINEMA
3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. • GR 8-4021

The Syracuse University Film Society

The formation of a film society can be an important step toward a better understanding of the history of the motion picture and the social and technical aspects of this new art.

The first film program of this new society will be THE CLOWNS. It will feature some of the outstanding visual comics of the movies, including Chaplin, Keaton, Lloyd, Turpin, The Marx Brothers, and Laurel and Hardy.

Six programs will be presented beginning February 5, 1964, in Kittredge Auditorium, H. B. Crouse Building, Syracuse University. All programs will begin at 8:15 p.m.

Membership will entitle each person to admittance to all six programs. No single admissions will be sold and no one will be allowed to attend programs without a membership card. At the conclusion of the series, a full set of notes on each program will be sent to each member.

Here then is a series devoted to what is probably the most outstanding collection of comic talent ever to grace the screen of any country. You don't want to miss your opportunity. Membership will be limited to 150.

Join now, don't be disappointed. Membership fee $5.00

THE CLOWNS

Program I — February 5, 1964 — SILENCE AND SIGHT GAGS
Charlie Chaplin, Harold Lloyd and Laurel and Hardy.

Program II — February 19, 1964 — PRATFALLS TO PERFECTION
Buster Keaton and Ben Turpin.

Program III — March 4, 1964 — THE UNSINKABLE OPTIMIST
Harold Lloyd, Harry Langdon and others.

Program IV — March 18, 1964 — TWO DERBIES AND A TALL SILK HAT
Laurel and Hardy, Raymond Griffith and Mack Swain.

Program V — April 8, 1964 — SOUND SHENANIGANS AND THE BROTHERS
MARK

Program VI — April 22, 1964 — CHAPLIN ALONE
An evening with Charles Chaplin . . .

FACULTY ADVISOR DR. JOHN DRISCOLL
PROGRAM CONSULTANT DAVID SHEPHERD
PROGRAM CO-ORDINATOR ROBERT BERGERON

Tickets may be purchased at University Regent Theatre, Phone: GR 6-4536

Tuesday
Evenings
Two Showings
7 and 9 p.m.

University
REGENT
Theatre

820 EAST GENESEE

TONIGHT

Shakespeare
Film Series

"RICHARD III"

(Great Britain)

Tickets:

Single 75c, Series $1.50

MON - FEB. 10

8:30 P. M.

Circle-in-the-Square presents

Six Characters In Search Of An Author

N. Y. Direction by Wm. Ball

Tickets: $3.00, 2.50, 2.00

Reservations, 476-4536

UNIVERSITY REGENT
THEATRE

Daily Crossword Puzzle

ACROSS

1 Means of getting home fast
5 Ingenious.
10 Stern's opposite
14 Shawm.
15 Indonesian island.
16 A Gardner.
17 Data: 2 words.
20 Board the Chief.
21 "— anyone?"
22 Massachusetts cape.
23 Colanders.
25 Certain Egyptians.
28 Marsh.
29 Spring up.
32 Italian silver.
33 Not often.
35 Overturn.
36 Eastern name.
37 "Sing me —.": 2 words.
38 Indian.
39 In — (against the thing): Lat.
40 Destine.
41 Trampled.
42 Paper for wrapping.
44 Craft.
45 He wrote "Home, Sweet Home."
46 Threshes.

DOWN

48 Arrive: Abbr.
49 Begone!, in Shakespeare's day.
51 Mock.
55 Data: 3 words.
58 French man's name.
59 Inclines.
60 Authorization.
61 Do a gardening job.
62 Certain Hindus.
63 Prophet of Nchemiah's time.

19 Renovate.
23 Best —.
24 Start a new paragraph.
25 Supreme Court justice.
26 Tanker.
27 A type of evidence: 2 words.
28 Gay.
30 Repress: Colloq.: 2 words.
31 Lyric.
33 Familiar form of address.
34 A great dictionary: Abbr.
37 Giants.
41 A hypocrite, from Moliere's satire.
43 Grooved, as a column.
45 Smug one.
47 Member of NATO.
48 Wrong.
49 Quite — (a good many): 2 words.
50 Latin farewell.
51 African enclave, Spanish colony.
52 Arizona: Abbr.
53 Saline drop.
54 This: Span.
56 Recent: Comb. form.
57 U. N. name.

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14				15					16
17				18					19
20								21
			22			23	24
25	26	27				28			29		30	31
32					33			34			35
36					37						38
39					40						41
42			43			44			45
		46			47			48
49	50						51				52	53
54						56	57
58					59					60
61					62					63

$$$ Flow By Maxwell

(continued from page 1) Burke, trains graduate students in many phases of East African affairs, utilizing the departments of economics, geography, history, political science, sociology-anthropology in the Maxwell School.

The Kenya Institute of Administrative Staff College are aided by the Maxwell School and Ford Foundation grants of $197,911 and $731,150 respectively. The Maxwell School has a contract with the Agency for International Development the Kenya Institute ministration and the Pakistan to speed the Africanization of the Kenya civil service.

The South Asian Studies program, from a Ford grant of $175,000 and a South Asian chair with a grant of $150,000, are administered by Prof. Oliver Clubb. Fifteen courses on South Asian affairs are given in various departments, and new acquisitions about South Asia are being added to the Syracuse library.

One of Maxwell's newest graduate programs is the Master of International Public Administration, currently being run in India. Students work closely with the U.S. Dept. of State there, which has sponsored a $92,398 grant. The Ford Foundation has also given $250,000 to the program.

An extensive program in cross-cultural research, sponsored by a Ford grant of $420,000 is nearing an end. The research has included work in such areas as East Africa, development administration of underdeveloped countries, organization and management improvement in the governments of underdeveloped countries, a special field project in Nyasaland.

Directed by Prof. Gerard Mangone, an International Organization Research Program is investigating ways to strengthen and expand both teaching and research facilities in the fields of international law, administration, and organizations. This program, sponsored by a Ford Foundation $240,000 grant, is in cooperation with the College of Law.

The Agency for International Development has given the Maxwell School $355,475 to study technical assistance programs in 30 countries.

On the national level, a Metropolitan Finance Study is sponsored by a $70,000 Brookings Institution grant. The Federal Aviation Agency donates $20,000 for midcareer training of its workers, and NASA (National Aeronautical and Space Administration) grants $123,000.

Bible Lecture Series Offered

A lecture series on Biblical Christianity, sponsored by the Syracuse Chapter of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship begins at 4 p.m. today in 221 Maxwell Hall.

The Rev. Donald A. Miller, minister of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church in Syracuse, will deliver the series. Miller is a graduate of Nyack Missionary College and Taylor University.

The lectures, based on the first eight chapters of the New Testament letter of Paul to the Christians in Rome, will be given for eight consecutive weeks. A discussion period will follow each lecture.

PATRONIZE
LOCAL MERCHANTS

Rushes Get Formal Bids

All freshman fraternity rush-ees must be in their dormitory rooms 7-8 p.m. Wednesday to receive bids for formal rushing, according to Art Perschetz (Phi Epsilon Pi) and Fred Boehner (Lambda Chi Alpha) Inter-Fraternity Council rushing chairmen.

City students will be contacted by phone at the same time concerning rushing bids.

Perschetz also said that all fraternity men must be out of freshman dormitories by 8 p.m. IFC representatives will check the dormitories, it was announced.

The chairmen also announced that a representative of IFC will be present at each house ing to make sure that time limits are observed.

Freshmen who receive less than three bids may only rush at assigned times and in assigned groups. No rushee may visit a house for more than one hour daily.

Rushing times are 5:30 - 8:30 p.m. Friday, 12:30 - 3:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Series assignments will be announced in Friday's Daily Orange so that rushees may complete their orange cards. Fraternities may pick up formal rush bids today at the dean of men's office.

TO MEET TODAY

The junior class executive council will meet at 9 p.m. today in the student government office in the basement of Marion Hall.

The group will discuss plans for the Winter Weekend concert by the New Christy Minstrels, as well as locations for selling the Orange Aid.

CANTATE

Records

NOW
IN STOCK

Complete CANTATE Catalog

Lowest Prices Ever

List	Our Price
6.95	4.65
5.95	3.99
4.95	3.32

CANTATE
Bach-Studio

ALSO

See Our Large Selection of Deutsche-Grammophone and Archive Recordings

Grow with Us

At Xerox, you become a part of one of America's fastest growing corporations; a dynamic, well established company which is a world leader in the exciting and expanding field of graphic communications. More than 85% commercially oriented, Xerox enjoys constantly increasing operating revenues with which it can explore dramatic new applications of electricity and light. For example:

- ☐ Total operating revenues for the first nine months of 1963 reached $116,100,443; up 56% from 1962.
- ☐ Expenditures for research and engineering ($5 million in 1961; $13.5 million budgeted for 1963) have kept pace in a program of planned growth extending far into the future.

In five years, the number of Xerox employees has grown from 1500 to more than 6000, and it's constantly gaining momentum. Such a growth pattern constantly creates key job opportunities in many technical and non-technical areas, for applicants with exceptional abilities.

Many facets of our growth include:

- ☐ 157 new products marketed since 1950.
- ☐ 47 new patents were issued in 1962 alone.
- ☐ A new manufacturing and research complex situated on 1,000 acres of campus-like setting to which more than 800,000 square feet of modern facilities have been added since 1956.

Among the exciting projects presently underway within the broad discipline of graphic communications are:

- ☐ Information storage and retrieval systems
- ☐ Information transmission
- ☐ New product concepts in the medium of electro-photographic copying equipment

If you would like the satisfaction and challenge of working for such a company . . . and have the potential and desire to grow . . . there's a place and a future for you at Xerox. Opportunities exist in the following areas:

- ☐ Research and engineering
- ☐ Finance
- ☐ Manufacturing
- ☐ Marketing
- ☐ Control

Contact your placement office to arrange an interview with a Xerox representative who will be on your campus . . .

February 11, 27

or, write: Xerox Corporation • Dept. 64 • College Relations
Box 1540 • Rochester 4, N. Y.

XEROX
an equal opportunity employer

SKI-FARING

with JON WEISBERG

While the clouds over Innsbruck, Austria, are appearing dull for the United States, the clouds over Central New York State are filled with snow and festivity. This past weekend, all of the areas in the vicinity boasted at least good skiing (and some of them were not lying!). Although skiing was good, there was an abundance of ice. Remember, if you stay to the sides of the trails, you will encounter less ice and boilerplate.

Having had a damp beginning on Saturday, the first Syracuse WINTERFEST is well under way. Designed to put Central New York State in the limelight with other areas, the Winterfest is featuring a queen, a float parade, torchlight skiing, races (ski and dog sled). Skinoeing (racing aluminum canoes down ski slopes), Jumping events, hockey games, and many more attractions. The official Winterfest Program may be purchased at most of the local ski slopes for 50c, or by sending 60c to the Onondaga Ski Club, Box 91, Syracuse. In this program, you will find half price ski lift and hockey coupons for six of the eight areas surrounding Syracuse.

This is the time of year when skiers begin to recognize their faults and correct them by gathering at the sound of the ski school bell. All of the areas around Syracuse have ski schools which cater to all classes of skiers; from beginner to expert. Bud Slack, the director of the SONG MOUNTAIN Ski School, has informed me that three of his fifteen instructors have their U.S.E.A.S.E. certifications. The Rudi Kuersteiner Ski School at SNOW RIDGE offers 25 instructors to serve you. As well as the excellent ski school to be found there, Sno Ridge has a variety of slopes to suit most skiers. Take it from me, the hour-and-a-half drive to get there is well rewarded by the slopes and abundance of snow.

Our own Skytop Ski Area has not been blessed with the snow which has covered much of the surrounding area. The ski team, therefore, is training in their alpine events at LABRADOR SKI CENTER, in Truxton.

SKI Just Learning or Want to Improve?

YOU NEED SNOW RIDGE
New York State's Largest and Finest Ski School

6
•
4

Lifts

Tows

25 Certified Instructors • Classes Daily for All Abilities
Special Learn-to-Ski Weeks Available
Information: Snow Ridge Box 298-S Boonville, N. Y.

There is Still A Limited Supply of our
SKI PARKAS

Available to Our Clientele
at

20% to 50% OFF

Lunds

SKI SHOP

738 SO. CROUSE
GR 5-7224

Freedom, Equality Linked

By MARLENE CIMONS

"Equality means treating people equally in so far as they are equal," defined Prof. Donald Meiklejohn, speaking before citizenship sections Monday. His topic was "Is Human Equality Self Evident?"

Since the Declaration of Independence in 1776, he said, Americans have affirmed the theories of equality, and since 1776 they have also acted as if they did not believe them at all.

"Why should we treat people equal? Because they are equal. Why are people equal? Because they should be treated equally." Prof. Meiklejohn quoted this as a specific illustration of the present circular definition of equality.

Americans are all for fair play, he said, and our main business is to promote moral enthusiasm. It is our duty to consider how far we promote and how much we run short of equality. Our biggest problem now, according to Meiklejohn, is to decide what policies we should employ to close the gap. "However important equality is," declared Meiklejohn, "it is not the only thing of value. We also highly prize freedom." The two go hand in hand, he said, and it is doubtful we can find our basis in anything else.

One solution is to account to moral experience as expressed in the basic political and moral understanding which has governed relations in our country ever since its beginning.

Meiklejohn posed the questions: "Is the case of equality among Americans self evident, and does man have a purpose, a destiny, a promise to fulfill?" His answer was an emphatic "Yes."

"Every human being has his life to live," he declared, "and we affirm equality of all Americans in their ability to enter into the moral community which is the United States of America."

He expressed the viewpoint that extremist groups, prevalent today, are a grave threat to the establishment of equality since there is no common ground between organizations.

The problem of equality, he said, is a problem of effective public discussion. It is the responsibility of all parties to hold discussion, he explained.

In conclusion, Meiklejohn added, the positive side of equality has to do with the recognition of all Americans. "Equality does not mean treating all alike in every way—only in public life and activity. The private lives of all individuals are their own."

DeWitt Sports Ltd.

SKI SHOP FOR SKIERS BY SKIERS
East Genesee Street at Lyndon Road
Fayetteville GI 6-0460

Open Evenings until 9

KASTLE HART ROFFE
HEAD HENKE MEDICO
SPORTCASTER OBERMEYER

BASKET & RACQUET

107 Marshall Street

475-0912

Open until 9

BEAT NIAGARA

coffee will be served on the slopes courtesy of

Handwritten signature

Ski Song Mountain

OPEN DAILY 10:30-4:30; NIGHTS 7-10:30

WEEKENDS 9:30 - 4:30; NIGHTS 7 - 10:30

CLOSED MONDAYS

Every Wednesday, Syracuse Eastern buses leave Mount Olympus between 6 and 6:10 p. m. Round trip per student is $1. Arrive at Song Mountain at 7 p. m. Leave at 10:30 to arrive at your dormitory in time for curfew.

Enjoy live entertainment every night . . . in the Song Mountain lounge.

Rent boots, skis and poles for $3

$2 lift fee for evening

SONG Mt.

at Tully, N. Y. . . from Syracuse take Route 81 south to Tully traffic light . . . follow the signs right to Song Mountain.

Engineering Money

DR. NORMAN BALABANIAN (standing) and DR. WILBUR E. LEPAGE, project directors, are shown here looking over new electrical engineering equipment.

SU to Assess

(Continued from Page 1)
Journalism building and the Booth Hall site, which will be used for Booth and the new women's dormitory.

In addition, the university design board is at work on plans for a 600-unit, multi-storied garage to handle a majority of parked cars on the campus.

"This would be a six or seven story structure," Latorre noted, "and would be built into the hill in back of the main library. Approximate cost would be $1.2 million—or about $2,000 per car," he added.

Three types of parking facilities are needed for the university's needs, he said. "First is campus parking for students, clerical staff and administrators; second is dormitory parking facilities and third is off-campus sites which can be found in random lots near the Hill."

The proposed rates for students would be used to help the university carry the cost load of the new garages, he said. "Eventually, with the construction of the garages and newer surface lots, a number of the present lots would be eliminated," Latorre said.

Engineering...

(continued from page 1)
he will have use of a mechanized self-evaluatory quiz to see if he is ready for the professor's actual test.

Balabanian and LePage reported "several other institutions have expressed real interest" in the Syracuse project.

Balabanian, a member of the SU faculty since 1949, is author of three text books including two that have been translated into Russian and Czech. He is editor of the Transactions of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers.

LePage is electrical engineering department chairman. Author of three text books, he is chairman of the Committee on Graduate Engineering Education and has written the article on circuit theory in the new Encyclopedia Americana.

Rustin...

(continued from page 1)
ment democracy will decay.

Bailey, who has been dean of the Maxwell Graduate School of Citizenship and Public Affairs since 1961, has an extensive background in educational, political, and administrative positions.

Born in 1916 in Newton, Mass., Bailey received his A.B. in 1937 from Hiram College. He was a Rhodes scholar in 1937-39 which he received a B.A. in 1939 and an A.M. in 1949.

Harvard University awarded Bailey his M.A. in 1953 and his Ph.D. in 1948. He received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from Red College in 1963.

Bailey has taught at Hiram College, Princeton University, Harvard University, and the University of Pennsylvania.

Bailey was chairman of the Connecticut Democratic State Platform Committee in 1959, Mayor of Middletown, Conn., administrative assistant to Sen. William Benton in 1951, and from 1952-54.

He is the author of three books and has co-authored three others.

a particular place for particular skiers...

Mad River Glen

WAITSFIELD • VERMONT

Syracuse Symphony

KARL KRITZ, conductor

WABPS

WORKS BY:

SAT. FEB. 8

Henry Mancini, Johnny Green, Ernest Gold, Miklos Rozsa, Dimitri Tiomkin and others.

MUSIC FROM:

Laura, Gone with the Wind, Spellbound, Never on Sunday, Lawrence of Arabia, Days of Wine and Roses, etc.

TICKETS — $1.50 - $3.50
UNRESERVED — $.75

BERMUDA Spring Vacation

March 28 - April 1

Round Trip and Accommodations only $162 — Montgomery Cottages

$228 — Carleton Beach Hotel

Payment should be made within the next 2 weeks so plan Now!!!

make checks payable to:
Alan Roth 320 Euclid Ave.

for further information contact:

Alan Roth
T.E.P.
GR 2-9436

Chan Rudd
D.U.
GR 5-9048

Syracuse Summer Charter

TO EUROPE

round trip Swiss Air JET for SU students, faculty, employees and their immediate families only.

Returns: Sept. 5th from London

Leaves: June 13th to Paris

ONLY $285

also available:

Special student tour only $775

Our Expert Stylists
Create Hair Styles
That Frame Your Face
With Flattering
Loveliness!

Style Haircut
Shampoo and Style Set } $5.50

Fred
The Hairstylist

GR 4-2487
For Appointment

HOTEL SYRACUSE
522 S. WARREN ST.

IN NEW YORK
18 E. 49th ST.

ARROW holds that tiger

ARROW tamed the collar and let the stripes run wild in this handsome Gordon Dover Club button-down. The buttons are whipped precisely into place to make the collar roll over gently without looking flat and playing dead. The styling is ivy... clean, lean, fully tapered body with back pleat, button and hang loop. Stripes and stripes to choose from and solids, too.

at only $5.00

SU Switchboard - Human?

Did you ever dial a number on the university extension, only to find that "something was wrong" with the phone, and all you got was a steady Buzz...BUZZ?

If you have, then you've found that the university switchboard is almost human, when it gets overworked, it balks and sometimes breaks down.

The switchboard, which occupies a large part of the basement of Sims Hall, is a giant complex of wires and metal and cords. It looks like a colorful dish of organized spaghetti.

In charge of the switchboard is Supervisor Mrs. Muriel Day, who organizes her staff of seven who man the wires and operate the 70 university lines.

And the system is efficient, for each of the four operators can handle 14 calls a minute including those "crackpot" calls.

One of the favorite jokes among the operators is the sweet voice of the operator who seems most in demand. She gets date requests from unseen admirers who may never realize that she's been a grandmother several times over.

Perhaps the oddest job given these operators by students who call into the university is that of private sleuth. For they call and ask for John-I-don't-know-his-last-name, and describe John and tell the operators what class he's in and expect them to connect them with John.

In one case, the operator listened politely and then told the voice on the other end of the line that she couldn't find out who worked at the Fieldhouse and drove a maroon Studebaker.

A pet peeve of the women and men who work the switchboard is the individual who calls for information. "Most of the time," Mrs. Day commented, "These people have access to the directories and are too lazy to look up the numbers themselves."

"University"

"No madam I can't reach your son Irving, I'm sorry I have to have more than a first name." — "Yes young man I am busy Friday night and I don't do the monkey."

The all-time high for these informational calls is 180 in an hour.

The problems of the operator are many, so when you make a call and run into some snags, remember that the operators are only human, and that the telephone equipment, as modern as it is, is as temperamental as a cat.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE
COWPER	TAMPA
OPATE	CERBERUS
LENDER	ALIENATE
ORT	SULLIED	GUN
REEF	MOLAR	HUMS
STROP	VAS	KEENE
TENACES	ERR
ADDED	FRIEND
ALE	MINSTER
CLANS	FOR	SINAR
HUNT	PORES	CAGE
EGG	FARADIC	TOV
EGOTISTS	TOCOME
PELLISSES	ETUDES
DANTE	SEDENT

Portraiture
at Its Best

SARKIN
Photo Studios
GR 8-1145
908 Irving Ave.

TODAY
4 p.m., JSL Steering Committee, Joint Student Government office.
4 p.m., WAA dance technique, studio.
4 p.m., WAA competitive swimming, pool.
7 p.m., Panhellenic Council, 305-6, Women's Bldg.
WEDNESDAY
7:30 p.m., Joint Student Legislature Maxwell Aud.

GENERAL FOODS CORPORATION announces

campus interviews

Tuesday, February 11

A wide variety of outstanding career opportunities are available at General Foods, a leader in the food industry, our nation's largest business—developing, producing and marketing packaged grocery products.

Consult your Placement Officer for further information about our visit to your campus—and be sure to review the General Foods brochure...you'll find it most interesting.

GENERAL FOODS CORPORATION
250 North Street, White Plains, N.Y.

Maxwell House Coffee • Jell-O Desserts • Post Cereals
• Birds Eye Frozen Foods • and many other fine products

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

SU Group Joins DC March

Several Syracuse University students will join groups from New York State colleges and universities Thursday in "The First College and University March on Washington."

The march, sponsored by the Civil Rights Committee at Cornell University, concerns the civil rights bill which is scheduled to come to the floor of the House of Representatives.

The group has no connection with other civil rights groups.

In connection with this bill, Methodist Chaplain Rev. Vernon Bigler has written to the local representative to the House and the two New York State senators as well as Sen. Hubert Humphrey Minn., chairman of the committee which has presented the "compromise" bill.

Rev. Bigler said he asked those men for "support of the present bill and defeat of any proposed amendment designed to cripple it."

He received replies from Congressman R. Walter Rishman, Sen. Jacob A. Javits and Sen. Kenneth Keating indicating support.

for the bill.

The Methodist Student Fellowship and the United Campus Christian Fellowship have endorsed the bill, he added. He noted that the Methodist bishop for Central New York had urged all ministers and their congregations to support passage of the bill.

Any students still interested in participating in the march should contact Patricia Howland, march co-ordinator, at ext. 2011 or in Hendricks Chapel.

Maxwell...

est cities have the most complex and difficult fiscal problems."

The Carnegie grant brings to more than $4.5 million awarded the Maxwell School from various sources for studies in the past three years. It is the 12th major grant in this period.

BEAT NIAGARA

Edward Hommel and sons

DISPENSING OPTICIANS

604 STATE TOWER BUILDING SYRACUSE 2, NEW YORK

EYE GLASSES — CONTACT LENSES — REPAIRS

STUDENT TRAVEL TO EUROPE (For Less)

INFORMATION NIGHT on STUDENT TRAVEL in EUROPE

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 5, at 6:45 p.m. — SHAW HALL basement

ALL STUDENTS ARE WELCOME

Information on: Youth Hostels, Student Hostels, Camps, Universities, Summer Study Programs, Special Student Sailings, Group Flights, Regular Flights, etc.

It is the purpose of the INFORMATION NIGHT to make available to students any kind of information which will make their trip to Europe more meaningful and less expensive.

Questions will be answered by European Student Guides and by a Representative of an Official Travel Agency. (Please bring paper and pencil.)

A short film on Europe will be shown.

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	$.85
2 days	1.65
4 days	3.15
3 days	2.40
5 days	3.85
7 days	5.20
6 days	4.55
8 days	5.85
9 days	6.45
10 days	7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS. automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Acad., GR 6-5918.

LOST — on or about 2:00 P.M. Thursday, Jan. 24, One MINOX camera, 47 mm, silver-colored, in Men's room of Main Library building (Carnegie Library). Please turn in to Lost and Found of 325, Orange will pay reward of $25.

GREYHOUND TICKETS, schedules, information, bus and air charters. Hotel reservations, foreign tours. FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC. in the Savoy, Monday-Friday 1-4; Thursday night 7-9. 474-8533.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired, Rented, Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 6-5533, SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

AUTO DRIVING — Learn before Summer

Featured for college students, 5 lesson course, Sullivan's School, HO 3-3451

FOR SALE

SORORITIES — FRATERNITIES! For rushing, Greek letter matches, napkins in proper colors. Napkins to order — many matches in stock. Name tags, pins, place cards, cardies, pledge ribbons. Booktail.

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of 4 colors of paper, 3 colors of ink 2 sizes of sheets. Booktail.

FREE SOLDERING. All charms, boughs, beads, Charms, jewelry, jewelry, watch repair. Greeting cards. Personalized stationery. Valentine cards and cards. Riviera singleness for men and women. Ruth's Gifts, 734 S. Orange, Syracuse, N.Y. 13202. (474-8533).

1952 RAMBLER AMBASSADOR V-8, 4 door sedan. Automatic transmission. Power brakes, power steering, reclining seats, snow tires, heater, many other extras. Perfect condition. Driven only 16,000 miles. Only $17,950. M. W. Johnson, 210 Lemon Hill.

WANTED

EXPERIENCE TYPIST. Part time or full time employment. Open Transportation Processors, Alter S. Call OW 9-2829.

PART TIME MALE JEM PROOF machine operator. 5:00 A.M. to 9:00 A.M. Monday thru Friday. Downtown location. Apply Personnel Dept., Marine Midland Trust Co., 344 S. Warren St.

MEN — We need four or five men on a part-time basis from now till final. Excellent income and experience. Call 472-6356.

WAITERS and KITCHEN HELP wanted for fraternities. Call GR 5-5920. Ask for Curly Monday thru Thurs.

FRESHMAN AND SOPHOMORES to work as projectionists for Video Visual Service. Training provided. Apply 121 College Place, ex. 2631.

STUDENT FOR PAGE WORK. Monday thru Friday mornings. U.S. Citizenship required. Mrs. L. J. J. Syracuse Public Library. GR 4-5321.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students. APARTMENTS FOR RENT. One, two, three and four rooms. Call 445-2777 for appointment.

UNIVERSITY MALE grad student of instruction to share conversation and study with two other grad students. Park Ave. 100, 475-7537. GI 6-0147.

TWO BLOCKS FROM FIELDHOUSE, 225 Lawrence Ave. Modern 4-room, two bath, 2 bedrooms. Large closets, brick built, central heating and air conditioning, window blind room and kitchen, separate tile bath, private parking area on lot. Available immediately. $175. N.Y. 4-0297, GR 6-1475.

ROOM for rent. Girl student — private home. Kitchen privileges. GR 2-3878.

UNIVERSITY SECTION. 3 rooms, refrigerator and stove, private and public baths. GR 2-4962.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models, also sales and service. Special student rates. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

TYPING IN MY HOME. 12 years experience. Reasonable rates. Call 455-6971 any time.

EXPERT TYPING. Theses, theses, term papers. 455-0141, after 6 p.m.

Sideline Views

By BERNIE MacCALLUM
Sports Editor

Sam Penceal — a man with a mission. The 6-3 Syracuse sophomore has been given a unique speciality by Coach Fred Lewis. When the Orangemen play a team that has one outstanding scorer which they rely heavily on, Penceal draws the defensive task of guarding the "Big Gun."

He has been given this assignment, and thus a starting berth, three times this season.

Sam mixed it up with the nation's number two scorer Bill Bradley of Princeton in the Hurricane Classic. Penceal stuck to him like ski pants to a coed in holding the Ivy League gunner to 17 points. Bradley is now averaging 32.9 points a game.

Sober Sam's Miami defensive antics were a major part in the Orangemen winning the Hurricane Tournament.

Frank Corace of LaSalle was Sam's next target. The Explorer Ace was held to six points by Penceal. Corace is now averaging 25.2 per game.

Sam's last outing was successful after a TKO in the first quarter. Penceal was covering Manhattan's Larry Lembo in the fieldhouse Saturday when Lembo strolled into one of Sam's elbows and was carried from the court.

Penceal's next job will be to try and hold down Pitt's Brian Generalovich Friday. Niagara has a balanced scoring attack so Sam's defensive prowess will not be needed.

When Penceal is working at his specialty the Orangemen play what Lewis calls a "dog box" zone with Penceal floating, playing his foe man to man. A variation of this is the diamond zone, again with Penceal man to man.

The former Boys High Star will be replaced in the starting lineup against Niagara by either Phil Schoff or Frank Nicoletti.

Lewis pointed out that "Niagara started the season like a house a fire, and has since hit the skids." The Eagles are the only team to have beaten Villanova this season.

The Purple Eagles have a very decisive home court advantage with students sitting right on the court's edge, a practice which wouldn't hurt in our own fieldhouse. In addition to helping the team, some spectators might not need field glasses to see play from the student section.

The space between student seats and the track does nothing but cause dust and could be put to better use.

So the Orangemen, 9-5, will be hoping Niagara Falls Wednesday night when they will play before close to 4,500.

The toughest home contest for Bill Orange will be Friday night when Pittsburgh visits Manley Field House.

Gymnasts Lose

By TOM MULLER

Army emerged as the surviving Eastern gymnastics titan with a 169.4-156.15 victory over Syracuse in a battle of unbeaten teams Saturday. The meet was held at West Point.

The Cadets and Orangemen battled to a tie in the top places, but Army showed greater team strength in the lower places and eked out the victory. It was the fifth win in a row for Army and snapped a two-year Orange win streak.

Junior Sid Oglesby paced the Piety with a win in the long horse vaulting, second place finishes on the parallel bars and in the floor exercise, and a fifth place finish on the side horse.

Captain Carl Poplar won the League.

parallel bars event and placed second on the still rings, while on "Spike" Meury captured the side horse title.

Ken Slutzky, brother of Syracuse wrestler Dick Slutzky, paced Army with a score of 9.4 on the high bar. Bob Wolff and Howie Pontuck won the still rings and floor exercise events respectively for Army.

The Cadets took a commanding lead with first and second place finishes on the high bar and were never headed. Both West Point performers passed the 9.0 mark in that event.

Coach Paul Romeo's Orangemen return home to face Springfield in Archbold gym this Saturday. Springfield is the most recent entry in the Eastern Intercollegiate Gymnastics

BOB THORENSEN

Orange Skiers Place Second In Army Meet

By NEIL KERR

Led by Chal Lyons, Bob Thorenson and Captain Dave Menotti, the Syracuse University skiing team finished second at the West Point winter carnival last weekend.

With a field of 11 schools competing, the Orange skiers took first place in the giant slalom, second in the slalom, third in the jumping and last in cross-country.

In spite of the Orange's poor showing in cross-country, coach Elt Fairbank was well pleased with the results. He noted that Even Tullberg, Syracuse's top performer in the cross-country event, had been ill earlier in the week and was not up to par for the meet.

In the giant slalom event, Lyons took second, Thorenson third and Menotti sixth.

In addition Thorenson finished second in the slalom and Bob Bryant and Lyons finished seventh and ninth respectively in the jumping competition.

Relay Squad Wins And Places Third

By JEFF LAZAR

With every passing day the Syracuse University edition of the mile relay track team is getting better and better.

Last week the harriers were put to a severe test in the Millrose Games held at Madison Square Garden. Exams and intersession had put a serious cramp in the practice schedule and it was doubtful of the outcome.

The Orangemen turned in a surprising performance by coping first in their heat with a time of 3:22.3. It was Cal Evans running the anchor lap who pulled ahead of the Iona man and nipped him by three yards.

It was mainly a two team race as Syracuse maintained their lead over St. John's and Harvard. The Redmen and the Indians finished third and fourth ten and twenty yards behind Iona respectively.

Coach Bob Grieve experimented using a different team than the one he used at the Knights of Columbus Meet unsuccessfully two weeks ago. Tom Higgins and Evans were the only ones Grieve held over for the relay event at the Garden. Ron Bukow and Charlie Brown filled out the team.

Brown ran the first leg in a creditable time of 51.4; Bukow followed with a time of 51.1; Higgins stepped up the pace to 50.6; and Evans finished in 49.2.

The team traveled to Boston for the second time in two weeks and again wound up in third place in a field of four.

Eagles Slump To 6-6 Record

Niagara University, S.U.'s Wednesday night hoop opponent is in a slump. In fact the low-flying Purple Eagles haven't won a game in three weeks.

However, the boys from the Falls shouldn't be underrated, mainly because they're playing at home.

And if Syracuse fans will remember, Niagara failed to treat its Orange guests too friendly last season in the Student Center. The Eagles toppled the Piety five by 82-61 after Syracuse had upset Niagara earlier at Manley Field House.

The Eagles opened the current campaign with a bang, jumping off to a 5-2 mark before dropping six of their last seven decisions.

Saturday night, St. John's, an Orange conqueror this season, smashed Niagara, 83-67.

The most impressive Niagara victory this year was a 63-57 triumph over highly-rated Villanova, no. 1 club in the East.

Pacing the offensive attack for the Purple Eagles are rookie center George Phillips at 15 points-per-game and senior captain Jim Kuryak at 13 ppg. Other Niagara players in twin figures include sophomores Art Coleman and Pat Broderick, both averaging over 11 points a contest.

INTRAS TODAY'S SCHEDULE

Basketball
7:00 — Booth 5 vs. Watson
W 0; Kimmell 1 vs. Sadler 5;
Booth 7 vs. Kimmell 2.

7:45 — Marion 2 vs. Sadler 6;
Cleveland vs. Marshall; Sigma Alpha Mu vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon.
8:30 — Tau Delta Phi vs. Phi Delta Theta; Lambda Chi Alpha vs. Phi Sigma Delta; Alpha Tau Omega vs. Phi Kappa Psi.

Bowling
6:15 — Watson W 1 vs. Booth
1 (1-2); Marion 1 vs. Sadler (3-4);
Hungerford vs. DellPlain 2 (5-6).

8:30 — Watson Es vs. Marion 3 (1-2); Sims 3 vs. DellPlain 7 (3-4); Sibley vs. Watson E 3 (5-6).

Parallel Bars

SID OGLESBY, Orange all-around, gymnast, practises his parallel bar routine in preparation for Saturday's Eastern Intercollegiate Gymnastics League tilt against Springfield. Oglesby won the long horse vaulting competition in last weekend's loss to Army and placed in three other events.

Students Lost on Mt. Wash

DAILY ORANGE

Vol. 61, No. 65

Syracuse, N. Y., Wednesday, February 5, 1964

8 Pages 10 Cents

JSG to Seek Change In SU Grading System

By CHARLES M. STEINBERG
Associate Editor

"Student government will launch a concerted effort to have the SU grading system changed," JSG President James Morris has announced.

At today's Joint Student Legislature meeting a resolution will be introduced proposing student opinion as strongly supporting a change and urging faculty and administration action, Morris said.

The resolution will ask for adoption of the modifications as proposed in the Daily Orange Monday: 2½ grade points would be given for a B plus, 1½ points for a C plus, and ½ point for D plus.

"Now is the time to consolidate student opinion," Morris said. Student government has been attempting to see the grading system changed for several years, he noted, but has been unable to effectively mobilize student and faculty opinion.

Student government will soon circulate petitions calling for adoption of the modified grading system and possibly a referendum on the issue would be held in conjunction with the annual spring student elections, Morris indicated.

The most important factor in getting the system changed, Morris emphasized, will be the faculty. "We will have to find sympathetic friends among the faculty."

In addition to the weaknesses of the present system as detailed in the Daily Orange Monday, Morris added that there is an inherent lack of incentive in the present system. "Students often enter a final exam with no possibility of attaining the next highest grade, and little likelihood of dropping a grade," he said.

Morris has been consulting with SU administrators on changing the grading system over the past several years. He said Vice President for Academic Affairs Frank Piskor told him that he would be "receptive" to the change if JSG could first "prove" that the student body was in favor of the change.

Piskor reportedly also not-(See JSG, Page 4)

Student Opinion

Curfew: Pros and Cons

By DAVID SOSNA

Friday night curfew for all coeds will be 1 a.m. beginning this Friday. It's surprising how an extra half hour of freedom can elicit so much comment.

Dale Roseman ('67) thinks "It's great." This was the normal reaction, but some felt that the curfew was not late enough, others felt it was fine. One professor even felt that "they should all be in by twelve o'clock."

Some students said this curfew is "too little, too late" and the university should test a no-limit curfew. Diane Hoffman ('66) said, "By the time you come to college, you should be able to be put on your own. The university should try no curfew at all and see if it works."

Not only do some students consider the extension late in coming, but some also feel that the half hour difference is insignificant. "If they (the girls) are going to get in trouble, they can do it early or late. It won't matter," said Gilbert Strausman ('67).

Cynthia Davis, a Day 5 head resident, said "A half hour here or there won't make any difference. As long as it makes the girls happy."

Many students feel that the curfews should be extended even more. Susan Ergang ('66) said, "I think they should extend big weekends to 3 p.m. or so. One a.m. for Fridays is o.k. but Saturday should be longer." Marcia Hughes disagrees: "I think we might as well have 1:30 curfew on Fridays if we have them on Saturday."

The girls, however, feel that curfews are necessary. Judy Sobol, a freshman, said "I think you need a curfew. 3 a.m. for a big weekend is o.k. but 4 a.m. is unnecessary." A head resident said, "Curfews are definitely needed. It gives the girls structure and prepares them for the working world."

Litwin to Talk At JSL Today

Joint Student Legislature Speaker Jay Litwin will discuss student points of concern on university life at the JSL meeting, 7:30 p.m. today in Maxwell Auditorium.

Also under discussion will be an evaluation of courses and a preview of the spring mock conventions.

Attendance for each fraternity is required. Litwin said representatives would be excused from rush by the InterFraternity Council.

He said all freshmen waiting for fraternity bids were urged to go to JSL as soon as possible. If the freshmen are not in their rooms, they will be excused by IFC to attend JSL, Litwin said.

Litwin reminded all students that JSL meetings are open to anyone interested in attending.

Copland to Receive Honorary Doctorate, Conduct Concert

Aaron Copland, the noted composer, who will receive an honorary doctor of humane letters from Syracuse University, will also conduct a concert at 8:30 p.m., Thursday at Crouse Auditorium.

The program is being presented by the Syracuse Friends of Chamber Music, Inc. Copland will conduct Bachs "Brandenburg Concerto No. 3," and his own "Nonet for Strings" which was written in 1960.

The composer will perform on the piano "Set of Old American Songs," composed by himself. Daniel Walsh, baritone, and SU instructor of voice, will sing.

Following, there will be a discussion, led by Copland on "The American Scene."

This marks the second concert that Copland has given here, the last one being for the Festival of the Arts in 1959.

Tickets may be purchased for $2.50 from the Clark Music Company and from the School of Music Office. Student tickets for $1 are also available.

AARON COPELAND

Winds, Cold Hamper Search

By CLAY RICHARDS
Managing Editor

The search for four SU students continues up the side of wind-swept Mt. Washington today. Winds between 70 and 100 miles per hour, combined with below zero temperatures increased concern for the quartet, who were supposed to return from the New York Hampshire mountain early Monday morning.

The four are identified as:
Peter Bradford, 25, of 315 Fellows Ave., Syracuse a junior in the College of Liberal Arts.

Peter F. Catelli, 19, of the Grover Cleveland, a junior in the State Forestry College at Syracuse, whose home is at Rouses's point.

Craig L. Fournier, 18, of Watson Hall, a Forestry college freshman from Tonawanda, awanda.

Robert Koppe, 21, of the Grover Cleveland, a Forestry College Senior from Massapequa Park.

Neel Sheldon, staff assistant at White Mountain National Forest, told the Daily Orange in a telephone conversation Tuesday night that some 35 foresters and conservationists had to cut off their search at 5 p.m. Tuesday due to high winds and blowing snow.

The winds made it almost impossible to search even in daylight, Sheldon said. Rangers in the search party were unable to see more than 100 feet ahead of them on the trail, he reported.

The SU party left the Hill Thursday and drove all night. They left from the Glen House in Pinkham Notch at the base of the Mountain early Friday for a weekend hiking trip along the Carriage Road to the Osgood rail, along the trail to Mt. Madison, and up Mt. Washington via the Gulfside Trail.

They were scheduled to traverse the Crawford Path to Crawford House in Crawford Notch and hitchhike back to the Glen House where they had left their automobile.

When they failed to return early Monday morning as scheduled, the Forestry Service was notified and the search begun.

The four are lost in a 15 mile strapp crisscrossed with many trails. During the winter most trail markers are covered by snow and the paths are followed by compass measurements.

Although all four were members of the SU outing club, it was not a registered club hike, SU officials said. The four were reported to be using some Outing club equipment.

The four were well equipped
(See Lost, Page 4)

Civil Rights Meeting Set

An "urgent" meeting of the Syracuse Committee on Equality and all those concerned with the civil rights bill will be held at 4 p.m. today in the Colonial Room of Hendricks Chapel.

The meeting is to discuss the most responsible ways to be used to insure passage of a strong civil rights bill at this time.

Patricia A. Howland march coordinator, commented that the group particularly urges all the faculty, administration, graduate students and those of voting age to attend the meeting.

ROBERT KOPPE

PETER CATELLI

CRAIG FOURNIER

Nominations Set For IFC

Nominations for president and vice president of the InterFraternity Council will be accepted at the IFC meeting 8:30 p.m. today at Lambda Chi Alpha, according to IFC President George (Skip) Stanger. Elections will be held Feb. 12.

Less Togetherness

A philosopher might contend that man learns everything through his previous experiences, and that future actions are dominated by these happenings.

Syracuse University personnel officers find no expectation with this line of thought. Plans are now being readied for the summer school housing program, and it appears that because of excessive problems last summer, the university will discard its summertime experimentation with coed housing.

Although many of the problems in coed housing at Syracuse revolved around the dormitory (Watson) that housed the students, it appears that the program will not be tried again on the Mount, which had previously been the center of the operation.

The step is a logical one. Co-educational housing, while it seems to be enjoying tremendous success in other parts of the country, failed miserably on the Hill.

The major problem at the Watson project lay in the fact that there were no alarms on doors, allowing male and female students to go unchecked from one wing to another.

Head residents and resident advisors had their hands full. Beer cans littered the dorm quadrangle every morning (as did Dingleman discards), parties were often in full swing and girls were often missing from the dorms after curfew.

In one case, a girl was seen by head residents and resident advisors jumping from a second story window into the arms of a boy friend. A bed check was taken, but reliable sources indicate the girl got back into the dorm before the check. However, a dozen other girls were missing from their quarters.

This all seems to indicate that SU is not ready for co-educational housing, whether it be using different wings in a building or different floors.

Repetition of incidents that occurred during the summer could do no less than cast a bad image for the university.

Summer school has always caused problems for the university because of the weather, and because students are not taking a heavy work load, but the problem is only compounded when co-educational housing is added to the picture.

It is comforting to know that a committee has scraped the project for the coming summer, and we hope that this is innovation in dormitory living will be kept in a manila folder where it can do no harm.

Garden Of Eden

Registration

By Carol Schlageter

Registration at Syracuse University was once a trauma-ridden experience. The student could expect to spend the major portion of the day fighting to see his advisor, to snatch a class card for each subject and to make rhyme or reason of the bursar's office tangle.

Faculty members, administrative staffers and students were automatically reduced at day's end to snarling, growling hunks of protoplasm.

There has been a metamorphosis, and a blessed one. Registration is no longer an element to be dreaded, but a necessary evil which lasts no more than an hour or two.

Last year student government established a committee to look into registration. Its primary recommendation was that the number of IBM cards per packet be permanently reduced. The recommendation was suggested by Registrar Ed Smith.

Smith doesn't love IBM cards any more than the student body does. He apparently cannot overrule builders of small empires who would seek to empire-build via IBM cards. And so the number of IBM cards in each student's packet remains unchanged.

There are two cards over which I have gagged for eight consecutive registrations. They are the "Information Services" card and the "Religion" card.

The Office of Information Services here has never sent a single scrap of information, a single release, to my home city or town concerning my campus activities.

The apparent sole purpose for which the information on the IBM card is used to place my parents on yet another sucker list. They have been greeted, since the beginning of this academic year, with an array of "gimmie" literature encouraging them to contribute more money to the university. In addition, they have been so fortunate as to receive duplicates of one set of citations.

While we all attend this institution as "a privilege" rather than "a right," filling out the card to propagandize our own parents seems a bit 1984-ish.

As for the religion card, my religious sentiments have not altered in eight semesters at S. U. While the information is voluntary, it seems a simple waste of punch-cards for the card to be present in each packet at each registration. Surely this card could be eliminated from the packet after the student's initial registration.

Perhaps certain of the cards could be printed with a box which the student could check if none of the information on his card has changed since his last registration.

For example, there has been no change over a four-year period in (1) my name (2) my nationality (3) my sex (4) my home address (5) my parents' names (6) my parents' education (7) my date of birth.

But perhaps I have gotten ahead of myself in this tale. Before the student can register he must pass his courses for the preceding semester. This is infeasible if he cannot locate the time-date-place of the final course examination.

I doubt that the situation was that dire for any student, but many no doubt lost count of the number of changes in the exam schedule.

Whoever plans the exam schedule has carefully divided each class into blocks. Theoretically, then, if the student makes sure each of his courses is in a different block, he will have an exam period without conflict.

It seems child-like in simplicity to say that if a situation similar to the past exam tangle again arises, the whole mess could be easily chucked into a computer. Quickly the Gordian knot could be righted.

The variables: number of courses, number of exam times, number of rooms available. Perhaps the problem would have to be processed twice, once for small courses, once for large ones.

Although Mr Spenser in data processing would no doubt enter a temporary state of shock due to the increase in his work-load, his center in the basement of the administration Building already possesses the equipment necessary to program an efficient schedule. In addition, courses have already been divided into blocks.

The success of registration (with the IBM cards excepted) shows that it can be done.

LETTERS

Suggestions

To The Editor:

An innovation has been made in the sorority formal rush procedure and rush is no longer a racially segregated affair.

While the new system has its obvious merits, it retains several characteristics of previous rushes which detract from and may destroy the purpose of rush itself.

The flaw in the plan, which calls for each coed to return to the greatest number of parties possible in each set of parties, is resulting in two courses: first, the rushing coed is being forced to return to houses in which she is not interested and second, the houses are forced to carry through the rush period coeds who have no intention of pledging.

False hopes are rising at both ends of rush. And they may be the beginning of the end of the system.

The rushing coeds who may possess exceptional sorority potential, can be easily discouraged with the rush requirements which impel them to revisit houses in which they have no interest, and they may drop rush.

The suggestion is simple: drop the requirement that each rushee must attend the maximum number of rush parties; let her attend only the parties of those houses in which she is interested. Drop the extensive organization of the rush phenomenon, and allow each coed to become an individual instead of the representation of an IBM card.

That way, this Letters column might be filled with letters, not from "Disillusioned Greeks," but from Greeks who are happy in their choices and who knew what the system was before they affiliated with it.

Cissy Posselt
Class of '64

Mycology?

To The Editor:

We give up. Four echinulate basidiospores (one larger than the other three) attached, without sterigmata, to a simple (not cruciately septate) basidium, as depicted in the small insert pictures in the Daily Orange, represent to us inadequate criteria. If you expect us to key it even to family you will have to provide a bit more information — spore size and shape, absence or presence of cystidia (trama or hymenial), dichophyses, laticiferous hyphae, setae (imbedded or stellate) (and the reference source for the key. We may be mycologists but we are not endowed with such gifts of imagination as to determine the genus and species of a specimen on basidial characters alone.

Graduate Student

LETTERS

The letters column is maintained for the expression of opinion by readers. However, the Daily Orange reserves the right to edit letters for grammar and good taste or to reject letters. Letters should be written legibly, preferably typed and no longer than 250 words. All letters must be signed with names and addresses; names will be withheld on request.

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2 February 5, 1964
Editor in Chief: Allan T. Kort
Business Manager: Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS
Managing Editor: Clayton E. Richards
News Editor: Andrew Forte
Editorial Director: Adair Duffine
Sports Editor: Bernard MacCallum
Arts Editor: Rea Tillet
Photography Editor: Steve Schummer

BUSINESS STAFF
Asst. Bus. Mgr.: Jon Weisberg
Layout Managers: Martha Johannek, Lillian Light
National Adv. Mgr.: Lynn Manfred
Classified Mgr.: Christine Sedziak
Promotion Mgr.: Stu Shapiro

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 260 Brookleaf Drive, Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter at U. S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

TREVER ON CAMPUS

Pirandello Play Coming

The Pirandello play, "Six Characters in Search of an Author," will be presented as part of the Celebrity Series 8:30 p.m. Monday at the Regent Theatre. This is the same production that was originally presented at the off-Broadway theatre, Circle-in-the-Square.

"When Luigi Pirandello's powerful, if puzzling drama was presented before a Boston audience in 1922, with its interplay of reality and the reflection in the make-believe of the theatre, it came at the beginning of a drama which still dominates contemporary American dramatic writing," said Marlow, Burt, manager of the Regent Theatre. "The list of eminent American playwrights, whose imagination has undoubtedly been fired by the revelations of Freud, is impressive, and the response of audiences of their dramatic probings has been massive," he said.

Pirandello uses four principal characters to tell his story: a mother, father, stepdaughter and a director.

Tickets are $3, $2.50, $2. They can be purchased from the Regent Theatre box office, ext. 3275.

Mehegan Talk About Jazz

John Mehegan

Celebrated jazz musician John Mehegan, will discuss modern jazz and contemporary artists 10 a.m. Thursday Crouse Auditorium. It will probably be followed by a short jam session. The public is invited to attend free of charge.

Mehegan has done much to raise the status of jazz, and since 1947 has been instructor in piano and improvisation at the Juilliard School of Music. More recently he has added to his activities by opening his own studio in New York City. From 1957 until 1960 he was the jazz critic for the New York Herald Tribune.

His recordings, lectures and recitals have brought him acclaim. The first two volumes of a project four-volume series entitled "Jazz Improvisation" form part of the first comprehensive series of books designed to codify and delineate the art of jazz styles.

Mehegan will return to Syracuse University during the summer session of 1964 to conduct a week's workshop in jazz improvisation.

Folk Festival in March

The SU Bookstores have announced sponsorship of the second annual SU Folk Festival, to be held on the campus from March 20-22 Jerry Silverman, noted author, musicologist, and performer will be the host for the event.

The festival will include two formal concerts at Manley Field House, and a roundrobin of informal seminars and workshops. There will also be a talent search for promising amateur performers who will be helped in a professional career.

Additional features of this festival will be the giving away of approximately 100 record albums to advance ticket purchasers, and the award of a 12 string guitar to some outstanding individual performer.

Advance tickets for the event will be 2 until March 18. After that, tickets will be $2.50. Tickets may be purchased for individual events, each costing $1 or $1.50.

Folkways Longer

"Folkways," the WAER folk music program is now on the air from 11 p.m. to 12:15 a.m., having been lengthened 45 minutes.

Each week, a different artist will be featured as well as selected albums of other artists. The program will also continue to utilize local talent, Bob Jones is the host.

Tonight, "The Kingston Trio," also considered the originators of the popular folk music craze, will be highlighted. Mort Jacob's singing group will also be featured.

"Electra" Tryouts

Tryouts for the Reader's Theatre production of Sophocles "Electra" will be held 4 p.m. Thursday and Friday in 402 Hall of Languages. Any student is welcomed to try out.

The play will be directed by Dr. Ray Irwin, chairman of the department of oral interpretation. "Electra" will be performed in Clifford Auditorium during the latter part of March.

WAER

88.3 MC

WEDNESDAYS
WAER Highlights
4:00 Sign on, News, and
4:15 Experiment in Music
6:00 Washington Report
6:15 Communicate
6:30 Dan Stone and the News
6:45 Focus
7:00 Dateline London
7:30 Yankee Dollar
8:00 The Spoken Word
8:30 The 8:30 Report
8:35 Men of Music
10:45 Late Night Report
11:00 Folkways
12:45 Headlines and Sign-off

one guy... three girls... one ring!... Paradise?

"High comedy, dry wit."
—Herald Tribune.

TOM COURTENAY AS

Plus "The Impersonator" Riviera CINEMA
3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. - GR 6-4021

Syracuse Symphony

KARL KRITZ, conductor

WORKS BY: SAT. FEB. 8 8:30 P.M.
Henry Mancini, Johnny Green, Ernest Gold,
Miklos Rosa, Dimitri Tiomkin and others.
MUSIC FROM:
Laura, Gone with the Wind, Spellbound, Never on Sunday, Lawrence of Arabia, Days of Wine and Roses, etc.

TICKETS — $1.50 - $3.50
UNRESERVED — $.75

MON - FEB. 10
8:30 P. M.

Circle-in-the-Square presents

Six Characters In Search Of An Author

N. Y. Direction by Wm. Ball

Tickets: $3.00, 2.50, 2.00

Reservations, 476-4536

UNIVERSITY REGENT
THEATRE

Daily Crossword Puzzle

- | | | |
|----------------------------------|--|--|
| ACROSS | 45 Sporting event. | Karl Marx. |
| 1 18th cen. English poet. | 46 Is absorbed in study (with "over"). | 8 In repose. |
| 7 Florida metropolis. | 48 Bird's home. | 9 Brothers. |
| 12 Quieting influence. | 49 Protein food. | 10 Czech capital. |
| 13 Vigilant guardian. | 50 Induced, in electricity. | 11 Season. |
| 16 Money handler. | 52 Mazel (good luck): Yiddish. | 13 Well-known diva. |
| 17 Estrange. | 53 Self-centered ones. | 14 Hebrew prophet. |
| 18 Table scrap. | 55 "What's — is still unsure...": 2 words. | 15 Realize. |
| 19 Smirched. | 57 Long cloaks for women. | 20 "If I — you..." |
| 21 Throttle of an engine: Slang. | 58 Musical compositions. | 23 Creamy candy. |
| 22 Navigation hazard. | 59 Renaissance name. | 25 Dissenter. |
| 24 Tooth. | 60 Sitting, as a statue. | 27 Grows boring. |
| 25 Insect sounds. | | 29 Kringle. |
| 26 Sharpen. | | 31 Letter. |
| 28 Duct: Anat. | | 32 Sea bird. |
| 29 New Hampshire city. | | 33 Excited. |
| 30 Bridge holdings. | | 35 Roundworm. |
| 32 Slip. | | 36 Travelers' guide, in the Near East. |
| 33 Confused. | | 38 Swamp. |
| 34 Well-wisher. | | 39 Bird call. |
| 37 Wastail. | | 40 Dragged with effort. |
| 38 Monastery church. | | 41 Portuguese West Africa. |
| 39 Social divisions. | | 42 Loud, in music. |
| 42 Instead of. | | 44 Reinstated. |
| 43 Loose garment for women. | | 46 Outmoded. |
| | | 47 Locations. |
| | | 50 Handwriting: Colloq. |
| | | 51 Farm enclosure. |
| | | 53 Principal constituent of pewter. |
| | | 56 Ruminant's specialty. |

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

The Syracuse University Film Society

The formation of a film society can be an important step toward a better understanding of the history of the motion picture and the social and technical aspects of this new art.

The first film program of this new society will be THE CLOWNS. It will feature some of the outstanding visual comics of the movies, including Chaplin, Keaton, Lloyd, Turpin, The Marx Brothers, and Laurel and Hardy.

Six programs will be presented beginning February 5, 1964, in Kittredge Auditorium, H. B. Crouse Building, Syracuse University. All programs will begin at 8:15 p.m.

Membership will entitle each person to admittance to all six programs. No single admissions will be sold and no one will be allowed to attend programs without a membership card. At the conclusion of the series, a full set of notes on each program will be sent to each member.

Here then is a series devoted to what is probably the most outstanding collection of comic talent ever to grace the screen of any country. You don't want to miss your opportunity. Membership will be limited to 150.

Join now, don't be disappointed. Membership fee $5.00

THE CLOWNS

Program I — February 5, 1964 — SILENCE AND SIGHT GAGS
Charlie Chaplin, Harold Lloyd and Laurel and Hardy.

Program II — February 19, 1964 — PRATFALLS TO PERFECTION
Buster Keaton and Ben Turpin.

Program III — March 4, 1964 — THE UNSINKABLE OPTIMIST
Harold Lloyd, Harry Langdon and others.

Program IV — March 18, 1964 — TWO DERBIES AND A TALL SILK HAT
Laurel and Hardy, Raymond Griffith and Mack Swain.

Program V — April 8, 1964 — SOUND SHENANIGANS AND THE BROTHERS MARX

Program VI — April 22, 1964 — CHAPLIN ALONE
An evening with Charles Chaplin . . .

FACULTY ADVISOR DR. JOHN DRISCOLL
PROGRAM CONSULTANT DAVID SHEPHERD
PROGRAM CO-ORDINATOR ROBERT BERGERON

Tickets may be purchased at University Regent Theatre, Phone: GR 6-4536

'64 Commencement Speaker Left to University Committee

Commencement plans for the senior class were clarified Monday by Ron Brzezinski, senior class president.

Brzezinski said that the class has conducted two polls through the Daily Orange concerning a commencement speaker, and a list of proposed speakers has been submitted to the university commencement committee.

He explained that the responsibility for choosing a speaker lies with the committee and not with the class.

Brzezinski also announced that the class had been granted a $4,000 budget for the annual Senior Ball.

The class will hold the dance Friday, June 5 at Three Rivers Inn. Entertainment will be supplied by the Glenn Miller Orchestra under the direction of of Ray McKinly, and the Mod-ernaires.

Brzezinski pointed out that the class has been working on plans for distribution of commencement tickets, as well as discussing a senior gift to the university.

Arrangements for commencement robes are made by the bookstore.

Prof Renamed To NY Board

Prof. Robert F. Koretz of College of Law has been reappointed by Gov. Rockefeller to the Advisory Council on the Labor and Management Improper Practices Act, for a term ending May 31, 1966.

A member of the law faculty since 1946, Prof. Koretz served on the staff of the National Labor Relations Board. In 1951 and 1952 he was a member of the Enforcement Commission of the National Wage Stabilization Board for Region II.

Prof. Koretz is currently secretary of the American Bar Association's Labor Relations Law section. He recently presided at a session of the National Academy of Arbitration at its annual meeting in New York City.

AP Hires J-School Grad

A former graduate assistant at the School of Journalism at Syracuse University has accepted a position with the Associated Press News Service.

Larry Coffman, who was acting editor of the Empire State School Press Association magazine during his assistantship at Syracuse, will join the Albany bureau of the AP this week.

He received the master of science degree in journalism from Syracuse January 23.

The former reporter and columnist on the Baltimore News-Post and American newspapers will do reporting and editing for the Associated Press.

Lost...

(continued from page 1)

with an extra sleeping bag, but carried only a days reserve food supply, according to former Outing Club President Richard Cipperly. He stated that the four knew the area "fairly well."

If one of the members of the party had been hurt on the trail, one of the remaining three would go for help, while the other two stayed with the injured hiker, Cipperly said. This is the standard procedure when a hiker is injured on the trail.

It is not unusual, he said, for hikers to enter the mountains during this time of year, despite the extreme cold. He described the quartet as experienced and serious minded hikers.

JSG...

(continued from page 1)

ed that many new SU faculty members coming from universities using narrower grading systems have expressed the opinion that these systems are preferable to the SU system.

"The grading system is a matter of direct and important concern to all students," Morris said, "and we hope to be able to do something about it."

Ski Club Schedules Winterfest

Winterfest is being held this week, and the public is invited to attend. The winter sports project, which began Monday, will run through Sunday.

The schedule for the rest of the week is as follows:

Tuesday, press ski race, 8 p.m. Drumlins; free ice skating, 10 a.m.-noon, Jamieson's Ice Skating School; figure skating exhibition, 8:30 p.m., followed by free skating.

Last Call For 'ON'

Time passes . . . Thursday will be the last day to sell yearbooks as the ON is going to be coming out in less than three months. Each representative will get a very shiny quarter for every yearbook they sell.

Remember! All stubs and money must be accounted for and returned by Thursday to Prefab 7D by 5 p.m. If no one is there please go to the ON financial advisor, Mr. O'Brien in Prefab 7B.

Wednesday, ski patrol race, 8 p.m., Mystic Mt.; free skating, 10 a.m., Jamieson's; figure skating exhibition, 8:30 p.m., followed by free skating.

Thursday, housewives ski race, 2 p.m., Toggenburg; over 35 ski race, 8 p.m. Drumlins; free skating, 10 a.m., Jamieson's; followed by free skating.

Friday, fun slalom race, 7:30 p.m., Toggenburg; free skating, 10 a.m., Jamieson's, figure skating exhibition, 8:30 p.m., Jamieson's, followed by free skating.

Saturday, Onondaga Ski Club senior team race, 11 a.m., Song Mt.; Onondaga Indian snow snake throwing competition, 1 p.m., Onondaga Indian Reser-vaski jumping, 2 p.m., Skytop; skinoeing race, 1 p.m., Greek Peak, buffet and dance, 7 p.m., Song Mt. Lodge; Syracuse Uni-versity Hockey Association vs. Brockport State College, 6:45 p.m., Coliseum; Syracuse Stars vs. Morrisbury, 8:30 p.m., Coliseum, figure skating exhibition between periods of game.

Sunday, Aluski class giant slalom championship race, 10 a.m., Greek Peak; dedication of new chair lift, Greek Peak; firemen's broomball game, 1:30 p.m., Morrisbury, 3 p.m., Coliseum, ice skating exhibition between per-iods.

ALL-STUDENT TRIP RUSSIA & EASTERN EUROPE VIA KLM

Visit Holland, Germany, Denmark, Sweden, Finland, Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Austria, Yugoslavia, Italy, San Marino, France, Monaco, Switzerland, England.

Travel with other U. S. college students. Leave July 5, return August 28. $1548.90 all-expense. For details and free folder, see your local travel agent or write:

KLM ROYAL DUTCH AIRLINES, Pillsbury Bldg., Minneapolis, Minnesota.

1964 GRADUATES!

CON EDISON WOULD LIKE TO TALK WITH YOU ABOUT WHAT YOU CAN BE DOING IN 1979

We're looking ahead 15 years, because within that period Con Edison will have about 800 top management and staff positions opening up.

Right now we can offer ambitious young college graduates unique opportunity to move to the top. We're looking for engineers...accountants...economists...math majors...and chemists who can be trained now, to be ready to move into these important posts.

Immediate prospects at Con Edison are bright, too, for the right men: good starting salary...an individually tailored training program, with interesting assignments from the start...the chance to do original, creative work in a progressive company that's pioneered many developments in the power field...generous financial help toward graduate studies. And all in the stimulating environment of exciting New York!

So don't miss the chance to get the low-down on this dynamic company that supplies the energy—electricity, gas and steam—that keeps New York going and growing. Talk with the Con Edison man.

Con Edison
AN INVESTOR-OWNED UTILITY SERVING NEW YORK

CAMPUS INTERVIEWS... FEBRUARY 18 & 19

Drop in at your College Placement Office. Get a copy of our brochure...also time and place for your interview.

ANNOUNCING THE WINNER OF THE ORCHID SHOPPE BEAUTY CONTEST

MISS ERIN O'BRIEN
FLINT 1-C

ENTER NOW FOR NEXT WEEK'S CONTEST AND
YOU TOO CAN WIN A DOZEN ROSES

THE ORCHID SHOPPE

GR 2-6221 605 BUTTERNUT
Specializing in Floral Arrangements Corsages, and Personalized Napkins and Matchbooks

FREE, RAPID DELIVERY

We Wire the World Over

'Sword' Staff to Initiate Student Information Sheet

The Sword of Damocles will issue one-page bulletins to "keep the campus informed of vital issues and avoid the teeth of censorship," Jeff Radford announced today.

Radford, editor of the Sword, said the bulletins will be issued whenever a campus situation requires detailed investigative reporting. The bulletins will be available to students at no charge.

The last issue of the Sword, printed just before Thanksgiving, sold 1,800 copies, according to Radford. "We have made a slight profit and decided to expand the Sword with this money," he said.

The releasing of free bulletins by a self-supporting student group has never before been attempted, Radford said. "The Sword exists to serve the campus and maintain a free press, not to make money, he pointed out.

The Sword of Damocles, started by Terry Hughes last year, is one of the only student-supported magazines in the country. The Sword has since been recognized by Cosmopolitan magazine and congratulated by Upton Sinclair, a well-known author.

The Sword was started after an article about university food service was allegedly censored from Syracuse 10, headed by Hughes in 1962. The article was then printed in the Daily Orange and was awarded a Hearst prize for college journalism.

Hughes requested permission from the university's board of publications to start a magazine dealing only in campus issues.

His request was denied but he started the magazine through contributions he raised. The first issue was received with mixed emotions on campus. The second issue, however, featuring an article about abortions on campus, sold 2,300 magazines.

After Hughes graduated, Jeffrey Radford assumed the editorship of the publication. Radford expanded the magazine's staff and made typographical and style changes in the Sword. Anybody wishing to join the Sword staff can do so by contacting Radford or any Sword staffer.

"We feel there is a tremendous improvement in the magazine this year," senior editor Howie Ginsburg said. "Terry did a great job in starting the magazine." We will expand its influence so that it really gives the student a voice on campus," Ginsburg said.

The Sword, which originally was scheduled to appear three times a year, recently announced a permanent change to twice a year.

"With our bulletins coming out as often as is necessary the Sword's staff can do a better job with the quality of an article if they have this extra time for research," Radford said today.

The next issue of the Sword, scheduled for February, has been moved back until Spring vacation, Radford said.

"It is impossible for us to reveal any stories as yet," Radford said. "The administration has tried to stop us too often in the past for us to take any chances now," he added.

The administration has refused the Sword the right to sell the publication in university dormitories, the university bookstore, or to set up stands on campus. Sword, however, may be sold by individual staffers and Marshall Street merchants.

Radford also announced the beginning of an annual contest for a "Sword Cup," awarded to the administrator who most personifies the reason for the magazine's existence. That is, the administrator who has made the years worst "goofs" Radford said. Chancellor Tolley, he added, has been excluded from the nominations.

The winner of the cup will be announced in the next Sword. It will be chosen from nominations made by the student body, Radford said. All nominations should be mailed to Box 1, 100 Irving Ave.

BEAT NIAGARA

Onondaga
MEN'S SHOP

Semi-Annual SALE

20-25% OFF

Suits - Topcoats
Furnishings
Winter Sportswear

124 E. Jefferson — Hotel Onondaga opposite
Park Free Warren Parking Center • Open Mon. Evenings

Former Russian Soldier Talk To Air Force ROTC Cadets

Colonel Vladimir V. Pozdnjakoff was guest speaker Tuesday as he addressed the entire corp of AFROTC cadets at a convocation held at the Hill.

Pozdnjakoff concentrated his talk on the workings of the Russian Air Force. Only a minority of the Russian people are members of the Communist party, he said, and the Communists cannot trust their own massive army. He cited as proof the millions of people in jails and concentration camps in the Soviet Union.

The Colonel also explained that Russia's main strength lies in her powerful weapons: atomic bombs, chemical and biological weapons and rockets.

Col. Pozdnjakoff held a high military position in Russia before escaping to the West. He worked in West Germany for a number of years and was president of the Former Political Prisoners Union of the USSR.

Promotions were bestowed upon Cadet Col. Alvin Davis, who now becomes the Joint Army-Air Force Corps Commander, and Cadet Lt. Col. Bruce R. Fewer, who becomes the Cadet Wing Commander.

Two regular U.S.A.F. officers, who have been working on advanced degrees at SU, were presented the Air Force Commendation medal for meritorious service in their previous assignments. Lt. Col. Daniel Felski, and Major John P. Howe, were the recipients of the awards.

Lt. Col. Frank Cox, Air Force Professor of Air Science, presented the awards, and Captain Richard Olin read the citations.

CLASSICAL RECORDS SALE!!

SELECT FROM HUNDREDS OF TITLES AT HUGE SAVINGS

WESTMINSTER WERE $4.98 - $1.98
EA.
SCHWANN LIST

BRILLIANT WORKS OF YOUR FAVORITE COMPOSERS

VOX $4.98 - $2.69
EA.
SCHWANN LIST

ARTISTS AND CONDUCTORS OF WORLD RENOWN

MONITOR $4.98 - $2.69
EA.
SCHWANN LIST

FACTORY FRESH LPS OF THE HIGHEST QUALITY

VOX STEREO $4.98 - $2.69
EA.
SCHWANN LIST

KAPP $4.98 - $2.69
EA.
SCHWANN LIST
MONO and STEREO

COME EARLY — Quantities Of Individual Titles Are Limited

SALE BEGINS NOW

SU Bookstores
CORNER STORE

slay at a

SYRACUSE TRAVE LODGE

MOTEL

SLEEPY SAYS:
MAKE RESERVATIONS
NOW FOR
WINTER WEEKEND

- Free phone or T.W.X. reservations to any Travelodge across the U.S.A.
- 130 spacious, air conditioned, soundproof rooms with free TV and AM-FM Radios.
- Simmons "Beautyrest" Mattresses.
- Easy access from all directions.

Central TRAVE LODGE Uptown TRAVE LODGE

454 JAMES STREET 940 JAMES STREET
(1 block from State St.) (Next to Corinthian Club)
472-6381 For Reservations Call 472-6281

Nearly Finished

Work continues on the Crouse site women's dormitory, located on Comstock avenue between Marshall and Adams streets. The new dorm will house women students currently living in small dormitories and cottages.

Gross Serves As Indian Aide

Prof. Bertram M. Gross of the the Netherlands and Mexico. Maxwell School has gone to India to act as consultant in national economic planning for three weeks.

Dr. Gross's consultantship is part of the nine-year Cross-Cultural Operations Project of the Maxwell School. The project, financed by the Ford Foundation, has already completed studies in the Soviet Union, the U. S., Tanganyika, Nine other studies are in progress.

Dr. Gross, a professor of political science, was invited to India by S. S. Khara, a secretary of the cabinet. He will return to the SU campus early this month.

Working at a resort in Germany.

WORK IN EUROPE

Every registered student can get a job in Europe and receive a travel grant. Among thousands of jobs available are resort, sales, lifeguard and office work. No experience is necessary and wages range to $400 monthly. For a complete prospectus, travel grant and job application returned airmail, send $1 to Dept. J, American Student Information Service, 22 Ave. de la Liberté, Luxembourg City, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg.

TODAY

4 p.m., Basketball, gym B
4 p.m., Tennis, gym B
5:05 p.m., First and Holy Communion
5:05 p.m., Daily devotion, North Wing
H. Sticks, Chapel
7 p.m., Stu. Serv.
7 p.m., Extension Club, Women's Hall
7:30 p.m., AHSIC meeting for those interested in international business opportunities or summer jobs abroad. Basement of Tuohy Hall. All present applications must attend.
7:30 p.m., P. Mr. Erdson, mathematics instructor, presenting the film, "Mathematical Induction" 9-10 HHC
7:30 p.m., Chess Club Meeting, Chapel lounge
8:30 p.m., Uppercase Skippers, Dean Noy's home, Guest, Prof. Fernando Molina
8:30 p.m., H.C. Tuohy Club Alpha

RUTH'S GIFTS
734 S. CROUSE AVE.

Three Forestry Prizes Given

The State University College of Forestry announced last week that three of its students have received awards.

Myron W. Kelly, a senior, has been awarded a National Science Foundation research assistantship at the University of North Carolina at Raleigh. Kelly, of Lysander, is majoring in wood products engineering at the School of Forestry. His award is worth $2,700 annually, and will continue for at least two years, leading to an M.S. degree.

ed by the Empire State Paper Association. Menge, a sophomore studying pulp and paper technology, will receive $500. A native of Buffalo, he has an average of 2.94. Menge is a member of the Goon Squad, Alpha Chi Rho fraternity, and Air Force ROTC.

Raymond C. White was awarded the Geigy Dyestuffs Scholarship, worth $250. White, of Sauquoit, N.Y., is a junior in the forestry school. The scholarship is a donation of the Geigy Chemical Corp.

Dean Hardy L. Shirley of the College of Forestry presented the awards in special ceremonies on the campus.

JUNIORS, SENIORS and GRADUATE STUDENTS
On-Campus Interviews

February 24th & 26th

Both Permanent and Summer Positions Are Available In Philadelphia, Penna., Dallas, Texas, and Toledo, Ohio For Men In These Fields:

- CHEM. ENGRG.
- MECH. ENGRG.
- ELEC. ENGRG.
- CHEMISTRY
- OPERATIONS RES.
- MATHEMATICS
- ACCOUNTING
- BUSINESS ADMIN.
- IND. MGMT./ADMIN.
- ECONOMICS
- MARKETING
- TRANSPORTATION

Visit your Placement Office now to Schedule an Appointment. If personal interview is inconvenient, write to College Relations Division —

SUN OIL COMPANY

1608 Walnut Street Philadelphia 3, Penna.
An Equal Opportunity Employer

BEAT NIAGARA

PANASONIC RADIO CLEARANCE

HELP US MAKE ROOM

FOR NEW THINGS IN SOUND

ALL RADIOS GREATLY REDUCED

T-81 LIST 59.95 OUR PRICE 49.95 SPECIAL NOW 39.95

T-35 LIST 99.95 OUR PRICE 89.95 SPECIAL NOW 71.95

T-66 LIST 69.95 OUR PRICE 59.95 SPECIAL NOW 47.95

T-601 LIST 19.95 OUR PRICE 17.95 SPECIAL NOW 14.50

920 clock LIST 49.95 OUR PRICE 39.95 SPECIAL NOW 31.95

748 LIST 39.95 OUR PRICE 29.95 SPECIAL NOW 23.95

730 LIST 49.95 OUR PRICE 39.95 SPECIAL NOW 31.95

782 LIST 69.95 OUR PRICE 59.95 SPECIAL NOW 47.95

T-22 LIST 49.95 OUR PRICE 39.95 SPECIAL NOW 31.95

LIMITED TIME ONLY

New Lieutenants

Three Syracuse University graduates received second lieutenant bars in the U.S. Army Reserve. Colonel Raymond C. Wittmayer, (left), Professor of Military Science, conducted ceremonies in the Founder's Room at the Maxwell School. Receiving their gold bars are (left to right) Thomas C. Day, Robert L. Lelli, and James F. Whitwell. All three new officers are graduates of the College of Liberal Arts at Syracuse University and achieved their Army Commissions through the ROTC program.

3 SU Grads Win Gold Bars

Gold bars are now being worn by three SU graduates who were commissioned Second Lieutenants in the U.S. Army Reserve this week.

Thomas C. Day, Robert L. Lelli and James F. Whitwell were commissioned in ceremonies conducted in the Maxwell Founder's Room by Colonel Raymond C. Wittmayer professor of Military Science at SU.

Day, a resident of Fayetteville, graduated with a B.S. degree in chemistry and is commissioned in the U.S. Army Chemical Corps.

Second Lt. Whitwell, a Liberal Arts graduate with a major in history, is commissioned in the infantry.

Lelli received his commission in the Military Police Corps. He is a liberal arts graduate.

BEAT
NIAGARA

RUSTIN DELAYED,

Tuesday's scheduled meeting between Stephen K. Bailey, dean of the Maxwell School, and Bayard Rustin, coordinator of the boycott of the New York City schools, was cancelled.

Rustin was unable to make the trip from New York. Efforts will be made to arrange a similar discussion in the near future.

PEERLESS PRESS, Inc. PRINTERS

1112 E. Fayette Street
Between University & Walnut

COMPLETE
PRINTING SERVICE

at your doorstep
GR 6-6051

THE "BOOKSTALL"

147 Marshall Street
Fascinating Gifts, Fine Stationery, Fabulous Cards
38 Years by the Campus
Your Friendly Alumni Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow

Foresters to Choose Queen

The crowing of the Sweetheart's Ball Queen will be a highlight of the College of Forestry's Sweethearts Ball Saturday evening Feb. 15 at Drumlin's Country Club. Queen finalists will appear on T. V. Feb. 14.

Any living center may sponsor a candidate, according to Phil Larson, Chairman of the Queen contest. She may either obtain an application from him at Phi Gamma Delta, 732 Comstock Ave., or send her name, address and phone number to the same address. Entrance fee is $2. Elimination coffees are scheduled for Feb. 11 and 13 in Marshall Lounge.

Winter Queens Plan Told

Applications for Winter Weekend Queen are due Sunday, it was announced Tuesday by Robert Dorne and Nancy Cox, queen contest chairmen.

Applications may be submitted to Dorne at 320 Euclid Ave. or to Miss Cox at 306 Walnut Pl. Each floor, living center, fraternity and sorority is allowed to enter a contestant. A $2 entry fee must accompany the application.

Three informal coffees are scheduled for queen contestants. Those with last names beginning with A-H will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in 309 Women's Bldg. J-Q will meet Tuesday in 309 Womens Bldg., and R-Z at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Shaw Dormitory basement lounge.

Dress for the coffees will be ski clothes. Prizes will be given to the queen, who will be crowned at the Stockingfoot dance, Feb. 21.

Further information may be obtained from Dorne at ext. 2648, 2649 or from Miss Cox at ext. 2691

DOC Columnist Given Award

The first annual Communications Alumni Award was presented to Dan Stone by Robert Ahrens, president of the Communications Alumni Association of Syracuse University at a meeting last Thursday in New York City.

Stone is a 20 year old junior from Watkins Glen, N.Y. who is enrolled in Radio-TV at Syracuse University. He is also the News Director for WAER and a columnist on the Daily Orange.

GUIDE FORMS DUE

Applications for Overall Guide Chairman of the Association of Women Students guide program must be submitted by 5 p.m. Friday, to Jean Zimmerman at 125 Euclid Ave. Include name, address, average, activities, and ideas for next year's guide program. The position is open to juniors who have guided previously.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

B	A	L	S	A	C	R	E	W	S	I	P	S
O	P	I	U	M	H	O	L	E	I	N	I	T
D	E	S	P	I	C	A	B	L	E	M	I	C
E	X	P	E	D	I	T	E	S	H	U	M	O
R	E	S	T	P	O	L	I	T	E
C	O	S	T	E	M	A	R	A	T
A	L	T	O	R	E	I	N	S	T	A	T	E
R	E	A	R	T	E	M	P	T	E	B	E	N
P	A	L	I	S	A	D	E	S	S	L	A	V
E	G	A	L	L	O	C	H	E	L
A	D	M	I	R	E	F	O	E	S
F	R	A	N	K	C	H	A	R	A	C	T	E
R	O	T	A	B	L	O	C	K	P	A	R	T
T	H	E	T	R	I	O	T	E	L	I	T	E
C	E	D	E	O	P	T	O	D	Y	N	E	S

Attention SENIOR and GRADUATE MEN Students Who need some FINANCIAL HELP in order to complete their education this year and will then commence work. Apply to STEVENS BROS. FOUNDATION, INC. A Non-Profit Educational Fdn. 610 Endicott Bldg. St. Paul 1, Minnesota UNDERGRADS, CLIP AND SAVE

STUDENT TRAVEL TO EUROPE (For Less)

INFORMATION NIGHT on STUDENT TRAVEL in EUROPE

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 5, at 6:45 p.m. — SHAW HALL basement

ALL STUDENTS ARE WELCOME

Information on: Youth Hostels, Student Hostels, Camps, Universities, Summer Study Programs, Special Student Sailings, Group Flights, Regular Flights, etc.

It is the purpose of the INFORMATION NIGHT to make available to students any kind of information which will make their trip to Europe more meaningful and less expensive.

A short film on Europe will be shown.

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	$.85
2 days	1.65
4 days	3.15
3 days	2.40
5 days	3.85
7 days	5.20
6 days	4.55
8 days	5.85
9 days	6.45
10 days	7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS. automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.

LOST — on or about 2:00 P.M. Thursday, Jan. 24. One MINOX camera, 4" lens, silver-colored, in Men's room of Main Library building (Carnegie Library). Please turn in to Lost and Found, Building 19. Owner will pay reward of $25.

GREYHOUND TICKETS. schedules, information, bus and air charters. Hotel reservations, foreign tours. LIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC. in the Savor Monday-Friday 1-4; Thursday night 7-9 476-8533.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired. Rented. Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-5533. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

SLEEP-LEARNING. Hypnotism! Tapes, records, books, equipment. Astonishing details, strange catalog free! Sleep-Learning Research Assn., Box 24-CP, Olympia, Wash. ACCELERATED 5 lesson course, specializing in parking, traffic, road test. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL, HO 3-3451.

FOR SALE

SORORITIES - FRATERNITIES: For rushing, greek letter matches, napkins in proper colors. Napkins to order — many matches in stock. Name tags, pins, place cards, candles, pledge ribbons. Bookstall.

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of 4 colors of paper, 3 colors of ink 2. sizes of sheets. Bookstall.

1962 RAMBLER AMBASSADOR V-8, 4 door sedan. Automatic transmission, power brakes, power steering, reclining seats, snow tires, heater, many other extras. Perfect condition; driven only 16,000 miles. Only $1,795.00. M. W. Jenkinson, 210 Leman Hall.

1962 CHEVROLET IMPALA convertible — white, black top, automatic, P.S., power windows, 15,000 miles. Immaculate. HO 9-3782, evenings.

FREE SOLDERING. all charms bought here. Charms, lozenges, jewelry, watch repair. Greeting cards. Personalized stationery. Valentine gifts and cards. Riviera sunglasses for men and women. Ruth's Gifts, 734 S. Crouse, Introductory Sale, Creme de Chine Cologne and Nuit de Longchamp.

WANTED

EXPERIENCE TYPIST. Part time or full time employment. Own transportation necessary. After 5, call OW 9-2829.

MEN — We need four or five men on a part-time basis from now till finals. Excellent income and experience. Call 472-6356. Training provided. Apply 121 6356.

FRESHMEN AND SOPHOMORES to work as projectionists for Audio Visual College Place, ex. 2631. STUDENT FOR PAGE WORK. Monday thru Friday mornings. U. S. Citizenship required. Mrs. Lipes, Syracuse

Public Library, GR 4-5321.

RIDERS — rides open to Penn State and points south—leaving Friday afternoon. Stan Kogan, 476-7679.

RIDERS TO MICHIGAN. Leaving Feb. 14, returning Feb. 16. Call Larry, 436-8167 after 5:30.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students

APARTMENTS FOR RENT. One, two, three, and four rooms. Call 426-2779 for appointment.

TWO BLOCKS FROM LIFELHOUSE, 225 Lorraine Ave. Modern 4-room upper, 2 bedrooms. Three closets, brick crossbards, refrigerator and stove. Picture window, living room and kitchen, ceramic tile bath, private parking area, on bus line. Available immediately, $115. NE 8-0497, GR 6-1473.

UNIVERSITY MALE grad student or instructor to share convenient desirable apt. with two other grad students. Parking. Even. 475-7537, GI 6-1537.

UNIVERSITY SECTION. 3 rooms, fridge and stove, private bath and entrance. GR 2-4662.

OVER 1,000 SQ. FT. of attic floor space, suitable for artist's studio, on So. Crouse Ave. 9 windows give natural illumination. Unheated. Electricity included in rental of $20.00 monthly. NE 7-3908 or NE 7-9839.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models, also sales and service. special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

EXPERT TYPING. Themes, theses, term papers. 458-0141, after 6 p.m.

EXPERT TYPING, EDITING, theses, dissertations, term papers, and manuscripts. Mrs. Mel Sherman, GR 2-2420.

Frosh Cagers Face Toughest

By JIM KLURFELD

The Tangerines travel to Niagara tonight to face their stiff hoop competition of the season.

Riding high after three victories in a row, the frosh will have to put a solid game together to beat the Purple Eagles, according to mentor Morris Osburn.

"They are always a tough team to beat," he said. "We can't afford to play inconsistently. It will take a team effort to win."

Osburn expects Niagara to play a tight man-to-man defense and to use a half-court press. They are not a tall team, but speed and accurate shooting could offset the Orangemen's superior height.

Niagara's record is 5-2.

Osburn, who has been looking for a good outside shooter, hopes he has found him in Bill Ramsdell, a 5-9 guard who is at Syracuse on a track scholarship.

"He's also a real good basketball player," Osburn explained. "He has fine speed and an excellent eye. I'll work him in when I can."

In high school Ramsdell once scored 63 points in a game, but he only joined the team a few weeks ago and still isn't in top shape. He missed a week of basketball practice recently and this didn't contribute to readying him for play.

The starting line-up will have Vaughn Harper, Val Reid, and Rick Dean up front, and Dick Russo in the back court. The fifth starting position is still open, with Marty Goldstein, Charlie French and Ramsdell all vying for the spot.

In their last game against Canton Tech, the frosh had trouble beating a weak team. However, when they play together and look for the fast break they appear unbeatable. However, this hasn't been happening too often.

Some observers believe that a bigger challenge like Niagara will bring the best out of the Tangerines. If the Baby Eagles can jam the middle and hit from the outside the frosh will have trouble.

But with Dean, Reid and Harper controlling the boards, Niagara shouldn't expect more than one shot at the basket.

Frosh Stats

FROSH STATS

	G	FG	FT	T	Ave.	Reb.	R. Ave.
Dean	9	73	38	184	20.4	84	9.9
Harper	9	66	39	171	19.0	95	10.6
Reid	8	42	32	116	14.5	90	11.2
Loll	9	29	9	67	7.4	71	7.9
Goldstein	9	22	12	56	6.2	15	1.6
Lewien	9	9	10	28	3.1	39	4.3
Russo	9	10	3	23	2.5	8	0.9

(Not including game against Rutgers and Canton Tech)

SU Basketball Team Hosts Niagara Falls

RICHARD DUFFY

Orange Little Man

SYRACUSE

Toronto	88-33
Buffalo	91-69
Penn State	76-95
Cornell	86-84
Eastern Ky.	72-90
Valparaiso	100-66
Princeton	76-71
Miami (Fla.)	86-85
St. John's	71-84
LaSalle	61-63
Army	68-69
Penn State	84-82

Colgate	117-91
Manhattan	96-65
Niagara	Feb. 5
Pittsburgh	Feb. 7
Fordham	Feb. 12
Pittsburgh	Feb. 15
West Virginia	Feb. 17
Cornell	Feb. 25
Colgate	Feb. 27
Canisius	Feb. 29
Niagara	Mar. 1
Connecticut	Mar. 6

NIAGARA

Villa Madonna	73-53
LeMoyne (N.Y.)	66-52
Villanova	62-57
Buffalo State	55-44
Seranton	77-58
LaSalle	54-58
St. Bonaventure	82-96
Fla. Southern	88-68
St. Peters	75-91
Providence	75-95
St. Francis (N.Y.)	38-59
St. John's	67-83
Syracuse	Feb. 5
Seton Hall	Feb. 8
Iona	Feb. 12

INTRAS

TODAY'S SCHEDULE Basketball

7:00 — Marion 1 vs. DellPlain 5; Kimmel 3 vs. DellPlain 7; Marion 3 vs. Booth 8.

7:45 — 511 Comstock vs. Hungerford; Delta Kappa Epsilon vs. Alpha Epsilon Pi; Phi Epsilon Pi vs. Phi Gamma Delta.

8:30 — Kappa Phi Delta vs. Zeta Beta Tau; Psi Upsilon vs. Tau Epsilon Phi; Delta Tau Delta vs. Alpha Chi Rho.

Bowling

6:15 — Watson W 2 vs. Booth 3 (1-2); Marion 2 vs. Sadler 2 (3-4); Phi Sigma Delta vs. Pi Kappa Alpha (5-6).

8:30 — Phi Kappa Psi vs. Sigma Alpha Mu (1-2); Zeta Psi vs. Tau Delta Phi (3-4); Delta Upsilon vs. Tau Kappa Epsilon (5-6).

By BILL CRONAUER
Junior Editor

Youth takes the floor at the Niagara Falls Student Center tonight when the Purple Eagles tangle with the Orangemen of Syracuse. Game time is 9 p.m.

The Piety will open with three sophomores and a pair of juniors, while Niagara operates with three rookies, a junior and a senior in the starting lineup.

Foremost among the newcomers is SU's Dave Bing, who tallied 20 points last weekend to maintain his 20.1 point-per-game average. Other first-string sophs for the Orange include forwards Norm Goldsmith (7.1) and Sam Penceal (3.8).

Joining the trio in the Hill lineup will be high-scoring Chuck Richards (22.9) at center and scrappy Richie Duffy (4.8) in the backcourt. Duffy against Manhattan Saturday, managed only one bucket but played a fine floor game.

The outstanding rookie for the Eagles is 6-6 pivotman George Phillips, who is scoring at a 13.2 clip. Forward Art Coleman has chipped in a 10.9 points-per-contest, with guard Pat Broderick right behind at 10.8.

The other Niagara starters, senior captain Jimmy Kuryak and junior forward Joe White, are hitting at 12.3 and 10.1 ppg respectively. White, who netted 22 points against powerful Providence two weeks ago, has been the top Eagle scorer of late.

Both the Orangemen and the Purple Eagles will have won-loss strings in mind tonight. Syracuse (9-5) will be attempting to up its victory streak to four, while Niagara (6-6) is desperate to snap a four game losing skein.

The Eagles most recent defeat was to St. John's 83-67, at the Falls. In that tilt, Niagara collected only nine points in the first 10 minutes and shot an unimpressive 35.4 per cent overall.

In their loss to St. Francis of Brooklyn, the Falls five could tally only 38 points, with a mere 14 scores coming in the second half.

Syracuse, on the other hand, has had a hot hand, clicking on over 50 per cent of its shots against Manhattan. The Orangemen have averaged 99 points over the three-game win span.

From Pigskin to Baton

By JEFF LAZAR

A runner must be superbly conditioned to turn in a good performance in the mile relay. He is called upon to run 440 yards, or a quarter mile at full speed.

There are four men on a mile relay team and their jobs are different. The leadoff man must get a good takeoff if he hopes to get all-important position in the field. Races can be won or lost if the initial runner does or does not get a good start. It takes a good mind to anticipate when to go and at what pace. If he starts too fast, he is liable to tire himself before he has completed his part of the race.

With these facts in mind, it is easy to see why the leadoff man is a vital cog in the mile relay.

Recently, varsity track coach Bob Grieve has utilized the services of Charlie Brown, a half-back on the football team during the fall. The speedy Brown has turned out to be more of what Coach Grieve has been looking for in leadoff man. Although Charlie has not reached his peak as yet, the track mentor has expressed delight at Brown's performances so far.

However, Grieve is not going

CHARLIE BROWN

overboard on his appraisal of Charlie because he realizes there is plenty of room for improvement.

In the Millrose Games in Madison Square Garden, the Massillon, Ohio speedster turned in what Grieve termed as one of the best performances by a leadoff man in a long time. His time, eclipsed his best time for the quarter mile. He ran in a fine time of 51.4 seconds, two-tenths of a second better than his personal mark he achieved in high school.

In addition to running the mile relay in high school, he specialized in the hurdles. He ran the 180 lows and the 120 highs as a freshman, sophomore, and junior. As a soph, he was the district high hurdle champion. Junior year he was the district low hurdle champ and he was a member of the mile relay team that won the district championship.

When Charlie entered Syracuse, he ran a little and competed in the IC4A's on the freshman medley relay team running the 220 yard leg of the race. When asked why he went out for the track team, he said that he wanted to prove that he could do something on his own and that he loved to compete. Another reason was that it would be easier to keep in shape. Charlie states that the leadoff spot on the team has been a real challenge because he must judge how fast he has to move out and get in an advantageous position.

A liberal arts student, Charlie has expressed the desire to play four or five years of professional football and then go into some form of public relations as a field representative.

Grid Slate

1964 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Sept. 19	at Boston College
Sept. 26	KANSAS
Oct. 3	at Holy Cross
Oct. 10	U.C.L.A.
Oct. 17	at Penn State
Oct. 24	at Oregon State
Oct. 31	PITTSBURGH
Nov. 7	Army (N.Y.C.)
Nov. 14	VIRGINIA TECH
Nov. 21	at West Virginia

1965 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Sept. 18	at Navy
Sept. 25	MIAMI (FLA.)
Oct. 2	at Maryland
Oct. 9	at UCLA
Oct. 16	PENN STATE
Oct. 23	HOLY CROSS
Oct. 30	at Pittsburgh
Nov. 6	OREGON STATE

Hope Fades For 4 Students

Litwin Points to Deficiencies "So Someone Will React"

By AUDREY LIPPMAN
Junior Editor

Another ten strikes, points which should be considered by the University as constructive criticism rather than aimed to hurt anyone," were listed Wednesday by Jay Litwin speaker of the Joint Student Legislature.

Litwin referred to a previous speech of his in which he had listed another ten points that should "have had annoyed enough people to react and do something about making corrections, but didn't."

"The university is a family made up of students, faculty and administration," said Litwin. "One part won't hit the other but student government, as representatives of the student body, should offer constructive criticism."

The points Litwin listed included closing of classes before the end of registration, the lack of a correct, revised final examination schedule, and several classes held in the same classroom at the same time.

He also discussed placing the student seats at the fieldhouse closer to the basketball court, putting extension phones in all campus buildings, setting up a good advisory system, building the new proposed library, the number of elevators in the new "high-rise" dormitory having hairnets on the women who serve food in food service and having a daily Daily Orange.

Litwin said several students who registered on the last two days of registration found classes closed. He asked why the administration could not open another section of a course if there were 30 or more students interested.

A final exam schedule, complete with rooms, correct dates and times would be a great asset to the student body, he said. Litwin asked that students be notified of this information "at least seven to eight hours before the exam".

The first days of classes this semester found several courses all scheduled in the same room at the same time. Litwin asked if it would be possible to correctly schedule these classes before registration to eliminate such conflicts.

Seats closer to the basketball court give the home team a real incentive as well as enabling students to see the players without field glasses, Litwin said.

A committee is now investigating the possibility of putting extension phones in several campus buildings. Last year, under student government leadership and influence, phones were placed in the assemblies of the main library and H. B. Crouse Hall. Litwin mentioned his experience

(Continued on Page 5)

Searchers Continue Despite Weather On Mt. Washington

By ANDY PORTE
News Editor

EN ROUTE TO LACONIA, N.H. — Hope dimmed Wednesday for four Syracuse University students missing since Friday in New Hampshire's Presidential Mountain Range.

Jack Godden, information officer for the United States Forest Service in Laconia, said the group's chances for survival are "slim, and they get slimmer with each day."

The four have not been seen since they left the Glen House near Route 16 Friday for a 17-mile weekend hike. Search parties set out Monday when the hikers did not arrive at Crawford Notch, their intended destination.

Missing are: Peter Catelli, 18, of Rouses Point, a sophomore; Craig Fournier, 18, of Tonawanda, a freshman; Robert Koppe, 21, of Massapequa Park, a junior; and Peter Bradford, 25, of Syracuse, also a junior. Bradford is a student in the College of Liberal Arts, while the other three are students in the State University College of Forestry.

Two four-passenger piper tri-pacers were preparing to join the search this morning. Poor visibility prevented use of the planes Wednesday.

Godden said the main hope for locating the group rests on a turn in the weather, which has battered the area with near zero temperature and winds ranging up to 100 miles per hour.

The Boston division of the U.S. Weather Bureau said temperatures in the search area today should range between 15-20 degrees, with winds diminishing to 45 miles per hour, joined with a possibility of clearing skies. A chance of snow was forecast for tonight.

Fifty men from five different organizations participated in Wednesday's search, which covered 34 miles of

(Continued on Page 5)

Van Derven, Rehm Seek IFC Nod

By CAROL RUBRIGHT

Nominations for president and vice president of the '64-'65 InterFraternity Council were opened Wednesday at the first IFC meeting of the year, at Lambda Chi Alpha.

Nominated were: President, Gary C. Rehm (Acacia), George Van Derven (Alpha Chi Rho); vice president, Jack White (Phi Kappa Psi), Peter Stern (Tau Epsilon Phi).

Nominations were left open and applications for president and vice president will be accepted at the fraternity administrator's office until noon Friday.

(continued on page 6)

FRATERNITY RUSH SCHEDULE SET

Formal Rush Schedule
Series A, Fri. 6:30-7:30; Sat., 2:30-3:30; Sun., 12:30-1:30
Series B, Fri., 7:30-8:30; Sat., 12:30-1:30; Sun., 1:30-2:30
Series C, Fri., 5:30-6:30; Sat., 1:30-2:30; Sun., 2:30-3:30

Copland Receives Honorary Today

By RENEE BRAUN

One of America's leading conductors and composers Aaron Copland, is visiting the campus today. He will receive an honorary doctor of humane letters degree this afternoon and conduct a concert this evening.

Copland will speak on "The Composer's Experience" preceding the honorary degree ceremony. The lecture and ceremony will take place at 4 p.m. in Hendricks Chapel. The lecture is being given as part of the regular humanities lecture series.

At 8:30 p.m., Copland will perform with the Krasner Chamber Music Ensemble in Crouse College Auditorium. Two of his works will be featured in the program. They are "Nocturne for Strings" and "Set of Old American Songs."

Following the concert, he will lead a discussion on music and the American scene. All tickets for the concert have been sold out.

Professor Louis Krasner of the School of Music, a personal friend of the composer, will be Copland's sponsor. The presentation of the degree will be made by Chancellor William P. Tolley.

This will be the composer's second appearance at SU. Five years ago he conducted the SU Symphony Orchestra as part of the annual Festival of the Arts. During his life time Copland has written many compositions including three ballets on American subjects: Appalachian Spring, Billy the Kid, and Rodeo. Besides his three popular ballet scores, his best known works include his Symphony No. 3, El Salon Mexico, Quiet City, Lincoln Portrait, Dance Symphony, Piano Concerto, and the Tender Land.

The famed composer has appeared as a soloist and conductor with many of the world's leading orchestras. This month he appeared as a pianist soloist with the New York Philharmonic.

In addition to winning the 1945 Pulitzer Prize for music, Copland has received seven honorary degrees, a Hollywood Oscar and the New York Critics Circle Award.

Four books have been written by Copland. They are "What to Listen for in Music", "Our New Music", "Music and Imagination" and "Copland on Music".

Receives Degree Today

Composer AARON COPLAND talks with his friend Prof. LOUIS KRASNER of the School of Music. Copland, winner of an Academy Award for his film score of "The Heiress", and one of America's foremost composers, will receive an honorary doctor of humane letters degree today.

A Slap In the Face

The Syracuse student body received a not-so polite slap in the face on Tuesday night. The would-be speaker with Dean Stephen K. Bailey of the Maxwell School was supposed to be Bayard Rustin, but Mr. Rustin bypassed Syracuse University for a cocktail party at the Russian embassy.

Phoning Tuesday afternoon to say he was "too tired," Rustin cancelled the proposed public citizenship seminar on "Civil Rights and Civil Disobedience." Since all material was released earlier in the day affirming the seminar, the university was faced with placating an annoyed group of listeners who arrived at the scheduled time, expecting to hear Rustin.

One cannot blame the university for failure to inform the public of the cancellation of the lecture, since the change in plans was after all campus communications had closed. A solitary green sheet appeared on the Maxwell door, "Rustin Lecture Cancelled."

The citizenship department went through the ordeal of placing phone calls to all freshman living centers, informing the students of the cancellation. In addition, the main gate guard was advised to tell all local residents of the change in plans.

Security police reported today that a large number of cars entered the campus.

To say that we are miffed is not enough. The university and entire academic community on the Hill has been snubbed for a martini, or was it vodka?

Accusations flew earlier today that Rustin's attendance at the cocktail party was due to his previous affiliation with the Communist party, an effort to discredit the boycott in New York City.

Whatever the reason for Rustin's failure to appear on the Hill, the university should accept only one.

Does cocktail party, given in the name of ideology not espoused by the majority of Americans outweigh the possibility of clearing up a misunderstanding and permitting a man to speak freely on a subject which has ruled his life?

All Alone

Bulletin. . . four Syracuse University students are lost on the side of a mountain in New Hampshire. . . they have disappeared. . . search parties go out to find them. . .

What happens when people are lost like this? They become newsworthy; their classmates hope for them; their associates express confidence in their ability to stay alive.

And, most important, people who have never even met them stop a second, listen to a broadcast, express the hope that they'll be found alive, and maybe even stop in at the Chapel to offer a prayer.

Yes, even in the world where corruption and dishonesty and lack of regard for fellow men seem to reign, there is a ray of hope. For each individual, as he stops to ponder the plight of the lost mountain climbers, embodies a part of that hope.

Millstones and Milestones

Back to the Crowd

By Dan Stone

I see by Tuesday's Daily Orange that Ron Corwin has been fired or dismissed — choose the term you like best — from the Daily Orange. I realize that this subject has already been treated on this page, but there are a couple of thoughts I would like to add, not about Corwin (whom I never knew too well) but about this kind of action.

To make clear where I stand at the outset, I think the fact that Ron Corwin will no longer appear on this page is a loss — a loss to the paper and a loss to the campus.

About Ninety per cent of the time I disagreed with what he said; I know a number of people who disagreed more often and more violently. But really, what difference does this make? A columnist's job is not so much to mirror the opinions of the campus or to be objective about any given situation; rather a column serves as a rostrum for ideas, a point of departure for campus discussion. To these ends Corwin served ably.

It is said he was one-sided (I think I've suggested that before in this column). He was. But Victor Reisel is no less of a columnist for building most of his columns around the problems of labor.

But Corwin's dismissal means still more to me. Each fall some administrator, probably chosen by lot, gets to tell incoming freshmen that their test scores are the highest, their high school averages the best, of any group that has ever passed through these hallowed halls.

AS A RESULT the administrator beams. The freshmen, men, who have heard how difficult everything is supposed to be here, smile a bit tentatively. The Word is then issued from the platform.

You are the leaders of These future leaders rise reassured and, with a few exceptions, step out of the chapel or fieldhouse to melt into a faceless crowd.

A FUTURE LEADER should be able to communicate with those he is leading. If so, the number of future leaders at Syracuse is limited from the start. Syracuse has a number of channels for communication. The Daily Orange, WAER, or, if you prefer to go undercover, the Sword, all provide a rather wide platform which Syracuse students can air their views. And yet none of these operates with a gigantic working staff. Most feel it necessary to actively recruit new staffs each year.

In itself this would not constitute a serious problem. A number of students feel they don't have the time, some don't have the talent to work regularly on any of these. But the problem goes deeper than this.

In this paper, the Letters to the Editor column should elicit regularly a somewhat informed response from the general campus to a variety of university (or hopefully more earth shaking) problems. But how many times do we open to the column to read about Food Service, the pros and cons of rushing, and freshman English. And how many times the signatures are the same.

How many discussion classes are dominated by one or two students (One Maxwell instructor put it in a nut shell, "Sure I'd like everyone to say at least something, most of them don't seem to have anything they want to say.")

Political activity on campus is in the hands of a very few, and a few that are the same from year to year. I suppose this is true of politics everywhere, but it seems a shame that when we have tomorrow's leaders assembled here, no more are jostling to hold the reins.

It is into a gap like this that the Ron Corwins come. They are a group dedicated to throwing a spark into a potential but apathetic tinderbox — a group which, right or wrong, is willing to stand up and be counted.

No one can challenge an editor's right to have the columnists he wants any more than the Senate usually challenges a President to the cabinet he wants.

And yet when a person is willing to stand up and be counted, willing to say some thing risky in a school whose official motto is "Suos Cultores Scientia Coronat" but whose unofficial motto seems to be "Don't Rock the Boat," it seems a shame to try and push him back to the crowd

LETTERS

Incident

In conjunction with your editorial, "Just A Little Understanding," which appeared on October 25, 1963 issue of Daily Orange, I would like to narrate a short incident which has something to do on "mutual understanding."

The "international students" were invited by "The Syracuse World Affairs Council" to the "sixth annual open house for international students" last February 2, 1963, at Marshall Hall, College of Forestry.

I must say that "The World Affairs Council" should be commended for this wonderful work they are doing in promoting mutual understanding and friendly relations not only among international students but also with Americans whom we found to be generous and hospitable. Most Americans have that ready and warm smile which immediately makes one feel at home and warm in spite of the biting cold winter months. There was, however, one incident which I hope does not reflect the thinking of most Americans.

In the party held at Marshall Hall, last February 2, I had the privilege of being introduced to a kindly looking American. Upon seeing my "paper tag" with my name and country pinned on my lapel, he said:

"Ah, so you are from the Philippines!"

"Yes, I am," I replied.

"And how's your President Mr. Macapagal?"

"He is fine, thank you."

"Say," he continued, "what's wrong with your President, he is fraternizing with Sukarno and trying also to grab North Borneo?"

This last question was really unexpected but I was glad for giving me the opportunity to explain the position of the Philippines. I told him that the Philippines is friendly to all countries who would like to sincerely make friends with us. With respect to the Philippine claim to North Borneo, the Filipinos have strong legal and valid claims because that part of Borneo was merely leased by the Sultan of Sulu. The Filipinos are willing to settle the North Borneo question by peaceful means.

While as I said, that incident gave me the opportunity of explaining the position of the Philippines, I wonder, however, if such "purely social function" is the right time and place to discuss politics. Or, should we, foreign students, be prepared to answer that kind of questions whenever we are invited to social functions here in the United States?

RODOLFO ARIZALA
Graduate Student
International Relations

POLICY ON LETTERS

The letters column is maintained for the expression of opinion by readers. However, the Daily Orange reserves the right to edit letters for grammar and good taste or to reject letters. Letters should be written legibly, preferably typed and no longer than 250 words. All letters must be signed with names and addresses; names will be withheld on request.

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2 February 6, 1964
Editor-in-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS
Managing Editor Clayton E. Richards
News Editor Andrew Portie
Editorial Director Adair Daline
Sports Editor Bernard MacCallum
Arts Editor Rea Turel
Photography Editor Steve Schwimmer

BUSINESS STAFF
Asst. Bus. Mgr. Jon Weisberg
Layout Managers Martha Johannek Lillian Lahr
National Ad. Mgr. Lynn Mandel
Classified Mgr. Christine Fedziak
Promotion Mgr. Stu Shapiro

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University, Offices located at 200 Brinkley Drive, Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter a U. S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

TREVER ON CAMPUS

Caught in Passing

Barba & the Beatles

by Jeff Zients

This is an important month for the entertainment business and, in particular, the record business. On the seventh, Britain's new singing sensation "The Beatles," arrive in this country for the first time to do two Sullivan shows and two concerts at Carnegie Hall.

They have the best selling sing record in this country and in many others. (I Wanna Hold Your Hand - Capitol) They also have the number three album in the U.S. (Meet The Beatles- Capitol). The group has Britain and the U. S. in a frenzy of "beatlemania" and they require more security protection from their over zealous fans than does the reigning monarch of their homeland.

Also in February at New York's Winter Garden Theater a new musical comedy based on the life of Fanny Brice will open. Barbra Streisand has the lead and, if the out of town notices are any indication, she should have Broadway at her feet come the end of the month.

Miss Streisand also heads the list of best selling albums with two discs from Columbia. The unimaginative titles of her two albums are simply "The Barbra Streisand Album" and "The Second Barbra Streisand Album." The titles are the only things dull about the Columbia packages. Her style and "vocal acting" have made her one of the top vocalists of the year. She was a favorite of our late President and sang a concert at the White House last spring.

Now then, what besides aliteration, the month of February and selling records do Barbra and the Beatles have in common? First of all the American record buying public has always been pretty well diversified and hardly ever stagnant?

The important thing is that both the "Bs" sell well and then some. They each have their own separate portions of the public wherein lies their record selling success. This is obvious enough but what is less obvious and more important is that there is such a wide spectrum in American musical taste.

While there is a certain amount of overlapping it might be said the Miss Streisand represents a certain taste in music. This might be classed into what WNEW radio calls good pop while the Beatles are part of the hard sound, the top forty or the rock.

Each is a separate entity in American music and, so it seems it in world music. Both The Beatles and Miss Streisand are popular in many places around the world. But both retain their separate followings. Other examples of Miss Streisand's school are Ella, Sinatra, etc. The Beatles are joined by Presley, Dion, Anka and others.

The point! Simple. Contrary to what is "in" American taste in music has not gone to the hound dogs or the long hairs. It is a happy mixture that encompasses all or almost all. It makes "a and men" grey. record charts most unpredictable, record companies constantly searching for "new sounds" and for a most rewarding and interesting experience for the open minded music buyer. In short, American taste is constantly changing and including both ends of the "taste" spectrum.

Classical music has also felt an upsurge in sales in the last years along with the rock and the "good pop." So the next time we are told the major record companies and it has been so for a while. Who sells lps in the U. S.? Check the charts. It reads like Sinatra, Andy Williams, Streisand, show music, folk etc.

The hard rock dominates the single sales with some loud and distinct exceptions, the Singing Nun, Al Hirt, and Jack Jones to name a few.

American musical taste is not "junk art" but more of a wide open thing where anything can happen. For me that's a lot healthier than domination on either end of the taste spectrum.

MON - FEB. 10
8:30 P. M.

Circle-in-the-Square presents

Six Characters In Search Of An Author

N. Y. Direction by Wm. Ball
Tickets: $3.00, 2.50, 2.00
Reservations, 476-4536
UNIVERSITY REGENT
THEATRE

one guy... three girls... one ring!... Paradise?

Plus "The Impersonator" Riviera CINEMA
3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. GR 5-4021

Daily Crossword Puzzle

- ACROSS
- 1 Treat for the kids: 2 words.
 - 8 Muffin.
 - 15 What the buskin symbolizes.
 - 16 Perceiving: 2 words.
 - 17 Distributor of charitable gifts.
 - 18 University officers.
 - 19 Long (for).
 - 20 Mountain of Thessaly.
 - 22 River mouths: Span.
 - 23 Affirmative.
 - 25 Item of belief.
 - 27 Campus buildings.
 - 30 Partiality.
 - 32 Vibrate.
 - 36 Scandinavian name.
 - 37 Black.
 - 38 Do a reaper's job.
 - 39 Eastern title.
 - 40 Place _____, Paris.
 - 42 "____ Freischütz."
 - 43 Grew wheat, corn, etc.
 - 45 Eurasian river.
 - 46 Fury.
 - 47 Vehicle.
 - 48 Dispute.
 - 49 English
- DOWN
- 1 Remain.
 - 2 Heraldic border.
 - 3 Lady of Spain.
 - 4 Market places.
 - 5 Figuratively, the price of thoughts.
 - 6 Poem.
 - 7 Heat: Comb. form.
 - 8 Gives the syntax of.
 - 9 New York city.
 - 10 Poke inhabitant.
 - 11 "____ hills and far away:" 2 words.
 - 12 Caesar's "I came."
 - 13 Girl's name.
 - 14 Betsy ____.
 - 21 Confront fearlessly: 3 words.
 - 24 Ran out.
 - 26 A Barrymore.
 - 27 Takes it easy.
 - 28 Subject for study in 27 Across.
 - 29 See 21 Down.
 - 31 Type of atom.
 - 33 Certain lines.
 - 34 Open.
 - 35 Bohemian headgear.
 - 37 Landmark.
 - 38 Sing.
 - 41 Pray: Lat.
 - 44 _____ Temple.
 - 48 Moved like the sea.
 - 49 Very proper persons.
 - 51 Income, in France.
 - 53 Writer Havelock.
 - 54 Berber's neighbor.
 - 55 The cost of going.
 - 56 Italian saint's name.
 - 58 Place for work.
 - 60 Words to a tot.
 - 61 Ballerina's skirt.
 - 62 Printer's term.
 - 64 Rather: Suffix.
 - 66 Time.

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

She'll love a Valentine charm FROM Rudolph's

Valentine's Day jewelry advertisement featuring various items and prices:

- I Love You: 3.99
- Heart with Pearl: 3.99
- Two Hearts: 3.99
- Stop Sign: 3.99
- Girl's Head: 3.99
- Boy's Head: 3.99
- Calendar: 3.99

14K Gold Save 40% 3.99 plus tax

ALL PRICES PLUS TAX

Rudolph's advertisement for 14 Karat Gold Bracelets and a Sweetheart Diamond ring:

27.99, 22.99, 8.99

14 Karat Gold Bracelets

Sweetheart Diamond
Twin-hearts with sparkling diamond.
10K gold.
6.99
reg. $10.95 Coupon expires Feb. 14th.

Rudolph's
DEPENDABLE JEWELERS SINCE 1906

Convenient terms.

DOWNTOWN, S. Salina & E. Jefferson Sts.
Open Mon. & Fri. Evenings and FAIRMOUNT Fair. Open Evenings Mon. to Fri.
Nearby Stores: Auburn, Oswego, Fulton, Utica, Ithaca, Rome and Watertown

Vending Machines: Aid To 'Starving' Students

By CISSY POSSELT

FOOD! Isn't that the first thing you think of when your thoughts wander from studying?

If so, don't worry, you're as normal as any student — your next move, after the hunger sets in, of course, is to go to the machines in your dorm or living center.

There, you'll find an array of mechanical monsters, displaying a variety of delicacies ranging from soup to nuts and including pastries, candy, cigarettes, ice cream, soft drinks, coffee and hot chocolate. . . Wander into any food machine center and you can aid to the list.

Perhaps the most frustrating experience a student can have with the food machines is to be hungry and have the wrong kind of money.

The "wrong kind" in this case, however, is not counterfeit, but money in bills. For the machines are particular; they will usually take only nickels, dimes or quarters. And the student with only a $20 bill is most likely to starve, unless he can find someone to make change for him.

And the machinery is temperamental. Did you ever put your coin into the slot and wait for that luscious Macintosh apple to appear? And nothing happened. . . did it? Of course it was your VERY LAST dime and you were simply STARVING!

That machine CHEATED you! That's just exactly what you thought, wasn't it?

The next time one of the metal monsters "cheats" you, think back a minute before you kick the machine and call it names.

Didn't it ever happen that you slid your dime into the slot and not one, but TWO apples appeared? After that happened, you probably walked back to your room feeling that you had won a minor battle.

Yes, the machines are fallible. Yes, they're temperamental. Yes, sometimes they may return the wrong amount of change.

But the biggest of the "Yesses" remains that without them, those all-nighters and minutes between classes would be characterized by hunger pangs instead of happy, full stomachs.

ISO to Meet

International Students Organization will meet at 8 p.m. Friday, in the Chapel House. The informal meeting will include dancing, refreshments and games.

PALISCI: 183 MOVES

Political Science 157, World Politics, will meet in 304 Hall of Languages today, according to Dr. Robert Gregg, professor of political science.

Insert Dime . . .

Hill students Barbara Smythe and Arthur Percheta take that "pause that refreshes" in H. B. Crouse at the machinery oasis.

Syracuse Symphony

KARL KRITZ, conductor

SAT. FEB 8 8:30 P.M.

IN PERSON: CELESTE HOLM

WORKS BY:

Henry Mancini, Johnny Green, Ernest Gold, Miklos Rozsa, Dimitri Tiomkin and others.

MUSIC FROM:

Laura, Gone with the Wind, Spellbound, Never on Sunday, Lawrence of Arabia, Days of Wine and Roses, Sunday, Lawrence of Arabia, Days of Wine and Roses, etc.

MUSIC FROM THE MOVIES

TICKETS — $1.50 — $3.50

UNRESERVED — $.75

Bernie Manheim's BON-TON

SEAT COVERS

Kleer Plastic
Saran Plastic
Nylon
Fiber

FREE INSURANCE ESTIMATES

Give a Bon-Ton Gift Certificate

Hickok Auto Seat Belts

BOAT TOPS, COVERS
and WINDSHIELDS

CONVERTIBLE TOPS
To Fit All Cars

BON-TON

OPEN
Daily 9 A.M. to 6 P.M.
Mon. - Fri. 'til 9 P.M.
PH. GR 6-3107
GR 6-3031

420 Erie Blvd., East

BERT'S RENT A CAR

2 OFFICES — Pay and Rte. 11
Thompson and Molloy

$4.95 per Day

5¢ per Mile

Phone HE 7-8909 - HE 7-8191 -

Many Other Plans to Choose From

FREE PICKUP — Join Our Unlimited Mileage Plan
$35 Minimum Deposit
Student I. D. Required

THE INNER MAN

College is fun and frolic and fulfillment—except for one melancholy omission: we don't get to enjoy Mom's home cooking. (In my own undergraduate days, curiously enough, I did not undergo this deprivation; my mother, a noted cross-country runner, was never home long enough to cook a meal until her legs gave out last Arbor Day.)

But most of us arrive at college with fond gastric memories of Mom's nourishing delicacies, and we are inclined now and then to heave great racking sighs as we contemplate the steam tables in the campus cafeteria. Take, for an extreme example, the case of Finster Sigafos.

Finster, a freshman at one of our great Eastern universities (Oregon State) came to college accustomed to home cooking of a kind and quantity enjoyed by very few. Until entering college, Finster had lived all his life in Europe, where his father was an eminent fugitive from justice. Finster's mother, a natural born cook, was mistress of the haute cuisine of a dozen countries, and Finster grew up living and eating in the Continental manner.

He arose each morning at ten and breakfasted lightly on figs,

My mother was a noted cross country runner

hot chocolate, and brioche. (It is interesting to note, incidentally, that brioche was named after its inventor, perhaps the greatest of all French bakers, Jean-Claude Brioche (1634-1921). M. Brioche, as we all know, also invented croissants, French toast, and—in a curious departure—the electric razor. Other immortal names in the history of bread-stuffs are the German, Otto Pumpernickel (1509-1848) who invented pumpernickel and thus became known to posterity as The Iron Chancellor; the two Americans, William Cullen Raisin (1066-1812) and Walter Rye (1931-1932) who collaborated on the invention of raisin rye; and, of course, Hans Christian Andersen (1805-1875) who invented Danish pastry.)

But I digress. Finster, I say, breakfasted lightly at ten a.m. At eleven a.m. his Mom brought him his elevenses. At twelve she brought him his twelveses. At 1:30 she served his lunch: first a clear broth; then a fish course (porgy and bass); then an omelette; then the main course—either a saddle of lamb, an eye of sirloin, or a glass of chicken fat; then a salad of escarole; and finally a lemon soufflé.

At three p.m. Mom served Finster low tea, at five p.m. high tea, and at ten p.m. dinner—first a bowl of petite marmite (she trapped the marmites herself); then a fish course (wounded trout); then an omelette of turtle eggs; then the main course—either duck with orange or a basin of farina; then a salad of unborn elcory; and finally a caramel mousse.

And then Finster went off to college, which reminds me of Marlboro Cigarettes. (Actually it doesn't remind me of Marlboro Cigarettes at all, but the makers of Marlboro pay me to write this column and they are inclined to get surly if I fail to mention their product. Mind you, I don't object to mentioning their product—no sir, not one bit. Marlboro's flavor is flavorful, the filter filters, the soft pack is soft, the Flip-Top box flips, and the tattoo is optional. Marlboros are available wherever cigarettes are sold in all fifty states of the Union. Next time you're in the U.S.A., try a pack.)

But I digress. We were speaking of Finster Sigafos who went from Continental dining to dormitory feeding. So whenever you feel sorry for yourself, think of Finster, for it always lifts the heart to know somebody is worse off than you are.

© 1964 Max Shulman

We, the makers of Marlboro, can't say whether European food beats ours, but this we believe: America's cigarettes lead the whole world. And this we further believe: among America's cigarettes, Marlboros are the finest.

NEED A CAR? CALL HERTZ

● RENT A NEW CHEVROLET OR OTHER FINE CAR

● LOW HERTZ RATES INCLUDE EVERYTHING
INSURANCE AND GAS

COMPACT Any Weekend 24 Hr. Period

$5.00 — 9
537 S. Warren
Airport

RESERVATIONS

454-2496
GR 4-6578
GL 4-2311

Litwin Points to Deficiencies Searches Continue

(Continued from Page 1)
ience with the SU advisory system during his freshman year. "I had seven advisors in four or five weeks," he said, "because the men advising me were not familiar with the course I wanted."

He suggested "it would be a good idea to give someone an advisor in the field of interest they indicate."

The last time he attended the university design board Litwin said, "they were planning to build a library underground." Litwin suggested "a library be put up in the air, so as not to bury academics on this campus."

Litwin discussed the proposed plans for the new dormitory next to Sadler Hall. Only three elevators for this dormitory are planned, he said.

The speaker noted that three elevators in Dell Plain Hall require several students to wait 10 minutes to travel from the ground floor to the eighth. "The new dorm will be 20 stories high," he said. "How can three elevators be enough?"

There is a city ordinance requiring women who work behind a food counter to wear hairnets, Litwin said. In at least one dormitory, they do not wear these hairnets, he noted, mentioning Kimmel dining hall in this discussion.

The speaker also said that that evening he had found a piece of wire in his salad served in food service.

"A newspaper is a very important aspect of a university," Litwin said. Since there are only 26 college dailies in the nation,

"if you have one of the best, it helps to keep it up," he said. A three times a week paper could never keep abreast of the news on this campus, he said.

A motion concerning students officers who go abroad while holding office was passed by two-thirds of the legislature and made a part of the Student Government elections act.

The amendment said that all elected officers must accept the responsibilities of their office and were not eligible to attend any overseas branches of SU while that term of office lasts.

A proposal for a student tax to allow student government, as representative of the student body, to present good cultural and social programs was presented and referred to committee.

With the present budget of $2,300, the student government barely has the money to keep up the offices and conduct elections. Any additional monies must be procured from the university, social committee.

Ronald Mittleman, former JSI speaker, said the idea is to be independent of the university for funds. "not that we don't want to work with the university," he said, "but because we understand it cannot afford to give us money for the top name entertainment we would like or a large cultural program for the benefit of the student body."

"It is up to us, as a legislature, to get the money to use for the student benefit," he said. Mittleman noted that this would actually save money for the student in the long run because tickets for concerts and entertainment would be cheaper than they are now.

He noted that only if the student wanted a small tax would student government function in programming for the student body.

Representatives were notified that surveys concerning course evaluations would be distributed to students in about two weeks by the Student Conduct and Welfare Committee, under the chairmanship of Kathy Kap-sol.

All food service questionnaires must be turned into the student government office by Friday.

Hearings on food service will be conducted for the next two weeks on Monday and Tuesday. Watson dining hall will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in Watson and Graham will meet at 9 p.m. Monday in Day Hall. Sims will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Dell Plain Hall.

(Continued from Page 1)

trail in the area near where the students had planned to hike. However, winds and poor visibility prevented searchers from covering the main trail.

The searching party on the main trail, led by William Putnam, of Springfield, Mass., turned back shortly after noon where the routes became "impassable." The other searchers returned to the White Mountain National Forest Headquarters between 7-8 p.m.

Several pieces of food wrappings were found by a searching party on the Osgood Trail, where snowshoe prints identified as those of the hikers were found Tuesday. Forest Service officials were attempting to determine if the food wrappings belonged to the missing students.

Today's search parties were scheduled to leave the headquarters by 8 a.m. Both planes were to be in the air by 7 a.m. if skies are clear, Godden said. The planes will cruise at an altitude of 140-160 feet.

Syracuse University Outing Club officials revealed Wednesday that each of the four hikers carried a 75-pound pack with food and supplies. The group was carrying two tents, club officials said. All four hikers were members of the outing club but the hike was not a club sponsored excursion.

University Vice President for Student Affairs Eric H. Faigle said that Dean John S. Hafer, university dean of personal services, was to leave Syracuse for Laconia, arriving at the search headquarters in mid-afternoon. Several other university officials were also considering going to the search area, Faigle said.

The parents of three of the missing hikers arrived at the site Wednesday. Catelli's parents planned to remain in Rouse's Point.

EUROPEAN JET

round trip SWISS AIR

Summer Charter

for Syracuse students, faculty employees and their immediate families only.

only $285

Leaves: June 13th to Paris

Returns: September 5th from London

The response to our initial announcement of the charter has been so great that we urge those who are interested to make their reservations as soon as possible.

also available: special student tour $775

car rentals
eurail passes

For further information and reservations contact:

Alan Roth
Tau Epsilon Phi
GR 2-9486

or

Chan Rudd
Delta Upsilon
GR 5-9048

Like most of us, you probably feel pressured at times with the demands made on you for original thinking, — for fresh ideas that will lift your work above the commonplace. Through the study of this book, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, we are learning how to turn to God for the intelligent ideas we need. You can do this, too.

We invite you to come to our meetings and to hear how we are working out our problems through applying the truths of Christian Science.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ORGANIZATION

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY

Meeting time: 6:45 Tuesdays
Meeting place: Colonial Room
Hendricks Chapel

Science and Health is available at all Christian Science Reading Rooms and at many college bookstores. Paperback Edition $1.95.

Between the Lines—

Archives Accent History

The SU Library

The memory of an institution is made up of its records and archives. The primary objective of the Syracuse University Archives is the collection, preservation and servicing of the non-current official records of the University. The archivist operates on the premise that records constitute historical evidence and serve as original sources for the reconstruction of the past and the interpretation of experiences. He attempts to acquire and preserve the records created by the university faculty and staff in the performance of their official duties and obligations -- administrative, instructional, legal and research. He also attempts to acquire semi-official records of university life such as student publications, records of student clubs, organizations and classes, pictures and scrapbooks.

By having a systematic program for the preservation of the official records of the University, the faculty and staff will be aided in planning future policy by knowing what happened in the past, by knowing why certain programs were initiated and others terminated and by knowing the philosophy behind the numerous decisions respecting academic matters as well as non-academic activities.

But when establishing an archival program for the preservation of an institutions' records, the archivist usually has to contend with the general misconception of the nature of the archives. Most people look upon the archives as a place where a miscellaneous jumble of unique items are stored in a locked vault or a basement or attic. To these people the Syracuse University Archives would be a place where one would keep such things as the pen or desk and chair used by a famous professor, ribbons used in the dedication of new buildings, bits of wallpaper used in buildings long since destroyed, old diplomas and scrapbooks, old student bills or class schedules, or perhaps single letters from famous individuals and which are more important for their autographs than their contents. The archives does preserve some items of this nature, but its main holdings consist of organic bodies or records, systematically arranged and made available to administrative officers, faculty members and individuals doing serious research. These records are preserved for administrative, historical or research purposes.

Unfortunately, some administrators and faculty members fail to realize that the records which result from their numerous activities have value beyond serving the purposes for which they were created. They do not consider that these records may have evidential values -- administrative, legal, or research -- and might be important to their successor or prove valuable to the historian or sociologist in the years to come. They also fail frequently to realize the importance of their work at any given moment and as a result do not keep adequate records of activities which in retrospect prove to be significant or which contribute to an important series of events. By destroying any part of the records, the source from which action in the first instance originated cannot be traced and the complete story cannot be told.

Students frequently use the material in the Archives when preparing articles or term papers relating to some aspect of the University. The student publications, the verticle file of newspaper clippings, official publications of the various university schools and colleges, and the photograph file are especially useful in providing information for these papers and for answering reference questions. The series of student publications are especially prized as the archives contains complete sets of most, if not all, of the student newspapers, magazines and journals, beginning with the June, 1872, issue of the University Herald, the first Syracuse University student publication. Not only does the Archives contain such familiar literary undertakings as the Daily Orange, the Onondagan, and the Syracuse 10, but lesser known and nearly forgotten journals such as The Argot, the Dilemma, The Phoenix, The Salt Shaker, The Spectre and The Vamp to name only a few. When representatives of the Daily Orange needed for their anniversary edition a copy of the first page of the first issue of the Daily Orange, they went to the archives to borrow the archives copy.

People from sources outside the University frequently consult the records in the archives. Biographers occasionally use our records when they are writing a biography of someone who attended Syracuse University or who was a member of the faculty or staff. Frequently scholars writing on some aspect of the history of American higher education consult the University records. One recent example was a professor preparing a study for the American Association of University Professors on the origin and early history of sabbatical leaves in American colleges and universities.

Van Derven, Rehm

(continued from page 1)

for formal rush Monday, according to Art Perchetz (Phi Epsilon Pi), IFC rush chairman.

Perchetz requested volunteers from all fraternities to work as IFC checkers during formal rush this weekend. At least 30 men, one to be stationed in each house are needed. Volunteers should register before 5 p.m. Thursday with the fraternity administrator.

An investigation of the deferred rush systems used successfully at other colleges will be carried out by a newly-formed committee under the direction of Fred Bochner and Art Perchetz, this year's rushing chairmen.

Campaign speeches and elections were scheduled, according to IFC president George (Skip) Stange (Sigma Chi). Candidates will speak at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 12, 910 H. B. Crouse Hall, and final election of president, vice president, under-secretary and under-treasurer will be at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 19, 910 HBC.

Treasurer and secretary will be appointed by the IFC executive committee upon recommendation of the IFC. All nominees are required to have been IFC members for one semester.

About 350 rushees, almost as many as last year, registered

KNIT NOOK

The Finest in IMPORTED YARNS

To Make Great SKI SWEATERS

AT DISCOUNT PRICES

2 COMPLETE STORES

DOWNTOWN DEWITT

824 S. Salina GR 1-1317 8250 Erie Blvd. GI 6-6317

INTERNATIONAL CANDY and GOURMET SHOP

has

COOKIES CANDY FOODS

from Petite Fours Mexican Delicacies

England Parisiens Indian Paptadums

Holland Chocolate Nougates Caterpillars

Ireland Ass. Swiss Choc. Rattlesnake Meat

Germany Fried Grasshoppers

And a host of other fine products from the world over

161 Marshall Street

COURT TO MEET

Joint Student Court will meet at 7 p.m. today on Chapel House. Attendance is imperative, Chief Justice Herbert Lustig said.

PEERLESS PRESS, Inc.

PRINTERS

1112 E. Fayette Street

Between University & Walnut

COMPLETE PRINTING SERVICE

at your doorstep

GR 6-6051

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

S	P	A	N	M	A	S	K	D	E	A	T	H
L	O	G	G	I	N	C	A	I	S	S	I	S
A	G	I	N	S	T	A	N	D	S	T	I	L
G	O	O	D	H	E	A	R	T	E	D	D	E
E	A	R	S	E	A	R	S	E	S	T
A	M	A	S	S	E	S	A	R	I	A
F	O	U	C	H	P	I	P	I	N	G	H	O
A	V	E	R	D	A	Z	E	S	A	E	I	R
P	E	R	I	M	E	T	E	R	S	M	I	L
F	O	M	E	S	C	O	U	R	E	D
P	L	A	T	T	E	R	E	L	F
E	E	N	H	A	R	D	A	N	D	F	A	S
C	O	N	V	E	N	I	E	N	T	I	L	L
O	N	A	I	R	A	L	I	E	N	E	A	P
S	A	L	E	S	L	E	E	R	S	E	N	E

livelier lather for really smooth shaves! 1.00 lasting freshness glides on fast, never sticky! 1.00 brisk, bracing the original spice-fresh lotion! 1.25.

Old Spice

SUPER SMOOTH SHAVE

Old Spice

Old Spice

AFTER SHAVE LOTION

SHULTON

Old Spice...with that crisp, clean masculine aroma!

Hill Authorities Speculate Students' Fate

By JESSE SMITH

Speculation among those familiar with the four lost SU students and the area in which are lost ranged from hopeful to pessimistic. Although little concrete information was available Wednesday, it appears the students face hazards from wind, cold, exposure and lack of food. DO sources repeatedly emphasized, however, that the students, members of the Outing Club, are well prepared to face the normal dangers of a mountain climbing trip in the Presidential Range of New Hampshire.

Dr. Robert L. Milkman, faculty advisor of the Outing Club, said in an interview that the group's members were prepared for such a trip—that they were "not out on a lark," they were following proper procedure, and their experience and equipment were adequate. They made a previous trip to the area, according to Milkman.

Milkman made it clear that any such trip involves the possibility of mishap. "Even if you know what you're doing, once in a while you get into trouble," he said.

Dr. Milkman outlined the qualifications of the four students to undertake a trip into the Presidential Range. He described Peter Catelli, a junior in the College of Forestry, as one of the best trip leaders in the Outing Club, and said he is "thought of as knowing what he is doing and quite experienced."

Robert Koppe, a senior in the forestry school, was described as having good judgement, not inclined to take foolish risks.

Peter Bradford, a Liberal Arts junior, is the "ice climbing fan of the four ... well thought of as a trip leader," according to Dr. Milkman. The students had ice climbing equipment with them.

Craig Fournier, a forestry freshman, was somewhat experienced, although less than the others, according to Milkman.

Forestry Sophomore Earl Mirus, treasurer of the Outing Club, was also present at the interview with Milkman. He said that the club had not had experience with trips being overdue, but that it was normal for other groups in the Presidential Range. He stated that the group "had adequate equipment, clothing and food," and that "all four have been to winter mountaineering school."

A less hopeful note was sounded by Prof. George F. Earle of the College of Forestry. He had just received a call from New Hampshire, "and they're quite pessimistic." Earle's information as of noon Wednesday was that search planes had been up in clear skies and had found no sign of the missing students.

"I'm familiar with the terrain," said Earle. He described the place as a huge mountain mass, with a big area above the treeline. He compared being in the area in bad weather, with its 100 miles per hour winds and below-zero temperatures, to being "dropped into the Atlantic Ocean in winter." He said the group's only hope was that they had reached shelter.

Earle voiced the conjecture that the students may have pitched their tents for the night, and the winds may have risen and swept them away. When questioned about this, Mirus, treasurer of the Outing Club, admitted that it was "quite possible—those tents wouldn't hold up to 90-mile winds."

Milkman voiced the hope that, if the students were caught in bad weather above the treeline, they were "holding on" and could be spotted by planes. He added that it would be difficult to find the students if they were below the treeline or in a ravine, because of the difficulty in getting planes to low altitudes.

David Tatham, assistant dean of men, who is familiar with winter conditions on Mount Washington and with the nature of mountain climbing trips in the area, emphasized the severity of the weather in the region. "In bad weather," he said, "it is about the equivalent of bad weather in Antarctica."

Discussing the experience and preparation of the group, he said that the equipment was excellent and that the students had been given extensive training. Two of the students were in the area during Thanksgiving, in good weather.

But all these things "will not help in bad weather in the Presidential Range." "The crucial thing is the judgement required as to when to get out, what to avoid," he said, and added that "at best, winter mountaineering is a dangerous sport."

Discussing the group's chances of survival, Dean Tatham called it "a question of food and warmth." He was certain that the food supply had run out by Wednesday, the sixth day of a trip expected to last only four. The problem of warmth can best be met in this case if the four students huddle together, according to the dean. But he emphasized the fact that the human body uses up enormous amounts of energy to keep warm, and that the energy can only be supplied by food.

Although he would not say a shelter, above the timberline, he was pessimistic. Tatham said that "if they are not in their chances of survival."

We try harder

$11.50 For Entire Weekend & $.10 a Mile

501 S. Salina St.

422-4171

Avis rents Fords and other fine cars

CANTATE

Records

NOW IN STOCK

Complete CANTATE Catalog

Lowest Prices Ever

List	Our Price
6.95	4.65
5.95	3.99
4.95	3.32

CANTATE

Back-Studio

ALSO

See Our Large Selection of Deutche-Grammaphone and Archive Recordings

CORNER STORE

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	$.85
2 days	1.65
3 days	3.15
4 days	2.40
5 days	3.85
6 days	5.20
7 days	4.55
8 days	5.85
9 days	6.45
10 days	7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 5-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Acad., GR 6-3995.

GREYHOUND TICKETS, schedules, information, bus and air charters. Hotel reservations, foreign tours. FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC. in the Savoy Monday-Friday 1-4, Thursday night 7-9 476-8533.

TYPEWRITERS—Rented, Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-8533. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

ACCELERATED 5 lesson course, specializing in parking, traffic, road test. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 5-3451.

LOST — NOTTINGHAM H.S. graduation ring, 1962 on Thurs. Jan. 30 while registering. Reward. GR 6-5571, ext. 5213-4 or lost and found.

FOR SALE

SORORITIES - FRATERNITIES: For

rushing, greek letter matches, napkins in proper colors. Napkins to order — many matches in stock. Name tags, pins, place cards, candles, pledge ribbons. Bookstall.

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of 4 colors of paper, 3 colors of ink 2, sizes of sheets. Bookstall.

1962 RAMBLER AMBASSADOR V-8, 4 door sedan. Automatic transmission, power brakes, power steering, reclining seats, snow tires, heater, many other extras. Perfect condition; driven only 16,000 miles. Only $1,795.00. M. W. Jennison, 210 Lyman Hall.

1959 IMPALA, 4-dr. hardtop, automatic, turbodiesel power steering-brakes, tinted glass, rear speaker, white walls. Perfect condition. $1195, ext. 2995.

1962 CHEVROLET IMPALA convertible—white, black top, automatic. P.S., power steering, 15,000 miles. Immaculate. HO 9-5782, evenings.

FREE SOLDERING, all charms bought here. Charms, lozenges, jewelry, watch repair. Greeting cards. Personalized stationery. Valentine gifts and cards. Riviera sunglasses for men and women. Ruth's Gifts, 734 S. Crouse, Introductory Sale, Crepe de Chine Cologne and Naut de L'Amour.

VGA '60 Roadster, r and h, wire wheels, snow tires, new interior, 37,000 miles. GR 5-5101.

WANTED

MEN — We need four or five men on a part-time basis from now till finals. Excellent income and experience. Call 472-Service. Training provided. Apply 121 6356.

STUDENT FOR PAGE WORK, Monday thru Friday mornings. U. S. Citizenship required. Mrs. Lipson: Syracuse Public Library, GR 4-5321.

RIDERS TO MICHIGAN, leaving Feb. 14, returning Feb. 16. Call Larry, 445-8167 after 5:30.

RIDERS — rides open to Penn State and points south—leaving Friday afternoon. Stan Kocan, 476-7679.

FRESHMEN AND SOPHOMORES to work as projectionists for Audio Visual College Place, ex. 2631.

RIDERS WANTED to Manhattan, N. Jersey and South Jersey every weekend leaving Fridays. Call 479-5161.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students APARTMENTS FOR RENT. One, two, three, and four rooms. Call 446-2799 for appointment.

UNIVERSITY SECTION, 3 room, ref., and stove, private bath and entrance. GR 2-4662.

TWO BLOCKS FROM FIELDHOUSE, 225 Lorraine Ave. Modern 4-room upper, 2 bedrooms, large closet, brick cupboards, refrigerator and stove. Picture window, living room and kitchen, ceramic tile bath, private parking area, on bus line. Available immediately, $115 NE 8-0497. GR 6-1473.

OVER 1,000 SQ. FT. of attic floor space, suitable for artist's studio, on So. Crouse Ave. 9 windows give natural illumination. Unheated. Electricity included in rental of $20.00 monthly. NE 7-5906 or NE 7-9639.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models also sales and service, special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. RA 2-1457.

EXPERT TYPING. Theorems, theses, term papers. 458-0141, after 6 p. m.

TYPING IN MY HOME. 12 years' experience. Reasonable rates. Call 488-6871 any time.

SU WINS OVERTIME THRILLER

Dean Paces Frosh Team

Niagara Falls, N.Y. — The Orange freshmen led by Rick Dean downed the baby Eagles of Niagara University 81-70 Wednesday night at the Niagara Student Center.

Dean pulled down 18 rebounds and poured in 34 points, 19 in the second half. Val Reid had 16 rebounds as the Orangemen controlled the boards.

The Niagara yearlings struck with Syracuse until 3:30 minutes were left to play, after the Orangemen had led at halftime 45-32.

The Eagles had a 69.2 shooting percentage from the floor with Syracuse hitting at a 46.7 clip. Syracuse rebounding, however, made the difference.

Dean hit on 16 of 24 field goal attempts with Harper 8 of 22 and Reid 7 of 13.

With Dean and Harper alternating buckets down the stretch the little Orange got their biggest lead of the night, 13 points, with seconds to play.

Dave Smith was high man for Niagara with 25. The baby Eagles are now 5-1 for the season.

Box Score

FROSH
SYRACUSE	fg	ft	t
Dean	16	2	34
Harper	9	1	19
Reid	6	1	13
Goldstein	5	0	10
Russo	2	0	4
French	0	1	1
Ramsdell	0	0	0
Lewis	0	0	0
Totals	38	5	81

Last Second Score

Sophomore DAVE BING scored a basket in the last second of the second overtime period to lead the Orangemen to a 83-91 victory over Niagara. Bing led the scoring with 25 points.

Top Frosh

Big RICK DEAN led the freshmen to a 81-70 victory over Niagara Frosh Wednesday night with 31 points and 18 rebounds.

Bing Shot Defeats Niagara University 83-81

By BERNARD MacCALLUM
BILL CRONAUER

Niagara Falls — A short jump shot by Dave Bing with four seconds remaining in overtime gave the Orangemen of Syracuse an 83 to 81 victory at the Niagara University Student Center Wednesday night.

Syracuse called time out with 34 seconds remaining in the overtime period after Art Coleman had tied the score at 81-81. The Orange waited for one final shot before Bing drove to the baseline and threw a bank shot to win the game.

Niagara had tied the score at 73-73 in regulation time on Dom Ventura's only bucket of the game with 15 seconds left. Bing tried an outside shot as the buzzer rang which rolled off the rim and was no good.

No more than four points separated the teams after two minutes of play in the second half. Phil Schoff and Chuck Richards scored 16 points apiece in the second half and overtime periods. Schoff entered the game for the first time at the start of the second half and had a hot hand in leading the Orangemen to close a 39-32 half time deficit.

Coach Freddy Lewis had Syracuse using a zone defense which proved effective in the first half until Pat Broderick started hitting from the outside.

In the second half George Phillips hit for 18 points.

Richards started slow for the Orangemen before coming on strong in the scoring department in the second half. Schoff got the first six points for Syracuse to start the second frame. From then on it was Richards and Phillips alternating buckets. They both started the overtime period with foul trouble. Norm Goldsmith, Richards, Schoff and Bing all had a bucket in the five-minute overtime period. The game was played in a bandbox type gymnasium before highly enthusiastic and partisan hometown crowds.

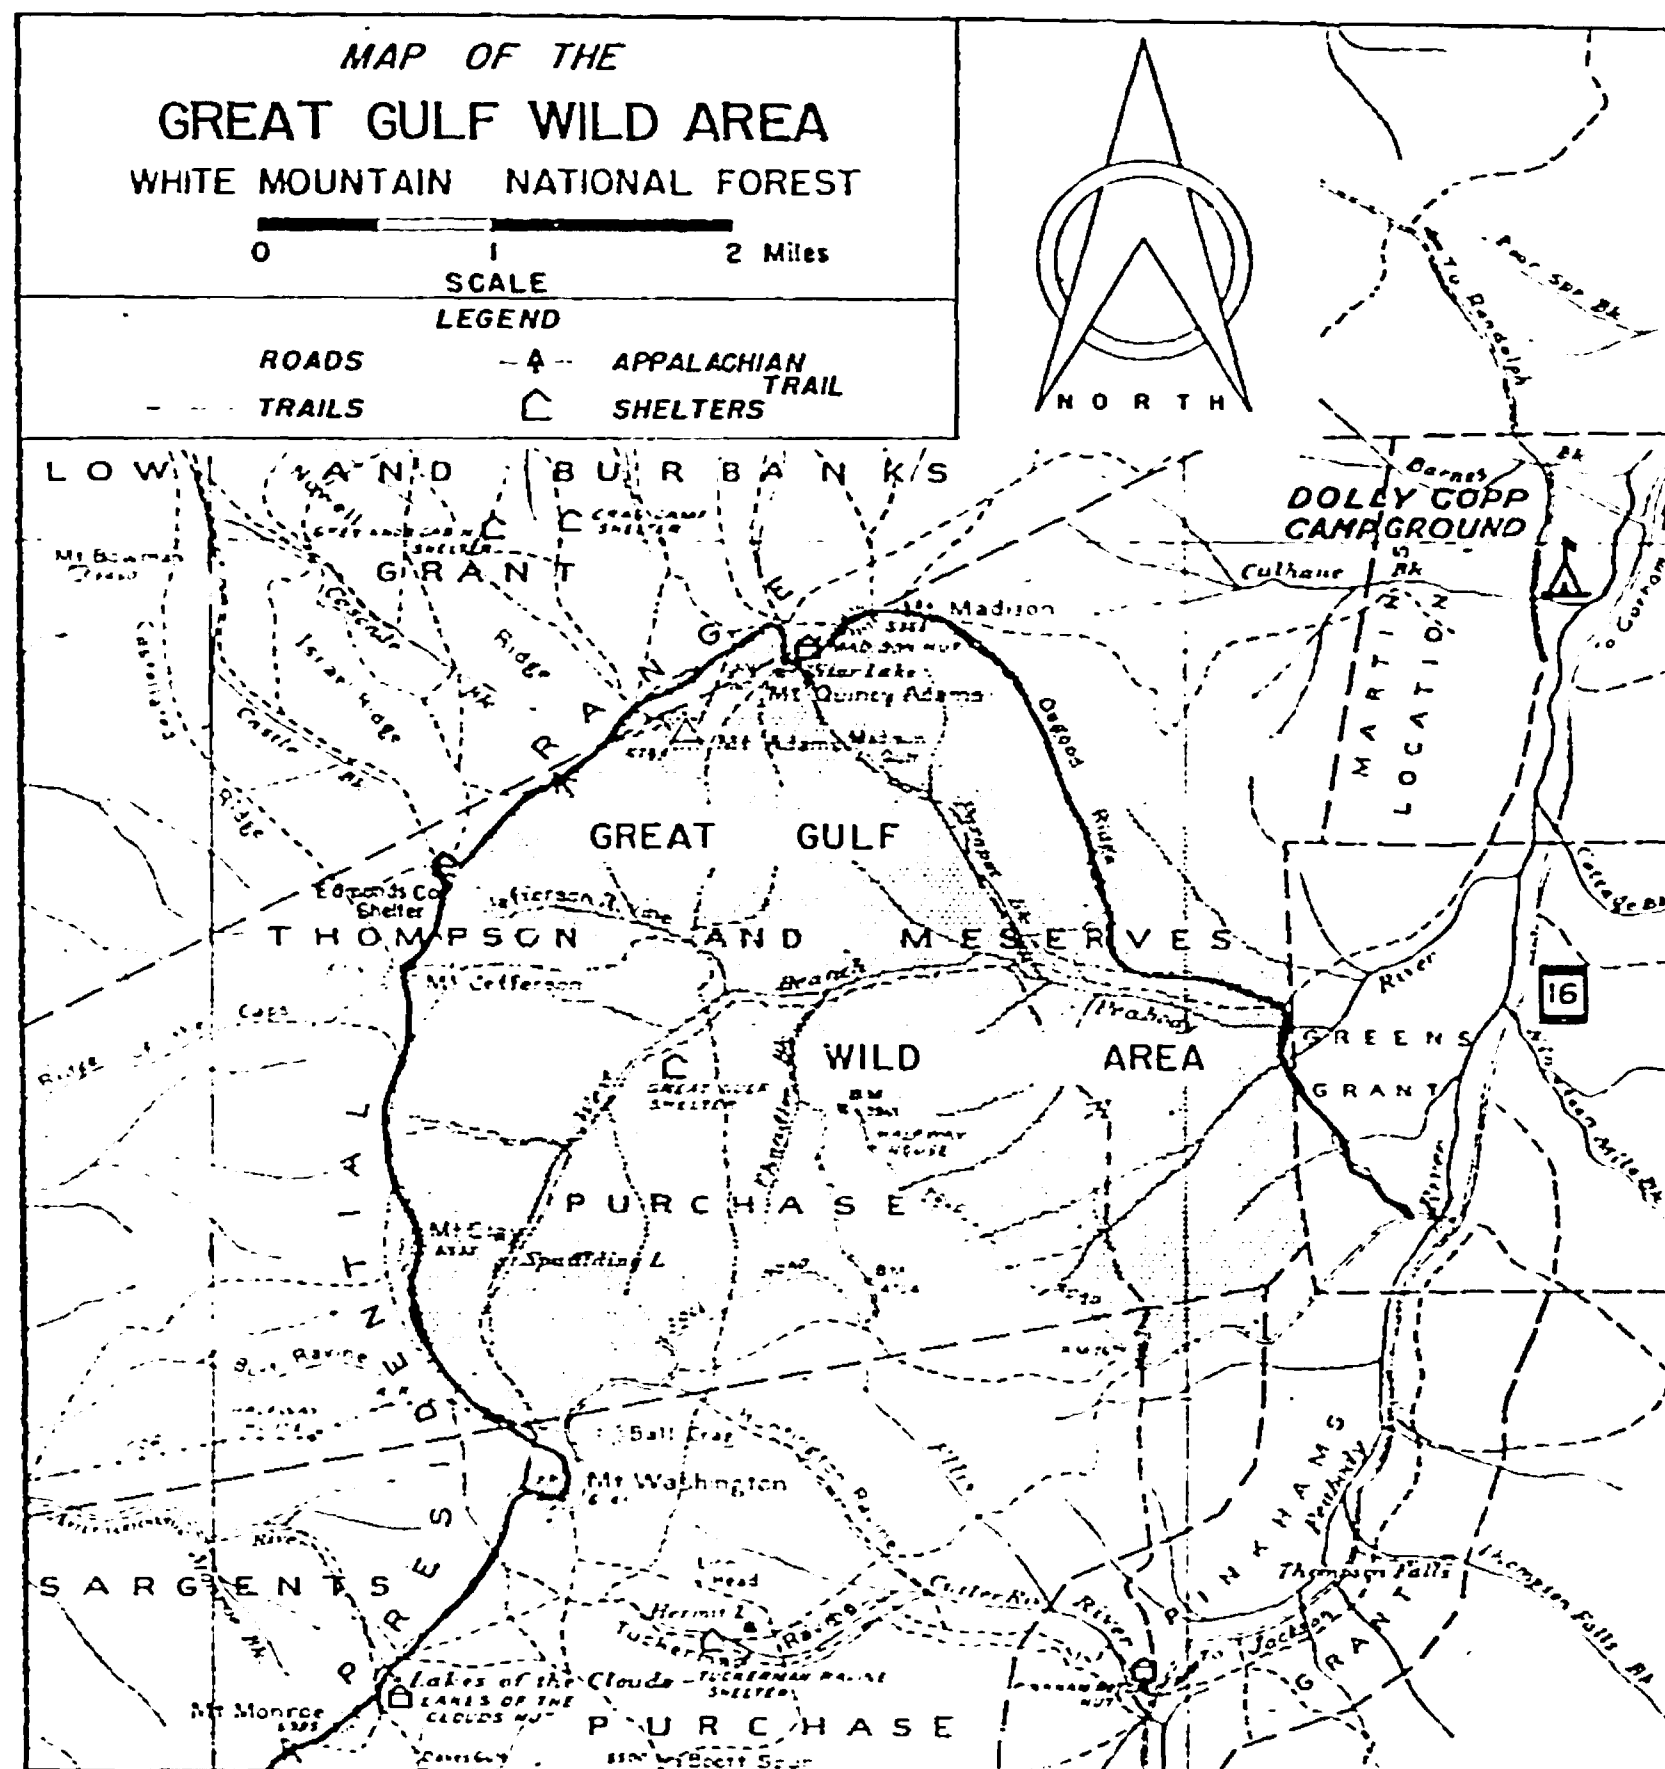

Box Score

VARSITY				NIAGARA (81)
SYRACUSE (83)	fg	ft	t		fg	ft	t
Penceal	1	0	2	White	2	2	6
Goldsmith	3	5	11	Phillips	12	4	28
Richards	9	3	21	Kuryac	3	2	8
Bing	10	5	25	Boderick	7	3	17
Duffy	2	0	4	Motter	1	0	2
Boeheim	2	0	4	Ventura	1	0	2
Nicoletti	0	0	0	Totals	33	15	81
Ableman	0	0	0	(Halftime: Niagara 39 — Syracuse 32)
Schoff	8	0	16	(Regulation: Syracuse 73 — Niagara 73)
Vernick	0	0	0
Totals	35	13	83

Nation's Basketball Top Five

U.C.L.A.		MICHIGAN		KENTUCKY		WICHITA		DAVIDSON
Brigham Young	113-71	Ball State	90-76	Virginia	75-61	Wyoming	82-67	Hampden-Sydney	98-52
Butler	80-65	Tulane	73-47	Texas Tech	107-91	Colorado	71-61	Wake Forest	66-53
Kansas State	78-55	Nebraska	80-55	Northwestern	95-63	Tex. Western	74-75	St. Joseph's (Pa.)	88-77
Kansas	74-54	Butler	80-70	North Carolina	109-89	Arizona State	87-93	Ohio State	95-73
Baylor	112-61	Western Mich.	104-81	Baylor	101-65	Duquesne	91-74	Jacksonville	121-93
Creighton	95-79	Duke	83-67	Wisconsin	108-85	Bradley	56-50	Furman	89-63
Yale	95-65	New York U.	83-74	Wake Forest	98-75	Texas	76-57	East Carolina	105-77
Michigan	98-80	U.C.L.A.	80-98	Notre Dame	101-81	Minnesota	71-65	Pennsylvania	90-73
Illinois	83-79	Pittsburgh	95-80	Loyola (La.)	86-64	Ohio State	60-78	Princeton	102-68
Washington State	88-83	Detroit	117-87	Tulane	81-79	Montana State	85-69	West Virginia	93-82
Washington State	121-77	Northwestern	85-73	Georgia Tech	67-76	Texas A&M	70-56	V. M. I.	70-58
So. California	79-59	Purdue	77-70	Vanderbilt	83-85	Oklahoma City	80-47	Virginia	64-62
So. California	78-71	Ohio State	82-64	Louisiana St.	103-84	Drake	67-49	Citadel	88-67
Stanford	84-71	Minnesota	80-66	Tulane	105-63	Tulsa	88-66	Richmond	52-49
Stanford	80-61	Michigan State	91-77	Tennessee	66-57	St. Louis	69-56	Wofford	105-73
U.C. Santa Barb	107-76	Ohio State	95-79	Georgia Tech	79-62	No. Texas St.	86-79	West Virginia	73-75
U.C. Santa Barb	87-59	Illinois	85-86	Florida	77-72	Loyola (Ill.)	80-76	V. M. I.	129-91
California	Feb. 7	Indiana	Feb. 8	Georgia	103-83	Cincinnati	62-59	Wm. & Mary	111-84
California	Feb. 8	Illinois	Feb. 15	Mississippi	Feb. 8	Marquette	100-63	Ga. Southern	Feb. 7
Washington	Feb. 14	Minnesota	Feb. 15	Miss. State	Feb. 10	Loyola (Ill.)	65-60	Richmond	Feb. 11
Washington	Feb. 15	Wisconsin	Feb. 18	Vanderbilt	Feb. 17	Bradley	Feb. 8	Furman	Feb. 13
Stanford	Feb. 22	Illinois	Feb. 22	Auburn	Feb. 22	Cincinnati	Feb. 15	Duke	Feb. 15
Washington	Feb. 24	Iowa	Feb. 29	Alabama	Feb. 24	St. Louis	Feb. 22	East Carolina	Feb. 18
Washington St.	Feb. 29	Purdue	Mar. 7	Tennessee	Feb. 29	Tulsa	Feb. 29	Citadel	Feb. 22
California	Mar. 2			St. Louis	Mar. 2	No. Texas St.	Mar. 2	Southern Conf. Tr.	F27-29
So. California	Mar. 6

Hikers Heading Home!

Search Area

The Presidential Mountain Range of Northern New Hampshire was the center of a four day search for four missing Syracuse University students. On the map above the dark line around the "Great Gulf" denotes the course plotted by the hikers on their original course. The quartet were stranded near the Edmond Col shelter, just above the word Thompson on the left side of the map. They had failed to sign in at a similar shelter at Mt. Madison further back on the trail.

Returning to Campus Monday For Classes

By ANDY PORTE
News Editor

LACONIA, N.H. — Four Syracuse University students are home today after surviving a six-day ordeal in New Hampshire White Mountains.

The group eluded the curse of the Presidential Mountain Range, which has claimed 36 lives since 1948 and 11 lives in the past decade.

A Navy helicopter picked up the youths between 10-11 a.m. Thursday. The group had been sighted shortly after dawn by a search plane.

Two of the group sustained minor injuries, but all four were in good spirits and expressed hope of returning to regular classes Monday.

Doctor Lauds Boys' Health

LACONIA — "The boys showed excellent judgment in getting into the shelter," said Dr. Harry McDade, shortly after aiding in the rescue of four SU students from the icy White Mountains.

McDade, of Littleton, N.H., an experienced hiker and mountain climber, was called in by the U.S. Forest Service to aid in the rescue.

However, McDade and John Putnam, head of one of the search parties, said it was fortunate the group was located as soon as it was, because Peter Bradford's boots might not have been able to withstand the cold and wind much longer. The other three members of the expedition wore fiberglass-padded "Mickey Mouse" hiking boots.

Both praised Noel Sheldon of the Forest Service for a job well done. Sheldon coordinated the area searching groups.

Another question concerning the hike was raised by Jack God-

The four are Peter Catelli, 18, of Rosens Point, a sophomore in the New York State College of Forestry; Craig Fournier, 18, of Tonawanda, a freshman in the College of Forestry; Robert C. Koppe, 21, of Massapequa Park, a junior in the College of Forestry; and Peter L. Bradford, 25, of Syracuse, a junior in the College of Liberal Arts.

Bradford suffered a slight injury to his left knee and Koppe received a slight case of frostbite to his left hand.

The group left Glen House, on New Hampshire's Route 16 in the White Mountain National Forest, on Friday, intending to hike for two-and-a-half days to Crawford Notch, on U.S. Route 302.

The plan was to take the youths over 363-foot Mt. Madison, crossing over 6,288-foot Mt. Washington and hiking to their destination.

They became stranded at the Edmonds Col shelter Saturday evening when sub-zero temperatures and winds gusting over

(Continued on Page 4)

Students Regret Causing Concern

GLEN HOUSE — Four Syracuse University students Thursday expressed sorrow for the anguish caused their parents by the groups' six-day disappearance.

On the other hand, their parents expressed feelings of relief and joy when a U.S. Navy helicopter touched down at Glen House with the missing party.

Handshakes and embraces were exchanged between three of the students, Robert Koppe, Peter Bradford, and Craig Fournier, and their fathers. The fourth hiker, Peter Catelli, met his parents in St. Johnsbury, Vt. after the rescue.

Throughout the rescue operation, the fathers of Koppe, Bradford, and Fournier expressed confidence in their sons' abilities to overcome the difficulties imposed by the storm, but as the search wore into Wednesday, the trio expressed increasing anxieties.

Leonard Bradford had contended throughout that the boys had the experience necessary for survival. He continually comforted the other parents. However, after his son had been rescued, he told the Daily Orange that he had started to worry.

All four climbers contended that "we are ready to go up the mountain again right now. We definitely will continue mountain hikes."

The parents, however, reserved judgment on the future hiking careers of their sons, except for Bradford, who said, "If my son wants to continue hiking, I won't stop him, although I sometimes wonder if it wouldn't be better for him to quit, but it is his hobby and I won't try to take it away from him."

Lost for 6 Days

Hiker Tells Story

By ALLAN KORT
Editor-in-Chief

MT. WASHINGTON, N.H. — Peter Catelli, leader of the hike which saw four Syracuse University students stranded in New Hampshire's Presidential Mountain Range revealed to the Daily Orange Thursday the step by step movements of the students.

Catelli said that the 17-mile cross-mountain hike had been planned for two weeks, with final preparations a few days before the hike.

He continually emphasized that the group was never in any danger with the exception of one short period when two of the students received slight injuries of the hands and knees.

Following is the account of the trip in Catelli's own words:

"We left Syracuse Thursday night and arrived at Glen House (at the foot of Mt. Washington) Friday morning. Carrying 45-60 pound packs, an area map and a climbers guide book, we started up the trail of Mt. Madison shortly before noon and camped just before the timberline at 5:30 p.m.

"Saturday, we started out at 7:30 a.m. and hit the top of Mt. Madison at 11:30 a.m., just on schedule, as we hoped to complete the 17 miles in two and one half days.

"From 1-2 p.m. we rested and melted snow into a water supply. We reached the top of Mt. Adams at 3:20 p.m. and Edman's Col (a U.S. Forest Ser-

(Continued on Page 4)

Mountain Shelter

This shelter, similar to many constructed in the Presidential Mountain Range is similar to the one on Mt. Madison where the four missing students failed to sign in after the first day of the hike.

From Anxiety To Joy

Four families can rest easy now and a worried campus can sigh a few words of relief. The locating of the four Syracuse students, after a four-day search on Mt. Washington raised the spirits of the entire Syracuse community.

However, the entire matter could have been cleared up faster and with less anxiety if the boys involved would have adhered to rules of climbing in the Presidential Range.

It is stated that all climbers during the winter months must sign-in at each rest station. The Syracuse climbers did not. If such sign-ins would have been made, the rescue crews could have located the climbers with mere back-tracking.

Although the Syracuse students were trained and well-versed in the art of mountain climbing, it seems obvious that they bit off more than they could chew. Climbing in the winter is dangerous but without the necessary precautions against possible mishap it is potentially suicidal.

Since the Outing Club is the medium for outdoor activities, the club should be the one to organize and oversee such mountain climbing.

The Club should also check and not allow small groups to go off unchaperoned on dangerous hikes. A group of four is much too small to take take on all of Mt. Washington.

Although the campus can now rest easy, we would like to insure the lives of future mountaineers against any climbing mishap.

Felicitations

Felicitations to the Journalism School and the university. When asked yesterday for funds to permit three senior editors of the Daily Orange to on-the-spot report the events on Mt. Washington, the university immediately turned over the funds.

Once before the J-School was asked to approve on-the-spot coverage and a special edition. This was during the weekend of the assassination of the late President Kennedy. The Daily Orange was turned down.

The reason given was the news was too well covered in the local and national press and radio-TV. However, the general campus opinion was for DO coverage and a special edition on the assassination.

The opportunity given these three students to actually be part of the making of news is unquestionable. The decision of the university to let these students partake in such an experience is commendable.

Perhaps now, when the student communication media try to give the university community that extra special coverage, or that added personal touch of reporting, the university will not turn away. Since college years are filled with experiences which mature and depict life on a whole, every avenue of obtaining these experiences should be opened by the university.

Stepping Stones

Anatomy of a Story

By Clay Richards

One week ago today four Syracuse University students walked into the Presidential Mountains of northern New Hampshire and provided the Daily Orange with the biggest local stories in this editor's memory.

As the drama of Mt. Washington unfolded nearly every member of the DO staff swung into action to provide the campus with every detail on the story.

For the DO, the story broke Monday afternoon when the first announcement that the four did not return to the Glen House was released over the United Press - International wire.

The first task for the DO staff was to find pictures of the four students. After two hours on the telephone with the university office of information services, forestry registrar Lawrence Bellinger and the public relations service of the Forestry School, an extra set of pictures of the three forestry students was obtained from Dean Hardy Shirley.

The picture of Peter Bradford, the liberal arts student, was not obtained in time to make Wednesday's paper. Bradford, a 25-year old Army veteran, had no picture on his original application to the university and the only copy available was a former Army snapshot.

Three different writers compiled the first story, and a late night call to New Hampshire completed the first day's coverage.

Wednesday morning passed, and still no sign of the four hikers. University officials advanced more pessimistic opinions on the students' fate, but an SU Outing Club member placed hope in the fact that they were well equipped and well experienced.

As the story grew, Wednesday afternoon DO editors decided to move to the scene for direct coverage of the big story.

Soon after dinner Wednesday night Editor Allan T. Kort, News Editor Andrew Porte, and photographer Louis Prombain left the Hill for an all-night journey to New Hampshire. The Journalism School had been quick to appropriate the funds for the expedition.

The first stop was at Albany where they called ahead for the latest report on the search and then called directly to the Daily Orange plant to file Thursday morning's story.

The Hill trio continued through the night, arriving in Laconia near dawn this morning.

Meanwhile in Syracuse a map of the area had been obtained from former Outing Club President Richard Ciperly, along with two pictures of the area during the summer.

The story of the boys' rescue broke early Thursday morning, soon after the DO trio had arrived on the scene. Editor Kort rushed to the phone and broke the news to Syracuse via a local radio station.

Unable to reach WAER Program Director Bob Feldman, Porte roused this editor out of bed to relay the message so that the campus radio station could publish a special bulletin.

At 8:30 WAER had its bulletin posted in major campus buildings. After Porte filed with the station at 10 a.m., an unprecedented second bulletin was published to give students more information.

At the Daily Orange office another problem developed. With such extensive coverage, how much space should be allotted to the awarding of an honorary degree to American composer Aaron Copland? After a hasty conference of the senior staff, it was decided to give the hike story all of page one.

At 4:45 p.m. the first stories from New Hampshire were phoned into the DO offices in prefab seven. Further plans were also made for a special edition Monday with a two-page picture spread of the rescue. Photographer Prombain sent word that he had shots of the unloading of the boys from the helicopter after they were snatched off the side of Mt. Jefferson.

At 9:30 p.m. Thursday the trio filed their final story with the Daily Orange plant. "We've been up 52 hours straight," Porte said. "We're exhausted, we're going to hit the sack and leave for SU first thing in the morning."

"I know how those four boys felt, even I can't wait to get out of these mountains," he concluded.

LETTERS

Blandness

To The Editor:

Now that Ron Corwin has been fired I think that some other changes are in order.

It would, for one thing be appropriate to rename your publication the "Daily Blandness". Secondly I no longer see any reason for battling the administration on the matter of the cost of a daily newspaper. Why not just publish a daily crossword? It would be much cheaper, and, since it is the focus of intellectual concern in your newspaper, your most basic interests would not be compromised.

It behooves me to mention that I cannot remember when I last agreed with Mr. Corwin on an issue, but it was stimulating to argue with him mentally; more stimulating than even—a crossword!

David N. Adler
Mathematics Department
AWS

To The Editor:

Thank-you for the accurate coverage in your news article concerning the recent A.W.S. decision to extend Friday night curfew. It is regrettable, however, that your editorial comments did not exhibit the same accuracy about the situations which exist on this and other campuses.

We feel that this misunderstanding could have been avoided had there been comparable D.O. coverage of A.W.S. activities during their initial and developmental stages.

The main legislative body of A.W.S. is, as you mentioned in your news article, the Assembly, which is composed of the presidents of all women's living centers. Every woman student, however, has always had an open invitation to attend these meetings. It is here that any concrete proposals of the women students may be brought for discussion, and an investigation and evaluation of the proposal is begun.

We hope that in the future such misunderstandings will be prevented, through more comprehensive communication, for the benefit of all Syracuse women.

The Association of Women Students

Rustin

To The Editor:

I have only one comment to make on the subject of Mr. Rustin's last minute cancellation of his speaking engagement. Two wrongs don't make a right, and I cannot condone Mr. Rustin's apparent reasons for his actions as reported to me in the Daily Orange.

But I don't feel a bit sorry or a bit offended, because how many times in the past has the university itself cancelled or modified the nature of some other speakers engagement on the last day?

How many times have we, in other words, pulled the same stunt on somebody else? Maybe we now see how this feels to the speaker so affected and how it looks to the world outside.

C. H. Combs
Class of '65

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2 February 7, 1964

Editor-in-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor Clayton F. Richards
News Editor Andrew Porte
Editorial Director Adair DuFane
Sports Editor Bernard MacCallum
Art Editor Rea Turel
Photography Editor Steve Schwimmer

BUSINESS STAFF

Asst. Bus. Mgr. Jon Weishere
Layout Managers Martha Johannek, Julian Lahr
National Ad. Mgr. Lynn Mandel
Classified Mgr. Christine Sedziak
Promotion Mgr. Stu Shapiro

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 203 Brooklea Drive Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter at U. S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

TREVER ON CAMPUS

Dr. Warren B. Walsh, chairman of the history department, will travel to the University of South Carolina at Columbia to lecture on "Current Soviet Views and Method in the Cold War." Speaking on Tuesday, Feb. 11, he is one of six guest speakers to participate in the lecture series "Dimensions of the Cold War" at the Columbia campus.

Student Union will kick off this semester's programs at 8 p.m. today in the Women's Bldg. with the movie "Julius Caesar" and a student art show in the Alumne Lounge. The usual volley ball and ping pong will be available.

N. Y. Direction by Wm. Ball
Tickets: $3.00, 2.50, 2.00
Reservations, 476-4536
UNIVERSITY REGENT
THEATRE

- | | |
|---|----------|
| 1. Leave New York June 8th to Paris
Return September 7th from Paris | $356.00 |
| 2. Leave New York June 10th to Amsterdam
Return August 17th from Paris | $356.00 |
| 3. Leave New York June 10th to London
Return August 19th from Lisbon | $341.00 |
| 4. Leave New York June 17th to Zurich
Return September 8 from Geneva | $380.00 |
| 5. Leave New York August 3rd to Zurich
Return September 9 from Zurich | $380.00 |

* Fares subject to Government approval.

TOMORROW FEB. 8 8:30 P.M.

MUSIC FROM THE MOVIES

WORKS BY:

Henry Mancini, Johnny Green, Ernest Gold, Miklos Rozsa. Dimitri Tiomkin and others.

MUSIC FROM:

Laura, Gone with the Wind, Spellbound, Never on Sunday, Lawrence of Arabia, Days of Wine and Roses Sunday, Lawrence of Arabia, Days of Wine and Roses, etc.

IN PERSON: CELESTE HOLM

TICKETS — $1.50 - $3.50

UNRESERVED — $.75

March 28 - April 4

Round Trip and Accommodations only $162 — Montgomery Cottages

$228 — Carleton Beach Hotel

Payment should be made within the next 2 weeks so plan NOW ! ! !

make checks payable to:
Alan Roth 320 Euclid Ave.

For Further Information Contact:

Alan Roth
Tau Epsilon Phi
GR 2-9486

Chan Rudd
Delta Upsilon
GR 5-9048

ACROSS

- | | | |
|--|---------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| 1 Goods cast
overboard. | 42 College building. | grandmother's
day. |
| 7 Long pillow. | 43 Aztec god of sowing. | 12 Try to surpass. |
| 14 Antitank gun. | 44 Mine wagon. | 13 Did a stenographer's chore. |
| 15 Formerly. | 45 Humbug: Colloq. | 14 Little shepherdess. |
| 16 Worked too hard. | 46 Botany: Abbr. | 20 Peruses. |
| 17 Remain in place:
Colloq.: 2 words. | 47 Wickedness. | 24 Voice organ. |
| 18 A small dog, for short. | 48 College official. | 26 Dupe. |
| 19 Any very delicious beverage. | 50 Irishman: Var. | 27 Jest. |
| 21 Twisted strand in rope, yarn, etc. | 51 Public placards. | 28 Horse. |
| 22 New Havenite. | 52 Testator, in law. | 30 Shout. |
| 23 Aerial maneuver. | 53 Daughter of Minos. | 31 Parliament: Abbr. |
| 24 Spring. | 54 Result of faulty roofing. | 33 The hall of Odin. |
| 25 Elevation: Abbr. | 55 Testify to | 34 Dupe. |
| 27 Supernatural beings. | 56 New York capital. | 35 Presumptively:
Lat.: 2 words. |
| 28 Dull finish. | DOWN | 36 Passage through. |
| 29 Symbols of
Louisiana. | 1 A bleaching
"water." | 37 Go beyond. |
| 31 Gave the syntax of. | 2 Old Testament book. | 38 Asian. |
| 32 Sleeveless
garment. | 3 Ripped. | 39 Excuse. |
| 33 Modify. | 4 Turf. | 40 — de cachet
(sealed missive). |
| 34 Longhorns. | 5 Allied by nature. | 42 Chestnuts or bays. |
| 37 Familial. | 6 Small rich cake. | 45 Plowboy poet. |
| 41 "Men are — when they woo | 7 City in Mass. | 48 The Venerable |
| | 8 Ready to use:
2 words. | 49 Whirl. |
| | 9 Shakespearean role. | 50 New Zealand
parrot. |
| | 10 Pen. | 52 Color. |
| | | 54 Chatter: Colloq. |

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
 3444 Erie Blvd. East
 Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
 Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

	1	2	3	4	5	6		7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14								15
16								17
18					19		20					21
22						23					24
25			26		27					28
29				30					31
			32					33
34	35	35					37					38	39	40
41						42					43
44					45							46
47				48					49		50
51			52					53		54
55								56
57								58

Returning to Classes Hiker Tells Story

(Continued from Page 1)
100 miles per hour raked the area.

After an attempt to escape from the corrugated metal quonset hut, which measured 10 feet long, eight feet wide and three feet high, failed on Monday, the group remained in the shelter until the weather cleared near daybreak Thursday.

While earlier attempts to sight the hikers from the air had failed because of the gusty wind and zero visibility, a search plane piloted by Mrs. Shirley Main of Whitefield, N.H., spotted the group early Thursday morning near the shelter.

Ground forces had covered every shelter in the area but the one at Edmunds Col. because search leaders judged conditions near the shelter "impassable" for searching parties.

Search operations began Monday when the group did not reach its destination.

When Forest Ranger Ken Sutherland spotted the group from Mrs. Main's plane, a helicopter with supplies left Brunswick Naval Air Station in Maine for the area.

The plane had dropped instructions that the group moved three-quarters of a mile south to a flat area so the helicopter could land to pick them up.

The copter was piloted by Lt.

Cdr. R.C. Hamilton and AD 3 R.W. Capling.

At the same time a land party of five men, including Dr. Harry McDade, of Littleton, N.H., an experienced mountain climber, reached the stranded youths.

Others in the land party were John Putnam, leader of a portion of the ground searching forces, and three Harvard University Mountaineering Club members who had traversed the same route one day earlier than the missing youths.

The original sighting of the youths by the search plane noted only three of the students, but one of the group indicated he was changing clothes in the shelter at the time.

The helicopter transported the youths and the ground searching party to Glen House in three shifts, after which the youths were reunited with their parents. Catelli's parents were to meet him in St. Johnsbury, Vt.

Doctor...

(continued from page 1)

den, information officer for the forest group. Golden said the hikers should have planned to cover the area in four days, rather than the two and a half days the group anticipated.

Golden coordinated operations in Laconia.

(continued from page 1)

vice shelter) at 5 p.m.

"We then ate supper and went to bed. We first knew of the bad weather conditions when we heard strong wind outside the shelter at 10:30 p.m.

"Because of the strong winds, we spent all day Sunday in the shelter. Monday we attempted to break out of the mountain but had to turn back because of strong wind, (up to 100 miles per hour) and because of driving snow. (From this point on Catelli put aside his log book which recorded the group's every movement).

"Tuesday was another bad day," he said "and we spent the whole period in the shelter in our sleeping bags, telling jokes, singing and playing a game called ghosties, beadies and monstrosities, a word game.

"But we were never worried because we had shelter, plenty of water and an ample food supply. We didn't know if anybody was searching for us, but we figured as soon as the bad weather let up, we could descend ourselves.

"We had just about finished packing Thursday when the search plane roared overhead. We felt (and forestry officials agreed) that because of the light wind (35 miles per hour) and the clear skies that we could have descended down to Randolph Notch ourselves, and then hitchhiked back to Glen House.

"Even though we later found everybody was worried about us, we never felt we had any reason to be worried."

Did YOU know that

Cosmo's Pizza Shop

delivers to your dorm, fraternity, or sorority ???

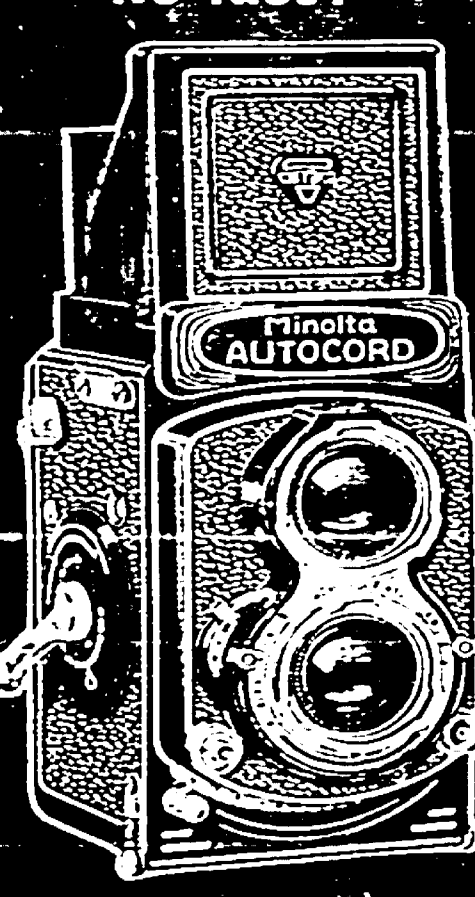

Phone: GR 8-9231

"The Best Pizza in Town"

BAKE SALE SUNDAY

Forestry Student wives will hold a bake sale in the lobby of Sadler Hall 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday February 9.

No squint!
No miniatures!
No fuss!

MINOLTA
Autocord

Automatic—and only
87.50

Still one of the easiest, simplest cameras to use. Large image of your subject in 2 1/4" square viewfinder eliminates squinting while composing picture. Takes #120 color and black-and-white roll film and provides 12 large negatives or transparencies per roll for better enlargements and color slides. Lever film advance and automatic frame stop make picture taking almost effortless. World-famous Minolta quality and Rokkor lens precision. See it at our store today.

Bookstores
303 University Place

EXCITING THINGS HAPPEN AT FORD MOTOR COMPANY!

Good news for aficionados of medium-cubed V-8's who prefer to remain shiftless!

Four-on-the-floor is fine but not everyone's cup of tea. If you're an automatic devotee, we think you'll be cheered by what Ford Motor Company transmission engineers have designed in the way of exciting goodies to go with our new hotter V-8 mills in the medium-displacement class.

It's a spanking new 3-speed automatic drive that adds more hustle without extra muscle in Comet, Fairlane and Ford models for '64. Among its many virtues: less overdrive... fewer parts... smoother take-offs... up to 35% more go in Low... extra braking in downhill work... a quarter-mile in Neutral... quarterback-style passing performance!

Then meet Ford who design such intricacies as transmissions are not just walking slide rules or talking computers. They're men who get excited about cars and the fun of driving them. They enjoy meeting challenges like "Design a new automatic drive with 4-speed stick-shift performance built right in." Frankly, they are among the most avid car buffs around and it shows in their work!

More proof of the exciting things that happen at Ford Motor Company to bring brighter ideas and better-built cars to the American Road.

MOTOR COMPANY
The American Road, Dearborn, Michigan
WHERE ENGINEERING LEADERSHIP BRINGS YOU BETTER-BUILT CARS

Academic Procession

Chatting before the academic ceremonies Thursday afternoon in Hendricks Chapel are (left to right) LOUIS KRASNER, professor in the School of Music; AARON COPLAND; and Dean FRANK PISKOR, vice president of academic affairs at SU.

Copland Receives Degree, Lectures

By REA TURET
Arts Editor

"Composer, pianist, teacher and cultural ambassador, your virtuosity is matched by your ability. We are proud to honor you today as this country's premiere musician." So said Chancellor William P. Tolley in the presentation of the honorary doctor of letters to Aaron Copland.

Copland delivered a speech yesterday at Hendricks Chapel on "The Composer's Experience."

"I have spent my life writing music because it gives the meaning of life more substance—essential substance to merely being alive, since art concerns itself with out deepest feelings," Copland said.

"Art expresses each age, the prime importance of that age. How else will the people 200 years hence know how we felt? It is only through art that they know."

Commenting on his early years in Brooklyn, N. Y., Copland explained, "Even in the most discouraging environment, a composer can be. I found out about composing all on my own. It was an experience I loathe to give up."

"I didn't like to practice, however, I did like the sense of discovery in relation to music that I found out about myself. There was though, a sense of isolation. I didn't know anyone that I could discuss these discoveries with, until I got to Paris."

In Paris, during the twenties, Copland thought that jazz was the answer. "I hoped to suggest an American form. In retrospect, it was too easy a solution."

"American cannot be sung only in terms of the jazz medium. Sides of life that are pessimistic, tragic or spiritualistic cannot be expressed in jazz. I was excited by the rhythmic prospect of jazz giving a polirhythmic gesture in sound."

Copland discussed the recent interest in culture and music in industrialized America. "The Cultural Explosion" seems a rather recent term. Everyone has become aware of culture in our civilization in a way that wasn't felt before.

"Now there is the problem of availability of music. I don't like to walk into a bank to cash a check to the music of Brahms' symphony. I like to hear what the composer is trying to say. It makes music too cheap."

Copland had once been asked by woman what he hoped to accomplish. He had answered, "I hope that I've helped make art more possible in America."

REAL BARGAINS
SHOP LOCAL STORES

THE "BOOKSTALL"

147 Marshall Street
Fascinating Gifts, Fine Stationery, Fabulous Cards
38 Years by the Campus
Your Friendly Alumni Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow

We try harder

$11.50 For Entire Weekend & $.10 a Mile

501 S. Salina St.

422-4171

Avis rents Fords and other fine cars

Dennis Moffatt sought a job with responsibility

He found it at Western Electric

Dennis Moffatt, B.A., Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, '57, joined Western Electric in 1961 after two years of graduate work at the State University of Iowa and two years with the Army. Most important to Dennis was the fact that WE offered him the chance to move ahead . . . fast. Dennis started at Western Electric's Hawthorne Works in Chicago as a Staff Trainee in Industrial Relations.

After only a year with the Company and the completion of one of WE's training programs for college graduates, Dennis became a Personnel Placement Analyst. Advancing rapidly, Dennis was recently promoted to Section Chief, Employment and Placement, Systems Equipment Engineering.

If you, like Dennis Moffatt, want a career with a company that will recognize your skills and abilities, and have the qualifications we're looking for—let's talk! Opportunities for fast-moving careers exist now for liberal arts, physical science and business majors, as well as for electrical, mechanical and industrial engineers. Get the Western Electric Career Opportunities booklet from your Placement Officer. Or write: Western Electric, Room 6405, 222 Broadway, New York 38, N. Y. And be sure to arrange for an interview when the Bell System recruiting team visits your campus.

Western Electric

MANUFACTURING AND SUPPLY UNIT OF THE BELL SYSTEM

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER
Principal manufacturing locations in 15 cities—Operating centers in many of these same cities plus 36 others throughout the U. S. Engineering Research Center, Princeton, N. J.—Teletype Corp., Stockton, Calif.—Little Rock, Ark.—G. H. Hall, 195 Broadway, New York

Aunt Jemima's Kitchen

Featuring

37 VARIETIES OF PANCAKES

SOUTHERN FRIED CHICKEN

SOUPS — SANDWICH — STEAKS

SERVING

BREAKFAST, LUNCH

DINNER

LATE NITE SNACKS

THE IDEAL RESTAURANT
FOR THE BUDGET MINDED
STUDENT

Eric Blvd. East
DeWitt
446-0588

HOURS
Sun - Thurs.
7 a.m. - Mid.
FRI. & SAT.
7 a.m. - 3 a.m.

Coed Assistant R. A. Applications Due

Applications are now due in the dean of women's office for four positions for residence hall student assistants according to Eleanor Erickson, Asst. Dean of Women.

The student assistants will live and work on freshmen floors in Flint Hall and be responsible to the head resident on that floor and the director of the hall.

Remuneration for the services of student assistants is full payment of room and board. The student assistant will be expected to spend approximately 22 hours a week assisting the head resident on the floor and working with the student organization within the freshman unit.

Coeds who will be juniors or seniors during the 1964-65 school year are eligible to apply. Applicants must have a 1.5 cumulative average and have lived for one year in a university residence.

Resident hall student assistants will serve an important function in helping the freshmen become oriented to the Syracuse campus and adjust to a cooperative living situation. Applications are presently available in Dean Erickson's office. The applications are due by Feb. 28.

All applicants should make appointments for an interview with both Dean Erickson and Miss Keller, director of Flint Hall, according to the following schedule: Dean Erickson ext. 2725, Monday to March 25; and Miss Keller ext. 2259, Monday to March 13.

Student Opinion

Car Fee Elicits Comment

By DAVID SOSNA

Syracuse University plans to charge Hill students for owning and operating a car on campus. Reaction to this has been strong and hardly silent.

"They gotta be kidding!" declared Neil Berkowitz ('67). Amy Teplin, a sophomore, said, "I think it's ridiculous!"

One freshman girl claimed "I think it's an awful idea. They just got $500,000 from Carnegie, why can't they use that?"

Many students said they felt that although parking was a definite problem, the scholastic requirements and the necessity of an automobile for some, made any charges for parking an unfair burden.

"I think it's unfair," commented Cécile Dvorin ('66). "As long as you have to earn the right to park, you shouldn't be charged for it too. If the university plans to build a parking garage, they should pay for it with the housing money."

Marge Vandergraff ('66) stated "I need a car. I made my 1.6 and the university had no right to charge me for what should be only another dormitory facility."

One student said "I feel the permission to park up here isn't worth paying for. I live here and university parking is a right, not a privilege. Judy Libertson ('66) summed up the general feeling towards pay parking: "I don't think they should charge us for anything because they charge us too much for everything."

PROSSERS

RESTAURANT and LOUNGE

Where STEAK is KING and the STEAKS

are KING SIZED

Free Parking For Dinner Customers
So. Warren St. at Harrison St.

F I 4 U

Fri.

Saturday

"Syracuse BEETLES"

"Eldorado's"

Ward Joins J-School

William G. Ward has been appointed assistant professor in the Newspaper Department

J-School Gets

$1,500 Grant

A $1,500 scholarship award from the Borden Company Foundation to the Syracuse University School of Journalism was announced Monday by Dr. Wesley Clark, dean of the school, and John H. McCain, vice president of the foundation.

The award provides a yearly $300 prize for the senior in the school with the highest average.

In making the announcement, McCain said, "Our Foundation is renewing the award because it has met with considerable success and because its purposes of stimulating and recognizing undergraduate scholastic achievement are being realized."

Dean Clark commented, "I am happy that the School of Journalism has again been honored by as respected an organization as the Borden Foundation and I am also pleased that the School is given the opportunity to recognize an outstanding student yearly."

The School of Journalism first received this award in 1955 when the scholarship was originated.

of the SU School of Journalism.

Ward has worked on the Mankato, Minn., Free Press, the San Bernardino, Calif., Sun-Telegram and the Minneapolis, Minn., Tribune and has taught journalism at high schools in three states.

At Syracuse University, Ward is the executive secretary of the Empire State Scholastic Press Association (ESSPA) and teaches news writing and editing.

About his dual role as a teacher and a working journalist, Ward says, "Journalism is a fascinating field, no matter whether you are teaching it or working for a newspaper. It is as satisfying. I think, to watch the progress of a student journalist as to write a page one story yourself."

WELCOME TO
SYRACUSE'S FRIENDLIEST HOTEL

SYRACUSE, NEW YORK

4 Fine Restaurants

AIR CONDITIONED
MODERATELY PRICED

including

● English Dining

Room

● Cafeteria

● Cocktail Lounge

● Tap Room

and the famous

● STEAK 'N'

RIB ROOM

Yates Roast Beef
"Carved before your eyes"

FREE PARKING

Tino's

RESTAURANT

FINE ITALIAN FOOD

pizza

ORDERS TO TAKE OUT

425 N. Salina Street

GR 1-9458

GR 1-9446

Siegel's

173 Marshall Street
next to 7 Hour
Laundry

Central N. Y.

Headquarters for
Theatrical Make-up
Revlon, Max Factor,
Rubinstein, Lanvin,
Channel, Coty,
Yardley, English
Leather, Clairol,
plus all nationally advertised brands.

Complete Line of School Supplies and Stationary.

GR 8-9985

SOCIAL CHAIRMEN

Reserve your parties at

BOB CASEY'S INN

GI 6-0270

DeWitt, N. Y.

Open Monday - Saturday

Fri. Sat. Nights Till 1 A.M.

TOBINS

RESTAURANT

W. Genesee at
Fairmount Corners

Route 5

Private Rooms for Parties

Tuesday-Saturday
Luncheon

11:30 to 2:30

Dinners

5:00 - 9:30

Sunday Brunch

Dinners

Weekdays 11:30-9:30

Sundays 12-8

Fish - Frog - Steak - Chicken

Chops and Roast Beef Dinners

TUBBERT'S

301 Court Street, Cor. No. Salina

"House of Gracious Dining"

Listening Pleasure at our Piano Bar

Enjoy a Delicious Family Dinner at

CAROMA

Specializing in Italian Cuisine

Spaghetti, Monicotti, Baked Lasagna,
Ravioli

Also American Dishes

STEAKS, PRIME RIB

—Take Out Service—

402 Lodi

GR 4-2119

Free Parking

MELTZER'S

SANDWICH SHOP

TWO LOCATIONS

● 516 Irving,
cor. Harrison
Open 8 - 8

● Back End of
New Tower Apts.
Open 7 - 9

Featuring

CORNER BEEF

● ROAST BEEF

PASTRAMI ● HOT DOGS

● CHOPPED LIVER

CHEESE BLINTZES

● POTATO PANCAKES

Tel. GR 8-7978

We Deliver

Closed Sundays

DANZER'S RESTAURANT

"A touch of Old Germany"
German - American
Food

● Sauerbraten

● Roast Beef

● Hot and Cold
Turkey

"The Finest
Sandwich in Syracuse"

912 Park St.
471-9031

Lillich to Speak On London Stay

Dr. Richard B. Lillich will speak on "A Lawyer in London" at 4 p.m. Tuesday, February 11 in Ernest I. White Hall.

Lillich, director of international legal studies at the SU College of Law, has just returned from a lectureship in England. While there on a Ford Foundation grant, he lectured at Cambridge, London, Southampton and Manchester universities, as well as the British Institute of International and Comparative Law.

The lecture, sponsored by the Syracuse Law Forum, is free to the public.

PEERLESS PRESS, Inc. PRINTERS

1112 E. Fayette Street
Between University & Walnut

COMPLETE PRINTING SERVICE

at your doorstep
GR 6-6051

COMPLETE OPTICAL SERVICE

Eyeglasses

Fitted

CONTACT LENSES

EASY CREDIT

1 to 24-HOUR SERVICE
No Appointment Necessary

BROKEN LENSES & FRAMES REPLACED PROMPTLY

Open Daily, 9 A.M. to 6 P.M.
Mon. & Friday Until 8 P.M.
FREE PARKING—ANY CENTER

CITY OPTICIANS
211 E. FAYETTE ST.
CORNER S WARREN
PHONE HA 2-6088 SYRACUSE N. Y.

Chapel Roundup

EPISCOPAL

9:30 a.m., Sunday, February 9, Gifford Auditorium, H.B. Crouse Hall, Episcopal Holy Communion followed by coffee hour.

HILLEL

7 p.m., today, Hendricks Chapel, regular Sabbath Eve services will be conducted. An Oneg Shabbat will follow.

6 p.m., Sunday, February 9, Shaw Dorm recreation room, supper will be held. "See Israel in '64" will be the theme of the program sponsored by Student Zionist Organization.

Classes and discussion groups have been resumed and meet daily in the Rabbi's office in Hendricks Chapel.

METHODIST

5:30 p.m., Sunday, February 9, The Rev. Dean Richardson will speak on Methodism's integration efforts as they relate to Central Jurisdiction. Supper will be held at 5:30 at a charge of 50 cents.

LUTHERAN

10 a.m., Sunday, February 9, Chapel

House, Communion will be held with coffee hour following.

5:30 p.m., Sunday, February 9, North Wing, Hendricks Chapel, a buffet supper will take place at 100 Berkeley Drive.

7:15 p.m., Sunday, February 9, 100 Berkeley Drive, a supper forum program will feature the NBC-TV Bible study film based on Genesis 6:5-8:19, with Dr. Hazen Stank of Muhlenberg College.

George Eliot Issues Work

Two works, by Prof. George P. Eliot, of the English Department, a collection of essays and an anthology, will be released by Random House Publishing Company March 18, 1964.

The collection of essays, "A Piece of Lettuce," deals with literary questions, social comment and autobiographical material.

"Types of Prose Fiction," an anthology edited by Eliot, includes nine novella length stories.

Now teaching advanced fiction writing, Eliot joined the Hill faculty this fall. He has previously published two novels, a collection of short stories and a narrative poem.

EUROPEAN

ROUND TRIP SWISS JET AIR

SUMMER CHARTER

For Syracuse Students, Faculty Employees and their immediate families.

only $285

LEAVES: JUNE 13th to Paris

RETURNS: SEPT. 5th FROM LONDON

The response to our written announcement of the charter has been so great that we urge those who are interested to make reservations as soon as possible.

ALSO AVAILABLE: SPECIAL STUDENT TOUR $775
CAR RENTALS
EURAIL PASSES

For Further Information and Reservations Contact:

Alan Roth
Tau Epsilon Phi
GR 2-9486

Chan Rudd
Delta Upsilon
GR 5-9048

TODAY

3:00 p.m., WAA Apparatus and tumbling, Gym B, Women's Bldg.

5:05 p.m., Lutheran Daily Devotions, North Wing, Hendricks Chapel.

7:45 p.m., Outing Club square dance. Buses leaving Sims, will return at 11:15 p.m. Admission: members 40 cents, non-members 65 cents.

SUNDAY

1:00 p.m., Outing Club hike. Meet at Main Library steps. Return from Tully approximately 6:00 p.m.

MONDAY

4:00 p.m., WAAER: producer's meeting. Studio E Radio House. All producers must attend. Contact Pete Moller ext. 2406 or ext. 2937 if there are any questions.

4:00 p.m., WAA Volleyball, Gym B, Women's Bldg.

5:05 p.m., Lutheran Campus Vespers, North Wing Hendricks Chapel.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

S	L	A	H	S	T	P	A	T	C	A	N	T
P	E	D	I	P	H	I	L	A	O	B	O	E
E	L	L	I	T	E	N	D	O	L	L	A	R
L	I	L	L	I	B	E	E	I	O	T	A	S
L	A	T	I	N	Q	U	A	R	T	E	R
C	A	U	L	S	E	T	F	P	A
P	O	P	E	A	G	E	R	O	I	L	E	D
E	R	I	N	N	E	V	E	R	N	O	R	D
R	A	T	T	A	I	A	N	A	N	E	I	T
F	L	Y	B	U	S	T	I	T	O
P	U	M	P	E	R	N	I	C	K	E	L
S	T	A	R	S	I	D	A	P	E	N	N	A
T	H	R	E	E	P	E	N	N	Y	N	U	N
A	R	M	S	G	L	A	C	E	T	R	U	E
G	U	I	S	A	S	S	E	T	S	I	L	I

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

See The '64 Rambler at . .

FEIGEL MOTORS INC.

"Syracuse's Volume Rambler Dealer"
Experienced Factory Trained Mechanics
Specializing In Automatic Transmissions
Sales And Expert Service
Open Evenings

3832
S. Salina

Call
HY 2-1791

... We don't rent skis

... But we'll get you to the slope!

MIDTOWN CAR RENTAL
476-4281

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	$.85
2 days	1.65
4 days	3.15
3 days	2.40
5 days	3.85
7 days	5.20
6 days	4.55
8 days	5.85
9 days	6.45
10 days	7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication: or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.

GREYHOUND TICKETS, schedules, information, bus and air charters. Hotel reservations foreign tours. FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC. in the Savoy Monday-Friday 1-4; Thursday night 7-9 476-8533.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired. Rented. Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-8533. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

ACCELERATED 5 lesson course, specializing in parking, traffic, road test. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-3451.

LOST — NOTTINGHAM H.S. graduation ring, 1962 on Thurs. Jan. 30 white registering. Reward. GR 6-5571, ext. 3213-4 or lost and found.

ROOM AND BOARD for graduate student. Private home, James St. Section. $30.00 weekly. Call Mrs. Soule, Days GR 4-7048; even. GR 9-6173.

FOR SALE

SORORITIES - FRATERNITIES! For rushing, Greek letter matches, napkins in proper colors. Napkins to order — many matches in stock. Name tags, pins, place cards, candles, place ribbons. Bookstore.

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of 4 colors of paper, 3 colors of ink 2, sizes of sheets. Bookstore.

1962 RAMBLER AMBASSADOR V-8, 4 door sedan. Automatic transmission, power brakes, power steering, reclining seats, snow tires, heater, many other extras. Perfect condition; driven only 16,000 miles. Only $1795.00. M. W. Jennison, 210 Lyman Hall.

1962 CHEVROLET IMPALA convertible—white, black top, automatic, P.S., power windows, 15,000 miles. Immaculate. HO 9-3782, evenings.

FREE SOLDERING, all charms bought here. Charms, lozenges, jewelry, watch repair. Greeting cards. Personalized stationery. Valentine gifts and cards. Riviera sunglasses for men and women. Ruth's Gifts, 734 S. Crouse, Introductory Sale, Crepe de Chine Cologne and Nuit de Longchamp.

MGA '60 Roadster, r and h, wire wheels, snow tires, new interior, 37,000 miles. GR 5-5101.

1959 IMPALA, 4-dr. hardtop, automatic, turboglide power steering-brakes, tinted glass, rear speaker, white walls. Perfect condition. $1195, ext. 2995.

FENDER DELUXE AMPLIFIER, 12" speaker, Dancetone reverb, unit. Reasonable. 446-9805, 6-9 p.m. Bill McDermott.

'62 VOLKSWAGEN convertible, 20,000 miles. Excellent condition. Call evenings GR 5-4219. Sport options available.

1960 CHEVROLET IMPALA convertible. Excellent condition — extras. Call Dick Stone at GR 6-5571, ext. 2005.

$10.00 WILL BUY ANY SWEATER in the store, values to $19.95. Ivy Hall, 705 S. Crouse Ave., call 478-3304.

MEN'S AND LADIES' STRETCH PANTS in colors $6.98. Ivy Hall, 705 S. Crouse Ave., 478-3304.

$10.00 WILL BUY ANY QUILTED SKI Jacket in store. Values to $19.95. Ivy Hall, 705 S. Crouse Ave., call 478-3304.

WANTED

FRESHMEN AND SOPHOMORES to work as productionists for Audio Visual Center. Place, ext. 2631.

STUDENT FOR PAGE WORK, Monday thru Friday mornings, U. S. Citizenship required. Mrs. Loretta Syracuse Public Library, GR 4-5321.

RIDERS TO PROVIDENCE, R.I., wanted. Leaving 2/14 return 2/16. Call Given, GR 5-4616.

THE PSYCHOLOGY LABORATORIES of the Upstate Medical School need subjects for an experiment. You must be right handed, a college student, and 18 to 35 years of age. Will be paid $1.50 per hour for several hours. Call Mr. Murphy, GR 6-3181, ext. 143.

FEMALE STUDENT to share nice, inexpensive, 6 room apartment with 2 grad students. GR 4-5407.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students
OVER 1,000 SQ. FT. of attic floor space, suitable for artist's studio, on So. Crouse Ave. 9 windows give natural illumination. Unheated. Electricity included in rental of $20.00 monthly. NE 7-3906 or NE 7-9639.

TWO BLOCKS FROM FIELDHOUSE, 225 Lorraine Ave. Modern 4-room upper, 2 bedrooms, large closet, brick fireplace, refrigerator and stove. Picture window, living room and kitchen, ceramic tile bath, private parking area, on bus line. Available immediately. $115. NE 8-0497, GR 6-1473.

APARTMENTS FOR RENT. Two rooms with bath, 411 S. Crouse Ave. Call 476-7188 after 1 p.m.

ROOM FOR MALE STUDENT or hospital worker. Kitchen privileges. 733 Livingston Ave. GR 9-9762.

FURNISHED, HEATED, 5 rooms, 3 bedrooms, suitable group, near park, and bus. GR 2-2406.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models, also sales and service. Special student rates. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St., HA 2-1457.

EXPERT TYPING. Thomas, Thayer, term papers. 458-0141, after 6 p.m.

EXPERT TYPING, EDITING, thesis, dissertations, term papers, and manuscripts. Mrs. Mel Sherman, GR 2-2420.

EXPERT TYPING and proofreading — call Danna at GR 2-6177.

TYPING, TERM PAPERS, ETC. 10 years experience. Reasonable rates. Call GR 8-0182, after 5:30.

TYPING DONE IN MY HOME. Electric typewriter. Call 468-2396.

Pittsburgh (12-4) Favored Over SU

BRIAN GENERALOVICH

By BERNIE MacCALLUM
Sports Editor

The high-flying Panthers of Pittsburgh bring an eight game winning streak into the Manley Field House tonight when they meet the Orangemen who will be looking for their fifth victory in a row. The varsity tap-off will be at 8:30 p.m.

The freshmen meet Ithaca College at 6:15 p.m.

The Panthers, 12-4, will be favored to stop the Orange and will provide the toughest competition Syracuse will face on its home court this season.

Pittsburgh will floor a lineup of seniors, four of them averaging in double figures. Brian Generalovich, 6-4, is the big gun. He is averaging 16.8 points a game.

At the other forward position will be Dave Sauer, 6-3, with a 12.9 scoring average. Paul Krieger, 6-6, at center averages 8.1.

Dave Roman, 5-9, with 10.8 points a game, and Cal Sheffield, 6-0 and a 17.4 point average, team up in the Pitt Backcourt.

Coach Fred Lewis of Syracuse is expected to go with Chuck Richards, Dave Bing, Norm Goldsmith, Dick Duffy and Sam Penceal. Penceal will be given the nod over Phil Schoff because of his defensive ability which will be used against Generalovich. Schoff had a hot scoring night at Niagara, scoring 16 in the second half and overtime period.

Bing suffered a bruised heel in the Niagara game, but has been given a clean bill of health.

In their last outing Pitt scored 108 points in beating Carnegie Tech.

CAL SHEFFIELD

Army Matmen Host SU

Riding high after a victory over highly-rated Navy, the Syracuse University wrestling team is preparing to meet Army at 2 p.m. in the Manley Field House.

The Black Knights have an impressive team and their wins include a victory over Pittsburgh, conquerer of the Orangemen earlier this season. The well-rounded Army grapplers have three exceptionally good men: Robbins (130 pounds), Windbourne (137), and Abrams (191).

Syracuse Coach Ed Carlin said that the toughness of the meet will depend upon the way in which the Army coach arranges his line-up.

The Orangemen, who finally lived up to their pre-season rating last Saturday, will go with the same lineup that whipped Navy: Ron Pitts (123), Terry Haie (130), James Murrin (137), John Dusling (147), and captain Dick Slutzky (157), George Riedener (167), Lew Roberts (177), Bary Raichlin (191), and Jim Nance (unlimited). Noting the team injuries, Carlin said that Riedener is improving every day. However, Gerry Everling was operated on for a knee injury and will be out for the remainder of the season.

The future years look bright for the Piety matmen. The freshmen grapplers are very impressive and boast two undefeated men in Slidon and Kurt Kuppinger. Both were New York State champions in high school and are expected to be worked into next year's line-up.

Pittsburgh

Fairfield	82-62
Geo. Washington	89-68
Duquesne	69-67
Wisconsin	83-85
Miami (O.)	63-77
So. California	82-72
Illinois	76-83
Michigan	86-95
Dartmouth	107-63
Penn State	69-60
Bucknell	75-69
West Virginia	92-76
Kent State	84-63
Army	86-64
Westminster	71-69

Hill Swimmer Host Panthers

The Piety swimming team will take to the water tomorrow against a strong Pittsburgh club in Orange Pool. Meet time is 3:30 p.m.

Syracuse boasts an impressive 4-1 mark, with its most recent victory coming at the expense of Lehigh, 64-31.

The Hill mermen will be paced by captain Jim Myerberg and soph Dick Bauschard, twin victors against Lehigh. Myerberg romped home first in the 200 and 500-yard freestyles, while Bauschard captured the 50 and 100-yard freestyles.

Other Orangemen in the Pitt meet include Roger Ellengerger (200-yard butterfly), Pete Hickman (200-yard backstroke), Bill Hotchkiss (200-yard breast stroke), Steve Beaudry (200-yard individual medley) and Jim Marshall (200-yard freestyle).

Dwayne Lehigh will swim in the 200-yard backstroke, Bob Duthie in the 50-yard freestyle, Hugh Dunseath in the 200-yard individual medley and 200-yard breaststroke, and Bob DeWolfe in the 500-yard freestyle.

Hickman, Hotchkiss, Ellengerger and Jeff Meyer are scheduled to compete in the 400-yard medley relay, with Ellengerger, Beaudry, Duthie and Ted Moore in the 400-yard freestyle relay. Char Rudd herdles the diving chores.

HOOP, WRESTLING

WAER will cover both the basketball game this Friday night against Pittsburgh and the wrestling match Saturday afternoon against Army. The basketball game will be aired starting at 8:30 p.m. The wrestling match will be aired starting at 1:50 p.m.

Piety Gymnast Home

The Springfield College gymnastics squad will attempt to halt Syracuse's three year home winning streak when the two teams meet in Archbold Gymnasium at 8:00 p.m. Saturday.

Coach Paul Romeo's Syracuse gymnasts have not lost at home since they were beaten by Penn State during the 1961-2 season.

Since then the Orangemen have been invincible on their home mats, even capturing the Eastern championship which was held her last year.

This season the Orange are 3-1, having dropped a squeaker to Army last week at West Point. That loss ended an unbeaten string that covered the past two seasons. Springfield has also fallen to the Cadets, by one point.

Captain Carl Foplar will be Syracuse's all around performer this week. Last week he entered 3 events and averaged better than 9.0 for the day. Scores are based on a 10-point high.

Two Syracusans will be carrying unblemished records into the contest Saturday. Junior Sid Oglesby is undefeated on the long horse in four meets. Last year he won the Eastern title in that event and placed second in the National competition.

Jon "Spike" Meury as yet to lose on the side horse this year. He has far outclashed his opponent and appears to be following in the footsteps of the graduated Ray Grimaldi.

The other Orange performer will be Jim Barris (side horse and parallel bars), Mike Mikolay (long horse), John Steffney (still rings, high bar and parallel bars), Tom Steeves (still rings and high bar), and Ray Lewis (still rings).

SU Hockey Club Faces Brockport at Coliseum

By IRA BAKST

The Syracuse Hockey Association will be fighting for sole possession of second place tomorrow night when they meet Brockport at the Fairground's Coliseum at 6 p.m. Both clubs have identical 4-2 records.

The Orangemen, who will be out to avenge an earlier 4-1 setback, will again count on the productive line of Bill Miller, Sayre MacLeod and Brian Christie.

Christie led the Orangemen in its 3-5 victory over Hobart

Wednesday night by scoring a hat trick. Miller added two goals.

Friday night the skaters dropped a 4-3 decision to Rochester.

The Yellowjackets bounced off to a 4-1 lead over the Orange before Doug Hancock, and Roger Fitzgerald could close the gap. It was Fitzgerald's second goal of the night.

The Orange skaters played the game without the services of first string goaltender Dick Chmura who could not make the trip. Bill McGruther filled in admirably, making 16 saves.

In the Hobart game, Christie and Ray Nozynski sent Syracuse into a quick 2-0 lead early in the first period. Hobart came right back with three goals and led 3-2 until Bill Miller scored a goal on passes from Christie and MacLeod at 17:40 of the second period.

The Orangemen then poured in five third period goals to ice the contest.

Dick Chmura stopped 28 shots while Al Wilson of Hobart was bombarded with 49.

The Syracuse Stars will meet the Montreal Boisclores in a second game at the Coliseum tomorrow night at 8:30 p.m. The Boisclores have ex-Boston great Fleming Mackell in the starting six.

Seven Nominated For IFC Posts

By CAROL RUBRIGHT

Nominations for InterFraternity Council president and vice president closed Friday with a seven-candidate slate — three more nominees than had previously been announced.

Two of the new candidates, Michael Palombo (Psi Upsilon) and Arthur Perschetz (Phi Epsilon Pi) are presidential nominees.

Perschetz, however, announced to the DQ that he would decline the nomination because he "couldn't devote the time to the job that it deserves."

Michael Palombo (Psi Upsilon), a member of the junior class executive council, comes from Kirkwood, N. Y. and is a political science major in the School of Liberal Arts. House representative to the IFC for one semester, Palombo was a Goon last year and now serves as a member of Joint Student Government.

Contending for IFC president are:

Gary C. Rehm (Acadia) is a junior in Liberal Arts from Oakdale, N. Y. He is majoring in international relations and is presently public relations director of the IFC. Rehm has been an IFC member for five terms, representing SU at the 1962 national IFC. He has been rush chairman, social chairman and vice president of Acadia.

George Van Derven (Alpha Chi Rho), from Westfield, N.J., has served the IFC for one year and is now a member of the IFC judicial board. Van Derven is a political science major in Liberal Arts, sings in Chapel Choir and is corresponding secretary of his house.

Vice presidential candidates are:

Peter Stern (Tau Epsilon Phi), a sophomore in Liberal Arts from Bay Shore, N. Y. He is majoring in political science and has been IFC delegate for two semesters. Stern is a member of Goon Squad and assistant treasurer for Winter Weekend.

Joseph (Jack) White (Phi Kappa Psi), a judge on the IFC court, is a radio and television major from Corning, N. Y. A newscaster for WAER, White has served the IFC for five semesters and is presently its secretary.

Criminal Offense

University to Crack Down On Illegal Telephone Calls

By CISSY POSSELT

Shoplifting . . . cheating on exams . . . Syracuse University students have been brought before disciplinary boards and student courts for a variety of abuses of university and civil codes.

The least publicized of the offenses of students at SU is however, those which are committed against a private concern, the telephone company.

Offense of this type, according to Francis A. Wingate, Vice President and Treasurer of the university, fall into two categories.

The first of these is classed as malicious mischief, and results when students rip the phone from the walls, cut the wires, and take apart the works of the telephones.

Besides causing unnecessary repair bills, these actions render the phones useless to dormitory residents until the repairs can be made.

The second type of offenses involve money — either that of the university or that of American Telephone and Telegraph.

Dr. Wingate indicated that numerous calls, unauthorized by the university, are made monthly. Most of the calls are long distance ones, made over university extensions by students who have learned or guessed the university code numbers.

But unauthorized and illegal telephone calls of this type are difficult to trace; a question of jurisdiction arises. Officially, the university rents its extension telephone service from the parent company.

The Hill's financial offices pay out $18,000 per month and up for the services of the company.

To aid the university in its telephone administration and with problems which arise with the service, Donald B. Sill, a communications consultant of the company, works full time with university officials.

It is a part of his job to aid the university in tracing down and attempting to eliminate these costly unauthorized calls.

In a recent interview, Dr. Wingate and Sill cited several cases in which students have been apprehended in connection with the calls.

One such case involved an

(continued on page 7)

Four Rescued Hikers Return to Classes Today

By ALLAN T. KORT
Editor-in-Chief

Four Syracuse University students, who were rescued Thursday after being missing for five days in New Hampshire's Presidential Mountain Range, returned to classes today — a full week later than expected.

The group returned to Syracuse over the weekend and said they expected to be back in classes Monday. "We can't afford to miss another day of classes," one said.

The four are: Peter Catelli, 18, Rouses Point, a sophomore in the New York State College of Forestry; Craig Fournier, 18, of Tonawanda, a freshman in the College of Forestry; Robert C. Koppe, 21, of Massapequa Park, a junior in the College of Forestry; and Peter I. Bradford, 25, of Syracuse, a junior in the College of Liberal Arts.

Catelli, Fournier and Koppe spent Sunday night in their respective dorms telling fellow students of their experience and "trying to cram up on what we missed," as Catelli put it.

There is a good possibility that 100 feet of film shot by the hikers at Edmunds Col may appear in Life magazine, one of the hikers told the Daily

Orange.

He emphasized that all four are "ready to go right up on that mountain again because it's so beautiful up there." Catelli, the leader of the well-publicized hike said that the group plans to continue this semester and would probably go on another hike "in a few weeks."

One final footnote was added to the story Sunday. The hikers warned inexperienced hikers against winter trips.

(Related Story, Page 7)

Winter Issue of '10' Goes on Sale Feb. 26

The winter issue of this year's SYRACUSE 10 will be sold in the Marshall street stores and on campus beginning, on February 26, according to "10" Editor-in-Chief Benjamin Zelermeyer.

"We're on schedule so far," Zelermeyer said, "and we see no problem ahead."

The magazine, in its sixth year of publication, will use the same basic format as the Fall issue, the only major change occurring in the initiation of a special 16-page supplementary section. Commenting on this special section, Zelermeyer said, "The supplement is composed of a series of drawings by art professor, Fred Haucke.

"The drawings will run under the collective title, 'Another World: microcosm in thirty scenes', and will include the artist's commentary. This section brings the total length of the magazine to forty-eight pages, and expands the sense of the '10' to embrace the visual, as well as the literary arts."

In addition to the Haucke drawings, there will be a full sized regular issue, containing three short stories, a number of poems, and a series of photographs. "We think that one of the stories, 'Annabelle Levy,' Zelermeyer added, "is far and away the best piece of fiction the '10' has published in several years."

Approximately 1700 copies of Kennedy Book

The United Press International book, "The Four Days" is now available. Prepaid subscribers are requested to pick them up in the basement of the Radio and TV Center.

was said, may pick up their copies of the magazine at any of the CAMPUS distribution stations, but not in the stores. "We had good support for the first issue; we'd like to see it improve this time."

The staff of the magazine is hoping for a sale of 2,000 this time. Subscription holders, if the first issue were sold, and

Back from World Lecture Tour

Martin Returns to Maxwell

By SANDI EHRLICH
Junior Editor

A "universal interest in improving government and administration" was found in countries around the world by Roscoe C. Martin, Maxwell School professor of political science, on his recent lecture tour.

He returned last week from touring 10 Oriental and Middle Eastern countries. His lecture tour was arranged by the bureau of educational and cultural affairs of the U.S. Department of State.

Martin said he found institutes for improving government in every country, and he noticed a "wide and active interest" in government.

He said he encountered "absolutely no anti-American feeling" anywhere.

Martin spoke before university classes public audiences and with groups of civil servants and administrators. He discussed American public affairs and

(continued on page 6)

ROSCE C. MARTIN

Court Opens Four Seats

Applications are being accepted for four vacancies on Joint Student Court. The positions open are for three present sophomores and one present junior.

The applications, which should be written on the student's paper, must include name, campus address, telephone, cumulative average, activities and ideas. Each applicant must have a 1.5 cumulative average.

Students should turn in the applications to the dean of men's office today.

Interviews will follow filing of the applications. Each applicant will be contacted as to time of interview.

Queen Coffees

There will be only one coffee this week for Winter Weekend Queen interviews, 7 p.m. Tuesday at 309 Women's Building. Coffees scheduled for Monday and Wednesday for the coffee is skinesday have been cancelled. clothes. For more information or applications call either Robert Donne, Ext. 2618; or Nancy Cox, Ext. 2691.

A Right Not a Privilege

Although we are told that it is a privilege and not a right to attend Syracuse University, the students of the university have found cause to abuse this privilege by misusing and vandalizing university property.

But the misuse and vandalism of university property has spread, like a growth, to private property, only rented by SU. We are talking about the recent malicious mischief and vandalism of telephones in men's and women's dormitories on the Hill.

Without knowledge of existing laws, students are placing their academic and future records in jeopardy. The law is clear and those who tamper with public utilities may be prosecuted.

The unauthorized use of university phones, extension and pay telephones, has encompassed ripping the phones from the dormitory walls, cutting wires, unscrewing receivers and cutting out the works, tampering with the outside phones to permit illegal calls or stealing money from the coin box. Students have also created imaginary credit cards, rigged the phones to avoid paying for long distance calls and have charged calls to non-existing numbers.

These pranks and actual misdemeanors have cost the university $711 for the month of May and numerous days of problems and investigation.

Acting as an intermediary for the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the university has suggested the curtailment of phone privileges when vandalism has damaged a phone until students act accordingly. In this way the university hopes to make students realize it is a "qualified" privilege to use a telephone rather than a right.

We can see no other road for the university to take in dealing with obvious disregard for property.

It is paradoxical to hear the cries of the student body for more freedom and more rights, when they themselves abuse and ignore the established laws of every free community.

You Can Take It With You

If you've ever been in a group where someone comes up with an album of old snapshots, you know that what the Chinese philosopher meant when he said: "One picture is worth ten thousand words." Especially if one of them depicts an elderly member of the company in her birthday suit on a bearskin rug — at an early age, of course.

In fact, we sometimes wonder what people found to talk about before they were taking pictures. How could you get the floor to brag about your baby or last season's buck or your girl or your boat if you don't have a picture to show? And what's the use of taking a trip — to Zanzibar or the nearest zoo — if you don't take pictures. Who will ever know you went anywhere? How can you prove it without snapshots or color transparencies or movies?

Significant, we think, is the fact that a noted tour director urges all of his clients to take cameras with them wherever they go. He has found, he says, that this makes all the difference in the satisfaction they get from a trip since it's the one way travellers can take home with them the outlying world they have seen.

"With a camera at the ready, they look at the significant, the historic and the beautiful things at least twice — first out of curiosity and excitement, and again to take a picture. Furthermore," he confides, "I have a hunch that those who intend to photograph their tour do a little more homework in advance of a journey — so as to get worthwhile shots, and know what they mean."

Not every photo may be worth the full Chinese quota of ten thousand words, but, discount it a few thousand and that still makes quite a conversation piece out of the click of a shutter.

Or, can you wiggle your ears?

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2 February 10, 1964
Editor-in-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor Clayton F. Richards
News Editor Andrew Portie
Editorial Director Adair DeLine
Staff Editor Bernard MacCallum
Assistant Editor Rex Turck
Publicity Editor Gabe Schumacher

BUSINESS STAFF

Art. Ray Merz
Layout Manager Martha Joharick
Editorial Aide Mary Ellen Circulation Manager Christine Sedrak
Production Manager Stu Shiano

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 200 Broadway Drive, Eastville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter at U. S. Post Office, Eastville, N. Y.

Hikers

To the Editor:

We are all very happy to welcome our friends back to Syracuse after their long wait for help in Edmand's Col. While they were missing, we feared that they might be injured, but knew that whatever happened, their training would hold true, and that they would wait until rescue came.

Although their trip was not a registered Outing Club trip, just recently they had spent four days climbing in the Adirondacks with SUOC. Winter mountaineering is an accepted and encouraged part of Outing Club program. We try to send our parties out with the best of gear, training and leadership. Peter Catelli is an Assistant Winter Trip Leader with the Adirondack Mountain Club, and was qualified to be leader for the Washington Trip. Bradford, Koppe, and Fournier (as well as Catelli) had just attended Winter Mountaineering School, a five-day school at Heart Lake, run by the ADK — a school which has certainly been justified in this demonstration of its good training.

All of our membership has been encouraged to take Red-Cross First Aid training. We try to teach the necessary skills of our members, so that they may be better and safer mountaineers, and we try to teach survival for when the going gets rough. We urge that the people who love the mountains as we do, and who go climbing learn the harrowing lesson of this week. That they learn about the mountains before they go climbing, and that when they go out on the trails, they go well equipped and well led.

Many organizations exist for this purpose. Colleges and universities have Outing Clubs. For others there are The Adirondack Mountain Club, and the Appalachian Mountain Club, and other groups. We again urge that you learn before you go!

Members of SU
Outing Club

Rules

To the Editor:

It has been a matter of some concern to several associates of mine, as well as to myself, that every day at Syracuse University a significant rule or "standard" of that University is violated. The indifference and ease with which this rule is violated is at least repulsive, and is certainly of some danger to both the maintenance of the University buildings and to the academic progress of the students endeavoring to be educated inside those buildings. The rule of which I speak is stated explicitly in a section entitled, "Policies Governing Student Conduct," in the University Dates and Data pamphlet; it reads: "Students are requested to refrain from smoking in the University buildings except in rooms provided for that purpose."

It may be presumptuous to suppose that students understand the reasons for such a rule; actually, there are two good reasons for it: 1.) It is a fire-prevention rule, and 2.) less obvious people who smoke less obvious to people who smoke during classes, smoke tends to irritate the breathing and eyes of non-smokers in the class, thus interfering in their learning processes. Of vital concern to students, of course, is whether the professor himself elects to light up in class; they feel that if a professor smokes, the act is justified, and that consequently it is perfectly reasonable for them to embark upon their own air-polluting smoking-habits. I submit that no professor, whoever he is, is free to violate University rules, and that this should in some way be made clear to professors as well as to students.

Aside from the unpretentious

LETTERS

and indifferent violation of University policy, I should like to consider smoking during classes from another perspective perhaps a more plainly human and fundamental perspective. I have witnessed some classroom scenes since coming to Syracuse University which more resemble some types of coffee-house situations than sessions representative of modes of intellectual pursuits. Men and women with nicotine stained fingers holding up slim, white cylindrical objects as if the objects themselves were being studied, and men and women with paper cups of coffee in their other hands characterize our classes these days; above the din of all this obnoxious puffing and slurping can be heard the voice of the man some students came to hear. Most disturbing about this entire situation, however, is that apparently most smokers are oblivious to the fact that the little trails of smoke they are so generously injecting into the atmosphere may be travelling into the lungs of students who would just as soon breathe the clean air.

It has been stated no more simply than by Emily Post, that if a person must smoke in public, he needs to be conscious and considerate of fellow citizens. As one who has sufficiently suffered from the inconsiderate smoking habits of others, I humbly offer the above thoughts for consideration.

Name Withheld

Rescue

To the Editor:

I was very pleased to see the generally accurate reporting of the DO concerning the rescue of my friends from Edmand's Col. However, the editorial which you wrote was quite disturbing.

1. Perhaps they did not sign in at Madison Huts. But then again perhaps the list was not available to be signed. In any case the only accurate information which could have been provided was that they were beyond Madison. Their location still would have been in doubt.

2. Some of the group were new to the art of winter mountaineering. They had all, however, been to Winter Mountaineering School. I do not believe that they had bitten off more than they could chew. The weather bit them off. If the weather had held they would have made their trip in fine style. The fact that they greeted rescuers with "Can we help you with something" testifies to their fine physical condition. Their knowledge was sound, and their equipment was good. The implication that they made no provision for mishap is entirely unjustified. They came through safely, in spite of the extreme conditions, didn't they?

3. We do organize trips. But we cannot organize those who don't wish to be organized. We have met many Syracusans in the mountains and caves who don't wish to join the Outing Club. Similarly, we cannot check on small trips, and detain them if we think what they're doing is crazy. We are a group of individuals. If any of our rights are stepped on, we'll fight back. If we are paced in the position of watchdog, I think SUOC would soon fall apart.

1. Mountaineers always go out on trips prepared for the worst. This is all they can do. To ask more would be to ruin the sport. The best insurance against disaster is proper training. SUOC will go on trying to give that training. That is all we can do.

Janice Kirkpatrick
Past President of SUOC

Grades

To the Editor:

If one may accept the accuracy of Wednesday's Daily Orange article concerning the proposed change in the grading system, a rather uncomplementary light seems to have been cast on S.U. administrator Frank Piskor. For example, Mr. Piskor's insistence that the Joint Student Government first "prove" the student body to be in favor of the more graduated system before he will become "receptive" to the idea, which irrelevant as a prerequisite appears not only essentially for action in the matter, but even more clearly seems to amount to a somewhat sloppy attempt at bureaucratic procrastination.

A decision concerning the proposed change should not rest either finally or fundamentally with the opinion of the student body but, more reasonably, should be reached by estimating the academic advantages accruing to a more precise method of grading. I do not think that the complexities here involved are so great as to require a plebiscite, weighing this against any increased difficulty in either installing or administering a new system.

It is basically dishonest for members of the university administration, at those rare moments when they deem it both practically feasible and politically advantageous, to attempt to create the rather ludicrous impression that they are panders to student opinion — for that they definitely are not. By the same token, I would sincerely hope that in this one case at least, a decision regarding which is long over-due, we can look for a thorough, impartial and expeditious examination of facts and, even more hopefully I presume, the mustering of the necessary courage to take any appropriate action. Why, I have often wondered, must a problem exist for so long before any attempt, no matter how feeble, is made to rectify it?

Name Withheld
Upon Request.

Mountains

To the Editor:

It is difficult for me to sympathize with your editorial, From Anxiety to Fear. (Feb. 7) I have climbed the Presidential Range several times in summer, and once had lunch at that saddle-shaped shelter where the four holed up.

Although I do not claim to be any expert, it is obvious that these men are no amateurs. A couple have been to winter mountaineering school and have had some survival training.

Even with the host of other facts I might cite, I could not judge if these boys were in the wrong in taking the trip at all. William Putnam, one of the search party leaders, and several forest rangers usually become very angry with people lost in the mountains.

In this case they highly commend the common sense of these four. With praise coming from such men as these, we should be proud of our four class-mates who will always be a credit to Syracuse University.

Albert Howlett
Class of '67

LETTERS

The letters column is maintained for the expression of opinion by readers. However, the Daily Orange reserves the right to edit letters for grammar and good taste or to reject letters. Letters should be written legibly, preferably typed and no longer than 250 words. All letters must be signed with names and addresses (names will be withheld on request).

Pirandello Play Opens

"Six Characters in Search of an Author" opens at 8:30 p. m. today at the Regent Theatre. The Pirandello play is presented by the off-Broadway theatre group, Circle in the Square.

Pirandello tells his story with psychological concept and the tragic problems of human existence.

William Young will play the part of a director who moves from the real into the unreal world. Young has appeared in "Under Milkwood" and "The Balcony."

Jack Dodson, as the father, has appeared in more than 300 performances in the New York production as the director.

Margery MacDaniel plays the mother. She has appeared on television, films, in addition to the theatre.

Barbara Colby as the step-daughter just completed studying with Marcel Marceau and Jean Louis Barrault.

The director, Mark D. Healy has been associated with the McCarter Theatre in Princeton, the National Phoenix theatre and the American Festival in Boston.

Tickets are on sale at the Regent Theatre for $3, $2.50 and $2.

Greenwald Revisited

Up for the Weekend

By John E. Greenwald

John E. Greenwald, the 1962-63 Daily Orange entertainment and executive editor, returned to campus last Friday and wrote the following observations. He is currently working and living in New York City.

Actually, Syracuse University was visited by two alumni and ex-employees this past weekend.

First came the current Rutgers Dean of Students (and our own ex-but-beloved Dean of Men, Earle W. Clifford. Officially, we're told, he was here to study the dorms, but the noise is he came to gloat.

We returned to the scene of our past collegiate indiscretions to recall how wonderful they were; to look up old friends (and enemies); and to experience the warming feeling of walking down the street and knowing somebody. That's very difficult in New York City.

Despite year books, commencement exercises and that as-large-as-a-2-5-cent-picture-post-card-of-the-Jersey-slagheaps diploma SU mails you (for 45 cents postage) we really didn't feel graduated till early August.

After all, the past four late summers were spent filling our room with clothes, trunks, suit cases, paper cartons and harried parents. Now, our room is as neat as June 1st.

No longer was our mailbox filled with room assignment slips that we once would faithfully tuck in our wallet, loose, and then find we didn't need anyway. Paul Barkel, College Linen Service, University health plan, SU bookstore and Hill Music Box (nee Olmsteads) didn't want our money or charge accounts any longer.

We honestly wondered how the university was going to get along without us.

Now, life really seems to matter. Gone are the "Well, there's always next semester or summer school" attitudes.

College life slowly emerged, in comparison to 9 to 5 life, as a nonsensical, irresponsible farce that relied as much upon impulsive fits of self indulgence to relieve the boredom as a "steady job" relies on mind deadening routine to relieve the dullness.

On the "outside world," at least, the work we do is rewarding, the work we do is rewarded by cash (and health plans, retirement plans, and "there's a nice secretary in accounting I could fix you up with" plans), not by our professor's seductive grade curve.

So Dean Clifford returned to learn new methods of implementing his latest university's social hypocrisy. And we returned to have a beer at the Orange.

one guy... three girls... one ring!... Paradise?

"High comedy, dry wit."
—Herald Tribune.

TOM COURTENAY AS
Plus
"Sneak Preview"

Riviera CINEMA
3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. GR8-4021

Through arrangements with the
BARRICINI
CARD & PARTY CENTER,
we have a supply of BARRICINI Valentine Candy as well as a complete selection of Hallmark and Leading Contemporary Lines of Valentine Cards.

Varsity CAMERA SHOP
804 South Crouse Avenue
(next to Varsity Restaurant)

TONIGHT - FEB. 10

8:30 P. M.

Circle-in-the-Square presents

Six Characters In Search Of An Author

N. Y. Direction by Wm. Ball

Tickets: $3.00, 2.50, 2.00

Reservations, 476-4536

UNIVERSITY REGENT THEATRE

Tuesday
Evenings
Two Showings
7 and 9 p.m.

University
REGENT
Theatre

820 EAST GENESEE

TOMORROW

Shakespeare

Film Series

"HAMLET"

(Great Britain)

Tickets:

Single 75c. Series $1.50

Daily Crossword Puzzle

- ACROSS

1 "I am monarch of — survey ..." 2 words.

5 Large girls' college.

10 11th cen. date; Rom.

14 Entrance.

15 Jack of movies.

16 Bulwer-Lytton heroine.

17 Gym adjunct.

19 Scripts: Abbr.

20 River in England.

21 Peacockish.

22 Picture frame of a sort.

24 Coat.

26 Concentrate.

27 Singles.

29 Plotted.

32 — as a fiddle; 2 words.

35 Chooses.

37 Japanese name.

38 Electrical units.

39 Plaza de —.

40 Arctic island.

41 Dernier —.

42 U.S. poet.

43 Composer of "I Love You So."

44 Crooked as a dog's —; 2 words.
- 45 God with a magic hammer.

43 Macbeth, for one.

49 Squirrel rations.

53 Jai alai.

55 Tower town.

57 Drivers' group.

58 M. P.'s concern.

59 Heroine in a child's fable.

62 Alencon.

63 Rejoice (in).

64 Famous Virginians.

65 Printer's supplies.

66 Good wives.

67 Whirlpool.
- DOWN

1 Exponent of the inferiority, complex.

2 Let fly.

3 Creator of Petro-leum V. Nasby.

4 Bore.

5 "And what is — as a day in June?" 2 words.

6 Spouse: Fr.

7 Sacred image.

8 Uncle: Sp.

9 Evergreens.

10 Error: Colloq.

11 Key man.

12 Concerning: 2 words.
- 13 Bodice.

18 Occurrence.

23 U.S. newspaper family.

25 Time: Fr.

26 — Fitzgerald; 1 Full name.

28 Kind of cake.

30 Girl's name.

31 Gloomy.

32 Part of the foot.

33 Silk: Prefix.

34 Old-fashioned gun.

36 Great anger.

39 Designating certain minors.

40 Air prefix.

42 Blurt out: Colloq.

43 Not express.

45 Dogs of India.

47 "My heart — love." — Heine; 2 words.

50 Competed.

51 Unadorned.

52 Forward.

53 Language of Buddhism.

54 Celtic man's name.

55 Fruit tree.

56 Groundless.

60 Prefix in chemistry.

61 Cockney's bomb shelter.

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14				15					16
17				18					19
20				21				22	23
24			25				26
			27			28	29				30	31
32	33	34				35	36				37
38						39					40
41				42					43
44			45				46	47
			48					49		50	51	52
53	54						55	56			57
58						59	60			61
62						63				64
65						66				67

In February Redbook:

A Talk to College Girls about Love and Sex

"What can I do about sex until marriage?"

"Whose business is it anyway but mine?"

"Can I expect adults who are responsible for my well being to tell me honestly to 'go ahead'?"

Without invoking ideals, morals or sacred values, a distinguished doctor and marriage counselor presents a practical, candid guide for college girls on the subject of modern love, premarital sex and marriage.

FEBRUARY
REDBOOK
The Magazine for Young Adults
NOW ON SALE

BIOGRAPHY OF A RESCUE

MEMBERS OF LAND rescue party unload rescue equipment. A six-man party met the rescued hikers at Monticello Lawn between Mt. Adams and Mt. Jefferson and aided the quartet into the helicopter.

HELICOPTER CREW TELLS story of rescue from the mountains to Daily Orange reporter Andrew Porte, right, minutes after the Copter landed at Glen House. From left, Lt. Comdr. R. C. Hamilton, AD 3 P. W. Capling (who jumped from the copter to help the lads into the plane) and Porte.

RESCUED HIKERS disembark from U. S. Navy rescue helicopter at Glen House, N. H. where they started on their hike 10 days ago.

FOREST RANGERS and emergency personnel stand by as four Syracuse University students land at Glen House, N. H.

PETER CATELLI

ROBERT

CRAIG FOURNIER

Pictured on this page are several of the scenes that were common to the Laconia, N. H. and Glen House area before, during and after the rescue of four Syracuse University students from Edmands Col. (between Mt. Adams and Mt. Jefferson) in New Hampshire's Presidential Range. The rescued students are pictured above.

VIEW OF THE AREA between Mt. Jefferson and Mt. Adams where four university students were missing for five days.

Photos by J. S. Proumbain

NOEL SHELTON, supervisor of the rescue operations for the U. S. Forestry Service in the Presidential Mountain Range awaits with anxiety as helicopter with hikers aboard prepares for landing.

RANGER C. W. WHEELER (center) plots out path that missing hikers were to follow to meet land rescue party and U. S. Navy helicopter at the Laconia, N. H. rescue headquarters.

DIRECTING OPERATIONS from the U. S. Forest Service headquarters in Laconia, N. H. is Ranger Jack Godden. Godden handled radio search operations from National Forest Service Headquarters 70 miles from the scene.

Job Program Starts In Business College

All students who have an interest in business are urged to attend the Careers in Business program being initiated this week. Sponsored by the Student Faculty Council of the Business College, the program will consist of a series of seminars held each Thursday evening from February 13 through March 5 in the Women's Building.

Each seminar will feature speakers from industry who are experts in their field and will run 15 minutes.

The first three seminars will be held Thursday. Dr. William Wasserman, associate professor of business economics and statistics, will conduct the statistics seminar at 7:30 in 305, Women's Building.

The Accounting panel will consist of Paul G. Griers, vice-president and treasurer of Vega Industries, Inc., Bernard Whitbread, treasurer of Marcellus Casket Company, James P. Scott, C.P.A., partner at Lybrand, Ross Bros. and Montgomery, and Prof. Horace J. Landry, accounting department chairman. It will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Recreation Room.

The Combination Law Seminar will have John C. Huston, professor of law at the Law College, and Horace J. Landry at 8:30 p.m. in room 305.

Dean & Student

TALKING TO COED on the upcoming Business School Career Day is Business College Dean Carl Vogt.

RECORD ANYTHING, ANYWHERE, ANYTIME

With the Norelco

CONTINENTAL '100'

PORTABLE TAPE RECORDER 100% transistorized, works on ordinary flashlight batteries. Weighs only 7 lbs. Records and play back up to 2 hours on one reel. Dynamic microphone and constant speed motor with capstan drive. Ruggedly built... handsomely styled... surprisingly low in price. See it now at institutions with general audiences, and technical subjects, like the administration of natural resources with public officials.

Martin Returns to Maxwell

(continued from page 1)

Martin was in Cyprus when the Greek-Turkish rioting began in December. He spoke to both Greek and Turkish audiences there.

The professor said his "casual observation" was that the Greeks and Turks put their national ties first, above being Cypriots, and that as long as this situation exists, "their difficulty is impossible for resolution."

BEAT FORDHAM

CHINESE LINGUISTS

Native fluency in Mandarin or Cantonese. Translate, analyze and edit publications into English. Some interpreting. U. S. citizen, resident alien or student visa status acceptable. College degree preferred. Opportunity for some travel. Starting salary $5,235 to $5,795 yearly. Send biographical data and resume of education and experience to:

Mr. Bradley C. Channon
P. O. Box 9141
Rosslyn Station
Arlington, Virginia

He praised the work of the State Department and the United States Information Service for "doing a very good job of telling America's story abroad."

Martin also visited Japan, Hong Kong, Pakistan, Iran, Turkey, Greece, Lebanon, Egypt and India.

Martin, who is teaching two graduate seminars this semester, has been a Maxwell School professor since 1919. He was chairman of the political science department from that year till 1956.

He has also taught at University of Texas and the University of Alabama. He has been an adviser to the governors of Alabama and Georgia, and was a member of the U.S. delegation to the sixth general conference of UNESCO, in Paris.

Martin has been a guest lecturer at universities across the country and is a former consultant to the Ford Foundation.

GO GREEK

Α	Alpha	Ι	Iota	Ρ	Rho
Β	Beta	Κ	Kappa	Σ	Sigma
Γ	Gamma	Λ	Lambda	Τ	Tau
Δ	Delta	Μ	Mu	Υ	Upsilon
Ε	Epsilon	Ν	Nu	Φ	Phi
Ζ	Zeta	Ξ	Xi	Χ	Chi
Η	Eta	Ο	Omicron	Ψ	Psi
Θ	Theta	Π	Pi	Ω	Omega

L. G. BALFOUR CO.

Fraternity & Sorority Insignia

Jewelry • Rings

Stationery • Favors

Gifts • Ceramics

Leathergoods

Carl Sorensen, Prop.

729 S. Crouse

GR 5-7837

You have room for achievement in data processing—at IBM

There are challenging assignments open in more than 190 IBM Sales and Service Offices, coast to coast, with room for achievement in the marketing of information systems and equipment. ■

To qualify, you should have a bachelor's or advanced degree in Engineering, the Sciences, Business Administration, Economics, or the Liberal Arts. ■

You'll find that your opportunities increase with each new system that is designed to meet the growing needs of business, industry, government, research, education, or space. ■

wide range of positions

Marketing: ■ The IBM Data Processing Representative is a consultant to his customers. ■ He demonstrates how customers can achieve better business management and control through data processing. ■

Systems Engineering: ■ IBM Data Processing Systems Engineers are men and women who study customer requirements in depth, devise an approach, define a preferred machine and operational solution, and assist in implementing this solution. ■

opportunities for advancement

IBM, an Equal Opportunity Employer, offers you extensive training in the area of your special interest. ■ This training continues as you advance along a planned career path leading to professional or managerial positions. ■

We also have comprehensive company-paid benefits plans...training programs to keep you abreast of developments in your field...and a tuition-refund plan to give you financial assistance for graduate study. ■

on-campus interviews

See your college placement director to determine when IBM will interview on campus, and make an appointment to see our representative.

If the interview date is inconvenient for you, please write or call: ■ W. J. Waibel, Branch Manager, ■ IBM Corporation, 1000 James Street, Syracuse 3, N. Y., GR 2-7851. ■

February 25-26 Liberal Arts Placement
February 27 Women's Placement
February 28 Engineering Placement

MOVE AHEAD WITH

IBM

DATA PROCESSING

Ticket Sale

SELLING TICKETS to Winter Weekend at HBC Lobby is Charles Stackhouse. Purchasing the tickets for Stockingfoot and the New Christy Minstrels is Junior Wendy Issacs.

University to Crack Down

(continued from page 1) engineering student at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. The student, in electrical engineering, had devised a contraption which made it possible to make long distance direct dial calls without making contact with the telephone operator.

When telephone officials discovered the situation, immediate action was taken and the student apprehended.

Charges have been made, and he now faces severe fines and a possible prison term. Sill noted that the RPI student paper had published the laws regarding illegal use of telephone equipment before the student was caught.

Both men emphasized the gravity of the charges and the "black mark" which will stand on the student's record "for the rest of his life."

In other cases, calls are made from the university and charged to non-existent or false numbers; on several occasions, student were found to be making calls on imaginary credit-card numbers.

Dr. Wingate and Sill both stated that action taken against Hill students making such calls will be taken, as in the past, by the university and the telephone company as co-respondents.

Dean of Men James Carleton stated that students found making such calls would be subject to two codes of law; the first being the state law and the second the university laws.

For Dean Carleton feels, as does Dr. Wingate, that the university should enforce rules on the qualified privilege of the telephone service to the Hill. Dean Carleton stated that all such cases involving undergraduates will be referred to Student Court, while cases with graduate students will be acted upon by the dean of men's office.

While Dr. Wingate noted that the number of cases of unauthorized use of telephones on the Hill is not on the rise, he stated that it is a costly menace to the university financial offices. The charges on one month's calls of this type last year amounted to $711.

In the case of malicious mischief, where an extension telephone is wrecked, both Dr. Wingate and Sill felt that the repair should be delayed, as an incentive for students to refrain from damaging the equipment repeatedly.

Under the list of such damages are ripping phone lines from the wall, cutting wires, unscrewing receivers, and tampering with the dial equipment.

MONDAY
4 p. m., WAA Volleyball, Gym B.
Women's Bldg.
5:05 p. m., Choral Vespers, North Wing, Hendricks Chapel.
7 p. m., Online Club trip meeting, 104 H.E.
8:30 p. m., Lambda Sigma Sigma at Kappa Alpha Theta.
8:30 p. m., Graduate Seminar, St. Thomas More Chapel.

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

FOR SALE

SORORITIES - FRATERNITIES: For rushing, Greek letter matches, napkins in proper colors. Napkins to order - many matches in stock. Name tags, pins, place cards, candles, pledge ribbons. Bookstall.

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of 4 colors of paper, 3 colors of ink 2 sizes of sheets. Bookstall.

'62 VOLKSWAGEN convertible, 20,000 miles. Excellent condition. Call evenings GR 5-4919. Sport options available.

FENDER DELUXE AMPLIFIER, 12" speaker. Dancetrio reverb unit. Reasonable. 446-9805, 6-9 p.m. Bill McDermott.

TWO SEWING machines - one portable, one cabinet, for sale. $50 apiece, good condition. call days 652-2549, nights GR 1-4510.

FREE SOLDERING. all charms bought here. Charms, lozenges, jewelry, watch repair. Greeting cards. Personalized stationery. Valentine gifts and cards. Riviera sunglasses for men and women. Ruth's Gifts, 734 S. Crouse, Introductory Sale, Crepe de Chine Cologne and Nuit de Lomcham.

WANTED

FRESHMEN AND SOPHOMORES to work as projectionists for Audio Visual College Place, ex. 2631.

FEMALE STUDENT to share nice, inexpensive, 6 room apartment with 2 other students. GR 4-5407.

TEACHERS FOR IMMEDIATE OPEN-of their spare winter time in the White Mountains. They have also climbed in Colorado.

Carmon said that the three experienced no trouble in hiking the identical path the SU students had intended to take. "We just had a good break in the weather," he said.

All agreed that Thursday morning was the best time to make the rescue attempt, because snow was scheduled to fall later in the day.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE
A	S	H	O	E	B	A	R	B	T	Y	P	O
B	L	E	N	T	E	L	I	A	O	A	H	U
P	U	R	C	H	A	S	I	N	G	F	O	W	E	R
B	R	E	E	Z	E	G	A	R	G	L	E
			O	R	A	T	E	S	O	O
S	H	A	V	E	N	D	I	S	P	O	S	A	L
K	O	R	E	A	B	I	N	E	D	U	D	E
A	G	I	R	L	E	F	T	S	T	R	I	A
T	A	L	L	B	R	I	O	H	O	A	R	D
E	N	S	I	L	A	G	E	F	A	B	L	E
			G	I	L	S	W	E	D	E
			M	A	H	A	L	A	H	E	R	T	E
D	I	S	T	R	E	S	S	E	D	A	R	E	A	S
A	N	I	L	T	E	A	L	C	U	L	D	E
O	D	A	Y	S	A	N	K	H	E	S	S	I	F

Harvard Hikers Also Return For Classes at the "Yard"

Three Harvard College students who were part of the ground searching party for the four missing Syracuse University students in the White Mountains say they "are going back to Cambridge to get back to classes," which began Monday.

The three were members of the Harvard Mountaineering Club, a group similar to SU's outing club. The three had completed a hike of the 17-mile span between Glen House and Crawford Notch the day before the four Hill students were forced to take shelter due to winds and cold.

The trio was part of a force of nearly 100 men who participated in the search through New England's terrain.

They were Matt Hale, a sophomore from Alexandria Va.; Peter Carmon, a junior from Nashville, Tenn.; and Larry Muir, a junior from Seattle, Wash.

They said they spend much

THE BELL SYSTEM

represented by

Western Electric

Bell Telephone Laboratories

New Jersey Bell Telephone

New York Telephone

will interview on campus

FEB. 17, 18

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER.

SPECIAL

We Are Reducing
Our Overstock of Lavaliers

Reg. Price $5.00

Now Only

$2.75

With Chain

While They Last

Valentines for HER

RUTH'S GIFTS

731 S. Crouse Avenue

ACACIA
ALPHA CHI RHO
ALPHA EPSILON PI
ALPHA TAU OMEGA
BETA SIGMA RHO
BETA THETA PI
DELTA KAPPA EPSILON
DELTA TAU DELTA
DELTA UPHILON
KAPPA PHI DELTA
KAPPA SIGMA
LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
PHI ALPHA
PHI DELTA THETA
PHI EPSILON PI
PHI GAMMA DELTA
PHI KAPPA PSI
PHI SIGMA DELTA
PI KAPPA ALPHA PSI UPHILON
SIGMA ALPHA MU
SIGMA CHI
SIGMA NU
SIGMA PHI EPSILON
TAU DELTA PHI
TAU EPSILON PHI
TAU KAPPA EPSILON
THETA CHI

ZETA BETA TAU ZETA PSI
ALPHA CHI OMEGA
ALPHA DELTA PI
ALPHA EPSILON PHI
ALPHA GAMMA DELTA
ALPHA LAMBDA PHI
ALPHA PHI
ALPHA SIGMA TAU ALPHA XI DELTA
CHI OMEGA
DELTA DELTA DELTA
DELTA GAMMA
DELTA PHI EPSILON
GAMMA PHI BETA
IOTA ALPHA PI
KAPPA ALPHA THETA
KAPPA DELTA
KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA LAMBDA PSI
PHI MU
PHI SIGMA SIGMA
PI BETA PHI
SIGMA DELTA TAU
SIGMA KAPPA
ZETA TAU ALPHA

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS. automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.

GREYHOUND TICKETS. schedules, information, bus and air charters. Hotel reservations foreign tours. FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC. in the Savoy Monday-Friday 1-4; Thursday night 7-9 476-8533.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired, Rented, Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. AL GR 8-8833. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

ACCELERATED 5 lesson course, specializing in parking, traffic, road test. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-3451.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students

TWO BLOCKS FROM FIELDHOUSE, 225 Lorraine Ave. Modern 4-room upper, 2 bedrooms. Large closet, brick cubeboards, refrigerator and stove. Picture window, living room and kitchen, ceramic tile bath, private parking area, on bus line. Available immediately, $115. NE 8-0497, GR 6-1473.

FURNISHED, HEATED, 6 rooms, 3 bedrooms, suitable group, near park, and bus. GR 2-2406.

ROOM FOR MALE STUDENT or hospital worker. Kitchen privileges. 733 Livingston Ave. GR 9-9762.

APARTMENTS FOR RENT. Two rooms with bath. 411 S. Crouse Ave. Call 476-7188 after 1 p.m.

EUCID AVE. DOUBLE AND SINGLE. Also want one boy to share room. $9.00 to $12.50 weekly. Kitchen privileges. 474-2634.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models, also sales and service. special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

TYPING, TERM PAPERS, ETC. 10 years experience. Reasonable rates. Call GR 8-6182 after 5:30.

EXPERT TYPING and proofreading - call Danny at GR 2-6177.

Goldsmith Shoots

NORM GOLDSMITH (No. 11) goes up for a shot in the second half of Syracuse-Pittsburgh game Friday. Watching is defensive ace Sam Penceal (No. 20). Syracuse dropped Pitt, 96-84.

SU Halts Pitt 96-84 In Upset Anniversary

By JUDY ADAMS
Associate Editor

Pittsburgh came in to Syracuse sporting a reputation as being one of the top notch teams in the East. They came with a 12-4 record; they came with an eight-game winning streak; and they came with most figuring them as favorites.

"But nobody told my kids," chuckled coach Fred Lewis, and from the Panthers' point of view, somebody should have.

For the Syracuse Orangemen, certainly the surprise team in the East this year, outscored and outmaneuvered a supposedly superior Pittsburgh club Friday night, 96-84, before a near standing-room only crowd of 4,448.

At times you could almost hear a hand grenade drop as the largest cheerleaderless crowd of the year, many of whom had made the heart-breaking trek to the steel city last fall watched Syracuse prove that she is far more effective against Pittsburgh indoors than outdoors.

And it was all done exactly one year to the very hour after Syracuse had shaken the basketball world by beating Niagara, 68-67.

The Orangemen has just finished upsurping Niagara in overtime only two nights earlier, and by human standards should have been exhausted. To Pittsburgh they were merely exasperating.

As always led by the gently thunder of Dave Bing, they burst to a 14-2 lead and later pushed their margin as high as 17 points.

Only once was their lead in jeopardy, and that late in the final quarter when the visitors pulled up 72-71.

Syracuse could have folded or spurted, but happily chose the latter with no little help from Pittsburgh who committed three consecutive fouls, 31 all tolled.

In no time Syracuse was out of danger, spurring at the end to reerect the 12-point margin they had began with and to win perhaps their biggest game of the year.

Lewis' two major problems in this match were to be Cal Sheffield and Brian Generalovitch who average 18 and 16 points a game respectively.

Rather disrespectfully they were held to three and six points in the first half.

Generalovitch, already drafted by the STEELERS, and obviously as villainous as he looks, boasted before the game that "If Richards comes out for the second half, I'll bench myself."

But Chuck, who was mixing it up with "The General" under the boards was in the midst of one of his best games with 13 rebounds and 34 points, and not about to miss any part of it.

Ditto Norm Goldsmith. Norm, who is deceptively strong, hustled his way to 14 rebounds and 21 points.

The all-purpose Bing who couldn't walk the day before had 26. Sam Penceal, who played shadow for the square-rigged Generalovitch, popped in 10, Jim Boehm, 6 and Phill Schoff, 2.

Sheffield wound up with 26, Dave Roman with 22 and Generalovitch with 11.

Generalovitch "He's a rock," says Boehm, who has a bruised shoulder to prove it.

"Cheer up," says his consoling coach, "you've got to go through it again."

But no matter the outcome then, Syracuse has savored the first installment of a long term revenge payment that not even Friday's game could satisfy.

Frosh Cagers Whip Ithaca

By JIM KLURFELD

The Tangerines are lucky that Marty Goldstein has a good memory. If he didn't the junior Orange might not have vanquished Ithaca 94-69 Friday night.

"I almost forgot what it was like to score," said the former Brooklyn star. But he remembered in time to gather 21 points, 17 of them in the second half.

Goldstein's return to the scoring column came at an opportune time. Val Reid, 6-9 center, was lost for the night with a torn ligament in his ankle, and high scorers Vaughn Harper and Dick Dean fouled out well before the game was over.

Goldstein hit on a variety of shots ranging from long jumpers to driving lay-ups. It was the first big game he has produced for frosh coach Morris Osburn.

"He has a real fine eye," Osburn said, "but still has a lot to learn. He holds the ball too long without passing on offense and his defense needs work. But you saw what type of game he is capable of playing tonight."

Only two weeks ago Goldstein has been dropped from the starting line-up and in recent games he made only brief appearances.

"I don't know what the difference was," he said. "Maybe I just got more breaks, more opportunities to score. I just hope I can continue to help the team."

But Goldstein wasn't the only one who changed. The entire Tangerine squad looked different. The last time they met Ithaca, in December, they won by only seven points.

"I think we did a lot more running tonight," Osburn explained. "The boys are working more like a team, and they are utilizing the fast break."

The first ten minutes of the game was played evenly, but in a seven minute period near the end of the first half the frosh outscored Ithaca 10-1 and at the half lead 36-29.

Reid who had torn a ligament the first day of practice, re-injured the ankle mid-way through the last half, and had to be helped from the court. It is not certain when he will be able to play again. He had nine points for the night.

Ithaca beat itself with numerous violations. They had four men in double figures with Frank Fazio high with 15 points.

Nance's Pin Gives Orange 19-13 Win Over Pittsburgh

By HOWARD SCHNEIDER

Friday night Sam Penceal did a good job of containing one General, and the next afternoon Ed Carlin's wrestling crew finished his work by downing nine would-be generals, 19-13, in Manley Field House.

Once again it wasn't until Jim Nance, undertaker at large, could put away his man that the Orangemen secured their win over the Cadets.

Nance gift wrapped his 69th consecutive victim, Army's Ed Cate, at 6:16 of their heavy-weight bout. With two minutes gone in the match, big bad Bo had 12 points on a take down, two near falls, and two pre-dominances.

The win boosted the Orangemen's record to 3-2, and gave Carlin's squad their second straight victory. Last week the grapplers also beat Navy, 19-13, and under similar circumstances (which makes one wonder what Nance & Co. are doing for national defense morale).

Syracuse jumped out to an early 6-0 lead. A speedy Ron Pitts decisioned Ed Johnson, 4-0, in the 123-pound clash. Terry Haise, wrestling from his knees, then whipped Bob Robbins, 8-1, in the 130-pound battle.

Army came back in the 137-pound class, with Mark Scureman edging James Murrin, 7-6. In a last bid for victory Murrin attempted a reversal at the buzzer, but official John Engel ruled that he never had control.

Orangemen John Dussling and Dick Slutsky won the next two matches, giving the home team a commanding 12-3 lead. Dussling (147 pounds) decisioned Ken Carlson 4-2, and captain Slutsky (157-pounds) remained undefeated by easily beating Tom Thompson, 4-0.

PittMermenDown Syracuse, 69-26

By NEIL KERR

Winning both relays and seven of nine individual events, the powerful Pittsburgh swimming team defeated Syracuse 69-26 in Orange Pool Saturday.

The Orange are now 4-2 on the season with 3 dual meets remaining. Pitt evened its record 3-3.

Syracuse emerged victorious only in the final pair of individual events on the program. Jim Myerberg, undefeated in the grueling 500-yard freestyle, won again in 5:40 — his best time of the season.

Moments later Bill Hotchkiss and Hugh Dunseath finished 1-2 in the 200-yard breaststroke with the winner timed in 2:32.7.

For Pitt, the brother combination of Rob and Ron Levine were outstanding. Each won two events. Ron raced to victory in the 200-yard butterfly (2:07.4) and the 200-yard individual medley (2:13.4).

Brother Rob took the 200-yard freestyle in 1:56.2 and set a new pool record in the 200-yard backstroke. His time of 2:07.2 broke the previous record (2:08.5) set by John Bott of Colgate two seasons ago.

Another double winner for Pitt was Bill James who swam the 50-yard freestyle in .23 and captured the 100 yard event in 51.6. Diver Tom Hahnfeldt of Pitt won his event with a score of 238.85.

The next meet for Syracuse swimmers is scheduled for Feb. 22nd in Archbold. Providing the opposition will be Eastern power Colgate, a team which last week scored an impressive victory over Pitt.

Summaries:

100 yard medley relay: 1. Pitt (Pappert, Ganong, Hanson, Shanahan), 3:59.2, 2. Syracuse.

200 yard freestyle: 1. Rob Levine, (P) 2. Myerberg, (S) 3. Reed (P), time — 1:56.2.

50-yard freestyle: 1. James, (P) 2. Bauschard, (S) 3. Petterson (P), time — :23.

200-yard individual medley: 1. Ron Levine, (P) 2. Pappert, (P) 3. Hickman (S) time — 2:13.4.

Diving: 1. Hahnfeldt, (P) 2. Coleman, (P) 3. Rudd, (S) score — 238.85.

200 yard butterfly: 1. Ron Levine, (P) 2. Hanson, (P) 3. Moore, (S) time — 2:07.4.

100-yard freestyle: 1. James, (P) 2. Bauschard, (S) 3. Petterson, (P) time — 51.6.

200-yard backstroke: 1. Rob Levine, (P) 2. Pappert, (P) 3. Hickman, (S) time—2:07.2 (New Pool Record).

500-yard freestyle: 1. Myerberg, (S) 2. (S) Ganong, (P) 3. Reed, (P) time — 5:40.1.

200 - yard breaststroke: 1. Hotchkiss, (S) 2. Dunseath, (S) 3. Adlersberg, (P) time — 2:32.7.

400-yard freestyle relay: 1. Pitt (Shanahan, Hanson, Ganong, James), 3:35.5 2. Syracuse.

Final: 69-26

Golfers

Coach Andy Mogish will meet with all varsity and frosh golf candidates Tuesday at 7 p. m. in Archbold Gym Trophy Room.

INTRAS

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

Basketball

7:00 - 1. Dell Plain 1 (B) vs. Booth 4 (B); 2. Dell Plain 5 (B) vs. Booth 2 (B); 3. Watson E 4 (B) vs. Watson W 1 (B).

7:15 - 1. Watson E 3 (B) vs. Sims 3 (B); 2. Sims 1 vs. Dell Plain 1; 3. Watson W 1 vs. Watson E 1.

8:30 - 1. Booth 2 vs. Sadler 2; 2. Sims 2 vs. Dell Plain 2; 3. Watson W 2 vs. Watson E 2.

Handball

7:00. Kimmel 3 vs. Marion 1; Sims 3 vs. Watson W 3.

Food Service Group To Hear Complaints

By AUDREY LIPPMAN
Junior Editor

Food service hearings will continue tonight in DellPlain Hall for all those students who eat in Sims dining hall.

The hearings are an effort by the Joint Student Legislature food service committee to "find out what's wrong with the meals in the university food service."

The hearings, under the direction of Janice (Jay) Young and Marshall Sneirson, began Monday in Watson and Day Halls.

"We must gather information so the committee can find out what's wrong with each dining hall and how to improve it," Miss Young said.

"We want to see students register complaints, gripes and constructive criticism," said Sneirson. "If no one shows up and no complaints are made, there is nothing wrong with the menus and students are obviously satisfied," he said.

Hearings will continue Monday and Tuesday in Shaw, Kimmel and Sadler.

The committee also reminded all students who have not turned in their food service surveys to do so immediately. As soon as they are all in, said Sneirson, the tabulated results will be released.

The committee acknowledged the help of committee representatives Joel Slomond, Booth 5, and Mattie Messing, Day 8.

Forestry Given $68,000 Grant

Three research programs that will delve deeply into the chemical and physical properties of wood have been made possible by grants to the State University College of Forestry at Syracuse University. This was announced today by Dean of the College Hardy L. Shirley.

One of the investigations is for two years and the others are three years in duration. The total amount of money granted for these periods is $68,000.

The largest grant is for $40,000 from the National Institutes of Health for a three-year study entitled "Addition Polymerization of Anhydro Sugars to Dex-found in the waste products of pulping operations (first step in making paper) such as glucose will be studied in an attempt to convert them to polymeric or chain-like molecules similar to those used in the plastic industries. The project may have practical application in making useful products out of waste. The research will be under the direction of Dr. Conrad Schuerch, chairman of the Forest Chemistry Department, and Dr. R. H. Marchessault, professor of polymer and physical chemistry.

The U. S. Army Research Office made a $16,000 grant to investigate the characterization of Graft Copolymers. Both cellulose and synthetic polymers such as a polystyrene have certain disadvantages to plastic production, and this research will try to form a "hybrid molecule" with some of the properties of both natural and synthetic polymers. The work is to be done during a three-year period by James O'Malley, of Philadelphia, Pa., a forest chemistry graduate student.

A 12,000 grant from the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry will be used to study the "Near Infrared Spectrum of Wood Components."

The examination of wood with this type of infrared radiation has not been studied, and this investigation offers the possibility of studying wood and wood-related products by such a method. The two-year program will be conducted by two forest chemistry graduate students, as yet not selected.

Forestry Students to Hear Story of Mountain Rescue

The four Syracuse University students who were stranded for nearly a week in the Presidential Range of New Hampshire's White Mountains will relate their experiences at a College of Forestry convocation at 11 a.m. Wednesday in Marshall Auditorium.

Seats for the convocation have been assigned to forestry students and no guest seats will be available, it was announced by Henry G. Williams, chairman of the convocation committee.

Appearing together for the first time since an impromptu press conference shortly after they were lifted from the mountain range by Navy helicopter, the climbers will participate in a discussion led by George F. Earle, associate professor of landscape architecture, an experienced mountain climber.

"The theme of the program will be to show how winter mountaineering can be safe if you are experienced in this sport," explained Peter Catelli, trip leader. The other students are Robert Koppe, Craig Fournier and Peter Bradford.

(continued on page 6)

Concert Artist

Music Dean Named

Howard Boatwright, former concert artist turned composer and educator, will be the dean of the Syracuse University School of Music effective July 1.

HOWARD BOATWRIGHT

This was announced yesterday at a special morning meeting of the School of Music faculty. Boatwright, presently teaching music theory at Yale University, also will be a professor of music on the Hill.

Chancellor William P. Tolley announced Boatwright, 46-year-old former student of Paul Hindemith, will replace school director Kirk Ridge who retires this spring.

Boatwright has written more than 50 compositions, primarily church and chamber music.

In 1962, he did a setting of the Passion According to St. Matthew. He also has written five Anglican masses and a number of motets. All of his works have been performed and about one third of them are published.

Dr. Tolley said:

"We are delighted that Howard Boatwright has accepted appointment as the Dean of the School of Music at Syracuse. He is a distinguished composer and scholar with broad interests and wide experience. Mrs. Boatwright, herself nationally known as a vocalist, will add enormously to the musical resources of the university and community. We trust that the entire area will share our joy over their coming here."

Boatwright has served as a consultant to the Cultural Affairs Unit of the U.S. Embassy in Bonn and also to the department of music at the University of Delhi.

His writings have included a text book, "Introduction to the Theory of Music," and works on the classical music of India.

Boatwright was born in Newport News, Va., in March, 1918. At the age of 14 he presented

(Continued from Page 6)

Photographer to Give Talk on Soviet Union

PETER HICKEY

An experienced photographer, Peter B. Hickey will show slides and speak on "Problems of the Soviet Union," at 7:30 p.m., today in Maxwell Auditorium.

Hickey worked on the Boston Globe and the Rochester Times-Union. He also has been a combat photographer for the army in Korea and a United Press bureau manager in New York.

He took over 1,000 photographs on his recent two month tour of the U.S.S.R. The trip was done with the president of Associated Press, Paul Miller.

The program is open to all interested persons.

Lent Services To Start Wed.

Lent, the Penitential season, begins Wednesday. It is the traditional period of fasting, penitence, and devotion observed in the Christian church prior to the celebration of Easter.

During Lent, frequent services of Holy Communion will be observed. Beginning this Wednesday, Ash Wednesday, each Wednesday morning there will be an interdenominational service of Holy Communion celebrated at 7 a.m. in the north wing of Hendricks Chapel.

Participants in these services will be: the Rev. Vernon Bigler, Methodist Chaplain; the Rev. Paul Bosch, Lutheran Chaplain; Miss Pricilla Howland, United Church of Christ Chaplain; the Rev. Norman Kiern, Baptist Chaplain; and the Rev. Charles C. Noble, Dean of Hendricks Chapel.

Lutherans will also observe Holy Communion each Wednesday during Lent at 5:05 p.m. in the North Wing of Hendricks Chapel.

Episcopalians will celebrate Holy Communion at 7 a.m. and 12:10 p.m. on Ash Wednesday at Chapel House. The Ash Wednesday 5:05 p.m. service will be held only at H.B. Crouse Auditorium.

Roman Catholic mass will be celebrated at 12:05 p.m. daily, during Lent at St. Thomas More Chapel, and at 4:05 p.m. at Hendricks Chapel.

The Daily Orange will run a special box each Tuesday during lent listing the services for the Wednesday of that week.

Back in Class

Robert Koppe returned to class Monday after a six-day ordeal in New Hampshire's White Mountains followed by a weekend respite at his Rouses Point home. Koppe is a junior in the College of Forestry.

COURT FORMS DUE

Applications for Joint Student Court will be accepted until 5 p.m. today in the dean of men's office. All students must have a 1.5 cumulative average. Applications should include name, address, extension number, activities and ideas. Posts are open for three sophomores and one junior.

Round The Bush

The first building of the Samuel I. Newhouse Communications Center is scheduled for completion July 15.

In the eyes of the campus, it will be the School of Journalism Building, the first of a complex devoted to the mass communications, radio, television, speech, etc.

But as the new building nears completion and various departments seek new offices, everybody is becoming a communicator from professors in the Maxwell School to personnel in the art and design schools.

The first building was expected to be a journalism building, but it is now scheduled to contain friends of the elite, persons who may be vaguely related to journalism, but whose main claim to fame is their friendship and services to certain persons.

When asked why the Daily Orange, which will soon be evicted when the Prefabs are torn down, is not located in the building instead of "these related fields," one vice-president said, "You could probably move into Winchell Hall basement for the time being, but then you might lose your chance to get into the new student union building which will be built sooner than you think. However, a dormitory may be built instead of the union. Why don't you come back in about 90 days when everybody is settled (in the Newhouse Center) and when the university has decided if it will build a union soon."

This interview amounted to the famous runaround stall tactic, where the major aim is to stall until the action is completed.

However, there is enough stalling and runarounds initiated daily in the little red brick building—enough to last every student at this university for a lifetime.

The simple answer is—communications center or not, we'll put who we want in that building.

If that's the situation, why doesn't somebody just come out and say it rather than beat around the mulberry bush.

Withholding The Truth

We have heard much, in late years, of the problem of "managed news"—that is, of executive and administrative orders and policies which either prevent certain news from reaching the public, or present it in altered or incomplete or inaccurate form. This, naturally and properly, is the cause of deep concern in all the news media. The vital principle of a free, unfettered press is the basic issues at stake.

Also, it seems, we have a problem of "managed testimony" by government employees. Senator Strom Thurmond writes: "In 1951, President Truman issued an Executive Order prohibiting employees of the Executive Branch from testifying before Congress with reference to certain matters. This order was nothing more than a claim of Executive privilege. Federal employees are given no choice by this directive—they are ordered not to testify. . . This constitutes an attempt to withhold from Congress the only valid basis on which Congress can legislate—the truth."

This is a delicate area. There are matters concerning the national security and the military position of the nation which, for the most obvious of reasons, cannot be made public. But it seems clear that this principle is being used—or, to put it more accurately, misused—as a means of concealing from the people facts that it is the right of a free people to know. It amounts to an "iron curtain" that cannot be tolerated in a free nation.

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2	February 11, 1961
Editor-in-Chief	Allan T. Kort
Business Manager	Stephen Moss
SENIOR EDITORS
Managing Editor	Clayton F. Richards
News Editor	Andrea Ponce
Editorial Director	Adam Dufane
Staff Editor	Bernard McGillem
Art Editor	Rea Tard
Photo Editor	Steve Schwaner
BUSINESS STAFF
Advertising Manager	J. H. Weisberg
Business Manager	Michael J. Lohr
Editorial Assistant	Lydia Mordel
Circulation Manager	Christina Seizak
Production Manager	Shirley Shapiro

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the Students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 200 Book/Old Dixie East/Syracuse, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter 2-11-58 Post Office, Syracuse, N. Y.

Guest Spot

Conservatism

By Nickolas Lupinin

I was little surprised to note the array of speakers chosen to perform at the Citizenship lectures this semester. Incensed yes, surprised no, for in eight semesters I have become used to the idea that conditioning the student takes precedence over his possible political edification.

Syracuse University students, as those of so many other universities, have neither been exposed to the opposite view, nor have they expressed the desire to realize an opposite view exists.

Let me assure all of you that such a view does exist. And as its exponent, I lament the ritual liberalism that wishes to disregard, ignore and deem unwise its perpetration.

I point out the current Citizenship lecture series not because I oppose either Lerner's or Cleveland's or Weaver's appearance on campus per se, but because there is no one invited to temper or even question their judgments. There has been no one in the last four years to do so. Messrs. Cleveland, Weaver and the others will say nothing that shall stimulate the students inquisitive faculties.

The student is expected to sit and drink at the fountains of defined wisdom, to listen to soothing egalitarian warbles, to feel horror at those nasty conservatives and then is expected to produce original and scholarly thinking in his political affirmations.

I suspect this experiment, now well into its fourth decade, must be a failure. For when a whole body of responsible opinion is simply shoved aside, we have a parody of free inquiry, the same free inquiry we are told, that is the very bread of our intellectual development.

It is a mockery to assume political sophistication from students when the levels of ideological acceptability are closely prescribed. Show me a conservative in Maxwell and I will show you a brave man.

But maybe a conservative in Maxwell is too much to expect. Fairness, however, should not be, yet even its meager tenets are difficult to discern. I presume I need not go into great detail but some examples of "fairness" should be given. Goldwater is, if not an isolationist, at least an ignorant semi-isolationist.

National Review is regretfully announced to be a magazine one can actually read. A poll in an international relations course is taken with the question, "How many of you are actually against the Moscow Treaty?" (as if what reactionary scoundrels could possibly be so presumptuous as to oppose it). There were, incidentally, three such scoundrels in a class of 150 people.

Black arm bands are worn for arrested civil rights demonstrators, none for the imprisoned millions of Cuba. Ad infinitum. Ad nauseum.

Obviously, only the student most firmly dedicated to his contrary set of principles will withstand the onslaught. The student who is in a formative stage in respect to his political opinions, will more often than not, if simply for reasons of preserving his social status, stoop with the crowd.

Let me suggest that this dogmatism has been highly inimical to the free discussions that lip service is always paid to. Unfortunately, the students' indifference only cements the liberal pundits with their outworn stock of approbations.

There is room, I believe, for a concerted and effective opposition that can only raise, not lower, the levels of our political probings.

But while the campus rulers remain intransigent in their platitudes, the universities shall not facilitate intellectual development but infinitely advance the frivolous causes of campus lethargy.

I chose to harp upon the selection of speakers for the fine way in which this whole problem is illustrated. Even at the Honors Convocation last year we were belted with the frantic anachronisms of Mrs. Agnes E. Meyer, rather than with the illuminating councils of some scholar of note.

For recall that Mrs. Meyer chose this occasion to flip invectives at her pet hates, label fanatical the whole conservative movement, which for her is indubitably equated with the extremities of the Radical Right, to praise Scandinavian socialism, in essence, as being true democracy.

Again, we saw no interplay of ideas, no room for thought, no flash of purposive brilliance. The topic could not possibly have helped us in any way to cleanse any issues of their conglutination.

Or take the recently proposed discussion or "debate" between Bayard Rustin and Dean Bailey. What possible light could have been shed on our understanding of the civil rights issue? I suspect such a discussion would have generated a series of supplementary comments to a position of essential agreement.

Let us be thankful, anyway, that Mr. Rustin was not to argue with one of the editors of National Review (a magazine so heinous that the Citizenship Library, in its efforts to supply us with all shades of political opinion—witness the New Republic, The Nation, The Reporter—still refuses to accord it a place on one of its shelves).

Such a discussion might have forced us to actually make distinctions, to think with the effulgence of true independent deliberation.

But we were denied that chance as we shall be continuously denied until the rhetorical imprecision of dogmatism is cast into proper desuetude. It is the spectre of undifferentiated liberalism that haunts us today.

Yes, the fear of allowing a non-establishment speaker reigns supreme. Even though I may be magnanimous in granting that imperfection graces us all, I shall be brutal in considering those who purposely neglect and forbid the rights of free inquiry. For with William F. Buckley I hold that while our critical faculties are in suspension, regeneration is not possible.

LETTERS

Justice

To the Editor

I am quite surprised at the apathy of the students at this university, when no student reaction ensues after the chief justice of the Student Court candidly says that he assumes that any student appearing before Student Court is guilty, without having heard the case. As a graduate student whose undergraduate work was done elsewhere I would hate to think what would have occurred if the head of our student judicial system had ever uttered comments such as the one above.

I must admit that this new system has certain advantages. It is for example much more expedient and efficient than the old fashioned system that believes a person is innocent until proven guilty. It also saves quite a bit of time.

I frankly think that upon the basis of that statement Mr. Lustig should be immediately impeached by the Student Senate, on grounds of incompetency, if they have the power.

It surprises me also not to have heard any comments from people in the Law School upon Mr. Lustig's behavior. Perhaps the faculty of the school is not concerned with such radical ideas upon form of judicial systems. I hope that the leadership of the school is not at fault and that the lack of comment is only an oversight on my part.

In conclusion, as a graduate student, I don't know if I fall under the jurisdiction of the court or not. However if I do, I shall refuse to answer any summons by the court until such time that of change of opinion becomes evident so that I may be guaranteed a fair hearing and not be judged guilty before my case was heard.

Richard Trilling
Graduate Teaching Assistant

Relations

To the Editor:

International Relations graduate student Rodolfo Arizala posed a rather interesting question at the end of his letter which appeared in your paper today. His letter also leads to the question of what assistance of the SU administration is giving the international students to help promote a better understanding.

All international students should not only be glad to explain positions of their own countries and express their opinions, but I think we have a social obligation to do so.

Many Americans are ignorant of the real problems of other countries, although they do not like to think they are. Similarly, many foreign students are really ignorant of Americans and their ways of life.

The question posed by his American friends can be expected, just as it is quite normal for foreign students to pose questions which sound silly to Americans.

Americans are not the only people who wish to know more about the people from other countries and their problems, but foreigners too would like to learn more from each other.

For example, I happen to come from that part of the world not officially recognized by Mr. Rodolfo Arizala's government.

Eldred Chan.

LETTERS

The letters column is maintained for the expression of opinion by readers. However, the Daily Orange reserves the right to edit letters for grammar and good taste or to reject letters. Letters should be written legibly, preferably typed and no longer than 250 words. All letters must be signed with names and addresses (names will be withheld on request).

Caught in Passing

"Dream Girls"?

By Jeff Zients

First of all let me dedicate the spirit for this column to those two people most responsible for the daily publication of the New York Post: Mrs. Dorothy Schiff and Mr. John Greenwald.

The brothers of Pi Kappa Alpha have once again taken out their Brownies and have presented their 1963-64 edition of the Dream Girls Of Syracuse University Calendar. From all indications it looks like it's going to be another bad year. If this is what the Pi Kappas think I have been dreaming about then Liz Taylor better take a giant step out of the American myth. Our Reactions:

February being our month for almost religious patriotism (Lincoln's and Washington's Birthday) the Pika's have celebrated a bit of over deligion. (Iota?) Notice the nimbus.

Continuing on a religious vein, the Pika's present Miss March whose arms are so beautifully posed that she looks like Mary sans Jesus.

And in April the Pika's "Stop The World" with Miss Jenny Romain. (Who "thinks that Mr. Kennedy is absolutely swell! . . . oh really? . . . when?")

Miss May is too much . . . too much hair, too much smile, too much neck. . . . Lovely sweater. When you meet her on the quad tilt your head and say "hi!"

Miss June is obviously a swinger. She displays excellent form and there's no waist about her anywhere.

July... the month of freedom . . . our girl marches on in the spirit of July 4th, July 14th (Bastille Day, stupid) liberty, equality, fraternity . . . Mediocrity.

Miss August: "My mother said I never should go with a young man in the wood. If I did, she would say, you'll only be sorry on Labor Day".

In September it's back to school and the Pikappas make it a very depressing thought.

October: Simon says, "put your hands behind your head, smile, cross your ankles, and show a little bit of thigh."

It's election eve and Miss November is reading a book (theoretically) wearing a watch and rooting for Harold Stassen.

Miss December: I swear she has three legs. I trust "Fortune" magazine is in the fire along with last years calendars. "When did you say Henry Luce's daughter is coming to rush?"

Miss January 1965: Let's start the New Year off right! Drink the coke in that wine glass and fix your slip!

Before you come breaking down my door for any questions of taste you might examine your own, Pi Kappas. Surely if you must print such a rushing device then you might do it with a little more professionalism, a trifle more imagination and simply hire someone who can pose your girls and someone who can operate your camera.

Who knows, if someone will follow Greenwald and Zients next year, in 1966 the Pi Kappa Alphas might drop their current brainchild and deliver a "Dream Boys" calendar.

Parenthesis

Scientia Unicorn

by Jay Zelermyer

Speculation is that esoteric form of metallicag day-dreaming in which it is possible to indulge merely through the inaudible (or audible, if no one else happens to be around at the time) utterance of those magical monosyllabic gems. "What if?"

Finding myself at the starting gate of being thus indulged, I usually lay my ears flat along the side of my head, and wait, thumb in the customary position, for the first passing unicorn who is friendly enough to give me a lift through the fantastical gardens of wonderland.

Unfortunately, my travels are frequently rather brief, for soon after becoming enthralled with possibilities, I am brought rudely to a sort of lesser consciousness, usually by food, or an alarm clock, or the end of a class, or something equally bland and mundane.

My most recent journey, however, was characterized by the almost unprecedented lapse of the (outside world) time span equivalent to the length (and breath) of an average Tuesday-Thursday class meeting. I have, I am afraid, no explanations; but I am making every effort not to allow this fact to interfere with my waking enjoyment of this memorable expedition.

But enough of introduction; on to the adventure itself. It began with a striking, I'm almost tempted to say mole's-eye, view of a classroom, alive with the hum of the fluorescent lights, and contained by the grey severity of the sound-proofed walls. Around me I could barely make out the lower anatomical regions of others, gatheted as if by instinct into a kind of stockade, a seeming haven for commuting sardines.

I thought to myself, Is this the media for the disemana-tion of the depths of knowledge? Are these the hordes that have travelled such length at such expense for elucidation and enlightenment? Do the twain have the facility and perception to meet in the classical and symbolic union of teacher, student, and log? (Log? What's ging on here, anyway?)

But then, in a sudden, blinding stroke of insight, I saw it: the blackboard. On it was chalked the name of the section of the semester of the course for which the department had become famous throughout the faculty club: anthro - eco-politico - socio diddlio - ethno - anthology 15SbGH. I think that's all of it.

Suspended somewhere between the chalk tray and the floor, I felt myself dropping, dropping, plummeting into the pit of insensibility, stretching my whole being through the lengths of the bindings, falling, swinging past the rows and endless rows of books, books, anthology upon anthology, and more and more, until I was weighted and hung from the tallest of the tomes.

And then a snap. As elastic soars from the tip of a straight-edge, so I soared, cloud-high, until I found myself, panting, perspiring, pulsing with terror, upon the lectern.

I was awake. Armed with but my memory, sly and facile as it sometimes is, as the evidence of my voyage and return.

And now what to make of it. The only unanswered question I am interested in is why I happened to awake when I did. Perhaps some sort of latent anti-intellectualism was slowly rising to my surface.

However shadowy, though, my speculations and barehunicorn rides may be, I am grateful for them. At least they provide an open field in which I may gallop, unbridled, and in which only awe, and never reverence, is required. Oh, blessed may you be, unicorns of this world, and may you be myths forever.

Enter Books!

The deadline for submitting entries in the book collecting competition is March 9. Each year has its own competition and prize.

The George Arents senior library award of $100; The Edith S. Mayfield Junior Book Award of $75; the Earle B. Mayfield Sophomore award of $50; and the Fraser Freshman library prize of $25 are the four divisions of the contest.

For further information see the Leisure Reading room, 303 Women's Building, or 303 Main Library.

BEAT FORDHAM

W A E R
88.3 mc
TUESDAYS
4:00	Sign On, News, WAER Highlights
4:15	Experiment in Music
6:15	Germany Today
6:30	Communicate
6:45	Germany Today
6:50	Dan Stone and the News
6:55	Smoke/Position Paper
7:00	Maxwell Comments
7:30	Georgetown Forum
8:00	Scope
8:30	The 8:30 Report
8:35	Choral Concert
WEDNESDAYS
WAER Highlights
4:00	Sign On, News, and
4:15	Experiment in Music
6:00	Washington Report
6:15	Communicate
6:30	Dan Stone and the News
6:45	Focus
7:00	Dateline London
7:30	Yankee Dollar
8:00	The Spoken Word
8:30	The 8:30 Report
8:35	Men of Music
10:45	Late Night Report
11:00	Folkways
12:45	Headlines and Sign-off

Tuesday Evenings Two Showings 6 and 9 p.m.

University REGENT Theatre

820 EAST GENESEE

TONIGHT

Shakespeare Film Series

"HAMLET"

(Great Britain)

Tickets: Single 75c, Series $1.50

Daily Crossword Puzzle

ACROSS

1 Jumbo.

6 Weaving term.

10 Acronym for a drug.

14 The Brownings' home in Italy.

15 Outrigger.

16 Birdcall.

17 Color glass or wood.

18 Ketch.

19 Mythical ship.

20 International trust.

22 Footnote mark.

24 Ordinance: Abbr.

25 — of Marmora.

27 Prevailing conditions.

28 Pedestrian sound.

30 Sheep in second year.

33 Disastrous.

36 "Your Majesty."

37 Astonish.

38 Tune.

39 Assert.

40 Boy's flier.

41 Shiny cotton materials.

43 Before: Poet.

44 Interwoven with metallic threads.

45 Power: Colloq.

47 Affirmative.

48 Spring time in Paris.

51 In the doldrums.

54 — terrible.

56 Frank.

57 Biblical patriarch.

59 Famous diva.

60 Join.

61 Move.

62 Lake in Iran.

63 Treads the boards.

64 This: Sp.

65 Monkey wrenches.

DOWN

1 Bay off coast of Maine.

2 "Hitch your wagon to —," 2 words.

3 Meals.

4 Landed.

5 Depressed by solitude.

6 Wartime agency.

7 Town near Caracas.

8 Popular piece de resistance: 2 words.

9 Little pies.

10 Cognizant.

11 Hero of "Pilgrim's Progress."

12 Sportswear.

13 Eye's companion.

21 Great early pontiff; 440-61: 2 words.

23 Emperor: Abbr.

26 Acquired skills.

28 Disconcert: Colloq.

29 Loam, marl, etc.

31 Canal opened in 1825.

32 Muffins.

33 Birthday specialty.

34 Afghan prince.

35 Becoming hidden.

36 Glided.

39 Good-looking: 2 words.

41 Cat.

42 Out of the wind.

44 — Aviv.

46 Armored vehicles.

48 Port of Sweden.

49 Blacksmith's block.

50 Willow plants.

51 Gaucho's weapon.

52 Type of poetry.

53 — now: 2 words.

55 Gambling game.

58 Sellout sign.

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years

FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS

3444 Erie Blvd. East

Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair

Parking at Front Door

PRESENTS

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13

14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32

33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50

51 52 53 54 55 56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63 64 65

one guy... three girls... one ring!... Paradise?

High comedy, dry wit. —Herald Tribune.

TOM COURTENAY AS

Plus "The Impersonator"

Riviera CINEMA

3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. • GR-4021

What is your motive for charging only 19¢ for your pen, Mr. Bic?

Profit?

BIC is the world's finest writing instrument—writes on and on—yet it costs only 19¢. Only BIC is guaranteed to write first time every time. BIC's "Dyamite" Ball Point is the hardest metal made by man. Get a BIC, now at your campus store. BIC "Crystal" 19¢. BIC pens available with blue, red, green, and black ink. Made in U.S.A. *For replacement send pen to: WATERMAN-BIC PEN CORP., MILFORD, CONN.

BIC

Testing Value Talk Set

The value of educational and psychological testing will be discussed at 8 p.m. today on the WAER Public Affairs Program, "Scope."

According to the program moderator, Wes Adams, former radio news director, the Syracuse University panelists include Dr. Eric F. Gardener, chairman of the department of psychology; Dr. George G. Stearn, director of testing and evaluation unit of the psychological services and research center; and Dr. David A. Payne, assistant professor of education and responsible for instruction in measurement and evaluation.

The discussion is entitled, "Educational Tests: Used or Misused."

The program will attempt to answer a number of questions including: "are the tests necessary, what do they prove, and why have our major colleges adopted tests?" said Adams.

Tripp Gets Citation Tonight

A former newspaper publisher and award-winning nationally syndicated columnist will receive a special citation for long and meritorious service to the newspaper profession from the Syracuse University School of Journalism at a state-wide convention tonight in Syracuse.

Frank E. Tripp, retired Gannett newspaper executive, will be awarded the honor by Dr. Wesley C. Clark, Dean of the School, at the joint meeting of the New York State Society of Newspaper Editors and New York State Publishers Association at a banquet at the Hotel Syracuse.

The citation, honoring Tripp's contributions to the newspaper profession, is signed by Clark and Chancellor William P. Tolley. The School's faculty voted unanimously to honor Tripp.

Tripp began his journalistic career in 1901 as a reporter in Elmira, where he has lived most of his life. In 1952 he became chairman of the board of The Gannett Newspapers organization comprising 20 newspapers, four television stations and one radio station.

His syndicated column appeared in 125 newspapers and his book, "On the Newspaper Front," was published in 1955.

He served as chairman of the Allied Newspaper Council and his memberships include the National Press Club, the American Newspaper Publishers Association, and Sigma Delta Chi.

Pierce Speaks PiKA Calendar In Delaware Applications

Dr. Harry Pierce, Syracuse University history professor, will address a meeting of economic historians in Wilmington, Del., March 12-14.

Sponsored by the Eleutherian Mills - Hagley Foundation in Wilmington, the conference will deal with "Economic Institutional Change, 1850-1873 and the Impact of the Civil War."

A specialist in the history of foreign investment and security holdings in American corporations, Pierce will speak about institutional and qualitative changes in the investment market between 1850 and 1873.

Applications are being accepted for the available spaces on next year's Pi Kappa Alpha Dream Girl calendar, it was announced recently by Tom Muller, house spokesman.

Each sorority on campus may nominate two girls, at a fee of $1 per entrant. Applications are due by February 26 at the chapter house, 405 Comstock Ave.

This year the house printed 2,000 copies of the calendar, which was paid for by advertisers. Finalists are selected by the brothers and judges.

False Alarm

Syracuse City Police were called to Siegel's Drug Store around midnight Sunday when the burglar alarm went off. The alarm was apparently discharged by the cold weather.

1964 GRADUATES!

CON EDISON WOULD LIKE TO TALK WITH YOU ABOUT WHAT YOU CAN BE DOING IN

1979

We're looking ahead 15 years, because within that period Con Edison will have about 800 top management and staff positions opening up.

Right now we can offer ambitious young college graduates unique opportunity to move to the top. We're looking for engineers...accountants...economists...math majors...and chemists who can be trained now, to be ready to move into these important posts.

Immediate prospects at Con Edison are bright, too, for the right men: good starting salary...an individually tailored training program, with interesting assignments from the start...the chance to do original, creative work in a progressive company that's pioneered many developments in the power field...generous financial help toward graduate studies. And all in the stimulating environment of exciting New York!

So don't miss the chance to get the low-down on this dynamic company that supplies the energy—electricity, gas and steam—that keeps New York going and growing. Talk with the Con Edison man.

Con Edison
AN INVESTOR-OWNED UTILITY SERVING NEW YORK

CAMPUS INTERVIEWS... FEBRUARY 18 & 19

Drop in at your College Placement Office. Get a copy of our brochure...also time and place for your interview.

Harrassed by Smashed Glasses!

We work miracles replacing your broken lenses in just one day.

No need to create a crisis at home getting new lenses. Carpenter & Hughes can duplicate your lenses to the exacting prescription specifications of your home-town eye physician—just from the broken pieces. That's the promise of Central New York's only complete dispensing laboratory.

Confidently choose contact lenses, regular or prescription sun glasses—with the newest in frames from our Fashion Center for Frames.

Carpenter & Hughes

OVER 160,000 PRESCRIPTION EXPERIENCE
State Tower Bldg. Center of City

SKI-FARING

with JON WEISBERG and Marlene Phillips

At last they're here. The new singing sensation from England. The four girls who have rocked the world. The FETALS are here at last! And with them, from across the sea, came some good news for the United States. After years of competition and months of gruelling practice, Bill Kidd and Jim Heuga placed second and third in the men's slalom event at Innsbruck. This accomplishment is one of the most important events in our ski history. But even more important, is the fact that the United States, harboring true amateurism, scored so well against nations which have "professional amateurs" otherwise explained as state supported teams.

As for the skiing around Syracuse, it was generally good. I had a chat with two of the area managers and came up with some information about their areas. AL KAYGER, of GREEK PEAK, in Virgil was boasting about the new double chair lift that was installed this year (and this is truly something to boast about). It services the new novice intermediate area, while the two T-bars furnish speedy transportation for the intermediate-expert area. Along with the new chair and trails, an addition has been put on to the old lodge, thus making it one of the nicest to be found in the vicinity.

The other manager was Bob Wilson of the LABRADOR MOUNTAIN SKI CENTER, in Truxton. Bob was telling me that their two T-bars enable the skier to use the six trails, and two open slopes. Of these trails, two are classified as novice, two intermediate, and two as expert. Next week, I will have more information about Labrador. In the meantime, though, remember their Saturday night steak dinner every other Saturday. It is reasonable, and will provide a good starter for some night skiing.

While skiing at many of the areas in Vermont and upstate New York, Marlene Phillips compiled the following information.

The middle of the week at MOUNT SNOW is ideal. The variety of trails and slopes is so great that it would take you a few days to cover the whole mountain. The network of trails found there includes a four and one-half mile long novice run, as well as an entire section of the mountain devoted to expert skiers. From the heated swimming pool and dog sled rides of Mount Snow, we travelled north to Killington Mountain and the East's highest chair lift. Here, under clear skies in the day, and Glu Wine (hot spiced wine) at night, we skied on some of the most interesting and fun filled trails of the East.

The real apres ski life, however, was found at Stowe. Having skied there, it is easy to see why it is known as the Ski Capitol of the East. March 13th through the 15th, will find our olympic team at Mount Mansfield, part of the Stowe complex, in an exciting (but perhaps anticlimatic,) post-Olympic race.

Returning to Syracuse, we watched the wet but merry opening of the new GORE MOUNTAIN SKI CENTER in North Creek, New York. This brand new area features a very modern lodge, as well as an excellent array of trails for the novice and intermediate skier.

Next week there will be more news from more areas, here and in the North Country.

Fox Speaks

Race Relations a Problem

By MARLENE CIMONS
"If all human beings were blind, there would be no problem of race relations." Dr. Byron Fox, speaking before freshman Citizenship sections Monday, used this quote to introduce his topic "Race Relations and Social Change".

Fox focused his ideas on the characteristics of prejudice in today's world, and the responsibilities of the American in relation to the problems evolved.

"Prejudice is a form of value position," he stated. "in terms of like and dislike, high esteem and low esteem." With the emergence of large societies today, he said, we cannot escape from prejudice and value position but attempt to understand it and minimize it in the society.

These values are emotional and non-rational at base, he explained, and the approach of the citizen should not be a cold and impersonal one when life and human survival are involved.

In dealing with discrimination, Fox said, one can be objective but not neutral. Neutrality would indicate support of the existing order.

Fox emphasized the relationship between race relations in the United States and race relations in the world. Two-thirds of the world's population are Negroes, he said, which therefore places whites in the minority.

There is a revolution taking place in the world which is moving into all societies and engulfing our present existence, he said. What happens here affects the entire world, Fox said, and our image is the one reflected. He added that people all over are becoming aware of the Negro's attempt to identify himself.

The problem for all Americans, Fox commented, is that rights cannot be achieved unless they are achieved as rights for all. "For Americans, this is a moral issue we confront" he added.

The solution to the problem is to accelerate action, Fox said, and include peaceful demonstrations to attract attention and arouse the public conscience. These actions, he stated, would lead to a peaceful, integrated society.

Fox listed three moral duties of the responsible citizen. These are knowledge of the facts, committing oneself to a position, and acting on that position.

"Man may reach the stars literally", he declared, "before he reaches them figuratively." Fox raised the question: "Is all this worthwhile, or should the average citizen lean back and remain aloof?"

"There is only one answer," he mused, "and that it is very definitely worthwhile."

Fox concluded that there is only one moral course for the individual to take: "You might as well bet your life on the possibility of improving race relations—you can't lose on this."

ISO to Hold Elections Wednesday in Maxwell

The International Student Organization will elect its officers at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in Maxwell Auditorium.

Nominated for president are Seogiharto Reksodiprodja, (cq), Assad E. Vejdany and James Duncan. Candidates for vice president are Azizollah Khogyani, John Bigala and Satish Sheth. Amada Tipace is the lone candidate for secretary.

Joanne DeArmas and Blanca Gallardo are running for social chairman, and Gioia Cipriani and Claire Hirsch are candidates for publicity chairman.

The candidate for newsletter editor is Ragni Lantz, and Mauro Haulle is running for treasurer.

In addition to elections, proposed amendments to the constitution of the group will be discussed. International Week is also on the agenda. An ISO spokesman urged all international students to attend.

SHOP LOCAL STORES
REAL BARGAINS

PANASONIC RADIO CLEARANCE

Help Us Make Room for
NEW THINGS IN SOUND
ALL RADIOS GREATLY REDUCED

	LIST	OUR PRICE	SPECIAL NOW
T-81	59.95	49.95	39.95
T-35	99.95	89.95	71.95
T-66	69.95	59.95	47.95
T-601	19.95	17.95	14.50
920 clock	49.95	39.95	31.95
782	69.95	59.95	47.95
T-22	49.95	39.95	31.95

LIMITED TIME ONLY

SKI Just Learning or Want to Improve?

YOU NEED SNOW RIDGE

New York State's Largest and Finest Ski School

6
•
4 Lifts
Tows

25 Certified Instructors • Classes Daily for All Abilities
Special Learn-to-Ski Weeks Available
Information: Snow Ridge Box 298-S Boonville, N. Y.

DeWitt Sports Ltd.

SKI SHOP FOR SKIERS BY SKIERS
East Genesee Street at Lyndon Road
Fayetteville GI6-0460
Open Evenings until 9

KASTLE HART ROFFE
HEAD HENKE MEDICO
SPORTCASTER OBERMEYER

BASKET & RACQUET

107 Marshall Street
475-0912 Open until 9

Quiz Finalists

Members of the Sadler 2 Syraquiz Finalist team being presented the trophy include from left: Ralph Muller, Marty Cohen, Master of Ceremonies Bob Goettinger, Producer Ann Burnat, Richard Kram, and Richard Meyers.

Coeds to Compete For Queen Title

About 50-60 Syracuse University coeds representing Hill sororities and living centers are expected to vie for the title of "Queen of the '64 Sweetheart's Ball" at preliminary judging competitions at 8 p.m. today in Marshall Auditorium. About 15 semi-finalists will be chosen.

The final round of judging at which five forestry finalists will be selected is set for 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Marshall lounge.

The name of the 1964 queen will be announced and the lucky winner will be crowned at special ceremonies during intermission at the dance, slated for 9 p.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday at Drumlins Country Club. Crowning the queen will be the '63 Sweetheart's Ball Queen, Miss Linda E. Larson of Alpha Chi Omega.

Music for dancing will be provided by Gene De Santis and his orchestra.

Sponsoring the 53rd annual Sweetheart's Ball, the major highlight of the College of Forestry's social calendar, is the Wood Engineers' Club, a student organization comprised of undergraduates specializing in wood products engineering.

Chaperoning the semi-formal event will be Prof. and Mrs. Lawrence T. Belanger and Professor and Mrs. Roger Thompson.

Dance chairman is Garth Wilkes, a senior from Cato, publicity chairman is Carl S. Golas, a senior from Utica, and queen contest chairman is Philip W. Larson, a senior from Oswego.

Ferran Poetry Work Appears

Asst. Prof. Jaime Ferran of the romance languages department has published a book of poetry in Spanish, "Libro de Ondina" appeared Jan. 31 in Madrid and Palma de Mallorca, in an edition of the Papeles de Son Armadans, directed by Camilo Jose Cela.

Prof. Ferran, who has published several other books, believes that a poet should explore revolutionary forms rather than concentrate on content. He is interested in etymological and mythological aspects of poetic writing.

SHOP LOCAL

FOR BETTER BUYS

New Committee For Greek Week Announced

The members of the Greek Week committee have been announced by overall chairman Bob Davis, Co-chairman for the chairman for the events will be events will be Jeanne Dana.

Committee heads are: Fred Bochner and Judy White, social actions; Chuck Pellock and Elie Dickler, arrangements and queen contest; Greg Gillette, lecture; Bob Burns, concert; Jeannette Danielian, invitations; John Yawney and Carol Wheeler, Greek Games; Dennis Bookach and Sally Stark, exchange dinners; Ed Vincent and Nan Bishko, publicity.

Greek Week, slated for April 26-May 3, features eight days of events including competitive games, a featured lecturer, jazz concert, informal dance, exchange dinners, and the Greek Ball, at which time awards are given out to outstanding fraternities and their members.

In addition, this year brings together both InterFraternity Council and Panhellenic cooperation for every event.

Members of the Greek Week committee will meet at 7:15 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 13 at Sigma Nu.

New Dean . . .

(Continued from Page 1) his first full violin recital and in 1942 made his New York debut.

Boatwright traveled as a violinist touring Mexico in 1944 where he presented joint concerts with opera star Eileen Farrell. He also has played the piano widely.

He holds a bachelor and master's degrees from Yale University where he studied composition under Hindemith, one of the twentieth century's leading composers. Boatwright held several grants and fellowships while a student.

From 1950 to 1962 he was concertmaster of the New Haven Symphony and from 1952 to 1960 he conducted the Yale University Orchestra.

In April, 1963, Boatwright played treble viol in a White House concert of Elizabethan music. While teaching at Yale, he has been an active performer on the violin and older string instruments such as the viol and viola d'amore.

Boatwright is married to the former Helen Strassburg, well-known soprano. He, Mrs. Boatwright and harpsichordist Virginia Pleasants gave many recitals in Germany three years ago under State Department sponsorship.

Weekend Tix On Sale

Tickets for Winter Weekend are now on sale in the lobby of H. B. Crouse Hall. Tickets for the Stockingfoot dance are $2.25 a couple, while tickets for the New Christy Minstrels concert are $2.50 a person.

Foresters . . .

(Continued from Page 1) The presentation will include a display of the mountaineering equipment used by the climbers. A detailed map of the area and the route will also be shown.

A similar program open to the public will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Hall of Languages.

Little Barbara, Wolfie, In On

Aside from some extremely daring photographs of Persephone, the statue outside of Lowe Art Center, Little Barbara will also appear in the Onondagan, Syracuse University official yearbook.

Also included with Little Barbara, Persephone, and Wolfie will be pictures of weekends, of campus life, honoraries, academics, sports, fraternities and Jeffrey Charles Stern, the statue outside of the Savoy.

There is only till Thursday for you to purchase a yearbook. All ON reps must turn in their stubs on Thursday at Prefab 7. If you don't have an ON rep or know Wolfie, Stern, Little Barbara or Persephone you can buy a book direct at Prefab 7B, the Onondagan office.

Dewey G. Dresser, a Syracuse University graduate, has been appointed senior distributor sales engineer for Veeder-Root Inc., of Hartford Conn.

CHINESE LINGUISTS

Native fluency in Mandarin or Cantonese. Translate, analyze and edit publications into English. Some interpreting. U. S. citizen, resident alien or student visa status acceptable. College degree preferred. Opportunity for some travel. Starting salary $5,235 to $5,795 yearly. Send biographical data and resume of education and experience to: Mr. Bradley C. Channon P. O. Box 9141 Rosslyn Station Arlington, Virginia

Edward Hommel and sons

DISPENSING OPTICIANS

404 STATE TOWER BUILDING SYRACUSE 2, NEW YORK

EYE GLASSES — CONTACT LENSES — REPAIRS

European Group Jet-Flights 5 DEPARTURES!!

For Students, Faculty and Staff of Syracuse University

All flights will be operated by leading scheduled member airlines of the International Air Transport Association.

SPECIAL LOW ROUND-TRIP FARES!

- | | |
|--|----------|
| 2. Leave New York August 3rd to Zurich | $380.00 |
| 3. Leave New York June 8th to Paris | $356.00 |
| 4. Leave New York June 10th to Amsterdam | $356.00 |
| 5. Leave New York June 10th to London | $341.50 |
| 7. Leave New York June 17th to Zurich | $380.00 |

Since the Group Air Fares require a minimum participation of 25, operation of the above flights are subject to this consideration.

Syracuse University is neither the Sponsor of, nor in any way associated with the above group flights.

For INFORMATION and RESERVATIONS CALL

Benno Wymar, (Former President of International Student Organization)

476-2178

* Fares subject to Government approval.

Our Expert Stylists
Create Hair Styles
That Frame Your Face
With Flattering
Lowlines!

Style Haircut
Shampoo and Style Set

$5.50

Fred
The Hairstylist

GR 4-2487

For Appointment

HOTEL SYRACUSE
522 S. WARREN ST.

IN NEW YORK
18 E. 49th ST.

Sammy House

Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity house is the first new house in Syracuse University's Greek system in the past 10 years. The Sammys will move into the house next fall.

Med Honorary To Hold Rush

The international premedical honorary announces openings for membership.

The New York Beta chapter of Alpha Epsilon Delta, requests applications from all second-semester sophomore and upper-class premedical, pre dental and nursing students with a B average in the sciences and an overall average of 1.75.

Those eligible should leave their names, addresses, major and phone number with Dr. Clinton W. Root, 107 Lyman Hall, before Monday.

Radio Stolen From Senior

A radio transmitter-receiver valued at $472 was stolen from the car of William Ledger, a senior from Norristown in the Liberal Arts school.

Ledger said he returned to the lower Sadler parking lot at about 12:30 p.m. Friday after having left the car there for approximately 26 hours. He maintains that the car was locked when he left. The back door of the car was found unlocked although there were no signs of forcible entry. Security Police report.

TODAY
12:15 p.m., Dialogue Luncheon, Chapel House.
4 p.m., WAA dance technique, Women's Bldg., studio.
4 p.m., WAA competitive swimming, Women's Bldg., pool.
4 p.m., Testprints, urgent meeting, 102 Maxwell.
4 p.m., Freshman skittees, Dean Noble's home, 315 Berkeley Drive.
5:05 p.m., Lutheran daily devotion, north wing, Hendricks Chapel.
6 p.m., Hillel SAGE committee, room C, Chapel House.
6:45 p.m., Angel Flight, men's gym. Pledge test to be given.
7 p.m., St. Thomas More Chapel Theology 101, "The Antecedents of Christianity, St. Thomas More.
7 p.m., Hillel Religious Committee Chapel House.
7 p.m., SMC Committee on Equality, 2 H.I.
7:30 p.m., AIESE, all members, basement, Lubin Hall.
7 p.m., Hillel Religious committee, rm. C, Chapel House.
8 p.m., Hillel Exec. Council, all members must attend, Chapel House.
8 p.m., Hillel Executive Council, rm. C, Chapel House.
8:05 p.m., St. Thomas More Chapel Theology 201, "Anelicism and Calvinism," St. Thomas More Chapel.

Ash Wednesday Services Listed

The schedule of services for Ash Wednesday was announced Monday.

7 a.m., Interdenominational Holy Communion, north wing, Hendricks Chapel.

7 a.m., Interdenominational Communion, Chapel House.

12:05 p.m., Roman Catholic mass, St. Thomas More chapel.

12:10 p.m., Episcopal Holy Communion, Chapel House.

1:05 p.m., Roman Catholic mass, Hendricks Chapel.

5:05 p.m., Lutheran Holy Communion, north wing, Hendricks Chapel.

5:05 p.m., Episcopal Holy Communion, H.B. Crouse Auditorium.

6:45 p.m. and 9 p.m., Distribution of Ashes, St. Thomas More chapel.

SU Center To Expand

Plans for the construction of two new cottages at Syracuse University's Minnowbrook Conference Center at Blue Mountain Lake to increase the centers living facilities from its present limit of 32 to 46 conferees were announced today by Dean Alexander N. Charters of University College.

Construction of the new facilities is scheduled to begin in the spring, Dean Charters said.

He commented, "The use of Syracuse University's three major conference centers, Minnowbrook, Sagamore, and Pinebrook, has been increasing steadily, especially in the 10 years since Minnowbrook was given to the university by the Hollinshead Corporation."

"Decision to enlarge accommodations at Minnowbrook came as a result of increasing need for residential groups of up to 46 persons," he added.

ELECTRONIC FLASH FOR THE AMATEUR!

GRAFLEX strobomite
$29.95
S.U. Bookstores
303 University Place

Dorm Starts Exhibit

Syracuse China will hold an exhibition in the Day Hall recreation lounge starting Monday February 10 through February 29.

The exhibit will show processes involved in making china. In addition there will be patterns.

Day Hall is planning to have several exhibits this semester, each lasting for three weeks, according to Emily Margles, chairman of the showings, said plans for the other exhibits include a showing of prints and art work by Day Hall students in the near future.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE
A	L	L	I	S	M	I	T	H
D	O	O	R	O	A	K	I	E
L	O	C	K	E	R	R	O	O
E	S	K		V	A	I	N
R	E	E	F	E	R		F	O
O	N	E	S		S	C	H	E
A	S	F	I	T		P	I	C
R	E	L	S		T	O	R	O
C	R	I		B	E	N	E	T
H	I	N	D	L	E	G		T
T	H	A	N	E		A	C	O
P	E	L	O	T	A	M	P	I
A	W	O	L		G	O	L	D
L	A	C	E		E	X	U	L
I	N	K	S		D	A	M	E

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.
1 day $.85
2 days 1.65
3 days 2.40
4 days 3.15
5 days 3.85
6 days 4.55
7 days 5.20
8 days 5.85
9 days 6.45
10 days 7.05
For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS
LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.
PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.
GREYHOUND TICKETS, schedules, information, bus and air charters. Hotel reservations foreign tours. FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC. in the Savoy Monday-Friday 1-4; Thursday night 7-9. 476-6533.
TYPEWRITERS—Repaired, Rented, Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-8833. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.
ACCELERATED 5 lesson course, specializing in parking, traffic, road test. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-3451.

FOR SALE
SORORITIES - FRATERNITIES! For rushing, greek letter matches, napkins.

SUCE Convenes Against to Vote

Joint Student Court procedures, athletic segregation and the civil rights bill will be discussed at a meeting of the SU Committee on Equality, 7 p.m. today in 207 Hall of Languages.

Election of second semester officers will also be held.

The JSC discussion will center on the court's administration of punishment before guilt is ascertained. SUCE officials contend that this is in violation of the "innocent until proven guilty" legal tenet.

SUCE president Robert Cohen will report on the group's recommendation that Syracuse athletic teams no longer compete against segregated schools.

Cohen said the university Athletic Board met last month to consider the SUCE request.

The main part of the meeting will be devoted to a review of last Thursday's students' march to Washington, sponsored by a Cornell University civil rights group, and a discussion of the civil rights bill now before Congress.

School Plans Career Day

"Career Day" seminars, a series of presentations by the student faculty council of the College of Business Administration will be conducted on Thursday evenings, beginning Feb. 13.

The purpose of the seminars is to help students choose their major course of study, and business elections. The head of each department and guest speakers from local industry will form panels for their respective fields.

Ed Honorary Forms Due

Applications for Pi Lambda Theta, woman's education honorary are available from 200 Slocum. They will be accepted until Feb. 21.

Juniors must have a cumulative average of 2.0 in education courses. The honorary is open to juniors, seniors, grad students and faculty.

Portraiture at Its Best

SARKIN
Photo Studios
GR 8-1145
908 Irving Ave.

THE "BOOKSTALL"

117 Marshall Street
Fascinating Gifts, Fine Stationery, Fabulous Cards
38 Years by the Campus
Your Friendly Alumni Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow

ALL-STUDENT TRIP RUSSIA & EASTERN EUROPE VIA KLM

Visit Holland, Germany, Denmark, Sweden, Finland, Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Austria, Yugoslavia, Italy, San Marino, France, Monaco, Switzerland, England.

Travel with other U. S. college students. Leave July 5, return August 28. $1548.90 all-expense. For details and free folder, see your local travel agent or write:

KLM ROYAL DUTCH AIRLINES, Pillsbury Bldg., Minneapolis, Minnesota.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students
TWO BLOCKS FROM FIELDHOUSE, 225 Lorraine Ave. Modern 4-room upper, 2 bedrooms. Large closet, brick cupboards, refrigerator and stove. Picture windows, living room and kitchen, ceramic tile bath, private parking area, on bus line. Available immediately, $115. NE 8-0497, GR 6-1473.
APARTMENTS FOR RENT, Two rooms with bath, 411 S. Crouse Ave. Call 476-7188 after 1 p.m.
ROOM FOR MALE STUDENT or hospital worker. Kitchen privileges. 733 Livingston Ave., GR 9-9762.
FURNISHED, HEATED, 6 rooms, 3 bedrooms, suitable group, near park, and bus. GR 2-2406.
EUCID AVE. DOUBLE AND SINGLE. Also want one boy to share room. $9.00 to $12.50 weekly. Kitchen privileges. 474-2634.
3-RM APARTMENT, Heated, fresh paint, University section. Very inexpensive. Furnished or unfurnished. GI 6-1741 or 426-8527.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS, Late models, also sales and service. SPECIAL STUDENT prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St., HA 2-1457.
EXPERT TYPING and proofreading — call Danny at GR 2-6177.
TYPING, TERM PAPERS, ETC. 10 years experience. Reasonable rates. Call GR 8-6182 after 5:30.

WANTED

STUDENTS, male-female. Earn up to

Low AND Inside

By BILL CRONAUER

Saturday night's victory over Pitt was Chuck Richards' greatest basketball game. It was probably his toughest, too.

He entered the affair with a heavily taped right leg, with the knowledge that the Panthers had won eight in a row, and with the reminder that Pitt "was out to get him."

One Pittsburgh newspaper quoted a Pitt player as predicting: "Richards won't come out for the second half. If he does, I'll bench myself."

Big Chuck knew what to expect. The day before the game he said, "I hear the General is running off his lip about me not playing the second half. Well, we'll just have to wait and see."

"The General" is Brian Generalovich, a muscular 6-4, 210-pounder who came to Pitt on a football scholarship.

Tension mounted from the moment the two teams stepped foot on the court. When Richards was introduced, the General broke into a grin.

Play began. In the opening minutes, heavy contact under the basket went unnoticed by the officials. As a local sportswriter phrased it, the encounter "had certain aspects of a Syracuse-Pitt football game."

Hours later a Pitt player recalled the situation: "The General gave him (Richards) a hard shot to the midsection. When he shook it off, we knew we were hurting."

The action continued fast and furiously throughout the opening half. Finally, with 49 seconds left in the period, Richards went to the bench — under his own power.

The second half found numerous Pitt players trying to "guard" Richards. Starting center Paul Krieger took over and promptly fouled out. Second-stringer Bob Lovett moved in and out with five quick personals.

Reserve Daryle Ruby was assigned the task during the fading minutes and chalked up three fouls. Generalovich himself finished with four.

A Pitt starter explained: "We hit him with all we had, but he was just too tough. He kept coming back for more. We didn't realize we had such a tough cookie."

For the game, Richards totaled 34 points, including 14 of 21 foul shots, and 13 rebounds. Krieger, Lovett, Ruby and the General together collected 28 points.

The Pitt foursome also received credit for 17 fouls, while Big Chuck escaped with two. And it was three Panthers, not Richards, who had been benched.

Fordham Ace

JIM MANHARDT, at 6-4, will lead the Fordham Rams into the fieldhouse to meet Syracuse tomorrow night. Fordham, 8-5, lost its last outing by eight points to Pittsburgh.

Skaters Lose, 7-1, To Brockport

By IRA BAKST

Brockport State Teacher's College defeated the Syracuse Hockey Association 7-1 Saturday night in a game that all but eliminated the home forces from first place league contention.

Coach Babe LaRose of the Piety forces termed the game one of the most frustrating in the four year existence of the team. "Five times we were stopped in clear break-aways, and we must have hit the goal post at least five times also. It just was one of those nights where nothing went right," commented LaRose.

The Orangeman trailed 2-0 early in the second period, but Sayre Mac Loed hit Brian Christe with a flat pass along the right boards, and Christe then fed Bill Miller who had an open net, with the goalie out of position, for a picture goal. The time was 9:45.

At 12:01 of the same period the tide turned against the Orange. With Dave Veltz of Brockport putting in a quick goal, Dick Chmura of Syracuse thought Veltz to be interfering with him in the crease and threw a punch which sent Veltz to the ice. Doug Hancock was called for interference on the same play and, when the smoke cleared, two Orangemen were in the penalty box while the Brockport six was still at full strength.

Brockport scored again, just 30 seconds later, and led 4-1 before the Orange returned to full strength. Brockport then registered one more in the second period and added two more in the third to close the scoring.

The Orangemen, meanwhile, fired 40 shots against Brockport goalie Alan Wilson, while Chmura made only 17 for the Orange.

The Syracuse forces were in control of the game most of the way but their inability to hit the net at the right time cost them the game and a chance for the title the Finger Lakes League.

The Piety skaters now stand 4-3 for the year and meet Ithaca (3-4) at 10 p.m. Wednesday night at the Coliseum. Buffalo University will skate into the Coliseum on Saturday for their first battle with the Orange.

SU Gymnasts Squeak By Springfield

By TOM MULLER

The Syracuse University gymnasts kept thier home win streak going Saturday night with a 158.85-157.90 victory over Springfield College. The Orange have not lost in Archbold Gymnasium since the 1961-2 season.

Sid Oglesby paced Syracuse with three victories in three attempts. Oglesby displayed his Eastern championship form on the long horse with two 9.6 vaults, and eased to victory on the parallel bars and floor exercise events with scores of 9.35 and 9.4 respectively.

Poplar Win

Carl Poplar garnered another win for coach Paul Romeo's Orangemen as he edged Springfield's Doug Alt on the horizontal bar. The Orange captain also placed third in the floor exercise and on the parallel bars.

Instrumental in the Orange win were John Steffney and John Bird. Steffney was fourth on the horizontal bar and on the parallel bars, while Bird placed third on the side horse and fifth in the floor exercises.

Victory Streak Ends

Jon "Spike" Meury's unblemished record on the side horse came to an end in the see-saw meet as he was edged out by Springfield's Steve Ross, an old high school chum. Jim Barrish was fourth on the horizontal bar for SU and Dean Bellavia placed third in the long horse vaulting despite a heavily taped shoulder.

Springfield's Jeff Zimmerman collared one of his team's two firsts with a score of 9.3 on the still rings, an event dominated by Springfield. Ray Lewis paced Syracuse in that event with 8.7. Ross's victory on the side horse was the only other Springfield win.

"I'm very proud of the boys," said Romeo after the win. "They showed great team balance. I'm especially proud of Sid (Oglesby); three wins are unusual in gymnastics."

Next week Syracuse travels to Pennsylvania to meet Penn State in one of the year's toughest tests. Last year the Orange barely edged the Lions in Archbold Gymnasium.

INTRAS

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

Basketball

7:00 — Booth 3 vs. Sadler 3; Sims vs. DellPlain 3; Booth 4 vs. Sadler 4.

7:45 — Watson E 4 vs. Men's Co-Op 1; Booth 5 vs. Sadler 5; Watson W 0 vs. DellPlain 5.

8:30 — Kimmel 1 vs. Marion 1; Booth 7 vs. Sadler 6; Kimmel 2 vs. DellPlain 6.

Handball

7:00 — Booth 8 vs. DellPlain 1.

8:00 — Sadler 2 vs. Sims 2.

Bowling

6:15 — Tau Epsilon Phi vs. Phi Gamma Delta (2-1); Zeta Beta Tau vs. Sigma Chi (3-4); Sigma Nu vs. Tau Kappa Epsilon (5-5).

8:30 — Zeta Psi vs. Delta Upsilon (1-2); Lambda Chi Alpha vs. Alpha Epsilon Pi (3-4); Phi Alpha vs. Phi Delta Theta (5-6).

DID YOU KNOW-?

THAT THE AIR IS POISONED BY FALLOUT ONLY TO THE EXTENT THAT IT CONTAINS RADIO-ACTIVE PARTICLES.

...THAT RADIATION IN ITSELF DOES NOT POISON FOOD AND WATER. IT IS THE PRESENCE OF RADIO-ACTIVE PARTICLES THAT MAKES THEM HARMFUL. GENERALLY THEY CAN BE REMOVED.

...THAT MOST RADIOACTIVE ELEMENTS IN FALLOUT DECAY RAPIDLY BUT A FEW, SUCH AS STRONTIUM 90, CESIUM 137 AND CARBON 14 ARE LONG LIVED.

FOR FACTS? CONTACT YOUR LOCAL CIVIL DEFENSE

Pledges All

"And now you are a pledge." Variations of this ceremony took place in most of the 30 fraternity houses on campus last night as freshmen were welcomed into the ranks. About 270 men were pledged.

Received $378,000 Grant

Milner to Work in Slums

By DAVID SOSNA
Slum kids, $378,000 and a Hill professor are getting together to start something never before seen in the United States and the idea is that of Dr. Ernest J. Milner's of the university School of Education.

In the spring of 1961, Dr. Milner, coordinator of student teaching in the school, was recovering from an operation. With many hours to himself, the doctor began thinking shop.

He attacked the problem of schooling for "culturally disadvantaged" children, that is, children who come from an environment that stresses menial labor and not education.

"Our schools were really not meeting the needs of these people," said Dr. Milner. "The teachers were not ready to deal with students whose entire orientation was different from theirs."

Thus, a unique plan began to form in his mind which would prepare teachers for this type of situation.

The next step was to find someone to pay for the project. The Ford Foundation was willing, the plans were made final and shortly before Christmas, Syracuse University received a grant from the foundation for $378,000.

The university then joined with the Syracuse public school system and Dr. Mario D. Fantini, director of the Madison Area Project (MAP), an experimental pilot study aimed at raising learning levels of children in an underprivileged area of Syracuse.

Drs. Fantini and Milner will select a headquarters, organize the curriculum and put the finishing touches on the project in the next few months.

Then, sometime this summer, the two directors will start the unchosen Liberal Arts graduate students by placing them in teaching situations with disadvantaged children.

Starting with the next academic year, the trainees will start a one semester internship in a MAP school with a stipend of $2500.

The next semester of that same year, they will take special courses prepared for this program. A second summer session will follow and the second year will follow and will be planned more to meet the individual needs of the trainees.

When the program has ended, the trainees will have a full teaching certificate and a master's degree.

By this time, the university (continued on page 7)

Totals Down

270 Pledge Fraternities

By CAROL RUBRIGHT

Fraternity rush is over, but, according to unofficial statistics, Greek worries are not. Pledge statistics reveal that the smallest number of freshmen in recent Syracuse history have decided to go Greek.

Approximately 270 frosh were given bids by the 30 Hill fraternities Tuesday, according to James McMurray, fraternity administrator. This is only 31 per cent of the total number of rushees. Since it is also 50 less than last year's total, it seems to confirm a downward trend.

Generally, the eight Jewish tradition houses vained more pledges than the 22 Christian tradition houses gained more the five largest pledge classes on campus, with Sigma Alpha Mu in the lead.

The freshmen who received these bids, however, must either accept or reject them before the official tally can be determined.

The blame for the decrease has been aimed at the deferred rushing plan, now in its second year at SU, and on dirty rushing.

The 1963 pledge total of 323 freshmen also marked a decline over last year.

UNOFFICIAL PLEDGE TOTALS
Number of Houses	Number of Pledges
1	31
1	22
1	19
1	18
1	17
1	15
4	14
1	11
1	10
1	8
3	7
1	6
1	5
2	4
2	3
4	2
1	1
2	0

Lustig Explains Court Procedure

Joint Student Court Chief Justice Herbert Lustig explained Tuesday the operation of the body, in order to clear up what were termed "popular misconceptions."

Lustig said, student court is a not a court, in the traditional use and meaning of the word. Almost every connotation of the word "court" is not applicable to our student court.

He explained that the court does not determine guilt or innocence, because that function is taken by the dean of men's or women's office before the case is referred to the group.

Lustig stated, "Note that the student and the dean come to some agreement as to the facts in the case and the student's involvement. He is thus perhaps prejudged guilty of involvement."

"In 99 percent of the cases referred to court the student has admitted his guilt and is now ready to take the consequences," Lustig pointed out.

Lustig continued, "I have mentioned before that one of the type of cases which the court does not handle is that in which there is no presumption of admission on the part of the student."

"Therefore what court does is determine the degree of guilt and prescribes a penalty related to this guilt within the range of the court's powers, or as is done in a few cases, dismiss a case for lack of evidence or insufficient involvement."

Lustig called the misunderstanding a problem in semantics, adding, "Perhaps a better name for court would be Student Disciplinary Review Board."

"I welcome rational, intelligent and informed criticism on the court and its workings," Lustig said, "for an organization cannot be truly effective or cognizant of its strong and weak points without a healthy, well thought out dissent or inquiry every once in a while."

Lent Opens

Planning Lenten services are Veron Bigler, Methodist minister, and Norman Keim (standing) and Priscilla Howland, of the United Campus Christian Fellowship. Lent opens today with traditional Ash Wednesday services.

Rush... And Thinking

The rush is over, men. The pledges have been taken. Last year 323 men pledged fraternities during an identical rush period. This year 270 frosh were pledged.

Yes, the rush is over, men. And we hear it was a very dirty rush.

In between the happy, regulated get-togethers of the formal rush, there was much furtive action behind the scenes, where last-minute-irons were tossed into cooling fires.

For with the introduction of deferred rush to the Hill fraternity system, came the necessary evil of the dirty rush, which has, for the past two years, run wild during the entire first semester.

It was this year, though, on Sunday night preceding the filing of the preferences, that the soiled laundry of the dirty rush was most obviously on the line.

It began in the area of Booth and Watson Dorms, where frosh had gathered in tight-knit groups to discuss the houses they were considering for affiliation.

Cars bearing fraternity decals cruised the area, lending an aura of international intrigue to the Night Before Great Decisions are Made.

InterFraternity's "Police Force," designed to insure that no dirty rushing is conducted, has proven itself ineffectual.

The weirdest part of the story, though, is yet to come. For it was several freshmen who had already "made up their minds" who conducted the most effective dirty rushing of all.

These few, who led groups of six to 20 men each, illustrate a principle of psychology. The principle is that more men are Indians than chiefs.

For it was the Indians in these groups who like sheep, followed the dictates of the convincing few. Instead of thinking through their decisions carefully, they were content to sit by and listen to others who were willing to decide.

To be such an Indian, a man must surrender his self-respect and his claim to being an adult; he must, regardless of his chronological age, become a boy.

This refusal of the responsibility in decision-making then becomes more important than merely being the crime of refusing to think. For it constitutes the suicide of the individual's personality.

In this age, where students clamor to hear controversial speakers, where they scream when their "rights" are revoked, where they are moved to cry for "free thought," their cries become nothing but hollow mocks.

For no decision, no thought; in this case, no pledgship, is of value unless it has been made by the individual.

O Say Can You See

A Euphemism

By Ken Auletta

Time is the flowing melody which witnesses the erosion of human character. We begin life young and brash, and end old and mortgaged. The story of our lives is the story of those intervening years in which each tick of the clock serves as a chisel which quietly chips at our youthful determination. We come to college carrying a fierce desire to humble a seemingly mad world. We graduate, determined to glide imperceptibly into it. The constant conflict of life is between a youth who is free to dream, and an aging man who finds it necessary to scheme.

Some of us succumb to adulthood more quickly than others. A visit to a Joint Student Legislature meeting squeezes what is left of the youthful spirit, causing one to laugh the laugh of the cynic, rather than to cry the cry of the idealist. The setting is Maxwell hall, and it reminds you of the Senate of Rome you've seen in the movies. The circular seating pattern pulls tightly towards the center, where seated atop a small platform on throne-like chairs, sit our student leaders; pausing here on their way to law school; and facing fellow students who come to these meetings, more from habit than from cause. An Assembly of Patricians, incapable of producing a Brutus because it is free of the power of Caesar.

Formalities open the meeting. Followed by a reading of the minutes of the previous meeting; a reading done with the absence of vigor that comes from a recognition of the emptiness of words alone. The presiding officer calls for the Assembly's approval of the minutes and two lonely hands apparently signify the majority of nearly 100 people, for the officer announces the Assembly's approval of the minutes. This is J.S.G., using the representative method as they have learned it.

The floor is open for new business; delegates rise, mostly to heap some indignity upon the Administration, and that off their consciences, to quietly sit down again. Finally, last year's Speaker rises to make a short speech in which he invokes the clinche "the student body" eight times; and then displaying the wisdom won from experience and age, he concludes: "We must realize that student government's activities are limited. What is it, $2,300 that we have to work with? That's all!"

A previously mentioned, but controversial, idea for recommending a change in the grading system is the victim of a hurried motion to transport it back to a committee of sorts, while a fresh, and non-controversial, bill requiring that all class officers stay on campus for the length of a school year, passes in just seven minutes.

The Assembly's business completed, the Speaker of the Legislature throws another ten strikes at the administration - making 20 in all, and thus doing for the Administration what the pitcher who opened the Havana baseball season reportedly did for Fidel Castro. But the Speaker is very good, for he has the talent to make the very sad - amusing. The business of the evening completed, the Speaker pardons the delegates so that they may return to their living centers to receive and return with, instructions from their "student body."

But this pattern persisted too long, and one day that final arbiter of all things, Joint Student Court, decided to meet mounting student government discontent by bringing the Executive and Legislative branches of student government to trial. They were charged with claiming to be that which they were not: a student government. Names have been withheld to protect the guilty.

Justice: "Is this your constitution?"

Student Leader: "Yes".

Justice: "Does the preamble read that the foremost function of student government is 'to promote the general welfare of the student body?' And does Article 2 not read that 'All regularly enrolled, undergraduate students of Syracuse University shall be represented by Student Government'?"

Student Leader: "Yes. But we've got to be mature, responsible adults. To be the intermediary between the student's desires and the University's needs."

Justice: "Just answer the questions. It's not for this Court to decide whether you're guilty, but rather, to decide just how guilty you are. You have represented yourselves, rather than the of the student body?"

Student Leader: "Well?"

Justice: "This Court hereby pronounces you adults, and forthwith places student government on disciplinary probation for five years, at the end of which time you may appeal. Until then, student government is disbanded."

Student Leader: "But what of the student body?"

Justice: "They'll manage just as before."

Moral: You get what you don't ask for.

Guest Spot

Rush

By George Foster

When the Citizenship Department announced that it would be unable to sponsor a mock convention this spring because of insufficient funds, man's answer to all maladies — the Greeks of SU — decided to hold their own version of the convention.

Known to most as Rush, the convention saw more politicking, aggressiveness and animosity than will be demonstrated in both the Democratic and Republican nominating conventions this year.

The preliminaries to the convention were the familiar rush sessions, 10 in all, which amounted to the feelers that Rocky and Barry will be sending out this year.

To the person new to Hill politics, the first few sessions taught the novice the basic answers to all pertinent world problems. When asked a question that required pensive thought, the stereotyped answer returned: "My name is Al Sampson from Brookline. . . No. No. That's not in New York City. I'm a Liberal Arts major. . . I'm 19 years old, and I like breads, booze, betting, be-bop and Beethoven."

As the lobbying enters the third and fourth days, the novice's recall must be sharper. He must know the definition of non-wasp and must be able to distinguish between a greasy and a non-greasy substance.

He by this time knows when to talk and when to listen, and when to ask a brother for a cigarette. But there are many things he hasn't learned yet. He cannot comprehend why three persons guard the doorway into which two of his fellow rushees have disappeared.

Nor can he understand why the houses spend their time hurling insults at other houses rather than expounding upon the merits of Theta Omega Pi.

Al Sampson went through freshman rush this year and he still cannot comprehend the necessity of the rush system or the Greek system for that matter. But as all who have viewed the extravaganza, he has raised some superficial questions about the system.

Upon entering a Christian tradition house, Sampson let it be known that he was Jewish. All the niceties that had been extended to him the previous

(Continued on Page 7)

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2 February 12, 1964
Editor-in-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor Clifton F. Richards
News Editor Andrew Forte
Editorial Director Adair Duffie
Sports Editor Bernard MacCallum
Arts Editor Rea Turel
Production Editor Steve Schwimmer

BUSINESS STAFF

Asst. Bus. Mgr. Jon Weisberg
Layout Managers Martha Johannek, Eillian Fahr
National Adv. Mgr. Lynn Mandel
Classified Mgr. Christine Sedzick
Promotion Mgr. Stu Shapiro

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 200 Brooklee Drive Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter at U.S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

TREVER ON CAMPUS

That's Entertainment:

The Actress

by Rea Turet

We wandered down to one of our more favorite places on campus. It's a place that is usually swarming with Art majors, drama majors, CORE people, and a whole group of fraternity guys who consider themselves on the "in." The name of the place is the Savoy.

We spotted at one of the tables, a friend who is a drama major. Needing information for a column, we thought we'd join her in order to find out what was happening in the drama department.

"What's new?" we asked. "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," she replied.

"Sounds like an advertisement for the Regent Bar," we joked.

"It isn't," she informed us. "It's an advertisement for the next drama department production."

"Is it going to be good?" Since we were going to review the play, we thought that we'd like to sit through a good play.

"Is it going to be good? Of course its going to be good! Why shouldn't it be?"

We thought of several answers to that one, but thought that if we wanted to keep friends with the drama department we shouldn't say anything.

"Besides," the drama major continued, "I'd never say if it wasn't good. We want people to come see this show. I want people to come see the show."

Loyalty to your department was one thing, but this was bordering on fanaticism. "Why do you want people to see 'Ten Nights in a Bar Room?'"

"Very simple. I'm in it." This explained a lot of things to us.

"So how are rehearsals?" we questioned, trying to get the inside information.

"Great," she responded. We decided that this didn't say anything. "What do you mean great?"

"Do you honestly expect me to say that a rehearsal for a show that I'm in, is anything but great?"

"No, now that you mention it."

We decided that it was time to try another topic. "What's the play about?"

"The decline and fall of Joe Morgan through that horrible demon rum."

"You've got to be kidding! Who writes plays like that anymore? Certainly not Tennessee Williams."

"It's an old-fashioned type melodrama, warning against the pitfalls of drink. Do you drink?"

"Only on weekends," we assured her.

"Well, this play says that you shouldn't drink. Original by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union had this play on the circuit. And every-time they had a lecture, they would do this play."

"So what happens. Do you wind up spending 10 nights in the bar?"

"No. The play was taken from a popular book of the time. 'Ten Nights in a Bar Room.'"

"Now where have we heard that title before," we wondered.

"Oh, yeah. So where did the title come from?"

"The book originally took place over a period of ten nights."

"Was is a good book?"

"I don't know. I didn't read it."

"Is it a good play?"

"It's a great play!"

We had made a cycle. Again I thought I'd try a new tactic.

"How is the show being done?"

"Like an old fashioned melodrama."

"seriously?"

"Have you ever heard of people in today's world taking an old fashioned melodrama seriously?" she demanded.

"No," we answered. "Who's directing it?"

"Dr. Golden."

"He was in charge of Nickel Theater, wasn't he?"

"My goodness, you're astute," our friend, who was becoming less of a friend, said.

"We saw that hangman hanging in the lobby of the Regent Theatre."

"It just goes to show you what those temperance people can do to you if you drink too much," we were told.

"Or what the Dean of Men can do to you."

"You've got a point there. Look, if you excuse me, I've got a rehearsal."

Not wanting her to be late to her rehearsal, we excused her. She went down to the Regent Theatre, and we went around the corner to get a beer.

"Very simple. I'm in it."

"So how are rehearsals?" we questioned, trying to get the inside information.

"Great," she responded. We decided that this didn't say anything. "What do you mean great?"

"Do you honestly expect me to say that a rehearsal for a show that I'm in, is anything but great?"

"No, now that you mention it."

We decided that it was time to try another topic. "What's the play about?"

"The decline and fall of Joe Morgan through that horrible demon rum."

"You've got to be kidding! Who writes plays like that anymore? Certainly not Tennessee Williams."

"It's an old-fashioned type melodrama, warning against the pitfalls of drink. Do you drink?"

"Only on weekends," we assured her.

"Well, this play says that you shouldn't drink. Original by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union had this play on the circuit. And every-time they had a lecture, they would do this play."

"So what happens. Do you wind up spending 10 nights in the bar?"

"No. The play was taken from a popular book of the time. 'Ten Nights in a Bar Room.'"

"Now where have we heard

Regent Holds High School Festival

A drama festival for Syracuse high schools will be held Feb. 21-22, at the Regent Theater, according to Marlow G. Burt, theater manager.

The two-day event will be sponsored by University College of Syracuse University and the university's Drama Department.

It will be directed by Prof. G. F. Reidenbaugh, acting chairman of the Drama Department. Dr. Joseph Golden and John Workman, department faculty members, will serve as workshop leaders.

Six local schools will participate: H. W. Smith Junior High School, Huntington Junior High, Prescott Junior High, Grant Junior High, Eastwood Senior High and North High School.

Students will attend morning workshops. Performances by each school drama group are scheduled during afternoon sessions.

Stone Wins Award

The first annual Communications Alumni Award was presented to Dan Stone by Robert Ahrens, President of the Communications Alumni Association of Syracuse University at a meeting last Thursday in New York City.

Dan is a 20 year old junior from Watkins Glen, N. Y. who is enrolled in the radio TV program at Syracuse University. He is also the News Director for WAER and a columnist on the Daily Orange.

Movies

"Tom Jones"

by Steven Golob

John Osborne, Tony Richardson, and Albert Finney are England's "angry young men" of the cinema. With the opening at the Eckel of Tom Jones, their first combined effort, they now constitute a triumvirate of scenarist, producer-director, and actor, respectively.

Scenarist John Osborne has faithfully adapted Henry Fielding's eighteenth century masterpiece, "The History of Tom Jones, a Foundling" which Coleridge found to be "one of the three best novels ever written."

Osborne's screenplay retains all the vigor of Fielding's voluminous classic by reducing it to two hours of cinematic mirth.

Tony Richardson has found Fielding an excellent vehicle for his motion picture protests against the British "Establishment." As producer-director, he presents a sardonic glimpse of "merrie olde England" with its shocking contrasts between the miserable poor and the frivolous rich. Nevertheless, these are only brief, though poignant, scenes in a hilarious panorama of bawdy and brawling eighteenth century England.

Richardson employs revolutionary filming techniques as he smoothly switches from fast motion, to slow motion, to no motion, for satiric emphasis. There is a narrator to fill in those rough spots when the plot might unfold too slowly. There are also asides to the theater audience to support the feeling of empathy which the camera has so effectively created.

As a factory worker in "Saturday Night and Sunday Morning," Albert Finney could only envy the sumptuous life of the rich. As Tom Jones, he reveals in it with verve and vitality.

Found "luxuriously abandoned" in Squire Allworthy's bed, Tom is adopted by the good Squire and raised on his country estate. But, as the narrator notes, "Tom Jones was born to be hanged."

At the age of twenty, he is seduced by the gamekeeper's daughter, and banished from his Father's home. He strikes out for London, but on the way is waylaid by a young widow named Waters.

After completing "Tom Jones," Fielding commented, "I have endeavored in the following History to laugh Mankind out of their favourite Follies and Vices." Two centuries later, society indulges in still another one of its "favourite Follies and Vices."

Daily Crossword Puzzle

- ACROSS
- 1 Navy amphibian.
 - 4 Birdcalls.
 - 8 Gentlemen's gentlemen.
 - 14 Jim.
 - 15 Scope.
 - 16 Ancient Hispania.
 - 17 Lincoln
 - 19 Luscious.
 - 20 Lincoln
 - 21 French pastry.
 - 22 Lincoln
 - 23 Cries of surprise.
 - 24 Chemical suffix.
 - 25 Brother.
 - 26 Subside.
 - 29 Vaults.
 - 33 Device for measuring saltiness.
 - 36 Trees yielding cork.
 - 37 Lichen genus.
 - 38 Nothing: Sp.
 - 39 A quality of new bills.
 - 41 "...gang aft
 - 42 Lincoln's London.
 - 43 Pounds: Abbr.
 - 44 Biddy.
 - 46 Medieval French poem.
 - 47 Stanzas.
 - 52 Where Athens was.
 - 55 Aaron Copland's "A Lincoln
 - 56 Lincoln's father.
 - 57 "Three Men
 - 58 So far.
 - 59 Plexus.
 - 60 A kind of rose.
 - 61 Washed, as clothes.
 - 62 Royal title.
 - 63 Purpose.
 - 13 Recites.
 - 18 Small fish.
 - 25 Portraitist's color effects: 2 words.
 - 26 Relative of etc.: 2 words.
 - 27 English historian.
 - 28 Harsh sound.
 - 29 Places.
 - 30 Get.
 - 31 Similar.
 - 32 Epistolary abbreviation.
 - 34 Answer: Abbr.
 - 35 England: Abbr.
 - 37 Fair.
 - 40 Mollify.
 - 41 One more.
 - 45 List of mistakes with corrections.
 - 46 Certain beans.
 - 47 Fun.
 - 48 Type of athlete.
 - 49 American author.
 - 50 Iron: Ger.
 - 51 Stand one in good
 - 52 Attorneys: Abbr.
 - 53 Biblical pronoun.
 - 54 Lincoln's father-in-law.
- DOWN
- 1 Portrays.
 - 2 Piece of candy.
 - 3 Grave: Fr.
 - 4 Decanters.
 - 5 Sprung.
 - 6 Faults.
 - 7 Rooms: Sp.
 - 8 A queen of England.
 - 9 Mr. Lincoln.
 - 10 Sly looks.
 - 11 He was: Lat.
 - 12 Occasion.

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14			15				16
17			18				19
20							21
22							23
			24			25			26	27	28
29	30	31	32		33	34			35
36				37					38
39			40						41
42				43			44	45
			46				47			48	49	50
52	53	54					55
56							57
58							59				60
61							62				63

one guy... three girls... one ring!... Paradise?

Plus "The Impersonator" "Riviera" CINEMA 3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. GRB-4021

ANNOUNCING THE
WINNER OF THE

ORCHID SHOPPE
BEAUTY CONTEST

MISS LYNNE CHANON
DAY 6

ENTER NOW FOR NEXT WEEK'S CONTEST AND
YOU TOO CAN WIN A DOZEN ROSES.

THE ORCHID SHOPPE

GR 2-6221 605 BUTTERNUT
Specializing in Floral Arrangements Corsages, and Personalized Napkins and Matchbooks

FREE, RAPID DELIVERY

We Wire the World Over

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

C	A	B	A	L	W	A	R	P	A	C	T	H
A	S	O	L	O	P	R	O	A	W	H	O
S	T	A	I	N	B	O	A	T	A	R	G	O
C	A	R	T	E	L	A	S	T	E	R	I	S
O	P	D	S	E	A	T	I	M	E	S
F	O	O	T	S	T	E	P	T	E	G
C	A	L	A	M	I	T	O	U	S
A	M	A	Z	E	A	I	R	C	L	A	I	M
K	I	T	E	S	I	L	K	A	L	I	N	E
E	P	E	T	I	N	S	E	L	E	D
S	T	E	A	M	Y	E	A	M	A	I
B	E	C	A	L	M	E	D
O	P	E	N	E	N	O	S
L	I	N	K	S	T	I	R
A	C	T	S	E	S	T	O

Beatle Fans

"Beatlemania" has hit the SU campus, and the British boys might be flattered to find that a dormitory has adopted their name. Residents of the former Sherbrooke Apartments at 920 Madison St. voted at a Sunday night house meeting to call their living center "Beatle Brook".

CORE Sponsors NYS Convention

The Syracuse chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality will be host of an upstate New York regional conference Feb. 28-29 and Mar. 1. CORE chapters from Utica, Rochester, Binghamton, Buffalo and Niagara Falls will send over 200 delegates to the Syracuse convention.

Highlighting the convention will be Bayard Rustin, Bob Gore and Tom Kahn, national civil rights leaders. All will give speeches at 8 p.m., Feb. 28 in the Lincoln Auditorium. The meeting is open to the public.

Rustin, a leader of the Feb. 3 New York City School Boycott, coordinated last year's March on Washington. He is a member of the War Resistance League and is an exponent of civil disobedience.

Gore is assistant community relations director for National CORE. Kahn, a noted activist in the civil rights movement, is the author of "Unfinished Revolution," on Southern sit-ins.

Various workshops and seminars will be held in conjunction with the convention. Housing, employment, schools and police brutality will be the topics for the Feb. 29 and Mar. 1 workshops, which are only open to delegates. Seminars will discuss how CORE chapters can best function in the areas of these problems.

Norman Hill, National CORE program director, will preside over several of the workshops, held at University College. Others will be chaired by noted CORE leaders at the convention.

IFC MEETS TODAY

Candidates for InterFraternity Council offices will announce their platforms at 7:30 p.m. today in rooms 9-10 H.B. Crouse hall.

Presidential candidates are: Peter Luckman (Zeta Beta Tau), Michael Polombo (Psi Upsilon), Gary Rehm (Acacia), and George Vandervan (Alpha Chi Rho).

Vice presidential nominees are: Peter Stern (Tau Epsilon Phi) and Jack White (Phi Kappa Psi).

ASH WEDNESDAY

The schedule of services for Ash Wednesday was announced Tuesday by the various campus chaplains.

CATHOLIC

12:05 p.m., Mass, St. Thomas More chapel, followed by distribution of ashes.

4:05 p.m., Mass, Hendricks Chapel, followed by distribution of ashes.

6:15 p.m., Mass, St. Thomas More chapel, followed by distribution of ashes.

9 p.m., Mass, St. Thomas More chapel, followed by distribution of ashes.

EPISCOPAL

7 a.m., Holy Communion, Chapel House.

12:10 p.m., Holy Communion, Chapel House.

5:05 p.m., Holy Communion, Gifford Auditorium, H.B. Crouse Hall.

LUTHERAN

4 p.m., Lenten Bible study, Lutheran office.

5:05 p.m., Holy Communion, north wing, Hendricks Chapel.

INTERDENOMINATIONAL
7 a.m., Holy Communion, north wing, Hendricks Chapel.

ID Department Sets Award

The most promising member of the graduating class of the SU Department of Industrial Design will be presented a merit award by the American Society of Industrial Designers. Announcement of the award was made today by Arthur J. Pulos, professor in charge of the industrial design program.

Pulos stated that the outstanding graduate will be chosen by the industrial design department and will receive the award certificate at a special ASID dinner to be held in New York City in April.

The ASID program is geared to further relationship between students, educators and the profession.

ASH WEDNESDAY

FEBRUARY 12, 1964

LUTHERAN HOLY COMMUNION

5:05 p.m. North Wing, Hendricks Chapel and on every Wednesday in Lent

SAIL

DOWN TO CENTORE'S
STOREWIDE CLEARANCE
BIG SAVINGS!

20% to 50%

OFF ON EVERYTHING

Ski Wear
Sportshirts

Sweaters
Slacks

EVERYTHING GOES!

SPECIAL $1.95

TURTLENECK JERSEYS 3 FOR $5.50

Centore's Men's Shop

446 So. Salina (at the cross light)

CALL HA 2-1728

OPEN MON. & FRI. EVES. TILL 9:00

Beker Joins Youth Development Center

Dr. Jerome Beker has been appointed senior research associate to the Syracuse University Youth Development Center the Center announced yesterday. Dr. Beker is noted for his research programs in the problems of racial imbalance in urban public schools.

Acquainted with the workings of the National Institute of Mental Health, Dr. Beker has researched the programs and developed revisions for summer camps for emotionally disturbed, physically handicapped and delinquent youths.

A native Philadelphian, Dr. Beker was formerly with the Berkshire Farm for Boys, Canaan, N.Y., where he served as research psychologist since 1960.

Dr. Beker has been a consultant at the Bank Street College of Education, New York City and the assistant to the director of New York University's School of Education Camp, Sloatsburg, N.Y.

His vast work in the field of education has been recognized throughout the east. Dr. Beker is the author of Training Camp Counselors in Human Relations: A Case Book used widely in the field of camp guidance.

JEROME BEKER

Richards

Chose All-East

Orange forward Chuck Richards was named to this week's Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference All-East basketball team.

He joined Nick Workman of Seton Hall, Bob Weiss of Penn State, Randy Cross of Boston University and Dan Fitzgerald of Temple.

Richards, 6-8, scored 31 points and pulled down 13 rebounds against Pittsburgh Friday night.

The native of Poland, N.Y., transferred to Syracuse from Army, sitting out last season.

Europeans To Organize

European students are trying to form a European association on campus.

Those interested will meet at 7:30 p.m., Thursday in Chapel House.

There are already several regional groups within the International Students Organization, and the Europeans feel that with a separate group they can further contribute to the university's social and cultural life.

The association will be open to any non-Europeans interested in contacts with Europe and will serve as a center for information about Europe.

stay at a

SYRACUSE TRAVELODGE

MOTEL

SLEEPY SAYS:
MAKE RESERVATIONS
NOW FOR
WINTER WEEKEND

- Free phone or T.W.N. reservations to any Travelodge across the U.S.A.
- 130 spacious, air conditioned, soundproof rooms with free TV and AM-FM Radios.
- Simmons "Baumrest" Mattresses.
- Easy access from all directions.

Central TRAVELODGE Uptown TRAVELODGE

454 JAMES STREET 940 JAMES STREET
(1 block from State St.) (Next to Corinthian Club)
472-6381 For Reservations Call 472-6281

Official safety records over the years prove Greyhound 17 times safer than driving yourself. Greyhound is safer than trains and planes, too. For safety—in any weather—Go Greyhound.

GO HOME THIS WEEKEND

*PICK UP YOUR TICKETS IN ADVANCE FROM 5 STAR IN THE SAVOY.

REMEMBER — Five Star is SU's ORIGINAL travel service and is student-owned & operated.

ALSO—Hotel reservations at low student rates, car rentals, tours, etc. (Stop in & pick up FREE Sheraton ID card).

Lowest rates on bus and air charters for your group.

Five Star Travel Service in the SAVOY, 133 Marshall St. Daily 1-4, Thurs. 7-9, call GREYHOUND 6-8533

GO GREYHOUND
...and leave the driving to us

Special BEATLES Issue

University Hill MUSIC BOX

754 So. CROUSE AVE.
475-4116

 OWNED & OPERATED BY SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY STUDENTS
 OPEN MON. THRU FRI. 10-8 SAT. 10-5:30

"BEATLEMANIA" SWEEPS U.S.

★ ★

★ ★

★ ★

★ ★

★ ★

★ ★

★ ★

★ ★

HOW IT ALL STARTED
WHAT BRITIAN SAYS

They wore black leather jackets, their hair was untidy and the only way one could tell them apart from characters in a Marlon Brando movie was that they had no motorcycles.

They were the Beatles, but no one knew it. In those days they called themselves a variety of things—The Quarrymen, Moon Dogs or The Moonshiners. It was early 1958, and they spent most of their time playing in the cellar of a friend's home in Liverpool for kicks.

CELLAR CLUB

If there was a turning point for the four young men who eventually went on to become the biggest recording group in England's history, it was probably in that cellar. Before that George Harrison, John Lennon and Paul McCartney wandered around with various groups and took any job available. Then they met Pete Best and his mother. She volunteered her cellar for their use and then she decided to turn the cellar into a club—The Casbah.

It wasn't long before all the teenagers in the neighborhood were crowding in the small club to play the juke box, drink coffee and listen to Pete, George, John and Paul.

TEENS FOLLOWED

"First," recalled Mrs. Best, "they called themselves the Moon Dogs, The Moonshiners and then for some reason they decided on a new name, the Silver Beatles."

The Silver Beatles grew rapidly in popularity. Within a year the club had 3,000 members and teenage girls followed the group by bus, car and on foot wherever they went. Whenever they were booked for local dance

The Group That Sold Over 3,000,000
Records in England in 1963!

 MEET
THE

BEATLES

The First Album by England's Phenomenal
Pop Combo Includes Their Twelve Top Songs!

SALE 2⁹⁷

REG. 3.98 MONO

STEREO 3.77

REG. 4.98

 OPEN A CHARGE ACCOUNT

as the halls were filled by twisting shrieking teenagers.

Their fans spread the word about the great new group appearing in the Liverpool cellar club and a short time later they were booked to appear at the Kaiser-keller in Hamburg. Before going to Germany, they decided to drop the "Silver" because it sounded too clumsy. At that moment the Beatles were born.

SWAMP STORE

The rest is history. The group went to Germany and the teenagers went wild over them. News that they had made a record reached England and their Liverpool cellar club fans swamped Brian Epstein's store with requests for the disc. Then, with Epstein as their manager they went on to fame and success throughout England and a good portion of Europe.

Today, it's easy to look back and follow the rise of the Beatles. Along the way they received many breaks including their trip to Germany, the recording they made and their meeting with Epstein. But, which one was the turning point? Was it the trip? The record? Epstein?

Or was it, as many believe, that cellar in Liverpool and the fans who discovered them there?

The Beatlemania phenomenon that began in England last year and is now sweeping the United States, has created a wave of controversy so extensive that psychologists and sociologists are taking a hard clinical look at it. Many adults regard Beatlemania with horror, distaste, and even fear and find it easy to blame the Beatles for what they, the adults, feel is a lack of taste and control and a dangerous mass hysteria among young people.

CORBETT SAYS

Anthony Corbett, a noted English psychologist praised the Beatles as having provided "a desperately need release for the inhibitions which exist in all of us."

GREAT NEED

Dixon Scott of the London Daily Mirror interviewed a well-known psychiatrist (unnamed because of medical ethics) in an attempt to get at the root of Beatlemania. "We are all chaotic and mixed-up inside," the psychiatrist told Scott. "We are anxious to have a greater freedom to live. We have a greater feeling of the need to express ourselves . . . in the past we have been controlled automaton . . . but you cannot hold nature back forever. All the parts in use had to seek an outlet and rhythm is one of these outlets . . . then along came the Beatles with their fresh beat and fresh innocence."

The psychiatrist then came to the crux of the problem:

"A revolution is taking place," he said. "It amounts to freedom with a sense of responsibility and honesty. The fans recognize the honesty that shines from the Beatles."

"While other pop stars have thought in artificial terms of reaching out to their audiences, the Beatles are giving honestly, as well as receiving."

NORTHERN ROOTS

In a lengthy article in the New York Times, Frederick Lewis of that paper's London bureau, examined the sociological implications of Beatlemania and came up with other theories.

"They (the Beatles) are working class and their roots and attitudes are firmly of the north of England. Because of their success, they can act as spokesmen for the new, noisy, anti-establishment generation which is becoming a force in British life," Lewis wrote.

"The Beatles are part of a strong - flowing reaction against the soft, middle-class south of England, which has controlled popular culture for so long."

Beatlemania has touched all corners of English life and all types of people.

Obviously, it has had an enormous effect on the young people of Great Britain who have been responsible for the majority of the 3,000,000 Beatles records sold in 1963. But Beatlemania hasn't stopped with youth. It has touched virtually everybody, high and low, rich and poor, scholars and the less educated; as the New York Times put it, "Beatlemania affects all social classes and all levels of intelligence." It has even been a factor in national politics.

RASH CONSERVATIVE

The Royal Family voted straight Beatles ticket last year by asking the group to headline the annual Command Performance Variety Show.

NEW CAPITOL RELEASES

A LETTERMAN KIND OF LOVE
THE Kingston Trio 'A Time to Think'

SAVE ON RECORDS AT THE UNIVERSITY HILL MUSIC BOX

The Birds

STUDYING STARLINGS is part of a laboratory assignment at the State University College of Forestry at Syracuse University for Michael L. Marks, left, and James T. Rozmus. The forest zoology class, under the direction of Prof. LeRoy C. Stegeman, botanized the birds from the City of Syracuse which is carrying out a straling removal program.

Forestry Gets Starlings

The City of Syracuse is in the midst of a wholesale removal project to abolish the local starling population, and SU is getting the birds. The dead birds that is.

The city has provided a large number of the deceased for study by a zoology class at the State University College of Forestry. The birds are considered pests by the local population, and their extermination is benefiting both the city and the forestry school.

The situation "provides an unusual opportunity for students to study variation in a wild species," explained Dr. LeRoy C.

Stegeman, professor of forest zoology. Dr. Stegeman obtained the specimens and planned the laboratory work.

Starlings are good birds for students to study. The mature specimens can be aged and sexed by external characteristics. "The practical experience of handling real birds in such studies is valuable," commented Dr. Stegeman.

THE SEALED DEAL

IS COMING

303 University Place

If your Periodic Pain lasts more than one day... reach past the aspirin for FEMICIN RELIEF

Does your periodic pain persist from one day to the next to the next? Do nagging headaches, tension and edgy irritability drag into the second, third or even the fourth days of your period?

Do painful cramps, backaches and depression linger? Have you tried aspirin in vain?

Femicin works where Aspirin fails. Women everywhere are discovering a new relief formula—Femicin tablets.

Clinical tests show Femicin brings you better-than-aspirin relief—especially when your periodic pain lasts more than one day!

Femicin's special formula eases aches quickly...eases cramps and periodic tension. Works to relax edgy irritability—to throw off puffy, excess water weight. You feel better—look better—all week long!

Discover Femicin's amazing better-than-aspirin relief today.

Available at

THE SIEGEL STORES

On Marshall St.

FundSet forMiss Sutherland

The residents of Sherbrooke Apartments are raising funds for a memorial to the late Anne Sutherland, a former resident of the living center who died last November.

The memorial will be a collection of books about art, particularly Oriental art, which was Miss Sutherland's major interest. Each book will bear a name plate dedicating it to Miss Sutherland.

The number and type of books will depend upon the amount of money contributed. All Contributions may be taken to the Lowe Art Center desk or to apt. 14 in Sherbrooke, 604 Walnut Ave.

Sherbrooke residents urge all classmates, friends, fellow art students to aid the memorial fund for Miss Sutherland.

For further information, call June Royal, ext. 3303.

BEAT FORDHAM

ARF!

Benjamin Franklin (or The Louisville Slugger, as he is better known as) said, "A penny saved is a penny earned," and we, the college population of America, have taken to heart this sage advice. We spend prudently; we budget diligently. Yet, despite our wise precautions, we are always running short. Why? Because there is one item of expense that we consistently underestimate—the cost of travelling home for weekends.

Let us take the typical case of Basil Metabolism, a sophomore at UCLA majoring in avocados. Basil, a resident of Bangor, Maine, loved to go home each weekend to play with his faithful dog, Spot. What joy, what wreathed smiles, when Basil and Spot were re-united! Basil would leap into his dogcart, and Spot, a genuine Alaskan husky, would pull Basil all over Bangor, Maine—Basil calling cheery halloos to the townfolk, Spot wagging his curly tail.

The results were not all Basil had hoped

But the cost, alas, of travelling from UCLA to Bangor, Maine, ran to $400 a week, and Basil's father, alas, earned only a meagre salary as a meter-reader for the Bangor water department. So, alas, after six months Basil's father told Basil he could raise no more money; he had already sold everything he owned, including the flashlight he used to read meters.

Basil returned to California to ponder his dilemma. One solution occurred to him—to ship Spot to UCLA and keep him in his room—but Basil had to abandon the notion because of his roommate, G. Fred Sigafoos, who was, alas, allergic to dog hair.

Then another idea came to Basil—a stroke of genius, you might call it. He would buy a Mexican hairless chihuahua! Thus he would have a dog to pull him around, and G. Fred's allergy would be undisturbed.

The results, alas, were not all Basil had hoped. The chihuahua, alas, was unable to pull Basil in the dogcart, no matter how energetically he beat the animal.

Defeated again, Basil sat down with G. Fred, his roommate, to smoke a Marlboro Cigarette and seek a new answer to the problem. Together they smoked and thought and—Eureka!—an answer quickly appeared. (I do not suggest, mark you, that Marlboro Cigarettes are an aid to cerebration. All I say about Marlboros is that they taste good and are made of fine tobaccos and pure white filters and come in soft pack or Flip Top box.)

Well, sir, Basil and G. Fred got a great idea. Actually, the idea was G. Fred's, who happened to be majoring in genetics. Why not, said G. Fred, cross-breed the chihuahua with a Great Dane and thus produce an animal sturdy enough to pull a dogcart?

It was, alas, another plan doomed to failure. The cross-breeding was done, but the result (this is very difficult to explain) was a raccoon.

But there is, I am pleased to report, a happy ending to this heart-rending tale. It seems that Basil's mother (this is also very difficult to explain) is a glamorous blond aged 19 years. One day she was spotted by a talent scout in Bangor, Maine, and was signed to a fabulous movie contract, and the entire family moved to California and bought Bel Air, and today one of the most endearing sights to be seen on the entire Pacific Coast is Spot pulling Basil down Sunset Boulevard—Basil cheering and Spot wagging. Basil's mother is also happy, making glamorous movies all day long, and Basil's father is likewise content, sitting at home and reading the water meter.

© 1964 Max Shulman

* * *

Pacific Coast, Atlantic Coast, the great Heartland in between—not to speak of Alaska and Hawaii—all of this is Marlboro Country. Light up and find out for yourself.

TODAY

4 p.m., WAA, 1112 E. Fayette St.
4 p.m., WAA, 1112 E. Fayette St.
7 p.m., WAA, 1112 E. Fayette St.

7:30 p.m., S. Thomas M. Church, "Medical Ethics." All medical students are invited.

8:30 p.m., University Skyway, Dean N. B. K. Hall, 1112 E. Fayette St. Dr. Robinson.

MONDAY

Applications for the pre-medical program are being accepted. Applications may be made to the pre-medical office, 1112 E. Fayette St. or to the pre-medical office, 1112 E. Fayette St.

PEERLESS PRESS, Inc.
PRINTERS

1112 E. Fayette Street Between University &
Walnut

COMPLETE PRINTING SERVICE

at your doorstep
GR 6-6051

India Bound

These students are the first to embark on a new Maxwell School graduate program, to obtain their degrees in master of public administration. They leave Tuesday for a year's work in India. The students are, left to right: Michael Shaw, James McGovern, Lloyd Morris, Carol Ann Kotting, Walter Ward, and Richard Almeida.

Guest Spot

(Continued from Page 2)

few days suddenly evaporated. He is now told by a brother: "We definitely do not discriminate against Jews or Negroes here in the Syracuse chapter. However, you might as well rush another house, because for you to become a pledge here, you must be approved by 50 per cent of the national chapter and 70 per cent of our houses are below the Mason-Dixon Line."

Al went to several other houses where upon he found the classification of Catholics, Jews, and intellectuals reduced from BMOC to "Persona non grata."

Leaving the aforementioned complaints to the quite effective university anti-discriminatory clause board, we shall now progress to the actual convention floor.

On the floor while seeking votes, houses constantly accused each other of dirty politicking, dirty rushing and greasiness in an effort to secure the ultimate—the perennial gold brick, the SU freshman.

Our friend Sampson was amazed at the amount of time and money some houses were willing to spend on him — meals and drinks at the Orange, and sharp dates in future brothers cars. But he, as other "frosh," was willing to accept this data as an aid in making his decision.

Sunday night, with convention only hours away, things got into high gear. Brothers were driving around DelPlain Hall looking for dirty rushing and found that there was enough evidence to convict every Jewish tradition house on campus, so charges were dropped by all, because no one wanted to cause trouble. Reliable sources indicated, however, if charges were preferred, there might be few Jewish tradition houses campaigning in the next rush period.

And at campaign headquarters, the calls poured in from brothers and committed freshmen who had been assigned to get that special frosh at all costs. A call at 5:30 a.m. Monday morning, just three hours before ballots were due, showed the fight was thickening. "It's a toughie," the voice said, "He's sold about 80 percent our way, but he's still got 20 per cent doubt." Keep working on him, a voice said.

Another phone call reported to headquarters that three frosh were lying when they said they would join TOP, while another four that the house had lied to had decided to join.

A quick hash was called and the delegates decided to vote as a block as usual, and as usual the frosh went in the same numbers to the same houses.

But when the convention results were tabulated, it was evident that some of the freshmen had done some serious evaluating. Despite the rugged campaign, Gamma Delta Iota won over all, pledging 70 more than last year.

Milner to Work

(Continued from Page 1)

hopes to have some answers to some of the complex problems involved and perhaps to make the project a regular part of the university School of Education with more trainees and expanded facilities.

If the project runs smoothly and as planned Syracuse University will be one of the few, if not the only, schools in the country to have facilities to combat one of the weakest areas of modern education.

ERNEST MILNER

Food Surveys Due Today

All food service survey forms must be turned into the Joint Student Government office in Marion Hall by 4 p.m. today, it was announced Tuesday by Marshall Sniersen, chairman of the JSG food service committee.

The office will be open between 1-4 p.m.

Traffic Court Set

Traffic Court will meet from 1-6 p.m. Thursday in the Security Police office building 19. Any member of the university community who wishes to appeal a paid SU traffic violation ticket it welcome. A bursar's receipt of the money paid is required.

SPECIAL—Shampoo, Style Cut, Set $5.00

at

Carmens

HAIR STYLISTS

Two Hour Free Parking at Municipal Parking Lot

Open Thurs. & Fri. 9 to 9 Mon., Tues., Wed & Sat. 9 to 6

Call 212 Montgomery St. Syracuse, N. Y.

GR 1-0511

This Week

at Carmens

with this ad

One dollar off an ANY beauty treatment

$1

$1

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	$.85
2 days	1.65
3 days	3.15
4 days	2.40
5 days	3.85
6 days	5.20
7 days	4.55
8 days	5.85
9 days	6.45
10 days	7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Profab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-4640.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.

GREYHOUND TICKETS, schedules, information, bus and air charters. Hotel reservations foreign tours. FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC. in the Savoy Monday-Friday 1-4; Thursday night 7-9 476-8535.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired. Rented. Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-5833. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

ACCELERATED 5 lesson course, specializing in parking, traffic, road test. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-3451.

SLEEP-LEARNING. Hypnotism! Tapes, records, books, equipment. Astonishing details, strange coloring free! Sleep-Learning Research Assn., Box 24-CP, Olympia, Wash.

ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lillian M. Potter 207 Comstock Ave. GR 6-5547.

FOR SALE

FREE SOLDERING. all charms bought here! Charms, jewelry, jewelry, watch repair. Greeting cards. Personalized stationery. Valentine gifts and cards. Riviera sunglasses for men and women. Ruth's Gifts, 734 S. Crouse, Introductory Sale, Crepe de Chine Cokone and Nut de Longchamp.

$10.00 WILL BUY ANY SWEATER

the store, values to $19.95. Ivy Hall, 705 S. Crouse Ave., call 478-3304.

MEN'S AND LADIES' STRETCH PANTS

in colors $6.98. Ivy Hall, 705 S. Crouse Ave., 478-3305.

$10.00 WILL BUY ANY QUILTED SKI

Jacket in store. Values to $19.95. Ivy Hall, 705 S. Crouse Ave., call 478-3304.

VALENTINES — VALENTINES — VALENTINES!

Gay ones, tender ones, screams funny ones. Relative ones, huge lacy ones, candy ones. Special for birthdays, ill. and anniversary. BOOKSTALL.

1960 TRIUMPH TR-3. Fire engine red, w/wire wheels, white walls, radio, heater, rear seat and racing mirrors. Exc. condition. First $1050. GI. 4-2300.

1960 ANGLIA (English Ford) Deluxe. Only 20,000 miles. whitewalls, custom radio, heater, white with red interior. 30 mi. per gal. Top inside and out. Must sell. $750.00 or best offer. Contact Don, 478-4729 after 6 P.M.

SHE'S THE CUTEST! our snow-white fur VALENTINE SNID, topped with a sexy red satin bow with verse in box. All other color SNIDS, too. BOOKSTALL.

I LOVE YOU! never better better translated than by Browning's—"Sonnetts from the Portuguese". "Rubaiyat," "Love is You," Emily Dickinson Poems. "Love is a Poem." Each in handsome $1.00-Editions. BOOKSTALL. GR 8-3464.

SOMETHING FOR THE BOYS! Luxury Valentines. Finest silk and high styled FRNST Ties from California. Hand made enamel sterling and copper Tie Tacks! ENGLISH LEATHER face lotions, powder, soap. Singly or sets. BOOKSTALL. 147 Marshall St.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students

TWO BLOCKS FROM FIELDHOUSE

225 Lorraine Ave. Modern 4-room up per. 2 bedrooms. Large closet, brick cupboards, refrigerator and stove. Picture window, living room and kitchen ceramic tile bath. private parking area on bus line. Available immediately. $115 NE 8-0497. GR 6-1473.

APARTMENTS FOR RENT. Two room with bath. 411 S. Crouse Ave. Call 476-7188 after 1 p.m.

ROOM FOR MALE STUDENT or hospital worker. Kitchen privileges. 733 Livingston Ave. GR 9-9762.

FURNISHED, HEATED, 6 rooms, 3 bed rooms, suitable group, near park, and bus. GR 2-2406.

EUCLID AVE. DOUBLE AND SINGLE

Also want one boy to share room $9.00 to $12.50 weekly. Kitchen privileges. 474-2634.

3-RM. APARTMENT. Heated, fresh pain University section. Very inexpensive. Furnished or unfurnished. GI 6-174 or 446-8527.

2 BLOCKS FROM stadium. Newly decorated 6 room flat. Gas heat. Garage $90.00 Day's GR 8-3151 Evenings GR 6-7721.

CLOSE TO UNIVERSITY in Westcott shopping area. 2 bedroom lower flat. Garage. Heated. Children accepted. $90. GR 2-0675.

WANTED

STUDENTS, male-female. Earn up to $50.00 per week. Telephone sales work, hours flexible. Call Mr. Manley. GR 1-6678.

RIDERS TO PROVIDENCE, R.I. wanted. Leaving 2/14 return 2/16. Call Gwen GR 5-3616.

MEN — We need four or five men on a part-time basis from now till finals. Excellent income and experiences. Call 472-6356.

Through arrangements with the

BARRICINI

CARD & PARTY CENTER,

we have a supply of BARRICINI Valentine Candy as well as a complete selection of Hallmark and Leading Contemporary Lines of Valentine Cards.

Varsity Camera Shop

804 South Crouse Avenue

(next to Varsity Restaurant)

'Cuse Juice

By RON ROBERTS

If you were one of the 1,111 in attendance at last Saturday's wrestling match with Army, you've got to admit that at least a little apprehension slipped into your mind when the 260-pound Ed Cate ambled out for the heavyweight bout and kind of hovered over Jim Nance.

Cate is the type of West Pointer who won't have to remind anyone to call him "Sir" after he is commissioned.

Nance showed his own humble respect to the giant-sized fieldhouse guest. He gave him a quick tour of the Manley wrestling mat, then provided him with an excellent view of the fine fieldhouse lighting.

Just two minutes and 44 seconds after the opening whistle had blown, Cate had become Bo's 69th consecutive victim—40 in high school and 29 at Syracuse.

As big Ed picked his massive frame up off the floor (the most strenuous exercise he had in the match), he shrugged his shoulders—all four of them—in a helpless "What could I do?" gesture to Cadet coach Leroy Alitz.

But Alitz, who has coached Army grapplers for the past nine years, had no words of consolation for his fallen monster. Cate had lost, and in the West Point philosophy, as demonstrated by Alitz, that's all that mattered.

Maybe it is this philosophy that makes Army athletic teams among the "dirtiest" and most unsportsmanlike in the college ranks. And coaches like Alitz are strictly "bush."

The Cadets' Bob Robbins had a particularly tough opponent Saturday in Syracuse's talented Terry took an important decision for the Orange, but only after a fine match—Robbins is talented, too, even though he seemed to be using a few "pro-style," typically West Point tactics when the referee was looking the other way.

But Alitz expected a win, and nothing less. He gave no words of encouragement during the match, but only yelled, often derisively, at Robbins.

At one point the West Point wrestler suffered a cramp and time was called momentarily. Alitz didn't move at first, then finally asked the ref: "What's the matter?"

"He's got a cramp," came the reply.

"He's got a mental cramp," retorted Alitz, still not moving.

Finally he walked over to Robbins, who was starting to get to his feet.

"Get back down on the mat," Alitz half-whispered, "I want to talk to you."

Then, as he pumped Robbins leg under the pretense of relieving the cramp, he proceeded to advise Robbins on how to wrestle, and what a miserable job of it he was doing against Haise.

Robbins went back into the match, certainly not inspired by Alitz' tongue-lashing, and finished losing. As he walked off the mat with a dejected and disappointed look on his face, Alitz never looked at him and went on talking to his next wrestler, Mark Scureman.

Scureman teamed with referee John Engel to nip Syracuse's Jim Murrin, and Alitz was willing to say "nice going" to Scureman after the match.

But next came Cadet Ken Carlson against Orangeman John Dussling. At the start of the second period, with the score tied, Carlson wasn't quite ready when John "Never-A-Dull-Moment" Engel blew the whistle. Dussling escaped untouched.

"You gonna officiate the match or wrestle it?" Alitz bellowed at Carlson. "You're not that good."

Carlson got no cheery words after his 4-2 loss, either.

And that's the way it was all afternoon.

And whenever Syracuse grid teams play Army, the Cadets do more than their share of dirty work.

But we like to think that Paul Dietzel shows a bit more humanity than Leroy Alitz.

Piety Hopes Fordham Sixth Straight Victim

By BERNARD MacCALLUM
Sports Editor

The Syracuse University Orangemen will be driving for their sixth win in a row tonight in Manley Field House against a powerful Fordham Ram team.

The varsity tap-off will be at 8:30 p.m. with the Syracuse and Cornell freshman teams meeting at 6:15 p.m.

Fordham, 8-6, lost its last outing to Pittsburgh, 78-70.

The Rams led most of the way with the score tied at 68-68 before the Panthers pulled away at the finish.

The visitor's 8-6 record includes victories over Rhode Island, Yale, Columbia, Dartmouth, Iona, Rutgers, Canisius and Wagner.

Jill Maanhardt, at 6-4 and 15.1 points per game, will team up in the Pitt backcourt with Wayne McGuirt, 5-11 with an 11.5 point production average.

A trio of 6-6 forwards will start up front for Fordham. John Stevens, the current leader of the fearsome threesome, will be shadowed by Orange defensive ace Sober Sam Penceal. Stevens has scored over 20 points in each of his last four games. He also is the team's leading rebounder with 10 per game.

The second member of the group is Len Zady, a sophomore with a 10 point average.

Sophomore Joe Fragipane rounds out the crew with a 12 point average. He is second on the squad in hauling down loose basketballs with nine rebounds per contest.

The sixth man on the Fordham team is Mike Fitzgerald who is 6-3.

Orange coach Freddie Lewis will go with the same five that opened against Pitt — Norm Goldsmith, Dave Bing, Chuck Richards, Sam Penceal and Rich Duffy. Goldsmith has been bothered by a back injury but is expected to be ready. Duffy's knee has been given an ok.

Syracuse has been averaging 95.2 points in its last games to put the Orange up among the nation's leaders with a season average of 84.8. The team's field goal shooting percentage of 47.5 is also among the best in the country.

Brown Bows In; Piety Booted Out

By JEFF LAZAR

The 1963-64 edition of the Syracuse University track team journeyed to Philadelphia last Friday night to try to improve their record this year of one first and two thirds.

In the first three races, thus far, the team has been operating with Charley Brown leading off, Ron Bukow running the second leg, Tom Higgins the third, and Cal Evans the anchor leg.

Bukow, however, pulled a muscle in practice and was forced to withdraw from Friday night's competition. Dick Radune replaced him in the Orange lineup.

In the Philadelphia Inquirer

UPI Poll

Team	Points
1. UCLA (32) (19-0)	347
2. Kentucky (3) (17-2)	271
3. Michigan (16-2)	254
4. Davidson (18-1)	204
5. Duke (15-3)	169
6. Wichita (17-4)	148
8. Oregon State (20-3)	104
7. Vanderbilt (17-2)	127
9. Villanova (17-2)	100
10. Texas Western (18-2)	59
Second -0-11, Loyola Ill.
25; 12, Oklahoma State 23; 13, Utah 18; 14 DePaul 14; 15 tie, Drake and Ohio State 5; 17, Illinois 7; 18, New Mexico 5; 19 tie, Bradley, Utah State and Texas A&M 3.

Meet, Syracuse was pitted against three formidable opponents in NYU, Fordham, and Virginia State.

On an unusual track where there are three laps to the quarter mile instead of the customary two and three-fourths, the Orangemen placed second behind NYU only to have their fine showing go for naught as they were disqualified. It was a disputed call as a Fordham runner tried to pass up Radune on the inside, and was nudged while the lead was being attempted to be protected.

Brown led off with a time of 51.6; he was followed by Higgins in 51.8; Radune in 52.0; and Evans in 49.8. The total time of the race was 3:25.4, 2.4 seconds behind NYU. Fordham had a time of 3:26.7; and Virginia State finished with 2:27.6, their best race. Thursday night, the harriers will resume competition in the New York A.C. Meet held at Madison Square Garden. Two of their opponents will be Villanova which perennially sports a rugged team and Georgetown.

DAVE BING

Orange Falls To P. State In Fencing

By BOB KRENGEL

Penn State lured the Syracuse University fencers to its home grounds, and then proceeded to smash the Orange 21-6, on Saturday afternoon. It was the second loss for the Dakomen, after an opening win over Hobart.

It seemed as if the loss was ordained by fate, as twelve of the matches were lost by only one touch. The Nittany Lions scored the final touches to ruin the day for SU. Two major disappointments were the performances of Harvey Schulman and Stu Hollander.

Last year, each had won all three of his matches, but this meet they failed to win at all.

The outcome of the meet was determined early as Penn State jumped out to a commanding lead. The late surge by the Orangemen was led by Klint Wigren, Marv Stone, Bill Schell and co-captain Les Monastory.

Coach Alexander Dako was mystified by his squad's showing. "We lost to Cornell 14-13 while they were defeated 17-10. I really thought we would do much better." The Coach also said that he was sure of an improvement for the upcoming RIT Utica-Syracuse match next Saturday at 1 p.m. in Archbold Gym.

While the varsity was having its troubles, the freshmen fencers gave reason to hope for success next season. Richard Beyer, Bruno Schmidt, Jack Barman, Noel Danto, Pete Kraus and Gary Damast have been outstanding in Tangerine matches.

BEAT
FORDHAM

New Pledges

As rush concludes to jubilant sisters and pledges greet one another. The pledges, upon receiving their bids, were honored with dinners at their sororities.

Pledging

IFC Sees Pledging Rise

By CAROL RUBRIGHT

Greek reaction to the unprecedented low pledge totals revealed Wednesday was mixed, but all Inter-Fraternity Council officials agreed that "drastic changes" have to be made in IFC rush rules.

IFC president George (Skip) Stanger told the DO Wednesday that "270 pledges is not an especially alarming number." He said that at least 75 more men to pledge during the next few weeks if open rush.

"Rush will be open until the end of the term," he said. If the freshmen this year follow the trend of last year's frosh, there will be at least as many pledges, in total, as last year.

"The low number of pledges is alarming" according to Arthur Perschetz (Phi Epsilon Pi), IFC co-rushing chairman. He attributed the number to deferred rush and to lack of communication between frosh and Greek.

Perschetz suggested that the downward trend would continue unless the IFC either eliminates deferred rush and holds rushing in the fall or continues with deferred rush, but eliminates the "no-contact" rules so that freshmen can learn about the Greek system from fraternity men.

"The decrease is principally because of lack of exposure to the Greek system in its natural Rehm, (Acacia), IFC publicity director.

Rehm pointed out that of the 712 freshmen who registered for rush, only 512 made averages high enough to make them eligible for rush.

The effect and extent of dirty rushing, he said, has been overestimated. This view is also held by James P. McMurray, fraternity administrator.

"There were only 10-15 percent of the houses in any way involved in dirty rushing," McMurray said, "and this is only rumored."

McMurray said that a single cause for the general decline in fraternity membership cannot be pinpointed. "The fraternities must learn to adjust to the deferred pledge system which is here to stay," he said.

An IFC rush revision committee is presently devising new rush rules which will be presented to the council in March.

Sorority Totals Continue Decline

By M.L. WRIGHT

The rush is over, women. Briefly. And 340 Syracuse freshmen pledged during Panhellenic's first open rush period, compared to 342 coeds who pledged in 1963.

While over 80 percent of the freshman class registered for rush, the number represents the lowest total of those who pledged in the past three years.

Four Jewish tradition houses gained more pledges than did any Christian tradition house, with Alpha Epsilon Phi and Iota Alpha Pi both gaining 30 pledges.

Jewish tradition houses averaged 19.7 frosh per pledge class, while the Christian tradition houses gained only 11.2 pledges.

A large number of freshman rushees dropped rush because they failed to make the required 1.0 average.

While the formal bid lists have been announced, those houses which did not fill their quota during formal rush may choose to open bid over the weekend. Any freshman who signed up for formal rush may be bid by a sorority during open bidding.

Panhellenic will contact those rushees whom sororities may wish to bid. The rushee must then accept or reject the bid by noon Monday.

Because of the new open bidding system, the silence period between sorority women and rushees has been extended through Monday.

Number of Houses		Number of Pledges
2	30	3	9
1	26	1	8
1	24	3	7
1	22	1	4
1	21	1	2
1	18	1	0
1	7
1	16
1	15
1	14
1	13
1	12
2	10

Minstrels Concert To Offer Variety

The New Christy Minstrels, who will appear at 8:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 23 at the Manley Field House, come from diverse backgrounds.

Gayle Caldwell, 21, was one of seven sisters. While majoring in music at the University of Southern California, she sang at local coffees. She toured with the Roger Wagner Chorale and held feature roles in several musicals.

Barry McGuire, a native of Oklahoma City, moved at the age of ten to San Pedro, Calif., where he worked on fishing boats. He was discovered as a singer by Peggy Lee.

Jackie Miller, the other female member of the troupe, majored in music and drama at Brigham Young University. Her hobby is collecting old banjos.

Barry Kane was born in Russia during World War II. He speaks several languages and was educated in Beverly Hills, Calif.

Nick Woods, a California native (continued on page 6)

'Career Day' Series Opens

Careers in business will be the theme of a series of seminars, beginning at 7:30 p.m. today in the Women's Building. The purpose of the seminars is to help students choose their major course of study and their business electives.

Seminars are to be conducted in the fields of accounting, statistics, and combination law by the chairmen of the departments involved, and will feature guest speakers from local industry. Guest speakers slated to appear include James P. Scott, a partner in Lybrand, Ross Brothers, and Montgomery and Paul Giers, comptroller of Vega Industries, Inc.

Planned to run 45 minutes, each seminar will provide time for an informal question and answer period.

It is hoped that liberal arts students will also attend to discover how business courses might help them.

Former Political Science Head Earle Ketcham Dies in Florida

Dr. Earle H. Ketcham, Syracuse University political science professor emeritus, died late Tuesday in Winter Park, Fla. He was 73 years old.

A member of the SU faculty since 1925, Ketcham was chairman of the political science department from 1956 to 1959, the year he retired.

During his years on the Hill, Ketcham played an active role in the development of citizenship, constitutional law, international law and jurisprudence courses. His specialty was international law and legal theory.

At the time of Ketcham's retirement, Chancellor William P. Tolley said:

"Your retirement means the loss to Syracuse University of an outstanding teacher, counselor and friend who—in his own quiet and unassuming fashion—has given to the institution, its faculty and its student body, and to the community, 34 years of loyal and inspired service. He spent the winters in Florida and lived with his sister, Miss Hazel Ketcham, in Tully during the summer.

DR. EARLE KETCHAM

Ketcham was born in Grand Rapids, Mich. He served as a first lieutenant in the 37th division in France and Belgium during World War I.

The professor emeritus received his Ph. B. from the University of Chicago in 1921, M.S. from the University of Michigan in 1923 and Ph.D. from the University of Illinois in 1925.

Before coming to Syracuse, he taught at Illinois and the University of Oklahoma.

He contributed many articles to the Illinois Law Review, North Carolina Historical Review, American Journal of Ethics and American Society of International Law.

Ketcham was a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity, Phi Delta Phi professional law fraternity, American Political Science Assn., American Society of International Law and American Association of University Professors.

Sculpture Contest Set

The annual snow sculpture contest will take place Feb. 21 as part of the Winter Weekend festivities. The contest will be open to all living centers and campus organizations.

Trophies will be awarded at the Stockingfoot dance and will be based on originality, craftsmanship and correlation with the theme of the weekend, "International Snowtime." Entries must be designed to represent some international symbol or concept.

Applications are due by Feb. 19. For further information, contact Jim Marshall, ext. 2569.

Rush Circle: A Problem

People join social fraternities and sororities for a number of what we thought were obvious reasons, mainly connected with the pleasures of close friendships and or an active social life. However, this year the hopes of the Greeks have gone askew on the Hill.

For two weeks the fraternity men and sorority women have charmed and tried to sell their individual houses to the green freshmen. But the results do not reflect their labors.

It seems as if the freshmen class at SU didn't want to buy any Greek wares, and if they did only in small doses.

The sorority women on the Hill have pledged totals equal with last year's figures, but the results, for the majority of houses, are not overwhelming. Something has gotten clogged in the works of the Greek program — be it failures on the side of the Greeks or in the outlook of the freshmen women who rush.

The cries of discrimination were abolished by Panhellenic this year as they established a total rush program. Although a bit tiring and at times exasperating, rush was geared to give the frosh a picture of Greek life, from every view.

And in this goal Panhel succeeded.

But the freshmen naively went about their prior plans and looked at the Greek system through a "rose looking-glass" whose image was far from clear.

When explicitly warned by Panhel not to place suicide bids for one house, a large number of girls went ahead with the fatal plan. Therefore, where it was possible to place many more girls in houses, the hands of the Preference Committee were tied.

It seems hard to comprehend how freshmen can ignore warning for their own good, but it is likewise hard to comprehend why the sororities can't seem to find a way to sell a system and end the suspicion and bickering for the two week period.

Perhaps the only solution is the abolition of all Greek houses on the Hill. But a more realistic solution would be a careful re-evaluation of the rush system, both by freshmen and by the sororities.

Freshmen women must be informed about the Greeks long before they arrive at SU. An informal circular might be helpful and perhaps a full, descriptive article in the Summer Orange.

As only an informed public can react properly on the events of the day, so only an informed rushee can react and judge accurately the Greek system.

Not to absolve the freshman from all areas of this discussion, let it be known that the young women who come to this campus must realize that the world isn't all roses and sugar water. Let the frosh women at SU realize the Greek system is a microcosm of the world and that it must be evaluated not through labels or material data, but through the people who make it live and the ideals it stands.

Without these necessary changes the machine will never function with ease and the clogs will always halt production.

Our World

YAFF in Retrospect

By Gordon Beadle

Since it has become the style in recent weeks to view people and events in retrospect, it is perhaps time to turn our attention to the defunct SU chapter of the Young Americans For Freedom. During the 1962-63 school year those sturdy, 150 percent Americans brought speakers to the campus, organized debates, put up posters from one end of the university to the other, and ferreted out more dangerous liberals, pinks, and fellow travelers than the McCarthy Commission.

Due perhaps to our dangerous leftist tendencies, many of us often found their arguments vague and their position inconsistent. They tended to glorify the atheistic objectivism of Ayn Rand and at the same time bitterly condemned Chief Justice Earl Warren's stand on the school prayer decision. While opposed to the tyranny of communism, they seemed to condone the absolutism of Batista, Syngman Rhee, Franco, and Chiang Kai-shek to such a degree that their critics labeled them rather unkindly as Young Americans For Fascism. Perhaps the high point was reached when one YAFF speaker, Du Berrie, an entergetic French journalist from North Dakota, went so far as to defend absolute monarchy, the OAS, and even the Spanish Farouk, Alfonso XIII. It will be remembered that it was often said in Spain of Alfonso XIII that the incredible number of illegitimate children he hostered around the countryside precluded the necessity of portraits to perpetuate his memory.

But if their position often appeared a little strange or inconsistent and their speakers a trifle absurd, they never bored us and by June of 1963 YAFF seemed to have been established as an institution and a permanent source of humor and inspiration on the Syracuse campus. Thus it was that it came as a surprise that, with the rising popularity of Senator Goldwater and a general increase in right wing lunacy in the United States, YAFF appeared to have vanished from the campus by the fall of the present school year and nothing has been heard of them since.

What has happened to those super patriots? Have they been foully done in by agents of the Kremlin lurking in the halls of the Maxwell School? (It would perhaps come as a surprise to Dean Bailey to know that he presides over an institution referred to in YAFF circles as "The Little Red Schoolhouse" and "The Maxwell School of Citizenship.") Have they gone underground to gather information about the "subversive" activities of Earl Warren, Adlai Stevenson, and the United Nations? Are they on winter maneuvers with the Minutemen in Illinois? Have they melted into the Young Conservatives, the John Birch Society, or the Ku-Klux Klan? No one seems to know or care.

Since the YAFF episode at Syracuse now seems to be closed, it would perhaps be appropriate to end by attempting to sum up what the organization stood for and speculate on the causes of its rather sudden demise. Here one is at a loss. Looking back, it is now difficult to remember just where they stood on anything with the exception of their fanatical hatred of communism and even there the YAFFers and their adult patrons were strangely vague on the question of specific Cold War tactics to be employed to combat the menace. There was also the highly emotional commitment to "traditional American values," but no one in the organization seemed to know anything about these "traditional American Values" except that they were in grave danger.

As a group, they appeared on the surface to represent a fairly typical sampling of collegiate America with respect to background, intelligence, and education. If there was any single unifying factor among the members of YAFF it was a deep seated resistance to change that was accompanied by an irrational fear for the future. As young as they were, it sometimes seemed as though they had been dragged kicking and screaming into the twentieth century.

As for the causes of their eclipse, it may have been due to lack of funds or lack of dynamic leadership, but more likely it may be attributed to a rather pronounced resistance to extremist organizations on the Syracuse campus. It may be hoped that this apparent lack of enthusiasm for political organizations of the extreme right or the extreme left will be reflected in the rest of the nation as the generations of the future mature.

LETTERS

Court

To the Editor:

Although I too was momentarily infuriated by the statement reportedly made by the chief justice of the student court, that persons brought before the court are assumed to be guilty before the trial starts and therefore do not need a defense lawyer, I was not seriously upset by it. For according to the article that I read several months ago, this doesn't really matter in the end. All the cases that this court handles have really been tried in the Dean's office already, and the ones that the Dean perceives as guilty are sent to the court to have punishment inflicted on them.

Therefore, obviously the court is not defined by the administration as the usual kind of court that we are familiar with in this country at all, but rather a sort of play-government session in citizenship, or maybe a fine collection agency.

The fact that the court is allowed to diddle with the degree of punishment within a range carefully prescribed by the administration does not do much to make it a real court in my eyes.

Therefore, I submit that given this hypocritical setup, no breach of conventional legal procedure was in fact accomplished by the statement of the chief justice, but that the only error anywhere is in the name given to this little group of yes men by the administration.

A better plan, far better, would be to have certain offenses handled entirely from one end to the other by the court, with prosecution, defense and result being contained within the judicial body, with the more serious crimes and offenses left in the hands of the Dean who no connection at all with the court. This way the court's action, though limited, would be real and honest, and would not act as a loudspeaker for the administration's decisions.

But as things stand right now, let us make no mistake about exactly who the judge really is, when we go on trial in front of that strange, one way institution, the student court.

C. H. Combs
Class of '65

POLICY ON

LETTERS

The letters column is maintained for the expression of opinion by readers. However, the Daily Orange reserves the right to edit letters for grammar and good taste or to reject letters. Letters should be written legibly, preferably typed and no longer than 250 words. All letters must be signed with names and addresses; names will be withheld on request.

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2

February 13, 1964

Editor-In-Chief
Business Manager

Allan T. Kort
Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor: Clayton J. Richards
News Editor: Andrew Porter
Editorial Director: Adam Daline
Sports Editor: Bernard McCullum
Arts Editor: Rex Turt
Production Editor: Steve Schwimmer

BUSINESS STAFF

Asst. Bus. Mgr.: Jon Weisberg
Layout Managers: Martha Johanski, Eileen Lahr
National Ad. Mgr.: Lynn Mandel
Classified Mgr.: Christine Sedrak
Promotion Mgr.: Stu Shapiro

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 200 Brookfield Drive Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter at U. S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

TREVER ON CAMPUS

Drama

"Six Characters"

By JAY ZELERMYER

Maybe Pirandello knew what he was talking about. Maybe in the theatre the truth is good only up to a point. Maybe the audience, as well as the production, is more interested in being entertained by stereo-typical figures and images than in the excitement of discovery and insight.

And maybe, indeed, the theatre might wisely concentrate on rehearsing and producing its little farces and melodramas, and permit and compel reality to suffer in only its off-stage solitude.

And maybe not. But if not, then, sadly, something was missing from the production of Pirandello's "Six Characters in Search of an Author" that played the Regent Theatre Monday night.

For the play, first performed more than forty years ago, argues strongly against the theatre's self-indulgence in stereotypes, and its reluctance to treat of reality.

What is at stake here is the characterization of the director. Should he be played as the stock image of the off-Broadway director, complete with beard and effeminate waves of the hand, or not? The former was what we saw Monday night, and it was in some sense a crime.

Unless the director is portrayed with some essential strength, with some real force, and unless he presents, more than nominally, a real threat to the direction in which the six characters, particularly the father and the daughter, must travel, the basic clash, the almost-to-the-death struggle will be missing; and it was.

Granted, the house at the Regent was as full as I have ever seen it, and granted, the audience thoroughly enjoyed the performance. But something, the clear and present danger of this basic clash between the forces representing ideals of reality and illusion, was missing.

One other complaint: the staging of the acting company must be so well done and so naturalistic that I am not aware of it. And even suspending my knowledge of the fact of staging, I was almost constantly aware of what Director Mark Healy was doing, and why.

But: the play itself, while too discursive in spots, is a marvel and a joy to watch; the performances, for the most part, were solid, and well realized, particularly, I think, Jack Dodson as the father, and Barbara Colby as the step-daughter.

The evening was certainly worthwhile; we should be grateful to the Regent and to the Circle-in-the-Square for bringing it to us. But let us not be overawed; and let us hope, in the future, for productions that practice what their playwrights preach.

W A E R

88.3 mc

THURSDAYS

- 4:00 Sign On, News, WAER Highlights
- 4:15 Experiment in Music
- 6:00 World of the Paperback
- 6:15 Communique
- 6:30 Dan Stone and the News
- 6:45 Orange Spotlight
- 7:00 Sounds of Literature
- 7:30 Zientz-Torman Report
- 8:00 Great Decisions
- 8:30 The 8:30 Report
- 8:45 Sweet and Swaine's
- 9:00 Syracuse
- 9:30 Baroque Concert Hall
- 10:45 Late Night Report
- 11:00 Broadway Showtime
- 12:45 Headlines and Sign Off

We Carry Garment Leather and Suedes in high fashion colors for making your own:

VESTS JACKETS PATCHES
SKIRTS SWEATERS COULOTTES

Leather is very economical (the cost of an average vest is approximately $6.50)

TANDY LEATHER CO.

353 E. Onondaga St.

HA 2-9181

SKI BUSES TO CORTLAND - SATURDAYS

GREEK PEAK

ROUND TRIP - $2.00

TIMETABLE

Syracuse-Oswego Station	8:00 a.m.
DeWitt Sports	8:20 a.m.
Bob Casey's	8:30 a.m.
SLOCUM HALL	8:45 a.m.
Arr. at Greek Peak	9:55 a.m.
Ret. from Greek Peak	4:15 p.m.

SNOW REPORTS AND INFORMATION
CALL GR 8-6916

Pizza Party

A pizza party for women in the College of Business Administration will take place at Jean Davies' home on Sunday. All women should meet at 3:15 p.m. in the lobby of Slocum Hall for rides.

THE "BOOKSTALL"

147 Marshall Street

Fascinating Gifts, Fine Stationery, Fabulous Cards

38 Years by the Campus

Your Friendly Alumni Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow

BERT'S RENT A CAR

2 OFFICES - Fay and Rte. 11
Thompson and Molloy

COMPARE
OUR CAR PRICES!

$4.95 per Day

5¢ per Mile

Phone HE 7-8909 - HE 7-8797 -

Many Other Plans to Choose From
FREE PICKUP - Join Our Unlimited Mileage Plan
$35 Minimum Deposit
Student I. D. Required

Daily Crossword Puzzle

- ACROSS
- 1 Finishing line.

5 Headgear.

9 Use a muddler.

13 Of sound.

14 Skip.

15 Flat plinth.

16 Originate.

17 Youth: 2 words.

19 Experts: 2 words.

21 Negative voter.

22 Farm dog's name.

23 Sometime bonnet dweller.

24 Lids.

26 Departure.

29 Tasty.

32 Rose.

35 Hilly region of Morocco.

37 Six on a die.

38 Byron's tragic hero.

40 Kind of palm.

42 Diminutive suffix.

43 Maxim.

45 Chargers.

46 Pronoun.

48 17th century Asiatic.

50 Community groups.
- 52 Farm crop.

53 Rivers: Sp.

57 Exclamation.

59 Drubbings: Slang.

62 Bucolics.

64 Cerulean.

65 Josip Broz.

66 Some votes.

67 Certain Frenchmen.

68 Road sign.

69 Ibsen character.

70 Olympian god.
- DOWN
- 1 Scripture.

2 Egyptian herb.

3 Verb tense: 2 words.

4 Elementary: Abbr.

5 Thrown about.

6 Neophyte.

7 "...and he went a crooked —"

8 Outset.

9 Sward.

10 Become known.

11 There is: Fr.

12 Cheerful.

13 Camp signal.

18 British decorations.

20 Homes.

25 Dairy apparatus.

27 Dry: Prefix.

28 Wife of Thor.

30 Glace.

31 Letters.

32 Duck.

33 Hippocratic —

34 Appetizer.

36 Mussolini's symbol.

39 Hoover or Norris.

41 To the — degree.

44 Redstart or yellowthroat.

47 Nimbus.

49 African lake: Var.

51 Type of plastic.

54 Accustom.

55 Fairy tale characters.

56 Compass points.

57 Apartments: Abbr.

58 "— to the Chief."

60 Irish county.

61 Bark cloth.

63 Kind of rope.

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR - MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

As usual miss take-a-ski-special 1/3

off

BALANCE OF STOCK

167 Marshall St.

Be My Valentine?

Attention all campus lovers! Don't forget that card, gift or phone call Friday for St. Valentine's Day. Here JOAN VANDER

MINDEN and DO Photography Editor STEVE SCHWIMMER remind us to have a big heart this February 14.

Panhel Approves Open Bid System

A proposal for a system of open bidding to freshman rushers who did not pledge during the regular formal rush period was approved Tuesday evening.

Under the open bidding system any rusher who did not pledge during formal rush may be bid by sororities. The sorority will contact Panhellenic, giving the names of girls whom they wish to bid, and Panhellenic will contact the rusher and extend the bid some time between Friday and Sunday.

The rusher must then accept or reject the bid by noon Monday.

Because of the extended bidding period, the silence period between sorority women and freshman rushers will continue through Monday.

Informal rush, for both freshmen and upperclasswomen will be held Feb. 24-March 2. All coeds wishing to informal rush should sign up 1-5 p.m. Wednesday, in the Panhellenic office.

Anyone who did not sign up for formal rush either in the fall or for Freshman rush should bring the $3 registration fee.

The Panhellenic Luncheon will be held at 12:30 p.m. March 7, in the Hotel Syracuse. Dr. Frank P. Piskor, vice president for academic affairs and dean of faculties, will be the speaker.

WINTER WEEKEND

The Winter Weekend committee will meet at 9:30 p.m. Thursday at Sigma Kappa sorority, it was announced by Norman Begun, publicity chairman for the weekend, set for Feb. 21-23.

PEERLESS PRESS, Inc.

PRINTERS

1112 E. Fayette Street
Between University &

COMPLETE PRINTING SERVICE

at your doorstep
GR 6-6051

Bernie Manheim's BON-TON

SEAT COVERS

• Kier Plastic
• Baran Plastic
• Nylon
• Fiber

FREE INSURANCE
ESTIMATES

Give a Bon-Ton Gift Certificate

Hickok Auto Seat Belts

BOAT TOPS, COVERS
and WINDSHIELDS

CONVERTIBLE
TOPS To Fit
All Cars

BON-TON

420 Erie Blvd., East

OPEN
Daily 9 A.M. to 9 P.M.
Mon. - Fri. 'til 9 P.M.
PH. GR 6-3107
GR 6-3031

Center Offers Program

The university Computing center who have had no previous programming experience. The center will offer an informal short course in FORTRAN programming for the IBM 7070, beginning Monday and continuing Wednesday, Friday and the following Monday.

The sessions will be held 1:40 — 6:30 p.m. each day in 116 Machinery Hall.

The last two sessions will be devoted to the PEST system and FORMAT statements and will be of interest to those who already know FORTRAN. The sessions are primarily for those

TRAFFIC COURT SET

Traffic Court will meet from 4-6 p.m. today in the Security Police office, building 19. Any member of the university community who wishes to appeal a paid SU traffic violation ticket is welcome. A bursar's receipt of the money paid is required.

... We don't rent skis

... But we'll get you to the slope!

MIDTOWN CAR RENTAL
476-4281

European Group Jet-Flights 5 DEPARTURES!!

For Students, Faculty and Staff of Syracuse University
All flights will be operated by leading scheduled member airlines of the International Air Transport Association.

SPECIAL LOW ROUND-TRIP FARES!

- | | |
|---|----------|
| 1. Leave New York June 8th to Paris
Return September 7th from Paris | $356.00 |
| 2. Leave New York June 10th to Amsterdam
Return August 17th from Paris | $356.00 |
| 3. Leave New York June 10th to London
Return August 19th from Lisbon | $341.00 |
| 4. Leave New York June 17th to Zurich
Return September 8 from Geneva | $380.00 |
| 5. Leave New York August 3rd to Zurich
Return September 9 from Zurich | $380.00 |
| 3. Leave New York June 10th to London | $341.50 |

* Since the Group Air Fares require a minimum participation of 25, operation of the above flights are subject to this consideration.

Syracuse University is neither the Sponsor of, nor in any way associated with the above group flights.

FOR INFORMATION AND RESERVATIONS CALL

Benno Wymar, (Former President of International Student Organization)

476-2178

* Fares subject to Government approval.

Tops in Class

Pre-Med Student Honored

By CHARLES STEINBERG
Associate Editor

At many American universities, possibly including Syracuse, the most widely recognized and celebrated undergraduates are the athletes. However, the accomplishments of "Saturday's gridiron heroes" are in reality insignificant compared to the endeavors of other students at the university.

To meet this problem, the Daily Orange will this semester attempt to focus more attention on those students whose achievements constitute significant contributions toward the more basic purposes of the university.

SU's Department of Chemistry annually identifies such students through the presentation of several awards.

The winner of this year's Spencer Award for "outstanding achievement in organic chemistry" is: Harvey B. Etess, a junior pre-medical student majoring in chemistry.

To win the award, Etess ranked first academically in a class of 250 students taking Chemistry 150 a and b (Organic Chemistry) under Prof. Donald Botteron last year.

Etess also copped the companion Justus Von Liebig Award given to the student adjudged the most "creative" in the laboratory section of the course.

"The educational opportunities at Syracuse are comparable to any university in the country," Etess insists.

As prime example, this year he is doing university-sponsored research and is taking a course in Advanced Organic Chemistry alongside Ph. D. candidates.

His research project, conducted under Prof. Paul Ruoff, is a study of a little-known-about enzyme called Trehalase. After months of work, sometimes carrying into the small hours of the morning up on the fourth floor, of Bowne Hall where he has been given his own laboratory space, Etess recently successfully isolated the enzyme.

The enzyme has been linked to malignant cancer growths. This semester Etess is working to determine the reactions and specificities of the enzyme.

Etess says he plans to eventually practice medicine and conduct medical research.

Last semester, in addition to his research project his schedule read: Quantitative Analysis, Physical Chemistry, Biochemistry, Fine Arts and General Physics. His cumulative grade point average is 2.6.

Student Research

Hill Chemistry major Harvey Etess holds sample of enzyme trehalase which he successfully isolated last semester. The research project was sponsored by the University.

Etess says he must spend at least 35 hours per week studying to keep up with his courses. "Keeping up with your assignments is important," he advises "so that you may learn and understand instead of must memorize and cram for the exam."

The key to his success, he says, is that he is simply "genuinely interested" in his studies.

ON SALES CLOSE

Today is the last day to purchase on Onondagan. Don't be left out in the cold. The yearbook is an important record of your college life. It's monetary price is insignificant compared to its meaning for you as you recollect your college years. If you cannot obtain one from your ON reps then go to the ON office prefab 7B. Today all money and stubs must be brought in! The reps will be held responsible for all money and stubs that cannot be accounted for.

ANNOUNCING OUR ANNUAL SKI SALE

20% to 50% OFF
ON SKI CLOTHING

There is a selected group of Equipment also on sale.

Lunds
SKI SHOP

738 SO. CROUSE
GR 5-7224

KNIT NOOK

The Finest in IMPORTED YARNS
To Make Great
SKI SWEATERS

AT DISCOUNT PRICES

2 COMPLETE STORES

DOWNTOWN DEWITT
824 S. Salina GR 1-1817 8250 Erie Blvd. GI 6-6317

AVAILABLE AT THE
UNIVERSITY HILL MUSIC BOX
BEAUTY and the BEARD

SALE 2.97 Mono 3.98 Reg.

3.77 Stereo 4.98 Reg.

OWNED AND OPERATED BY SU STUDENTS

University Hill
MUSIC BOX

754 So. Crouse

475-4116

Save on Records at University Hill Music Box

BEAUTY and the BEARD

(YOU'LL LOVE THE BLENDING)

When an irresistible force like Ann-Margret meets an immovable object like Al Hirt... POW! You know she can sing but wait 'til you hear him! And with Al on his horn for extra good measure, "Beauty" and "The Beard" make a most happy "Bill Bailey." "Just Because," "Personality" and many more. Get this joyous album today. You'll love it. It's the blend.

RCA VICTOR
The most trusted name in sound

Beauty and the Beard
AL HIRT-ANN-MARGRET

‘Minstrels’

The New Christy Minstrels will be appearing on campus Sunday, Feb. 23 for a concert at the Manley Field House. The concert, sponsored by the junior class in conjunction with Winter Weekend, will begin at 8 p.m. Tickets are currently on sale in the lobby of H.B. Crouse Hall.

MINSTRELS...

(continued from page 1)
tively, is the son of two Missouri folk singers. He has entertained in every possible kind of musical group.

Larry Ralston was discovered during the filming of a movie in his native Hawaii. He is the son of a dance band vocalist. He has toured with several musical companies.

Art Podell, of Brooklyn, has appeared on stage since the age of 13. He attended the Jewish Theological Seminary and has been educated in religious schools.

Clarence Trent hails from Big Flat, Ark., and attended Occidental College. While in school, he became one of Occidental's greatest track stars. He holds secondary teaching credentials in physical education and mathematics.

Gene Clark sang in a choral group in his Kansas City home. He is a former welder, and is the newest member of the singing group.

Jr. Class Appoints Two New Officers

Gerri Porter and Mary Jane Rinzler have been appointed as officers of the junior class, it was announced recently by Carl Corrallo, class president.

Miss Porter was appointed secretary and Miss Rinzler was appointed treasurer, succeeding Penny Shapiro and Jane Tallcott, currently abroad in the semester-in-Italy program.

Miss Porter, of Pittsburgh, Pa. is a member of Sigma Delta Tau sorority. She is a member of Traditions Commission and activities coordinator of Joint Student Government. She has served on her class executive council for three years.

A sociology major, Miss Porter has also served as a senator-at-large in Joint Student Legislature, and was president of her freshman and sophomore dormitory floors.

Miss Rinzler, currently treasurer of Panhellenic, is president of Phi Sigma Sigma sorority. A resident of Baltimore, Md., she is a academics chairman of the junior class.

An English major with a 2.3 cumulative average, Miss Rinzler has served as overall guide chairman for Flint Hall and secretary of the Day Hall standards council.

She was a member of Goon Squad, and is currently a member of Lambda Sigma Sigma, junior women's honorary.

THE BEST DEAL ON FLOWERS

Is At J. ALLEN DEAL, FLORIST

Corner So. Warren & E. Washington

Bonded Member, Florist Telegraph Delivery Assn.

Telephone: HA 2-1219

INTERNATIONAL
CANDY and GOURMET SHOP

has

COOKIES from England Holland Ireland Germany

CANDY Petite Fours Parisiens Chocolate Nougates Ass. Swiss Choc.

FOODS Mexican Delicacies Indian Paptadums Caterpillars Rattlesnake Meat Fried Grasshoppers

And a host of other fine products from the world over

161 Marshall Street

We try harder

AVIS
RENT A CAR

$11.50 For Entire Weekend & $.10 a Mile

501 S. Salina St. 422-4171

Avis rents Fords and other fine cars

SPECIAL

We Are Reducing Our Overstock Of Lavaliers

Reg. Price $5.00

Now Only $2.75

With Chain While They Last

731 S. Crouse Avenue

ALPHA CHI RHO
ALPHA EPSILON PI
ALPHA TAU OMEGA
BETA SIGMA RHO
BETA THETA PI
DELTA KAPPA EPSILON
DELTA TAU DELTA
DELTA EPSILON
KAPPA PHI DELTA
KAPPA SIGMA
LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
PHI ALPHA
PHI DELTA THETA
PHI EPSILON PI
PHI GAMMA DELTA
PHI KAPPA PSI
PHI SIGMA DELTA
PI KAPPA ALPHA PSI EPSILON
SIGMA ALPHA MI
SIGMA CHI
SIGMA SI
SIGMA PHI EPSILON
TAU DELTA PHI
TAU EPSILON PHI
TAU KAPPA EPSILON
THETA CHI
ZETA BETA TAU ZETA PSI
ALPHA CHI OMEGA
ALPHA DELTA PI
ALPHA EPSILON PHI
ALPHA GAMMA DELTA
ALPHA LAMBDA PHI
ALPHA PHI
ALPHA SIGMA TAU ALPHA XI DELTA
CHI OMEGA
DELTA DELTA DELTA
DELTA GAMMA
DELTA PHI EPSILON
GAMMA PHI DELTA
IOTA ALPHA PI
KAPPA ALPHA THETA
KAPPA DELTA
KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA LAMBDA PSI
PHI MU
PHI SIGMA SIGMA
PI BETA PHI
SIGMA DELTA TAU SIGMA KAPPA
ZETA TAU ALPHA

Coming: February 20th

HUGHES announces campus interviews for Electrical Engineers and Physicists receiving B.S., M.S. or Ph.D. degrees. (Mid-Year or June graduates)

Contact your Placement Office immediately to arrange an interview appointment.

Creating a new world with electronics

HUGHES

HUGHES AIRCRAFT COMPANY

COLLEGE PLACEMENT OFFICE

P.O. Box 90515, Los Angeles 9, California

U. S. CITIZENSHIP REQUIRED

An equal opportunity employer.

Food Service Complaints Go Marching On

By AUDREY LIPPMAN

According to one source in Watson dining hall, the only hot part of the meal is the ice cream plate.

And so, the investigation into food service continues under the Joint Student Legislature food service committee and co-chairman Marshall Sheirson.

Reports from the hearings Monday in Graham and Watson dining halls have been tabulated. The girls on Mount Olympus have many complaints, especially about the coffee.

In the morning, the coffee is fair. "If only because you need it at that hour," said one coed. "By noon it's worse and by dinner it's pathetic," she continued.

Breakfast on the Mount was described vividly by the coeds as they told the hearing about the watery eggs and the lack of enough help when girls want to eat breakfast and get to their 8 or 9 o'clock classes.

The students eating in Watson complained of dirty eggs because the grill allegedly was not clean and cold, soggy toast. A similar complaint about the toast was registered by those who eat in Graham.

Diluted juices, lack of hot chocolate after 8 a.m. and no bacon except on Sundays were part of the many complaints from students eating in both dining halls.

The complaint about lunch indicate that students did not rate this meal any higher than breakfast. One Mount Olympus coed described the meal as usually "nauseating." "Even the ketchup is watered down," another coed said.

The lines for lunch are generally bad in both dining halls. Students requested the doors be opened at 11 a.m. instead of 11:15 a.m.

The reasons for this request are that students out of 10 o'clock classes build up the line by 11 a.m., many students have to make 12 o'clock classes and could use the extra 15 minutes to digest their lunch and many doors were not opened on time, making them even later for their classes.

Other lunch complaints included half-frozen pizza, brown lettuce in the salads, and not giving two hot dogs on firsts if they request it which requires students to spend more time in the seconds line.

Watson students especially disliked the dirty glasses and the lack of teaspoons and soup-spoons.

The Mount coeds asked clarification on why fruits and fruit cocktail was allowable on seconds if served as an appetizer but only one helping was allowed if the same items were served as dessert.

Other supper complaints were general including lack of choice on some suppers between corned beef and ham for those Jewish students who will not eat ham or pork, though most students disliked corned beef.

Baked potatoes with sour cream are a popular favorite while students objected to rolled turkey. Both dining halls requested white table cloths on Sundays as "a sign of civilization."

The Mount coeds want to be allowed to wear slacks and hair rollers to dinner on Saturday since they are preparing for dates. If they cannot come informally, many coeds protest they have to miss dinner or be late for their dates.

Hot meat sandwiches with more fat than meat, few salt shakers, no sugar bowls on the tables and only one slice of tomato or bacon for sandwiches rounded out the complaints.

Ushers Needed For Concert

Ushers are needed for the New Christy Minstrels concert Feb. 23. According to Gerri Porter, concert chairman, ushers will receive tickets at a substantially reduced rate.

Students interested in ushering should call Miss Porter, ext. 2640 or Art Perschetz at ext. 2640.

when are 65% and 35%
good marks?

when they're
65% DACRON*
& 35% cotton
in Post-Grad slacks by h.i.s.

This is the fabric combo that makes music with sleek good looks and washable durability. And Post-Grads are the bona fide authentic that trim you up and taper you down. Tried-and-true tailored with belt loops, traditional pockets, neat cuffs. Only $6.95 in the colors you like... at the stores you like.

*DuPont's Reg. TM for its Polyester Fiber

WIN A TRIP TO EUROPE
Pick up your "Destination Europe" contest entry form at any store featuring the h.i.s. label. Nothing to buy! Easy to win! h.i.s. offers you your choice of seven different trips this summer to your favorite European city by luxurious jet. Enter now!

TODAY

4 p.m., WAA basketball, gym A
5:05 p.m., Lutheran Daily Devotions, north wing, Hendricks Chapel
7 p.m., JSL local and national affairs committee, 204 H. Speaker and spring plans will be discussed.
7 p.m., WAA dance production, studio.
7 p.m., "Christian Marriage," St. Thomas More Chapel. Those contemplating marriage this year should attend this class.
7 p.m., Catholic choir rehearsal, 201 Crouse College.
7 p.m., Freshmen, Maxwell Auditorium.
7:30 p.m., European students discussion, Chapel House.
7:30 p.m., Statistics seminar, 305 Women's Bldg.
7:30 p.m., Accounting seminar, recreation room, 110 Maxton room, Women's Building.
7:30 p.m., Freshman Skit Night, Evening Corner, Jean Noble's home, 315 Berkeley Drive. Chair, Fournier, guest speaker, will discuss "Winter Mountain Climbing."
8:15 p.m., Senior class executive council, Women's Building. Check at the main desk for room number.
8:30 p.m., Combination Law seminar, 305 Women's Bldg.
8:30 p.m., Covenant Community, parsonage.
9 p.m., Traditions Commission, Pi Beta Phi.
9:30 p.m., Winter Weekend committee, Sigma Kappa.

Riviera CINEMA
3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. • GR 4-021

To Bed... or not to Bed

Plus
Francois Truffaut's
"The 400 Blows"

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

LIST	CLAWS	VALENTINES
TWO	AREA	IBERIA
MEMORIAL	CREAM	Y
NEGRIASKA	YARTIES
STEFFENS	ONS
FINE	FRA	EBB
LEAPS	SALIHETER
OKAS	USNEA	NADIA
CRISPHEIS	AGLEY
INN	LBS	HEN
LAI	STROPHES
ATTICA	PORTRAIT
THOMAS	ONAHORSE
TODATE	RETE	TEA
SUDSED	TISAIR	EWIND

NEED A CAR? CALL HERTZ

● RENT A NEW CHEVROLET OR
OTHER FINE CAR

● LOW HERTZ RATES INCLUDE EVERYTHING
INSURANCE AND GAS
COMPACT Any Weekend 24 Hr. Period

$5.00 + 9
537 S. Warren
Airport

RESERVATIONS

454-2496

GR 4-6578

GL 4-2311

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	$.85
2 days	1.65
3 days	3.15
4 days	2.40
5 days	3.85
6 days	5.20
7 days	4.55
8 days	5.85
9 days	6.45
10 days	7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.

GREYHOUND TICKETS, schedules, information, bus and air charters. Hotel reservations foreign tours. FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC. in the Savor Monday-Friday 1-4; Thursday night 7-9 476-8533.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired. Rented. Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-8833. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

ACCELERATED 5 lesson course, specializing in parking, traffic, road test. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-4451.

ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lilian M. Potter 207 Comstock Ave. GR 8-5847.

FOR SALE

FREE SOLDERING. all charms bought here. Charms, lovelies, jewelry, watch repair. Greeting cards. Personalized stationery. Valentine gifts and cards. Riviera sunglasses for men and women. Ruth's Gifts, 734 S. Crouse. Introducttory Sale, Crepe de Chine Cologne and Nuit de Longchamp.

$10.00 WILL BUY ANY SWEATER in the store, values to $19.95. Ivy Hall, 705 S. Crouse Ave., call 478-3304.

MEN'S AND LADIES' STRETCH PANTS in colors $6.98. Ivy Hall, 705 S. Crouse Ave., 478-3305.

$10.00 WILL BUY ANY QUILTED SKI Jacket in store. Values to $19.95. Ivy Hall, 705 S. Crouse Ave., call 478-3304.

VALENTINES — VALENTINES — VALENTINES! Gas ones, tender ones, scream funny ones, Relative ones, huge lady ones, candy ones. Special for birthday, ill, and anniversary. BOOKSTALL.

1960 TRIUMPH TR-3. Fire engine red, w/white wheels, white walls, radio, heater, rear seat and racing mirrors. Excellent condition. First $1050. GR 4-2300.

1960 ANGLIA (English Ford) Deluxe. Only 20,000 miles. whitewalls, custom radio, heater, white with red interior. 30 mi. per gal. Top inside and out. Must sell. $750.00 or best offer. Contact 120n, 478-4729 after 6 P.M.

SHE'S THE CUTEST! our snow-white fur VALENTINE SNID, topped with a sexy red satin bow with verse in box. All other color SNIDS, too. BOOKSTALL.

SOMETHING FOR THE BOYS! Luxury Valentines. Finest silk and high styled ERNST Ties from California. Hand made enamel sterling and copper Tie Tacks! ENGLISH LEATHER face lotions, powder, soap. Single or sets. BOOKSTALL. 147 Marshall St.

I LOVE YOU! never better better translated than by Browning's—"Sonnet from the Portuguese", "Rubbaiyat", "Love is You", Emily Dickinson Poems, "Love is a Poem." Each in handsome $1.00 Editions. BOOKSTALL. GR 8-3464.

WANTED

MEN — We need four or five men on a part-time basis from now till finals. Excellent income and experiences. Call 472-6356

PSYCHOLOGICAL testing dept. of Upstate Medical center needs men over 21 who do not wear glasses. Will pay $5.00 for series. Contact Nancy Murphy, 476-7135 after 5 p.m.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students
TWO BLOCKS FROM FIELDHOUSE
225 Lorraine Ave. Modern 4-room up per. 2 bedrooms, large closet, brick cupboards, refrigerator and stove. Picture window, living room and kitchen ceramic tile bath, private parking area on bus line. Available immediately, $115 NE 8-0497, GR 6-1473.

APARTMENTS FOR RENT. Two room with bath, 411 S. Crouse Ave. Call 476-7185 after 1 p.m.

EUCALIDE AVE. DOUBLE AND SINGLE. Also want one boy to share room $9.00 to $12.50 weekly. Kitchen priv. 474-2634.

3-RM APARTMENT. Heated, fresh paint. University section. Very inexpensive. Furnished or unfurnished. GR 6-174 or 446-8527.

2 BLOCKS FROM stadium. Newly decorated 6 room flat. Gas heat. Garage $90.00 Day's GR 8-3151 Evenings GR 6-7721.

BEAUTIFUL MODERN seven room upstairs apartment. Garage, stove, refrigerator, fireplace. Two blocks from Campus. $105. Call 472-1868.

GARAGE to rent. $10 per month. 109 Henry Street. GR 2-2115.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models also sales and service. special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

EXPERT TYPING and proofreading — call Danny at GR 2-6177.

TYPING, TERM PAPERS, ETC. 10 years experience. Reasonable rates. Call GR 8-6182 after 5:30.

TYPING DONE IN MY HOME. Electric typewriter. Call 468-2396.

ORANGE ROUT FORDHAM 83-59

Piety Frosh Hand Cornell
73-61 Defeat

By ART ROSSKY

The streaking Syracuse frosh basketball team scored its sixth straight victory Wednesday night by whipping Cornell, 73-61, at Manley Field House with center Val Reid sitting in the stands with an injured ankle.

Opening the game both clubs shot as though the basket had a lid on it and the score was only 11-11 after 10 minutes of play.

In the later part of the half sub John Lewien netted 10 quick points to pace the Hill to a 33-31 halftime lead. The locals' Rick Dean also chipped in 10 points while the Little Red's Blaine Aston kept Cornell in the running with 11 markers.

Starting the final half, Vaughn Harper's fierce rebounding helped Syracuse open its lead to 39-33 with 17:30 left to play.

Refusing to give up, the Cornell yearlings forged a 39-39 tie with 14 minutes left as Tom Boenread pumped in six consecutive points.

It was nip and tuck for the next four minutes as Harper and the visitors' Reeve Vanneman exchanged baskets as the Piety clung to a 46-45 lead. At 10:30 Dean, Harper and Dick Russo combined to score eight straight points to give the Hill a 54-45 edge, biggest of the night, and put the game in the bag.

Cornell could get no closer than seven points as the Tangerines coasted to victory.

Vaughn Harper's 21 points paced the local attack. Dean, 18, and Lewien, 14, were close behind.

Aston topped the Big Red scorers with 21 while Boenread and Vanneman added 12 apiece.

The Hillmen covered the backboards like a canopy as they took rebounding honors by a home 18 carous while Harper snagged 12 errant shots. Vanneman, a 6-5, 220-pound lad, led the losers with 11 retrieves.

Syracuse boosted its record to 11-3 while Cornell's log dipped to 6-5. Syracuse topped the Little Red for the second time in three tries this season. A fourth game will be played Feb. 25 at Ithaca prior to a varsity clash between the same school.

Box Scores

Syracuse (73)	G	F	P
Dean	6	6	18
Harper	8	5	21
Loll	1	0	2
Russo	3	2	8
Goldstein	4	0	8
Lewien	6	2	14
Ramsdell	0	2	2

Totals	28	17	73
Cornell (61)	G	F	P
Boenread	5	2	12
Dorkal	1	0	2
Dorkal	1	0	2
Aston	10	1	21
Wheeler	1	2	4
Vanneman	4	4	12
Halpern	1	0	2
Gervase	2	0	4
Porea	2	0	4

Totals 29 9 61

NORM GOLDSMITH scored 15 points and pulled down seven rebounds last night in helping the Piety trounce Fordham in the Manley Field House.

Box Score

Syracuse (83)	G	F	T	Fordham (59)	G	F	T
Duffy	1	0	2	Manhardt	7	0	11
Penceal	2	0	4	Zandy	4	0	8
Bing	12	5	29	Stevens	1	5	7
Richards	7	3	17	Frangipane	5	0	10
Goldsmith	6	3	15	McGuirt	7	4	18
Schoff	1	3	5	Fitzgerald	0	0	0
Boehim	4	2	10	Kozimore	0	0	0
Trobridge	0	0	0	Brodbek	0	2	2
Nicoletti	0	1	1	Krasinski	0	0	0
Ableman	0	0	0
Vernick	0	0	0
Totals	33	17	83	Totals	24	11	59

Half Time: Syracuse 39, Fordham 33

Bing Leads Syracuse
Toward NIT Invitation

By BERNIE Mac CALLUM

Led by the amazing play of Dave Bing the Orangemen buried Fordham 83-59 Wednesday night, continuing the Syracuse drive for a National Invitational Tournament berth.

After Fordham had closed a six point halftime gap to tie the Orange at 47-47, Mr. Bing either scored or assisted on the next 18 Syracuse points. The score was deadlocked at the 14:33 mark of the second half, when Bing put in the next ten Orange points to blow the game wide open.

Dave was high scorer with 29 points and eight assists on seemingly impossible passes. He hit on 12 of 16 field goal attempts.

In the locker room after the game Hill coach Fred Lewis called Bing "the best player in the East." (Who's better in the West?)

Lewis and 3,225 fans had just seen the Hill sophomore play one of the greatest games of his career.

The Orangemen outscored the visiting Rams 50-20 in the second half, after leading at the halfway mark 39-33.

Syracuse led by as many as 18 points in the first half as they got off to a fast start with a fast breaking running game. Play got a little sloppy in the second quarter as Fordham fought back.

Syracuse had a .541 shooting percentage from the floor with the Rams hitting at a .353 clip.

Chuck Richards led in rebounds with 10. Norm Goldsmith pulled down seven, Bing six and Jim Boehim six. Joe Frangipane had nine rebounds for the visitors.

The victory moved the Orange closer to a NIT berth as they hit the road for a five game trip.

Fordham coach John Bach is on the tournament selection committee, and should have liked what he saw in the Manley Field House.

NIT entries will be sent to perspective entries Monday. The Orangemen have one game before then, their biggest and toughest of the season Saturday afternoon at Pittsburgh.

A victory there should put Syracuse prominently within reach of an invitation to play in Madison Square Garden in March.

Monday Syracuse plays at West Virginia.

Grid Slate

1964 FOOTBALL
SCHEDULE

Sept. 19	at Boston College
Sept. 26	KANSAS
Oct. 3	at Holy Cross
Oct. 10	U.C.L.A.
Oct. 17	at Penn State
Oct. 24	at Oregon State
Oct. 31	PITTSBURGH
Nov. 7	Army (N.Y.C.)
Nov. 14	VIRGINIA TECH
Nov. 21	at West Virginia

1965 FOOTBALL
SCHEDULE

Sept. 18	at Navy
Sept. 25	MIAMI (FLA.)
Oct. 2	at Maryland
Oct. 9	at UCLA
Oct. 16	PENN STATE
Oct. 23	HOLY CROSS
Oct. 30	at Pittsburgh
Nov. 6	OREGON STATE

State All-Weiss
Ready for Slutzky

By ART ROSSKY

Hill wrestling captain Dick Slutzky, undefeated 157-pounder, faces a stern test Saturday when the Hill matmen travel to University Park, Pa., for a match with Penn State.

Slutzky has notched five dual meet wins this season, including two by pins, as well as a first place in the Coast Guard Tournament.

This weekend Slutzky's opponent will be Greg Weiss, considered a top contender for a crown in the Eastern championships. Slutzky gained runnerup honors in last year's tourney.

Last year Slutzky suffered overall record was 5-2-1-- at the hands of the Pennsylvanians' George Edwards.

Should the Orangemen get by Weiss he'll have little time to celebrate, for on Tuesday Syracuse tangles with Cornell. Among the Big Red standouts is Burlingame, another top contender for Eastern honors in the 157-pound bracket.

Slutzky, of Massapequa, N.Y., was a high school standout before enrolling on the Hill. He was Nassau County 148-pound champion in his senior year.

Following his June graduation, he will serve in the Marine Corps. After his military obligation he hopes to teach physical education or biology and coach wrestling.

Slutzky recalled his greatest thrill as a wrestler was a 3-1 decision in his sophomore year over Army's Mike Natvig, twice an NCAA champion.

Looking ahead to the Eastern Championships the captain feels Syracuse has a good chance of retaining its 1963 team title "if we can get a few individual winners."

The field is "wide open"—no clear cut favorite—he noted.

Next season's team should also be a good one, said Slutzky, with several standouts on the freshman squad.

In '65 the 157-pound entry will be Curtis Kuppinger, a yearling who has looked impressive in practice matches with Slutzky.

Other standout rookies are Tom Schlendorf, a 177-pounder, and Karen "Flex" Raftery, who tips the scale at 123 pounds.

DICK SLUTZKY157 pounder

40 Hill Students Leave for Italy

By JESSE SMITH

The tenth semi-annual exodus to Italy is under way, carrying 40 Hill students abroad to study and live for a semester in Florence. The group, which also includes 15 students from other schools across the country, embarked Feb. 10 and will arrive in Italy Feb. 21.

While crossing the Atlantic aboard the S.S. Constitution, the group will receive intensive instruction in the Italian language.

Harold Vaughn is administrator of the Semester in Italy program, which is sponsored by University College. Vaughn is accompanying this semester's group on the voyage, taking part in supervision and instruction of the students. He plans to fly back to Syracuse March 4 or 5.

The Italian program differs from those conducted in France and Guatemala. In those countries the courses are offered in cooperation with local universities, and students are required to meet standards of language proficiency before joining the program. In Italy, all courses are given by Syracuse University. The language may be learned aboard ship and during the stay in Florence.

Classes are taught in the Villa Rosa, recently acquired by the university. English is used, except in Italian language courses.

According to Prof. Frederick H. Jackson of the romance languages department, the program is intended to give students first-hand knowledge of the area, the people and the language. By learning in a foreign atmosphere, said Dr. Jackson,

WEAVER TALK

Robert C. Weaver, scheduled to deliver Tuesday's Citizenship 1b lecture, will be unable to speak. He is currently involved in housing committee hearings in Washington.

Speaking in his absence will be Joseph Lyford, of the Fund for the Republic, who is currently studying housing in Manhattan.

American students come to understand different sets of values from their own.

Students accustomed to materialistic standards in this country learn to appreciate a foreign point of view—for example, that hot and cold running water is a luxury in Italy, Jackson explained. He added, "How can you tell that this is the greatest country in the world unless you've been someplace?"

Syracuse University students participating in the program this semester are: Fredric Alderman, of Fulton; Sandra Altner, of North Bellmore; Patricia Androsko, of Ithaca; Patsy Auerbach, of Oaklyn, N.J.; David Bailey of Kinderhook.

Also Harvey Baum, of New York City; Bette Brindle, of Amsterdam; Ina Brown, of Brooklyn; Pamela Cantor of Great Neck; Clyde Cawley, of Sharon, Mass.

Also Nancy Copland, of New York City; Barbara Epstein, of Princeton, N.J.; Jean Marie Fontaine, of Pearl River; Lynn Fried, of Whitestone; Mary Gilbert, of Beaver Falls.

Also Kenneth Gilchrist, of Comstock; Janet Glunts, of Merrick; Marcia Goldman, of Westbury; Lynne Hall, of Concord, Mass.; Ralph Hochstein of Brooklyn.

Eugene Inch, of East Meadow; Joan Kemeny, of Syracuse; Barbara Klein, of Newton, N.J.; Peter Kosseff, of Ossining; Diane Lanigan, of Rochester; (See Students, Page 5)

No Action Yet On Rushing

Contrary to rumors on the Hill, no action has been taken against any Hill sorority for infractions of the rushing rules. Dean of Women Marjorie C. Smith told the Daily Orange Thursday.

Dean Smith confirmed that at least one case was pending with the Panhellenic committee and that more may be forthcoming.

Candidates Promise IFC Rush Changes

By CAROL RUBRIGHT

Improvement of InterFraternity Council rush procedures was singled out as the one most important change promised by candidates for next year's IFC executive offices.

The initiation of many new IFC programs was suggested by the three presidential and three vice presidential candidates at the IFC meeting Wednesday.

Gary Rehm (Acacia), running for president with a cumulative average of 1.9 and a record of five semesters in the IFC, stressed the need for cooperation between houses, and with Panhellenic.

"Except for our faulty rush system," he said, "we have one of the best IFC's in the country."

Rehm suggested a cooperative fraternity food-buying system and also emphasized that the IFC must keep out of campus politics.

Michael Polombo (Psi Upsilon) presidential candidate has a 1.4 cumulative average. He promised "more action" in the IFC.

In order to improve pre-rush relations between frosh and upperclassmen, Polombo suggested an IFC weekend in the fall, introducing freshmen to the fraternity system.

Polombo pointed out that the average SU freshman is more academically minded than before. He suggested that the IFC initiate more programs similar to the Scholar Seminar program to attract the new type of freshman.

He suggested internal improvements in the rush system so that men would not cut themselves out. "If we must lose them," he said, "make it at the end; not the middle."

George Van Derven (Alpha Chi Rho) has a 1.5 cumulative average and has served the IFC for two semesters. As presidential candidate he stressed an IFC "united front."

Van Derven suggested an all-fraternity Pinebrook conference (See Candidates, Page 5)

GEORGE VAN DERVEN

MICHAEL POLOMBO

GARY REHM

Butcher Tells of Beefs

By RENEE BRAUN

Many facts about the kind and quality of meat served by Food Service were learned by Marshall Sneider, co-chairman of the food service investigation committee, when he visited the food service butcher shop Wednesday.

The meat purchased by food service is mostly from nationally known companies such as Swift and Armour, according to Sneider. In addition, some meat is obtained from a local Syracuse firm.

The United States government grade choice is the quality of meat bought. The basic three United States grades are prime, choice and good. Meat coming from sheep and poultry is labeled grade A.

Food services meat supervisor informed Sneider that the meat used for hamburgers and meat loaf is 70 per cent meat not the best quality, 25 per cent fat and 5 per cent bread crumbs. Sneider phoned a local butcher shop to determine of what hamburger meat is normally composed. The butcher informed him that there is usually a very small amount of fat, which is needed for cooking.

Food service makes three types of hamburgers: two ounce, three ounce and four ounce. The ones used in the dining halls are the two ounce type. In addition to the dining halls, food service operates the snack bars located in the various dorms and commons. The superintendent did not state whether the old size hamburgers were used in these concessions or not.

Hot dogs served in the dining halls are made by Pilgrim. They are made especially for food service and are not sold in the open market. Hot dogs bought in a super market usually range from 25 to 35 cents a pound. Sneider was able to contact the Pilgrim Meat Company which informed him that if the hot dog bought by food service were sold on the open market they would retail for 45 cents a pound.

In addition to meat, the butcher shop also stores eggs. Medium sized eggs are purchased twice a week, at which time they are already 21 to 48 hours old. Housewives generally purchase large and extra-large eggs for home consumption.

To Complete Doctorate

Clifford to Return to SU This Summer

By CLAY RICHARDS
Managing Editor

Former Syracuse University Dean of Men Earle W. Clifford will return to Syracuse University this summer, not as an administrator, but as a student.

Clifford will return to complete work on a doctorate degree started here over a decade ago. The former SU dean visited the Hill last weekend to set up plans for completing the doctorate work.

The course work on the doctorate has been completed, Clifford explained, only the comprehensive examination and the research and writing of his dissertation remain.

He will work at SU under Dr. Nathan Goldman, associate professor of sociology and anthropology.

Clifford will return in May "and continue until I'm finished, probably August or September," he said. He will write his dissertation on "some area of juvenile delinquency."

The Clifford family will return to the Syracuse area, if summer vacation accommodations can be found.

Accompanying Clifford on the SU visit were a team of Rutgers personnel who spent the weekend looking over Hill housing facilities.

The team, including Rutgers Assistant Treasurer M. Donald Sargent, Associate Dean of Men Howard Frosby, and Director of Housing Joseph Nolan discussed possible programs of development at the Camp Kilmer area recently acquired at Rutgers.

During his weekend at SU

Clifford talked with many Hill student leaders including Joint Student Government President James Morris and Joint Student Court Chief Justice Herbert Lustig. "I also even got a chance to review the past football season with Jim Nance and Henry Heuttner for the first time this year," he commented.

As Dean of Students at Rutgers, Clifford faces many of the same problems he faced at SU. Although no longer dealing with these problems at the disciplinary-operational level, Clifford has been fundamental in the Rutgers decision making on most of these cases.

Civil rights has been one of the main topics of student concern at Rutgers, Clifford commented. Although there has been "nothing close to a student arrest," Clifford said, 50-75 students picketed a lecture on campus by southern Senator Strom Thurmond recently.

Campus CORE and NAACP chapters earlier rallied behind a Rutgers graduate, Donald Harris, who had been jailed in the South while fighting voting restriction laws.

Fraternity scholarship at Rutgers Newark college has seldom been a problem, Clifford pointed out. The system of six houses has consistently won the National InterFraternity Council award for being above the all men's average.

Food service at Rutgers also is the center of campus controversy. Thus far board contracts have not been required of Rutgers students, except for freshmen. Now, with the recent addition of a 3,000 space "Commons," the university has considered requiring upperclass board contracts.

Although the recommendation has not yet received university approval, 150 demonstrators (See Doctorate, Page 4)

What Price Pledges?

So the Greeks have increased their ranks with new pledges, but what was the price?

Rumors have flown back and forth from the hallowed halls of the Dean of Men's and Dean of Women's office to freshmen floors and back to the university community. To date, no one will substantiate these rumors.

But the cases pending before both Panhellenic and InterFraternity Council judiciary councils are still fact. Just who and why is still a mystery.

The sad part of the entire "dirty rush accusations" is the number of innocent freshmen they taunt and the reflection they shed on the entire Greek system.

Last year "dirty rush" charges were few and far between in the fraternities. This year numerous charges have been reported, but few have been substantiated.

Last year, when sorority totals were similar, "dirty rush" charges were nil. This year, with the new total rush program and with the entire Greek system under scrutiny, "dirty rush" charges are evident.

It seems hard to believe that the freshmen on this campus must be coerced to join Greek houses. It also seems hard to believe that these same freshmen would let themselves fall victim to these illegal practices.

If these infractions on rushing rules and procedures are allowed to remain in the background, the life of the Greek system is in jeopardy.

A New Outlook

At last the sorority system has come up with a really unique idea—the open bidding period. At last the freshmen who have not received bids can choose a house without the toils of the informal rush.

And this innovation for 1964 may prove to be the forerunner of a new outlook for deferred rush.

Rush, in general terms, has become too formalized, both sides of the rushing picture, sorority women and rushees, are placed in an uncomfortable position, having the perpetuity of the Greek system at stake.

This new plan to allow open bidding for all freshmen, who have not joined the Greek ranks is a basic attempt to minimize this formality.

Since many houses have not filled their quotas, the one-day open bid day will find the 25 Greek islands vying again for the pledges of various freshmen. But this time the sororities will not be "placing themselves in the direct line of action." They will be represented by Panhellenic as an intermediary.

With Panhel in the picture, perhaps, the freshmen will look at the Greek system in a different light. All possible warnings were issued prior to preference bids, and went ignored.

Now Panhel has established a way for these freshmen women, who either suicided or were not sure, to redeem themselves and become part of the Greek system.

The relaxed atmosphere of the open bid ideas might be the answer to the falseness and general static outlook of the rush program.

At least it must be noted that the sororities are trying to revise and readapt their system. Whether they will succeed is another question.

Guest Spot

Constructive Ideas

By Jon Eberenz

In retrospect on rush and the commentaries which immediately followed rush it is my purpose to explain, defend it sometimes and in others offer constructive ideas for change.

In attacking rush such persons as George Foster (an individual unlisted in the Syracuse University Directory) and editorials have sighted gross instances of dirty rush as a major factor. Mr. Foster reported car loads of fraternity men around Dellplain which is all upper class (nice work George); for all you know they may have been looking for a parking place. But enough for unlisted and possibly fictitious commentaries.

Deferred rush is relatively a new idea to the Syracuse campus. In its structure are many demands set down by the administration including limited contact to provide the freshmen the opportunity to become established academically. It may be of some value for this reason even though that has been questioned. At least it has raised all fraternity average by showing that the real average is higher than formerly supposed.

The rules were purposely drawn very stringently the first year to give a clear picture of the problems involved so that each could be studied and covered by the rules. The next step was to more lenient rules but here is where the fraternity system hesitated. New provisions were voted down and rush went on the same way.

Fraternity men claim deferred rush is hurting them and the system: nonsense, hogwash (or stronger language in private). deferred rush has improved rushing at a good share of the campuses where it was tried, including Cornell. The answers then are in the rush practices not the idea of deferred rush.

Independents slam rush for all kinds of reasons, well independents clean your own back yard before you start on mine. Independents have less spirit, give less money after graduation, participate less in campus activities than Greeks. If you dislike our rush so what, you are not effected in the least bit by it so why worry. It's our dilemma and up to us to correct it. This does not mean I favor isolationism of fraternities but just the opposite. We are a big part of this campus and need to correct our faults just as the independents do but we'll have to do it ourselves. Rush is almost a private matter for those involved because the decision in going Greek is a big one.

So what to do? A start is more open rush sessions in the fall, more Greek activities for and with freshmen to encourage understanding and promote the Greek system. Another solution is the fraternity system taking stronger stands on its policies regarding the problems facing America and the world today. But possibly the greatest need is one which all people, Greeks, Independents, administration, everyone lacks. This lacking is the cause and effect of dirty rushing, decreasing pledging, and many other troubles present today in the fraternity system as well as in the world.

It is a basic moral and ethical basis which adheres to the rules or organization of the society. In other words we don't or can't trust each other, mostly don't at this school. Which comes first the moral fortitude or the trust is unimportant, one brings the other. The freshmen are as much to blame as the fraternity men perhaps more, much more since it is he who allows and encourages dirty rush and unethical practices to start. So the biggest problem is one of the whole world and a good share of it is in our freshmen before they ever meet a Greek.

This problem can be lessened by the fraternity system patrolling itself without police or administration. The fraternity system could start a new movement for peace in the world if it could find a complete answer to this problem. I contend that Greeks are no different from anyone else and are only attacked because narrow minds can focus better on a small level than on a world problem.

And the result of all this hollering and editorializing? Well, I saw a freshman register for rush this morning, can't be he was too disillusioned. Maybe he sees the Greek system for what it is, a unit of society which has society's problems but offers more and tries harder to correct itself than non-organized society.

Rush is over, not really, but the loud part is, and someone thinks the Greek system is dying. Well that's what I heard four years ago and it's not true. Fall rush picks up those who could not rush in the spring and those who are honest with themselves pledge anyways. I know a lot of individual independents I could attack but it may not represent the whole system, the same is true of Greeks. A change in rushing practices could make the Greek system doubly as strong.

Remember Al Sampson (fiction by our fictitious columnist) who had such a rough time, well its too bad Mr. Foster (whoever you are) because you are wrong, prejudice will corrupt you for life, to paraphrase Ron Corwin. Funny how even his words go both ways.

The rushing system needs a lot of work and it needs new ideas. Lets get to work Greeks and use a little daring and some serious thought and try something new, it may be the answer.

LETTERS

Law

To the Editor:

Yesterday, (Feb. 10, 1964), I submitted my application for a position on Joint Student Court to the Dean of Men's Office. In my application I stated, as one of my beliefs, that a person is innocent until proven guilty. At that time, I felt sure that most people held the same belief, and that all people serving in a judiciary position, such as on the JSC, believed in this principle of justice.

I was amazed therefore, to read the letter on "Justice" in the D.O. stating that the chief justice on the JSC, had said that he assumed that anyone appearing before the Student Court was guilty, without even giving the person a chance to defend himself.

What kind of "justice" is that?

If belief in this kind of justice is a prerequisite for membership on the Student Court, I am officially withdrawing my application for a position on JSC.

It would be both hypocritical and pretentious for me to serve on that court in the name of "justice".

However, if this is not a prerequisite for appointment to JSC, then this letter shall serve the following notice to whoever appoints the court members. All actions I take and decisions I make will be based entirely on my belief that all men, (women too), are innocent until proven guilty.

Suzzane Rafferty
Class of '66

POLICY ON LETTERS

The letters column is maintained for the expression of opinion by readers. However, the Daily Orange reserves the right to edit letters for grammar and good taste or to reject letters. Letters should be written legibly, preferably typed and no longer than 250 words. All letters must be signed with names and addresses (names will be withheld on request).

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2

February 14, 1964

Editor-in-Chief

Allan T. Kort

Business Manager

Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor: Clayton F. Richards

News Editor: Andrew Poole

Editorial Director: Adair Dalire

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 200 Brookline Drive, Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter at U.S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N.Y.

TREVER ON CAMPUS

WEEKEND

LOEWS—"Mans Favorite Sport" casts Rock Hudson as someone who is athletically inclined. Paula Prentiss is Rock Hudson inclined. It's one of the typical Hollywood films of girl meets boy, girl loses boy and girl gets boy. Paula is against opposition: the great outdoors. So, she goes along on the camping trip. Oh ah! so what is "Man's Favorite Sport Going to the movies and experiencing things vicariously. Sport at 7:32 and 9:40.

SHOPPINGTOWN - The Cardinal is still playing. All about a priest who rises above a prostitute sister (who dies) show business characters, Ku Klux Klan and Nazis to become a cardinal. Its inspiration for those who are atheists to remain as such. At 8:20 p.m.

RKO KEITHS—This is a flick that is about the peace time army. It seems that since there is no enemy, the army guys are fighting each other, and getting into all sorts of scrapes. But in the cast you have Jackie Gleason and Steve McQueen. And Tuesday Weld with her Monday wash is in it too. It is a double bill! "War is Hell" is with it. This is about the real army when people fought enemies. "Soldier in the Rain" at 7:10 and 10:15 p.m., Friday; 7:20 and 10:30 p.m., Saturday. "War is Hell" at 8:50 p.m. Friday; 9 p.m. Saturday.

RIVIERA—"To Bed... Or Not to Bed" poses an interesting question. This Italian goes to Sweden on a business trip, having heard all sorts of great things about the Swedish women. It's sort of the same type of thing that a Colgate boy has heard about a Syracuse coed. Does the Italian self-styled lover succeed? For that matter, does a Colgate boy succeed? With it is "The 400 Blows" which has become a French movie classic. "Bed" at 6:45 and 10:10 p.m., "The 400 Blows" at 8:30 p.m.

PARAMOUNT — "The Misadventures of Merlin Jones" is the misadventures of a movie. Remember Flubber? Remember "Son of Flubber"? Well, this is a son of a son of a son. It's all about this kid, Merlin Jones, who can hear other people's thoughts. So he reads the thoughts of a judge who is plotting a crime. Ah ha! The judge plotted this movie! It is at 7:55 and 10 p.m.

ECKEL—The greatest export from England since the Puritans (This movie was here before the Beatles) left England. No puritan tale is this! Albert Finney plays a Tom Jones who chases the girls as much as the girls chase him. And these girls are mighty pretty. But then again, you can't call Albert Finney ugly. "Tom Jones" at 7:30 and 9:50 p.m.

OsgoodSpeaks At Coffee Hour

The first of four coffee hours will be held in the Colonial Room of Hendricks Chapel today.

Peter Osgood, a graduate student, will talk and show slides of Korea at 4 p.m. Aspects of Korean life, problems of the economy, demilitarization and the background of the Korean War will be outlined.

On Thursday, Feb. 20, Mohawk Airlines will provide a slide preview of the 1964 World's Fair.

The coffee hours are open to everyone. Refreshments will be served. The program is sponsored by the freshman interdenominational activities committee.

Fellowship Meets

The graduate fellowship will meet at 8 p.m. Friday at the home of Rev. Vernon Bigler, 113 Berkeley Drive. Wally Giffen will tell about his experiences in Pakistan. All are invited.

WAER 88.3 mc

- FRIDAYS
- 4:50 Sign On, News, WAER Highlights
 - 4:55 Experiment in Music
 - 6:00 TransAtlantic Profile
 - 6:15 Communique
 - 6:30 Dan Stone and the News
 - 6:45 Over the Back Fence
 - 7:00 Musical Miniatures
 - 8:30 The 8:30 Report
 - 8:35 World of the Voice
 - 10:45 The Late Night Report
 - 11:00 International Music Festival
 - 12:45 Headlines and Sign Off
- SATURDAYS
- 1:00 Sign on and Headlines
 - 1:10 CBC Panorama
 - 6:00 College Authors Forum
 - 6:15 Communique
 - 6:30 Special of the Week
 - 7:00 Spectrum
 - 8:00 Symphonic Showcase
 - 10:45 Late Night Report
 - 11:00 Downbeat
 - 12:45 Headlines and Sign-Off
- SUNDAYS
- 1:20 Sign on and Headlines
 - 1:30 CBC Panorama
 - 4:00 Crouse Concert
 - 6:30 Sunday Concert
 - 7:00 Frontiers Forever
 - 7:00 In Spirit and in Truth
 - 7:30 Lecture of the Week
 - 8:30 World Theater
 - 10:00 Pro Musica Antiqua
 - 11:00 Late Night Report
 - 11:15 Pan American Melodies
 - 11:45 Headlines and Sign-off
 - 6:15 Communique
 - Sign Off

Riviera CINEMA
3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. • GR 4-4021

WALT DISNEY presents
THE MISADVENTURES OF MERLIN JONES
Starring TOMMY KIRK • ANNETTE BING
EXTRA! "BEAR COUNTRY"

WINNER! "BEST PICTURE OF THE YEAR!"
"BEST ACTOR!"
"BEST DIRECTOR!"
Albert Finney
Tony Richardson
—New York Film Critics Award—

The whole world loves Tom Jones!
ALBERT FINNEY/SUSAN WATSON
CONTINUOUS SHOWING! NO RESERVED SEATS!
A Schine Theatre ECKEL

A DINO DE LAURENTIS production
Alberto Sordi in
"To Bed... or not to Bed"
Plus Francois Truffaut's "The 400 Blows"

TODAY AT 11:30, 1:30, 3:15, 5:15, 7:55, 10. Sat. Doors Open 9 A.M.

Paramount NOW

WALT DISNEY presents
THE MISADVENTURES OF MERLIN JONES
Starring TOMMY KIRK • ANNETTE BING
EXTRA! "BEAR COUNTRY"

WINNER! "BEST PICTURE OF THE YEAR!"
"BEST ACTOR!"
"BEST DIRECTOR!"
Albert Finney
Tony Richardson
—New York Film Critics Award—

The whole world loves Tom Jones!
ALBERT FINNEY/SUSAN WATSON
CONTINUOUS SHOWING! NO RESERVED SEATS!
A Schine Theatre ECKEL

Tues. Feb. 18 Lincoln Auditorium

Hungarian Philharmonic
Miltiades Caridis, Conducting

"Dances From Galanta" Kodaly
"Symphony No. 8" Beethoven
"Two Portraits" Bartok
"Overture-Fantasia: Romeo and Juliet" Tchaikowsky

100 $4.00 Seats available to STUDENTS for only $2.00!

Famous Artists
Clark Music Bldg. GR 1-0162

Daily Crossword Puzzle

ACROSS

- 1 Wickets.
- 6 Ribbonlike trimming.
- 10 Wife of Amen-Ra.
- 13 American novelist.
- 14 Native.
- 17 Gunpowder ingredient.
- 18 Giving a complete view.
- 19 Very thin cloth.
- 21 Kringle.
- 22 Taking repose.
- 23 Songbird.
- 25 Region of India.
- 28 Gentle.
- 32 Foreign.
- 33 Familiar farewell.
- 34 Roofing material.
- 35 Sunken part.
- 36 Actress Linda.
- 39 Machine part.
- 40 News brief.
- 42 Pilaster.
- 43 Coeur d'Alene.
- 45 One of the arts.
- 47 Titania's spouse.
- 48 majesty.
- 49 Liquor.

DOWN

- 50 Relative of sonar.
- 53 Ancient Rome's main street.
- 57 Begin.
- 60 'Get away from me!' 2 words.
- 61 Describing the men of Penzance.
- 62 Town near Amiens.
- 63 Game animal.
- 64 Entreats.
- 65 Brants.
- 16 Deep red.
- 20 Actor Ferrer.
- 23 Adam's ale.
- 24 Coin of Iran.
- 25 Essential.
- 26 Make joyful.
- 27 African river.
- 28 Equine features.
- 29 More precise.
- 30 Grassy plain.
- 31 Red Sea country.
- 33 Moment.
- 37 Genus of bees.
- 38 Striving.
- 41 Sweet grape.
- 44 Inheritor.
- 46 Earn.
- 47 Sea animal.
- 49 Isle of Man men.
- 50 Hawser.
- 51 Seed covering.
- 52 Short sword.
- 53 Type of party.
- 54 Decorative container.
- 55 Evils.
- 56 Nautical term.
- 58 Pen point.
- 59 First-rate: Colloq.

THE WARDROBE
Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12

13 14 15 16

17 18

19 20 21

22 23 24

25 26 27 28 29 30 31

32 33 34

35 36 37 38 39

40 41 42 43 44

45 46 47

48 49

50 51 52 53 54 55 56

57 58 59 60

61 62

63 64 65

SECOND ANNUAL SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY

FOLK FESTIVAL

MARCH 20, 21, 22, 1964

AN EXCITING ROUND-ROBIN OF CONCERTS, HOOTENANNIES, SEMINARS, WORKSHOPS, CLINICS, AND TALENT COMPETITION

—FEATURING AMERICA'S FINEST FOLK ARTISTS—

DOC WATSON JEAN RITCHIE THE GREENBRIAR BOYS
REV. GARY DAVIS GIL TURNER ROGER SPRUNG
THE SHANTY BOYS THE ALL-NIGHT SINGERS
AND MANY OTHERS.

YOUR FESTIVAL HOST
JERRY SILVERMAN
AUTHOR, PERFORMER, MUSICOLOGIST, ASSOCIATE EDITOR OF SING OUT

GENERAL ADMISSION TICKET FOR ENTIRE FESTIVAL $2.50
SPECIAL ADVANCED SALE - TO MARCH 18 ONLY - $2.00

FESTIVAL SPONSORED BY SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY BOOKSTORES
FESTIVAL HEADQUARTERS
CORNER BOOKSTORE MUSIC DEPARTMENT
943 SO. CROUSE AVE. SYRACUSE, N.Y. 13210
PHONE 476-5571 EX 2008

TICKETS AND FULL INFORMATION AVAILABLE AT FESTIVAL HEADQUARTERS
AND AT FAMOUS ARTISTS TICKET OFFICE CLARK MUSIC BLDG. SALINA ST.

100 LP RECORDS -- GUITARS -- SONG BOOKS WILL BE GIVEN AWAY

RECORD SALE

REDUCTIONS UP TO 40% ON ALL LP's

CL 2154 CS 8954 Stereo
Barbra Streisand — the girl who made extraordinary a common-place word—marks her third appearance on Columbia Records in a bewitching collection of standard ballads. "Make Believe," "As Time Goes By," "It Had to Be You."

CL 2105/CS 8905 Stereo
Bob Dylan sings more of his highly charged, deeply moving songs about the contemporary scene.

ACCESSORIES SALE

20% OFF

On All Diamond Needles

	REG.	SALE
CLEANING CLOTHS	1.00	.49
RECORD COVERS98	.59
RECORD CLEANING KITS	1.50	.98
45 RPM ADAPTERS25	.19
RECORD BRUSHES	1.00	.49
RECORD BRUSH PEN	1.50	.98
CLEANING CLOTH AND BRUSH	1.25	.98
ANTI-STATIC SPRAY	1.50	.98
No. 60 RECORD RACKS ..	2.98	1.98
No. 40 RECORD RACKS ..	1.98	1.49

For Him

$2 Down $2 a week only 19⁹⁵

ALL NEW ZENITH
SHIRT POCKET
TRANSISTOR
RADIO
Model Royal 50L

Its rich tone quality will amaze you! Operates on two inexpensive penlite batteries — no battery packs to buy! 6 transistors, 2 diodes. Includes 3 poweronic transistors for superior reception. Unbreakable cabinet.

1964 DECCA STEREO

$54⁹⁸

$5⁰⁰

down

$2⁰⁰

a week

- All 4 speeds 45—33—16—78
 - Automatic Changer and Shut Off
 - 2 Full Stereo Speakers
 - 2 Volume Controls for Precision Balance
 - 2 Jewel Tipped Sapphire Needles
 - Tilt-down Changer
 - Available in Black and Silver on Tan and Gold
- Hear Earl Grant's "Ebb Tide" L.P. on Decca DP-74165

OWNED AND OPERATED BY SYRACUSE U. STUDENTS

University Hill

MUSIC BOX

754 So. Crouse Ave. 475-4116

Open Mon, thru Fri. 10-8—SAT. till 5:30

To Complete Doctorate

(Continued from Page 1)

protested the change recently.

Nearly 600 of the 5,000 men have the option of avoiding the proposed board requirement by living out of university housing, a policy approved for the upper classes.

The Rutgers Board of Governors will meet to decide the final policy, Clifford said. The recommended policy was one suggested by a student advisory committee, and will probably be passed, since it is necessary for the financial success of the new dining hall.

Turning to Syracuse issues, Clifford commented that during his seven years on the Hill "each student in disciplinary cases was judged in terms of the merit of his case, without reference to his being a star halfback, having alumni influence, or his potential monetary contributions to the university."

In denouncing the existence of a "double standard" in making these decisions, Clifford commented that there was always

DEAN EARL CLIFFORD

"pressure" in any case, because a student whose academic position is in jeopardy will always try to do anything possible to stay in school.

"Sure there was pressure," Clifford commented, "but it had no effect."

Chapel Roundup

EPISCOPAL
9:30 a.m., Sunday, Gifford Auditorium, Holy Communion.

HILLEL
7 p.m., Today, Hendricks Chapel, regular Sabbath eve services will be conducted. The Rev. Paul Bosch, chaplain to Lutheran students will be the guest speaker.

6 p.m., Sunday, Shaw recreation room, Sunday night supper will be held. Rabbi Jordan will speak on "Jackie Mason and Allen Sherman: Two Comic Approaches to Modern Life."

INTERDENOMINATIONAL
7 a.m., Wednesday, North Wing of Hendricks Chapel, Holy Communion will be held.

METHODIST
5:30 p.m., Sunday, Hendricks Chapel, Methodist Student Fellowship meeting. Father Harold Hutton of St. Paul's Episcopal Church will discuss religion and health.

7 p.m., Monday, basement of Chapel House, first session of the course on Christian marriage will take place.

8:30 p.m., Monday, Chapel House, Methodist Student Fellowship cabinet meeting.

12:15 p.m., Tuesday, Chapel House, dialogue lunch will be held.

8 p.m., Thursday, Parsonage, Covenant meeting.

Every Sunday, 9:30 a.m., Hendricks Chapel, Bible Study will be held.

LUTHERAN
10 a.m., Sunday, Chapel House, regular service with coffee hour following.

5:05 p.m., Sunday, North Wing Hendricks Chapel, services with buffet dinner following at 100 Berkeley Drive. Forum program features NBC-TV Bible study films with Dr. Hazen Stooch.

Every Wednesday, 5:05 p.m., Holy Communion will take place.

UNITED CAMPUS CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP
5:30 p.m., Sunday, Chapel House, supper and a discussion will be held.

Praching this Sunday will be the Reverend Bradford Abernethy, Chaplain of Rutgers University.

Beginning Monday there will be a Civil Right Information Board in the East Corridor of the Chapel Basement.

COMPLETE OPTICAL SERVICE

EYEGLASSES FITTED

CONTACT LENSES

EASY CREDIT

1 to 24-HOUR SERVICE

No Appointment Necessary

BROKEN LENSES & FRAMES REPLACED PROMPTLY

Open Daily, 9 A.M. to 6 P.M.
Mon. & Friday Until 8 P.M.
FREE PARKING—ANY CENTER

CITY OPTICIANS

211 E. FAYETTE ST.
CORNER S. WARREN

PHONE HA-2-6088 SYRACUSE N. Y.

TODAY

12:10 p.m., Episcopal Holy Communion, Chapel House.

3 p.m., WAA apparatus and tumbling, gym B.

5:05 p.m., Lutheran Daily Devotions, north wing, Hendricks Chapel.

7 p.m., Hillel Service, Hendricks Chapel.

7:30 p.m., Commuting Students Association, 309 Women's Bldg.

SUNDAY

4:30 p.m., Newman Club meeting, St. Thomas More Chapel. Meeting is for members and friends. Supper will follow at 75 cents each.

6 p.m., Hillel supper in Shaw recreation room, $4.00 for registered members, $4.50 for others. The program, on comedians Jackie Mason and Allan Sherman, will be given by Rabbi Earl Jordan at 6:45.

We try harder

AVIS RENT A CAR

$11.50 For Entire Weekend & $.10 a Mile

501 S. Salina St. 422-4171

Avis rents Fords and other fine cars

Candidates Promise 40 Hill Students

(Continued from Page One) next fall, a survey committee to collect house opinions on IFC policies, and a regularly-published newspaper combining IFC and Panhel news.

He said that he would aim for open houses next fall, and would also institute a "wear your pins" campaign.

JACK WHITE

PETER STERN

Peter Stern (Tau Epsilon Phi) is a vice presidential candidate with a 1.3 cumulative average. He has been in IFC for two semesters.

Stern said he would initiate a pledge master exchange, more IFC-sponsored cultural activities for the campus, a faculty poll to get ideas for IFC improvement, and coordination of the various IFC committees under the vice president.

Vice presidential candidate Peter Luckman (Zeta Beta Tau),

PETER LUCKMAN

H. V. D.

W. M. N. 2

is an American Studies major with a 2.0 average.

Luckman said that in order to eliminate dirty rushing, he would institute a program in which either rushers would submit bids 1-2 hours after final formal rush parties, or fraternities be compelled to keep their brotherhood in the house the night prior to filing of the bids.

Joseph (Jack) White (Phi Kappa Psi), running for vice president, is a five semester IFC member and has a 1.4 average.

He said that the vice president should be a standing member of all committees, to increase IFC efficiency, and improve its image.

STUDENT UNION

The "Silent World" will be shown at Student Union 8 p.m. today. In addition the S.U. Skin Diving Club will exhibit skin diving equipment in the Alumni Lounge. Ping pong, bowling, and volleyball will also be offered.

(Continued from Page One) Jo-Linda Leib, of Manchester, Conn.

Also Esta Markin, of Jersey City, N.J.; Ellen Max, of Rutherford, N.J.; Thomas May, of Arcade; Jo Ann Osborn, of Omaha, Neb.; James Palcie, of Gowanda; Dorothy Penrod, of Oswego.

Also Linda Rauch, of Great Neck; Dianne Renzoni, of Kenmore; Judith Sapir, of Yonkers; Penny Shapiro, of Jenkintown, Pa.; Georgieanna Slanski, of Oswego; Thomas Stillman, of Brooklyn; Jane Talcott, of New York, and Joan Teckler, of Syracuse. All are juniors except Miss Brown, who is a sophomore.

DeWitt Sports Ltd.

SKI SHOP FOR SKIERS BY SKIERS
East Genesee Street at Lyndon Road
Fayetteville GI 6-0160

Open Evenings until 9

BASKET & RACQUET
107 Marshall Street

PARKAS	50% OFF
SWEATERS	25% OFF
STRETCH PANTS	20% OFF

SHIRT SPECIAL 2 for $7.00

TIES 2 for $3.00

'64 JET-SMOOTH LUXURY CHEVROLET—Impala Sport Coupe

ALL-NEW CHEVELLE—Malibu Sport Coupe

'64 THRIFTY CHEVY II—Nova Sport Coupe

'64 SPORTY, MORE POWERFUL CORVAIR—Monza Club Coupe

'64 EXCITING CORVETTE—Sting Ray Sport Coupe

YOUR CHEVROLET DEALER HAS MORE TO OFFER:

luxury cars, thrifty cars, sport cars, sporty cars, big cars, small cars, long cars, short cars, family cars, personal cars

45 DIFFERENT MODELS OF CARS

Why one stop at your Chevrolet dealer's is like having your own private auto show

And if we had room here we could go on and list all the engines Chevrolet offers, ranging up to an extra-cost 425-hp V8 in the big Chevrolet. And all the different transmissions. And the umpteen different exterior and interior color choices. And the models with bucket seats and those without. And the hundreds of different accessories, including the new extra-cost AM-FM radio. But that's best left to your Chevrolet dealer. That and exactly how reasonable the price can be for you to be able to enjoy so much car.

THE GREAT HIGHWAY PERFORMERS Chevrolet • Chevelle • Chevy II • Corvair • Corvette
See them at your Chevrolet Showroom

THE SEALED DEAL

IS COMING

303 University Place

See the new '64 Rambler at . . .

Feigl Motors

RAMBLER DEALERS

SALES AND EXPERT SERVICE

FOR ALL MAKES AND MODELS

SPECIALIZING IN AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSIONS
3832 S. Salina St. Call HY 2-1791

"DINE OUT"

Siegel's

173 Marshall Street
next to 7 Hour
Laundry

Central N. Y.
Headquarters for
Theatrical Make-up
Revlon, Max Factor,
Rubinstein, Lanvin,
Channel, Coty,
Yardley, English
Leather, Clairol,
plus all nationally advertised brands.

Complete Line of School Supplies and Stationary.
GR 8-9985

DANZER'S RESTAURANT

"A touch of Old Germany"
German - American
Food

- Sauerbraten
- Roast Beef
- Hot and Cold
Turkey

"The Finest
Sandwich in Syracuse"

912 Park St.
471-9031

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

T A P E T A H S S T I R
T O N A L O M I T O R L O
A R I S E S A I L A D D A Y S
P A S T H A S T E R S N A Y
S H E P B E E T O P S
E X O D U S S A P T O
S O A R E D R I F S I C I E
M A N F R I E D F A N T R I E
E T T E S A W S T E E D S
W H I C H M A N C H U
P I A S R Y E R I O S
A H A L A M B A S T I N G S
P A S T O R A L S A Z U R E
T I T O A Y E S P E R E S
S L O W N O R A R I E S

REAL BARGAINS
SHOP LOCAL STORES

Tino's

RESTAURANT
FINE ITALIAN FOOD

pizza

ORDERS TO TAKE OUT

425 N. Salina Street
GR 1-9458
GR 1-9446

F I 4 U

Fri. Saturday
"The Ants" "The Vikings"

SOCIAL CHAIRMEN

Reserve your parties at

BOB CASEY'S INN

GI 6-0270

DeWitt, N. Y.

Open Monday - Saturday

Fri. Sat. Nights Till 1 A.M.

T-BONE STEAK for ONLY $$$$1.25 or Open Steak Sandwich for $1.25

with all the trimmings
other complete dinners from $.85

NEW LOWER PRICES ON EVERYTHING

Special Discount to Large Groups

Now booking Parties and Banquets

CLOVER CLUB

corner Cedar and Almond Streets

WELCOME TO
SYRACUSE'S FRIENDLIEST HOTEL

SYRACUSE, NEW YORK

4 Fine Restaurants

AIR CONDITIONED
MODERATELY PRICED

including

- English Dining Room
- Cafeteria
- Cocktail Lounge
- Tap Room
- and the famous
- STEAK 'N'
RIB ROOM

Yates Roast Beef
"Carved before your eyes"

FREE PARKING

PROSSERS

RESTAURANT and LOUNGE

Where STEAK is KING and the STEAKS

are KING SIZED

Free Parking For Dinner Customers
So. Warren St. at Harrison St.

Enjoy a Delicious Family Dinner at

CAROMA

Specializing in Italian Cuisine
Spaghetti, Monicotti, Baked Lasagna,
Ravioli

Also American Dishes

STEAKS, PRIME RIB

—Take Out Service—

402 Lodi

GR 4-2119

Free Parking

Fish - Frog - Steak - Chicken

Chops and Roast Beef Dinners

TUBBERT'S

304 Court Street, Cor. No. Salina

"House of Gracious Dining"

Listening Pleasure at our Piano Bar

TOBINS

RESTAURANT
W. Genesee at
Fairmount Corners

Route 5

Private Rooms for Parties

Tuesday-Saturday
Luncheon

11:30 to 2:30

Dinners

5:00 - 9:30

Sunday Brunch

Dinners

Weekdays 11:30-9:30

Sundays 12-8

MELTZER'S

SANDWICH SHOP

TWO LOCATIONS

● 516 Irving,
cor. Harrison
Open 8 - 8

● Back End of
New Tower Apts.
Open 7 - 9

Featuring

CORNER BEEF

ROAST BEEF

PASTRAMI ● HOT DOGS ● CHOPPED LIVER

CHEESE BLINTZES ● POTATO PANCAKES

Tel. GR 8-7978

We Deliver

Closed Sundays

BAHOOTH'S BEATLES!

Coming

Friday And Saturday

Limited Engagement

BAHOOTH'S

FAYETTEVILLE

The BIRCHES

is

OPEN WITH EXPANDED FACILITIES

for

PARTIES, BANQUETS & RECEPTIONS
SPECIAL STUDENTS RATES!

Shoppingtown, DeWitt

Plenty of Convenient
Parking

Slocum Fire

Fire trucks sped to the rescue of Slocum Hall Thursday when a student threw his lit cigarette into a sand cigarette receptacle. He had acted safely; it was the fault of the students before him, who had thrown candy wrappers and other papers into the sand-ashtray. The papers ignited and caused the alarm.

Religious Group Plans Party

The Methodist Student Fellowship will sponsor an ice skating party at the Coliseum Friday night. Students may meet at 6:30 p.m. at Hendricks Chapel for transportation.

Skating will be 80 cents, plus 75 cents for rental of skates for those who do not have their own.

Study in Guadalajara, Mexico

The Guadalajara Summer School, a fully accredited University of Arizona program, conducted in cooperation with professors from Stanford University, University of California, and Guadalajara, will offer June 29 to August 8, art, folklore, geography, history, language and literature courses. Tuition, board and room is $265. Write Prof. Juan B. Rael, P.O. Box 7227, Stanford, Calif.

Dean Clark to Address Group

Wesley C. Clark, dean of the School of Journalism will be a luncheon speaker at a meeting of the Educational Press Association of America, Tuesday in Atlantic City, N.J. Dean Clark will discuss "How Can Journalism Education Serve Educational Journalism?" The EDPRESS organization recently moved its headquarters to the SU journalism school.

how to Span the Space between Campus and Career ... Berkeley!

Add solid secretarial skills and exact business knowledge to your academic learning. Berkeley School graduates win responsible, well-paying positions in exciting fields—advertising, retailing, publishing, banking, government; in museums and schools, with airlines and architects.

Special Executive Secretarial Course for College Women. Distinguished faculty. Career guidance and free lifetime placement service.

Begin at Berkeley! Come in, call, or write for catalog W.

BERKELEY SCHOOL

420 Lexington Avenue, New York 17, New York MU 5-3418
122 Maple Avenue, White Plains, New York WH 8-6466
22 Prospect Street, East Orange, New Jersey OR 3-1246

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words

1 day	$.85
2 days	1.65
3 days	3.15
4 days	2.40
5 days	3.85
7 days	5.20
8 days	4.55
9 days	5.85
10 days	6.45
11 days	7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPGRADE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.
PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS. automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.
GREYHOUND TICKETS, schedules, information, bus and air charters. Hotel reservations, foreign tours. FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC. in the Savoy. Monday-Friday 1-4; Thursday night 7-9. 476-4553.
TYPEWRITERS—Repaired. Rented. Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 6-5533. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.
ACCELERATED 5 lesson course, specializing in parking, traffic, road test. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-5451.
ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lillian M. Potter 207 Comstock Ave. GR 8-5547.
TO BUY OR SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN. Spang Motors, 1000 Huawatha Blvd. W. 474-6007, is the place.
FRATERNITIES, SORORITIES, LIVING CENTERS are invited to enter Syracuse Motors VW contest to see what the capacity of a VW is—are you going to stand idly by while Detroit students set the record of 28 in a Volk?—we don't think so. Winning male and female teams will be awarded a free all-expense trip to Brewerton and $100 in stereo records or tapes—double this amt. if winners exceed the present national record. For details call Don Cain at 474-6007.

NEED PROFESSIONAL assistance with your thesis, speech, article? Inquire of EDITORIAL ASSOCIATES, 116 Hazel St., East Syracuse, N.Y. HO 3-9754. (No undergraduate work handled.)

FOR SALE

FREE SOLDERING. all charms bought here. Charms, jewelry, jewelry, watch repair. Greeting cards. Personalized stationery. Valentine gifts and cards. Riviera sunglasses for men and women. Ruth's Gifts, 734 S. Crouse, Introductory Sale, Crepe de Chine Cologne and Nut de Lomchamps.

$10.00 WILL BUY ANY SWEATER in the store, values to $19.95. Ivy Hall, 705 S. Crouse Ave., call 478-3304.

MEN'S AND LADIES' STRETCH PANTS in colors $6.98. Ivy Hall, 705 S. Crouse Ave., 478-3305.

$10.00 WILL BUY ANY QUILTED SKI Jacket in store. Values to $19.95. Ivy Hall, 705 S. Crouse Ave., call 478-3304.

I LOVE YOU! never better better translated than by Browning's—"Sonnetts from the Portuguese." "Ruhayut," "Love is You." Emily Dickinson Poems. "Love is a Poem." Each in handsome $1.00 Editions. BOOKSTALL. GR 8-3454.

WANTED

MEN — We need four or five men on a part-time basis from now till finals. Excellent income and experience. Call 472-6356.

PART TIME help (male) — earn good money — car necessary. Ace Home

Equipment Company, 1236 South State Street, Syracuse.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students
TWO BLOCKS FROM FIELDHOUSE
225 Lorraine Ave. Modern 4-room up per. 2 bedrooms. Large closet, brick fireplace, refrigerator and stove. Picture window, living room and kitchen ceramic tile bath, private parking area on bus line. Available immediately, $115 NE 8-0497, GR 6-1473.

APARTMENTS FOR RENT. Two room with bath, 411 S. Crouse Ave. Call 476 7188 after 1 p.m.

EUCALIDE AVE. DOUBLE AND SINGLE Also want one boy to share room $9.00 to $12.50 weekly. Kitchen privileges. 474-2634.

3-RM APARTMENT. Heated, fresh paint; University section. Very inexpensive. Furnished or unfurnished. GI 6-174 or 446-8527.

2 BLOCKS FROM stadium. Newly decorated 6 room flat. Gas heat. Garage $50.00 Day's GR 8-3151 Evenings GR 6-7721.

BEAUTIFUL MODERN seven room upstairs apartment. Garage, stove, refrigerator, fireplace. Two blocks from Campus. $105. Call 472-1868.

GARAGE to rent. $10 per month. 109 Henry Street. GR 2-2115.

APT. FOR RENT: AVAILABLE March 1, three rooms furnished apt. suitable for two gentlemen. 472-4962.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models also sales and service. special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. TITE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

EXPERT TYPING and proofreading — call Danny at GR 2-6177.

EXPERT TYPING, EDITING, thesis, dissertations, term papers, and manuscripts. Mrs. Mel Sherman, GR 2-2470.

Peace Corps To Give Test

The next Peace Corps test will be given at 1 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 22, in Gifford Auditorium. H.B. Crouse Hall.

A pilot Peace Corps Senior Year Program will get under way this spring when 500 to 700 college juniors who have applied for the Peace Corps will be invited to a six-week summer training program. After graduation in 1965, they will undergo another period of training (four-eight weeks) before going overseas.

At both stages of training before and after the senior year, there will be no cost to the trainee. The Peace Corps will provide room, board and pocket money, plus a $75 monthly readjustment allowance.

Interested college juniors should immediately fill out a Peace Corps Questionnaire, write on the front of it "Senior Year Program," and submit this when they take the next nationwide placement test.

Europe For Less All Student Trip

EUROPE — Rambler, 10 countries, 37 days, from $1,027 — Ha'p'ny, 15 countries, 19 days, from $1,215 — Vagabond to Eastern Europe, 17 countries, including Russia, 56 days, from $1,498. ROUND THE WORLD — 8th annual World tour, 51 days, 16 countries, from $2,595.

Enjoy all-expense-paid travel with others your own age who share your interests. Special student sailings. Escorted. 15 years experience. Get full details from your local travel agent or write American Youth Abroad, 70 University Sta., Minneapolis, Minn.

PEERLESS PRESS, Inc.
PRINTERS
1112 E. Fayette Street Between University &
COMPLETE
PRINTING SERVICE
at your doorstep
GR 6-6051

1. I've been giving a lot of thought to the future — career-wise and goal-wise.

I've been pretty busy working on my hook shot.

2. As recipients of a college education, I feel it is incumbent upon us to work in areas which allow us to make a contribution to society.

Watch me dribble right around you.

3. Material reward is important, too — so long as the job is one of profound significance.

I'm a terror off the boards.

4. What's more, the company I work for must be forward-looking and encourage initiative.

Notice the feather touch on the ball.

5. How about you? What are your goals?

I'd like to score 30 against Tech.

6. I mean after graduation.

Oh, I've got a swell job with Equitable. They've got everything you're looking for. And they're a good team to work with.

Make an appointment through your Placement Office to see Equitable's employment representative on (insert month, day) or write to William E. Blevins, Employment Manager for further information.
The EQUITABLE Life Assurance Society of the United States
Home Office: 1285 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10019 © 1964

It's Again Do or Die at Pittsburgh

Wrestlers Tangle With Tough Lions

By HOWIE SCHNEIDER

After beating Army and Navy decisively at home, Ed Carlin's wrestling team, paced by indestructible Jim Nance and undefeated Dick Slutzky, will journey to University Park tomorrow to face "a tough Penn State squad."

Carlin's crew, getting off to a bad start by dropping matches to Lehigh and Pittsburgh, bounced back to trounce Ithaca College and the two service academics.

Penn State has posted a 3-2 dual meet record thus far this season. The Nittany Lions also started slowly losing to Michigan and Lehigh and tying Maryland. However, like the Orangemen, they are a team on the rebound, winning their last three matches against Cornell, Army and VPI.

Carlin will employ the same starting lineup that has proved so successful in the past three weeks. Lion coach Charles Spedid, dean of the Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association, is undecided in several weight classes, however.

In the opening match SU's Ron Pritts is scheduled to meet John Windfelder. In the 130-pound class it will be Terry Haise against either Bob Haney (third in last year's Eastern Championships) or Mark Priyen.

In the 157-pound battle the Hill's Jim Murrin will tangle with outstanding State sophomore Dave Thiel. John Dussling will have to contend with Lion captain George Edwards, who last year as a sophomore posted an 8-1 dual meet record in the 147-pound class.

The 157-pound match should be a dandy. Syracuse's undefeated captain Dick Slutzky will meet Greg Weiss, State's top contender for Eastern Championship honors.

Penn's Martin Strayer, who according to a report by Carlin is the toughest wrestler on the squad, will face George Reidener in the 167-pound battle. Orangemen Lew Roberts and Barry Raichlin will face Sophs Mike Gill and Dick Moen in the 177 and 191-pound clashes, respectively.

On the State side the heavy-weight match is up for grabs. Bill Anders, Larry Bartlett and Gene Vincent will draw lots to see who will have the pleasure of facing Mr. Nance.

Fencers Try To Halt Skid

The Piety fencing squad will attempt to break its two game losing streak when it meets RIT and Utica College in Archbold Gymnasium at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Coach Alexander Dako's Syracuse foilists have had plenty of trouble since they defeated Hobart 18-9 in their opening match of the season. Since then the Orange have lost to powerful Cornell and Penn State.

The Cornell Meet was decided by a single point. The Nittany Lions whipped the Dakomen, 21-6. But this score does not tell the whole story as the Orangemen lost 12 matches by only one point.

For the upcoming contest, co-captains Les Monastory and Harvey Schulman will be the main threats for the Hill swordsmen. Last week Monastory stood out against Penn State in foils by taking one point. Schulman, North Atlantic Champion, lost all three of his duels, but promises an improvement.

CAL SHEFFIELD

Penn State Hosts Orange Gymnasts

The Syracuse University gymnastics team will face its toughest test of the year when it meets Penn State at University Park, Penna., Saturday afternoon.

Both teams sport 3-1 records. Penn State's lone loss was an upset at the hands of unbeaten Temple. Coach Paul Romeo's Orangemen lost to Army, a team the Nittany Lions have defeated.

Two Staters, Jim Culhane and Mike Jacobson, ranked fifth and sixth respectively in the all-around competition at last year's Eastern Championships. Jacobson excels on the horizontal bar while Culhane's specialty is the floor exercise.

Al Porter is the Lion's third big man; he was second in the East last year on the side horse. As a whole, the Penn State team averages 9.0 per man per event. Captain Carl Poplar will remain as Syracuse's all-around performer and Sid Oglesby will try to remain unbeaten on the long horse. Last week Sid also won the floor exercise and parallel bars events.

The only possible change in Syracuse's lineup will occur if Dean Bellavia is well enough to compete on the horizontal bar. He sustained a shoulder injury prior to the Army encounter.

"On a good day we could upset Penn State," said Romeo. A victory this week coupled with a win over Temple would put Syracuse in a tie for the Eastern title; a loss would virtually eliminate them from the race.

BEAT
PITT

Orange-Pitt Clash Again Saturday

By BERNIE MacCALLUM
Sports Editor

The Orange basketball forces will be fighting for their post-season lives tomorrow at Pittsburgh when they meet the Panthers in an afternoon contest.

Syracuse will be hoping that the Steel City does not become a two-time grave yard for Orange post-season aspirations. Football Orange Bowl hopes were crushed last fall on a snowy day in Pitt Stadium.

The game will be broadcast at 2 p.m. Saturday over WAER.

A court victory Saturday will put Syracuse in a favorable position for a National Invitation Tournament berth. The NIT invites 12 teams, usually three or four from the East.

The NCAA Tournament can be counted on to take two Eastern independents, narrowing down the NIT field.

Syracuse is vying with such Eastern independents as LaSalle, 15-5, Villanova, 17-2, NYU, 14-4, Providence, 14-3, Pittsburgh, 13-6, St. Bonaventure, 13-4, and Princeton, 12-7. Villanova is probably NCAA bound.

NIT entries will be sent out to prospective entrants Monday.

Pitt lost an 86-84 decision to West Virginia at Pitt Wednesday night.

The Orange play at West Virginia Monday in another vital game.

Brian Generalovich, Dave Sauer, Paul Krieger, Dave Roman and Cal Sheffield will again start for the Panthers against the Orange.

Syracuse upset Pitt in Manley Field House a week ago, 96-84, as Sheffield scored 26 points, Roman 22 and the "General" 14.

Hill Coach Fred Lewis will go with Dave Bing, Chuck Richards, Dick Duffy, Norm Goldsmith and Sam Penceal. Penceal will again shadow the "General."

Minuet in Manley

Syracuse's Rich Duffy sneaks in amongst the giants under the basket Wednesday night for his only two points of the contest. Fordham's Leon Zandy, left, and John Stevens (41), watch in their 83-59 defeat, the Orange's sixth win in a row.

SU's Biggest Valentine

By JIM KLURFELD

The towering 6-9 figure leaped, landed, fell down and then grasped his ankle, withering in pain. The basketball season ended early this year for Val Reid.

It was against Ithaca last Friday when Reid chipped the bone and tore the ligaments in his left ankle.

"The ankle was bothering me before the game," Val said, "and it felt weak during the game. But then all of a sudden it just gave away and that was it."

The injury has plagued Reid since the first day of practice over three months ago when he tore ligaments for the first time. He has not been 100 per cent effective throughout the season due to the injury.

Ironically, a few days prior to the Ithaca game, frosh coach Morris Osburn was talking of Val's improved play and strengthening ankle: "He's come along as fine as anybody in the last few weeks. I think the intersession break gave him a chance to rest that bad ankle."

Val had been averaging 11.2 points a game and 14.5 rebounds. But his biggest asset was defense. Like a windmill he battered opponent's shots back down their throats, and his presence in the line-up enabled his team-mates to play an aggressive defense. If an opponent got past his man he still had to contend with Val.

Next year Fred Lewis will be counting on the former La Salle high school star to spell Chuck Richards and handle specific defensive assignments.

With five frosh games left, though, Val can only stare at the cast on his foot and give a look that is between frustration and disgust. "I guess this ankle and I are going to have trouble with each other for the next few years," he says.

But if most basketball experts are right the next few years on Piety Hill for Val Reid will mean a lot more than a bad ankle. "He's got quite a future ahead of him in this game," Lewis says. "I think you'll be hearing a lot about him."

Pitt Nips Orange, 69-67

See Page 8

DAILY ORANGE

Syracuse University's Daily

Newspaper Since 1903

Vol. 61, No. 74

Syracuse, N. Y., Monday, February 17, 1964

8 Pages, 10 Cents

Personnel Committee Ok's SG Revisions

Several proposed changes in the constitution of Joint Student Government were approved Thursday by the university personnel committee.

The proposed changes dealt with the average requirements for candidates for JSG offices.

Most important of the changes were those on the requirements for presidential and vice presidential candidates.

In the original constitution, it was required that these two candidates be juniors with a 1.5 cumulative average and a year's experience with JSG. The original also stated that if the candidate lacked one of the three requirements, he could petition the JSG cabinet for eligibility.

The newly approved edition states that candidates for the two offices must be juniors, with the year's experience. If, however, they do not have the 1.5 cumulative average, the minimum requirement is a 1.3, and the candidate must have had a 1.5 or above average for the two terms preceding his candidacy.

Originally, candidates for JSL speaker were required to have one year's experience in the legislature. New qualifications are that the student must be a junior with the year's experience. The average requirements are the same as those for presidential and vice presidential candidates.

The changes in qualifications for class officer candidates have been raised from a 1.0 cumulative average to a 1.2.

Pearl Named Parking Head

Sophomore Philip A. Pearl has been appointed commissioner of the Student Government Parking Investigation Committee, SG President James Morris announced Friday.

The new SG group will take a survey of Hill Greek private parking facilities. Forms are now being sent to houses regarding the number of parking spaces available, and the number of cars now being parked in these spaces.

Lyford Speaks Here Tuesday

Joseph P. Lyford, an executive of the Fund for the Republic, will speak on "Equality in the City" at 8 p. m. Tuesday in Hendricks Chapel.

Lyford is presently directing a study of American character which is concerned with urban renewal programs in the New York City area.

The speaker served as administrative assistant to Gov. Chester Bowles and campaign manager for Sen. William Benton. In addition, he was a radio and television producer, an International News Service correspondent in Europe and Asia, and an editor of the New Republic magazine.

Lyford ran as Democratic candidate for Congress in Connecticut in 1952 and 1954.

Preceding the lecture, Lyford will be honored by local executives and university officials in Graham Hall.

The lecture will be the first in the spring series of three citizenship lectures. The lecture, required of all Citizenship 1b students, is open to the public.

F. Gordon Smith Dies; Planned Today's SU

F. Gordon Smith, Syracuse University vice president emeritus, died Friday in University Hospital at the age of 75. The long-time SU official, local businessman and community leader lived on West Lake Road, Cazenovia.

Smith organized the university's development program and arranged construction and financing of more than 25 campus buildings—literally changing the face of the university he entered as a freshman in 1907.

He joined the university administration in 1935 after a 24-year business career. His first task on the Hill was expediting a federal loan to build the Medical College, then part of the university. He also assisted completion of the Maxwell School of Citizenship.

During the university's post-World War II building boom, he handled construction of Mount Olympus dormitory complex, Ernest I. White College of Law, Women's Building, Sims Dining Hall, Joe and Emily Lowe Art Center, H. B. Crouse Classroom Building and the Archbold Gymnasium addition as well as Watson, Marion, Shaw, Dellplain and Booth dormitories and the Manley Field House.

Smith retired in June, 1962, but continued many special services to the university as vice president emeritus. In retirement he was seen almost daily on the Hill . . . visiting former colleagues and attending athletic events, concerts, lectures and dedication ceremonies of new installations.

Smith was born May 30, 1888, in South Dakota. He earned his B.S. at Syracuse in 1911. As an undergraduate he was freshman and varsity crew coxswain and a cheerleader.

(See Smith, Page 7)

F. GORDON SMITH

Hill Suffers Great Loss

Reaction from close associates of the late Hill Vice President F. Gordon Smith poured into the Daily Orange office Friday afternoon. Among the many comments on Smith's death were:

Dr. Finla G. Crawford, vice chancellor emeritus, said: "Gordon Smith's contribution to Syracuse University transcends the brick and mortar he acquired for the Medical College and for dormitories and dining halls."

"Many substantial friends of the university developed the same fierce loyalty of this 1910 (See Hill, Page 6)

Hill Graduate Gets Praise of N.Y. Times

A former Syracuse graduate student has been praised by the New York Times for his portrayal of Stalin in "The Passion of Josef D.," currently running at the Ethel Barrymore Theatre in New York.

Peter Falk, who received his master's from Maxwell School in 1953, did not intend to be an actor because "he felt he had to have a more substantial way of making a living," according to Ronald Betz, of the SU Admissions Dept. Betz and Falk had been friends while Falk was studying at Syracuse.

"He was very out-going, interested in people and his environment, and seemed enthusiastic about everything," said Betz. "He was a little brighter and more interested in his work than most students."

He was particularly interested in jazz but would also "argue and discuss baseball with any one who would talk with him about it."

Falk spent most of his time in the drama department while at Syracuse. Among other roles, he appeared as the murderer in "Richard III," and played in the popular, original musical, "White Bucks and Tails" and "The Tempest."

After leaving Syracuse, Falk went to Hartford, Conn., where he worked in city management. At the same time he worked in summer stock where he met Eva LeGallien who took an interest in his acting. They went to New (See Falk, Page 5)

Sneirson Hits Delay In Food Service Poll

By JESSE SMITH

"Don't students care about what they eat?"

That is the question posed by an angry Marshall Sneirson after he announced Friday that only 1,389 food survey questionnaires were returned to the Joint Student Legislature committee investigating the food service.

Five thousand forms were distributed to students by the committee, of which Sneirson is co-chairman.

"Fewer than 1,500 were returned," said Sneirson. "What happened to the rest?"

According to Sneirson, the food service was cooperating with JSL in the survey. He asserts that, with enough student opinion behind the poll, the food service will take action to change menus to suit students' tastes.

"If students answer the survey, they'll get results," promised Sneirson. "But we need at least 3,000 replies to have the survey mean anything."

"Most unpopular meals would be eliminated," he said. According to tabulations of the forms turned in to JSL, students tend to prefer such items as steak, chicken and turkey. Sneirson states that, with more weight behind it, the survey would result in increases in these dishes.

"The longer they wait, the longer the menu will remain unchanged," Sneirson said. "I hope they enjoy eating the stuff."

Sneirson requested that all (See Food, Page 7)

SU Athletic Board Makes Segregation Statement

The university athletic board Friday released a statement saying, in part, "We have scheduled segregated teams in the past and may do so in the future, confident that fielding a fine athletic team dedicated to the best ideals of sportsmanship is a good example for others to follow."

The statement was issued in reply to a request from the Syracuse University Committee on Equality, asking the board not to schedule athletic contests with segregated schools in the future and to cancel all games now planned with such schools.

The statement argued, "It is certainly unsportsmanlike to discriminate against an athlete because of his race; it is also unsportsmanlike to refuse to compete against a worthy opponent."

The statement said boycotting, "essentially an unfriendly act, tends to raise barriers to the elimination of racial differences. It severs communications and relationships which may not easily be reinstated and fosters enmities which may never be assuaged."

The board decided that "the present policy exerts a persuasive influence toward complete racial equality in intercollegiate competition." It also said that the requested change would "adversely affect the current trend toward integration, which is moving so rapidly that in a few years there will be no segregated college teams."

In regard to SUCE and a similar request made by the College of Engineering, the board said, "These groups have assumed that boycotting segregated teams will be more effective than playing them. The evidence of recent experience indicates the converse is true.

"The act of placing our team on the field against a segregated team while insisting that all our players be accorded the same treatment is itself an affirmation of our belief in racial equality," the statement said.

Robert Cohen, president of SUCE, said he was "glad to see the group acted quickly, but we don't agree with their position."

Cohen said the only evidence of experience with segregated teams he had noticed was a fight after last fall's football game with Richmond, allegedly caused by a racial conflict.

Cohen commented he felt that segregated schools were not worthy opponents for athletic contests. He said the group will try to enlist the aid of other student and faculty groups in an attempt to continue negotiations.

A Great Humanitarian

Friday Syracuse University lost a part of itself, in the death of vice-president emeritus F. Gordon Smith.

Dr. Smith, who had been affiliated with Syracuse University since 1935, was one of the most significant forces in transforming Syracuse University from a small liberal arts college to one of the largest privately owned universities in the country.

When Dr. Smith came to the Hill in 1935 as the university's first executive secretary, the alumni fund was a modest one, with only 100 to 200 contributors a year.

By the time of his retirement in 1962, Dr. Smith (now a vice president) had swelled the number of university friends to five figures.

According to Chancellor William P. Tolley, Dr. Smith was the "most singularly important figure in the physical expansion of Syracuse University."

Almost every building in which the Hill student now resides or has classes was in part responsible to the efforts of Dr. Smith, for he participated in the construction of more than 30 buildings.

But the greatness of Dr. Smith comes not only from his work in development. He was indeed a great humanitarian who was beloved in the city as well as on the Hill.

In "Who's Who in America," Dr. Smith was cited as a "very unique person." Only those who had come in contact with him knew how unique.

In addition to the service that he performed for the Hill, there were other monuments to the person who "had given tremendous loyalty to the university and had given it great devotion."

Dr. Smith was a great humanitarian. He was active in almost every conceivable charity, including the Community Chest, Red Cross, and other community drives.

The long-time resident of the university and the city will live long in the memory of those who knew him, for to paraphrase Chancellor Tolley, he was a unique personality, universally beloved in the city and on the Hill because he had a tremendous loyalty to Syracuse and gave it his undivided devotion.

Students: Do You Care

Syracuse students cry they are under-fed and ill-treated, but when they are asked to aid an investigating committee in seeking out and improving these conditions, they remain silent.

Such silence is reflected in the recent request of the food investigating committee to have surveys completed and to the committee office early this week.

To date, 1,500 of these surveys have been completed, with 3,500 outstanding.

Student apathy in failing to complete these files for the food committee is ridiculous. For whom are the committee members and food service trying to improve? Certainly it is not for their own glorification.

Menus can not be improved without student suggestions, and if they are revised without student approval why have a food probe at all?

It would take no more than five minutes to finish the outstanding questionnaires, but these five minutes go ignored, forgotten or whatever, by the students on the Hill.

The committee needs the suggestions of the student body. That is the reason for the questionnaire. How else can a fair and workable solution be devised for the food service problem?

DAILY ORANGE

February 17, 1964

Editor-in-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor Clayton E. Richards
News Editor Andrew Forte
Editorial Director Adair Dufine
Sports Editor Bernard MacCallum
Arts Editor Rea Turel
Feature Editor Steve Schwimmer

BUSINESS STAFF

Asst. Bus. Mgr. Jon Westberg
Circulation Mgr. Martha Johanyak
Sales & Ad. Mgr. Lynn Mandel
Classified Mgr. Christine Sedrak
Production Mgr. Stu Shapiro

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 200 Brookside Drive, Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter at U.S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

The Other Side of the Rainbow

Shades of Poe

by Andrew Porte

Dear Aunt Grace:

Today I am a pledge. Not a fountain pen, not any less a man, but a living, breathing fraternity pledge. I'm a Greek, and it's great. I think, act and live for myself.

A lot of the other guys here on the floor are fraternity pledges, too. Most went into different houses, but there was one group of three that went into rush knowing they were going to pledge together.

These three got together with some close friends they knew well who happened to be living on other floors and they rushed together. They visited the houses together when possible, and they all knew they'd wind up in the same place.

One of them came up with the name the "Sensational Six," and it stuck. The adjective, I understand, was one of their own choosing, obviously denoting some facet of desirability to the Greeks.

Over in another dorm, someone tells me, a bunch of guys who were in some sort of informal glee club together, formed the same kind of musketeerism. I think the musket was a trifle rusty.

Well, these two seemingly superlative sextets came down to the last day and night before decisions had to be made, and they were torn by that greatest foe of all thinking men — indecision.

It just happened that some of the boys preferred Alpha Alpha Alpha, while some liked Beta Beta Beta, and some even ventured so far as to say they were most impressed with Gamma Gamma Gamma.

Now I asked myself at that point, "What would the ordinary college freshman do under these circumstances?" taking into consideration that all the Greeks were telling us that this was to be the most important decision of our college lives.

Let me just mention that I disagreed with this original premise. I couldn't see any decision like this being more important than whether I take Bowling or Handball to fill my physical education requirement.

So I'd say that if this decision was so important, and I guess it was to them, I'd put aside prior agreements and go where I felt right. Either I'm not ordinary, or my definition of common sense died when they founded the IFC.

These guys were in a complete daze for near unto 24 straight hours. They would rush into their rooms, and then out and back in, chanting, "What do I do? What do I do? I gotta think. I like the Alphas but Hymie and Moe like the Gammas."

There were guys calling at all hours of the day and night, and then some sorority girls started calling to offer their opinions. Perish anyone should have had any Monday classes.

They were meeting together in rooms and yelling at each other; they were meeting in the halls and yelling; they were arguing in the lounges. The only place I could get some solace was on the toilet.

They, the men in the grey flannel suits came around — the IFC's crack police force, designed and aimed to keep us poor, naive, troubled freshmen from those nasty Greeks with whom we'd be brothers in a matter of days.

The arguments continued long into the night and early morning, with trips common between here and the other dorms so that the individuals there were thinking.

The betting odds changed from hour to hour, with the Betas and Gammas leading and the Alphas falling far behind. At 4 a. m., it would take five dollars to get you three if you bet they'd go Beta. One dollar would get you 15 if you chose the Alphas.

The tragedy is that of this conglomeration of young minds there were only a few leaders — no more than three in the close to 30 who were involved.

And as it had to be, one of the leaders spoke better than the others. It was a remarkable display of clean rushing — by freshmen of other freshmen. There was no dirt involved; there couldn't have been, because the IFC vigilantes lurked in the corridors.

A leader was born, they tell me, and I wish him the best of luck and my heartiest congratulations, because I see that the world, especially the Greek world, needs strong, persuasive leaders.

Yet it needs leaders not to convince and sway those committed to the system, for that is an infringement of man's final outlet — his individuality and right to make his own decision. This leader is wrong.

The Greeks need leaders to help the system build and prosper, for the numbers of pledges continue to tumble.

The day of the "Sensational Six" is over, for now they are the "Fabulous Five." One of them and one of those glee club members listened to all the arguments, but decided that the ties of prospective fraternalism would be stronger than the ties of dormitory friendship. He is a Beta, and the rest are Gammas.

Give the boys a pat on the back, for they are the kind of thinkers that are so lacking today. I met them only briefly, since they didn't live on my floor, but I hope they go far. They deserve it.

The other five will be happy, I trust, for they have found what they can call their home. They will live normal lives, and they will graduate, just as their predecessors have.

Congratulations to the Gammas, for they have ten or more brothers with whom to live and collect fees from. Congratulations to the Betas, who have found two new brothers with whom to live.

As for me, I'm a Mooka Nooka Poo, a Greek outgrowth of CORE. We don't discriminate — all you have to do it picket.

Let us hope, Auntie dear, that the glory that was Greece does not become the glory that is grease.

Your nephew,
Harry.

LETTERS

Children

To the Editor:

On a pleasant evening of this week I decided to take a stroll down Marshall Street in the general direction of the Varsity. The street was crowded with students taking a break from taking a break. (After all, who studies at SU?) I was anticipating a good hot cup of coffee and some good conversation with my friends.

However, it seemed that some students decided that I looked just a little too content in my plans and thusly decided to ruin them. Their method worked. It not only disrupted my pleasure but ruined a pair of white gloves ($5.00) and stained a winter coat with a fur collar which will cost $2.00 to have cleaned.

The method was simple. They stole mustard container from The Savoy and squirted it up and down my coat, on my legs and in my hair. I walked around looking like I should be spread on a hot dog until one of my friends noticed it.

And Syracuse students want more responsibility, less restrictions. Don't make me laugh.

Judith Krom
Graduate Student

Systems

To the Editor:

For the past two weeks we, along with too many other freshmen, have walked from house to house, smiles plastered on our faces, anxiously awaiting the day when we too could become "Gods" and "Goddesses." We entered the Greek system of rush unaware of how our emotions were to be toyed with. At each house we were shown what brotherhood supposedly stood for. We returned day after day to pick up our bids, hoping to find we were wanted by those we considered so great.

Now, after pledging ourselves to the system, the truth is out. What should have been three days of happy and hopeful waiting has turned instead to three days of truthful rumor, disillusionment, and some regret.

Why is it that the houses considered "top" on campus must resort to such underhanded means to trap their pledges? Don't they think that their happy faces, sincere words, and outstretched hands of friendship are enough to win us over to their side and not their rival's?

We regret to inform you "brothers" and "sisters" that we are no longer.
Naive Freshmen

Thanks

To the Editor:

I wish to thank the library staff for adding to study convenience by extending the hours of the Citizenship Library (and I believe all the other branch libraries).

For those who could not find the new hours in the Daily Orange they are Monday through Friday - 8:30 a.m. - 11:30 p.m.; Saturday - 8:30 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.; and Sunday - 2:00 p.m. - 10:00 p.m.

David S. Michel
Graduate Student

POLICY ON

LETTERS

The letters column is maintained for the expression of opinion by readers. However, the Daily Orange reserves the right to edit letters for grammar and good taste or to reject letters. Letters should be written legibly, preferably typed and no longer than 250 words. All letters must be signed with names and addresses; names will be withheld on request.

Hungarian Orchestra to Play

The Philharmonica Hungarica will perform at 8:30 p. m. on February 18 at Lincoln Auditorium. The concert will be given under the sponsorship of the Famous Artists Series.

The 85-member orchestra was formed when 200 professional instrumentalists were forced to flee Hungary in 1956, during that country's revolution. The refugees auditioned before a committee and, eventually, a group of orchestra size was formed.

The Philharmonica Hungarica made its debut in Vienna in May, 1957. The Viennese critics praised the group for their string tone and rhythmic sense.

Since its debut, the tours of the Philharmonica Hungarica have made it one of the most widely traveled orchestras in the world for its age.

The group made its American debut in October, 1959, at Carnegie Hall. After this North American tour, the orchestra will perform in Europe for three seasons.

Chief conductor of the Philharmonica Hungarica is Miltiades Caridis. Tickets are available at the Clark Music Building and are priced at $3, $3.60, $4 and $4.80.

Grad Student Concert Solos At Crouse

Phyllis Jahns, graduate student at the Syracuse University School of Music, will present an organ recital on Monday, February 17, 1964, at 8:30 p. m. in Crouse Auditorium.

The program will include "Three Chorale Preludes" by Bach, "Fantasie on Bach" by Reger and "Grande Piece Symphonique" by Cesar Franck.

Jahns is organist at University Methodist Church and Temple Society of Concord in Syracuse. She holds a Bachelor of Music degree from Oberlin Conservatory of Music. She is currently working toward a Master of Music degree under Dr. Arthur Poister's direction. Dr. Poister is a faculty member of the Syracuse University School of Music Organ.

Minstrels

The music of the New Christy Minstrels will be offered on WAER's Folkways show, scheduled for 11 p.m. Wednesday. The Minstrels will be in Syracuse Sunday for a concert at the Manley Field House.

Miltiades Caridis
"Conductor"

Boar's Head Holds Festival

Boar's Head, the dramatic honorary, will be responsible for the productions that will constitute the High School and Junior High School Dramatic festival Friday and Saturday at the Regent Theatre.

There will be four junior high schools and two high schools participating in the program. The program will consist of plays, and the critiques of the plays, lead by Gerald F. Reidenbaugh, chairman of the drama department. There will also be workshops, and a bill of three one-act plays put on by Boar's Head.

"Boar's Head members and apprentices will serve as the stage managers and technicians for the show. It will be their duty to see that the technical aspects of the individual productions will go smoothly," said Richard Folmer, president of Boar's Head, and coordinating chairman of the Festival.

Boar's Head will sponsor three workshops for the students participating in the festival. One is a make-up session, led by Ellenjoy Schindler and Leslie Meek on Friday afternoon.

Saturday morning, there will be an acting workshop led by Dr. Joseph Golden, associate professor of drama. A scene with Marion Present and Richard Folmer from the up-coming drama production, "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," will be under discussion.

There will also be a technical workshop on "Lighting the High School Stage," led by John Workman of the Drama department.

The introduction to the Festival will be given by Gerald F. Reidenbaugh, chairman of the drama department Friday afternoon. He will also serve as one of the speakers at the banquet that will be given Saturday night in Sims Dining Hall for all the participants.

Saturday evening, there will be a bill of three one-act plays given by Boar's Head. These will be "Maid to Marry," "The Sandbox" and "A Phoenix Too Frequent."

Participating in the festival will be the H. W. Smith Junior High, performing "Bobby Sox"; Huntington Junior High will do "Sauce for the Gossings"; Prescott Junior High will give scenes from the musical "Guys and Dolls"; Grant Junior High will present a double bill of "Red Carnations" and "The Still Alarm"; Eastwood Senior High will produce scenes from "Finian's Rainbow," and North High School will enact "Antic Spring."

Riviera Cinema
3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. • 644-4021

"To Bed... or not to Bed"
Plus
Francois Truffaut's
"THE 400 BLOWS"

WAER

88.3 mc

MONDAYS

- 4:00 Sign On News
- 4:15 WAER Highlights
- 4:15 Experiment in Music
- 6:00 BBC World Report
- 6:15 Communiqué
- 6:30 Tom Stone and the News
- 6:45 International Report
- 7:00 Syracuse 164 Drama Workshop
- 7:30 Challenges to Democracy
- 8:30 The 8:30 Report
- 8:35 Contemporary Scene
- 10:45 The Late Night Report
- 11:00 The Sounds of Jazz
- 12:15 Headlines and Sign Off

WINNER!

"BEST PICTURE OF THE YEAR!"
"BEST ACTOR!"
Albert Finney
"BEST DIRECTOR!"
Tony Richardson
—New York Film Critics Award

The whole world loves Tom Jones!

ALBERT FINNEY, SUSANNAH YORK
CONTINUOUS SHOWING! NO RESERVED SEATS!
NOW A Schine Theatre ECKEL

Tuesday
Evenings
Two Showings
7 and 9 p.m.

University
REGENT
Theatre

820 EAST GENESEE

TOMORROW

Shakespeare
Film Series

"MACBETH"

(U. S. A.)

Tickets, 75c

Daily Crossword Puzzle

- ACROSS
- 1 Food fish.
 - 5 An astronaut.
 - 10 Title held by MacArthur.
 - 14 Theatre section.
 - 15 Man's felt slipper.
 - 16 Noted war correspondent.
 - 17 Enveloping glow.
 - 18 Authoritative dictum.
 - 19 "— old cow-hand..." 2 words.
 - 20 B.W.I. island where 5 Across visited: 3 words.
 - 23 Repentant one.
 - 24 — de-sac.
 - 25 Take on additional oil.
 - 28 Paneling.
 - 33 Continue to be.
 - 34 Short thick fragment.
 - 35 Eureka!
 - 36 Member of a religious order.
 - 37 Working.
 - 38 Traffic: Abbr.
 - 39 Yellow bugle.
 - 40 Beginning.
 - 41 Lively: Dial.
 - 42 Bear.
 - 44 Stories: Fr.
 - 45 Penn — near Rochester, N.Y.
 - 46 Marian, for one.
 - 47 Glenn's capsule: 2 words.
 - 55 Take it easy.
 - 56 Part of a dinner set.
 - 57 — Lisboa, city of Angola.
 - 58 Helmsman's term.
 - 59 Fido's cousin.
 - 60 2nd century date: Rom.
 - 61 Letterpress.
 - 62 Jugs.
 - 63 Give a cheer.
 - DOWN
 - 1 Smelting product.
 - 2 — hand.
 - 3 Ancient Mogul capital.
 - 4 VIP in Washington: 2 words.
 - 5 Fairy tale character.
 - 6 God identified with Loki.
 - 7 Title in Turkey.
 - 8 — and crop (completely).
 - 9 Observing.
 - 10 Slops over.
 - 11 Cornice molding.
 - 12 Comdr. Shepard.
 - 13 Hang.
 - 14 Musical specialty.
 - 22 Lowered.
 - 25 Decrease.
 - 26 From the egg: Lat.
 - 27 Last.
 - 28 Plaintive sound.
 - 29 Benevolent elderly lady.
 - 30 200 milligrams.
 - 31 Chicago airfield.
 - 32 White House dwellers, 1909.
 - 34 Water bird.
 - 37 Locale of Longfellow's "Evangeline": 2 words.
 - 38 Bias.
 - 40 Ollie's friend.
 - 41 Petits —
 - 43 Grommet.
 - 44 Young berries used in dressings.
 - 46 Joint in carpentry.
 - 47 Level.
 - 48 Part.
 - 49 Hardy evergreen.
 - 50 Sure's companion.
 - 51 Contain.
 - 52 Lemming mouse.
 - 53 Kind of eye.
 - 54 Fix in steady attention.

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

Tues. Feb. 18

Lincoln Auditorium

Hungarian Philharmonic

Miltiades Caridis, Conducting

"Dances From Galanta"
"Symphony No. 8"
"Two Portraits"
Overture-Fantasia:
"Romeo and Juliet"

Kodaly
Beethoven
Bartok

Tchaikowsky

Student Tickets available for $2.00

Famous Artists

Clark Music Bldg.

GR 1-0462

LETTERS

Grades

To the Editor:

The DO has recently carried an article on revision of the grading system which would be desirable from the student viewpoint. This problem is more than academic to many of the faculty as well. Contrary to popular student opinion, the faculty does take the task of assigning fair grades seriously, and collectively spends many hours attempting to arrive at just decisions. A revised system allowing finer gradations would enable many of us to sleep better in January and May.

The problem is particularly evident in graduate courses where there are essentially only two acceptable grades, "A" and "B". The student who has received seven "B's" and one "C" usually contends that all of the "B's" were "high" "B's" and that he really has a "B" average and should be allowed to start a thesis. Unfortunately, with the present system, there is no way of determining whether the student's assertion is true or false, since only one kind of "B" is recorded. From my own experience in grading there is a considerable difference between the student who barely achieved a "B" and the student who barely missed an "A" but this is in no way reflected in the official grades.

For those who require a scientific basis for adopting finer gradations, may I offer the following result which is easily proved in the mathematical discipline called "Information Theory." In general, the process of merging separate categories (say "B—" "B" and "B—") into a single category, "B," destroys information about the student contained in the final grade. This result holds however imprecisely the students were placed in the categories B—, B, B+, etc.

While I support the general idea behind the proposed revision (DO of 2-3), I believe the same effect could be obtained in a way which is somewhat more compatible with the present system. Specifically, I propose that instructors be allowed to assign grade points rather than letter grades. For example, in a three credit hour course "A" would become nine grade points and "B" would become eight, seven or six grade points, while in a two credit hour course "A" would be six and "B" five or four. This would seem to achieve the desired result without burdening us all with continual manipulation of fractions. However, the details of any revision are not as important as the idea of a system with finer gradations.

R. A. Johnson,
Professor of Electrical Engineering.

Trivia

To the Editor:

Will you please relay my congratulations to Mr. Zients for his last column, "Dream Girls?" He has again outdone himself and reached the ultimate height of trivia, tastelessness and inconsequential journalism.

While I don't relish the calendar any more than Mr. Zients does, it seems rather base to degrade the girls who passed in print. All Mr. Zients' little "ins" did not go over our heads; we recognized the tactless, obscene and ridiculously low references.

Mr. Editor, while you fired Ron Corwin you might have had a double de-header and ended Mr. Zients' trivial outbursts once and for all. Zients' history in the Daily Orange is one of pompous nonsense, mixed cleverly with ridiculously pious, unimportant accusations.

In short, why must we be subjected to Walter Winchell when the Daily Orange is as limited for space as it is?

Dick Stone,
Class of '66.

Critics

To the Editor:

Maybe Zelermyer knew what he was talking about. Maybe in the Daily Orange the truth is good only up to a point. Maybe the reader, as well as the writer, is more interested in being entertained by meaningless word play and pomposity than in the excitement of discovery and insight.

And maybe the Daily Orange is in need of a drama critic interested in making himself understood. With all its maybes and negatives, Zelermyer's magnificent critique (DO, Feb. 13) says:

If Pirandello did not know what he was talking about, something was missing from the production of Six Characters in Search of an Author.

Is this really in need of being said?

If Shakespeare did not know what he was talking about, something was missing from Hamlet.

If Lincoln did not know what he was talking about, then something was missing from the Gettysburg Address.

The only thing left to say is "If Zelermyer does not know what he is talking about, something is missing from the Daily Orange."

This has become more evident with every trite and pedantic criticism he has regurgitated.

If he trifles with Carousell (why bother?), this may be tolerable, but when he quibbles with the best production Syracuse has seen this year, someone must react.

He says smugly, "I was almost constantly aware of what Director Mark Healy was doing and why." For the over-awed and uninitiated, a constructive criticism based on this superior knowledge might give us the excitement of discovery and insight which Zelermyer seems to have an incommunicable monopoly on.

And if he must continue to foist on us his insufferable opinions based on a modicum of education in drama, he can at least make sure we don't have to read his critiques several times to unravel the mysterious syntax.

Marlene Phillips,
Class of '61.

ALL BOB DYLAN ALBUMS ON SALE!

Mono 2⁹⁷ Stereo 3⁷⁷

NEWEST RELEASE

EVERYBODY'S TALKING ABOUT BOB DYLAN

"I can feel it, but Dylan can say it. He's phenomenal."—Joan Baez
"The most important folk singer today."—Peter, Paul and Mary

CL 2105/CS 8905 Stereo
Bob Dylan sings more of his highly charged, deeply moving songs about the contemporary scene.

CL 1779/CS 8579*

"Dylan performs with zest and vigor few will resist."—Saturday Review

CL 1986/CS 8785*

Includes the hit "Blowin' in the Wind"

*Stereo

© COLUMBIA RECORDS INC. PRINTED IN U.S.A.

ON COLUMBIA RECORDS

Save on Records at University Hill Music Box

OWNED AND OPERATED BY SYRACUSE U. STUDENTS

University Hill
MUSIC BOX

754 So. Crouse Ave.

475-4116

Open Mon, thru Fri. 10-8—SAT. till 5:30

C.W. POST COLLEGE

OF LONG ISLAND UNIVERSITY

Salutes the World's Fair with

TWO 5-WEEK SUMMER SESSIONS

Enjoy a profitable summer of study and recreation at the 141-acre campus of C. W. Post College, located on the North Shore of Long Island, only 30 minutes from the World's Fair, one hour from Midtown Manhattan.

On-campus facilities include: swimming, gymnasium, riding, bowling, theatre and concerts.

APPLICATIONS NOW BEING ACCEPTED
for

DAY & EVENING SESSIONS

JUNE 22 to JULY 24 ★ JULY 27 to AUGUST 28

NEW MEN'S and WOMEN'S RESIDENCE HALLS AVAILABLE

ACCELERATE YOUR DEGREE PROGRAM

UNDERGRADUATE COURSE offerings include studies in Liberal Arts and Sciences, Pre-Professional, Pre-Engineering, Business and Education.

GRADUATE COURSE offerings include studies in Biological Sciences, Education, English, Guidance and Counseling, History, Library Science, Mathematics, Music Education and Political Science.

DISTINGUISHED VISITING AND RESIDENT FACULTY
OUTSTANDING LIBRARY FACILITIES

APPLY NOW... Admission open to VISITING STUDENTS from other accredited colleges.

For additional information, summer bulletin and application, phone 516 MAYfair 6-1200 or mail coupon

Dean of Summer School, C. W. Post College, P.O., Greenvale, L.I., N.Y. 11548

Please send me Summer Sessions information bulletin.

☐ Women's Residence Hall ☐ Men's Residence Hall
☐ Undergraduate ☐ Graduate ☐ Day ☐ Evening

Name.....

Address.....

City....., State.....

If visiting student, from which college?.....

News of the ROTC Cadets

The "Association of the United States Army Award for Excellence in Military History" was presented recently to ROTC Cadet Donald Harris. Harris won the award for attaining the highest average in the sophomore ROTC course, American Military History.

Harris also received a book entitled "American Campaigns." He is a sophomore in the College of Liberal Arts, residing in Brooklyn. The award was presented by Major Richard L. Ryan.

A former cadet colonel in the SU ROTC corps has been cited for saving the government $288,000 a year. James H. Brill, now an Army captain, received a U. S. Army Commendation Medal at White Sands Missile Range, N.M.

Capt. Brill received the medal for a suggestion he made while assigned to the missile project. His suggestion resulted in the discontinuance of one phase of Nike-Hercules testing.

Capt. Brill was the outstanding graduate in the SU ROTC class of 1956. He was also a starting lineman on the Orange football team that season.

The National Society of Pershing Rifles has selected Miss Adrienne Dedek as the honorary sponsor of the local unit. She was presented to the Syracuse ROTC corps at a special formation.

ADRIANNE DEDEK

Miss Dedek will represent Pershing Rifles as a candidate in the Military Ball queen contest. She is a freshman in the College of Fine Arts. She was selected by a panel of judges from among 17 candidates.

Pershing Rifles is a national service organization which Army cadets may join in their freshman and sophomore years.

Sixteen Army ROTC cadets have been designated to wear "Gold Rifles" because of their participation on the ROTC rifle team.

In order to qualify for the distinction of "gold rifle," a cadet must have scored a minimum of 250 of a possible 300 points.

The sixteen are Gerald Banky, Donald Hadyk, Roger Rubrecht, William Gold, Robert Kinstrey, Ronald Stout, and David Daurbert.

Also Malcolm Fordham, Richard Goodrich, James Kiskoek, Richard Lawless, John Lockwood, Patrick Murphy, Strart Ross, Joseph Sebo and Richard Shay.

Lt. Jeannette M. Kabat, Women's Army Corps selection officer for the Central New York area will be at SU from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. today.

Falk . . .

(continued from page 1)
York City where he studied under her for a time.

Since then, Falk's dramatic career has brought him an Emmy Award, and a nomination for an Academy Award as best supporting actor.

Although Falk has traveled far since his Syracuse student days, a bit of the University still remains with him. He took his name from Sawyer Falk, founder of the Syracuse University drama department.

INTRAS

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

Basketball
7:00 - 1, Booth 1 vs. Dell Plain 1; 2, Sims 1 vs. Watson W 1; 3, Booth 2 vs. Dell Plain 2.
7:15 - 1, Sadler 2 vs. Watson E 2; 2, Sims 2 vs. Watson W 2; 3, Booth 3 vs. Dell Plain 3.
8:03 - 1, Sadler 3 vs. Watson E 3; 2, Sadler 4 vs. Men's Co-Op 1; 3, Watson W 4 vs. Watson E 4.

Handball
7:00 - Tau Delta Phi vs. Kappa Phi Delta.
8:00 - Phi Alpha vs. Sigma Alpha Mu.

THE "BOOKSTALL"

147 Marshall Street
Fascinating Gifts, Fine Stationery, Fabulous Cards
38 Years by the Campus
Your Friendly Alumni Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow

FREE

1

with purchase of Yashica Penta J $144.95
SLR Camera with case

135 mm. Soligor Telephoto Lens or 35 mm. Soligor Wide Angle Lens

FREE

DeLuxe Carrying Case worth 16.50 with Yashica U-Matic 8 Movie Camera including Pistol Grip

List
$137.90

Now
$120.00

makes zoom movies easy

303 University Place

Prof. Alexander Talks On Racial Imbalance

George J. Alexander, assistant professor of law at SU, was principal speaker in a program sponsored by the Buffalo Citizens' Council on Human Rights. He spoke Tuesday night in Buffalo on "Racial Imbalance in Our Schools."

Buffalo schools are now in a shifting process from a two level system (elementary and senior high school) to a three level system (elementary, junior high school, and senior high school), he explained.

Determination of the Woodlawn Junior High School district boundaries will commit Buffalo either to a program of integrated or segregated schools, Alexander said.

He said the change in the educational system offered the city an unusual opportunity to end further de facto school segregation.

Alexander warned that although the Negro community in Buffalo has not yet been militant, there would be a "militant response in the courts and in the streets" if Woodlawn became a segregated school.

He also voiced criticism on the school policy of optional transfer zones in some parts of the city that allow parents a choice of sending their children to two or three different schools.

"An optional transfer zone ought not to be permitted in a school system which has said it is attempting to 'do something about integration,'" he declared.

Alexander is the author of a recent study of Buffalo schools, part of a series of staff reports: "Civil Rights U. S. A. Public Schools—Cities of the North and West."

These studies deal with the problems of school segregation in states whose laws and policies did not require school segregation at the time the U.S. Supreme Court declared such practices unconstitutional.

TODAY
4 p. m., WAA volleyball, gym B.
5:05 p. m., Lutheran Daily Devotions, north wing, Hendricks Chapel.

TUESDAY
6:45 p. m., Christian Science college organization meeting, Colonial Room, Hendricks Chapel. All interested students are invited.
7 p. m., Outing Club, 110 Hall of Languages.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

A	Q	U	I	A	T	I	C	D	A	B	B	L	E	S
S	U	M	M	A	R	I	E	A	M	E	R	I	G	O
H	A	P	I	E	R	M	E	G	A	T	I	O	N
E	L	I	S	A		A	B	O	Y
I	G	O	R	S	N	E	G	A	T	I	V	E	S
N	O	S	E	T	O	R	E
F	E	S	S	E	S	A	R	R	O	G	A	T	E
A	S	I	C	A	I	S	S	O	N
N	O	C	T	U	R	N	E
T	U	L	E			C	R	A	M	A	C	T	S
S	T	I	E	L	I	E	S	T	A	N	T	S
T	A	R	N			L	E	A	N
G	A	L	L	E	N	A	S			A	C	R	E	A
O	V	E	R	I	A	T	I	E		S	T	O	R	M
D	A	I	S	T	I	E	S			T	O	N	S	I

Feb. 25, 26, 27, 28

If you cannot attend the interview, write or call:

W. J. Waibel, Branch Manager
IBM Corp. ■ 1000 James Street
Syracuse 3, N. Y. ■ GR 2-7851. ■

Research ■ Development Engineering ■ Manufacturing (Engineering) ■ Business Administration ■ Programming ■ Marketing/Sales ■ Systems Engineering ■ interview:

"The future depends on people with ideas."

This statement helps explain the work at IBM today: seeking and finding new ways to handle information, planning and building new machinery for the task, exploring wholly new methods. ■ The demand for ideas has never been greater.

If you'd like to check into the new things going on at IBM—and the significant professional opportunities opening up there for men and women—see your college placement officer and make an appointment to talk with IBM representatives. ■ IBM is an Equal Opportunity Employer. ■

MOVE AHEAD—SEE

IBM

Food Service

Students gather daily to eat lunch in Kimmel Hall, SU's newest dining hall. This picture, taken during Friday's noon meal, shows the crowds enjoying the food service cuisine. The meal was tuna fish with corn.

FORTRAN Offers New Course

The first in a series of four programs in FORTRAN program-

Bible Lecture Set

The third in a series of lectures on Biblical Christianity will be delivered at 4 p.m.

Delivering the lecture on Tuesday in 221 Maxwell Hall, "How a Man Becomes Right in God's Sight" will be Rev. Donald A. Miller, minister of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church in the city.

ning will be offered at 4:30 p.m. today in 116 Machinery Hall. The other three two-hour sessions will be held Wednesday, Friday and next Monday, Feb. 21.

The program is basically designed for those with no programming experience. The last two sessions will be devoted to the PEST system and FORMAT statements and will be of interest to individuals who already know FORTRAN.

Physical Ed Classes Set

Physical education programs will be offered during the summer at Syracuse University for teachers of dental hygiene, health and general physical education on the secondary and elementary school levels.

Teaching personnel for the summer sessions include three Syracuse University athletic coaches. They are Ted Daily, assistant football coach; Fred Lewis, basketball coach and Paul Romeo, gymnastic coach.

Hill Suffers . . .

(Continued from Page 1)
coxswain and later vice-president."

Newell W. Rossman, Syracuse University vice-president for development, said: "I feel a deep sense of personal loss with the passing of F. Gordon Smith. "Since the day he called me in the Canal Zone and asked me to return to Syracuse University in 1945, we have had a very close relationship working together for Syracuse University. Both the university and all of us associated with it will miss him.

His sense of humor, his love for people, his faith and patience, his willingness to help and his love of selling — all these are marks of F. Gordon Smith and I know of their effect on others. We all hope we can carry on in his image."

Charles C. Noble, dean of Hendricks Chapel, said: "F. Gordon Smith was one of the most colorful personalities I have ever known. Like Abraham Lincoln, he had stories for every occasion, and he told them well. A complete extrovert, he was the life of the party wherever he went. No one was ever more loyal to Syracuse University than he. The buildings erected on this campus in the last decade and a half are physical witnesses to his ability to expedite a project and complete it successfully and happily.

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "Rally Round the Flag, Boys!" and "Barefoot Boy With Check".)

ECONOMICS CAN BE CHUCKLES

Many of you have been avoiding economics because it is so widely known as "the dismal science." Oh, good friends, stop cheating yourselves of many a laugh and cheer, because economics is a positive riot! True, it is called the dismal science, but that is only because it was invented in 1681 by Walter C. Dismal.

It is easy to understand why Mr. Dismal's discovery of economics is today almost forgotten, for the fact is that he himself only stayed with the subject for two or three days. After that he took up embonpoint, which means fatness. It is said that at his apogee, Mr. Dismal reached 1200 pounds. This later became known as Guy Fawkes Day.

It was not until 1776 when Adam Smith published his Wealth of Nations (or Ozymandias, as it is usually known as) that the world came to realize what a rosy, twinkly, fun subject economics is. As Mr. Smith showed in his jocular little treatise, there is nothing complicated about economics.

When there is a great demand for a product, a great supply is placed on the market. When there is a small demand, there is a small supply. Take, for example, castanets. You walk into any average American town today and I'll wager you won't see more than eighty or ninety castanet shops. That is because the demand is small.

For Marlboro Cigarettes, on the other hand, the demand is great. Thus, you will find Marlboros—with all their yummy rich tobacco flavor and pure white Selectrate filter and pliable soft pack and unpliable Flip-Top box—at any counter where cigarettes are sold in every one of our fifty great States and Duhuth.

To Adam Smith, I say, belongs the distinction of popularizing economics. Mr. Smith was followed by David Ricardo. In fact, everywhere he went he was followed by David Ricardo. Mr. Smith finally got so annoyed that he summoned a bobby, as British policemen are called, and had Mr. Ricardo arrested. This later became known as the Louisiana Purchase.

Upon his release from gaol, as a British jail is called, Mr. Ricardo reported to his parole officer, Thomas Robert Malthus. They soon became fast friends, and one night over a game of whist they invented the stock exchange, or chutney, as it is called in England.

Well sir, with the British having, you might say, a corner on economics, the French decided that they wanted some economics too. Being, however, a proud nation, they refused simply to borrow British economics, but insisted on inventing their own. At first they tried using the truffle hound as a medium of exchange. When this proved less than satisfactory, they switched to pomade. Discouraged by this second disappointment, they finally shrugged and said, "Oh, who cares about economics anyhow?" and returned to the guillotine and Maurice Chevalier.

America, I am pleased to report, had much better success with economics. Our early merchants quickly broke down economics into its two major categories—coins and folding money—and today, as a result of their wisdom, we can all enjoy the automatic toll station.

Well sir, I could go on and on about this fascinating subject, but I know you're all in a tearing hurry to rush out and sign up for Econ I. So I will leave you now with two kindly words of farewell: Gresham's Law.

© 1964 Max Shulman

* * *

We, the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes, are tobaccoists, not economists. But this much we know about supply and demand: you demand full flavor in a filter cigarette; we supply it—Marlboro!

THE SEALED DEAL IS HERE

From February 15 through February 28 Sealed Deal certificates may be redeemed at any University Bookstore. If you have an envelope containing one of these certificates, bring it to a University Bookstore. DO NOT OPEN THIS ENVELOPE. Make a purchase of any number of paper bound books. When your books are presented at the cash register, our cashier will open the envelope. You will receive a discount from 10% to 50% depending upon the amount stated on your certificate. There is no limit to the amount of books you may buy subject to the discount, but the books must be presented to the cashier before the certificate is opened.

All of our charge customers have received Sealed Deal certificates in the mail. The first 2,000 cash customers purchasing paper bound books starting February 15 will be presented with a sealed certificate to be used for future purchases.

As a bonus, the holders of the first 2,500 certificates redeemed will be given a sealed certificate for use in our clothing department.

Because of the tremendous savings on this special sale, all sales will be final, no refunds will be given.

303 University Place

Foresters Crown Sweetheart 5 New Members On Forestry Faculty

Gail Gunther, a 21 year old liberal arts history major representing Alpha Chi Omega sorority, was crowned queen of the 1964 Sweethearts Ball Saturday night at Drumlins Country Club.

Miss Gunther, from Berkeley Heights, New Jersey, was chosen Forestry School queen from a field of five finalists. She was crowned at the Ball by the outgoing queen, Miss Linda Larson, presently a senior in the College of Home Economics.

The four semi-finalists who became members of Miss Gunther's court were:

Miss Judith Cotey, 19, a sophomore from North Lawrence. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and is a liberal arts zoology major.

Miss Kristian Sigmund, 18, a freshman from Lutiz, Pa. She is a forestry botany major and lives in Reid Cottage.

Miss Jean Murdoch, a junior bacteriology major from Briarcliff Manor. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Miss Barbara Smythe, a senior from Elmsford. She is a fine arts illustration major and a member of Sigma Kappa sorority.

SWEETHEART QUEEN GAIL GUNTHER

JUDITH COTEX

Smith . . .

(Continued from Page 1)
He was named SU Executive Secretary by Chancellor Charles W. Flint in 1935.

In 1956 the university awarded Smith an honorary doctor of laws degree. At the time Chancellor William P. Tolley praised Smith for "drive, enthusiasm and friendly warmth" and said Smith's contribution to the university "can never be forgotten."

The honorary citation concluded: "As long as any of us may live, we shall think of you with deepest gratitude."

A leader in the community, Smith was president of the Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club. He also was a director of the Syracuse Automobile Association, Hillcrest Home, YMCA and Community Chest and served as a Cazenovia College trustee.

Smith was a member of Onondaga Golf and Country Club, the Century Club and Phi Kappa Psi social fraternity.

He is survived by his wife, the former Dorothy Coman, and three children: Fred B. Smith II, Bethesda, Md.; Gordon B. Smith, 102 Cedar Lane, DeWitt; and Mrs. John H. Williams, Cleveland, O.

KRISTIAN SIGMUND

BARBARA SMYTHE

JEAN MURDOCH

The State University College of Forestry at Syracuse has added three new faculty members, Dean Hardy L. Shirley announced Friday.

The three are Prof. Henry S. Kernan, who will teach forestry economics; Prof. Larry L. McDowell, who will teach principles of phytopathology, and Prof. Eric Bjorkman who will direct programs for forest pathology.

Kernan has been a general forestry advisor for the U.S. Department of State's Agency for International Development. He has spent the last 13 years abroad, his last assignment being in Viet Nam.

McDowell, has just completed work on his Ph.D. in plant pathology at Oregon State University.

Bjorkman will be a visiting professor at the Hill forestry school this summer. He is chairman of the Department of Botany and Forestry Pathology at the Royal School of Forestry, in Stockholm, Sweden, and an internationally recognized forest pathologist. He will direct forestry pathology graduate students and a program in initiating root studies of diseased white ash.

Food . . .

(Continued from Page 1)
forms be turned in to the JSL representative or food representative in each living unit. Students who do not have forms are requested to contact the JSG office in the basement of Marion Hall between 1 and 4 p. m. today.

SHOP LOCAL
FOR BETTER BUYS

NEW CAREER FRONTIER in Israel FELLOWSHIPS

For Graduates in Industrial Engineering and Business Administration

Are you receiving your Bachelor or Masters Degree in Industrial Engineering or Business Administration in 1964? If so . . .

This fellowship program offers you on-the-job experience in diversified industrial problems, valuable experience in foreign markets, and the adventure of working in a dynamic, progressive country.

While employed, special arrangements are made for you to pursue post graduate studies leading to a MSc or Dsc degree at the Technion-Institute of Technology—at Haifa.

LOCAL INTERVIEWS
WILL BE CONDUCTED BY ISRAELI representative in the near future. To arrange an appointment in your school,

Rush resume to:

Mrs. M. Kabat, Exec. Secty. Fellowship Program

COMOI

515 Park Ave., New York 22, N.Y.
212, PL 2-0600

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	$.85
2 days	1.65
4 days	3.15
5 days	2.40
7 days	3.85
8 days	5.20
9 days	4.55
10 days	5.85
11 days	6.45
12 days	7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.

GREYHOUND TICKETS, schedules, information, bus and air charters. Hotel reservations foreign tours. FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC. in the Savoy. Monday-Friday 1-4; Thursday night 7-9. 476-8533.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired. Rented. Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-8833. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

ACCELERATED 5 lesson course, specializing in parking, traffic, road test. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-3451.

ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lilian M. Potter 207 Comstock Ave. GR 8-5847.

EUROPE—Uninterrupted tours are more exciting. Free booklet. Write: Europe, 255-C6 Sequoia, Pasadena, California 91105.

FRATERNITIES, SORORITIES, LIVING CENTERS are invited to enter Syracuse Motors VW contest to see what the capacity of a VW is—are you going to stand idly by while Detroit students set the record of 28 in a Volk?—we don't think so. Winning male and female teams will be awarded a free all-expense trip to Brewerton and $100 in stereo records or tapes—double this amount if winners exceed the present national record. For details call Don Cain at 474-6607.

TO BUY OR SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN: Spague Motors, 1000 Hiawatha Blvd. W., 474-6007, is the place.

NEED PROFESSIONAL assistance with your thesis, speech, article? Inquire of EDITORIAL ASSOCIATES, 116 Hazel St., East Syracuse, N.Y. HO 3-9754. (No undergraduate work handled.)

FOR SALE

FREE SOLDERING. all charms bought here. Charms, lozenges, jewelry, watch repair. Greeting cards. Personalized stationery. Valentine gifts and cards. Riviera sunglasses for men and women. Ruth's Gifts, 734 S. Crouse. Introductory Sale, Crepe de Chine Cologne and Nuit de Longchamp.

55 RAMBLER: Excellent engine. New battery. Snow tires. $200.00. See by appt. GR 8-6288.

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of four colors of paper, three colors of ink, two sizes of sheets. Bookstall.

WANTED

TEACHERS FOR IMMEDIATE OPENINGS in: Math. 7 and 8; English 9 thru 12. Apply Superintendent of Schools: Solinas, N.Y. HO 8-2554.

PART TIME help (male) — earn good money — car necessary. Ace Home Equipment Company, 1236 South State Street, Syracuse.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students
TWO BLOCKS FROM FIELDHOUSE, 225 Lorraine Ave. Modern 4-room upper, 2 bedrooms. Large closet, brick cupboards, refrigerator and stove. Picture window, living room and kitchen, ceramic tile bath, private parking area, on bus line. Available immediately, $115. NE 8-0497, GR 6-1473.

APARTMENTS FOR RENT. Two rooms with bath, 411 S. Crouse Ave. Call 476-7185 after 1 p.m.

2 BLOCKS FROM stadium. Newly decorated 6 room flat. Gas heat. Garage $90.00 Day's GR 8-3151 Evenings GR 6-7721.

BEAUTIFUL MODERN seven room upstairs apartment. Garage, stove, refrigerator, fireplace. Two blocks from Campus. $105. Call 472-1868.

FURNISHED or Unfurnished, ultra modern, 4 room, birch kitchens, ceramic baths, off street parking garage, 451 Midland Ave., near auto club. See superintendent. Apartment 3, or call 476-1482.

3 ROOMS RECENTLY remodeled — paneling, bus, light parking. $85.00. Call 478-4388.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models, also sales and service, special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 229 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

EXPERT TYPING and proofreading — call Danny at GR 2-6177.

TYPING, TERM PAPERS, ETC. 10 years experience. Reasonable rates. Call GR 8-6182 after 5:30.

THE WORLD'S FAMOUS YMCA INVITES YOU TO ITS HOLIDAY PROGRAMS

Every facility for your comfort in one building—laundry, cafeteria and coffee shop, barber, checking service, TV room, newsstand and tailor. Reasonable rates: Single — $2.75 - $2.90 $4.40 - $4.70 double.

WELCOME TO NEW YORK

WILLIAM SLOANE HOUSE Y.M.C.A.

356 West 34th St. (nr Ninth Ave.)
New York, N.Y. Phone: OXford 5-5133
(One Block From Penn Station)

Panthers Plague Piety, 69-67; Syracuse Off to West Virginia

W. Va., 15-8,
Host Orange
Tonight

By BILL CRONAUER
Junior Editor

West Virginia, SU's cage host tonight at Morgantown, has had its problems on the court this season. For the first time in nine years, the Mountaineers fail to have an All-American in the Thorn, West and Hundley mold.

But the Virginians, with a 15-8 record, are not lying down and playing dead. They own a six game winning streak including an 86-81 triumph over Pittsburgh last week.

Even more significant is the fact that the Mountaineers have bowed only once, to fifth-ranked Duke, on their home floor.

Considering the personnel turnover he's had to face this season, Coach George King is doing the best coaching of his career.

Not only did Rod Thorn and others take 51 per cent of last year's scoring punch with them, but King had to replace three of his four returning veterans in the starting lineup.

Except for 6-8, 223-pound center Tom Lowry, West Virginia is practically a new team.

The Mountaineers started this season with a spurt, capturing four victories in their five opening games. However, they then proceeded to drop six of their next eight.

A trait of King's coaching is that he does not stand pat when things go wrong. In the first month, he used 12 different players in the starting line-up, and only Lowry has started every game.

First, King found Ricky Ray, "tenth man" the previous campaign who was distinguished mainly for his foul shooting. The coach stayed with the little 6-09 scrapper and he has responded with a 10.9 point-per-game average.

As mid-season approached, King came up with Buddy Quettinmont, who has landed his 6-3 height and scoring punch to the backcourt. Quettinmont is scoring at a 9.1 ppg clip.

The Mountaineers' big play, however, came when King tabbed 6-8 Bob Camp to start in a double pivot with Lowry. Since he has been in the lineup, West Virginia has won eight of nine contests.

Camp has taken over as a solid no. 4 scorer at 7.1 ppg and contributed with his surprising ball-handling, board work and team play.

High-scorer and top rebounder for the Virginians has been senior Lowry. The husky center, top Mountaineer scorer in 13 games, has pumped in 346 markers, good for a 16.5 norm. He also paces the club in rebounds with 235.

The fifth starter is 6-4 junior forward Bill Maphis, who clicked for 22 points against Pitt.

COACH GEORGE KING AND TOM LOWRY

WAER Acted To Air Game

An intensive effort by the staff of radio station WAER and enthusiastic response by local merchants enabled the student station to broadcast the Pitt basketball game Saturday afternoon.

Thursday night program director Bob Feldman, sports director Tod Caso and Barry Lewis rounded up enough donors to pay for line charges to bring the game back to campus. A marathon phone calling session found merchants willing and eager to donate funds.

Among the donors were: Bill Rapp Pontiac, Bernie Markowitz Florists, Marley's Office Furniture, Ed Peterson Insurance, Spector-Genesee Motor Sales, Norman Rothchild, and the Syracuse University Club.

SU Wrestlers, Gymnasts Bow

By DICK GOULD
UNIVERSITY PARK, PA.

Penn State proved to be an ungracious host Saturday as the Nittany Lions defeated two visiting Syracuse teams.

In an afternoon contest 5,000 spectators saw a well balanced State gymnastics squad down the Orangemen, 165.90-154.85. The outstanding performer of the afternoon was Penn State's Mike Jacobson who captured three first place honors in the free exercise, horizontal bar, and parallel bars.

Other Nittany Lions who took firsts were Al Porter on the side horse, Pete Saponaro on the long horse vault, and Bill Keller on the still rings.

The big attraction was the battle between Sid Oglesby (S) and Saponaro, both undefeated on the long horse vault. Saponaro earned 9.65 points with a "hand spring." Even partisan State fans booed the judges award of only 9.60 to Oglesby.

Oglesby also had bad luck in the floor exercises. He was three seconds over the time limit which cost him three-tenths of a point and dropped him from first to second place in the event.

In the evening wrestling contest, 4,200 fans cheered the Sheffield, the "General"

Plus Fouls Stop Orange

By JUDY ADAMS
Associate Editor

PITTSBURGH, PA., — That's the way it happened, but that's not what the script called for. Daniel in the lion's den had conquered the hungry beasts and David of Goliath's fame had unaided slain the giant with one blow.

But David in the Panther's den couldn't do it with one shot (or 19) or with the help of his teammates. And so Syracuse limps on to West Virginia after a hard-to-digest 69-67 loss in the ugly green fieldhouse Pittsburgh calls home.

After you've been pulling out the close ones pretty regularly, you almost forget the pendulum can swing the other way; that which goes up must come down.

And for Syracuse it seems as though every time they went up, they were coming down on Cal Sheffield, who was literally faking the Orange off their feet.

Nine of SU's 19 personal fouls were committed against him.

With these fouls came the downfall of the Orange. Chuck Richards, who fouled out early in the fourth quarter, missed almost one-third of the game because of them and Dave Bing was burdened with three most of the game.

Syracuse at first looked like she might waltz to a win again. The Orange once had a nine-point lead after being behind by seven. Pitt was controlling the boards, but the Hillmen, at first tense, were working like a clock.

In the second half, the clubs took turns with the lead after Pitt had edged ahead. Until, with 1:06 left, the score 67-67, and Syracuse in the process of setting up the final shot, a casual pass from Sam Penceal was intercepted by Dave Sauer.

Sixty seconds later, Brian (The General) Generalovich was driving, turning and shoveling in a basket.

By the time Syracuse's frantic screams for a time out were heeded, the clock showed but three seconds remaining.

The pass to Bing was slung way over his head, and instead of Goliath, SU's post-season hopes lay wounded at David's feet.

Box Score

SU (67)	G	F	T	Pitt. (69)	G	F	T
Goldsmith	2	0	4	Generalovich	7	1	15
Penceal	3	0	6	Sauer	3	3	9
Richards	6	6	18	Krieger	1	0	2
Bing	7	0	14	Sheffield	7	12	26
Duffy	2	1	5	Roman	4	1	9
Trobridge	0	0	0	Ruby	0	0	0
Boeheim	2	2	6	Lovett	2	0	4
Ableman	3	2	8	Szykowny	2	0	4
Nicoletti	2	2	6
Totals	27	13	67	Totals	26	17	69
				Halftime — SU 35, Pitt 31

Nittany Lions to a 20-9 upset victory. The Orange grapplers earned only three wins while dropping three one-point decisions.

Jay Windfelder (PS) started the Lions rolling with a 3-0 decision over Ron Pritts at 123-pounds. An early danger sign for the Orange occurred at 130-class as Mark Priven (PS) earned four quick points in the first 15 seconds and hung on to upset Terry Haise 4-3.

Jim Murrin (S) provided the first victory for the Hill matmen with a 4-1 decision over Glen Thiel at 137. George Edwards (PS) beat John Dussling at 147, and Dick Slutzky (S) remained undefeated at 157 with a 6-2 decision over Joe Eremus to make the meet score 9-6 in favor of State.

George Riedener and Lew Roberts both dropped one-point decisions to Marty Strayer and Dick Walker, respectively. El-lery Seitz (PS) gained the only pin of the match over Barry Raichlin at 191. Big Bo Nance ended the meet with a 5-1 decision over Don McKenna.

The gymnasts (3-2) face undefeated Temple next Saturday at 2 p.m. in Archbold Gym, while the wrestling team opposes Cornell Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the fieldhouse.

DAILY

ORANGE

Syracuse University's Daily

Newspaper Since 1903

Vol. 61, No. 75

Syracuse, N. Y., Tuesday, February 18, 1964

8 Pages, 10 Cents

DellPlain to Join SU Political Party

DellPlain Hall, representing an estimated 350 independent upperclassmen, will affiliate with a campus political party, it was announced Monday by Bill Weller, president of the DellPlain dorm council.

The decision on which party to join will come on an all-dormitory referendum following a debate tonight between the heads of the two campus political parties.

The debate, between Bill Gedalecia, president of the Campus Alliance Party and Sigmund Sugarman, president of the United Students party, will be held at 9 p.m. today in the DellPlain main lounge.

Weller said the decision to affiliate came after the results of a dormitory-wide questionnaire were tabulated. Weller said 65 per cent of the students favored affiliation with a party.

The dorm houses an estimated 480 students, of whom 27 per cent are fraternity members, Weller said. He added that preliminary work in planning affiliation was done by Clyde Cawley, president of the dorm council last semester.

The decision to affiliate marks a significant breakthrough in campus politics. Previous to DellPlain's decision, the only non-Greek groups in political parties had been several dormitory floors. However, none of these groups represented more than 50 people.

The referendum will be taken in the dormitory on Wednesday.

Rush Signups Open Wed.

All coeds interested in rushing sororities during informal rush may register for rush from 1-5 p.m. Wednesday, in the Panhellenic office at the women's Building.

Both freshmen and upperclassmen may rush during this period. All rushers who did not sign up for fall rush or formal freshman rush should bring the $3 registration fee when they register.

Informal rush will begin Monday.

Lyford Talk Set Today In Chapel

A journalist and executive of the Fund for the Republic will speak at the first citizenship lecture of the spring semester.

Joseph P. Lyford, 42, will speak at 8 p.m. today in Hendricks Chapel on "Equality in the City."

Lyford is presently directing a study of American character which is concerned with urban renewal programs in the New York City area. (See Lyford, Page 4)

Housing Bids Now Being Considered

By DAVID SOSNA

Construction bids for a married and graduate student housing development on East Colvin Street are now being considered by Syracuse University.

Rogers and McKay, a New York City firm, has the low bid for the 308-unit development with $2,747,200.

In other bids opened Monday by the New York State Dormitory Authority in Albany, William Pahl Construction Co. of Syracuse was second lowest with $2,875,000. J. D. Taylor Construction Co. of Syracuse was third at $2,890,000, and a Binghamton, N. Y. company, V. J. Smith was fourth at $3,023,000.

If the Rogers and McKay bid is accepted by the dormitory council, (Continued on Page 6)

JSL Food Investigation Finds Two Major Faults

By HELEN McCONNELL and JOHN FREE

Joint Student Legislature investigations into food service have resulted in two major conclusions, co-chairmen Marshall Sneirson and Janice (Jay) Young have announced.

The food service committee suggests that there should be a choice of hot and cold lunches for students with a choice of two types of sandwiches for the cold lunch. Peanut butter and jelly should also be consistently available.

Another recommendation deals with improving the taste of the food in four ways: getting "better" cooks, improving the cooking techniques, modernizing the older dining halls such as Sims, and buying a better grade of meat.

Other specific suggestions include:

1. Hairnets should be worn by all women working in food service. These nets should cover all the hair.

2. There should be more pies and cakes for dessert along with ice cream. Ice cream sundaes should be based on a "do-it-yourself" basis with materials put at the disposal of the students.

3. When fruit and jello are served as desserts, there should be seconds allowed.

4. At breakfast, more of a variety of eggs should be served besides fried and scrambled eggs. The grill for these eggs should be sufficiently cleaned in order to insure best-tasting eggs.

5. Bacon should be served on other days besides Sunday.

6. Either rolls, doughnuts, or coffee cake should be served as an alternative to toast, french toast, and pancakes at breakfast.

7. When toast and pancakes are served they should be hot and fairly crisp.

8. Salads should be made with a "higher quality" lettuce. All types of salad dressing should be made available.

9. Chipped bowls and cups should be eliminated.

10. Glasses, trays and silverware should be clean.

11. Orange juice should not be diluted.

12. Boiled potatoes should be cooked softer.

13. Because of Jewish students, pork should not be used in hot meat sandwiches.

14. Ashtrays, salt and pepper, (Continued on Page 6)

Inside Day Hall

Dorm Mixes the Social and Cultural

This is the first of a series on campus living centers and dormitories. The series is written on the supposition that each living center on campus has its own "personality" and various features which make it distinctive. We hope to illuminate those features and show what goes on inside the facade.

By SANDI EHRLICH
Junior Editor

Living in Day Hall is often the highest point of an SU coed's college career. The newest dormitory for women on campus, Day Hall is five years old.

The eighth floor of Day Hall is the highest spot on campus, and the view of the city from these windows is unsurpassed.

The lobby is modern, with artificial plants and decorative lights adding a cozy touch. A recreation room with television set, ping-pong tables, and chairs and tables opens off one side of the spacious lobby.

The main floor also features a family room, which is open only to resident coeds. It is a library-living room-meeting room, favored by many for quiet and comfortable studying.

The dormitory houses freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior coeds on its eight floors. The upperclassmen were added last fall, for an experimental program with "mixed" floors. Day 4 and 5 are mixed this year, and the results thus far seem to be favorable, according to several head residents.

"Day has gung-ho spirit, due mainly to many upperclassmen who are spirited," according to Roz Lichter, Day Hall's student all-dorm coordinator. "Also, the freshmen are not the very sophisticated type, and are not afraid of looking foolish."

Miss Lichter, a sophomore from Brooklyn, heads a whole hierarchy of officers who keep the dormitory running smoothly and coordinate its activities. In addition to all-dorm vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and social chairman, there are officers on each floor and five standing committees. These are cultural, publicity, social, standards and newspaper.

The all-dorm coordinator presides over weekly meetings of the dorm legislature, composed of presidents and vice-presidents of floors. She also holds weekly meetings of the executive council, composed of the dorm officers. She coordinates all committees and represents the dorm in any official capacity.

"I also try to personalize the dorm, not make it an institution. I try to establish more rapport between the dorm and the campus," Miss Lichter said.

Social and cultural activities abound in Day Hall. Although it is often considered the "more quiet" of the two dorms on the Mount, Day has been spirited and active this year.

Miss Lichter called the spirit of the dorm "absolutely fantastic" and spoke happily of the enthusiastic response to everything the dorm has sponsored.

This year there will be an

Day Hall

Lenten Services

7 a.m. Holy Communion (Interdenominational) North Wing-Hendricks Chapel

12:05 p.m. Roman Catholic Mass - St. Thomas More Chapel (daily)

1:05 p.m. Roman Catholic Mass - Hendricks Chapel (daily)

5:05 p.m. Lutheran Holy Communion - North Wing-Hendricks Chapel

5:05 p.m. Episcopal Holy Communion - Chapel House

Reply To SUCE

When the Syracuse University athletic board last month established a committee to investigate whether Syracuse should play segregated schools in the future, we assumed that this move was performed simply to placate the Syracuse University Committee on Equality.

However, as time passed on, SUCE began more insistent on its demand that Syracuse refuse to schedule athletic contests with segregated schools in the future, and cancel all games scheduled with such schools.

At the time of the demand, we were inclined to feel that this was a petty, rash demand, for it is not feasibly possible to change schedules which are made years in advance without getting the school into hot water with the NCAA. A SUCE representative held, however, that if the NCAA was going to allow segregation by holding SU to its commitments, the school would be better off dropping out of the NCAA. This, we hold, is not feasible.

Moreover, Robert Cohen, president of SUCE, said the only evidence of experience with segregated teams he had noticed was a fight after last fall's football game with Richmond, allegedly caused by a racial conflict.

We sincerely hope that this incident was not the basis for SUCE's action, for it would transform a petty complaint into a downright ridiculous fiasco. The aforementioned incident happened late in the Richmond game when a Richmond guard shouted obscenities at a Hill Negro player. After the game, a fight occurred.

What the SUCE people seem to ignore is that the incident could justify no action against southern schools, for the Richmond player involved was born and bred in Brooklyn, quite a distance from the Deep South and its segregation.

Moreover, maybe we should, according to this point of view, discontinue games with any northern school whose INDIVIDUALS create a similar situation, such as Penn State, for instance.

Writer's Workshop

When the Syracuse '10 was presented to the campus three months ago, the students cried it wasn't a student magazine. And when the Syracuse '10 comes out again it will not be a solely of the students.

The reason being that the students haven't contributed enough material to fill five pages.

If the '10 is going to be the literary voice of the Hill, then its about time the students took enough interest to contribute stories, poetry and other material worthy of inclusion.

Guest Spot

Play It

By Norman Balabanian

To the Editor:

The Civil Rights Bill, aimed among other things, at preventing discrimination in employment on the basis of race, religion or national origin, has been passed by the House. But before it acted on the bill, the House passed (137 to 98) an amendment reading:

"...it shall not be an unlawful employment practice for an employer to refuse to hire and employ any person because of said person's atheistic practices and beliefs."

This action, which demonstrates the House's lack of understanding of the fundamental concept of religious freedom, reflects a similar lack of understanding by most Americans. Passing a law which discriminates against holders of a specific religious view - atheism - so clearly violates the First Amendment of the United States Constitution that the Justice Department was reported (New York Times 2/11) to be certain this law could not survive a constitutional test. How morally bankrupt must the House be that it singles out for special harassment a particular religious group and imposes on individuals the burden guaranteed to them by the Constitution?

It will not do to dismiss this Discriminate Against Atheists amendment as simply a tactical block thrown into the Civil Rights bill by Southern opponents in order to impede the bill, and not because they favored the substance of the amendment. For, there were over 140 amendments offered to the Civil Rights bill on the floor of the House, the great majority of which were voted down. No, the House passed that amendment because it favored its substance.

Thepious declamations of those Representatives who spoke in favor of discriminating against atheists, while explaining how our forefathers fled old world religious tyranny to find a place where they could worship God as they pleased, underscores their lack of comprehension. For does not the action of the House constitute religious tyranny?

Too many Americans would reply that atheistic beliefs are not religious beliefs. Such people would like to circumscribe religion in a specific mold; they would say that so long as an individual's beliefs conform to certain patterns, he can believe what he wills. But this is a mockery of freedom of belief. Supreme Court Justice Jackson, in another, but relevant, context has said: "Freedom to differ is not limited to things which do not matter much. That would be a mere shadow of freedom. The test of its substance is the right to differ as to things which touch the heart of the existing order."

Atheism is often thought to be a denial of God. This is a naive over simplification. Atheists simply make as their central affirmation something other than a supreme supernatural being, but they never-the less make affirmations, not denials. It is not a simple matter to say what these affirmations are since there are many religious groups which are atheistic (i.e., which do not affirm the existence of a supernatural God). Just last month in declaring unconstitutional a section of the draft law dealing with conscientious objectors because it discriminated against religions not based on belief in a Supreme Being, the U. S. Court of Appeals recognized that "a requirement of belief in a Supreme Being, no matter how broadly defined, cannot embrace all those faiths which can validly claim to be called 'religious'." The court listed among such religious groups Buddhism, Taoism, Ethical Culture and Humanism.

To hold that, because the religions that are most numerous in this country, at this point in time, are theistic, then all views claiming to be religious must also be theistic indicates a static concept of religion. But like everything else, religion is dynamic and ever-changing. One of Jefferson's statements is particularly appropriate here: "Laws and institutions must go hand in hand with progress of the human mind. As that becomes more developed, more enlightened, as new discoveries are made, new truths discovered and manners and opinions change, institutions must advance also to keep pace with the times. We might as well require a man to wear still the coat which fitted him when a boy as civilized society to remain ever under regimen of their barbarous ancestors."

In passing its Discriminate Against Atheists amendment the House has embarked on a path which can lead to religious tyranny. And what can one say about the integrity of the House when one reads in the Daily Digest on the last page of the Congressional Record for February 8 (when the Discriminate Against Atheists amendment was passed) that: "...amendments were adopted to prevent discrimination due to atheistic convictions?"

This is just the opposite of the House action recorded in the same Congressional Record. Was this a simple error because the writer of the Digest couldn't believe the House would write the kind of discriminatory legislation it died, or was it deliberate, knowing that very few would read through the whole Congressional Record and most would gain their impressions of congressional action through the Digest alone?

One would like to believe the latter impossible, but can one be blamed for contemplating its possibility?

Perhaps some hope can be seen in the fact that a few Congressmen (Ryan of New York, Hollifield of California, and Rodino of New Jersey) had the wisdom to understand the meaning of religious freedom and the courage to stand up and explain it to their colleagues. And perhaps the Senate will show a greater understanding of fundamental American freedoms. And perhaps people everywhere will remove the shackles of outmoded thought from their minds, and will eliminate emphasis on the form and structure of piety, on the outward shell and profession of belief. Is this too much to hope for? Reverend Harry Emerson Fosdick had some advice here. "We defend religion too much. Vital religion, like good music needs no defense, but rendition. A wrangling controversy in support of religion is precisely as if the members of the orchestra should beat folks over the head with music was beautiful. But such procedure is no way to prove that music is beautiful. PLAY IT!"

Norman Balabanian
Professor of Electrical Engineering

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2

February 18, 1961

Editor-In-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor Clayton F. Richards
News Editor Andrew Porre
Editorial Director Adair DuFene
Sports Editor Bernard MacCallum
Arts Editor Rea Turek
Photography Editor Steve Schwimmer

BUSINESS STAFF

Asst. Bus. Mgr. Jon Weisberg
Layout Managers Martha Johannek, Lillian Laht
National Adv. Mgr. Lynn Mandel
Classified Mgr. Christine Sedriak
Promotion Mgr. Stu Shapiro

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 200 Brooklea Drive Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter a U. S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

LETTERS

Grades

To the Editor:

May I endorse Prof Johnson's proposal for greater precision in entering grades?

If we don't do something as he suggests, we ought to talk about averages more sensibly than we often do.

Ever since I was an undergraduate a long time ago, I've been amused at the seriousness with which averages are cited. Though I'm no mathematician, I know that a student is straining the meaning of statistics when he (or the faculty) talks as if 1.18 or 1.72 represents something exact — perhaps because I have myself mixed into that average a rather vague 1 or 2. Actually, if reference were made back to the class work and real grades. Student 1.18 might be proved to have done better work than Student 1.72.

Let's stop talking with such precision where there is only imprecision—or be more precise.

Robert Root
Assoc. Prof. of Journalism

TREVER ON CAMPUS

Parenthesis
On the Spit

by Jay Zelsermyer

The question of the adaptation of a work of art from one medium to another is not one which provokes much of my attention much of the time. Having now had the immeasurable delight of viewing the film version of "Tom Jones", the subject, and the memory of other adaptations (most of them less successful), does come to mind. Specifically, what I am concerned with is the creation of motion pictures from works of prose fiction or the theatre.

The first adaptation that I think of in this regard is Shirley Clarke's film of Jack Gelber's play, "The Connection". On stage as I saw the play performed at the now defunct Living Theatre; naturalism and the complete suspension of disbelief are the keys. As a member of the audience, I was asked to believe that the people on stage really were dope addicts. What was going on was an improvisation, not a play; and I was permitted to catch a furtive glimpse of what an addict's life is really like.

This is all fine, if one has the stomach for it.

But to enter a movie theatre, and to be asked to believe that I am watching (and paying for) someone's "home movies" is something else. The film tried to be the play; it tried to behave as a pure documentary, as merely an objective eyepiece through which I could see the dope, the dirt, and the cockroaches. But not being the play, it could not accomplish the same things in the same ways, and was doomed to be viewed at a distance.

On stage, and frequently off it, the actors were never more than ten or fifteen yards from me: often they were closer. I could talk to them face to face before and after the performance and during the intermission, and I could be asked (as I was) by one of them for some money. And all of this, even though not a part of Gelber's script, was part of the experience; all of it contributed to my belief in what was going on; all of it was close, and immediate: it was now.

But all of it is impossible in a motion picture; and what Mrs. Clark wound up with was hollow: a skin with no flesh underneath it. She seemed to forget that the motion picture and the stage are different media, that each has techniques and limits, that one cannot do the same things in the same ways as the other, and hope to achieve the same effects.

But if the motion picture camera has seemed at times merely a recording instrument for the performance of stage plays, so it has also seemed in the adaptation of the novel.

A represented choice here might be "To Kill a Mockingbird", which falls into the same traps. It tried, as did the novel, to speak quietly about the world seen by a young girl and her brother. But the film, "faithful" as it was, could not but fail in its attempt to mirror the novel's meticulous attention to the detail of the child's consciousness.

The novelist's selectivity is suggestive, and in reading a novel, we do not have to have every word spelled out for us, and we can view the image of a scene in much less time than it took to happen, or in more. But in the realistic world of the movie, time is a tyrant, and dictates the cutting of scenes or episodes, including those of the internal world which contribute so much to the novel's final effect on its readers.

This does not mean that the story or the people are totally re-shaped, but it does mean that their effect upon us cannot but be changed.

What this means, finally, is this: a motion picture which tries to tell the same story in the same ways as the novel from which it has been adapted, must have a different effect upon the audience.

Of the particular detail involved in the original is the important end, then we must realize that effect will be diminished.

If, however, the all-important end is effect, then the solution, at least to talk about, is easy, and seems to have been found by the three English "angry young men" who created "Tom Jones".

The film makes superlative use of countless techniques (such as fast motion, slow motion, stop motion photography) which are germane only to film form. The decision was one in terms of effect, to make a film which jumps off from a given starting point, never merely restating the novel along its own lines.

The result? Excitement, entertainment, delight — call it what you will. It should be required viewing.

Hungarica Orchestra Here Today

Eighty-five Hungarian refugees will give a concert at 8:30 p.m. tonight at Lincoln Auditorium. The group is known as the Philharmonica Hungarica and is presented by Famous Artists.

Today's concert will present a program of "Dances from Galanta," by Kodaly; "Symphony Number 8," by Beethoven; "Two Portraits," by Bartok; and Tchaikovsky's overture fantasia: "Romeo and Juliet."

Conducting the orchestra is Miltiades Caridis. The orchestra is made up of the most talented musicians that escaped Hungary during the 1956 revolution.

The Philharmonica Hungarica made its debut in Vienna in May, 1957. The Viennese critics praised the group for their string tone and rhythmic sense. Since then, the orchestra has become well traveled. The Philharmonica Hungarica made its American debut in October, 1959 in Carnegie Hall.

Tickets are available at the Clark Music Building. They are priced at $3, $3.60, $4 and $4.80. A special student ticket is offered for $2.

W A E R
88.3 mc

TUESDAYS

4:00 Sign On, News, WAER Highlights

4:15 Experiment in Music Germany Today

6:15 Communique

6:00 German Today

6:30 Dan Stone and the News

6:45 Smoke?/Position Paper

7:00 Maxwell Comments

7:30 Georgetown Forum

8:00 Scope

8:30 The 830 Report

8:35 Choral Concert

"BEST PICTURE OF THE YEAR!"
"BEST ACTOR!"
Albert Finney
"BEST DIRECTOR!"
Tony Richardson
—New York Film Critics Award

The whole world loves Tom Jones!

ALBERT FINNEY, SUSANNAH YORK
CONTINUOUS SHOWING! NO REPEATED SEATINGS!
NOW A Schine Theatre ECKEL

Riviera CINEMA
3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. • 682-4021

A DINO DE LAURENTIS production
Alberto Sordi
"To Bed...or not to Bed"
Plus
Francois Truffaut's
"THE 400 BLOWS"

Volunteer Work Ready

Operation Volunteer brochures will be distributed this weekend for those who wish to donate their time to social work in community agencies.

In cooperation with Hendricks Chapel Social Services Committee, Operation Volunteer will be interviewing university students for opportunities on Thursday, Feb. 20, and Wednesday, Feb. 26. All sign-ups and interviews will be held in the Chapel basement, from 1-5 p.m.

Further information may be obtained from Room 1, Chapel House, ext. 2317, from 10-11 Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday and from 2-3 on Wednesday and 1-3 on Friday.

Christy Minstrels
Sunday

EUROPEAN round trip Swiss JET summer Charter for Syracuse University students faculty members, employees and their immediate families only.
only $285
leaves June 13th to London
returns Sept. 5th from Paris
For information and reservations contact:
Alan Roth Chan Rudd
Tau Epsilon Phi Delta Upsilon
GR 2-9486 GR 5-9048
GR 8-4676
Also available: Special student tour $775
Eurail passes
Eurail passes

Daily Crossword Puzzle

ACROSS

1 Witty fellows.
5 Table cover.
10 Get going!
14 Of: 2 words.
15 Rousseau hero.
16 Subdued.
17 Flurry.
18 River into Gulf of Guinea.
19 Son of Seth.
20 Vaporosity.
22 Like Riesling.
24 Sudden upward flights.
25 Bookkeeper's concern.
26 Misdemeanor.
28 Move furtively.
29 Girl's name meaning "bird."
30 From soup to —
32 The chosen.
36 Big Cassino.
37 Rambles idly.
39 " — Vadis."
40 Go fishing.
42 Land on the surface.
43 Feline sound.
44 Put to use.
46 Truth.
48 Yuletide bell.

DOWN

1 Command.
2 Theatre group.
3 Turning gray.
4 Weighty.
5 Abode of a sort.
6 Improperly.
7 Trio in children's story.
8 — de France.
9 Dished up.
10 Met boss.
11 Dugout.
12 Affair of the heart.
13 Angel Clare's wife.
21 Iacit "yes."
23 Wastes.
25 Cotton thread.
26 Material for a computer.
27 Parallel.
28 O. Henry specialty.
31 Europe-Asia dividing line.
33 A pun.
34 Rudely brief.
35 Loyalist of 1776.
37 Dividing walls.
38 Fragrant shrub.
41 Magic —
43 Church office.
45 Epithet of Athena.
47 Souffle ingredient.
48 City on Meuse.
49 Historic Italian town.
50 Unsophisticated.
51 African republic.
52 Entrée.
53 Ancient capital of Elam.
54 Effrontery: Dial.
57 Horrified grant.

THE WARDROBE
Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13
14 15 16
17 18 19
20 21 22 23
24 25
26 27 28
29 30 31 32 33 34 35
36 37 38 39
40 41 42 43
44 45 46 47
48 49 50 51 52 53 54
55 56 57 58
59 60 61
62 63 64

Tuesday Evenings
Two Showings
7 and 9 p.m.

University REGENT Theatre
820 EAST GENESEE

TONIGHT
Shakespeare
Film Series
"MACBETH"
(U. S. A.)
Tickets, 75c

Mangone Has Book About Foreign Policy

What is the personal effect of American foreign policy in Syracuse?

A new book just published by the Maxwell School, "Foreign Policy and Onondaga County," deals with this subject.

The book is the result of studies made by Prof. Gerard J. Mangone, Maxwell political science professor, from a Rockefeller Foundation grant. Mangone is also executive assistant to Dean Stephen K. Bailey.

Prof. Mangone said the purpose of the publication is to show how the formulation and implementation of United States foreign policy affects the immediate interests of the American citizen at the grass roots.

Mangone was assisted in his research by a seminar of graduate students. They studied particular aspects of the impact of American foreign policy upon Onondaga County as part of their seminar course.

Some of the students, who are still on campus, are Lawrence Douglas, John Humphries, Sandra Lewis, Thomas Rasmussen, Giles Wayland-Smith, and Stuart Witt.

Mangone's study reflects the profound economic effect of defense contracts on Onondaga County which each year amount to more than a quarter of a billion dollars.

The book contains chapters on American foreign policy upon U.S. defense policy, foreign economic policy and foreign policy in regard to cultural exchange, and their relations to Onondaga County.

GERARD MANGONE

Prof. Mangone, who is director of the Maxwell International Organization Research Program, has been at Syracuse since 1957. Formerly he was an assistant professor of political science at Wesleyan University and associated professor of political science at Swarthmore College. He has been a visiting professor at Trinity College, Mt. Holyoke College, Yale University and Princeton University.

Dorm Mixes the Social

(Continued from Page 1)

all-dorm contest for the best floor in Day, she said. A "Bill Tangerine" trophy will be awarded to the winning floor in May at the annual Day Hall banquet.

The dorm has held twisters after football games, pep rallies, an all-dorm pajama party with entertainment by coed residents, a Christmas party, and with Flint Hall, a Halloween party and a Christmas dance.

Dean Charles C. Noble spoke to Day Hall residents, and an International Students Night was held. This semester Day will have a Roaring Twenties Party, Miss Lichter said.

Miss Leila Moore is director of Day Hall. "She is a responsible director, a personable individual, extremely well-liked," said Miss Lichter, who works closely with her, representing the students in the dorm.

Day Hall gained notoriety in November of 1962, when a search of every room for stolen articles was ordered by Miss Shirley Uplinger, then director. Girls were asked to sign "search warrants" and then head residents inspected the rooms for several missing items: money, sweaters, airline tickets. Five girls refused to grant the search permission. Results of the search were inconclusive, but it caused considerable unfavorable comment on campus.

Day Hall distinctly stands out against the Syracuse "skyline" because of WAER's transmitting tower atop the building. The bright red light gleams steadily, guiding visitors to the Mount.

Clark to Speak In New Jersey

Wesley C. Clark, dean of the School of Journalism, will speak to the Educational Press Association of America on "How Journalism Education and Educational Journalism Work Together" at a luncheon today in Atlantic City, N.J.

The meeting is being held in conjunction with the Association of School Administrators currently being held in Atlantic City.

The Educational Press Association headquarters are located in the School of Journalism.

Prejudice Hurts Economy

"Does discrimination against the Negro have an adverse effect on U.S. economy?"

Prof. Sidney C. Suffrin posed this question to freshmen citizenship sections Monday. His topic was "Reflections of an Economist on Racial Discrimination."

Racial prejudice does have a detrimental effect on America's economy, he said, and is most clearly shown by today's unemployment statistics.

One of the greatest social costs is that of unemployment, Suffrin stated. Those who are chronically unemployed lack jobs because of color, location, or number of years of schooling.

There seems to be a close tie between color and stage of education, he said, in that whites have more educational opportunities than Negroes. The factor of location is independent of the other two and has been proven to be more related to the size of cities, Suffrin added.

Other economic results cited by Suffrin include a reduction in military strength due to lack of education, and a weakening in taxes as a result of the Negro's low income.

Suffrin stressed individualism as an essential trait in all citizens and added that there are other elemental values to which we are all dedicated, such as equality of opportunity, social equality, housing equality, employment equality, political freedom and the freedom to migrate.

Social equality should include both public and private activities, he said, and the available level of education must be at a high order.

Political freedom, he declared, should include the right to vote, the right to run for and hold office, and the right to petition the government.

Economic opportunity should provide for the hiring of jobs in terms of skill, experience, and personality qualifications.

Suffrin concluded that the minority does have sacred rights which adhere to the individual.

These are the conditions which make the individual a meaningful unit of society, he declared, and citizens have the right to be treated as citizens of the United States.

Lyford...

(continued from page 1)

York City area

Lyford started his journalistic career as a reporter for the Boston Post while an undergraduate at Harvard.

After four years in the Navy during World War II, he returned to New York and worked on the foreign desk at International News Service.

In 1947 he became an assistant editor of the "New Republic."

He served as administrative assistant to Chester Bowles when he was governor of Connecticut. He also directed the successful campaign of William Benton for the Senate in 1950.

Lyford himself ran twice unsuccessfully as a Democratic candidate for the House of Representatives from Connecticut in 1954 and 1954.

Lyford was director of the Public Education Association of New York City from 1952 to 1955, and has been with the Fund for the Republic since 1955.

The author of several books, Lyford also produced in 1959 a televised series, "The Press and the People," which received a citation from the Journalism Press Club.

The lectures are open to the public.

Liston-Clay

Tickets are now on sale for closed circuit viewing of the Sonny Liston vs. Cassius Clay Heavyweight Title bout from Miami Beach. The exclusive rights for the February 25th fight have been purchased by the RKO Keith's Theater and seats for this fight are $5.50, including tax.

a particular place for particular skiers...

A single chair lift, rising 2000 ft., a double chair lift, rising 1600 ft., and a T-Bar, serving a wide network of trails, ranging from very gentle to very steep.

NOTE: Since the above picture was produced, two new trails have been added: (1) a most interesting trail of varying grades and 24 curves running from the mid-station to the east of the base of the single chair lift. 1½ miles long, 1300' drop; (2) another trail, of "slalom glade" character, from the top of the double chair lift half way down the mountain.

There's no better skiing anywhere in the East!

MAD RIVER GLEN
Ski Area
WAITSFIELD • VERMONT

SKI BUSES TO CORTLAND - SATURDAYS

GREEK PEAK

ROUND TRIP — $2.00

TIMETABLE

Syracuse-Oswego Station	8:00 a.m.
DeWitt Sports	8:20 a.m.
Bob Casey's	8:30 a.m.
SLOCUM HALL	8:45 a.m.
Arr. at Greek Peak	9:55 a.m.
Ret. from Greek Peak	4:15 p.m.

SNOW REPORTS AND INFORMATION
CALL GR 8-6916

Complete Ski Outfit 34.50

- 20 Lamination Ski w/interlocking steel edges and plastic bottoms
- Front Throw Cable Release Safety Binding and swivel toe piece
- Aluminum Ski Poles

LUND TOP FLITE SKIS, 37.50 list - 22.50

Complete Line of
SKIS POLES BOOTS CLOTHING

Prevent Theft with
IDENT-I-SKI LOCK 3.99

625 Burnet Ave.

GR 2-7874

RA-LIN'S

Over-night Service on Binding Installation

INTRAS
TODAY'S SCHEDULE
Basketball

7:00 - Kappa Sigma vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Tau Kappa Epsilon vs. Kappa Alpha
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Zeta Psi
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Alpha Phi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
11:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
12:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
1:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
2:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
3:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
4:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
5:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
6:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
7:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
8:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs. Zeta Psi
9:00 - Phi Sigma Delta vs. Delta Upsilon
10:00 - Phi Kappa Phi vs.

SKI-FARING

with JON WEISBERG and Marlene Phillips

It has occurred to me that a new breed of pseudo-skier has developed among the college students of the Northeast. Sporting his ski racks, 'wind burn, and decorating his parka with numerous lift tickets, this second cousin to the apres skier floats merrily across the quad enveloped in his own little cloud of snow. You've seen him. In fact, you probably know him very well. As you have probably guessed already, there is one sure way to avoid this oddity. Simply go some place where there is skiing — namely, a ski area.

And while we're on the topic of ski areas, it should be mentioned (for the nth time in this column) that there are numerous ski centers in the surrounding area which offer an extensive amount of slopes and trails. Beginner or expert, there is a place for you. But, it may not be so easy to get to the area, itself. For the benefit of those skiers who feel that they must get to the slopes or die, I have a partial listing of the various means of transportation to get there. It is as follows: ostrich, dog sled, red elephants (so they won't get lost in the white snow), orange grapes (so you can tell them from the red elephants), bi-plane, cross country skis, praying mantis (the combo that has evolved from the Beatles and the singing Nun), or by bus. The latter of these suggestions is, perhaps among the more feasible of the group. LABRADOR MOUNTAIN has a Wednesday evening bus that stops at the Mount at 5:55 p.m., Slocum Hall at 6:07 p.m., and Waverly and Comstock at 6:12 p.m. On Saturdays, a bus departs for Labrador from Slocum at 8:30 in the morning.

SONG MOUNTAIN is also easily accessible. Leaving every Wednesday evening from Mount Olympus between 6 and 6:10 p.m., the fare, like those buses to Labrador, is one dollar. Both of these buses will return in time for the 11:15 p.m., curfew.

Come Saturday morning, and you can head to Cortland on the GREEK PEAK ski bus. Leaving Slocum Hall at 8:45 a.m., the entire trip costs two dollars.

This past weekend, between three and six inches of powder drapped from the skies to cover both skier and skis. To my knowledge, it was the closest to perfect skiing that this area has had in the past three years.

Remember, ski safely and.
SKI HEIL!

SKI Just Learning or Want to Improve?
YOU NEED SNOW RIDGE
New York State's Largest and Finest Ski School

6
●
4 Lifts
Tows

25 Certified Instructors • Classes Daily for All Abilities
Special Learn-to-Ski Weeks Available
Information: Snow Ridge Box 298-S Boonville, N. Y.

APULIA NEW YORK

2 4 Bars
2 Open Slopes
6 Trails

A Family Ski Area
30 minutes from Syracuse

CERTIFIED INSTRUCTION
NO WAITING LINES

Nite Skiing - Wed. - Thur. - Fri. - Sat.

Tau Thete's $100 Contest Opens

Opportunity knocks once but those who want to win $100 may find it waiting at the door today through April 6. Opportunity comes in the form of the annual Tau Theta Upsilon "$100 Idea Contest." The contest, started last year, awards $100 for the best idea for university improvement.

"The idea may deal with physical, academic or social improvement or any other valid category," stated the honorary's president, Richard Cost. "Ideas should be feasible as we wish to see them carried out," he explained.

According to Cost, uniform and distinctive campus signs, suggested by last year's winner, John F. Riedel, are being constructed at present. Riedel objected to disorganized and diverse signs on campus and suggested a unified plan for all signs to enhance the university's image.

Riedel, the contest's first winner has received a $100 check supplied by Tau Theta alumni. One of these alumni is Chancellor Tolley who is also the fraternity's advisor. The fraternity, founded in 1907, selects seven seniors each year who have contributed to the university through participation in student activities.

Present members include James Morris, Herbert Lustig, George (Skip) Stanger, Richard Cost, Richard Slutzky, Allan Kort and Harry Barber. The group also sponsors the Inter-Fraternity Council Sing and Spring Weekend Float parade.

Entries should be typed and should be no longer than 500 words. All members of the university community are eligible except those affiliated with the fraternity. Entries should be sent to Tau Theta Upsilon, 100 Dollar Idea Contest, 209 Administration Building, Syracuse University.

SU Outing Club Sets Meeting

The Syracuse University Outing Club has announced that it is changing its weekly meetings from Mondays to 7 p.m. Tuesdays in 110 Hall of Languages.

The group will discuss programs of various sorts and planning of trips on alternate weeks. Included in the semester program will be speakers with slides, as well as instruction in the use of equipment.

Attend
Stockingfoot

DeWitt Sports Ltd.
SKI SHOP FOR SKIERS BY SKIERS
East Genesee Street at Lyndon Road
Fayetteville GI 6-0160
Open Evenings until 9

KASTLE	HART	ROFFE
HEAD	HENKE	MEDICO
SPORTCASTER	OBERMEYER

BASKET & RACQUET
107 Marshall Street
475-0972 Open until 9

Ski Song Mountain

OPEN DAILY 10:30 - 4:30
NIGHTS 7-10:30; WEEKENDS 9:30-4:30, NIGHTS 7 - 10:30
CLOSED MONDAY

coffee will be served on the slopes courtesy of

Every Wednesday, Syracuse Eastern buses leave Mount Olympus between 6 and 6:10 p.m. and the corners of Waverly and Comstock between 6:10 and 6:15 p.m. Round trip per student is $1. Arrive at Song Mt. at 7 p.m. Leave at 10:30 to arrive at your dormitory in time for curfew.

Enjoy live entertainment every night in the Song Mountain Lounge.

Rent boots, skis and poles for $3

$2 lift fee for evening

SONG Mt.

at Tully, N. Y. . . . from Syracuse, take Route 81 south to Tully traffic light . . . follow the signs right to Song Mountain.

Half-Mast

The flags in front of Hendricks Chapel stand at half-mast in tribute to the late F. Gordon Smith, Syracuse University vice president emeritus, who died Friday.

JSL Food Investigation

(Continued from Page 1)
and sugar should be provided for every table.

15. Tablecloths should be provided for Sunday meals, since students are required to dress appropriately.

16. The lines in Sims and Watson are too long.

17. Dining hall hours should be open 9 a.m. to 11 a.m., 12:30 p.m. to 1:30 p.m., for the benefit of students who can eat only from 11:12, and those who can eat only at 1 p.m.

18. The second line should be open 15 minutes longer than the main lines so that latecomers can get re-fills.

19. Menus should be made available to all living centers—not just the dining halls.

20. The gravy should be hot and appropriate to the meat.

21. Larger plates should be available for breakfast and lunch.

22. There should be a greater variety of cheeses.

23. Dressing should have a new formula.

24. Cocoa should be served at all meals.

25. A better brand of tea should be used.

26. Music should be played in all dining halls.

27. Graham's second line should be used.

28. More basic brands of ice cream should be used.

29. More bacon, lettuce and tomatoes should be served for BLT's.

The results of the menu survey will be released Friday.

Housing Bids Now

(Continued from Page 1)
tory authority, construction will begin March 1. The first apartments are expected to be completed by August.

The new development of one and two bedroom garden-type apartments will be built in the Slocum Heights area formerly occupied by 29 temporary buildings containing 153 apartments.

The barracks apartments originally on the East Colvin Street site were built between 1945 and 1948 to house returning GI's and their families and were demolished last fall.

In all, 35 two-story buildings will be put up. Twenty-eight will contain two-bedroom units each, and the remaining seven will house 12 one-bedroom apartments each.

The construction schedule calls for five buildings to be ready in August, five each in September and October, 10 in November and five each in December and January.

The overall project—including furnishings, architects' fees and other expenses—is estimated at $3.1 million. A $3.37 million state dormitory authority loan floated last July will cover the development.

This is the first time the university has received a loan from the state authority for financing construction. Previous loans for living centers have been from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Designing the new housing are two architects who graduated from the Hill. They are James A. Britton and L. M. Slingerland.

Britton has designed many projects for New England institutions. Slingerland recently completed a married student's housing development for Columbia University.

SHOP LOCAL STORES
REAL BARGAINS

Four Houses Elect Officers

Phi Alpha fraternity recently elected its officers for the spring semester. They are Robert Frisch, president; Tad McAlpine, vice president; David DeBottis, corresponding secretary; Doug Wassmer, recording secretary; and Pete Minich, treasurer.

Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity also elected its officers. They are Fred Bochner, president; Vic Samuel, vice president; Don Bizzozero, secretary; and Bill Chisholm, treasurer.

Phi Delta Theta also elected officers for the spring semester recently. They are Harry Barber, president; Dean Ferguson, vice president; Loren Dawley, secretary; and Richard Snowden, treasurer.

The Sigma Chi, also named their officers. They are Bruce Brown, consul; Richard Spenser pro consul; Colin Jones, magister; Clay Richards, annotator; Michael Stevens, custos; and Donald Dick, quaestor.

Exec. Comm. Meets Today

The junior class executive council will meet at 9 p.m. today in the student government office in the basement of Marion Hall. According to Gerri Porter, class secretary, members of the council who do not attend the meeting will be dismissed unless they contact Carl Corrallo, class president, at ext. 2691. Money from ticket sales should be brought to the meeting.

Attend
Winter Weekend

Cap Meets Today

Campus Alliance Party meeting 8 p.m. today at Kappa Sigma. All representatives must attend. Anyone interested is invited to come.

Edward Hommel and sons

DISPENSING OPTICIANS

694 STATE TOWER BUILDING SYRACUSE 2, NEW YORK

EYE GLASSES — CONTACT LENSES — REPAIRS

ideas:

"The future depends on people with ideas."

This statement helps explain the work at IBM today: seeking and finding new ways to handle information, planning and building new machinery for the task, exploring wholly new methods.... ■ The demand for ideas has never been greater. ■

Check with your college placement officer and make an appointment with the IBM representative who will be on campus interviewing. ■ Ask for our brochures. ■ IBM is an Equal Opportunity Employer. ■

If you cannot attend the interview, write: ■ Manager of College Relations, ■ IBM Corp., 590 Madison Ave., New York 22, N. Y. ■

MOVE AHEAD: SEE

IBM

FEB. 25-28

Weekend Tix

Tickets for Winter Weekend are now on sale in the lobby of H. B. Crouse Hall. Tickets for the Stockingfoot dance are $2.25 a couple, while tickets for the New Christy Minstrels concert are $2.50 a

Our Expert Stylists
Create Hair Styles
That Frame Your Face
With Flattering
Loveliness!

Style Haircut
Shampoo and Style Set } $5.50

Fred
The Hairstylist

GR 4-2487

For Appointment

HOTEL SYRACUSE
522 S. WARREN ST.

IN NEW YORK
15 E. 49th ST.

SUPERIORITY COMPLEX NOW SELLING FOR .50

So you're not a football hero, a big Brain, or a hot Hot-rod. You can still be top man in the Girl Department!...if you let SHORT CUT take control of your top! It'll shape up the toughest crew cut, brush cut, any cut; give it life, body, manageability. Give you the best-looking hair around—and a feeling of natural superiority. So get with it! Get Old Spice SHORT CUT Hair Groom by Shulton... tube or jar, only .50 plus tax.

Rep. House

Renovations were recently completed on the Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity house on Campus.

This semester the AEPi's have been living in the old Acacia house on Walnut Avenue.

Noble to Entertain at Dance

Winter Weekend will uphold a fourteen-year tradition as Dean Charles C. Noble entertains at the 1964 Stockingfoot Dance Friday.

The dance, to be held at Drumlins from 8 p.m. - 1 a.m., will also feature entertainment by Carl Corrallo and John Trever, the "Pesudo-Singers."

Other highlights will be the crowning of the weekend queen and the judging of designed stockings. The stockings will be graded on three levels: most original, funniest, and best keeping to the theme.

Couples will dance to music provided by Dick Kowell's orchestra.

Chairman of the dance, Peggy Seeley and Ed Vincent, have announced that a 2 a.m. curfew will be given to girls who hand in ticket stubs when they return.

Coed Career Meeting Set

The next meeting in a series on career planning will be held at 4 p.m. Tuesday in Ostrom Lounge, of Shaw Dormitory. All upperclass women are welcome.

Miss Gilda Smithline Block, a fashion advertising supervisor in a major New York store, will speak on "Forecasting and Implementing a Store - Wide Fashion Program."

She will discuss the steps in formulating a fashion plan from the first pre-season market information to the actual in-store presentation via advertising, publicity, and display.

Psych Honorary

Psi Chi, the national psychology honorary, has openings for membership. Applications are available in the Psychology Office, 125 College Pl.

Applicants should have a B average in not less than 12 hours of psychology courses, and at least a 1.75 accumulative average.

Saturday at Ski Top

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE
SHAD	GLENN	SCAP	LOGE	ROMEO	PYLE	AURIA	EDICT	IMAN	GRAND
RUER	CUL	REFUEL	WAINS	COT	EXIST	CHUNK	AHA	MONK	GOING
IVIA	FRONT	PIEART	TOILER	ATE	CONITES	YAN	MAID	FRIEND	SHIP
LOLLI	PLATE	NOVA	ALLEE	ROVER	CLIT	TEXT	EWERS	YEILL

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	$.85
2 days	1.65
4 days	3.15
5 days	2.40
6 days	3.65
7 days	5.20
8 days	4.55
9 days	5.85
10 days	6.45
11 days	7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.

GREYHOUND TICKETS, schedules, information, bus and air charters. Hotel reservations foreign tours. FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC. in the Savoy Monday-Friday 1-4; Thursday night 7-9 476-8533.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired. Rented. Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-8633. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

ACCELERATED 5 lesson course, specializing in parking, traffic, road test. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-3451.

ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lillian M. Potter 207 Comstock Ave. GR 8-5647.

TO BUY OR SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN. Sparac Motors, 1000 Hiawatha Blvd. W., 474-6007, is the place.

FRATERNITIES, SORORITIES, LIVING CENTERS are invited to enter Syracuse Motors VW contest to see what the capacity of a VW is—are you going to stand idly by while Detroit students set the record of 28 in a Volk—we don't think so. Winning male and female teams will be awarded a free all-expense trip to Breckerton and $100 in stereo records or tapes—double this amt. if winners exceed the present national record. For details call Don Cain at 474-6007.

FOR SALE

FREE SOLDERING: all charms bought here. Charms, lozenges, jewelry, watch repair. Greeting cards. Personalized stationery. Valentine gifts and cards. Riviera sunglasses for men and women. Ruth's Gifts, 734 S. Crouse, Introductory Sale, Crepe de Chine Cologne and Nuit de Longchamp.

'55 RAMBLER: Excellent engine. New battery. Snow tires. $200.00. See by appt. GR 8-6288.

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of four colors of paper, three colors of ink, two sizes of sheets. Booktail.

CAR RADIO, completely installed in your car, come as low as ten dollars. HE 7-8134.

PORSCHE 1960, red coupe, 28,000 miles, one owner. GR 4-5072.

ONE GUITAR with folk sheet music. Contact The New Christy Minstrels, Syracuse Winter Weekend, Feb. 21, 22, 23.

WANTED

PART TIME help (male)—earn good money—car necessary. Ace Home Equipment Company, 1236 South State Street, Syracuse.

RIDE TO N.Y. City or vicinity. Leave ing Thursday, Feb. 20, return Sunday, Feb. 23. Call Sue or Mary Jane Friedl at ext. 2650 or GR 8-4225.

STUDENTS, male-female. Earn up to $50.00 per week. Telephone sales work, hours flexible. Call Mr. Mantel, GR 1-6678.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students

TWO BLOCKS FROM FIELDHOUSE, 225 Lorraine Ave. Modern 4-room upper, 2 bedrooms, large closets, brick cupboards, refrigerator and stove. Picture window, living room and kitchen, ceramic tile bath, private parking area, on bus line. Available immediately, $115. NE 8-0497, GR 6-1473.

APARTMENTS FOR RENT. Two rooms with bath, 411 S. Crouse Ave. Call 476-7188 after 1 p.m.

2 BLOCKS FROM stadium. Newly decorated 6 room flat. Gas heat. Garage $50.00 Day's GR 8-3151 Evenings GR 6-7721.

BEAUTIFUL MODERN seven room upstairs apartment. Garage, stove, refrigerator, fireplace. Two blocks from Campus. $105. Call 472-1548.

3 ROOMS RECENTLY remodeled—paneling, bus, light parking. $55.00. Call 474-4558.

FURNISHED or Unfurnished, ultra modern, 4 room, birch kitchen, ceramic bath, Off street parking garages, 451 Midland Ave. near auto club. See superintendent. Apartment 3, or call 476-1482.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models, also sales and service, special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

EXPERT TYPING, theses, term papers, theses. 458-0141.

Minstrels: From LBJ to SU

The New Christy Minstrels, who will appear on campus Sunday, recently made a hit when they appeared before President Johnson for a performance in the White House.

"The Minstrels clearly had President Johnson's brand of wide-swinging hospitality," Life magazine commented. The group performed before Johnson and a party including Italy's new president, Antonio Segni.

Segni said, "This is a type of music that Europe should know more about." Throughout the performance, Segni joined the group with rapid foot-stomping.

The concert by the Minstrels will be held at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Manley Field House. Coeds will receive extended curfews so that they may attend the concert. The cost of the concert will be $2.50 a person.

The group is being brought to Syracuse by the junior class as part of the university's annual Winter Weekend. Heading the junior class committee for the concert are Gerri Porter and Art Perschetz.

Wall Maps Loaned

The Department of Geography is loaning wall maps from its collection to university personnel and students. A graduate assistant is on duty in the map room, 313 H. B. C., 10-11 a.m., weekdays.

BERMUDA

Spring Vacation

only ONE WEEK LEFT to make your reservations

Deadline Feb. 24th

$162 montgomery cottages

$228 Carleton Beach Hotel

round trip Eastern DC-7

March 28th - April 4th make checks payable to Alan Roth 320 Euclid Ave. For further information and reservations contact: Alan Roth, Tau Epsilon Phi, GR 2-9486, GR 8-4676

Chan Rudd, Delta Upsilon, GR 5-9018

STUDY ABROAD

Syracuse University SEMESTERS ABROAD

GUATEMALA Spanish prerequisite
FRANCE French prerequisite
ITALY No language prerequisite
Liberal Arts Program

Applicants must secure the approval of their home college or university
For information and application
ACADEMIC PROGRAMS ABROAD
UNIVERSITY COLLEGE
610 E. Fayette St. Syracuse, N. Y. 13202

TODAY

12:15 p.m., Dialogue Luncheon, basement of Chapel House.
4 p.m., WAA dance technique, studio, Women's Bldg.
4 p.m., WAA competitive swimming, pool, Women's Bldg.
4 p.m., Biblical Christianity lecture, 221 Maxwell.
4 p.m., Footprint, Maxwell.
4 p.m., JSL steering committee, Marion basement.
4 p.m., Fashion lecture, Ostrom lounge, Shaw.
4:30 p.m., Orange Pares, 110 Maxwell.
5:05 p.m., Lutheran Daily Devotions, north wing, Hendricks Chapel.
6 p.m., Gamma Sigma Sigma national service sorority, 3rd floor, Men's Gym, use side entrance.
6:45 p.m., Christian Science College Organization, Colonial Room, Hendricks Chapel.
7 p.m., SUOC, 110 HL.

VILLAGE WEST

TALLMAN & CLINTON

Wednesday & Thursday, Feb. 19-20

ROARING 20'S NIGHT CLAM BAKE

SPECIAL GUEST — CAPTAIN MACK
OF CAPTAIN MACKS CLAM SHACK

CHICAGO JAZZ

PRIZES & CONTESTS CLAMS 2 DOZ. for $1.00

Syracuse Beaten, 104-85

Sideline Views

By BERNIE MacCALLUM
Sports Editor

The university athletic board yesterday stated its position with regard to segregated teams on Syracuse University athletic schedules. The statement was in reply to a request by the Syracuse University Committee on Equality that athletic contests with segregated schools in the future not be scheduled and that all games now planned with such schools be cancelled.

We cannot agree with the reasoning presented by the athletic board and feel that the university could have stated its case in a much better manner.

Syracuse, athletically, does have a fine record in pioneering the breaking down of racial barriers in sports. The discarding of the practices of segregation has moved at a more rapid pace in athletics than in other areas.

To go on record saying that we will play any and all segregated teams, as the statement implies, regardless of circumstances does not, we feel, carry on in this tradition.

"We have scheduled segregated teams in the past and may do so in the future, confident that fielding a fine athletic team dedicated to the best ideals of sportsmanship is a good example for others to follow," the statement read.

Yet, however, the athletic department in the past has indicated that it would not again play the University of Texas because of incidents during the 1960 Cotton Bowl.

The board pointed out that it is unsportsmanlike to refuse to compete against a worthy opponent and that boycotting is an unfriendly act. "It severs communications and relationships which may not easily be reinstated, and fosters enmities which may never be assuaged."

Is the board implying that we should condone the practices of the University of Mississippi or the University of Alabama since we don't want to be unfriendly toward them? There is a greater good and higher ideal involved here than good sportsmanship on an athletic field. Following this line of reasoning, one should not picket because it is an unfriendly act and it severs relations.

"It is unsportsmanlike to refuse to compete against a worthy opponent," the board's statement said. Then what criteria are we to judge a worthy opponent by? Are such teams at the University of Texas worthy op-

6,000 See Late SU Rally Fail

By JUDY ADAMS
Associate Editor

MORGANTOWN, W.Va.—Five years ago some enterprising West Virginians swiped one of those long orange Syracuse banners. They added black and yellow paint 'till it read "beat the hell out of Syracuse."

Last night before 6,000 in the Morgantown, West Virginia Field House they go what they wanted, 104-85.

Amidst some "colorful" officiating, the tall West Virginia team bolted to an early lead and kept adding on by repeated ball stealing, blocked shots, and board control. They led by double figures most of the first half which closed 53-10.

But the outplayed Syracuse team kept whittling away until with seven minutes left they were down only 76-73. Then the Mountaineers put on the pressure and exploded in the last two minutes for 14 points, their seventh straight win and their largest score of the year.

Bing, who led the late Orange rally had 20; Richards, well contained all night, dropped in 16, 10 from the free throw line.

Mountaineers Coach George King said of Bing after the game:

"This boy Dave Bing, the way he played in the second half, should be one of the nation's best by the time he is a senior. He has all the moves — and you can see how Richards, with all due credit to him, gets many of his points from those wonderful feedoffs from Bing."

Box Score

SU (85)	G	F	T
Boehim	1	1	3
Penceal	2	0	4
Richards	3	10	16
Bing	8	4	20
Duffy	1	2	4
Vernick	4	0	8
Ableman	5	1	11
Nicoletti	3	0	6
Schoff	5	3	13
Totals	32	21	85

W.Va. (104)	G	F	T
Lowry	2	4	8
Ray	2	11	15
Camp	3	3	9
Maphis	8	7	23
Quert'm't	9	7	25
Lentz	1	2	4
Wolf	1	0	2
Leshner	5	0	10
Cavacini	3	0	6
Ryczaj	1	0	2
Totals	35	34	104

Halftime — W. Va., 53, SU 10

Piety Fencers Place on Top

BOB KRENGEL

The Syracuse University fencing team scored a brilliant victory defeating RIT 19-8 and Utica College 22-5, in a tri-meet on Saturday afternoon in Archbold Gym. The win was the second for the Orangemen against two previous defeats.

For the first time in many weeks, Coach Alexander Dako's swordsmen gave a united performance. In foil, the results were 6-3 against RIT and 8-1 against Utica. Outstanding were Clint Wigren and co-captains Harvey Schuman and Les Monastory.

In epee, Marv Stone, Bud Pearl, Stu Peskin, and Bill Davenport achieved 6-3 tallies against both opponents. Sabre was a bright spot for the Orange with a 7-2 win over RIT and an 8-1 bombardment against Utica at the hands of Stu Hollander, Mike Conte, Dennis Lanpert, Bill Schell and Richard Beyer.

Dueling Action in Archbold

IFC Elections

Van Derven, Rehm, Polombo Seek Nod

By CAROL RUBRIGHT

A new president and vice president of the Inter-Fraternity Council will be elected 7:30 p.m. today in rooms 9-10 H.B. Crouse Hall.

Presidential candidates are Michael Polombo, (Psi Upsilon), Gary Rehm (Acacia), and George Van Derven (Alpha Chi Rho).

Running for vice president are Peter Luckman (Zeta Beta Tau), Peter Stern (Tau Epsilon Phi) and Joseph (Jack) White (Phi Kappa Psi).

The elected candidates will take office immediately after the elections. Defeated presidential candidates can drop down and run for vice president.

Polombo, a member of the junior class executive council, from Kirkwood, is running on a platform promising "more action" in the IFC and better frash-Greek relations. He suggested an IFC weekend in the fall to acquaint frash directly with the fraternity system.

Rehm, from Oakdale, presently public relations director of the IFC, is seeking inter-Greek cooperation, an improved rush system, cooperative fraternity food-buying and closer ties with Panhellenic.

Van Derven, an IFC judicial board member comes from Westfield, N.J. His platform stresses an IFC "united front" with an all-fraternity Pinebrook conference in the fall, a survey committee to collect house opinions on IFC policies, and a joint IFC-Panhellenic newspaper.

Vice presidential candidate Luckman, from Rockville Center, is seeking a program to eliminate dirty rushing by having bids submitted a few hours after final formal parties, or compelling Greeks to remain in the houses the night prior to bid filing.

Stern, from Bay Shore, has a platform emphasizing more IFC-sponsored cultural activities for the campus, a pledge master exchange, and coordination of IFC committees under the vice president.

White, IFC secretary and judicial board member has promised to improve the "IFC image" and to relieve the work load of

(See IFC, Page 5)

Urban Director Asks for Equality

By MARLENE CIMONS

"When I talk about equality in the city, I do not mean just equality of the races—I mean equality of all citizens for a right to life, liberty, the pursuit of happiness, and existence where they can live as independent human beings," declared Joseph P. Lyford, director of a study on urban renewal programs in the New York City area.

Speaking on "Equality in the City" at the first of the evening citizenship lectures of the spring semester Monday, Lyford focused his ideas on the basic social and political problems confronted by today's society.

Communities must have flexibility in order to re-examine themselves to deal with revolutionary situations, he said. Many make attempts to cope with these conflicts but are unable to solve them because they are unwilling to face up to the basic situation, he explained. Lyford added: "A society which finds itself unable to adapt will commit suicide."

Examples of the city's major problems were cited by Lyford as being the positions of citizens on welfare, proliferation of mental hospitals, the "clique of representative government," situation of elderly citizens, jobless teenagers, broken homes, the chronic alcoholic, and the results of racial discrimination in housing, education, and employment.

Most people's feelings about individuals on welfare are misconceptions, he stated. It is the general attitude that these people haven't the motivation to do anything about their situation. Lyford, an executive of the Fund for the Republic, declared this to be untrue and commented: "I don't understand how this myth continues to survive. It is a fact that people on welfare have similar aspirations and responses as anyone else in society."

The term "senior citizens" is the social worker's brisk way of pepping up the elderly members of society, he said. "These people are not senior citizens," Lyford declared, "and they are not even citizens. These people receive the barest necessities in housing, medical care, and assistance." He added that the problem of the aged is one which has never been fully examined or properly treated.

It has been proven that automation is eliminating 40,000 blue collar jobs every week, Lyford said, and the high school drop outs will be the ones who will find it the most difficult to secure employment.

The alcoholic also poses a serious problem, he said, and are left to themselves without adequate help. "In abandoned buildings, cats have been displaced by human beings," he declared.

The Negro and the Puerto Rican have been most affected by the housing situation, Lyford stated. They pay from $100 to $125 a month for two rooms without heat, hot water, or a bathroom, he said, and must also put up with rats and roaches. "No one in this room would live in a place like that even if they were paid a large amount to do so," he added. "These

(See Lyford, Page 1)

Food Service Answers Gripes

By JONATHAN RUSSELL

Joint Student Legislature food service co-chairman Marshall Sneirson revealed Tuesday the results of a conversation he had with Ross Moriarty of the Food Service.

According to Sneirson, Moriarty said that hairnets would be worn by women working in food service.

Pies and cakes will be served along with ice cream on occasion, and ice cream sundaes on a "do-it-yourself" basis will be served periodically.

Moriarty commented that it was impossible for a greater variety of eggs, other than fried or scrambled, to be served on a mass system. He further noted that there would be no seconds on jello and fruit when they are served as dessert.

Regarding the crispness of toast and pancakes, Moriarty said that students should complain to the people cooking the food if the food approached either of two extremes. Students should also complain if the boiled potatoes were cooked too hard.

Moriarty commented that, because of Jewish students, pork will not be used in hot meat sandwiches and, when it is served, an alternate will be offered.

Moriarty said that salt and pepper will be put on the tables, but felt that ashtrays and sugar shakers would be stolen if they were placed on the tables.

Regarding the extension of dining hall hours for breakfast and lunch, Moriarty said it would be impossible to extend the hours as food service employees would not have enough time to get ready between meals.

Concerning a higher quality lettuce, Moriarty noted that different types of lettuce were good for the health. If students wanted a greater variety of cheeses, they should speak to their dining hall supervisor.

On an optimistic note, Moriarty commented that the cooks were good and that the most modern cooking methods were used.

'Minstrels' Concert Seating Awards Set

Special block seating for the New Christy Minstrels concert will be available to the small and large living centers which buy the highest percentage of tickets. It was announced Tuesday by Gerri Porter, concert chairman.

Winter Weekend will begin Friday with snow sculpture and the annual Stockingfoot dance, featuring Dick Kowell and Dean Charles C. Noble set for Drumlins.

Saturday will feature ski competition and a hockey game, while Sunday will mark the Minstrels' appearance.

According to Miss Porter, the special seating will be in the front rows of the field house. No other reserved seating will be available.

Miss Porter said that the from each floor or living center should compile a list of people in their living center who have bought tickets, and list the number of each ticket. All tickets bought by members of the living center will be counted. Floors and living centers may also buy tickets from salesmen in the lobby of H.B. Crouse Hall, and report these. All lists should be brought to the sales desk in HBC before noon Friday. Living centers will be contacted Friday afternoon as to winners.

Miss Porter said that two groups will be given special seating. One block will be awarded to the winning living center with less than 35 people, and one will be awarded to the winning center with 35 or more. Dormitory floors are equivalent to living centers, she added.

She added that ushers are still needed for the concert. Ushers, who will be permitted to watch the concert, will be given tickets at half cost. Tickets are $2.50 a person. Anyone interested should call Miss Porter at ext. 2643.

GEORGE VAN DERVEN

MICHAEL POLOMBO

GARY REHM

JSL Steering Committee

Student Tax Discussed

By JESSE SMITH

Joint Student Legislature food service co-chairman discussed two key issues at its meeting Tuesday afternoon, the student finance bill and university food service.

The committee discussed possible actions in the wake of the Food Service investigations. A list of 29 recommendations was submitted to Ross Moriarty, assistant food service director, and his reply was announced Tuesday. (See story, this page).

Moriarty promised action on several of the recommendations, and rejected several others. No replies were received on the rest.

The steering committee was dissatisfied with the results, and considered means to get action on its requests. Possible measures included demonstrations, letter-writing campaigns and appeals to alumni and parents.

The committee discussed the proposed finance bill, which would provide for a student tax. The bill will be brought to the floor at the JSL meeting today.

The bill is intended to centralize control of finances for all student activities and organizations in a JSG finance board.

The board would include the JSG vice president as chairman, the speaker pro tempore of the legislature, 2 members elected at large by the legislature, and the president of JSG as ex-officio member.

Under terms of the bill, each student organization and activity would submit a budget to the finance board for hearings.

The board would then compile a budget and determine the amount of the student tax. The legislature would pass the budget and the university would collect the tax at registration as part of the general student

(See JSL, Page 5)

Whitewashed

Syracuse University, like other large institutions, has its share of black sheep. This does not amaze us.

The students of SU usually have some conception, no matter how slight, of the grumblings and bumbblings which prevail throughout the school year.

And some of these students often complain about many of the inequities found in college life. This is normal and to be expected from college students.

Students from other universities tell these tales to their parents, and their complaints are usually channelled through the holder of the cherished pocketbook.

But this avenue of action is not feasible for Hill students, Syracuse University, although it regards its students as transients and treats them so, does not use this philosophy with the parents.

For the mature adult who can benefit the university through occasional contributions, the tactic is public relations.

The university, through the Parents Association, publishes two newsletters for parents, "Report to Parents" and "SU Parent." These typographically pleasing and multi-colored reports not only inform parents of the good side of Syracuse—they also brainwash.

Much of the printed material is the traditional public relations matter—new buildings, appointments, building funds, special weekends, etc.

But the letter's editors also find an opportunity to slip in material which will contradict the gripes of the SU student.

One of the major topics in this brainwash program is food service, which occupies a prominent space in half of this year's issues. A picture covers the front page of one of the issues, showing the modern eating facilities at Kimmel Hall, while the inside story shows a picture of a menu of a typical day in the dining hall.

However, four of the items on the menu have only been served once this year, and two have never been served. And the ones that have been served have never appeared together on the same table at the same meal.

But as the university probably theorizes, the printed word is a lot stronger than the spoken word. Incidentally, one of the items mentioned was Roast Sirloin in Natural Juices.

Another story shows the unique sides to food service, such as the all you can eat principle (with the expectation of good meals, desserts, etc.)

The publications also expound upon the fine work done by the Syracuse University Health Service, one of the primary objectives in the student complaint book.

Three letters demonstrating parents' indebtedness to SU were printed and, of course, each of the letters indicated that the parents will repay their indebtedness by contributions to the University Infirmary Building Fund.

These letters and others, the article points out, are on file at the SU development office, not in the infirmary files. It could be interesting to see some of those "others."

Although the student on campus is enraged when he reads this propaganda, the damage is done. He can continue to complain to his parents about food service and the infirmary, but it is to no avail.

The parents has been a victim of SU ingenuity and is no longer receptive to the oft-legitimate complaints of his son or daughter.

SU Morality

By Charles Steinberg

Last week we ran a story on one of Syracuse University's top science students. Coming from a reasonably well-to-do family, this student receives no scholarship grant from the university.

It is a sad commentary on this university (and the American university system in general) that at the same time SU rewards baton twirlers and athletes, sometimes coming from wealthy homes, with full tuition, room, board, books, linen, tutoring and laundry service.

We do not even count, since it outside the official province of the university but nevertheless interesting to mention) the favors provided by alumni for their self-ego identified "gridiron heroes."

Large athletic scholarships, as some leading educators have suggested, should be eliminated on a nation-wide basis. But at the very least there is no reason why the grants shouldn't be strictly determined on the basis of need.

One football player boasts that because of his grant-in-aid he is able to spend more than $1,600 per year on "women and booze." This he does in effect on a university subsidy.

The large rewards given athletes here, which the university could not even possibly match for academically talented students, constitute another of the factors we have been examining in this column which make an "atmosphere of academic excellence" presently unrealized at Syracuse University.

The greater reward placed by the university on athletic achievement is psychologically detrimental to student morale," a noted educator argues and "perverts higher priority educational values."

Football players have tried to reason to this writer that "our rewards don't take away rewards from other students." This is not the issue. The issue is that for a university to make large rewards, based solely on spectator-entertaining athletic ability in any way you look at it, is immoral.

And I submit that if a university, of all places cannot maintain high principles, then indeed civilization is declining.

The logical and long overdue step for Syracuse University to take is to join with the other independent Eastern universities in establishing an athletic conference like the Ivy League. As in the Ivy League, initial athletic grants-in-aid would be eliminated or drastically reduced in terms of the maximum amount awarded each student.

Perhaps in this way some of the large amounts of money presently being spent on athletic scholarships could be rechanneled to needier and academically superior students.

"Let's face it," University of Pittsburgh Athletic Director Frank Carver has had the courage to publicly state, "Many college athletes don't belong in school."

Syracuse University's hypocritical answer to this accusation would be that, in Dean Faigle's words, "the university is a complex;" or in the words of another administrator, "Syracuse exists to serve a spectrum of abilities." Thus such programs as the College of Liberal Art's infamous "recreation major" exist.

Some SU athletic scholarship holders never graduate because of not having a 1.0 average. The reason they are able to remain in school, one footballer described to me is because they attend summer school here and take such courses as "Coaching Major Team Sports" for full academic credit (and usually receive A's or B's).

Such procedures may be technically legal according to NCAA and university rules, but we ask the administration to answer without any of the customary rationale about "university complexes" and "progressive education": Is This Moral?

We must write further that in addition to the previously mentioned excessive rewards accorded athletes here, this university continues to in effect subsidize automobiles for them.

Ostensibly this policy was changed at the beginning of the semester when the dean of men's office announced that any students receiving financial assistance from the university would not be permitted to own and operate automobiles. However, as the Daily Orange editorialized, this ruling is meaningless if not vigorously enforced, which presently appears to be the case.

In fact, one member of the resident advisor staff unwittingly indicated to this columnist that the subject was brought up at a staff meeting and was promptly side stepped.

This writer has thus far seen at least three athletic scholarship holders driving their automobiles on campus. And if the administration needs to be further embarrassed for its hypocrisy, one need only look at the Syracuse Herald-Journal which two weeks ago dramatically wrote how two SU basketball players after missing the team bus, drove to the Niagara game in one's car.

The SU administration might of course counter with the rationalization that these athletic scholarship holders have demonstrated a "necessity" to have an automobile. But this escape clause in the original ruling is as all can see, a possible tool for further hypocrisy.

In fairness, it must be added to this commentary that many SU athletic scholarship holders as we have come to personally know them are academically qualified as the next student at Syracuse University and numerous SU athletes are known as individuals of high character. This column has not been meant as a general personal attack on athletic scholarship holders, but rather as an attack on the university system which provides such outlandish awards.

Undoubtedly many SU athletes are themselves bewildered at the huge remunerations their non-academic talents bring here.

LETTERS

Dream On

To the Editor:

As calendar chairman at Pi Kappa Alpha it appears to be my responsibility to answer a column which actually deserves no answer. I refer to Jeff Zient's column in last Tuesday's Daily Orange.

Zients fittingly begins by dedicating his column to one of America's great journalistic lemons, The New York Post, and then goes on to blend in consequential bits of historical knowledge with religious undertones in a truly poor attempt to match John Greenwald's column of last year.

After wading through paragraph upon paragraph of printed garbage, I gather that Zients is upset with the religion and mediocrity of the girls and the supposedly poor photography.

His opening intimations about the religion of Miss February and Miss March were at best in the poorest of taste, and definitely did not deserve the space it consumed. Just what religion does he feel is fitting for February?

After impressing us with his knowledge of Bostille Day, he profoundly states that our girls are mediocre. If he considers them mediocre he must in fact be dating that very Liz Taylor he dreams of.

It was more than fitting for Zients' column to appear on the entertainment page. I suggest that he use a little more "professionalism" when writing a column.

Tom Muller
Pi Kappa Alpha Chairman

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2

February 19, 1964

Editor-In-Chief
Business Manager

Allan T. Kort
Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor: Clayton F. Richards
News Editor: Andrew Ponce
Editorial Director: Adair Dufine
Sports Editor: Bernard MacCallum

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 201 Brooklyn Drive, Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter and U.S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

TREVER ON CAMPUS

The New Christy Minstrels

It's the New Christy Minstrels who sing, tell jokes, and in general are good entertainers. And they will be here 8 p.m. Sunday at the Manley Field House as part of Winter Weekend. Tickets are being sold for $2.50 per person in the lobby of HBC.

Symphony Holds Concert

The Syracuse Symphony presents its fifth subscription concert 8:40 p.m. Feb. 21 and 22 at the Lincoln Auditorium. The artist will be violinist Sidney Harth, cellist Theo Salzman and pianist Earl George.

The program will include Brahms "Double Concerto for Violin and Cello," the Beethoven "Triple Concerto for Violin, Cello and Piano," and Karel Husa's "Portrait for String Orchestra."

Tickets are on sale at the Hotel Onondaga for $3.50, $2.75, $2, $1.50 and $75.

Faculty Exhibit Set

A faculty exhibit of professional architectural work has gone on view at Syracuse University on the third floor of Slocum Hall. Included in the exhibit are schemes for a new Syracuse University library by Prof. Alain Verley and architecture in Puerto Rico by the office of Dean D. Kenneth Sargent. The work will remain on view through the month of March.

W A E R

88.3 mc

WEDNESDAYS

- WAER Highlights
- 4:00 Sun. or. News, and
- 4:15 Experiment in Music
- 6:00 Washington Report
- 6:15 Communique
- 6:30 Dan Stone and the News
- 6:45 Focus
- 7:00 Dateline London
- 7:50 Yankee Dollar
- 8:00 The Spoken Word
- 8:30 The 8:30 Report
- 8:35 Men of Music
- 10:45 Late Night Report
- 11:00 Folkways
- 12:45 Headlines and Sign-off

WINNER! "BEST PICTURE OF THE YEAR!" "BEST ACTOR!" "BEST DIRECTOR!"
Albert Finney
Tony Richardson
—New York Film Critics Award

The whole world loves
Tom Jones!

ALBERT FINNEY/SUSAN YAHYOK
CONTINUOUS SHOWING! NO RESERVE SEATS!
NOW A Schine Theatre ECKEL

Trout Quintet To Be Done Thursday at 10

A performance of Schubert's "Trout" Quintet will be performed 10 a.m., Feb. 20 in Crouse Auditorium.

This Quintet was written in 1819 at the request of Sylvester Paunigarnier, an amateur performer on the cello.

In this work, Schubert included a movement in variation form. The "Trout" Quintet has become one of the most popular of all chamber compositions, in which includes piano and couble bass as well as the usual violin, viola and cello.

The performers will be Zaida Booth, Laraine Shapiro, Frederick Miller, Calvin Custer and Lawrence Dennis.

Admission is free.

Riviera CINEMA
3115 SOUTH SALINA ST. • 688-4021
"ONE OF THE YEAR'S TEN BEST!"
"AN UPPER CLASS LA DOLCE VITA!"
—Times
the Easy Life
VITTORIO GASSMAN • CATHERINE SPAAK
AND THE CONCRETE JUNGLE STANLEY BAKER

Attend Stockingfoot

See the new '64 Rambler at . . .

Feigel Motors

RAMBLER DEALERS

SALES AND EXPERT SERVICE

FOR ALL MAKES AND MODELS

SPECIALIZING IN AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSIONS
3832 S. Salina St. Call HY 2-1791

Complete Plant on Premises

1c Sweater Sale

Any Sweater 1¢ when accompanied by one of the regular price.

Look your best
THIS WEEKEND

SALE ENDS SAT. 2/22/64

Free: Minor repairs Buttons

7-HOUR
Cleaning & Laundering Inc.
Drive in Service

175 MARSHALL ST.
Cor. University Ave.

Hot Nuts, Dovells Featured At Arcade Party Saturday

A weekend of raucous entertainment is promised at the Campus Arcade, beginning with the Daquiris on Friday night, a six-band extravaganza Saturday afternoon, and a three-band party Saturday night.

The Saturday afternoon party will feature the Hot Nuts, noted North Carolina singer-musicians, and the Dovells, of "Bristol Stomp" fame. Also on the card will be the Daquiris, Eldorados, Checkermen and Exclusive Exotics. Saturday night will feature the Capitols, Dynamios and a third local group.

Friday festivities will begin at 9 p.m. and run until 1 a.m. The Saturday afternoon schedule will run from 2-6 p.m., while the evening affair will begin at 9 p.m.

The Hot Nuts, who have toured most of the East Coast, have produced several long-playing records.

DU Sets Housemother Coffee

The brothers of Delta Upsilon association with the boys here are holding a coffee in honor of their housemother, Mrs. Nadine Strain, at 7 p.m. today in the chapter house. The brothers will announce Mrs. Strain's retirement as housemother at DU, a position she has held for the last five years.

"I very much regret leaving," she said. "I've really enjoyed my association with the boys here at DU, but problems at home make it necessary that I leave." The coffee will be attended by the housemothers of campus fraternities and sororities, administration officials and the DU brothers and alums. Mrs. Strain will receive the guests, and will be presented with a bouquet of roses and serenaded by the brothers.

Al Markowitz Florist

For the Ski Slopes
SHE-ING CORSAGE . . . 98¢

CALL US
212 E. FAYETTE WE'LL DELIVER GR 4-5316

Daily Crossword Puzzle

- ACROSS
- 1 Twilled cotton cloth.
 - 6 Sailing.
 - 10 "Man of red earth."
 - 14 Talked continuously: 2 words.
 - 15 Victory symbol.
 - 16 Standout: Slang.
 - 17 Empty.
 - 18 school.
 - 19 Miss.
 - 20 Cape Kennedy scene: 2 words.
 - 22 Groove.
 - 23 Outfit.
 - 24 Point of the sun's ecliptic.
 - 26 Pastoral scene.
 - 28 People of Kenya.
 - 32 Son of Jacob.
 - 34 — Chloe: 2 words.
 - 38 Greek letters.
 - 39 Come afterward.
 - 40 Aware of: Slang.
 - 41 Old man with a scythe: 2 words.
 - 43 French marshal of 1867.
 - 44 Muscles.
 - 45 That is: Lat. 2 words.
 - 47 Stormed.
 - 51 Ambassadors Abbr.
 - 54 Iowa State city.
 - 57 Fortuitous.
 - 59 Fertile.
 - 60 Willow genus.
 - 61 Bete —
 - 62 Long for.
 - 63 Relative of 4 Down.
 - 64 Golf clubs.
 - 65 "To — not to be...": 2 words.
 - 66 "Vissi d'—" Puccini aria.
 - 67 Sticks.
 - DOWN
 - 1 Muscle ailment.
 - 2 Tonkin's capital.
 - 3 Dissolve.
 - 4 Admonition to a tot: 2 words.
 - 5 — street (well-to-do): 2 words.
 - 6 Man in court.
 - 7 Namesakes of a Burnett heroine.
 - 8 Vote in.
 - 9 On both sides.
 - 10 "A Man For —": 2 words.
 - 11 Double.
 - 12 As well.
 - 13 Necessity.
 - 21 More daring.
 - 25 901: Rom.
 - 27 Kitchen appliance.
 - 29 "Clean up" department.
 - 30 Prefix used with room and date.
 - 31 Graven image.
 - 32 Departed.
 - 33 Greenland outpost.
 - 35 Greek letter.
 - 36 Mortify.
 - 37 Required.
 - 42 Letter.
 - 46 Like Paradise.
 - 48 "You — mouthful": 2 words.
 - 49 Member of Equity.
 - 50 — sale, special bargain: 2 words.
 - 52 Chalons' river.
 - 53 Wish well to.
 - 54 Horse.
 - 55 Disney characters.
 - 56 — chamber.
 - 58 Ibsen character.

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

SUCE Sets Policy Committees

Committees to study Joint Student Court policies and procedures, the university's policies on competing against athletic teams from segregated schools and the Daily Orange's policy on columnists were established at a meeting of the SU Committee on Equality last week.

In other business, Robert Co-

Confirmation Classes Set

Confirmation instruction for those interested in becoming Communicants of the Episcopal Church will begin at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Chapel, Episcopal Chaplain Rev. Robert C. Ayres announced. Inquirers may register by calling ext. 2062 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Lyford...

(Continued from Page 1)
people pay because there is no other place for them to go—one else will take them," he said.

Lyford concluded that it is our responsibility to do much more thinking about how we must make our leadership and government more conscious of the problems which prevail today.

Nurses Staff Lecture Set

Several members of the Hill nursing faculty will participate in the annual Heart Teaching Day for Nurses March 5 in Midtown Plaza.

Entitled "Myocardial Infarction: A Quiet Revolution in Nursing Care," the program will feature associate professors Jane Secor, and Linnea Anderson, and instructors Louise Brouillette, and Eleanor D. Jrohm. Some 350 area nurses will attend the program.

Hillel Names Two Heads

Geta Shuman and Steven Showstack are the new Hillel social committee chairmen. Hillel President, Michael Moran announced today.

Miss Shuman, former chairman of the food committee, is a sophomore in the College of Liberal Arts. She is majoring in child psychology.

Showstack, former culture committee chairman, is a sophomore in Liberal Arts, majoring in pre-med.

Members having ideas for the social committee should contact Miss Shuman at 446-8686 or Showstack at ext. 2020. The time of the next meeting will be announced.

CrowsPickOfficers

C. Edward Hartranft was elected president of Alpha Chi Rho fraternity recently. Others officers include Fred Hopkins, vice president; and Larry Libin, treasurer.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

W	A	G	S	T	A	P	I	S	S	C	A	T
I	N	T	E	R	E	M	I	L	E	T	A	N
S	T	I	P	I	N	G	E	R	M	E	N	O
H	A	Z	I	N	E	S	S	V	I	N	O	U
Z	I	O	M	S	S	L	E	D	G	E	R
D	E	L	I	O	F	E	S	T	I	D	L	E
A	V	I	S	T	R	O	U	T	S	E	L	E
T	I	E	N	E	C	T	O	L	L	S	T	O
A	N	G	L	I	T	A	R	E	A	F	U	R
M	A	P	P	L	Y	V	E	R	I	T	I
S	A	N	T	A	S	E	N	E	G	E	V
M	E	N	T	A	L	P	I	A	N	G	L	O
A	D	Z	E	L	I	R	I	O	A	Q	U	A
L	A	I	R	A	G	A	V	E	C	U	S
I	N	G	I	N	S	H	E	R	Y	E	A	S

hen, a psychology graduate student, was reelected president and David Borthwick reelected vice president. Other officers include Mary Kaufman, recording secretary and Sandy Myers, corresponding secretary.

Herbert Lustig, JSC chief justice, explained the bases on which the court operates. Lustig had been invited to the meeting as a result of several statements he made about the court.

David Pravda, a law student, will head the SUCE committee to further investigate student court.

Possible action on the Athletic Board's statement about playing segregated teams was discussed. The university's policy is to play all games now scheduled and to take no action to discontinue scheduling games against teams from segregated schools.

Specifically under consideration by SUCE is next fall's football game against Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

The question of the DO's policy on columns arose as a result of the firing of Ron Corwin last month. Corwin, who wrote a bi-weekly column, concentrated on civil rights issues and discrimination within the Greek system in his columns.

A committee to work with foreign students to study their specific problems was also established.

We Carry Garment Leather and Suedes in high fashion colors for making your own:

VESTS	JACKETS	PATCHES
SKIRTS	SWEATERS	COULOTTES

Leather is very economical (the cost of an average vest is approximately $6.50)

TANDY LEATHER CO.
353 E. Onondaga St. HA 2-9484

'Tower Dorm'Bids Begun

Bids for the 21-story "tower dorm" scheduled to be built on Hendricks Field behind Sadler Dorm will be advertised for construction firms today.

Bidding will be opened March 19.

Construction is due to start on the building about March 30.

The dorm is slated for occupancy in September, 1965, and will house 567 men students. The cost is estimated at just under $1 million.

VILLAGE WEST

TALLMAN & CLINTON

Wednesday & Thursday, Feb. 19-20

ROARING 20'S NIGHT

CLAM BAKE

SPECIAL GUEST — CAPTAIN MACK

OF CAPTAIN MACKS CLAM SHACK

CHICAGO JAZZ

PRIZES & CONTESTS

CLAMS 2 DOZ. for $1.00

ONLY FORD-BUILT CARS MEET THE CHALLENGE WITH TOTAL PERFORMANCE!

Something wonderful's happened to Ford Motor Company cars! Under the freshest styling seen in years, there's a new kind of durability and vigor that more than meets the demands of today's and tomorrow's high-speed turnpike driving conditions.

What's the secret? Quality engineering for total performance. Quality engineering so outstanding that Ford Motor Company received the NASCAR Achievement Award for engineering excellence which "superbly combines the prime essentials of great automobiles—performance, reliability, durability, comfort and safety."

Total performance makes a world of difference. Bodies and frames are solid and quiet even on the roughest roads. The ride's so smooth, so even-keeled, it seems to straighten the curves and shorten the miles. And nothing matches the spirit, sparkle and stamina of advanced Ford-built V-8's and thrifty Sixes. Total performance is yours to enjoy in all our 1964 cars—from the frisky Falcon to the matchless Lincoln Continental.

MOTOR COMPANY

The American Road, Dearborn, Michigan

WHERE ENGINEERING LEADERSHIP BRINGS YOU BETTER-BUILT CARS

Packing Up

Archives director James Owens and his assistant pack some of Syracuse University's rare book collection in preparation for the move to E. I. White Hall. The archives will make their home in the College of Law basement as soon as building and grounds crews complete renovations in the rooms.

New Archives to Open

The new headquarters of the University archives will open soon according to James Owens, head of the department.

The archives will be moved from the main library to the basement of E.I. White Hall and will be open Monday - Friday, 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m.

Students will now be able to inspect the complete set of all University publications, dating from the first issue in many cases.

Also available is a large selection of masters theses for research purposes and the complete works of many prominent people including Orville Freeman and former governor Averill Harriman.

The Harriman papers, donated in 1959, are a notable possession.

The collection includes all correspondence and reports as well as photographs and newsreels made during the Harriman administration. There are some 600,000 items in all.

JSL...

(continued from page 1)

By placing finances in the hands of JSG, the bill would give final control to the students rather than the administration. By taxing students to pay for organizations and activities, the bill would relieve the university of this burden. The possibility of contributing money thus saved to scholarship funds.

The finance bill also provides for recall of appropriated funds on evidence that the money is being mishandled. Such action could only be taken on recommendation of the finance board and two-thirds of the legislature. Students may report irregularities in handling of money to JSG.

JSG Speaker Jay Litwin expressed hope that action on the bill would be postponed until students had a chance to learn its provisions and form opinions. The bill will be introduced at the legislature's meeting today at 7:30 p.m. in Maxwell Auditorium.

Christy Minstrels
Sunday

IFC...

(Continued from Page 1) standing member of all committees. He comes from Corning.

Running for under-treasurer are Owen Lewis (Sigma Chi) and Bruce Raines (Alpha Epsilon Pi).

Lewis's platform stresses closer financial cooperation with internal collection system of each house.

Raines has promised more financial security by immediate billing of IFC dues so that houses have more time to pay, and instituting a day-to-day running ledger balance.

Outgoing executives are George (Skip) Stanger, (Sigma Chi), president, Michael Steinberg (Sigma Alpha Mu), Paul Derounian (Phi Delta Theta), treasurer, and Jack White, secretary.

BEAT CORNELL

DON'T GAMBLE..

... "Roll" With

MIDTOWN CAR RENTAL

PHONE 476-4281

OUT OF TOWN DATE For Winter Weekend

LET FIVE STAR HELP WITH

- * Hotel Reservations
- * Car Rentals
- * Greyhound Tickets — Information Schedules our office will be open this Sunday from noon to 6 p.m. Save time buy your dates going home ticket from FIVE STAR.

FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC.
(SU's FIRST AND ONLY STUDENT OPERATED SERVICE)

IN THE SAVOY DAILY 1-4 Thursday 7-9
Special hours this Sunday 1-6 DIAL GR 6-8533

Going to

EUROPE THIS SUMMER

Hold the phone—don't sign anything yet watch for big news coming soon! !

Listen to Odyssey — Sat. 1-6 WAER 88.5 FM

GO GREYHOUND
...and leave the driving to us

SECOND ANNUAL SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY

FOLK FESTIVAL

MARCH 20, 21, 22, 1964

AN EXCITING ROUND-ROBIN OF CONCERTS, HOOTENANNIES, SEMINARS, WORKSHOPS, CLINICS, AND TALENT COMPETITION

—FEATURING AMERICA'S FINEST FOLK ARTISTS—

DOC WATSON

JEAN RITCHIE

THE GREENBRIAR BOYS

REV. GARY DAVIS

GIL TURNER

ROGER SPRUNG

THE SHANTY BOYS

THE ALL-NIGHT SINGERS

AND MANY OTHERS.

YOUR FESTIVAL HOST

JERRY SILVERMAN

AUTHOR, PERFORMER, MUSICOLOGIST, ASSOCIATE EDITOR OF SING OUT

GENERAL ADMISSION TICKET FOR ENTIRE FESTIVAL $2.50

SPECIAL ADVANCED SALE - TO MARCH 18 ONLY - $2.00

FESTIVAL SPONSORED BY

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY
BOOKSTORES

FESTIVAL HEADQUARTERS

CORNER BOOKSTORE MUSIC DEPARTMENT
943 SO. CROUSE AVE. SYRACUSE, N.Y. 13210
PHONE 476-5571 EX 2008

TICKETS AND FULL INFORMATION AVAILABLE AT FESTIVAL HEADQUARTERS
AND AT FAMOUS ARTISTS TICKET OFFICE - CLARK MUSIC BLDG. SALINA ST.

100 LP RECORDS -- GUITARS -- SONG BOOKS WILL BE GIVEN AWAY

TODAY

4 p.m., Bible study, Lutheran office.
5:05 p.m., Lutheran Holy Communion.
North Wine Hendricks Chapel.
7 p.m., "Legal Ethics", St. Thomas More Chapel.
7 p.m., WAER announcer's meeting, 108 Library.
7 p.m., Ukrainian Club, Rec. Lounge, Women's Bldg.
7 p.m., AWS assembly meeting, dance studio, Women's Bldg.
7:30 p.m., European Students Association movie, Chapel House.
7:30 p.m., Students for Goldwater meeting, 105 Bowne.
8 p.m., AWS cabinet meeting, AWS office, Women's Bldg.
8:30 p.m., Upperclass Skeptic, Dean Noble's home. Vice-President Dr. John Olson.

SPECIAL—Shampoo, Style Cut, Set $5.00

at

Carmens
HAIR STYLISTS

Two Hour Free Parking at
Municipal Parking Lot

Open Thurs. & Fri. 9 to 9 Mon., Tues., Wed & Sat, 9 to 6
Call 212 Montgomery St.
GR 1-0511 Syracuse, N. Y.

$1

This Week
at $1

$1

Carmens
with this ad

$1

One dollar off an ANY beauty treatment

Kosher Food

Here Audrey Lippman, one of the students who eats in the kosher kitchen, samples the meat cooked by Mrs. Ida Shuman. Over 25 Jewish students eat here instead of in university food service dining halls.

Students Eat Now At Kosher Kitchen

Several Jewish students on campus have gone off university board since last September to eat at the Kosher Kitchen.

The kitchen, started by the Young Israel Synagogue in Syracuse and the Hillel Foundation at S.U., now has 25 students eating lunches and dinners.

The kitchen is located in an apartment at 700 E. Raynor St., which is occupied by graduate student Bernard Liberman.

Mrs. Ida Shuman cooks delightful meals in traditional Jewish style for her customers. Since the kitchen is strict in the "keeping kosher," there are two sets of everything, dishes, silver, tablecloths, etc. as well as two stoves and two refrigerators to aid in preparation of food.

The kitchen also has a waitress who helps serve the meals, does the dishes and keeps the kitchens and dining room clean.

Several graduate students as well as undergraduates eat at the kitchen.

Minstrels

The music of the New Christy Minstrels will be offered on WAER's Folkways show, scheduled for 11 p.m. today. The Minstrels will be in Syracuse Sunday for a concert at the Manley Field House.

Peace Corps Plan Begins

Syracuse University will take part in a pilot Peace Corps senior year program. Under the new plan college juniors apply for the Peace Corps while still in college. Students accepted will then be given six weeks of summer training between junior and senior years in college.

After college graduation they will undergo another four to eight weeks of training before going overseas.

The placement test for juniors in Syracuse area colleges and universities will be given at 1 p.m. Saturday in Syracuse University's Gifford auditorium.

Selection for the program will be similar to that used for all Peace Corps applicants - based on an evaluation of the questionnaire, placement test scores and character references. The selection process will continue during the summer training program, with final selection not made until the end of the second stage of training, which takes place after college graduation.

PEERLESS PRESS, Inc.

PRINTERS

1112 E. Fayette Street Between University &
Walnut

COMPLETE PRINTING SERVICE

at your doorstep
GR 6-6051

Attend

Winter Weekend

COLUMBIA RECORDS

TO THE WORLD OF ENTERTAINMENT
TAKE OFF WHEN THE SPIRIT MOVES YOU AND TRAVEL AT THE SPEED OF SOUND

CL 2105 CS 8905 Stereo
Bob Dylan sings more of his highly charged, deeply moving songs about the contemporary scene.

CL 2128 CS 8928 Stereo
The refreshing folk sound of The Brothers Four emerges in an album of sparkling songs and delightful ditties that features the popular "Four Strong Winds" and many others.

CL 2130 CS 8930 Stereo
The majestic voice of Mahalia Jackson lends deep eloquence to timely songs and traditional spirituals such as "Deep River," "If I Can Help Somebody" and "We Shall Overcome."

CL 2114 CS 8914 Stereo
The multi-talented Andre Previn turns his genius to the magical music of Jimmy McHugh. "I'm in the Mood for Love," "It's a Most Unusual Day" and many others.

CL 2126 CS 8926 Stereo
America's most influential jazz critics picked the performances — America's greatest jazz artists play them — America's jazz audience will find them a must.

C3L 30
From the cradle of jazz, a collector's collection! Three 12" Lo's of New Orleans' best including the first jazz record ever made. Features Jelly Roll Morton, King Oliver, Louis Armstrong and many others.

THE SOUND OF ENTERTAINMENT ON COLUMBIA RECORDS

Save on Records at University Hill Music Box

3.98 NOW 2.97

4.98 NOW 3.77

5.98 NOW 4.47

6.98 NOW 5.25

Open a Record Charge Account

OWNED AND OPERATED BY SYRACUSE U. STUDENTS

University Hill
MUSIC BOX

754 So. Crouse Ave.

475-4116

Open Mon, thru Fri. 10-8 — SAT. till 5:30

OPEN MON. THRU FRI. 10 - 8

SAT. 'TIL 5:30

Juniors, Seniors...

Career Opportunities In All Phases Of Marketing

- Advertising
- Sales Management
- Merchandising
- Sales Promotion
- Market Research

Join Vick Chemical Company's Programs for Career Development this summer. Schedule a campus interview with the company representatives now.

Seniors... Permanent employment. Gain extensive experience in all 5 phases of marketing.

Juniors... Summer employment. Get a head start on your career before graduation. Gain valuable sales and marketing experience.

Both programs provide car. good salary and pay all expenses seven days a week.

Contact your Placement Director for full details.

Interviews on March 11, 12

Vick Chemical Company

Manufacturers of Vick's Vapo Rubb, Cough Syrup, Cough Drops, Baby Preparation, and Cold Tablets, Laxatives and Clearasil.

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

French Banquet

Fourteen Hill students left recently for the second semester of the new Semester-in-France program. Photographed aboard the SS Ryndam are, in the front row: Gail Krozel, Tom Yonkers, Marilyn Greene, Dr. C. G. Christofides, Barbara DeSnoo, Nancy Achher, Judy Golub. In the back row are Susan Clark, Bonnie Scalse, Carolyn Scott, Jan McMonagle, Marcia Kaplan, a German dinner guest of the group, and Dorothy Crowley. Another Hill student, Dorothy Knaus, missed the dinner because of sickness.

14 Begin French Semester

By SANDI EHRLICH
Junior Editor

"Oui," the second semester in France program is underway.

Thirteen Syracuse students sailed from New York on the S.S. Ryndam January 20, and arrived at Le Harve, France, January 29.

Dr. C.G. Christofides, associate professor in the romance language department, accompanied the group on the voyage. He taught a language course on the ship and some informal sessions on French civilization.

"I was extremely pleased with both the alertness and the behavior of our students during the trip," he commented in an interview Tuesday. He flew back to Syracuse from Paris for the beginning of the second semester.

He added that he was often complimented on the excellence of the group by other travelers on the ship.

Prof. Albert George, chairman of the SU romance language department and director of the semester in France program, met the group in Paris.

After two days in Paris, the students and professors went to Poitiers, where the semester studies are held. Classes began on Feb. 3.

Students live either with French families in Poitiers or in the university's modern dormitories. They study three required courses in French civilization, oral language, and grammar. They also take six hours of elective subjects in any field at the University of Poitiers.

Students participating in the program this semester are: Nancy Achher, Laconia, N.H.; Susan Clark, Boston; and Dorothy Crowley, Mohegan Lake.

Also, Barbara DeSnoo, Pater-son, N.J.; Judith Golub, Wash-ington Crossing, Pa.; Marilyn Greene, Schenectady; Marcia Kaplan, Valley Stream; and

This is the first in a series of two articles explaining the new semester - in - France program instituted last fall. Tomorrow's article will discuss the success of the first semester's program along with student and faculty reaction to the program.

Dorothy Knaus, Longmeadow, Mass.

Gail Krozel, Holley; Janice McMonagle, Hull, Mass.; Bon- nie Scalse, Orange, Conn.; Car- olyn Scott, Canisteo; and Thom- as Younker, Corning.

Phi Kappa Phi Banquet Set

A total of 178 outstanding scholars at SU will be initiated today into Phi Kappa Phi, all- university honor society. The annual initiation dinner will be held at 7 p.m. in Sadler Hall, 1000 Irving Ave.

SU alumnus Ralph E. Hals- warth, manager of community relations for General Electric Co., will be initiated and will deliver an address.

Stockingfoot, Minstrels At Winter Weekend

STUDY ABROAD

Syracuse University
SEMESTERS ABROAD

GUATEMALA Spanish prerequisite

FRANCE French prerequisite

ITALY No language prerequisite

Liberal Arts Program

Applicants must secure the approval of their home college or university
For information and application

ACADEMIC PROGRAMS ABROAD
UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

610 E. Fayette St. Syracuse, N. Y. 13202

ANNOUNCING THE
WINNER OF THE

ORCHID SHOPPE BEAUTY CONTEST

MISS JOHANNA STORCH

SHAW DORMITORY

ENTER NOW FOR NEXT

WEEK'S CONTEST AND

YOU TOO CAN WIN A

DOZEN ROSES

THE ORCHID SHOPPE

GR 2-6221

605 BUTTERNUT

Specializing in Floral Arrangements Corsages, and Personalized Napkins and Matchbooks

FREE, RAPID DELIVERY

We Wire the World Over

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

THE "BOOKSTALL"

147 Marshall Street

Fascinating Gifts, Fine Stationery, Fabulous Cards

38 Years by the Campus

Your Friendly Alumni Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow

initiative:

If you had the time—you could do the computations which the biggest data processing systems do. ■ But they do them at electronic speed and without tiring. ■ It calls for constant initiative to make them work better for us. ■
You needn't know anything about them to start with. ■ IBM has an education program for continued training. ■

Ask your college placement officer for our brochures—and for an appointment when the IBM representative is interviewing on campus. ■
IBM is an Equal Opportunity Employer. ■

If you cannot attend the interview, write: ■
Manager of College Relations, ■ IBM Corp.,
590 Madison Avenue, New York 22, N. Y. ■

MOVE AHEAD: SEE

IBM

FEB. 25-23

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	$.85
2 days	1.65
4 days	3.15
3 days	2.40
5 days	3.85
7 days	5.20
6 days	4.55
8 days	5.85
9 days	6.45
10 days	7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified
Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B,
Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPGRADE AUTO DRIVING
SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.

GREYHOUND TICKETS, schedules, information, bus and air charters. Hotel reservations foreign tours. FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC. in the "Savor" Monday-Friday 1-4; Thurs-
day 7-9. 476-6533.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired, Rented, Sold.
Prompt attention. Call us any time.
At GR 8-8833. SMITH BROS. EQUIP-MENT CO.

ACCELERATED 5 lesson course, specializing in parking, traffic, road test.
SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO
3-3451.

ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lillian M. Potter 207 Comstock Ave. GR
8-5847.

FRATERNITIES, SORORITIES, LIVING
CENTERS are invited to enter Syracuse Motors VW contest to see what the capacity of a VW is—are you going to stand idly by while Detroit students set the record of 28 in a Volk—we don't think so. Winning male and female teams will be awarded a free all-expense trip to Brewerton and $100 in stereo records or tapes—double this

amt. if winners exceed the present national record. For details call Don Cain at 474-6007.

TO BUY OR SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN.
Spaine Motors, 1000 Hiawatha Blvd. W., 474-6007, is the place.

SLEEP-LEARNING. Hypnotism! Tapes, records, books, equipment. Astonishing details, strange catalog free! Sleep-
Learning Research Assn., Box 24-CP, Olympia, Wash.

FOR SALE

FREE SOLDERING, all charms boughhere. Charms, loveliers, jewelry, watch repair. Greeting cards. Personalized stationery. Valentine gifts and cards.
Riviera sunglasses for men and women.
Ruth's Gifts, 734 S. Crouse, Introductory Sale, Crepe de Chine Cologne and Nuit de Lomchamps.

'55 RAMBLER: Excellent engine. New battery. Snow tires. $200.00. See by appt. GR 8-6288.

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets.
Choice of four colors of paper, three colors of ink, two sizes of sheets.
Bookstall.

PORSCHE 1960, red coupe, 28,000 miles, one owner. GR 5-5072.

CAR RADIO, completely installed in your car; some as low as ten dollars.
HE 7-8134.

ROYAL SAFARI portable typewriter with case, 6 months old, $85. Call 472-7413.

WANTED

PART TIME help (male) — earn good money — car necessary. Ace Home
Equipment Company, 1236 South State Street, Syracuse.

STUDENTS, male-female. Earn up to $50.00 per week. Telephone sales work, hours flexible. Call Mr. Mankus, GR
1-6678.

ONE USED HOCKEY STICK and one player east. Contact the Syracuse University Hockey Club, Syracuse Winter Weekend, Feb. 21, 22, 23.

FIVE MILLION TONS of snow for $50

Top, February 22. Contact the Syracuse University Ski Team, Syracuse
Winter Weekend, Feb. 21, 22, 23.

RIDE TO N.Y. CITY or vicinity. Leaving Thursday, Feb. 20, return Sunday,
Feb. 23. Call Sue Crumbaker or Mary or Jane Trudel at ext. 2680 or GR
8-4226.

PSYCHOLOGICAL testing dept. of Upstate Medical center needs men over 21 who do not wear glasses. Will pay $5.00 for series. Contact Nancy Murphy, 476-7135 after 1 p.m.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students

TWO BLOCKS FROM FIELDHOUSE,
225 Lorraine Ave. Modern 4-room upper, 2 bedrooms. Large closet, brick cubboards, refrigerator and stove. Picture window, living room and kitchen, ceramic tile bath, private parking area, on bus line. Available immediately, $115.
NE 8-0497, GR 6-1473.

APARTMENTS FOR RENT. Two rooms with bath, 411 S. Crouse Ave. Call 476-
7188 after 1 p.m.

BEAUTIFUL MODERN seven room upstairs apartment. Garage, stove, refrigerator, fireplace. Two blocks from Campus. $108. Call 472-1868.

FURNISHED or Unfurnished, ultra modern.
4 room, brick kitchen, ceramic baths.
Off street parking garage, 451 Midland
Ave. near auto club. See superintendent.
Apartment 3, or call 476-1482.

3 ROOMS RECENTLY remodeled — paneling, bus, light parking. $85.00.
Call 478-4388.

BELLEVUE HEIGHTS, unfurnished 7 rm. house. Vacant. Fine location. $125 per month. Call owner, GR 8-1567.

Typing

TYPEWRITER REPAIRS. Late models, also sales and service, special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E.
Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

MRS. RAYMOND WEBB, HA 7-8259,
1 B M electric type writer, Specials,
Pillins, tables, text books, work products, satisfaction guaranteed.

Snow and Ice Sports to Rule

By BERNIE MacCALLUM
Sports Editor

Sportsmen will come out of doors Saturday as skiing and ice hockey highlight winter weekend sports activity on and around campus.

The University hockey club will host league leading R.I.T. at the State Fair Grounds Coliseum at 6 p.m. Saturday.

Ski jumping competition will be held at Skytop Saturday at 2 p.m. The 30-meter jump has been rebuilt and should be ready for use barring weather obstacles and a lack of that cold white stuff.

The jumping is one of five events in the inter-collegiate two day meet. Slalom and cross country events will be held at Mt. Labrador Friday. The giant slalom will be at Labrador Saturday at 10 p.m.

Syracuse are captain Dave Menotti in the downhill and giant slalom. Chal Lyons in the Alpine events and jumping. Bob Bryant in jumping events. Bob Thorsen in alpine events. Sven Tullberg in cross country and George Durisek in jumping.

The jumping at Skytop is usually one of the highlights of winter weekend.

Buses for the hockey game

SKI COACH FAIRBANKS

will be leaving Skytop at 4:30 p.m. and from campus at 5 p.m. Tickets for the game are on sale in the HBC Lobby.

Last Wednesday night the Syracuse skaters set a league scoring record in defeating Ithaca College, 17-7, moving into second place. Hill forward Bill Miller scored six goals, also a new league record.

The Hillmen lost to Buffalo, 5-3, Saturday night in a rough contest with 78 minutes in penalties being given out to the two teams.

Net Minder

DICK CHMURA has been minding the nets for the University Hockey Club this season. Churma was credited with an assist in the Ithaca game, a rarity for a goal tender.

STANDINGS

FINGER LAKES HOCKEY LEAGUE

	W	L	T	Pts.
R.I.T.	6	0	1	13
Syracuse	5	1	0	10
Brooklyn	4	4	1	9
Buffalo	3	3	1	7
Robert	2	5	1	5
Plaza	2	6	0	4
Rochester	1	8	0	2

Pitt to NIT

Pittsburgh, 14-6, DePaul, 16-2, and New York University, 11-5, were the first threeteams selected for the National Invitation Tournament. The rest of the 12 team NIT field will be selected periodically.

INTRAS

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

Basketball

7:00 — Sigma Chi vs. Beta Theta Pi; Booth 5 (B) vs. Booth 2 (B); DelPlain 1 (B) vs. DelPlain 5 (B)

7:15 — Watson W 2 (B) vs. Sims 3 (B); Watson E 4 (B) vs. Watson E 3 (B); City Stompers vs. Raiders

8:00 — A.E.C.P. vs. Barrister; Townies vs. Maxwell; Booth 5 vs. DelPlain 5

Handball

7:00 — Alpha Epsilon Pi vs. Zeta Psi

8:00 — Phi Kappa Psi vs. Phi Gamma Delta

Bowling

6:15 — Tau Epsilon Phi vs. Zeta Beta Tau (1-2); Tau Delta Phi vs. Delta Upsilon (3-4); Alpha Tau Omega vs. Phi Delta Theta (5-6)

Orange Face Cornell Wrestlers Tonight

By DICK GOULD

The Syracuse University wrestling team will try to regain its winning form tonight when the Orange face Cornell in an 8 p.m. contest at Manley Field House. The freshman will face Cornell's yearlings at 6:30 p.m.

The Big Red have a 4-3-1 record including a perfect 4-0 record in the Ivy League. The defending Ivy League champions will bring a team to Syracuse which has three Eastern freshman champions from last year: Ferrare, Stephens and Buchwald. Also, Charles Bush who was the 115-pound champ of the Wilkes National College Wrestling Tournament which is considered the "Rose Bowl of Wrestling."

Victims of the Big Red this year include Penn, Harvard, Brown, and Colgate. Cornell has also tied Lehigh while dropping dual meets to Navy, Penn State, and Pittsburgh.

Syracuse which looked far from impressive in dropping a 20-9 decision to Penn State Saturday, will go with its regular line-up. Terry Haise will try to go for his fifth victory. Dick Slutsky will be fighting to keep his undefeated streak this year, and Big Bo Nance will be looking for win number 71.

The only loss which the Frosh (3-1) have suffered this year was to Cornell. The powerful Tangerines have three undefeated men this year: Alan Strell (123 lbs), Kurt Kuppinger (137 lbs), and Tom Schlendorf (177 lbs). There are also several frosh who have only lost one dual meet: Dave Agone (130 lbs), Paul Crapsi (137 lbs), and Bill Ider Orley (167 lbs).

Coach Carlin said that he expects some of these Freshman to work into next year's starting line-up, while the rest of the boys will give the team the depth that the grapplers have been lacking in past years. Also Carlin noted that next year's Frosh will include several New York and Pennsylvania State champions.

Frosh Hoopsters At Broome Tech

By JIM KLURFELD

The Tangerines go for their seventh straight win and victory number 12 tonight as they meet Broome Tech at Binghamton.

Tech, a junior college, is a well-balanced club and has been the class of its division this year.

It will be the first time Morris Osburn's frosh will be challenging a predominately sophomore team.

Missing the services of center Val Ried, the frosh will move hard-fighting Rick Dean into the pivot and probably start Scott Loll at Dean's forward position. But John Lewien, who had a hot hand last week against Cornell, might get the nod over Loll.

The other forward will be Vaughn Harper, while the guards should be Rick Russo and Marty Goldstein. Behind Russo and Goldstein, Osburn has Charlie French and Bill Ramsdell.

Against Cornell, Lewien scored 14 points, the majority coming on outside shots. If he can hit consistently he will be a valuable asset to the frosh, who are in need of an outside shooter.

In past games Osburn's squad has been unbeatable off the back-boards, with Dean and Harper pulling down everything in reach.

As a result opposing teams have had to foul the Orange to get possession of the ball. In their majority of victories this season the frosh have won on foul shots.

Sixth Man Schoff

By JEFF LAZAR

It has been said that it is much more difficult to come off the bench in basketball and perform than to come in out of the bullpen in baseball. Phil Schoff knows this for a fact because he has done both and done them well.

The difference is that the relief pitcher has had a chance to work up a good sweat. The basketball comes in completely cold.

Schoff is probably one of the better sixth men that Syracuse University basketball has seen in a long time.

He has been granted the opportunity to start in four games this season. Phil has made the most of these chances and has averaged double figures for a total of 40 points as a starter.

The LaSalle game was one of his finest efforts. In this 63-61 loss, Schoff drew the tough assignment of guarding (6-7) George Sutor, the Explorers' fire forward and leading rebounder.

The Orangemen threw a zone defense at LaSalle with the hopes that Schoff would box out Sutor and keep him from snagging rebounds. Giving away four inches in height, Schoff out rebounded him and scored 16 points until he fouled out with three minutes left in the game.

Against Army Schoff scored five against Penn State at home, he contributed 11; and against Colgate he popped in eight points.

Schoff has been nothing short of amazing in the thirteen other games he has appeared in as the the relief man. In the Cornell encounter, Bob McReady had electrified the Manley Field House crowd by swishing eight of his first nine shots.

By this time only seven minutes had elapsed in the game and SU found itself at a sizable disadvantage.

Schoff entered the game and promptly put an end to McReady's ambitions for a big night. He was held to a lone basket and finished up the half with 20 points. He did not play the second half.

From there, the Orangemen rallied from a 35-17 deficit and left at halftime leading 41-39.

Niagara marked one of the clutch performances turned in by Schoff this year. Trailing 39-32 at the intermission, Phil pumped in the first six points of the second half and added ten more markers as the game was stretched into overtime. He had come off the bench to start the second half and kept SU in the contest.

At West Virginia, Phil scored 13 points and was the third leading Orange scorer of the game.

Schoff has been a valuable asset to the team as the statistics will show. He is the fourth leading point-producer on the club behind Chuck Richards, Dave Bing, and Norm Goldsmith.

Credit must go to him as

PHIL SCHOFF

SU Physicists Find New Particle, Hailed as 'Scientific Breakthrough'

A Syracuse University team working in conjunction with Brookhaven National Laboratory researchers—has made an important contribution toward proving a theory which may be a major breakthrough in elementary particle physics.

The scientists have discovered a new elementary particle called the Omega-Minus.

According to a paper being published Monday in Physical Review Letters, the new particle is almost certainly a long-sought missing link predicted in a theory named SU-Three. This theory predicts that elementary particles should occur in "families," groups of particles with similar characteristics.

Establishing validity of SU-Three is described by some observers as a major contribution to physics. It is expected to play a role in understanding elementary particles comparable to that of Mendeleev's period table which notes regularities and relationships of chemical elements.

Although no practical uses of SU-Three are known, advances in fundamental knowledge have always led ultimately to applications. An example is Einstein's theory of relativity which eventually brought atomic power.

SU-Three was conceived three years ago by Murray Gell-Mann of California Institute of Technology and also was proposed independently by Dr. Yuval Ne'eman of Israel. According to this theory, particle families may contain one, eight, 10 or 27 members.

The Brookhaven-Syracuse collaboration has been instrumental in establishing various particle which is believed to be the eighth member of an eightfold family.

Then, working on a 10-member family of which seven constituents were known, the physicists found the eighth and ninth last April. Uncovering the tenth - omega - minus completes the predicted series, the scientists believe.

The Syracuse team of the last two years consisted of associate professor Dr. Jack Leitner and graduate students Marvin Goldberg, Stanley Lichtman (See Particle, Page 6)

DAILY ORANGE

Syracuse University's Daily Newspaper Since 1903

Vol. 61, No. 77

Syracuse, N. Y., Thursday, February 20, 1964

8 Pages, 10 Cents

JSL Plans Food Boycott

VanDerven, White Protest Slated for Tonight; Named IFC Heads Picket Demonstrations Set

By CAROL RUBRIGHT

George Van Derven (Alpha Chi Rho) is the newly elected president of Inter-Fraternity Council. He was elected on the second ballot Wednesday night.

Van Derven defeated presidential candidates Michael Palombo (Psi Upsilon) and Gary Rehm (Acacia).

Joseph (Jack) White (Phi Kappa Psi) was elected IFC vice president defeating Peter Stern (Tau Epsilon Phi) and Peter Luckman (Zeta Beta Tau).

Prior to elections the IFC voted to break with precedent and not allow defeated presidential candidates to compete for the vice presidency.

Under a new IFC ruling, treasurer and secretary were not appointed outright by the outgoing executive offices. A vote was taken and appointments made based on this "recommendation."

Owen Lewis (Sigma Chi) is the new IFC treasurer and Peter Minick (Phi Alpha), the new secretary.

Van Derven told the Daily Orange that as president, he would try to follow in the footsteps of George (Skip) Stan-

(See Van Derven, Page 7)

By JESSE SMITH

All students have been asked to "refrain from going inside and eating" in university dining halls for dinner today to help get improvements in University Food Service meals.

Joint Student Legislature voted unanimously Wednesday in favor of a boycott and picket resolution as stated by Speaker Norman Begun.

The vote was taken after JSL officials and members expressed complete dissatisfaction with Food Service action following the investigation and hearings held recently.

Marshall Snierston, co-chairman of the JSL food committee, presented a report on his meeting with Ross Moriarty, assistant director of Food Service.

Snierston said Moriarty's reply to a series of demands was indirectly a "blunt no."

All students who normally eat in the university dining halls are requested to buy their evening meal elsewhere. Those who wish to picket to demonstrate their grievances against

BULLETIN

JSG President James Morris, said late Wednesday the proposed boycott does not have the sanction of the executive branch of JSG.

Morris said he felt there are still top-level areas open for discussion. He recommended students not participate in the proposed boycott, which he termed would be detrimental to any progress.

Food service are requested to do so. The boycott is to include all university dining halls and campus snack bars, which are operated by Food Service.

Snierston made the following statement:

"If students want changes made, then they will not eat the university's food tonight. If they want nothing done they will eat tonight at Food Service. It's up to the students."

Litwin said the boycott move was a last resort and a result of serious consideration of the problem. He accused the administration of failing to admit its mistake and "pulling the wool over our eyes."

"I've knocked my head against the wall," said Litwin. Suggestions of appeals to alumni groups and letters to parents to counteract a "whitewash of Food Service by the SU Parents Association."

Norman Begun, senior senator-at-large, attacked Food Service and proclaimed "I am for pickets - how about you?"

The purpose of the demonstration and force action on student com-

(See Protest, Page 1)

GEORGE VAN DERVEN

JACK WHITE

'Stockingfoot' Set For Friday Night

As traditional as the Saltine Warrior and TGIF's is Winter Weekend's annual Stockingfoot dance.

Scheduled for 8 p.m. Friday at Drumlins Country Club, the dance will feature the music of Dick Kowell's orchestra.

In keeping with the theme of the weekend, "International Snowtime," co-chairmen Ed Vincent and Peggy Seeley announced Wednesday that the International Students Organization will provide displays from foreign countries for the viewing of Stockingfoot dancers.

The traditional Stockingfoot contest will be held, with trophies awarded to the couples whose socks show humor, originality and adherence to the theme of the weekend.

Dancers are invited to decorate their socks before attending the affair. All shoes should (See Dance, Page 7)

Action Taken

Fraternity Men Suspended

By CISSY POSSELT
Associate Editor

Recent actions taken by the Dean of Men's Office have suspended several members of a Hill fraternity from membership in the fraternity.

The members, who belonged to a fraternity which was dealt severe disciplinary restrictions last Spring, were given the option of petitioning the Dean of Men's office for reinstatement to the house, according to Dean of Men Jim G. Carleton.

The case was referred to the Dean of Men's Office and not Inter-Fraternity Council's judiciary board "because the problem transcended the intramural, it dealt with the local alumni and the national organization, rather than just the university and IFC," Carleton said.

After last year's action, the dean of men's office, the fraternity's national organization and its local alumni planned to review the case, Carleton said.

The recent action was taken in cooperation with the alumni organization by the dean of men's office.

Citing the suspensions, which involved a large percentage of the brotherhood, Carleton noted that the action was taken in an attempt to get the house back in good standing with his offices and the fraternal alumni association.

The main problem, he said, was that the house was, while not involved in any disciplinary actions, not making any headway in improvement.

Of those suspended, Carleton estimated that the petitions of "about two-thirds" of the students involved had successfully petitioned for re-admission to the fraternity.

The other one-third, he said, were living in university dormitories, had requested further review, or had left school. Carleton stressed that those who had left school had done so for reasons other than the suspensions.

The fraternity involved, he added, "will still be able to pledge and initiate new members." The action in no way inhibits the operation of the fraternity.

Omega-Minus Scientific Advance

The story on the front page of today's Daily Orange announcing the discovery of the Omega-minus particle may not be of major interest to too many people on the Hill.

The subject matter of the discovery is obscure in matter and in understanding to the layman.

Yet the discovery is hailed as a "major contribution to physics," and it is significant that Syracuse is doing this project not alone, but with Brookhaven National Laboratory.

Such a discovery, beyond the comprehension of the average student, is indicative of much of the research constantly taking place at SU. This announcement is only the climax of one of several major research projects now being completed at Syracuse.

Just as important is the fact that Drs. Leitner and Horwitz have put Syracuse University on the map, not as an athletic great but as a scientific great as well.

It is indeed ironic that this paramount of academic success should be accomplished underneath the stands of Syracuse's football stadium.

Perhaps after all it is true that athletics and academics can live virtually side by side and give equal prestige to the university's image.

Roses Are Red

"Roses are red; violets are blue; I'm for pickets how about you?"

The Joint Student Legislature Wednesday night decided that they were for pickets too. This seems to be the only alternative to the constant run-around given the student body when they presented their recommendation for food service revisions.

The Daily Orange stands for pickets too. Pickets when the student voice is not heard in any other way. Pickets when the students privileges and rights are disregarded if an archaic system is allowed to go on.

By a unanimous vote the JSL, representing the student body, voted on the picket-boycott decision.

Many may say that the JSL had no right to speak for the entire student body. If they don't have this rights, who does?

When the situation requires action, often leaders must act without a second thought. This is not such a case. Careful thought has been given the entire food service problem. And now the only feasible answer has evolved.

Out of the Forest

The Hill InterFraternity Council has a new president today and on his shoulders rests the future of the Greek system at Syracuse.

Two years ago fraternities at Syracuse looked as if they might go the way of those of Williams, completely off campus. Eleven houses were on probation, and two were suspended. Rushing was down, and the dean of men's office was cracking down on every aspect of the fraternity program.

Then Dean of Men Earle W. Clifford gave the Hill houses another chance to prove themselves. Since then they have come a long way in improving scholastically and in their social program as well.

These improvements has been largely due to two strong IFC presidents, Tom Rigoli and Skip Stanger. Under the leadership of these two men a strong IFC judicial board now provides the fraternities with the opportunity to correct their own faults.

Now as Skip Stanger steps down from a term in office that could best be summed up as one of improvement in the Greek image through better public relations, George Van Derver inherits the yet unfinished tasks that plague IFC presidents across the country.

He is following in the footsteps of two extremely capable men. As the Daily Orange extends its congratulations to the new IFC president it also charges him with the biggest task ever facing the Hill fraternities—that of a changing and improved program to meet a changed and improved university community.

O Say Can You See Please . . . Mommy

By Ken Auletta

Oct. 12

Dear Mommy:

Your school is very nice and no matter what you may think...it's very nice. I never ask for much, never...I really think that I'm a good child, for I never trouble you with other people's problems. The only time that you ever hear from me is when I have a problem - myself. I have been taught well - really I have - proper manners.

I wouldn't write you really I wouldn't, unless it really concerned me. I know that all these people are always annoying you - like mosquitos annoy me, but honestly, I'm not like that. I almost love you, Mommy, really - I almost do.

My home Mommy told me that if ever I should be in pain, that You, Mommy, would take care of me. Please Mommy, I'm in pain.

Your Child,

Oct. 22,

Dear Child:

It was very nice of you to take a precious moment to write and let me know how you feel about our school. It's so good to share it all with you.

Why I was just telling some people the other day how amazed I constantly am at the perceptiveness and maturity of the children of today. It's gratifying to know that you know and your friends know, of the annoyances with which we must constantly deal. Yes, most gratifying.

P.S. I almost forgot...I'm not the Mommy for pain. But if you'd like, why don't you write me in the near future and tell me all about it.

Affectionately,
Mommy

Oct. 23

Dear Mommy:

It was nice of you to write to me. Thank you. I'd like very much to tell you about my pain. I know that it's not your fault, but the food where I must eat is very bad. Let me explain: The pain starts even before I enter my dining hall, for only one of the two entrance doors are open, and I'm always banging into some big monster who is running out as I am walking in. Then I wait on a very long line. I search for a dry tray so that water won't drip all over me. I'm very hungry by now. But there's still time to choose my silverware because there's this little lady who is all alone serving the meat and the potatoes and the vegetables and the gravy - all by herself. And then I wait again as another lady runs into the kitchen to carry back some more salad. And then I wait again as the girl warns me to take the cake or the ice cream. But not both. And then I slowly milk the milk machine. And then, I finally sit down to eat.

It's terrible. Hiding underneath the gravy is the meat I ate yesterday - or something like it. The potato, though peeled, still wears a hard crust. The peas are cold and hard, like they dipped - frozen pack and all - in a pot of boiling water, and then quickly thrown on my plate. Going on the seconds line is like riding the subway during rush hour. It would be so much easier if they moved this line out of the tunnel, and this way I wouldn't always collide with other children on other lines. And all during this there's this man who wears a white jacket who goes around yelling at other children, who may take a little extra food, as if we were all working for him, and not him for us. You've got to remember all sorts of things: I can have cake on firsts but not seconds; I can have ice cream on first and even seconds; but I can't have them together - hardly ever. By this time I'm so annoyed and so tired that I forget the pain.

I start to leave and what do I see by the exit, but that same man in the white jacket, smiling now, and feeding me milk and an apple...and I'm happy, now. My other Mommy always gives my little sister a pacifier to stop her from crying. Just like that, I'm not mad at that man anymore. But later, in my room, my empty stomach starts to cry and I have to spend my money on the Dingleman, and at the end of the week I'm left, broke and hungry. And I'm mad.

But then the next day as if this were the only thing that was really planned - the meal is good; and I can tell because the seconds line is so much longer than it usually is. This time there is no pacifier, but I don't mind. But then for another week or two I wait for that really good meal. I'm waiting now - and oh, I'm so sick, and tired, and confused, and hungry... Mommy, please, I'm in pain.

Your,
Child
Oct. 29

Dear Child:

You know, it's really wonderful that parents and their children can have the opportunity to freely express their opinions to one another. I know what it's like, child, I too once ate in a school cafeteria. Those were the good old days. But I've learned many things since then, and one is that I was a terrible exaggerater. Why everything was important to me then. But now, when I look back, I laugh at my silly youth. I'm happy that you dislike mosquitos as much as I do, and I'm sure that with your maturity you could never act like one.

Thank you, sincerely, for your concern.

P.S. It might interest you to know that I have contacted the Mommy for pain and I'm sure you will be pleased to know that there will be a food service meeting with the Assistant to the Assistant to the Assistant of the Mommy for pain sometime in the near future.

Affectionately,
Mommy

Oct. 29

Dear Mommy:

I'm hungry - NOW!!

Child
Nov. 2

Dear Child:

Grow up, Child. Don't act like a Child.

Mommy

Mother:

If you don't stop ignoring me, if you don't treat me seriously, then I'm going to embarrass you and make you look silly. You don't want my other Mommy and her friends to laugh at you. I don't want them to. I don't mind if you use some of my food money on other things as long as my food is good. But if it isn't going to be good then maybe I won't give you my money then you won't have a school, and if you don't have a school then you won't have a job, and if you don't have a job...then I won't have a Mommy.

John
Nov. 2

Dear John:

Whatever you say John. Whatever you say.

Mommy for pain

DAILY

ORANGE

Page 2

February 20, 1964

Editor-In-Chief

Business Manager

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor

News Editor

Editorial Director

Sports Editor

Arts Editor

Photography Editor

Clayton F. Richards

Andrea Porte

Adair DuFire

Bernard MacCallum

Rea Turel

Steve Schwimmer

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 200 Brooklyn Drive Fayetteville, New York.

Entered as Second Class Matter a 10. U. S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

TREVER ON CAMPUS

Up in the Air—Beatlemania

—Carol Thorp

"Evangelists" is what "Newsweek" called them. Converts have numbered in the millions.

For the past two weeks the Beatles have shouted and stomped their way into teenage hearts creating a furor unmatched by anything since Elvis Presley.

Fundamentally their music is rock 'n' roll, but the Beatles infest it with a zest and good humor that entralls audiences.

Proof of this wild popularity can be heard in the continuous playing of Beatle albums by devoted fans. It could be observed in the faces of coeds in Day Hall either of the Sudays that the Beatles appeared with Ed Sullivan.

Coed reactions ranged from screaming ecstasy to silent rapture. Some girls wriggled with joy, others sat in unmoving awe. Noisemakers were quickly shushed lest a single syllable be missed.

Scenes like the latter occur whenever the Beatles perform. They inspire such devotion that 2,000 fans were on hand to greet them when they returned from a Washington concert.

Why all this popularity? Other than the boundless Beatle enthusiasm is the group's unique appearance. With their long shaggy hair, tight suits with collarless jackets and high heeled shoes, the Beatles are not the typical collegiate singer so popular today and people always appreciate something different.

Perhaps their popularity comes from the fact that each Beatle is an individual to the fans. There is John the leader, Paul the winsome cherub, George the wit, and Ringo, whose naive air has endeared him to the girls.

No matter what the reason for the devotion they arouse, the Beatles have been the object of one of the most fantastic promotion campaigns ever recorded.

Five weeks ago the group was unknown in America. Since then they have sold 2.5 million albums for Capitol records, brought Ed Sullivan 72 per cent of New York's television viewers, and been the first rock 'n' roll group to appear at Carnegie Hall.

All of the above is the result of Beatle manager Brian Epstein's decision "to make the Beatles known in the United States."

Weeks before the group arrived, Epstein got disc jockeys to sing the Beatles' praises. "Be a Beatle Booster" badges appeared, Beatle Booster fan clubs were created ad infinitum.

Words like "Beatlemania" and "Beatlemaniac" were added to the English language. Sweatshirts, hats, and Beatle wigs soon appeared in department stores. One New Hampshire baker even started making special Beatle cakes for teenagers.

At the end of this week the Beatles will be returning to England where for the first time in eleven months they do not have a record in the top ten.

Some critics see this failure as the end of the Beatles, others say it is just that they have been away too long and soon will have the number one record once more.

Whatever may happen, as I'm sure the Beatles would agree, it's been fun, yeah, yeah, yeah.

Gray Speaks At Banquet For Festival

In the Boar's Head sponsored High School Festival, there will be a banquet Saturday night for the participating students and members of Boar's Head.

The guest speaker for the evening will be Paul Gray, the director of College Theatre at Plattsburg State Teachers College. He is the faculty advisor to Footlights, the student dramatic group.

Gray was a student at the University of Iowa where he was the book reviewer for the Daily Iowan. He is the author of four plays.

He was the artistic director of the Playwrights repertory company during 1954 and 1955, when he developed his philosophy, "The Theatre of the Marvelous." The thesis was published in the Tulane Drama Review.

Serving as master of ceremonies of the banquet will be Richard Folmer, president of Boar's Head, and coordinating chairman of the Festival.

Christy Minstrels
Sunday

Riviera CINEMA
3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. GR 8-4021
"ONE OF THE YEAR'S TEN BEST!"
"AN UPPER CLASS 'LA DOLCE VITA'"
—Time
the EASY LIFE
VITTORIO GASSMAN • CATHERINE SPAAK
AND
THE CONCRETE JUNGLE
STANLEY BAKER

Harth, Salzman and George Play for Syracuse Symphony

Violinist Sidney Harth and cellist Theo Salzman will be the guest artists for the Syracuse Symphony at 8:40 p.m. Friday and Saturday at the Lincoln Auditorium. Accompanying on the piano will be Earl George.

Harth is head of the music department at Carnegie Institute of Technology. He has won the honor of being the first American artist to place in the finals Poland's Wieniawski violin competition in 1957.

Salzman has served as concert master of the Louisville Symphony, the Chicago Orchestra and the Casals Festival Orchestra. He has taught at Bennington College, Indian Hill Music Workshops and DePaul University. This season he is appearing with more than a dozen orchestras in recitals throughout the country.

Salzman is returning for his second engagement with the orchestra. At the age of 18, he was appointed solo cellist with the Vienna Symphony Orchestra. Leaving Austria, Salzman became the principal cellist of the Israel Philharmonic, and professor at the Jerusalem Conservatory. In 1952, Salzman came to America, joining the Pittsburgh Symphony as principal cellist.

Earl George, composer and critic, is also associate professor of theory and composition at the School of Music.

Phi Ep Elects

Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity Tuesday elected its officers for the spring semester. They are Bill Brodsky, president; Andy Porte, vice president; Ron Cohen, corresponding secretary; Steve Barrie, recording secretary; and Art Levy, treasurer.

Al Markowitz Florist

For the Ski Slopes
SHE-ING CORSAGE . . . 98¢

CALL US
212 E. FAYETTE WE'LL DELIVER GR 4-5316

Daily Crossword Puzzle

- ACROSS
- 1 Island off Tuscany.
 - 5 Rugged rocks.
 - 10 Spotlights; Colloq.
 - 14 Example.
 - 15 Burdened.
 - 16 Spanish artist.
 - 17 Understudy.
 - 19 Conception.
 - 20 Relating to; Suffix.
 - 21 Ballroom dance; 2 words.
 - 23 Center; Abbr.
 - 24 Success story; 3 words.
 - 26 Was in a tumult.
 - 29 One's self; Fr.
 - 30 Type of alleged force.
 - 31 Toys.
 - 38 "J'y — j'y reste."
 - 39 Superior.
 - 40 Tide.
 - 41 Forest aromas; 2 words.
 - 43 Large continent.
 - 44 Breach.
 - 45 One acting for another.
 - 46 Feature of some overcoats; 2 words.
 - 53 Self-esteem.
 - 54 Round room.
 - 55 Paris life.
 - 58 Knot of wool.
 - 60 It's "not so unkind as man's ingratitude;" 2 words.
 - 62 City of Sicily.
 - 63 Priscilla's friend.
 - 64 Opposed.
 - 65 "And away ——" 2 words.
 - 66 Long time.
 - 67 Essential part.
- DOWN
- 1 Opera role.
 - 2 Their; Fr.
 - 3 Diminutive.
 - 4 Full-page —.
 - 5 Stick together.
 - 6 Prices.
 - 7 Parched.
 - 8 Communicate effectively; Colloq.; 2 words.
 - 9 Express derision.
 - 10 " — was saying..." 2 words.
 - 11 Asians; 2 words.
 - 12 Mediterranean island.
 - 13 Leading players.
 - 18 Symbol of ugliness.
 - 22 Impatient exclamation.
 - 24 Appendage to a document; 2 words.
 - 25 Invented word.
 - 26 Respire; Abbr.
 - 27 To him; Fr.
 - 28 Auctioneer's gambit; 2 words.
 - 31 Army initials.
 - 32 Deception.
 - 33 Massachusetts cape.
 - 34 Eventually.
 - 35 Treasurers; Abb.
 - 36 Benefit.
 - 37 Petty quarrel.
 - 42 Boom.
 - 45 N. Caucasian language.
 - 46 Take up again.
 - 47 Past; Archaic.
 - 48 Not at all; 2 words.
 - 49 Framing member of a door.
 - 50 Bantu tribe of Angola.
 - 51 Record.
 - 52 Garden spots.
 - 55 Italian wine.
 - 56 Come — (inherit).
 - 57 Revise.
 - 59 Indochinese.
 - 61 Mars' specialty.

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

HERTZ RENT A CAR

• LOW HERTZ RATES INCLUDE EVERYTHING
— INSURANCE & GAS

3 50 plus 9¢ per mile
Compact any Weekend — 24-Hour Period
Other Cars at Slightly Higher Rates

537 S. Warren
Hancock Airport

Reservations

GR 4-6578
454-2496
GL 4-2311

Protest Slated for Tonight

(Continued from Page 1)

In other action, debate was opened on the proposed student finance bill.

Speaker Jay Litwin called the bill "crucial... one of the most important bills ever brought up."

One member said she was "strongly against" the bill because it would place great power in the hands of a few students, who lacked experience and knowledge to deal with such matters.

Litwin said that, with the "power of the purse," student government could propose any activity or invite any speaker, free from university pressure.

The bill was tabled until JSL's next meeting, in two weeks, to allow representatives to discuss it with their living units. If passed by JSL it will be submitted to a student referendum during spring elections. It must also be approved by the administrator's personnel committee.

Litwin Speaks

CareerSeminarScheduled

The second in a series of career seminars sponsored by the student-faculty council of the College of Business Administration will be held today in the Women's Building.

Planned for today's program are seminars in marketing, production and transportation.

The marketing seminar is set for 7:30 p.m. in room 309. The speaker will be announced on Slocum Hall bulletin boards.

The production seminar is planned for 7:30 p.m. in room 303. Speakers will be Edwin Weinheimer, of General Electric Co., Prof. Edwin Tonnason, chairman of the department of production management, and Prof. Stanley Seimer.

The transportation seminar will be held at 8:30 p.m. in room 305. Speaking will be William Alexander, general manager of the New York Central Railroad; H. M. Gregory, Railway Express representative from Akron, Ohio; Bud Hunter, of American Airlines; and Ralph Wilgus, distribution manager for Carrier Corp.

Time will be allowed for questions at the end of each talk. The council urged all students who have not selected a major area of concentration to attend the meetings.

A spokesman said last week's series of seminars were well attended.

Sophs Earn $800 From Homecoming

A total income of just under $5,000 and a net profit of over $800 for the sophomore class highlighted the final summary of 1963's Homecoming Weekend. The information was included in a report released Wednesday by Julian Loube, publicity chairman for the weekend.

The sophomores spent a total of $1,159.20 in planning, organizing, and carrying out the weekend. This was offset by a total income of $1,991.95.

"As far as I know," said class treasurer John Yawney, "this is the highest income for any class sponsored weekend."

Sophomore president Toby Moffett emphasized the success of all of the Homecoming events. He explained that this was the university's first three-day weekend. "We hope that we have set an example for other classes to follow," Moffett added.

The most surprising event of the weekend was the Homecoming dance. Traditionally a poorly attended affair, the fall dance drew over 700 people to Sims Hall.

Loube gave special credit to Mary Lee Stryker for the Saturday night success. Miss Stryker was complimented for her work and ideas in bringing a new concept to SU semi-formal dances.

The report indicated that praise for the weekend had come to the class from various administration members and student leaders. James Morris, president of Joint Student Government, summed up homecoming by saying, "This was the best weekend in my four years at Syracuse."

ArabStudentsElect

The Arab Student organization held elections last Wednesday. The following are the new officers:

Mr. Ahmed El Darsh, president; Mr. Mohammed Berrada, vice president; Miss Helen Zuraik, secretary; Mr. Abdel Ragizi, social chairman; Mr. Bakri Abdo, treasurer.

Music Honorary Elects

Theta Chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, national men's music fraternity, has elected its new officers.

President, John Metz, a Liberal Arts junior from Binghamton; vice president, Reynold Johnson, a Syracusean who is a junior in Liberal Arts; treasurer, Frederick Straub, a junior in music education from Syracuse.

Program chairman is William Lowden, a sophomore in organ from Red Bank, New Jersey, secretary, William Black, a sophomore in music education from Syracuse and warden is David Ross, a sophomore in music education from Pittsburgh, Pa.

The organization is open to students from all schools of the university who are seriously interested in various aspects of music.

Touring concert ensembles, local concerts and other events occupy the season's roster.

Attend
Stockingfoot

THE BEST DEAL ON FLOWERS
Is At J. ALLEN DEAL, FLORIST
Corner So. Warren & E. Washington
Bonded Member, Florist Telegraph Delivery Assn. Telephone: HA 2-1219

Congratulations
Bob and Eileen
W. G. C. Plus 1

COLLEGE STUDENTS
An Exciting 7½ Week Summer Adventure

KIBBUTZ & VACATION in ISRAEL & EUROPE

ALL INCLUSIVE RATE: $897

JET DEPARTURES: June 27 & July 9

Program Features:

- 14 days of fruit-picking and other work in Galilee Kibbutzim
- 7 day "Go Native" sightseeing tour throughout Israel
- 14 days of rest and recreation at the ASHKELON — village of vacanciers on the Mediterranean
- 14 day tour of Italy, Switzerland and France

For further information & reservations contact:
HISTADRUT STUDENT TOURS
33 East 67th St New York 21, NY
RE 4-7440 or RE 4-6010

SECOND ANNUAL SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY

FOLK FESTIVAL

MARCH 20, 21, 22, 1964

AN EXCITING ROUNDROBIN OF CONCERTS, HOOTENANNIES, SEMINARS, WORKSHOPS, CLINICS AND TALENT COMPETITION

—FEATURING AMERICA'S FINEST FOLK ARTISTS—

DOC WATSON JEAN RITCHIE THE GREENBRIAR BOYS
REV. GARY DAVIS GIL TURNER ROGER SPRUNG
THE SHANTY BOYS THE ALL-NIGHT SINGERS
AND MANY OTHERS.

YOUR FESTIVAL HOST

JERRY SILVERMAN

AUTHOR, PERFORMER, MUSICOLOGIST, ASSOCIATE EDITOR OF SING OUT

GENERAL ADMISSION TICKET FOR ENTIRE FESTIVAL $2.50

SPECIAL ADVANCED SALE - TO MARCH 18 ONLY - $2.00

FESTIVAL SPONSORED BY

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY
BOOKSTORES

FESTIVAL HEADQUARTERS

CORNER BOOKSTORE MUSIC DEPARTMENT
943 SO. CROUSE AVE. SYRACUSE, N.Y. 13210
PHONE 476-5571 EX 2008

TICKETS AND FULL INFORMATION AVAILABLE AT FESTIVAL HEADQUARTERS
AND AT FAMOUS ARTISTS TICKET OFFICE - CLARK MUSIC BLDG., SALINA ST.

100 LP RECORDS — GUITARS — SONG BOOKS WILL BE GIVEN AWAY

We try harder

$11.50 For Entire Weekend & $.10 a Mile

501 S. Salina St.

422-4171

Avis rents Fords and other fine cars

First Report on French Semester

Prof Praises Poitier Program

Students Discuss Life in France

By SANDI EHRLICH
Junior Editor

Why aren't college men anxious to go to France? This was one of the problems that perplexed Dr. C.G. Christofides, romance language associate professor, as he discussed the results of Syracuse's first semester in France program, which ended in January. The second semester group started classes there on Feb. 3.

There has been a definite lack of male participants in the program, conducted at the University of Poitiers, which is a three and one-half hour train ride from Paris. Last semester only one young man, Roger King, went to France from Syracuse. This semester again, the lone male with 12 females was Thomas Yonkers of Corning.

"We hope to interest more male students, as the facilities at Poitiers for males are unlimited," Christofides stated.

He discussed the first semester with Dr. Albert George, romance language department head and director of the semester in France program, last month when Christofides accompanied the second semester group to Europe.

Christofides confided that he had a "personal interest" since he will be the program's director in Poitiers next year.

"We feel that even though the first semester of any program is the most difficult, generally it has been a very successful program," Christofides said.

He described it as "an experience in French language and literature."

He cited several problems that the administration hopes to correct this semester, however.

One of the main problems, he said, has been the evaluation of six elective credit hours that the students take at University of Poitiers.

Students in the semester program are required to take three courses, French civilization, oral language and grammar. In addition, they elect six hours "usually in fine arts or languages," Christofides said.

The Syracusans are tested in the elective subjects by the department at SU, he explained, and then given a grade for the courses. The difficulty is in evaluating the student's performance abroad in terms of grades on Syracuse standards.

Another problem was in finding enough French families for the Syracuse students to live with. Participants in the semester program may choose to live with families or in the university's modern dormitories.

"Because Poitiers is pro-American," Christofides explained they found enough families so that all the members of the semester group could live in private homes if they chose.

"Discipline problems were negligible" the first semester, Christofides said.

The only other problem, he continued, is that Syracuse is "not willing" to allow the students to stay on in Poitiers with the program for a second semester. They may, however, continue on their own, and take examinations at SU when they return to get credit for their studies abroad. Two students from last semester's program did continue on their own.

C. G. CHRISTOFIDES

Christofides praised the university's support of foreign programs, saying they are "supported to the fullest extent."

He said that according to reports and student letters, the semester in France program is "one of the hardest academically and one of the best" foreign programs.

In what Christofides described as an "unprecedented move," the University of Poitiers will grant $500 scholarships for the semester study to four Syracuse students. This attests to the success of the program, he said.

Action Taken In Rush Cases

Two sororities have been brought before the Panhellenic Judiciary Board for infraction of rush rules this year.

In the first case the Judiciary Board ruled that the penalty would consist of a work project for Panhellenic.

In the second case the sorority was put on complete social probation and will not be allowed to open bid or to informal rush.

Any sorority which is on social probation may have no social affairs during the semester. This includes teas and exchange dinners.

No action was taken against the pledge classes of the sororities involved.

It is a policy of Panhellenic to withhold the names of those sororities against whom the action was taken.

Saturday
at Ski Top

French fried potatoes taste better in America, concluded three young women who spent last semester in Poitiers, France, with the Syracuse program.

"The 'frites' there are harder and are served swimming in oil. You have to learn to drain them before you eat them," said Loraine Heyman, a senior French major.

She didn't eat too many of them anyway, because she "lugged a scale from Bayonne, N.J., to Poitiers so I wouldn't gain any weight."

She and Donna Cardillo, another senior French major from Rome, N.Y., lived in a modern dormitory at University of Poitiers. "Everything was fine except that they turned off the heat and hot water for the night at 11 p.m.," the girls said. Electricity is very expensive, they explained.

Karen Blosser, a junior French major from Tampa, Fla., was one of the 17 who lived with French families. She lived eight miles outside Poitiers in the home of a chemistry professor. Life there was "a constant challenge," she said, because she found the French people "hard to get close to."

She did become friendly with the professor's daughter Regina, who is an English major at Poitiers. Miss Blosser noted that there was a "rapport" between the mother and daughter that excluded the professor, and she detected a slight "undercurrent" in response to his domination of the family.

The three girls audited courses at the university in "anything from history to French theatre," in addition to their 15 credit hours. They found that more research work was required than at Syracuse.

There was no campus, and classroom buildings were spread out in the city "from one end to another." The girls complained that they did so much walking they developed huge muscles on their legs. The town was built on hills "like San Francisco," they said.

"We were stared at like museum curiosities," sighed Miss Heyman, "because we looked healthy." French women, she explained, "look emaciated, like they may not live till 30."

Social life was much more quiet than in Syracuse, they discovered. Most of the French students go home during week ends, and the only activities were cafes and movie theatres. "They roll up the sidewalks at 9 p.m.," the girls reminisced.

Dr. Albert George, director of the semester program there, was described by Miss Heyman as "mother, father, professor, wrapped in one little man with a great philosophy of life."

The three agreed they would have liked to stay another semester because it did take time to feel comfortable and at ease with the French. "I think we were known as good guys when we left," said Miss Heyman.

JSC MEETS TODAY

Joint Student Court will meet 7 p.m. today, in Chapel House. Attendance for all members is imperative according to Herbert Lustig, Chief Justice.

Minstrel Show Buses Slated

Shuttle bus service has been obtained for the New Christy Minstrels concert Sunday. No fare will be charged.

Two buses will be used to transport students from campus to the Manley Field House for the 8 p.m. concert. The first will leave Watson Dormitory at 7 p.m., Sims Hall at 7:05, and Flint Hall at 7:10.

The second bus will leave Watson at 7:30, Sims at 7:35 and Flint at 7:40. Anyone taking the bus to the concert will be dropped at any of the three locations on the return trip.

Buses will be waiting at the field house after the concert.

CURFEW CHANGE

Correction: Curfews for Sunday will be one half hour after the conclusion of the Christy Minstrel Concert according to Sharon Katz, vice president of the Association of Women Students.

Dorm presidents were erroneously informed of the curfew. Curfews are 2 a.m. for all coeds.

W A E R 88.3 MC

THURSDAYS
4:00	Sign On, News, WAER Highlights
4:15	Experiment in Music
6:00	World of the Paperback
6:15	Communique
6:30	Dan Stone and the News
6:45	Orange Spotlight
7:00	Sounds of Literature
7:30	Zient-Torman Report
8:00	Great Decisions
8:30	The 8:30 Report
8:35	Sweet and Swine
9:00	Syracuse
9:30	Baroque Concert Hall
10:45	Late Night Report
11:00	Broadway Showtime
12:45	Headlines and Sign Off

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

CHINO	ALISA	ADAM
RAINON	PAUL	LULU
INANE	PREP	CLASS
COCOA	BEACH	SLOT
KIT	SOL	ITICE
IDYLL	MAIS	AI
LEVI	DAPHN	ISAND
ETAS	ENSUE	ONTO
FATHER	TIME	NIEL
THEWS	IDEST
ASSAILED	AMB
AMIES	ACCIDENTAL
RICH	ITEA	NOIRE
ACHE	DONT	TRONS
BEOR	ARTE	CANES

INTERNATIONAL CANDY and GOURMET SHOP

has

COOKIES	CANDY	FOODS
from	Petite Fours	Mexican Delicacies
England	Parisiens	Indian Paptadums
Holland	Chocolate Nougates	Caterpillars
Ireland	Ass. Swiss Choc.	Rattlesnake Meat
Germany		Fried Grasshoppers

And a host of other fine products from the world over
161 Marshall Street

achievement:

A long time ago, it seems now, a plain imperative became the best-known motto of IBM: "Think." ■ You may assess the achievement of our company, and of any individual in it, by the same word: "Think." ■ If you are interested in achievement with IBM, ask your college placement officer for our brochure—and for an appointment when the IBM representative is interviewing on campus. ■ IBM is an Equal Opportunity Employer. ■

If you cannot attend the interview, write: ■ Manager of College Relations, ■ IBM Corp., 590 Madison Avenue, New York 22, N. Y. ■

MOVE AHEAD: SEE

IBM

FEB. 25-23

VILLAGE WEST

TALLMAN & CLINTON

Wednesday & Thursday, Feb. 19-20

ROARING 20'S NIGHT

CLAM BAKE

SPECIAL GUEST — CAPTAIN MACK

OF CAPTAIN MACKS CLAM SHACK

CHICAGO JAZZ

PRIZES & CONTESTS

CLAMS 2 DOZ. for $1.00

New Particle

(Continued from Page 1)

and Michael Ganzig. Current researchers are Dr. Leitner, associate professor Dr. Nahmin Horwitz and graduate students Bart Goz and Patrick Haggerty.

Their work—sponsored by the Office of Naval Research and National Science Foundation—is in conjunction with the Brookhaven team under Dr. William Fowler, Dr. Nicholas Samios and Dr. Ralph Shutt who are supported by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Writing in the February issue of Scientific American before the Omega-Minus was discovered, Prof. Gell-Mann said if the particle were found his theory would be "strikingly established."

One of the things making the Omega-Minus discovery unusual is its relatively long life: about one billionth of a second. Other new particles whose existence helped verify SU-Three live for only one billionth of a billionth of a second.

The Omega-Minus was first photographed at Brookhaven's 10-billion volt proton synchrotron last month. Analysis of the event was carried on at both the Long Island institution and the university. The Syracuse team did its work in facilities located under the north stands of Archbold Stadium.

Discovery of the Omega-Minus required construction of expensive and highly sophisticated equipment. The major component at Brookhaven is an 80-inch hydrogen bubble chamber which took a 60-man team four years and more than $2 million to build. The instrument will now become a facility of the National Laboratory.

Formal name of SU-Three is Symmetry Group Unitary Unimodular Three Dimensional theory.

Commenting on find, the Omega-Minus, Dr. Leitner said:

"We are of course very excited about the discovery and extend our congratulations to Prof. Gell-Mann, whose contributions to physics have been remarkable. We are grateful to the Office of Naval Research and other agencies for being exceptionally far-sighted in supporting basic research of this type without any guarantee of success."

The Navy and National Science Foundation have given the Syracuse team grants of about $500,000 over the last five years. This research has provided material for more than 50 articles on fundamental particles, Leitner added.

Two SU Profs Share Glory

Dr. Jack Leitner, who was instrumental in the discovery of the Omega-minus particle, received his doctorate from Columbia University in 1957. Numerous technical journals and reviews have featured his work.

He was a research associate at Duke University and worked as a visiting physicist at the University of California in Berkeley before coming to Syracuse in 1958. He has been a permanent visiting physicist each summer since 1959 at Brookhaven.

In July 1962 he attended high energy physics and high energy instrumentation conferences in Switzerland. He has toured France, Italy and England visiting high energy physics laboratories.

Dr. Nahmin Horwitz, who worked on the research team responsible for the discovery of the Omega-minus particle, has specialized in work on cosmic ray physics and high energy mic ray physics and high energy. His papers have been published in a number of professional journals.

From 1954 to 1959 he was a research associate at the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory in Berkeley.

A native of Duluth, Minn., Horwitz graduated from Western Reserve University in 1949. He earned his M.S. and Ph.D. at the University of Minnesota.

The associate professor is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, American Assn. of Physics Teachers and American Physical Society.

Between the Lines

Easy Money

The SU Library

Is there any student who is not interested in making a fast buck with a minimum amount of labor?

Many Syracuse University students have their own ways of supplementing their weekly allowances from home by all kinds of odd jobs, but there is one way which requires the least amount of work and that may be found by entering the applicable book award contest held annually under the auspices of Syracuse University Library Associates.

For freshman, the amount of the award is $25; for sophomores, $50; for juniors, $75, and for the winning senior, there is a cash prize of $100, plus a medal designed by the late Ivan Mestrovic and an opportunity to enter the Amy Loveman national award contest.

Greenwich Village, or the collection can consist of books dealing with the student's particular interest or field of his major study. If a student has an unusual collection of books dealing with such profound and cultural subjects as skiing, underwater swimming, mountain climbing, or home economics, he may have a chance to cop off the first prize offered for his class.

A student who has an unusual collection of books dealing even with shot put or javelin throwing may have a good opportunity of winning one of the awards so he can buy himself some new shots or javalins.

These four book collecting contests are also open to the distaff side of the student body and the same thing said here about the prospective male contestant applies to those on the other side of the fence.

For more intelligent information about these contests, one may apply to the librarian of the leisure reading room, 308 Women's Bldg. or to the office of Library Associates, 303 Main Library, where the details will be explained in a more intelligent manner than the one used here.

All contestants should have their applications in by March 9.

Is there any student who is not interested in making a fast buck with a minimum amount of labor?

All a student has to do is to read and comply with the minimum conditions set forth on the placards which have been placed on the bulletin boards of all the campus buildings and dormitories. Of course, the student who enters the book award contest has to have a collection of books which he is willing to have judged by one of the committee of judges.

These do not have to be rare scarce or valuable books. They can even be paperbacks containing the very latest poetical (effusions?) emanating from

BERT'S RENT A CAR

2 OFFICES—Fay and Rte. 11
Thompson and Molloy

$4⁹⁵ per Day

5¢ per Mile

Phone HE 7-8909 - HE 7-8797 -

Many Other Plans to Choose From
FREE PICKUP — Join Our Unlimited Mileage Plan
$35 Minimum Deposit
Student I. D. Required

THE SEALED DEAL IS HERE

From February 15 through February 28 Sealed Deal certificates may be redeemed at any University Bookstore. If you have an envelope containing one of these certificates, bring it to a University Bookstore. DO NOT OPEN THIS ENVELOPE. Make a purchase of any number of paper bound books. When your books are presented at the cash register, our cashier will open the envelope. You will receive a discount from 10% to 50% depending upon the amount stated on your certificate. There is no limit to the amount of books you may buy subject to the discount, but the books must be presented to the cashier before the certificate is opened.

All of our charge customers have received Sealed Deal certificates in the mail. The first 2,000 cash customers purchasing paper bound books starting February 15 will be presented with a sealed certificate to be used for future purchases.

As a bonus, the holders of the first 2,500 certificates redeemed will be given a sealed certificate for use in our clothing department.

TODAY

4 p.m. WAA basketball, gym A.
4 p.m., Quill and Kays, nine room, Union Hall, Mrs. Mary Smith of University College will discuss "The Continuing Education Program for Women."
4 p.m., Hilda, 214 Croase College, No rehearsal today.
5:05 p.m., Lutheran, daily devotion, north wing, Hendricks Chapel.
7 p.m., "Christian Marriage," St. Thomas More Chapel. These contemplative marriage this year should attend.
7 p.m., Catholic, 214 Croase College, 201 Croase College, looking for recruits.
7 p.m., WAA, drama production, studio.
7 p.m., WAA, social, pool.
7:30 p.m., Chess, 214 Croase College, Darts, of Onondaga College match. Important.
7:30 p.m., Freshman Signatures, Dean Neph's home, Goss will be Prof. Karl Schmidt of physical sciences.
8 p.m., Senior class executive council, Women's Building, Check at main desk for room number. Contact Goss at ext. 2063 if you cannot find it.

PEERLESS PRESS, Inc.

PRINTERS

1112 E. Fayette Street Between University &
Walnut

COMPLETE PRINTING SERVICE

at your doorstep
GR 6-6051

CENTRAL NEW YORK'S FINEST BILLIARD PARLOR

"GAY NINETIES ATMOSPHERE"

Now forming singles & doubles
Leagues
Open 10 a.m.-12 p.m.
FREE PARKING

HOLIDAY
BILLIARDS
3033 ERIE BLVD., E.
GI 6-9836

Because of the tremendous savings on this special sale, all sales will be final, no refunds will be given.

Howard Empie

Engineering Student Excels

This article is the second of a series on outstanding Syracuse University undergraduates.

By CHARLES STEINBERG
Associate Editor

A possible large-scale commercial method for the conversion of sea water to fresh water is the research project of SU chemical engineering student Howard Empie.

Empie, a senior from Johnstown, is pursuing the project under a National Science Foundation-Syracuse University undergraduate research grant. He is the No. 1 ranking senior academically in the chemical engineering department and fourth in the College of Engineering.

"In the next twenty years," Empie points out, "water consumption in the United States will more than double, yet our present sources of fresh water are already beginning to fail. New sources must be found."

The chemical purification of sea water is possible, he explains, but where millions of gallons of water are required each day, the cost per gallon of fresh water becomes an extremely important figure.

There are many possible methods for converting the sea water, Empie notes, but little is known of the relative economic feasibility. His research project is a study of the particular method which utilizes the substance Freon-142 as the chemical (hydrating) agent which reacts with the sea water.

Little is known of this particular process and several large corporations are anxious to know the results of Empie's study.

His work involves a series of determinations of such complex factors as the amount of re-usable Freon-142 retained in the process, yield, cost of creating necessary temperature and pressure conditions, and the amount of soluble Freon-142 left in the fresh water which determines if the final product is fit for human consumption.

Work on the various sea water conversion methods has been a speciality of the SU chemical engineering department under the direction of Prof. Allen J. Barduhn.

Empie says he plans to go into a career of research and development in industry. But first he hopes to attend M.I.T. or Wisconsin for a masters degree or doctorate.

HOWARD EMPIE

He is the present holder of a Texaco Company scholarship and previously held two University Trustee scholarships and the Whitehead Metals Co. scholarship, all of which have covered three fourths-tuition. His cumulative average is 2.73.

The esteem in which Empie is held by his fellow students is shown by the unusual fact that he is president of both SU chapters of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers and Tau Beta Pi, the national all-engineering honorary.

Dance . . .

(continued from page 1)
be checked before entering the ballroom.

Entertainment will be provided by "Pseudo-Singers" John Trever on the banjo and Carl Corrallo on the guitar. Snow sculpture trophies will be awarded, and the weekend queen will be presented.

Dean Charles C. Noble will again lend his services on the accordion. It will be Dean Noble's 14th year at the Stockingfoot.

Ski posters decorating the walls will lend an international flavor to the dance.

Tickets, on sale at $2.25 a couple, may be purchased in the lobby of H. B. Crouse Hall or at the door. The price includes a free weekend button.

Architecture Exhibit

The faculty of the School of Architecture is holding an exhibit of their designs on the third floor of Slocum. The exhibit will be on view until the end of the month.

Delts Elect Officers

Gamma Omicron chapter of Delta Tau Delta fraternity has elected officers for the coming term.

They are James Gravel, president; John R. Rowse, vice-president; David Jones, treasurer; Donald Giek, corresponding secretary; and Roger A. Richardson, recording secretary.

VanDerven, White

(Continued from Page 1)
ger (Sigma Chi), outgoing president.

Van Derven emphasized the need for revision of the IFC constitution "it must be brought up to date," he said "so that the IFC does not have to work outside of the constitution."

Van Derven promised an IFC emphasis on academics and said that this year the presidents' manual will be brought out.

A change in rushing rules will definitely be forthcoming VanDerven said. He also suggested that the IFC set up a scholarship fund for deserving freshmen and hold a Pinebrook Conference for fraternity presidents next spring.

A political science major in liberal arts, Van Derven comes from Westfield, N. J. He has served the IFC for two semesters as a member of the IFC judicial board, and has a 1.5 cumulative average.

Vice president White ran on a platform emphasizing the "IFC image." He said that as vice president he would be a standing member of all committees, thereby relieving the president's job and increasing IFC efficiency.

White is a five-semester IFC member with a 1.4 cumulative average. He comes from Corn ing and was IFC secretary last year.

SAVE! 1/2 Carat Diamonds

At Rudolph's . . . spectacular fiery gems set in distinctive, modern, 14 Karat mountings.

YOUR CHOICE

$199

REG.

$299

1/2 Carat

PAY NO MONEY DOWN

Convenient weekly or monthly payments

Rudolph's
DIAMOND IMPORTERS SINCE 1936

DOWNTOWN. S. Salina and E. Jefferson Sts.

Open Monday and Friday Evenings

FAIRMOUNT FAIR. Open Monday Thru Friday Evenings

Nearby Stores: Auburn, Oswego, Fulton, Utica, Ithaca, Rome and Watertown

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	$.85
2 days	1.65
4 days	3.15
3 days	2.40
5 days	3.85
7 days	5.20
6 days	4.55
8 days	5.85
9 days	6.45
10 days	7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.

GREYHOUND TICKETS, schedules, information, bus and air charters. Hotel reservations foreign tours. FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC. in the Savoy Monday-Friday 1-4; Thursday night 7-9 476-8553.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired, Rented, Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-8833. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

ACCELERATED 5 lesson course, specializing in parking, traffic, road test. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-3451.

ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lillian M. Potter 207 Comstock Ave. GR 8-5847.

TO BUY OR SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN. Spane Motors, 1000 Hawatha Blvd. W., 474-6007, is the place.

FRATERNITIES, SORORITIES, LIVING CENTERS are invited to enter Syracuse Motors VW contest to see what the capacity of a VW is—are you going to stand idly by while Detroit students set the record of 28 in a Volk—we don't think so. Winning male and female teams will be awarded a free all-expense trip to Brewerton and $100 in stereo records or tapes—double this amt. if winners exceed the present national record. For details call Don Cain at 474-6007.

FOR SALE

FREE SOLDERING. all charms bought here. Charms, lozenges, jewelry, watch repair. Greeting cards. Personalized stationery. Valentine gifts and cards. Riviera sunglasses for men and women. Ruth's Gifts, 734 S. Crouse, Introductory Sale, Creme de Chine Cologne and Nuit de L'orchestre.

PORSCHE 1960, red coupe, 28,000 miles, one owner. GR 5-5072.

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of four colors of paper, three colors of ink, two sizes of sheets. Bookstall.

ROYAL SAFARI portable typewriter with case, 6 months old, $85. Call 472-7413.

BUCKBOARD FOR SALE from the horse & buggy era. Two seater, top condition. 472-1584.

MAN'S HANDSOME flat top desk 6' x 36", walnut, a basket and telephone stand to match. Call GR 2-4264.

WANTED

PART TIME help (male) — earn good money — car necessary. Ace Home Equipment Company, 1236 South State Street, Syracuse.

PSYCHOLOGICAL testing dept. of Upstate Medical center needs men over 21 who do not wear glasses. Will pay $5.00 for service. Contact Nancy Murphy, 476-7135 after 1 p.m.

RIPE TO N.Y. CITY or vicinity. Leaving Thursday, Feb. 20, return Sunday, Feb. 23. Call Sue Crumbaker or Mary or Jane Friedel at ext. 2680 or GR 8-4226.

INSTRUCTOR or Graduate student to share large six room apartment. Very well furnished. Near campus. $50 months. Call 478-1527.

ONE PAIR of purple and green needle socks for the Stockingfoot Winter Carnival. 21. Friday, Syracuse Winter Weekend, Feb. 21, 22, 23.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students
TWO BLOCKS FROM FIELDHOUSE, 225 Lehigh Ave. Modern 4-room upper, 2 bedrooms, large closet, brick cupboards, refrigerator and stove. Picture window, living room and kitchen, ceramic tile bath, private parking area, on bus line. Available immediately. $115. NE 8-0497, GR 6-1473.

APARTMENTS FOR RENT. Two rooms with bath, 411 S. Crouse Ave. Call 476-7188 after 1 p.m.

3 ROOMS RECENTLY remodeled — punching, bus, light parking. $45.00. Call 7-8433.

FURNISHED or Unfurnished, ultra modern, 4 room, brick kitchen, ceramic bath, off street parking spaces, 451 M. and Ave. near auto club. See superintendent. Apartment 3, or call 476-1452.

APT. FOR RENT: AVAILABLE March 1, three rooms furnished apt. suitable for two gentlemen. 472-4962.

BEAUTIFUL DEIGHTS, unfurnished 7-10, house vacant, fine location, $225 per month. Call owner, GR 8-4587.

FURNISHED APARTMENTS, 1 and 2 bedrooms, 1 block from University. Call 478-0408 after 5.

FURNISHED TWO ROOM APT., 5 walking minutes from campus, for one or two men. Also beautifully furnished room for gentlemen. 472-4962 after 6.

3 RM. apartment, furnished and heated, newly painted. University section. Very inexpensive. Call 661-41 or 448-5527.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER REPAIRS. Low models, also sales and service. Special student prices. Free P.K. up and delivery. TIFE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

WILL DO TYPING in my home. 471-7216. EXPERT TYPING, traces, term papers, theses. 458-0141.

BALFOUR

GIFT NOTE

OUR SUPERB
ENAMEL-INLAID
BLOCK LETTER DISC CHARM
by BALFOUR
BUY
OF THE MONTH

L. G. BALFOUR CO.

Fraternity & Sorority
Insignia

Jewelry • Rings
Stationery • Favors
Gifts • Ceramics
Leathergoods

Carl Sorensen, "Mgr."
729 S. Crouse GR 5-7837

WE DARE YOU

TO TRY

Answer 10 questions in 10 minutes.

WIN
A FREE
SUBSCRIPTION
TO TIME

303 UNIVERSITY PLACE
MON. THRU. FRI.

CageTourney FillingBerths; NITTabFive

By BILL CRONAEUR
Junior Editor

Eight berths remain open for the National Invitational Tournament March 12-21 in New York's Madison Square Garden.

Latest of the four confirmed entries is St. Bonaventure, which accepted the invitation Wednesday, boasting a 4-4 record. Other NIT-bound clubs include Pittsburgh (14-6), New York University (11-5) and DePaul (16-2).

Eastern schools challenging for NIT positions are Iowa (13-3), Army (14-6), Penn State (11-6), (12-7).

Miami of Florida (18-6), Xavier (11-8), Memphis State (13-9) and Dayton (11-9) represent possible intersectional entrants.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament has revealed that nine of the 10 independent spots have been filled. One at-large position remains in the Midwest regionals.

Selected for play as independents are Providence (17-3), Villanova (19-2), Louisville (11-6), Loyola (16-5), Creighton (19-5), Texas Western (20-2), Utah State (19-3), Oregon State (21-3) and Seattle (17-4).

Temple, winner of the Middle Atlantic Conference, Villanova and Providence are set in the Eastern NCAA regionals.

Other probable Eastern representatives include Connecticut from the Yankee Conference; Davidson or West Virginia from the Southern Conference; Duke from the Atlantic Coast; and Princeton or Yale from the Ivy League.

In the Midwest, it will be either Miami of Ohio or Ohio U. of the Mid-American Conference; East Tennessee of the Ohio Valley; Kentucky or Georgia Tech of the Southeast; Michigan or Ohio State of the Big 10; and Loyola and Louisville.

Probable picks for the Midwestern regionals are Texas Tech or Texas AM from the Southwest; Drake or Wichita from the Missouri Valley; Oklahoma State or Kansas State from the Big 8; Creighton, Texas Western and one more at-large team.

Western representatives will be Utah or New Mexico of the Western Athletic Conference; San Francisco of the West Coast Conference; UCLA of the Big 6; and independents Utah State, Seattle and Oregon State.

Regional NCAA play opens in Philadelphia, Evanston (Ill.), Dallas and Eugene (Oregon) and terminates at Kansas City March 20-21.

Correction

The Syracuse University Varsity Club should have been included in a story Monday as one of the organizations and business making donations to air the Pitt game on WAER.

BILL MILLER

SU Scoring

	G	As	Pts.
Miller	23	11	34
Christe	14	12	26
Robinson	9	13	22
Macleod	9	11	20
Nazynski	6	12	18
Stone	6	10	16
Fitzgerald	6	8	14
Graham	5	8	14
Shepard	5	4	9
Hancock	4	3	7
MacGruther	3	5	5
Pulver	1	3	4
O'Brien	6	2	2
Chmura	0	1	1
Oakly	0	0	0
Coleman	0	0	0

LACROSSE TEAM

Coach Roy Simmons will meet with all freshman and varsity lacrosse candidates at 5 p.m. today in the squad room of the field house.

David and Goliath

DAVE BING — CHUCK RICHARDS and Company are enjoying a well-earned rest this week before their next game Tuesday at Cornell. The Orangemen are in the

Last Minute Pin By Nance Gives Wrestlers 17-17 Tie

By RICHARD GOULD

Big Jim Nance came out with the Orangemen down by 5 points. It took him 7:43 to pin Joe Bruchac, gain his first victory and give Syracuse a tie with the Big Red of Cornell.

The grapplers, who now sport a 3-3-1 record, started off poorly. Neil Orr (C) decisioned Ron Pritts 5-2, and Terry Haise (S) and Warren Crow wrestled to a tie.

With the meet score at 5-2 in favor of Cornell, Jim Murrin came up with the first Syracuse victory as he shut out Tom Jones, 2-0. John Dussling (S) gained a tie with Carl Capra as he earned a third period escape.

Orange captain Dick Slutzky had little trouble in remaining undefeated as he easily decisioned Tom Southworth. Jeff Stephens (C) came up with six points in the third period to outlast George Riedener, 8-5.

In the match that helped to turn the tide toward the Syracuse cause, Lew Roberts made a spectacular take-down in the last second to gain a 7-7 tie with Fran Ferraro. Barry Raiclin (S) was given four stalling calls by referee Warren M. Maurer and was finally disqualified to Cornell captain Mike Wittenberg.

At this point Cornell had a five-point lead and Mr. Nance promptly took charge and pinned Joe Bruchac with 1:17 left in the match to give the Orange a tie.

In a preliminary match the Syracuse freshman squad avenged an earlier defeat by downing Cornell's frosh 19-14. The meet was tied going into the final match as Joe Radavoy (S) met Hovis (C). With 14 seconds left in the third period Radavoy gave the Tangerines a victory with a pin.

Attend

Winter Weekend

Campus - "Hot Stove"

By JAN GILMORE

Outfielder Doug Clemens of the St. Louis Cardinals and pitcher Dave Giusti of the Houston Colts, former SU graduates, made an appearance in the DelPlain lounge last week.

The famous raconteur, Dick Taylor, acted as master of ceremonies. Neither player, as they readily admitted, is an established member of the banquet circuit.

Addressing a less than capacity crowd, Giusti told of getting blown off the mound at Candlestick Park by the winds from San Francisco jet stream and the winds from the line drives whizzing by.

Clemens, who played with Atlanta of the Triple-A International League last year, remembered a Syracuse fan pounding on the top of the Atlanta dugout at MacArthur Stadium.

After getting over their initial surprise at finding a Syracuse fan actually attending a game, the Atlanta team promptly drowned him with a bucket of water. Like all Syracuse fans, the guy had probably never seen the stuff before.

The topic of college summer leagues came up as the conversation drifted to less serious subjects. Bill Veeck, former major league owner, has pointed out that it is rather idiotic to pay a high school kid $110,000 to sign and then watch him strike out 175 times.

Veeck suggests that this money be deposited in a pool, and that colleges draw money from this pool and award scholarships to promising ball players who would then play for the college teams in summer leagues. There would be no campus cries of athleticism on this because the scholarship money would come from the major league teams rather than the colleges. After graduation, the major league teams would draft the players, with the lowest team in the standings getting first pick.

Both Giusti and Clemens have played in a league that is a forerunner of this, and report that it is not going very well, although they think it will work itself out in the future. Major league owners have been reluctant to donate any large sums to this plan, especially Del Webb of the New York Yankees, who calls the plan "socialistic." He does not like the cellar-team-draft clause even though the socialistic NFL, AFL and NBA have been doing this for years.

There then came under discussion a number of technical baseball questions. Some questionably sober New York Mets fans were present and brought their team into the conversation. There was a bit of skepticism as to whether the Mets are a baseball topic or not. One Met fan asked if there was a chance the Mets might make it to the World Series. A question of such intelligence sheds a bad light on the admissions standards in this school. Clemens replied that the Mets might make it to the World's Fair.

Liston-Clay

Tickets are now on sale for closed circuit viewing of the Sonny Liston vs. Cassius Clay Heavyweight Title bout from Miami Beach. The rights for the February 25th fight have been purchased by the RKO Keith's Theater and stats for this fight are $5.50, including tax.

midst of a five-game road trip. With losses to Pitt and West Virginia, Syracuse saw NIT hopes grow dimmer.

Snowy Winter Weekend Arrives

Winter Weekend comes to Syracuse University today with the promise of snow, stocking feet and music.

Snow will be exceptionally useful in construction of sculptures scheduled for judging at 2 p.m. today. Sculptures, as well as the entire weekend, will be centered around "International Snowtime."

The annual Stockingfoot dance will begin at 8 p.m. today at Drumlins Country Club. Highlighting the dance will be music by Dick Kowell's orchestra.

Also on the program will be music by the "Pseudo-Singers." Carl Corrallo and John Trever, as well as songs by Dean Charles

C. Noble on his accordion.

The weekend queen will be crowned at the dance. Five girls will vie for the honor.

They are Sandra Hafer, a freshman in the College of Liberal Arts nominated by Tau Epsilon Phi; Peggy Martin, a freshman in the College of Fine Arts, nominated by Winchell Hall; Leslie Swartz, a freshman in the College of Liberal Arts, nominated by Reid Cottage; Ene Piirak, a sophomore in the School of Nursing, nominated by Delta Gamma; and Melinda Tantleff, a junior in the School of Education, nominated by Iota Alpha Pi.

Skiing competition will get underway this morning with a cross country event at Labrador Mountain. A Saturday event, scheduled for 10 a.m., will close the competition at Skytop.

A tribute to the Syracuse University ski team will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday, and a ski warmer will be held at 4.

Hockey fans will be massed at the State Fair Coliseum Saturday evening for a match between the Syracuse Club and Rochester Institute of Technology. The game will precede the regularly scheduled Syracuse Stars contest.

Sunday will feature a concert by the New Christy Minstrels, set for 8 p.m. at the Manley Field House. Tickets to the concert, as well as other weekend functions, will be on sale from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. today in the lobby of Huntington B. Cross Hall.

Buses will leave for the concert twice during the evening. The first will leave Watson Dormitory at 7 p.m., Sims Hall at 7:05, and Flint Hall at 7:10. The second will leave Watson at 7:30, Sims at 7:35 and Flint at 7:40. Buses will be waiting at the end of the concert to return students to campus.

Friday and Saturday curfews have been extended to 2 a.m. Sunday curfew will be one half hour following the end of the concert.

DAILY ORANGE

Syracuse University's Daily Newspaper Since 1903

Vol. 61, No. 78 Syracuse, N. Y., Friday, February 21, 1964 8 Pages, 10 Cents

3,217 Join Food Boycott

JSL, Students Agree; Boycott 70% Effective

By AUDREY LIPPMAN
Junior Editor

More than 70 per cent of the students who hold university food service meal tickets did not attend dinner Thursday evening in accordance with a boycott called by Joint Student Legislature.

Actual figures show that 3,217 students out of the 4,600 who usually eat at food service did not eat dinner in university dining halls.

Several Marshall Street merchants reported a boom in restaurant activity during the dinner hour. The Savoy said they had about 300 more than the normal weekday night and even more students than the Sunday night dinner, a meal which food service does not hold.

Students reported the Arcade was mobbed although the Varsity said it had no more than the usual number.

Dean of Women Marjorie C. Smith ate in Shaw dining hall. "I enjoyed the corned beef dinner," she said.

(Continued on Page 1)

UNOFFICIAL DAILY ORANGE FOOD TOTALS
Dining Hall	Number Eating Normally	Number Eating Thursday Night
Sims	950	162
Watson	900	271
Kimmel	650	210
Graham	900	222
Sadler	850	311
Shaw	350	207
Total	4,600	1,383

Food Protest

Jay Litwin, Joint Student Legislature speaker, and Marshall Snierston, co-chairman of the food service investigating committee, and several unidentified students show off an example of the posters that picketers carried outside Sims Hall. There were from 20-75 picketers at various times until the dining hall closed at 6:15 p.m.

Winter Weekend Queen Candidates

LESLIE SWARTZ

MELINDA TANTLEFF

ENE PIIRAK

PEGGY MARTIN

SANDRA HAFER

Is Apathy Dying at SU?

Apathy among the Syracuse University student body died a long overdue death Wednesday when 70 per cent of the students who eat in university dining halls boycotted food service.

We hope that now there will be no reincarnation of the impassive attitude that has prevailed among students on the Hill since the end of the championship football era in 1959.

Of course there was that always prevalent group that will support nothing, but it was so sufficiently in this instance that it cannot effectively propagate apathy.

For a great battle was won for and by the student body. Administrators can no longer act unmolested on the premise that "students don't care."

Joint Student Legislature cared when it near-unanimously passed the boycott resolution. More than 3,000 students showed they cared when they forfeited meals that were already paid for.

Even the students who ate could not be totally apathetic, for they had to decide if the meal they consumed was worth the public mockery.

Student government also played an important part in the fight against food service conditions, even though the executive branch publicly stated that the demonstration was premature "because JSL had not exhausted every avenue, and because the JSL food service commissioners went to the in-betweens and not to the higher-ups."

Next week Joint Student Government will see the higher-ups. After a meeting with administrators, Vice-President Francis A. Wingate announced that he would be willing to meet with student representatives.

Joint Student Government President James Morris announced that he will "set a deadline of one week from today (Wednesday) for some concrete results."

We can wish for results by that time, but we sincerely doubt any will be materialized.

This will be the real test. If nothing concrete is achieved, student leaders and the whole student body must be prepared to demonstrate that one setback is not going to quench student demands.

Students must be prepared to miss other meals, and to cooperate with JSL and JSG. Only through such exhibition of constant unity will the student ever become a partner in his education.

The results of the move taken by JSL are dangerous, however, for if the individual students back down after such a splendid performance, the door will be slammed closed to progress, and students will again assume the stature of puppets.

For the first time in years, we can proudly say that we are able to commend the student for accepting his responsibilities as a student. We cannot congratulate the individuals who are using this controversy for political reasons, but we must acknowledge those who have taken advantage of the situation to better student status.

This is only the start of an uphill fight which is not primarily aimed at food service, but is rather aimed at getting a strong student voice established on campus.

The fight has only started, but it must be continued. The student body of Syracuse is now committed to support the actions of Joint Student Government.

Through such a movement, we are working to build a better Syracuse.

Garden Of Eden

Party's Over

By Carol Schlageter

Syracuse University—party school of the East, Miami of the North, marriage market among schools. Four years ago this was the talk of my high school. And last year kid brothers in Rochester's suburban Brighton High talked about it again.

Syracuse University, as a consequence, has lost excellent students to a myth.

More important, the university overlooks a basic means of destroying that myth: No public relations releases concerning academic honors are sent to hometown newspapers. There is little to counteract the "party school" image.

As an entering frosh I knew Syracuse had wild parties, an alum association and a Number One football team. That's all we heard about through the local papers.

The prospective Syracusean never hears about Phi Beta Kappa here. Never hears about the honoraries. He reads about scholarships, activities, honoraries in the catalog. But he knows that catalog-groups may be relatively inactive.

I ask that a two paragraph story be sent to the hometown newspaper when a student is inducted into an honorary, or when he achieves a major position on campus.

The latter group would include roughly a dozen students. From perusing the yearbook, a figure of 600 members in all honoraries is plausible. Judging by the speed at which I wrote a release from information prepared by my roommate, the writing takes about five minutes.

In many cases students would have informational errors on their fact sheets. Double-checks might have to be performed via telephone. Most releases, then, would probably take closer to ten minutes for completion.

And at this rate it would take a single trained person roughly three weeks to write one release for each of the 600 honorary members on this campus.

University public relations men estimate the cost of such a project at $25,000 a year. Bosh. They presume that releases would be sent for every student on campus—and probably every time the student cuts his toenails.

Bernie Lipsy of the Office of Information Service stresses that if you deluge a hometown paper with releases it may throw them away. True. But I do not ask the Office of Information Services here to deluge anybody. I ask for a limited program of constructive releases—about 600 a year.

Mr. Lipsy also stresses the fact that public relations office must carefully time its releases so that one story about Syracuse University is not competing with another to get in the same hometown newspaper. True again.

But the stories Mr. Lipsy et al. currently send are detailed features for a few papers, e.g. architecture students and a piece are commendable.

But the short articles which I recommend, saying that a student at Syracuse has received an academic honor, will not compete with the longer stories. Yet they are still noticed, still emphasize that there is an academic side to SU.

Mr. Lipsy suggests most newspapers aren't interested in frequent regurgitations of campus activities. But when those activities are significant enough, most newspapers are. I doubt that there are many upstate New York dailies that won't run a notice of acceptance to Phi Beta — or any honorary.

Mr. Lipsy ignores the fact that weekly newspapers are anxious for briefs on students in their area. And weeklies should not be ignored, for many people read them strictly to see who is doing what. And where. If the "where" is Syracuse, it certainly cannot hurt this school's academic reputation.

And the Rochester papers were damn interested when Jim Morris was elected president of student government here. So interested, in fact, that one of them ran an eight or ten paragraph story on it.

At this point Mr. Lipsy half-grins, half-shrugs and says papers print stories they prefer to ignore—if proud parents request it.

True, Mr. Lipsy. But when the editor doesn't really want to run such a story he chops it down to two sentences. Two sentences!

Mr. Morris was worth eight or ten paragraphs to the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle. He was worth nothing to Information Services.

Mr. Lipsy mentioned the "two-step" floor theory of communications to me. Whew!

Roughly, it means most people don't get information from reading facts — their best source is what another guy tells them. The other guy is an opinion leader. And the implication is that if articles about Syracuse University academia are printed, few will read them.

If this were strictly true, the Office of Information Services should close today. Obviously, stories are aimed at opinion leaders, who presumably read. That is also where my shorter stories should aim. And where one type of story fails, the other may succeed.

Mr. Lipsy ignores another bit of communications theory: People read about things that interest them or affect them. They usually ignore complicated subjects like taxes, but unless my mother is substantially different from all others, she isn't the only one who clips every article that mentions Syracuse University and has clipped them since I applied here.

And when I was college-shopping the words "Syracuse University" meant that I would devour every syllable in a story.

Other colleges and universities distribute dittoed forms with blanks for name, home address, year, age, honor received and an explanation of the honor. The student goes to the pr office, fills out the sheet, indicates the name of his hometown paper, and in some cases addresses an envelope.

I have spoken with members of Theta Sigma Phi, professional society for women in journalism. They expressed willingness to help organize a hometown news service for Syracuse University. Mr. Lipsy says you cannot depend on volunteer help.

I think an offer to help is forthcoming, an offer backed by regular and dependable action. I think this is an inexpensive means of trying an idea. Whether information Services wishes to take advantage of the offer or shelve it will be interesting to note.

I think it is pretty significant when the hometown kid makes Phi Beta Kappa. And I think its significant when his sister makes an honorary.

I think this is a subtle way of saying Syracuse University has something besides a blossoming basketball team, the Orange and party raids. The myth, thank you, is fun. But from college I want a little more than myth.

And I wish I had known four years ago that there is more than myth to SU. It would have saved me a summer's worry over whether I was to attend The Party School of the East.

LETTERS

Calendar

To the Editor:
Dear Mr. Zients,

First of all, let us dedicate the spirit for this column to all of the people who hold in contempt persons of your caliber who waste valuable newspaper space joisting their opinions upon a public who couldn't care less what you think of the Pi Kappa Alpha calendar.

It seems to us that you have used this calendar as a topic around which you can elicit one by one, instances of your inness; and drop a few names. Well, just because you took 10th grade world history and know that France's independence was celebrated in July, and you happen to own a copy of "Stop the World, I want to get off" doesn't make you an authority on beauty or photography. If you don't like the pictures (and we like the idea of seeing familiar faces every month) go around to your neighborhood garage and pull one of their cheesecake calendars off the wall. They may be a few years behind the times but so are you. Common decency came back with ski jackets. Incidentally, your idol, Mr. Greenwald of the "little boxes of Madison Ave." didn't sound much better than you.

The Sisters of Iota Alpha Pi

Flag

To the Editor:

I notice a photograph in Tuesday's Daily Orange showing the United States flag on campus flown at half-mast.

There is a particular code to be followed for display of the National Colors. The U.S. Flag may be flown at half mast ONLY on Memorial Day and other days of mourning specified by the President of the United States. I refer you to Presidential Proclamation No. 3044 of 21 May 1960.

In recent years, the custom has grown whereby local government officials and executives of institutions and societies order "the flags flown at half-mast." These persons have no jurisdiction over the United States flag and can only prescribe the manner of display for their own banners.

I am surprised that some member of the Armed Forces on campus has not called this to your attention previously.

Mrs. Francis P. Rivette
Class of 1948

POLICY ON

LETTERS

The letters column is maintained for the expression of opinion by readers. However, the Daily Orange reserves the right to edit letters for grammar and good taste or to reject letters. Letters should be written legibly, preferably typed and no longer than 250 words. All letters must be signed with names and addresses; names will be withheld on request.

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2

February 21, 1964

Editor-in-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor Clayton F. Richards
News Editor Andrew Forte
Editorial Director Adair DuFene
Sports Editor Bernard MacCallum
Arts Editor Rea Toret
Photography Editor Steve Schwimmer
National Adv. Mgr. Lynn Mandel
Classified Mgr. Christine Sedziak
Promotion Mgr. Stu Shapiro

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 200 Brookline Drive Fayetteville, New York.
Entered as Second Class Matter a U. S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

WEEKEND

ECKEL—The whole world loves "Tom Jones" say the ads. Who can blame them? It's a great flick. Albert Finney acts in it. He's a great actor. Tony Richardson directed it. He's a brilliant director. John Osborn wrote the script. He's a witty writer. It is funny funny film. The actions are a little risqué. It takes place in the 18th century. But you can see it at 8:24 and 9:49 p.m.

RIVIERA—The Italians have done it again! It's "The Easy Life." A frightened young man learns how to enjoy the life of the rich run-around class in Italy. It's a nice life if you like Ferrari sport cars, fast driving along hair-pin turns, Rome traffic, Italian men and women, Via Veneto, Italian countryside and villas. All Semester-in-Italy students meet at the next sailing of the SS Constitution. With it is "The Concrete Jungle" about the English crime life. "Life" at 6:45 and 10 p.m. "Jungle" at 8:30 p.m.

RKO KEITH'S—Bette Davis has fun in this flick. She is a "Dead Ringer" for Bette Davis. And don't you think she takes advantage of this situation? Bette murders Davis so she can everything that rightfully belonged to Bette. Confusing? And as the other "cheerful" co-feature is "Dr. Crippen" which is about a nice man who didn't particularly care for his wife. "Dead" at 6:20 and 10 p.m. Friday, and 6:40 and 8:20 Saturday. "Dr. Crippen" at 8:20 p.m. Friday, and 8:35 Saturday.

LOEW'S—The film is "Sunday in New York." And the film takes place on a Sunday in New York. It's all about a girl from Albany who comes into New York to see her brother. She is trying to solve the riddle, should she or shouldn't she? She decided that she should, but then decides that she won't. It's the sort of question that naive freshmen coeds have to answer on their big weekends. Times not available.

PARAMOUNT—Walt Disney did it again! He won't win an Oscar, but he will make money. Nobody knows why with this film, but there are all sorts of people who like flubber. And as the third in the flubber series, "The Misadventures of Merlin Jones" lives up to the previous two. It's all about this college student who discovers through electrifying his brain he can read other people's minds. Goody, goody. And to add to this nonsense is "Bear Country" all about Bears in the country. Merlin 7:54 and 10 p.m. Bears at 7:16 and 9:22 p.m.

SHOPPINGTOWN—It's still here. The epic saga of the priest who becomes "The Cardinal." Everything happens to this guy. He has a fallen sister. He meets with show business characters. He fights the Ku Klux Klan. He fights the Nazis. He takes a sabbatical and goes to Vienna to study. He decides to return to his calling in spite of the beautiful women that want to marry him. Who knows about the priest? But Otto Preminger should have had the whole end before it began. It begins at 8:20 p.m.

DRUMLINS—It's that year in and out institution known as the "Stockingfoot." Dean Noble will once again serenade the campus with his accordion. Yeah team! Starts at 8 p.m. Friday.

LINCOLN AUDITORIUM—Sidney Harth on the violin, Theo Salzman on the cello and Earl George on the piano give the Syracuse Symphony Orchestra concert at 8:40 p.m. on Friday and Saturday nights.

ARCADE—Rock 'n' roll concert is taking place with the Daquiris on Friday night, and the Hot Nuts and Doves on Saturday.

CROUSE AUDITORIUM—Carol Corbin, mezzo soprano performs Purcell, Haydn, Schubert, Schumann, Debussy and a collection of American songs at 4 p.m. Sunday.

MANLEY FIELDHOUSE—Goodness gracious, Charlie Brown, it's Winter Weekend, and the Saturday Night group is here! Yeah. They're the New Christy Minstrels. Tickets are on sale for $2.50 in the lobby of HBC.

T-BONE STEAK for ONLY $$$$1.25 or Open Steak Sandwich for $1.25
with all the trimmings
other complete dinners from $.85

NEW LOWER PRICES ON EVERYTHING
Now Serving BEER BY THE BIG PITCHER

CLOVER CLUB
corner Cedar and Almond Streets

W A E R
88.3 mc

FRIDAYS
4:00 Sign On, News, WAER Highlights
4:15 Experiment in Music
6:00 Transatlantic Profile
6:15 Communique
6:30 Dan Stone and the News
6:45 Over the Back Fence
7:00 Musical Miniatures
8:30 The 8:30 Report
8:35 World of the Voice
10:45 The Late Night Report
11:00 International Music Festival
12:45 Headlines and Sign Off

SATURDAYS
1:00 Sign on and Headlines
1:10 CBC Panorama
6:00 College Authors Forum
6:15 Communique
6:30 Special of the Week
7:00 Spectrum
8:00 Symphonic Showcase
10:45 Late Night Report
11:00 Downbeat
12:45 Headlines and Sign Off

Doors Open 11 A.M.
Paramount NOW
WALT DISNEY presents
"THE MISADVENTURES OF MERLIN JONES"
TECHNICOLOR
Starring TOMMY KIRK - ANNETTE
EXTRA! "BEAR COUNTRY"
Walt Disney's

"BEST PICTURE OF THE YEAR!"
"BEST ACTOR!"
Albert Finney
"BEST DIRECTOR!"
Tony Richardson
—New York Film Critics Award—
The whole world loves Tom Jones!
EASTMAN KODAK
ALBERT FINNEY/SUSAN YOUNG
CONTINUOUS SHOWING! NO RESERVED SEATS!
NOW A Schine Theatre ECKEL

Daily Crossword Puzzle

ACROSS
1 Human activities.
5 Pro ____
9 Government power project.
12 Name meaning "man."
13 Employers.
15 Gather.
16 "We'll take ____ o' kindness yet ____": 2 words.
17 Intuition: 2 words.
19 Version: Abbr.
20 Converse.
21 Founder of British news agency.
22 Access.
24 Exclamation of doubt.
25 Part of a rocket: 2 words.
28 Wartime group.
31 Move sideways.
32 Ad libs of a sort.
33 Adequate.
34 Ill effects.
35 Army men: Abbr.
36 "We're off ____ the Wizard...": 2 words.
37 Jewels.
38 Small meal.

DOWN
39 Ashore, old style.
40 Chemical suffix.
41 Recovered capacity for effort: Colloq.: 2 words.
43 Ingenious.
45 Positive terminals.
47 Town in Italy.
49 Moderate.
51 Constellation.
52 It's sometimes on Friday.
54 Stead.
55 Sounds on a farm.
56 Radius of a wheel.
57 Whilom.
58 Admit.
59 "____ your bashful barefoot beau ____": 2 words.
60 Head: Fr.

1 Sell out.
2 Stimuli.
3 Time coordinate: 2 words.
4 An abbr. for telepathy.
5 Hurried onward.
6 ____ Minor.
7 Theme.
8 Studied action.

9 Earner of cash in five digits.
10 Ornamental vessel.
11 Copycat.
14 Expressive shoulder motions.
15 Re-enlist: Slang.
18 Dotted, as with flowers or stars.
20 Goddess of grain.
23 Small brooks.
24 Mountain range in Antarctica.
26 Join together.
27 All, in music.
29 Most tenuous.
30 ____ dog.
31 State flower of Utah.
33 Leaf of a book.
36 Suntanned.
38 Groups of girls.
41 Sister: Abbr.
42 Sudden onsets.
44 Melodies.
46 Fried lightly.
47 Steam: Prefix.
48 Instruct.
49 "Ah Wilderness were Paradise ____!"
50 Aleutian island.
53 Upon: Prefix.
54 Tennis term.

THE WARDROBE
Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11
12 13 14 15
16 17 18
19 20 21
22 23 24
25 26 27 28 29 30
31 32 33
34 35 36
37 38 39
40 41 42
43 44 45 46
47 48 49 50 51
52 53 54
55 56 57
58 59 60

Hamilton Standard DIVISION OF United Aircraft
On Campus for Interviews
February 27 and 28

OPENINGS FOR BS, MS ENGINEERS and SCIENTISTS

- Mechanical
- Aeronautical
- Engineering Physics
- Applied Mechanics
- Industrial Engineering
- Electrical
- Metallurgical
- Engineering Mechanics
- Physics

AREAS OF APPLICATION

Space and Life Support Systems
Engine and Afterburner Controls
Air Induction Control Systems
Advanced Lightweight Propellers
Electron Beam Industrial Machines
Ground Support Equipment
Electronic Control Systems
Overhaul and Repair Programs
Bio Science Studies
Industrial Valves

For Interview see your placement officer, or write:
SUPERVISOR COLLEGE RELATIONS / PERSONNEL DEPARTMENT

Hamilton Standard DIVISION OF United Aircraft
WINDSOR LOCKS, CONNECTICUT
An Equal Opportunity Employer

COMPLETE OPTICAL SERVICE
EYEGLASSES FITTED
CONTACT LENSES

EASY CREDIT

1 to 24-HOUR SERVICE
No Appointment Necessary

BROKEN LENSES & FRAMES
REPLACED PROMPTLY

Open Daily, 9 A.M. to 6 P.M.
 Mon. & Friday Until 8 P.M.
FREE PARKING—ANY CENTER

CITY OPTICIANS
211 E. FAYETTE ST.
CORNER S. WARREN
 PHONE HA 2-6011 SYRACUSE, N.Y.

FOOTPRINTS
 is Coming

Dawson Serves Post

Dr. Clayton L. Dawson, chairman of the slavic language department at Syracuse University, is serving as a consultant to the Office of Education, in Washington, D. C.

He is aiding the education department in its selection of National Defense Education Act fellowship candidates. The majority of his consulting duties will be completed by Monday.

A graduate of the University of Washington, Dr. Dawson earned his Ph.D. at Harvard U. He was a chief linguist for the Air Force language instruction program in the U.S. and is author of several textbooks used to teach Russian at several American universities.

Snow Sculpture Ad Infinitum

Judging in the Winter Weekend snow sculpture contest will be held beginning at 2 p.m. today. The theme of the sculptures should conform with the weekend theme, "International Snowtime."

Winter Weekend, which seems to be as old as the university, and snow sculpture have gone hand-in-hand through the years. However, in several recent years, the weekend has been marked by a distinct lack of snow. However, the weatherman has promised lots of white stuff for this weekend.

The above picture was taken 20 years ago on campus, when snow sculptures, and snow, were fairly common.

Winning entries in the snow sculpture contest will be shown on local television stations Friday evening.

Sculpture

Winter Weekend, Snow Sculpture . . . all are approaching at breakneck pace. How long has there been a Winter Weekend at SU? Better ask that question of the coeds in the picture accompanying this story, for they were hard at work on the sculptures . . . not this year, not last year. In fact, the two pictures were taken by a Syracusan some 20 years ago, as he "strolled along the campus." The spirit hasn't changed, just the date!

3,217 Join Food Boycott

(continued from page 1)
 ner," she said to students standing outside the dining room.

Joint Student Government President James Morris, who had refused support for the boycott, said he would appoint a group of "rational, reasonable people to meet with the top people in food service."

He included in the group of food service top people, Dean of Personnel John Hafer, Food Service Director Ursula Pettengill and University Vice President and Treasurer Francis Wingate.

Morris commented before the boycott that results of his planned conference would be announced Thursday. He said that one individual from student legislature, not of the "top level," had negotiated with people in food service who were not top level.

The result, Morris said, showed from this lack. "I had instructed this individual to come back to me if his negotiations were unsuccessful but he did not," Morris said.

Morris said before resorting to anything other than the conference table, top negotiations should be continued. He said he stands firm on his belief in this matter after much thought, contacting class presidents, his vice president Kate Antony, and people in the legislature who backed his stand "100 per cent."

"Food service bosses are willing to make improvements if dealt with in a rational way," he said.

After viewing the boycott Thursday evening, Morris said the result was about what he expected but the idea was premature and abused.

"We agree there must definitely be improvement both in the food and the service," he said. "We disagree in manner not in issue."

JSL Speaker Jay Litwin viewed the boycott calmly and confidently. "This decision (to boycott) was made after much rational thought, with the simple mind that food service had not acted and gave every indication that it would not act," he said.

"The boycott was not planned to intimidate anyone," he continued. "It was to prove that those people on the 'top level' who by the way do not eat the food—that the majority of the students are fed up from not being fed up."

Litwin thanked those students who participated because "they cared enough to support the boycott." He asked that all "future 'top level' negotiations join me for the rest of the semester eating in food service so that we can understand exactly what we're talking about."

The boycott would have been successful if 50 per cent of the students did not show up, Litwin continued. Since 71 per cent supported the move, he said the boycott was "extremely successful."

"It seems," Litwin concluded, "that most of the 30 per cent against the boycott are representatives of student government. The 70 per cent in favor of the boycott actually eat the food."

Sweet and Swinging SOUNDS

NANCY WILSON
 YESTERDAY'S LOVE SONGS
 TODAY'S BLUES (S)T-2012

AL MARTINO
 LIVING A LIE (S)T-2040

THE KINGSTON TRIO
 TIME TO THINK (S)T-2011

A LETTERMEN
 KIND OF LOVE
 (S)T-2013

These are but a few of the many fine new albums on sale now. Come in today and ask to hear the complete range of great new sounds from the Sound CAPITOL of the World.

3.98 now 2.97 | 6.98 now 3.77
 5.98 now 4.47 | 4.98 now 5.25

Save on Records at University Hill Music Box

Open A Record Charge Account

Owned & Operated By Syracuse U. Students

University Hill
MUSIC BOX

OWNED AND OPERATED BY SU STUDENTS

751 So. Crouse 475-4116
 Open Monday thru Friday, 10-9, Saturday 'til 5:30

THE CLEF

234 Wolf St. 471-9592

— Presents —

THE

FRANK MOSER JR. "QUARTET"
FRI., SAT., & SUN.

"6-12" Sunday "6-12"
Jam Session & $1.00 Buffet

"All You Can Eat"

15% Discount for Students

OUT OF TOWN DATE For Winter Weekend?

LET FIVE STAR HELP WITH:

- * Hotel Reservations
- * Car Rentals
- * Greyhound Tickets—Information; Schedules. Our office will be open this Sunday from noon to 6 p.m. Save time buy your dates going home ticket from FIVE STAR.

FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC.
(SU's FIRST AND ONLY STUDENT OPERATED SERVICE)

IN THE SAVOY DAILY 1-4 Thursday 7-9
Special hours this Sunday 1-6 DIAL GR 6-8533

GOING TO EUROPE THIS SUMMER?

Hold the phone—don't sign anything yet
 watch for big news coming soon! !

Students React to Boycott

By CISSY POSSELT
AND DAVE SOSNA

Thursday evening at Watson dining hall, during anti-food service boycotts.

"2 SU in loco partitis? PARENTS WOULDN'T SERVE THIS!"

So read a placard sported on picket lines during the peaceful demonstrations.

Emotions were running high as students decided "Marshall Street or Sims?" The tension could be felt even within the sedate confines of the mount's central dining hall, Graham.

In front of the Watson, more than 40 people were clumped in groups discussing, laughing at, or just watching the boycott in progress.

Many of the students picketing in front of Watson and also Sims, claimed the food service meals that they had been eating previous to the boycott were "horrible."

Feeling the effects of student opinion perhaps more than food service itself were the students who dared to brave the groups of taunting boycotters.

"Why are you eating?"
"I don't have enough money to eat out."

"Come on, I'll loan you the money."

That's the general gist of conversations outside dining hall doors as the picketers, trying to make their boycott felt, sought to persuade others from eating.

Two students from Watson protested passively. They walked through the dining hall, sporting a large, flat box and paper bag.

They sat down at one of the many empty tables and listened to the cheer that rose as they opened the box and withdrew their dinner—a pizza pie from Marshall St.

Others, braving the demonstrators at Watson, hung up a sign on the glass doors: "Hunger hurts. Let's Eat."

It took the massed students outside the door less than two seconds to rip down the sign and stomp on it as it lay on the wet floor.

Still others taunted one of the few who ate as he, as though trying to consume an extra amount of the dinner to make up for the boycott, went back for third and forth portions.

At Graham things were more peaceful. No picketing, no jeering and little eating. Of the normally expected 900 students eating in Graham, only 222 appeared.

Unsuccessful attempts were made by WAER to interview the students eating in Graham.

Joseph E. Troner, Supervisor there, claimed that the two newsmen from the campus station would have to get a permit to use their equipment or else leave.

The Daily Orange was luckier, however. The two DO reporters assigned to cover the Mount during the boycott were able to enter the dining hall and question the students.

The majority there claimed that the food was not bad enough to warrant a boycott. Many said picketing was of little worth. "They don't care if we stand outside holding things," one coed reported.

All in all, student opinion was divided: peace on the mount, protest on the campus. What good did it do? Only time and food service can tell; but the fact remains, just over one quarter of the students holding meal tickets appeared for their Thursday evening meal.

Three Profs At Conference

Three professors and a graduate student all from Syracuse University's Maxwell Graduate School of Citizenship and Public Affairs will attend a two-day conference on urban expenditures at New York University beginning today.

The men are Prof. H. Douglas Price, department of political science; Prof. Jesse Burkhead and Prof. Seymour Sacks, both of the department of economics, and Charles Waldauer, graduate student in economics.

The Conference on Urban Expenditures is sponsored by Resources for the Future, Inc., of Washington, D. C., a Ford Foundation-supported research organization.

Volunteers Sought

All students wishing to do volunteer work for Community Chest are urged to report for interviews from 1 - 5 p.m. to interviews from 1-5 p.m. today in Hendricks Chapel basement.

The Chest needs volunteers for the Operation Volunteer program to work as counselors, readers' aides or social workers.

Operation Volunteer placed over 200 students last year in a variety of jobs. Brochures on job opportunities can be obtained from room 1, Chapel House.

CURFEW CHANGE

Correction: Curfews for Sunday will be one half hour after the conclusion of the Christy Minstrel Concert according to Sharon Katz, vice president of the Association of Women Students.

Dorm presidents were erroneously informed of the curfew. Curfews are 2 a. m. for all coeds on Friday and Saturday.

Portraiture
at Its Best

SARKIN
Photo Studios
GR 8-1145
908 Irving Ave.

PEERLESS PRESS, Inc.

PRINTERS

1112 E. Fayette Street Between University &
Walnut

COMPLETE PRINTING SERVICE

at your doorstep
GR 6-6051

RUTH'S GIFTS

734 S. Crouse Avenue

SPECIAL

We Are Reducing
Our Overstock Of Lavaliers

Reg. Price $5.00

Now Only

$2.75

With Chain

While They Last

Aunt Jemima's Kitchen

Featuring

37 VARIETIES OF PANCAKES

SOUTHERN FRIED CHICKEN

SOUPS — SANDWICH — STEAKS

SERVING

BREAKFAST, LUNCH

DINNER

LATE NITE SNACKS

THE IDEAL RESTAURANT
FOR THE BUDGET MINDED
STUDENT

Erie Blvd. East
DeWitt
446-0388

HOURS
Sun - Thurs.
7 a.m. - Mid.
FRI. & SAT.
7 a.m. - 3 a.m.

THE "BOOKSTALL"

147 Marshall Street
Fascinating Gifts, Fine Stationery, Fabulous Cards
38 Years by the Campus
Your Friendly Alumni Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow

We try harder

$11.50 For Entire Weekend & $.10 a Mile

501 S. Salina St.

422-4171

Avis rents Fords and other fine cars

SHOP TONIGHT UNTIL 9

DeY Brothers & Company

PARK LANE WOOD TRIM

HOOTENANNY HANDBAGS

$14 plus tax
others $9 to $19

Everybody swing out with the goingest, casual handbags ever seen on campus. Soft as down seton leather with polished wood accents. Room to hold everything. Pick yours in bone, black, oats or fawn.

change it in handbags. DEY'S street floor

Riviera CINEMA
3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. • GR 8-4021
"ONE OF THE YEAR'S TEN BEST!"
—New York Times
"AN UPPER CLASS 'LA DOLCE VITA'"
—Time
the Easy Life
VITTORIO GASSMAN • CATHERINE SPAK
AND
STANLEY BAKER

Study in Guadalajara, Mexico

The Guadalajara Summer School, a fully accredited University of Arizona program, conducted in cooperation with professors from Stanford University, University of California, and Guadalajara, will offer June 29 to August 8, art, folklore, geography, history, language and literature courses. Tuition, board and room is $265. Write Prof. Juan B. Rael, P.O. Box 7227, Stanford, Calif.

Omega-Minus Particle Explained

Drawing

Syracuse Coed Assaulted

A Syracuse University coed was assaulted Wednesday while riding in a car near the campus.

She accepted a ride to her dormitory with two unidentified men from the corner of Euclid Avenue and College Place, university security police report.

The men did not head for the dormitory, but began driving away from the university area.

The driver pulled the car over to the curb, the girl told police, and turned off the motor.

After struggling with the men, the girl managed to escape.

In her hurry to get away from the car, she said she left her purse containing about $150 in cash and an unendorsed check.

One Voted Anti-Boycott

The motion to boycott food service dining halls was not passed unanimously in J.S.I. Wednesday night as reported in yesterday's Daily Orange.

Terry Ogden, J.S.I. representative from Horace White cottage, is recorded as the one student who voted against the measure.

Zeta Psi Elects

Elected were John Bothwell, president; Charles Pollina, vice president; Palmer Shupe, secretary; Bob Briggs, treasurer; Joe Felice, historian; and Ron Jor-

Omega-minus.

That's the newest word in physics, and has been for the past several days, ever since a group of scientists at Brookhaven National Scientific Research Center have released the news of their revolutionary discovery in the world of the atom.

The accompanying picture is one of those which led the group to its proof of the theory.

Experiments on the hypothesis were made in a "bubble chamber," which has been described as a bathtub like affair.

The large "tub" is filled with liquid hydrogen, which is held at a superheated temperature. At this relatively high temperature, the liquid "tries" to boil; to form gas bubbles.

Sometimes, very small particles enter the liquid medium, collide with parts of hydrogen atoms, and form the small "bubbles." The photograph, with its scattered lines, shows the paths left by these random particles as they careened through the liquid, colliding with atoms.

Physicists use the gas, hydrogen, in these experiments because it is the simplest element known to man. All particles which result from the collisions are small and relatively easy to detect.

In the picture, the scientists at Brookhaven made their breathtaking discovery by following the bubble path of the line marked (1).

As it flew through the liquid, it collided with a hydrogen atom and broke up that atom at (2).

The Omega-minus particle, which can be seen in the photograph as leaving the trail from (2) to (3), traveled the four-centimeter distance and died... all in the space of one billionth of a second.

Dotted line (4) is the path of a neutral particle, a beam of light, which collided with another hydrogen nucleus at point (5), was converted to two wild flying particles.

Dotted line (6) is another of the neutral particles which resulted from the collision, which traveled until it, too blasted a hydrogen atom to fly off into separate parts.

Line (8) is another beam of light. The beam, traveling to point (9), was converted to matter as it collided with another particle. Two separate pieces of the original molecule which was hit again ricocheted off.

Dotted lines (4) and (8) illustrate the formula of Einstein, who stated that energy can be converted to matter.

That's the picture, so now when you are asked to explain the theory of SU-Three, remember the "bubble photograph" which shows infinitesimal bits of matter, as they careen through liquid hydrogen at a speed of 186,000 miles per second.

Siegel's

173 Marshall Street
next to 7 Hour
Laundry

Central N. Y.
Headquarters for
Theatrical Make-up
Revlon, Max Factor,
Rubinstein, Lanvin,
Channel, Coty,
Yardley, English
Leather, Clairol,
plus all nationally advertised brands.

Complete Line of School Supplies and Stationary.
GR 8-9985

Tino's

RESTAURANT

FINE ITALIAN FOOD

pizza

ORDERS TO TAKE OUT

425 N. Salina Street

GR 1-9458

GR 1-9446

SOCIAL CHAIRMEN

Reserve your parties at

BOB CASEY'S INN

GI 6-0270

DeWitt, N. Y.

Open Monday - Saturday

Fri. Sat. Nights Till 1 A.M.

F I 4 U

Friday

Saturday

"The New Vanguard's"

"The Eldorado's"

Enjoy a Delicious Family Dinner at

CAROMA

Specializing in Italian Cuisine
Spaghetti, Monicotti, Baked Lasagna,
Ravioli

Also American Dishes

STEAKS, PRIME RIB

—Take Out Service—

402 Lodi

GR 4-2119

Free Parking

MELTZER'S

SANDWICH SHOP

TWO LOCATIONS

• 516 Irving,
cor. Harrison
Open 8 - 8

• Back End of
New Tower Apts.
Open 7 - 9

Featuring

CORNER BEEF

ROAST BEEF

PASTRAMI • HOT DOGS • CHOPPED LIVER
CHEESE BLINTZES • POTATO PANCAKES

Tel. GR 8-7978

We Deliver

Closed Sundays

TOBINS

RESTAURANT
W. Genesee at
Fairmount Corners

Route 5

Private Rooms for Parties

Tuesday-Saturday
Luncheon

11:30 to 2:30

Dinners

5:00 - 9:30

Sunday Brunch

Dinners

Weekdays 11:30-9:30

Sundays 12-8

Fish - Frog - Steak - Chicken

Chops and Roast Beef Dinners

TUBBERT'S

301 Court Street, Cor. No. Salina

"House of Gracious Dining"

Listening Pleasure at our Piano Bar

WELCOME TO

SYRACUSE'S FRIENDLIEST HOTEL

SYRACUSE, NEW YORK

4 Fine Restaurants

AIR CONDITIONED
MODERATELY PRICED

including

• English Dining Room

• Cafeteria

• Cocktail Lounge

• Tap Room

and the famous

• STEAK 'N'
RIB ROOM

Yates Roast Beef

"Carved before your eyes"

FREE PARKING

Stockingfoot, Minstrels
At Winter Weekend

The BIRCHES

is
OPEN WITH EXPANDED FACILITIES

for
PARTIES, BANQUETS & RECEPTIONS
SPECIAL STUDENTS RATES!

Shoppingtown, DeWitt Plenty of Convenient Parking

PROSSERS

RESTAURANT and LOUNGE
Where STEAK is KING and the STEAKS
are KING SIZED
Free Parking For Dinner Customers
So. Warren St. at Harrison St.

Luigi's Italian
Village

Swing with the Young Man with a horn

THE JACK MAHEU QUARTET

Wine, Dine, and Dance

at

The New Luigi's

300 Burnet Avenue

GR 2-9433

GR 4-9525

Excellent Italian Cuisine

TODAY
12:10 p.m., Episcopal Holy Communion, Chapel House.
3-5 p.m., WAA apparatus and tumbling, Gym G, Women's Bldg.
5:45 p.m., Daily Devotions, North Wing, Hendricks Chapel.
7 p.m., Hillel Services, Hendricks Chapel.
SUNDAY
6 p.m., Hillel supper, Shaw recreation room. Dr. Hotchkiss will speak at 6:45 p.m.

DANZER'S RESTAURANT

"A touch of Old Germany"
German - American
Food

- Sauerbraten
- Roast Beef
- Hot and Cold Turkey

"The Finest
Sandwich in Syracuse"

912 Park St.
471-9031

SYRACUSE BLUEPRINT CO. INC.

GRUMBACHER
WINSOR NEWTON
PARATONE
ZIPATONE
RICH ART
ACS TAPES
AQUABEE PADS
STRATHMORE PADS
CRESENT BOARDS

ART
SUPPLIES

825 E. GENESEE ST.

GR 6-4084

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	$.85
2 days	1.65
4 days	3.15
3 days	2.40
5 days	3.85
7 days	5.20
6 days	4.55
8 days	5.85
9 days	6.45
10 days	7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL, HO 8-4040.
PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy, GR 6-3995.
GREYHOUND TICKETS, schedules, information, bus and air charters. Hotel reservations foreign tours. FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC. in the Savoy Monday-Friday 1-4; Thursday night 7-9 476-8533.
TYPEWRITERS—Repaired, Rented, Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-8833. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.
ACCELERATED 5 lesson course, specializing in parking, traffic, road test. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL, HO 3-3451.
ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lillian M. Potter 267 Comstock Ave. GR 8-5847.
TO BUY OR SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN: Spague Motors, 1000 Hiawatha Blvd. W., 474-6007, is the place.

LAVALIERS, $2.75. Wedding, Shower, Baby gifts, Riviera sunglasses, watch and jewelry repairs. Ruth's Gifts, 734 South Crouse.

FOR SALE

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of four colors of paper, three colors of ink, two sizes of sheets. Bookcall.

ROYAL SAFARI portable typewriter with case, 6 months old, $85. Call 472-7413.

BUCKBOARD FOR SALE from the horse & buggy era. Two seater, top condition. 472-1584.

MAN'S HANDSOME flat top desk 6' X 36", walnut, a basket and telephone stand to match. Call GR 2-4264.

'59 CHEVY BELAIR, four door, fuel injection, speed, other extras. Good condition, make offer. Call 476-3357.

1961 VW Sedan with sunroof. Original owner. Call 472-5380.

WANTED

INSTRUCTOR or Graduate student to share large six room apartment. Very well furnished. Near campus. $50 month. Call 472-6227.

WANT TO EARN MONEY in your spare time? Work on campus and make your own hours. Call 472-6221.

RIDE TO DARTMOUTH College for the weekend of Feb. 21 for Winter Carnival. Contact Syracuse University Winter Weekend Committee, Syracuse Winter Weekend, February 21, 22, 23.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students
TWO BLOCKS FROM FIELDHOUSE,

Eating Cake

"Let them eat cake!" Here Jay Litwin eyes a cake that student picketers brought to appease their appetites as they protested food service policies.

Chapel Roundup

METHODIST
9:30 a.m., Sunday, Colonial Room, Bible study will be held.
5:30 p.m., Sunday, Hendricks Chapel, Student Fellowship supper will take place. Father Walter Welsh will speak on "Signs of Renewal in the Inner City."
7 p.m., Monday, Chapel House, Pastor's marriage class.
12:15 p.m., Tuesday, Chapel House, Dialogue luncheon will be held.
INTERDENOMINATIONAL
7 a.m., Wednesday, north wing, Holy Communion will take place.
UNITED CHRISTIAN
5:30 p.m., Sunday, Chapel House, a preview of the movie "The Oxbow Incident" will be held.
12 p.m., Thursday, Chapel House, Graduate Luncheon Group.
LUTHERAN
10 a.m., Sunday, Chapel House, services will be held, coffee hour to follow.

5:30 p.m., North Wing, Hendricks Chapel services, supper following at 100 Berkeley Dr.

North East region Lutheran student conference Feb. 28-Mar. 1. Sign up in Lutheran office, Hendricks Chapel.

JEWISH

7 p.m., today, Sabbath Eve services, Hendricks Chapel. Oring Shabbat will follow the services.

6 p.m., Sunday, supper at Shaw Dunn recreation room. Dr. William Hotchkiss of the Maxwell School will be guest speaker at follow-up program.

8 p.m., Wednesday, special service in observance of Purim will be held in Colonial Room, Hendricks Chapel.

EPISCOPAL

9:30 a.m., Sunday, Episcopal Holy Communion, Gifford Auditorium.

8:05 p.m., Wednesday, Holy Communion, Chapel House.

12:10 p.m., Friday, Holy Communion, Chapel House.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ELBA	CIRIAGS	ARCIS
LEAD	LADEN	SERT
SUBSTITUTE	IDEA
ARY	ONESTEP	CTR
RAGISTORICHS
RAGED	SOI
ELOD	PLAYTHINGS
SUIS	FINER	NEAP
PINESCENTS	ASIA
GAP	AGENT
RAGLANSLEEVE
EGO	ROTUNDA	VIE
NOIL	WINTERWIND
ENNA	ALDEN	ARTIT
WEGO	YEARS	ROOT

Christy Minstrels
Sunday

225 Terrace Ave. Modern 4-room upper, 2 bedrooms, large closet, brick cupboards, refrigerator and stove. Picture window, living room and kitchen, ceramic tile bath, private parking area, on bus line. Available immediately, $115. NE 8-0497, GR 6-1473.

APARTMENTS FOR RENT. Two rooms with bath, 411 S. Crouse Ave. Call 476-7188 after 1 p.m.

FURNISHED or Unfurnished, ultra modern, 4 room, brick kitchen, ceramic bath, Off street parking garage, 451 Midland Ave. near auto club. See superintendent, Apartment 3, or call 476-1482.

3 ROOMS RECENTLY remodeled — paneled, big, light parking, $85.00. Call 478-4388.

BELLEVUE HEIGHTS, unfurnished 2rm, house vacant, fine location, $125 per month. Call owner, GR 4-1557.

FURNISHED TWO ROOM APT., 5 walking minutes from campus, for one or two men. Also beautifully furnished room for gentleman, 472-4482 after 6.

3 RM. apartment, furnished and heated, newly painted, University station, very inexpensive, GI 6-1741 or 448-4427.

FURNISHED APARTMENTS, 1 and 2 bedrooms, 1 block from University, Call 478-0418 after 5.

DOUBLE and SINGLE, $7.50, $12.50. Kitchen included. 474-2534.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models, also sales and service, special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 223 E. Genesee St., HA 2-1457.

EXPERT TYPING, these, term papers, WILL DO TYPING in my home, 471-7216, themes, 458-0541.

Hockey, Skiing Highlight Weekend

SU Carnival Ski Meet Opens Today

A 14 team field will compete in the annual Winter Carnival Intercollegiate Ski Meet hosted by Syracuse University as part of Winter Weekend.

The only events that will be held on campus will be 30 meter jumping at 2 p.m. Saturday at Skytop.

Teams from the University of Buffalo, Cornell, Colgate, Cortland, Hamilton, Union, RPI, Paul Smiths, Oswego, Army, MIT, Swarthmore and the University of Pennsylvania and Syracuse have been entered.

Coach Elton Fairbanks of Syracuse looks for the Orange to make a very strong showing in Alpine events with Paul Smiths probably taking Nordic honors.

The two schools have to be considered the teams to beat.

The Syracuse jumpers to watch at Skytop will be Bob Bryant, Chal Lyons, and George Duriesk.

The Orangemen in cross country will be Sven Tullberg, Bob Thorenson, Bryant and Steve Mitchell.

Bob Thorenson, Dave Menotti and Lyons head up Hill Alpine forces.

Sven Tullberg will be ineligible to ski.

Slalom will be at 10 a.m. today at Labrador Mt. Cross

BILL DALTON

DAVE MENOTTI

Country races are at 2 p.m. also at Labrador with jumping, 2 p.m. at Skytop.

In their last outing the Orange skiers finished a strong second in a nine team meet at Army, despite a weakness in cross country events.

RAY NOZYNSKI

NIT Taps Five

Seven berths remain open for the National Invitational Basketball Tournament March 12-21 in New York's Madison Square Garden.

Latest of the five confirmed entries is St. Bonaventure, which accepted the invitation Wednesday. The Bonnies boast a 14-5 record.

Other NIT-bound clubs include Pittsburgh (15-6), New York University (11-5), DePaul (17-2) and Duquesne (13-5).

SVEN TULLBERG

GEORGE DURIESK

Hill Skaters Meet RIT At Coliseum

The Syracuse University Hockey club will host RIT at 6 p.m. Saturday in the State Fair Grounds Coliseum as part of Winter Weekend activity.

RIT is undefeated and leading the Finger Lakes Hockey League with a 6-0-1 record. Syracuse, 5-4, is in second place.

Busses will be run to the game from Skytop at 5 p.m. and from campus at Sims at 5:30 p.m.

The Orangemen will go with a first line of Brian Christie, Sayre McLeod and top scorer Bill Miller. Roy Fitzgerald, Todd Graham and Ray Nozynski will skate on the second wave. Fred Robinson, Tom Shepard and John Coleman will team up on the third.

Bill McGruther, Doug Hancock, Bill Oakley, Walt Pulver and Fred O'Brian will alternate of defense.

Tickets for the game can be purchased today in the HBC lobby. A trophy will be awarded to the winning team by the Queen of Winter Weekend.

Gymnasts Face Temple

By TOM MULLER

Unbeaten Temple University will be out to clinch the Eastern Gymnastics League title when it meets Syracuse in Archbold Gymnasium tomorrow at 2 p.m.

The Owls, 7-0, have handily whipped all opponents thus far, as they have averaged better than 165 points per meet.

Last week Penn State beat Syracuse 165-154. Syracuse is 3-2, with losses to Army and the Nittany Lions.

The Owls are led by all-around standout Mark Cohn, a junior. "Mark is definitely Olympic caliber," says Orange coach Paul Romeo. Last year Cohn won the Eastern title on the parallel bars and placed second in the all-around competition. This year he is also threatened on the side horse.

Temple captain Tim Phillips, last year's Eastern champ on the horizontal bar, and Jim Petrino will be expected to supply a good share of Temple's scoring punch. Petrino has been outstanding in the floor exercise all year, while Phillips is unbeaten on the horizontal bar.

The biggest battle of the day will be on the long horse, where Eastern champ Sid Oglesby of Syracuse will face Temple's Charles Eckler. Oglesby should be up for the meet after dropping his first decision last week, while Eckler will be riding on the crest of a 9.7 rating at Army last week.

Syracuse will go with its usual line-up headed by captain

Carl Poplar, Oglesby, and Jon Meury. Poplar will be the Orange's all-around man and Oglesby will be entered in the floor exercise and parallel bars events besides the long horse.

Meury has been beaten on the side horse in the last two meets, but before that he had been undefeated.

The Temple squad, "a strong, well-balanced team," according to Romeo, boasts many fine second and third men in all events. Against Army last week the Owls had all three men over 9.0 in three of the six events as they trounced the Cadets.

"We'll be trying our best to upset Temple," says Romeo, and that upset is always possible. The Orange were hit hard by graduation last year, but they have proved to be the surprise team of the league despite the squad's relative inexperience.

Mark Cohn

Swimmers Host Mighty Colgate

By NEIL KERR

Colgate invades Archbold Saturday providing Ted Webster's Piety swimmers with their toughest competition of the season. The meet will get underway at 3:30 p.m. in Orange Pool.

On the season, Syracuse stands at 4-2. Colgate is now 7-1 after last weekend's loss to undefeated Yale.

Coach Webster expects a "real rugged" meet. "They gave Yale quite a scare last Saturday," he noted in discussing Colgate's 37-58 loss. "They've got lots of depth," he added.

Standouts for Colgate have been Captain Bill Stuck in the sprints and Pat LaForte in the dives. Richard Arluck, Ray Williams and Dave Martin should also pile up points for the Red Raiders.

Jim Myerberg and Bill Hotchkiss have been recent point getters for the Orange. Myerberg is undefeated in the 500-yard freestyle. Hotchkiss (200-yard breaststroke) was SU's only other first place finisher in the Pitt meet last week.

Other outstanding Orangemen include Hugh Dunseath in breaststroke, Pete Hickman and Dwayne Lehigh in the backstroke, soph Dick Bauschard in the freestyle sprints and Roger Ellenberger in the butterfly.

In the diving competition Junior Channing Rudd has been the most consistent performer for the Hill forces.

The respective frosh teams will clash at 1:30 p.m. in a companion meet to the varsity encounter.

Frosh Cagers Bow

Poor shooting by the Tangerines and a well-drilled Broome Tech team combined to end the frosh basketball squad's seven game winning stralk Wednesday night at Binghamton.

Tech, ranked as one of the best junior colleges in the nation, shot over 50 per cent while Morris Osburn's frosh crew couldn't hit more than 35 per cent of their shots.

"They got an early lead and we couldn't catch them," Osburn explained. "We out-rebounded them, but we weren't even hitting on our second effort shots."

A subdued Vaughn Harper played what Osburn termed his best game of the year, scoring 24 points and pulling down 15 rebounds.

Rick Dean also played a strong game for the little Orange, but had to sit out part of the second half with four fouls.

In analyzing Tech, the frosh coach said, "They were by far the best team we played this year. I think we could have given them a better battle, but even with Val Reid (who is out for the season with an ankle injury) we would have trouble beating them."

Broome Tech is a team that has played together for two years and showed what the word teamwork means. They passed and shot well, and took advantage of numerous Orange violations.

Next Food Service Step: Negotiations

By JESSE SMITH

Freshman Class President Jim Richard explained Friday the position of student government executives on the food service controversy. He emphasized the key role of top level negotiations in any future progress on requests for improvements.

At the time of the JSL boycott resolution, JSG President James Morris made a statement opposing the demonstration. The executive branch of student government had feared that premature action would damage relations between top leaders of JSG and the administration.

Richard indicated Friday that, far from damaging JSG administration relations, the boycott had demonstrated the unity of student feelings of dissatisfaction over food service. He said that, in the light of the demonstration, the administration has shown a great deal more interest in negotiations, and that students should be commended for their unified stand.

Richard met Friday with Mrs. Ursula Pettingill, director of food service. Although the meeting was for the purpose of discussing a Freshman Forum request for tablecloths at Sunday dinners, Richard said that groundwork had been laid for future negotiations between top levels of the student government executive branch and the administration. Richard indicated that Mrs. Pettingill had been friendly and receptive.

According to Richard, attempts are being made to set up negotiations between President James Morris and a university group, including Mrs. Pettingill, Vice President Francis A. Wingate and representatives of the personnel committee.

Negotiations have already been conducted between Marshall Sneirson, co-chairman of the JSL food committee, and Ross Moriarty, assistant director of the food service. Richard said these were useful, but that solutions could only be reached by higher level negotiations.

Prof's Wife Dies In Fire In DeWitt

The wife of a Syracuse University professor was killed Saturday when a fire ripped through the couple's DeWitt home.

Dead is Mrs. Frances Price, wife of Dr. Roy Price, chairman of the social sciences program in the Maxwell School of Citizenship. Price was in New York on business at the time of the blaze.

County Medical Examiner Martin A. Hillinger attributed death to smoke inhalation and heat. He said the body was only slightly burned.

The fire was discovered early Saturday morning by a neighbor, who phoned the DeWitt fire department. Intense heat twice prevented firemen's efforts to enter the building, but a third try proved successful.

Firemen found Mrs. Price lying on the floor of the dining room, with the family cocker spaniel dead beside her. A second dog was found dead upstairs.

DeWitt Fire Chief Everett (Continued on page 5)

SU Administration Hits Food Boycott

By CISSY POSSELT
Associate Editor

Administrative reaction to Thursday's food service demonstrations was one mainly of disapproval. This disapproval was not, however, directed at the students who participated.

Rather, it was with the methods used by those concerned, with the boycott, in trying to make some headway into solution of the "problems."

Dr. Francis A. Wingate, vice president and treasurer of the university, reviewed the events of the past week, in an attempt to illustrate the sequence of happenings prior to the boycott.

It was regrettable, he said, that the actions had been taken with such speed, not allowing for any time for administrative action on the proposals listed in Tuesday's Daily Orange.

In cases where students are dissatisfied with the service they are getting, Wingate stated, the students should act through the proper channels. With cases of complaints on food service, students are supposed to go through first, the dietitians of the individual dining hall. The next step, if the first is unsuccessful, is taken through the dining hall's food counselor.

If the student still feels that his complaint is not acted upon properly, he should register it with the director or assistant director of the dining hall, and then with food service administrators.

Should there still be a complaint, the next step, according to Wingate, is that the student complain directly to him.

While he feels that this order should be strictly observed, he stressed that he is usually less directly involved with the actual operation and student opinion on food service complaints.

Wingate also noted that, in case a student felt that his office had not satisfactorily answered that the next step was to the chancellor.

Discussing the initiating action of the boycott, he said that none of the channels had been exhausted.

According to Dean of Women Marjorie C. Smith, "to the knowledge of university administrators, there has not been any meeting of the Graham Hall council."

It was indicated that this council is the ideal place for students on the Mount to air their complaints on food service. Representatives to the council are regularly elected from each floor, and are supposed to air the complaints.

The 29 demands for improvement in food service were according to Wingate, not unreasonable. In fact, he stated, most of them could easily have been ironed out.

One of the demands was the one which stated that food service women should wear hair nets. Wingate pointed out that they are required to wear the nets, but there are always some who "forget" or who think they are "unbecoming" and will try

(Continued on page 5)

D. C. Seminar To Reconvene

An opportunity to study government in action will be offered to students participating in the "Washington Seminar" sponsored by the Maxwell School of Citizenship at Syracuse University.

The seminar will be held in Washington, D. C., June 8-26.

Group interviews with government officials will be held daily throughout the three-week period. Opportunities will be available to meet and question representatives, party and interest-group spokesmen and correspondents.

Staff members from the Maxwell School will conduct regular seminar sessions to brief students on the role of the officials being visited.

In addition, visits to historical points of interest in the Washington area are being planned.

55% Reply

Food Service Results Told

By JULIAN LOUBE

Results of the food service survey were released Friday by Marshall Sneirson, chairman of the Joint Student Legislature food service committee.

Sneirson said that results of the survey are being turned over to the student leaders who will be negotiating food service issues with the administration.

The survey was approved by the director of food service. It was indicated that food service would comply with the indications of the survey if the results were "rational."

The survey was made available to 4,600 students who eat in food service dining halls.

Answers were received from 2,513 students or about 55 per cent of the questionnaires.

Each questionnaire listed 51 possible main courses for food service dinners. Many of the meals had been served, but a few, such as lobster tails, had not appeared in dining halls at the time of the survey.

Students were asked to check one of three choices for each meal listed. Numbered "1, 2, and 3," the categories were "like, eat but do not enjoy, and dislike."

Leading the list of "likes" was roast beef of sirloin which received 2,054 votes and grilled steak, 2,033. Close behind were fried chicken, breast of chicken, and roast turkey.

Other foods totaling more than 50 per cent "likes" included pot roast of beef, grilled lamb chops, meat loaf, spaghetti and meat balls, quick steak, fried shrimp, and lobster tail. A total of 22 meals received over 1,000 checks in the like column.

Only three meals, grilled liver, baked liver, and fresh sausage patties, received over 50 per cent of the "dislike" votes. Grilled liver led the list with 1,116 rejections.

Ten other meals were given more than one thousand "dislikes." The list included roast veal, meat balls, veal paprika, stuffed green peppers, chicken loaf, chicken croquettes, hungarian goulash, scallops, stuffed veal roll, and smoked link sausage.

The survey indicated 29 meals that would either be "disliked" or "not enjoyed" and only 22 that would be "liked."

Snow Sculpture

Snow sculptures were the rule over the weekend, and this one by Acacia fraternity received an honorable mention citation in the annual competition, won by Delta Gamma and Phi Alpha.

Acacia's sculpture depicted a German made automobile on one side of the "Berlin Wall," separated from a Soviet Union hammer and sickle.

Miss Piirak Named SU's Winter Queen

Syracuse's first snowy Winter Weekend in recent years was highlighted Friday by the naming of Ene Piirak, a sophomore in the School of Nursing, as weekend queen.

Miss Piirak, a Syracuse resident, was nominated by Delta Gamma sorority. Her court was composed of Leslie Swartz, Melinda Tantleff, Sandra Hafer and Peggy Martin. Miss Piirak was crowned at the Friday evening Stockingfoot dance at Drumlins.

DG also copped first place honors in the snow sculpture competition, teaming up with Phi Alpha fraternity for "Freedom and Peace Go Hand in Hand."

Second place honors went to Delta Phi Epsilon sorority and (Continued on page 5)

ENE PIIRAK

Stand Firm, JSG

Student leaders and Syracuse University officials will meet this week to discuss the food service conditions that led to the boycotting of the dining halls last week by 3,300 students.

It will be the function of the food service officials and university administrators to expound upon the published objectives of food service: Good, wholesome food, well prepared and attractively served; attractive dining areas; courteous, friendly service; special holiday menus; consideration of the food preferences of the majority of students; good sanitary procedures, and alertness for improvement of food and service.

Student Government, on the other hand, will be bargaining for the correction of the major complaints against food service — the food and the service.

Student leaders will demonstrate that food service officials did not give consideration to the food preferences of the majority of students, when the student food preference survey was virtually ignored.

The meeting of the minds can have beneficial effects if the student leaders remember that they are representing the students and not just glorifying themselves.

Student leaders must be prepared to seek as many concessions as are justified. They must not take token revisions.

We Get...

"Please don't print my name — its too near exams."

"Please don't print my name — my roommate threatened to beat me up if I sent this to you."

"Please don't print my name — my girl said she'd leave me if I wrote this letter."

All these statements, although a little far fetched, appear every day on letters received by the Daily Orange. They all affirm, "I've got something that I want to talk about but I haven't got the courage of my convictions."

The disease — cowardice or whatever — seemed rather prevalent among the students of Syracuse University, especially when speaking out on university policy.

Every day, letters arrive at the Daily Orange with-out names, with pseudonyms or have requested that names be withheld, if the letter is published.

Recognizing that there are occasional reasons for withholding names, we publish the letters. But a policy of not printing unsigned letters, must be maintained for the greater part of letters to the Editor.

Among the anonymous letters received here had been a person not liking our sports coverage, since his best friend was not mentioned in the copy. One didn't like the food in university dormitory, but did not see the picket or boycott to be the answer. One mother didn't approve of the Greek system and saw no reason for the university to uphold such a decrepit system.

And colorful comments have been received from "Disgusted Students," "Disillusioned Greeks," "Socrates," and "Johannes Cimaeus."

There have also been graduate students who have disagreed with the teachings of professors, but failed to sign their names for fear of losing possible assistantships.

The failure to type letters and the failure of the writers to have the courage to sign these letters are not indicative of the courage shown by the many who do sign letters and write good ones.

Some of these unsigned letters may be amusing, but the implications are a bit tragic. It's almost as though students pens go dry as their courage runs out.

Boycott

To the Editor:

How often have many of us thought that CORE would gain their objectives quicker if they would pursue constructive plans rather than create civil disorder through pickets and the resulting arrests. Well, the student body at Syracuse University is acting just as ridiculous.

Boycotting the dining halls is the worst possible solution to the food service problem. JSL was created in order to convey to the administration the students feelings on particular subjects. These communications should be carried out in a constructive manner whereby the student body will be working with the administration towards solving the problem. By being obstinate, which the boycott illustrates, it clearly works against the effectiveness of JSL.

Mr. Snierson has taken a survey and proposed suggestions to food service from the results he received. When he was refused, he chose to act upon impulse and rebel rather than work through the co-operation of student government and the administration. The legislature has acted too quickly and I suggest that Mr. Litwin sit back a moment and try to remember just what J.S.L. represents.

The only thing that has saved the student government from a complete collapse of effectiveness in the administration's eyes is Mr. Morris' commendable statement that this action only represented those feelings of a minor segment of the government, and its actions were not sanctioned by the executive branch.

Someone once said "a chain is only as strong as its weakest link." If this applies to student government I suggest that Messrs. Snierson and Litwin grow up and face their responsibilities to the student body.

Name Withheld.

Pickets

To the Editor:

Congratulations to those students who dared to disregard the jeers, the profanity and even the physical obstruction that characterized the actions of certain pickets at Sadler Dormitory Thursday night. I, for one, was met with harassments and crude remarks when, with another student, I attempted to walk through a barrier of pickets, sitting in chairs in front of the dining hall entrance.

Fortunately, however, the students who exercised their right to eat in Sadler were more responsible than this reckless mob and no violence resulted either in this case or, as far as I know, in any other.

Of course, it never occurred to JSL that incidents such as this would result when, in the DO, they "requested" all those diverse elements of our university population to march on the dining halls to "demonstrate their grievances," no matter what they were.

LETTERS

Such irresponsibility is certainly without equal in recent JSL history. It should not be the function of JSL to create such an explosive atmosphere as was in evidence last Thursday evening.

Further, it seems to me that such a boycott, if there is to be one, should not be enforced on the student by the intimidations of a mob. There were many students at Sadler who did not have dinner solely because they wished to avoid the choruses of boos and harassments that awaited each "individual" who dared to cross the lines.

Why could they not all assemble in front of Ross Moriarty's or Dean Carleton's office and do their booing?

Rather, "such a boycott should be on a completely voluntary basis or, if there need be pickets, they should be organized and responsible. Mobs tend to attract trouble makers."

As for me, I agree with JSG president James Morris' contention that such action is premature and may, as he says, be "detrimental to any progress." But surely when any recommendation of JSL is allowed to develop into an ugly and childish disregard of individual rights, may we not wonder if this inclination is solely a product of racial bias.

William G. Duffy,
Class of '65.

Morality

To the Editor:

Charles Steinberg's "S. U. Morality" is the latest of a long line of articles appearing in the Daily Orange that take a critical attitude toward S.U. athletes and the university's athletic policy.

Mr. Steinberg's naivete in coming to Syracuse University, if he was looking for an "intellectual haven," is surpassed only by his naivete in regards to his understanding of the athletic philosophy of the Ivy League schools.

This Ivy League philosophy prevents the offering of athletic scholarships as such, however, no one who has had experience with Ivy League schools - from Harvard to University of Pennsylvania - would deny that these schools give grant-in-aids to athletes.

Although the amount of the grant is determined by the individual's need, the distribution is based solely on athletic ability, (assuming, of course, the minimum scholastic requirements are met).

Mr. Steinberg's article also implies that Syracuse University alumni play an active role in "dispensing favors" upon S.U. athletes. I'm sure that he had not talked to his "S.U. athletic friends" when he set the Ivy League as an example for Syracuse University to emulate.

The average Ivy League alumnus tends to be wealthier than his S.U. counterpart. I do not know if he has the same "self-ego identification" need Mr. Steinberg claims the S.U. alumnus has, but he lavishly spends his excess wealth on future Ivy League "grid-iron heroes."

Thus far I have begged the issue, since Mr. Steinberg's article attacks "S.U. Morality" and he only inadvertently (as most Syracuse "intellectuals" do, I might add) set the Ivy League schools on a pedestal for us to admire.

One can tenaciously argue that any pursuits extraneous to strictly intellectual activities have no place in a university. St. Johns, the University of Chicago, and possibly a few other schools in the United States adhere to the preceding policy.

The majority of outstanding American universities, however, have attained their acclaim not by limiting their desire for excellence to the classroom, but extending it to all extra-curricular activities, not always nationally recognized for it's athletic teams; and it was only through the most important, the individual athletes that S.U. was able to attain it's present status.

It is interesting to ponder what the academic standing of Syracuse would be if the "intellectual set" spent more time on academic pursuits in their respective fields, and less time complaining about how the S.U. "atmosphere" stifles them.

Finally, it should be remembered that Manley Fieldhouse is a consequent of the antecedent cause, (S.U. winning a national football championship). When S.U. students, and faculty distinguish themselves in academic pursuits to the degree that the athletic teams have distinguished themselves, then they, too, will enjoy their just rewards.

John V. Scott.

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2

February 24, 1964

Editor-in-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor Clayton F. Richards
News Editor Andrew Forte
Editorial Director Adair Dufine
Sports Editor Bernard MacCallum
Arts Editor Rea Turek
Photography Editor Steve Schwimmer
National Adv. Mer. Lynn Mandel
Classified Mer. Christine Sedziak
Promotion Mer. Stu Sharfio

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 200 Brooklyn Drive Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter a 10. S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

TREVER ON CAMPUS

Singers to Perform for SU Folk Festival

Roger Sprung

From Mar. 20 to Mar. 22 Syracuse University will be the scene of its second annual folk festival.

The Festival will include two formal concerts at the Manley Field House, and a round-robin of informal concerts, hootenannies, seminars and workshops.

The participants in the formal concerts include Jean Ritchie, The Greenbriar Boys, Rev. Gary Davis, Gil Turner, the Shanty Boys, Roger Sprung and the All Night Singers.

The master of ceremonies for the event will be Jerry Silverman, author, musicologist and performer.

Folk groups from the campus are urged to enter the informal sessions, as there will be a talent search for promising amateur performers to be careers through recording auditions and nightclub appearances.

Last year's folk festival was awarded a commendation by the Reader's Digest and the National Retail Merchants Association as an outstanding community service by a retail store.

Advance tickets are on sale at the Bookstore for $2. After March 18, tickets will rise to $2.50.

Rev. Gary Davis

Jean Ritchie

Daily Crossword Puzzle

- ACROSS
1 Bathers.
7 Subjoin.
13 Mid-East country.
14 One expressing audible contempt.
15 Galli-Curci.
16 Capped, as a mushroom.
17 Whimpered.
18 Planet discovered in 1930.
20 Pounds, shillings, pence.
21 Ready: Fr.
22 In running order.
24 Public road.
26 Passageway.
30 Watering place.
33 Boathouse gear.
34 Skull part.
35 Foreign Service officers.
37 Sneaky coward.
39 Ludicrous.
40 — majesty.
41 Kildare, Casey, etc.
42 Under: Poet.
43 Compulsion.
45 Biblical land.
- DOWN
47 Pound down.
51 Kinsman.
54 Baseball teams.
55 Generous act.
56 Foot pedal.
58 Resemble.
60 Comes into view.
61 Bags.
62 Clergyman.
63 Chooses.
1 Monkey's cousin.
2 White poplar.
3 Hotel employees.
4 Lady of Camelot.
5 Rubbish!
6 Food fish of warm seas.
7 Santa — Handicap.
8 Slow-tempo dances.
9 Before: Prefix.
10 Useful Latin abbreviation.
11 Seines.
12 — Scott.
13 European.
14 Sudden spell of activity.
- 19 Sediment.
22 By word of mouth.
23 Delicate color.
25 Precarious state of affairs: 3 words.
27 Mongkut's land.
28 Title.
29 Concludes.
30 Determines the rhythm of.
31 Cornbread.
32 Architectural pier.
36 Convenes.
37 Ridiculing.
38 Cruising.
40 Artificial bait.
43 Hamlet and others.
44 Noise of a sort.
46 Track contestant.
48 Stop!: Naut.
49 Specks of dust.
50 President: Abbr.
51 Degree.
52 Broadway heroine.
53 Symbols of industry.
55 Move in a line.
57 Poetic verb form.
59 — de mer.

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

The Shanty Boys

	1	2	3	4	5	6		7	8	9	10	11	12
13								14
15								16
17						18	19				20
21					22					23
			24	25					26		27	28	29
30	31	32		33					34
35			36					37	38
39								40				41
42						43				44
			45		46					47	48	49	50
51	52	53		54						55
56			57					58	59
60								61
62								63

Root Leads Discussion

Dr. Robert W. Root, associate professor of journalism and head of SU's religious journalism program, will lead a discussion of the program for the Fellowship of Religious Journalists at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

FORJ, open to all students interested in religious journalism, will meet at the home of

Goldwater Club Formed at SU

A Syracuse University chapter of the National Students for Goldwater Committee was formed last week.

The meeting dealt with the development of a system for membership.

The objective of the group is to interpret and promote Senator Goldwater's philosophies.

The next meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m., March 4, in 105 Bowne Hall. Officers will be elected at this time and a specific program will be set up.

New Method Topic of Prof

A new approach to the study of business law is presented in a recently published book by a Syracuse University professor.

Prof. William Zelermeyer, chairman of the business law department, is author of the book, "Introduction to Business Law: A Conceptual Approach."

The book is being used in an introductory business law course which is being given for the first time this semester.

Other books written by Prof. Zelermeyer include: "Invasion of Privacy," "The Evolutionary Process of Law" and "The Process of Legal Reasoning."

A member of the New York Bar, Prof. Zelermeyer has practiced law in Buffalo.

TODAY
4 p. m. WAA volleyball, gym B.
5:05 p. m. Lutheran daily devotion, choral vespers, north wing, Hendricks Chapel.
7:30 p. m. "Aspects of Johnson's Administration" panel discussion, recreation room, Das Hall.
7:30 p. m. Confirmation instruction, Chapel House. Those interested in becoming communicants of the Episcopal Church should attend. For information, call ext. 2062.
7:30 p. m. Anthropology Club, Founders Room, Maxwell. James Downs, assistant anthropology professor at the University of Rochester, will discuss "Nomadism and Animal Husbandry."
8:30 p. m. Graduate seminar, St. Thomas More chapel. Discussion of the Broadway play, "Father."
9 p. m. Lambda Sigma Sigma, Phi Sigma Sigma.
TUESDAY
4 p. m. American Association of University Professors, Founders Room, Maxwell. All members are urged to attend.
4:30 p. m. Footprints, 102 Maxwell.
6 p. m. Gamma Sigma Sigma, national service society, organizational meeting, third floor, men's gym. All interested should attend. Use side entrance.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

A	C	T	U	P	A	G	H	I	A	S	F	S
P	A	R	C	A	C	A	E	N	B	O	O	T
E	V	I	L	I	S	A	Z	I	O	V	J	O	U	R
P	A	B	A	T	D	A	N	E	I	T	R	E
I	T	U	U	S	L	L	I	C	H	I	S
T	I	N	E	A	H	E	I	G	H	T	E	N	S
I	N	A	R	M	A	N	G	L	E	T	S
F	A	L	L	O	U	I	S	H	E	L	T	E	R	S
C	O	N	C	U	T	M	A	N	E	T
C	O	M	A	N	C	H	E	S	M	A	R	E	T
A	R	O	S	T	L	E	S	P	A	M
S	O	N	S	T	E	R	G	S	C	A	V	I	L
B	R	I	E	S	T	R	E	I	N	A	N	E
A	T	T	E	N	A	T	I	O	N	T	E	T	I	E	S
H	O	S	T	I	N	S	G	I	T	E	M	E	R	S

Arts Prof

Gives Talk

Miss Helen Williams, Associate Professor of Arts and Crafts, presented a lecture on "Design for Crafts" Wednesday, February 12 at the Craftsman Guild of Syracuse.

She discussed the design requirements of woodworking and carving, enameling, metalworking and jewelry, applique and weaving.

Arnold to Direct Program

Prof. Edmund C. Arnold, chairman of the graphic arts and publishing department of the School of Journalism, will direct a three-week seminar for high school journalism teachers beginning Aug. 3, 1964.

The seminar will be supported by grants from the Wall Street Journal and will offer instruction in the areas of teaching of journalism, production of publications and advising students on career opportunities.

ing students on career oppor-

This is the third consecutive year that the SU journalism the seminar. Approximately $4,500 will be made available to 500 will be made available to the school for the program.

FOOTPRINTS

March 11-12-13

ATTENTION PRE-MEDS!

PRESENTING THE NIKON SERIES S MICROSCOPE

NIKON SBR

Featuring the same superb lens quality found in the world-famous Nikon camera. The brightness of field, the almost incredible image resolution so characteristic of Nikon optics, and the visual comfort and ease are apparent the moment a slide is placed on the stage, and the scope is brought into focus.

Mechanically, the Nikon Series S is a rugged unit, designed to perform with high accuracy under constant use and handling. Its design not only incorporates every facility for ease and convenience of operation—but also offers remarkable versatility. Because of the ready interchangeability of its attachments and parts, the Medical student who owns a Nikon Series S will never 'outgrow' it. One can switch eyepiece tubes, stages, illuminators, condensers and lenses—as well as draw upon a wide variety of accessories—to fit the microscope for virtually every application. It can be equipped to fit one set of needs today, and then by interchanging a number of its parts, or adding attachments, meet any need that may arise tomorrow.

SPECIFICATIONS MODEL SBR

- ★ Binocular body, inclined 45°, rotatable 360°; graduated interpupillary adjustment; right eyepiece tube has provision for individual diopter adjustment.
- ★ Quadruple revolving nosepiece; ball bearing; dust-proof. Provision is made on upper surface of nosepiece to indicate magnification of objective in use..
- ★ Large, rectangular, built in graduated mechanical stage with low-positioned coaxial drives; complete stage can be rotated for right or left hand use.
- ★ Convenient low-positioned coarse and fine focusing controls; coarse focus knob has pre-set device to prevent damage to slide or objective. Fine focus motion is graduated in two micron increments. Ease of focusing movement is adjustable to individual preference.
- ★ Four parfocal achromatic objectives:
 - 4xn.a. 0.1;
 - 10xn.a. 0.25;
 - 40xn.a. 0.65;
 - 100x(oil)n.a. 1.25
- ★ Paired wide-field compensating 10x eyepieces, adjustable for low or high eyepoint, assures convenience of use with or without spectacles.
- ★ Abbe condenser n.a. 1.25 in focusing mount, equipped with oblique illumination device.
- ★ Plano-concave mirror in fork mount.
- ★ Substage lamp, 110 volt, 20 watt; attachable to base in place of mirror mount.
- ★ All air-glass surfaces are anti-reflection coated with a hard magnesium fluoride coating.
- ★ All Medical Student Microscopes are supplied with Immersion Oil, lens tissue, fitted polished hardwood cabinet with lock and key, and accessory compartment; flexible vinyl dust cover; two spare bulbs, two filters, stage clips, slide adapter plate, plastic eyepiece caps for spectacle wearers, and instruction manual.

COME IN FOR A FREE DEMONSTRATION MEDICAL CENTER BOOKSTORE

766 IRVING AVE

LOCATED IN THE LOWER LEVEL OF THE COLLEGE OF MEDICINE

S. U. Bookstore Charge Accounts Welcome

Store Hours: 8-4, Monday to Friday

Building Interior Set

By RENEE BRAUN

Architect's plans are on the drawing board for the internal layout of the Newhouse Communications Center now under construction. Many changes will be featured in the library, photography and news labs.

The library will be located on two floors. The upper level will house the current newspapers and magazines as well as the reserve books. The lower level will shelve 10,000 books. The present library has 5,000 volumes. In addition, newspapers for the previous three months will be stored here.

Marble and glass topped tables and easy chairs will be the decor of the upper level. On the lower level, the seating arrangement will be in a form of individual carrels. The chairs will be black and the carpeting will be burnt orange. The lower level will have no outside light but will be air conditioned. The upper level will be glass enclosed and will open onto a patio.

According to Miss Evelyn Smith, librarian of the School of Journalism, the real improvements will be in the space for books and newspapers. Because of the added space, Miss Smith hopes to obtain more foreign newspapers.

The major change in the photography labs will be the addition of a printing room. This will enable the instructors to use one for basic printing and the other for advanced printing. The instructional dark room will eventually have a closed circuit television circuit to facilitate teaching.

Most of the equipment in the photography labs will come from the old building. There will be new sinks and an automatic built in automatic color processor.

There will be a great improvement in the design of the labs, but very little additional space, according to Thomas Richards, instructor of photography. Richards stated that he doubted "if the work of the students would improve one percent overnight."

There will be two news labs, and editing and reporting rooms. The reporting room will have special desks, all facing in one direction. Each desk will have a typewriter and telephones. On these telephones the students will be able to speak on outside lines, as well as in class to other students. The telephones will also connect with a loud speaker system so that people will be able to hear speakers in other parts of the building. The phones will be operated from a switchboard located in a small room off the lab.

Projection equipment, an overhead projector and a machine to make transparencies will also be located in the room. A bulletin board, storage space and a place to hang coats will also be included in the plans for the news lab.

The editing room will have two moveable tables and a separate teletype room. There will be additional tables along the side and a pasting table for photo off sets.

The new labs, Prof. Robert Murphy believes, will constitute a more workable area for news and magazine production.

Swimming

Hill swimmer ROBER ELLENBERGER prepares to take off before a race Saturday against Colgate. Ellenberger, a junior, has been one of the mainstays on Coach Ted Webster's mermen. The Hillmen bowed to Colgate, 65-30, and hope to get back on the winning track against Cortland on Wednesday.

AWS Announces Elections System

The Association of Women Students is using a new system of balloting for the spring elections of officers to fill the positions of president, vice-president, dorm council chairman, and all-over guide chairman.

The purpose of the new system is to combat the problem of classes interfering with coeds' voting. Previously, voting booths were set up in H. B. Crouse and Maxwell Halls, but women students often found it difficult to vote during the day.

In an attempt to remedy the problem, AWS is holding its elections during house meetings at 10 p.m. Sunday, March 15.

The required number of ballots for each living center will be distributed early Sunday evening to the president of each living center. Coeds will vote during the 10 p.m. meeting and shortly afterwards. The ballots will be collected by a volunteer group of house presidents and vice presidents.

In order to facilitate this, the campus has been divided up into areas and the volunteers will be assigned to the various areas.

By 11:30 p.m. all ballots will be brought to the AWS office to be counted. To give city students an opportunity to vote, a booth will be set up in Slocum on Monday, March 16, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Final tally will be made late Monday afternoon and the results will appear in the Daily Orange on Tuesday, March 17.

Asian Students Form Group

South Asian students desiring "intellectual discussions with American students" have organized the South Asian Students Association at Syracuse University.

Announcement of the formation was made by Dr. Irving Swerdlow, director of the Center for Overseas Operations and Research, Maxwell Graduate School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, Syracuse University.

Three students Arun Shourie, Pakistan; Tariq Siddiqi, India, and Allen Fanger, Boston, Mass., organized the group. Students interested in South Asian affairs will meet twice monthly for informal meetings, Swerdlow said.

GIANT SLALOM

Place	Name, School	Time
1.	LaFountain, Buffalo	48.6
2.	Thoreson, Syracuse	48.8
3.	Lyons, Syracuse	51.0
4.	Thorndike, P. Smiths	51.5
5.	Menotti, Syracuse	51.8
6.	Wessel, MIT	51.95
7.	Spera, Buffalo	52.0
8.	Weisman, Cornell	52.2
9.	Barton, Buffalo	52.9
10.	Davenport, Cornell	53.2

SLALOM

Place	Name, School	Time
1.	Lyons, Syracuse	54.3

Advertising Copywriter

MALE or FEMALE

Career Opportunity for young person to learn while working in an accredited, highly creative Syracuse Agency.

Broadcast and Print

Write: Box 100
DAILY ORANGE

2.	Clements, Swarthmore	54.4
3.	Weismann, Cornell	54.7
4.	Thoreson, Syracuse	55.4
5.	Smith, Cornell	57.7
6.	Johnston, Colgate	59.0
7.	Kehler, MIT	59.2
8.	McClallen, S. Michael's	59.6
9.	Bramwell, P. Smiths	59.75
10.	Pietsch, Army	59.8

WINNER!

"BEST PICTURE OF THE YEAR!"
"BEST ACTORY!"
Albert Finney
"BEST DIRECTORY!"
Tony Richardson
—New York Film Critics Award

The whole world loves
Tom Jones!

LAST WEEK IN
ALBERT FINNEY/SUSAN WATSON
CONTINUOUS SHOWING! NO RESERVED SEATS!
NOW A Schine Theatre ECKEL

Forester Attends Meeting

Associate Dean Edwin C. Jahn of the State University College of Forestry at Syracuse University will lead the Syracuse delegation to the 1963 annual national meeting of the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry (TAPPI) at the Commodore Hotel, N. Y. City.

Other members of the college's faculty and research staff taking part in the meeting which starts today and ends Friday are: Prof. Frederic W. O'Neil, chairman of the Pulp and Paper Technology Department, and a member of the Executive Committee of TAPPI; Prof. Bengt Leopold, director of the Empire State Paper Research Institute; and Profs. Frank Lorey, Serge Gorbatshevich, Theodore Stenuf, Philip Luner, Renata Marton, Samuel Rothenberg and A. B. Iyer.

Food . . .

(Continued from page 1) to figure out how to "get away" with not wearing them.

Another of the demands called for the use of tablecloths every Sunday at dinner. The university has the tablecloths and might as well use them, Wingate said. There was a question, however, he noted, in the actual desire of the students in wanting the tablecloths.

"Some students like them, others feel that their use and maintenance is an unnecessary waste of money and still others burn holes in them," he stated.

The general atmosphere of his complaints on the "student complaints" was the same all the way down, with few exceptions.

The demands, he said are not unreasonable. Most of them could have been settled at low levels; those that couldn't be solved were due to the fact that their solutions depended on the efficiency of the people at food service who work behind the scenes.

An example of this type of complaint is that sometimes students find dirty silverware. "If any student could suggest a way to increase the efficiency of the employees who wash the silver, dishes and trays, I'd appreciate it," he said.

Fire . . .

(Continued from Page 1)

Price, not related to the professor, theorized Mrs. Price collapsed while trying to escape from her second floor bedroom.

Services will be held at 11 a. m. Tuesday in DeWitt Community Church. Burial will be in Oakwood Cemetery.

Friends may call from 3 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. today at Fairchild & Meech DeWitt Funeral Chapel, 4810 Erie Blvd. East.

Weekend . . .

(Continued from Page 1)

Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity with "Solving the Riddle of Man." Whitman Cottage received third place honors, while honorable mention awards were given to Acacia fraternity, Alpha Chi Rho fraternity and Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

All sculptures were molded around the weekend theme, "International Snowtime."

SECOND ANNUAL SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY

FOLK FESTIVAL

MARCH 20, 21, 22, 1964

AN EXCITING ROUND-ROBIN OF CONCERTS, HOOTENANNIES, SEMINARS, WORKSHOPS, CLINICS, AND TALENT COMPETITION

—FEATURING AMERICA'S FINEST FOLK ARTISTS—

DOC WATSON

JEAN RITCHIE

THE GREENBRIAR BOYS

REV. GARY DAVIS

GIL TURNER

ROGER SPRUNG

THE SHANTY BOYS

THE ALL-NIGHT SINGERS

AND MANY OTHERS.

YOUR FESTIVAL HOST

JERRY SILVERMAN

AUTHOR, PERFORMER, MUSICOLOGIST, ASSOCIATE EDITOR OF SING OUT

GENERAL ADMISSION TICKET FOR ENTIRE FESTIVAL $2.50

SPECIAL ADVANCED SALE - TO MARCH 18 ONLY - $2.00

FESTIVAL SPONSORED BY

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY
BOOKSTORES

FESTIVAL HEADQUARTERS

CORNER BOOKSTORE MUSIC DEPARTMENT
943 SO. CROUSE AVE. SYRACUSE, N.Y. 13210
PHONE 476-5571 EX 2008

TICKETS AND FULL INFORMATION AVAILABLE AT FESTIVAL HEADQUARTERS
AND AT FAMOUS ARTISTS TICKET OFFICE - CLARK MUSIC BLDG., SALINA ST.

100 LP RECORDS -- GUITARS -- SONG BOOKS WILL BE GIVEN AWAY

Hill Research

Foreign Aid Waste Sought

Some scholars at Syracuse University are trying to save the taxpayer money.

They are busily researching administration procedures in operation of foreign assistance; in effect, "how"—not "what"—technology goes from the more advanced nations to the recipient ones.

"In many cases foreign financial assistance to underdeveloped countries has been conditional on specific administrative and organizational changes," according to Prof. John Lindeman, project director of the research in this area for the university's Center for Overseas Operations and Research of the Maxwell Graduate School of Citizenship and Public Affairs. "Obviously, poor planning, poor management and poor direction of operations will result in poor use of loans or other assistance to the lesser developed countries."

The SU scholars are not only interested in finding poor policies and procedures which waste loan and grant dollars, but they're also going to recommend better policies.

Main research into this sophisticated approach to foreign assistance is being done out of a converted private home facing the College Place main entrance to the campus. Although the center is part of the Maxwell School, Dr. Irving Swerdlow, director, pointed out that "we are trying to bring to bear a number of Syracuse University sources into these projects."

A January progress report, in fact, indicated work was being done on various aspects of the projects by such diverse departments in the university as economics, business, political science and education.

Although the whole study is done on the administrative procedures of foreign assistance, individual studies are organized around a particular aid program.

The Overseas Center currently is delving into several aspects of technical assistance. For example, the major study has particular emphasis on administration of technical assistance in agriculture, while another is on loans and grants to underdeveloped countries for transportation facilities.

The studies are underwritten by funds totaling nearly half a million dollars from the Agency for International Development—an arm of the U.S. State Department—the Ford Foundation and the Brookings Institution.

By far the largest study concerns the collective magnifying glass being placed by the SU academicians on the methods of diffusion of U.S. agricultural technology to other countries.

"Agriculture was chosen as the focus for the study because it is dominant in the technical assistance program of the United States, the United Nations through the Food and Agriculture Organization, private foundations and other donors," Lindeman said.

The report amplified this point. "The broad range of technical assistance in agriculture offers an insight into many other substantive areas and thus adds to the possibility of generalized conclusions as to the effect of different administrative practices in the fields, for example, of education (extension services) or of monetary management (agricultural credit).

The transportation investigation will also be used to test the proposition that conclusions can be generalized," Lindeman said.

Much of the work on the transportation study is being done by many of the same researchers as the larger agricultural study, he pointed out.

"We believe concurrent work on the several projects and assignment of common staff enriches each of them and at the same time permits an advantageous stretching of budgets," he added.

SU's task force starts with the premise that, while qualified observers agree the technical assistance program has—on the whole—been a success, there is considerable room for improvement. The goal of research is to keep perfecting.

These researchers are seeking answers to gladden the heart of the tax-paying public: to get more effective results from the amount of money and manpower put into efforts of foreign assistance.

The task force's point of attack is on the administrative complex because, as Swerdlow and Lindeman agreed, "there are clear indications many of the major impediments to optimum results from technical assistance programs can often be traced to poor administrative practices."

Breadth of the administrative procedure under study is wide—it encompasses all major policies and actions affecting programming and implementation of foreign assistance, whether these occur at the headquarters of the donor (AID, UN, or Foundation), or at field offices, in arrangements between or among donor agencies and countries at various government levels in recipient countries.

It's a big order. But it's being handled with big brains and a big bankroll. And the answer can mean big savings for that generous American taxpayer—and the causes for which his money goes: the spread of technology to make the whole world a better place for an increasing number of people.

Dorm Joins Greek Hosts CAP Party

Dellplain Hall will affiliate with the Campus Alliance Party, it was announced Thursday by Bill Weller, president of the Dellplain dorm council.

The vote was taken in the dormitory after a debate Tuesday between Bill Gedalecia, CAP president and Sigmund Sugarman, president of the United Students party.

The final totals were 159 for CAP, 47 for US, and 14 with no opinion. There are 350 independent upperclassmen in the dormitory.

According to Weller, dormitory representatives will attend their first CAP meeting Tuesday. Delegates will be elected according to the constitution of the party and approved by the dorm council.

Greek Hosts Students

Fraternities and sororities will host international students for dinner Thursday, March 5, as part of the activities of the annual International Week on campus.

Greek houses who wish to participate should call Mrs. Virginia Torelli, international student secretary, ext. 2457, before Friday to obtain the names of students who would like to be invited to dinner.

Any international student wishing to participate should turn in his name to Mrs. Torelli.

The dinners are being organized by the International Student Guides.

CIVIL RIGHTS AT FOOTPRINTS

SPECIAL FOR GRINDS AND SWINGERS!

WORLD FAMOUS GRUNDIG PORTABLE

TAPE RECORDER

Nationally Advertised at $129.95

NOW $59.50

postpaid, less batteries & tape

Tapes lectures, field trips, concerts, debates, speech and language classes, party fun! Quality built in W. Germany. Flashlight battery operated, all-transistor recorder has simplified controls, microphone, 8 hrs., 12" long, takes std. 3" reels, std. 3 1/2 ips speed, has recording level and color, powerful self-contained "Super-Phonic" speaker. Built into white leatherette carrying case.

10 DAY MONEY BACK SATISFACTION GUARANTEE!

PPP, Inc., Dept. GS, 18 Central Park Ave., Hartsdale, N.Y.

Enclosed is my check or money order:

Send me _____ recorders—each $59.50 postpaid.

□ Separate Power Pack for plug-in AC operation $9.50 ea.

SAVE on 3" reels of tape... ea. $40. _____ reels $_____

NAME _____

ADDRESS _____

CITY _____

ZONE _____

STATE _____

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS • PHYSICISTS

Norden will be on campus...

MARCH 4

Graduating Electrical Engineers and Physicists are invited to discuss current openings in research, design, development and manufacturing in areas such as:

Fire Control Systems
Radar Systems
Data Processing Equipment
Inertial Guidance Systems
Television Systems
Aircraft Instrumentation
Navigation Systems
Precision Components Solid State Devices

U. S. Citizenship Required. Norden's location in Norwalk, Connecticut is easily accessible to the entire New York metropolitan area.

For convenient appointment, please make arrangements in advance through your Placement Office.

Norden

U
A

DIVISION OF UNITED AIRCRAFT CORP.

An Equal Opportunity Employer

TOMORROW

Shakespeare

Film Series

"TWELFTH NIGHT"

(Russia)

Tickets, 75c

Tuesday Evenings
Two Showings
7 and 9 p.m.

University
REGENT
Theatre

820 EAST GENESEE

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "Rally Round the Flag, Boys!" and "Barefoot Boy With Check.")

EVOL SPELLED BACKWARDS IS LOVE

They met. His heart leapt. "I love you!" he cried.

"Me too, hey!" she cried.

"Tell me," he cried, "are you a girl of expensive tastes?"

"No, hey," she cried. "I am a girl of simple tastes."

"Good," he cried, "for my cruel father sends me an allowance barely large enough to support life."

"Money does not matter to me," she cried. "My tastes are simple; my wants are few. Just take me riding in a long, new, yellow convertible and I am content."

"Goodbye," he cried, and ran away as fast as his little stumpy legs would carry him, for he had no yellow convertible, nor the money to buy one, nor the means to get the money—short of picking up his stingy father by the ankles and shaking him till his wallet fell out.

"I am clean and fresh and relaxing," she admitted

He knew he must forget this girl, but lying on his pallet at the dormitory, whimpering and moaning, he knew he could not.

At last an idea came to him: though he did not have the money to buy a convertible, perhaps he had enough to rent one!

Hope reborn, he rushed on his little stumpy legs (curious to tell, he was six feet tall, but all his life he suffered from little stumpy legs) he rushed, I say, to an automobile rental company and rented a yellow convertible for $10 down plus ten cents a mile. Then, with many a laugh and cheer, he drove away to pick up the girl.

"Oh, bully!" she cried when she saw the car. "This suits my simple tastes to a 'T.' Come, let us speed over rolling highroads and through bosky dells."

Away they drove. All that day and night they drove and finally, tired but happy, they parked high on a wind-swept hill.

"Marlboro?" he said.

"Yum, yum," she said.

They lit their Marlboros. They puffed with deep contentment. "You know," he said, "you are like a Marlboro—clean and fresh and relaxing."

"Yes, I am clean and fresh and relaxing," she admitted. "But, all the same, there is a big difference between Marlboros and me, because I do not have an efficacious white Selectate filter."

They laughed. They kissed. He screamed.

"What is it, hey?" she asked, her attention aroused.

"Look at the speedometer," he said. "We have driven 200 miles, and this car costs ten cents a mile, and I have only $20 left."

"But that is exactly enough," she said.

"Yes," he said, "but we still have to drive home."

"Oh," she said. They fell into a profound gloom. He started the motor and backed out of the parking place.

"Hey, look!" she cried. "The speedometer doesn't move when you are backing up."

He looked. It was true. "Eureka!" he cried. "That solves my problem. I will drive home in reverse. Then no more miles will register on the speedometer and I will have enough money to pay!"

"I think that is a smashing idea," she said, and she was right. Because today our hero is in the county jail where food, clothing, and lodging are provided free of charge, and his allowance is piling up so fast that in two or three years he will have enough money to take his girl riding again.

© 1954 Max Shulman

Marlboro Cigarettes, good as they are, should not be smoked backwards. We, the makers of Marlboro, most earnestly urge you to light only the tobacco end. Otherwise your smoking pleasure will be substantially diminished.

Hootenanny Arriving At Manley March 20

A folk festival is coming to author, teacher and associate editor of "Sing-Out", a leading folk singing publication, is slated to be the festival host.

Silverman records for Folkways records and writes for Oak Publications.

Headquarters for the festival will be the music department of the Corner Store, 943 S. Crouse Ave. The store will sell tickets and also give festival packets containing schedules and maps to ticket holders. Those wishing to be eligible to win door prizes should register at the store and deposit their ticket stubs.

Tickets to the entire festival are $2.50. For those who wish to buy tickets for individual events, they may be purchased for the Friday night concert at $1.00 each, the Saturday night concert at $1.50 each and the Sunday matinee with Dock Watson at $1.00 each. Advance tickets are on sale now at the bookstore.

There will be a series of talent competitions for amateurs wishing help in folk music performing. In addition to prizes, winners will be offered appearances at a number of well-known clubs and coffee houses and on network television.

Workshops and seminars will be held during the festival for Beginner's Guitar, 12-String and Blues Guitar, 5-String Banjo, Mountain Dulcimer, Blue Grass Harmony, Repertoire, Topical Songs, etc. Receptions are also scheduled.

Jerry Silverman, performer

Prof Writes Nursing Book

A chemistry college text designed especially for nursing students has been written by a Syracuse University chemistry professor. Author of the book is Dr. Gerald F. Grillo, an instructor in chemistry for nurses on the hill since 1946.

The text integrates topics from the fields of inorganic chemistry, organic chemistry and biochemistry carefully selected for their application to the practice of nursing.

Written for students who have had no previous courses in chemistry, the text provides a practical background for understanding the chemistry involved in normal and abnormal functions of cells and tissues. The book also contains sufficient chemical arithmetic so that the student can understand hospital laboratory reports.

In addition to his teaching duties, Dr. Grillo is a corporate member and former president and board member of the New York State Registry of Medical Technologists.

Snow, Snow, Snow

Thought that the old Syracuse weather was going to give a break this year? Think again, because here it's on the ground one day and gone the next . . .

even though this time the quad looks as though it'll never see the great green carpet again. Take heart, kids, spring is only a month away!

Sophs Give $600 Award

The sophomore class has set up a $600 scholarship to be awarded to an outstanding member of the class of 1966. The announcement was made by Susan Heilbron, chairman of the class scholarship committee.

Money for the scholarship will be taken from the class' profits from Homecoming Weekend.

The award is to be used during the 1964-5 academic year. It may be applied to the winning student's tuition, room and board. Miss Heilbron emphasized that the university's normal procedure for scholarship awards will be followed with only one exception. All applicants for the sophomore class scholarship will also be judged on their participation in campus activities.

Applications are available in 307 Administration Bldg. All applicants will use standard university scholarship application forms. An additional activities sheet will be available for students interested in the sophomore award.

To be eligible, applicants must be able to establish sufficient financial need and have a 1.5 accumulative average. The applicant must also be a member of the Class of '66.

Sophomores who have already applied for financial aid must pick-up and fill-out the activities sheet if they wish to be considered for the special scholarship.

Deadline for applications will be Friday, April 3.

Beta Sig Wins Quiz

Beta Sigma Rho won "The Syraquiz" Thursday with 165 points. Alpha Chi Rho was the loser with 115 points.

Beta Sig's team was headed by Dick Gould, Irwin Rockman, Larry Haber, and Jeff Lazar.

Alpha Chi Rho's team members were Jim Bolger, Bob Ungerer, Bill Morehouse, and Ed Harcraft.

WAER Meets Today

The WAER staff will meet at 7 p. m. Tuesday, 108 Main Library, Bob Feldman, program director announced. All personnel including engineers must attend.

WAER 88.3 mc MONDAYS

- 4:00 Sun. Or. News, WAER Highlights
- 4:15 Experiment in Music
- 6:00 BBC World Report
- 6:15 Communique
- 6:30 Star Stone and the News
- 6:45 International Report
- 7:00 Syracuse 164 Drama Workshop
- 7:50 Challenges to Democracy
- 8:30 The 8:30 Report
- 8:35 Contemporary Scene
- 10:45 The Late Night Report
- 11:00 The Sounds of Jazz
- 12:15 Headlines and Sign Off

Riviera CINEMA
3115 SOUTH SALINA ST. - GR 8-4021

"ONE OF THE YEAR'S TEN BEST!"
"AN UPPER CLASS 'LA DOLCE VITA'"
-Time

the Easy Life
VITTORIO GASSMAN - CATHERINE SPAAK

THE CONCRETE JUNGLE AND STANLEY BAKER

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	$.85
2 days	1.65
3 days	3.15
4 days	2.40
5 days	3.85
6 days	5.20
7 days	4.55
8 days	5.85
9 days	6.45
10 days	7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Profab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.

GREYHOUND TICKETS, schedules, information, bus and air charters. Hotel reservations foreign tours. FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC. in the Savoy Monday-Friday 1-4; Thursday night 7-9 476-8533.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired, Rented, Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-8833. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

ACCELERATED 5 lesson course, specializing in parking, traffic, road test. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-3451.

ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lillian M. Potter 207 Comstock Ave. GR 8-5847.

TO BUY OR SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN. Sparke Motors, 1000 Hiawatha Blvd. W., 474-6007, is the place.

LAVALIERS. $2.75. Wedding, Shower, Baby gifts. Riviera sunglasses, watch and jewelry repairs. Ruth's Gifts, 734 South Crouse.

FOR SALE

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of four colors of paper, three colors of ink, two sizes of sheets. Booktail.

MAN'S HANDSOME flat top desk 6' X 36", walnut, a basket and telephone stand to match. Call GR 2-4264.

1961 VW Sedan with sunroof. Original owner. Call 472-5380.

'59 CHEVY BELAIR, four door, fuel injection, 3-speed, other extras. Good condition, make offer. Call 476-3357.

TWO RACCOON fur coats, sizes 12-14 Reasonable. GR 9-4391.

WANTED

FREE!! A chance to participate in a psychology experiment. A guaranteed rainless opportunity to advance science. Takes no longer than 20 min. Call ext. 2208 or drop in at 107 College Place any afternoon this week. Ask for Washington Irving or Irving Washington.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students

TWO BLOCKS FROM FIELDHOUSE, 225 Lorraine Ave. Modern 4-room upper, 2 bedrooms, large closet, brick cupboards, refrigerator and stove. Picture window, living room and kitchen, ceramic tile bath, private parking area, on bus line. Available immediately, $115. NE 8-0497, GR 6-1475.

APARTMENTS FOR RENT. Two rooms with bath, 411 S. Crouse Ave. Call 476-7188 after 1 p.m.

3 ROOMS RECENTLY remodeled — paneling, bus, light parking. $85.00. Call 478-4388.

RELIABLE HEIGHTS, unfurnished 7-rm. house, vacant, fine location, $125 per month. Call owner. GR 8-1567.

FURNISHED APARTMENTS. 1 and 2 bedrooms, 1 block from University. Call 478-0495 after 5.

3 RM. apartment, furnished and heated, newly painted. University section, very inexpensive. GI 6-1741 or 476-8527.

DOUBLE AND SINGLE. $7.50, $12.50. Kitchen privileges. 474-2654.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models, also sales and service, special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

WILL DO TYPING in my home. 471-7216

AN EVENING WITH

the Kingston Trio

TUESDAY, MARCH 17 WAR MEMORIAL CONCERT CIRCLE

ORDER NOW!! $3.50, $3.00, $2.50, $2.00

Famous Artists

Clark Music Bldg. GR 1-0162

NIT Must Game

Cornell Awaits SU

By BILL CRONAUER
Junior Editor

The Orangemen of Syracuse put their 1964 tournament basketball hopes on the line for the final time Tuesday night when they tangle with Cornell at Ithaca.

SU will hit the road three times this week. After tomorrow's critical encounter, the Hill forces travel to Colgate on Thursday and Canisius on Saturday.

The Cornell affair is a "must" for the Piety. A victory would jump Syracuse's record to 13-7 and greatly enhance chances for a National Invitational Tournament bid.

The Orange are currently riding a two-game losing skid, Pittsburgh, already in the NIT, and West Virginia, a possible NCAA selection, toppled SU last week.

Cornell's Big Red, boasting a won-14, lost-7 record, are battling for the Ivy League lead. The Ithacans defeated Harvard and Dartmouth over the weekend and now stand at 8-3 in loop play.

Balance has been the key to Cornell's success this season. The Big Red feature five scorers in the 10-12 point-per-game range.

A pair of sophomores, 6-7 Steve Cram and 6-5 Bob McCready, will operate on the front line with 6-5 junior Marv Van Leeuwen.

Cram, at center, has clicked for 11.8 ppg, tops on the club. McCready, who tallied 20 points against SU at Manley Field House earlier this season, stands at 11.2 ppg, with Van Leeuwen at 10.3.

In the backcourt, Cornell will operate with senior 6-0 captain Ray Ratkowski and 6-2 rookie Bob Berube. Rathowski, the Ithacans' holler guy, is pumping at an 11.3 ppg rate, while Berube has added 8.3 markers a game.

The Cornell bench features 6-6 Jim Maglisceau, a top point producer of late who has jumped his average to 10.6.

Other outstanding reserves include 6-5 forward Gerry Munson (7.1), 6-1 guard Bob DeLuca (6.8) and 5-10 guard Dave Bliss (4.9).

Game time for the varsity contest is 8:15 p.m., with the Orange frosh and the Little Red in the preliminary at 6:15 p.m. Ticket price is $1.25.

Unbeaten Temple Gymnasts Snap SU Home Win Streak

By TOM MULLER

The unbeaten Temple University gymnastics team eased its way to victory in the Eastern Intercollegiate Gymnastics League Saturday as it chalked up its ninth straight win at Syracuse's expense. The Owls captured the meet 165.25-157.35.

Besides clinching the title for Temple, the loss was Syracuse's first at home in three years. The Orangemen last lost at home during the 1961-62 season.

Junior Sid Oglesby of Syracuse won three events, but the Orange were beaten in every event as the Owls showed fantastic team depth.

Temple was led by junior Mark Cohn, who scored 46.5 points in five events. Cohn, who was second in the Eastern all-around race last year, eased to victory on the side horse with a score of 9.55, but faced defeat on the parallel bars for the first time this year. Oglesby won that event with a 9.4 rating.

Temple captain Tim Phillips captured the horizontal bar event with a score of 9.55 and Barry Weisman won the still rings for the visitors' other triumphs.

The tightest contest was found on the long horse where Oglesby and Temple's Charles Eckler fought for the first place nod. Eckler scored 9.6 for his best vault, but Oglesby, competing in the clean-up spot, turned in a 9.7 vault and took the event. Oglesby's other victory came in the floor exercise as he beat the Owl's Jim Petrino, 9.3-9.25.

Temple Coach Carl Patterson called Oglesby's exhibition the best performance by an individual this year. He scored 28.4 points in just three events.

Temple's team depth was very apparent as the Owls had at least two men over 9.0 in each event and averaged better than 9.0 per man per event.

The Owls went into the meet with high hopes that Syracuse would fall by the wayside in short order, but the Orangemen gave the Eastern champs a good fight despite their very young squad. There is only one senior on the Syracuse team.

"Syracuse is the first team that didn't crack when they met us," said Patterson after the meet. "They're all to be congratulated for the fine fight they gave us."

The Syracusans faltered in the floor exercise and on the still rings, but they had some of the years finest performances in the other events.

Captain Carl Poplar gave Syracuse his usually fine performance with a total of 41.7 points for the meet. He was third on the parallel bars and fifth in the floor exercise.

Dean Bellavia gave Syracuse hopes for next year a big shot in the arm as he turned in two 9.4 routines on the horizontal bar and the long horse. He paced the Orange on the horizontal bar as he finished third.

MIT Cops Crown In Carnival Skiing

MIT took top honors in the Annual Winter Carnival Intercollegiate Ski Meet. Syracuse finished second, one point behind MIT, with Paul Smiths third.

Teams from 15 colleges and universities competed in the two day meet.

The Orangemen won both Alpine events, the Slalom and the Giant Slalom. Paul Smiths ruled the Nordic events.

MIT had a team total of 370.98, Syracuse 369.81, Paul Smiths 364.83, Cornell 361.33 and Army 360.37.

All events except jumping were held at Laborator Mt.

High winds resulted in the use of the 15-meter jump after the first two skiers off the 30 incline failed to land on their feet and were blown off course.

CROSS COUNTRY

Place	Name, School	Time
1.	Thorndike, P. Smiths	29.28
2.	Wareham, P. Smiths	29.36
3.	Wessel, MIT	29.58
4.	Lincoln, Army	30.18
5.	Frey, Army	31.00
6.	Tuthill, Clarkson	31.12
6.	Shepherd, Cornell	31.12
7.	Carey, MIT	31.42
8.	Duston, Cornell	32.11
9.	Hutchins, P. Smiths	32.12
10.	Livingston, Swarth.	32.33

Piety Mermen Fall Victim to Colgate

By CHRIS VIVIANO

A new Orange Pool record was set in the 500 yard free style Saturday, as the Syracuse varsity swimmers were defeated by a powerful Colgate team, 65-30.

Dave Martin of the Red Raiders topped the previous pool record of 5:22.4 held by Gordon Fluke, also of Colgate. Martin was clocked at 5:15.7.

Jim Myerberg, formerly undefeated during the season in this event, finished third behind another Colgate swimmer, Lee Johnson. Myerberg also placed second in the 200-yard free style for the Orange.

Colgate dominated the meet by capturing eight of the nine individual events and by winning the 400-yard free style relay. Only a disqualification for jumping the start prevented the victors from taking the 400-yard medley relay earlier in the meet.

Bill Hotchkiss emerged as the only Syracuse swimmer to take first place by winning the 200-yard breast stroke in 2:29.8.

Two men were double winners for Colgate in the individual events. Richard Arluck took the 200-yard individual medley with a time of 2:19.7 and copped the 200-yard butterfly.

Ray Williams was victorious in the 50-yard free style, finishing in 23.2. He won the 100-yard free style (50.9) as his teammate, James Elder, swam second.

Colgate also placed one-two in the 200 yard back stroke. James Renne raced to victory (2:11.5) while Stephen Glennon took second.

Other contributors to the Colgate score included Bill Stuek who swam the 200-yard free style in 1:49.9 and was the anchorman in the 400 yard free style relay. Pat LaForte compiled a point total of 230.70 to outscore Chan Rudd of Syracuse in the diving competition.

As a result of Saturday's loss, the Orange now have a record of 4-3. They complete the '64 season with two dual meets against Cortland and Cornell on the road.

Earlier in the day the freshman swim team was also downed by Colgate, 54-31.

One, Two, Three Pin

NCAA heavyweight champion JIM "BO" NANCE is shown here pinning Cornell's JOE BRUCHAG. Big Jim pinned his man with 1:17 left in the match, to give the Orange a 17-17 tie. Nance has won 72 straight matches including high school battles. Of his three wins this season, three of them have been by pins.

JSL Special Session Ordered By Morris

A special meeting of the Joint Student Legislature has been called for 7 p.m. Wednesday in Kittridge Auditorium, H. B. Crouse Hall, by Joint Student Government President James Morris.

Morris said the meeting would be devoted to a discussion of food service, following a meeting at 2:30 p.m. today with student government and university officials.

Among those attending today's meeting will be University Treasurer and Vice President Francis Wingate, Food Service Director Ursula Pettingill, Personnel Dean John S. Hafer, JSG Vice President Kate Anthony, freshman class President James Richard and Morris, as well as individual representatives of each dormitory food council.

Morris said all 29 points from the JSL food surveys and any new points will be discussed at both the meeting today and the legislature meeting.

He said student government would try to present the case for the students in a "strong manner."

Morris said the legislature meeting will last "until all discussion has been completed and each hand raised has been recognized."

ISO Week Set; Begins March 2

International Week 1964 is being presented by the International from March 2-7.

The philosophy behind the festivities as stated by Gioia Cipriani, publicity chairman, "We are a guest here for this week. We want you to be our guest." The 700 students on campus from other countries hope to show something different from their home countries.

Activities start 7:30 p. m. Monday, March 2, with "Festival of Nations," a variety show pointing up the differences in the many nations represented by members of ISO.

Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, under secretary of state for special political affairs, will speak at 8 p.m., Tuesday, March 3, on "United Nations and World Conflict."

"Last Year at Marienbad," a famous foreign film, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, March 4 in Gifford Auditorium. Sorority and fraternity house will be hosting ISO members on Thursday night of the week.

At 7:30 p.m. Friday in Sims many nations will display products of their countries.

"International Dance" on Saturday will highlight the week. Vincent Pace and his orchestra will entertain for the evening fall which starts at 7:30 p.m. in Sims Hall.

RFK, Ross Barnett Proposed Speakers

United States Attorney General Robert Kennedy, former Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett and John Lewis, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, have been mentioned as possible speaker for the Footprints series, scheduled for March 10-12 on campus.

Footprints, now in its 10th year, is a university-sponsored symposium on ideas and values, according to Dr. Edward McGrath of the citizenship department.

According to Dr. McGrath, all three men have been contacted, but no definite plans have been arranged. The series will consist of three afternoon lectures, scheduled for 3 p.m. each day in Hendricks Chapel, with an 8 p.m. panel in either Gifford or Maxwell Auditoriums.

An attempt is being made to obtain the services of either Kennedy or Bourke Marshall, head of the civil rights division of the justice department. Marshall, along with Nicholas Katzenbach, who spoke on campus last year, successfully thwarted the efforts of Alabama Gov. George Wallace to maintain segregated schools.

The afternoon sessions, will be a lecture by each speaker. Questions may be asked at the evening session, which will feature the individual speakers with a faculty panel.

Barnett, born and educated in Mississippi, served as governor of the state from 1960 until January, when his term ended. He is currently on a speaking tour, which has included several colleges.

He has also returned to his law practice in Jackson, Miss. He is a member of the agricultural committee of the American Bar Association, and has served as a member of the National Bar Association's committee on improving the administration of justice. Barnett is also a deacon of the Baptist church.

The following statement was issued by Nancy Luise Wright and Dale Anderson, cochairmen of the 1964 Footprints and Edward G. McGrath, faculty sponsor:

Footprints is undertaking its most ambitious symposium in its 10-year history when it plans to present on March 10, 11, 12 three different viewpoints on the current civil rights movement.

Our plan calls for a formal afternoon address by each guest speaker at 3 p.m. in the Chapel followed each evening by a faculty and speaker panel.

While the program still lacks final arrangements, former governor Ross Barnett of Mississippi, and John Lewis of

(See Barnett Page 7)

JOHN LEWIS

Courts Support Equality: Kharas

By MARLENE CIMONS

In recent years, the Supreme Court has been "most sensitive" to the subject of civil liberties, said Ralph Kharas, dean of the SU Law School.

Speaking before freshman citizenship sections Monday, Kharas lectured on "The Supreme Court, the Schools, and the Law."

He concentrated his ideas on the background leading to the Brown vs. the Board of Education of Topeka decision which revoked the previous provision for separate but equal educational opportunities for the Negro.

Among the most significant in historical material were the three amendments added to the constitution after the Civil War, he said. The thirteenth amendment abolished slavery, the fourteenth forbid the states to make laws abridging privileges of citizens of the United States or deprive a person of life or liberty without due process and equal protection of the law, and the fifteenth amendment forbid denial of the right to vote.

The second point which Kharas emphasized in Supreme Court background was the Plessy vs. Ferguson case of 1897.

In this decision, the court denied a petition to waive imprisonment or fine when Plessy, said to be one-eighth Negro, was arrested for sitting in a railroad car reserved only for whites.

The Brown vs. Topeka case involved four different states, said Kharas, Kansas, South Carolina, Georgia and Virginia. (See Courts Page 7)

Inside Crouse Site

New Dorm Features Innovations

This is the second part of a living center series, designed to show the individuality and personality of the living centers on campus.

By SANDI EHRLICH
Junior Editor

One of the unique features of the Crouse dormitory on Comstock Avenue and Marshall Street is that students have contributed their talents even before the dorm is completed.

The draperies in every room of the dorm, scheduled to open in September, will be printed from an original fabric design by senior Betsey Johnson.

The design, according to her instructor, Prof. Donald Waterman, is a "very bold semi-abstract floral pattern."

Miss Johnson designed the fabric as a class project. It was exhibited in Crouse, when Art Prof. Ralph Laidlaw, who is in charge of the interior decoration of the new dorm, decided the print was "better than most I could buy."

The design was sold to a Philadelphia fabric firm for professional fees, and the university bought the fabric from them. The draperies will be printed in four different colors to match the rooms.

In another field of endeavor, Elaine Weiss, a senior education major and AWS dorm council chairman, is preparing the constitution for the Crouse site dorm. She and a committee of living center presidents hope to open the new dorm under a dorm council system, whereby all late minutes and discipline problems are handled within the dorm instead of at AWS. No other dormitory has opened with the dorm council system previously established.

The new dorm, which is only temporarily called Crouse site until its dedication, will have wall-to-wall carpeting everywhere "except the bathrooms and closets," according to Jean Crawford, women's housing director.

The building also has conduits for closed circuit television and or telephones in each room, but the wires will not be installed at the present time. The present housing policy is against private phones, Miss Crawford said.

Crouse site will house 401 students on 11 floors in a curved shape. There will be 167 single rooms, more than any large dorm currently has. There will be 106 double rooms, most of them featuring a dividing partition to create a "split double." In addition, the dorm will have eight triple rooms on the side facing Marshall St. These were converted to triples "to utilize the maximum amount of space," (See Dorm Page 7)

Betsey Johnson, a senior art illustration major, poses here in a beach dress made of the fabric she designed for a class. The pattern will be used for the draperies of the Crouse site dormitory. Miss Johnson, from Wethersfield, Conn., is also the head cheerleader at SU.

SYRACUSE 10
OUT TODAY

Buy your copy of the student magazine at H. B. Crouse lobby or the University Bookstores. Enjoy the winter issue's exceptional short stories, art and photography.

In Search Of A Home

Boxes are being loaded and professors gleefully dream of moving into the modernistic Newhouse Communication Center. Although the moving date is far in the future, almost seven months away, the journalism facilities of SU will have a new home.

All areas of the communication media will have a new home next year, that is, except the Daily Orange and WAER.

Instead of being offered some space in the new building, the Daily Orange will be moved from its pre-war tin home to the pre-Gothic basement of the present Journalism Center.

No reason has been given as to why the DO will not move with the rest of the journalism facilities, but the word has it that the space in the Center does not provide enough room for the student publication.

There are numerous reasons why the Daily Orange should be included in plans for the new Center. And the reason why the DO is excluded from these plans are few and far between.

WAER, the campus radio station, will be included in the one of the new buildings in two to three years. Their services are of a definite necessity to the campus as a whole. And their place in the Newhouse Center is unquestioned.

But, we may ask quite candidly, are the DO's services less important or less necessary to the campus as a whole.

For years, the Daily Orange has been bounced from place to place. And at last when the aspiring journalists of the university see a place for their labors, rather than an ill-heated, rattling pre-fab, they are told no dice for years to come.

The Daily Orange belongs in the Newhouse Communication Center. It has secured this place by just being the campus newspaper and moreover by being that newspaper for 60 years.

Granted that there will be five other buildings when the Newhouse complex is finished. And in one of these five buildings there will be room for the DO.

But the outlook of another three to five years of waiting is far from promising.

To be sure, the incoming freshmen and present upperclassmen will find the Daily Orange's new facilities in the Journalism Center, a minute improvement over our present tin home.

Footprints

The Footprints 1964 committee is to be congratulated on proposing a most timely symposium for campus discussion. Surely students are interested, many vitally caught up, in the present struggle civil rights is undergoing in the U.S.

Speakers such as Ross Barnett, John Lewis, Robert Kennedy and Bourke Marshall are people this campus may study and learn from, regardless of one's position in the civil rights issue.

Students and faculty beware of your sentiments. Although you may disagree with any or all of the viewpoints the speakers will present in this year's Footprints, we ask that you respect the right for all people to hold their own opinion and to express such.

We also ask that you respect the right of other students and citizens in the community to listen to these people, whether or not you desire to attend the symposium.

Only through the cooperation of the campus can such valuable programs be presented to the community. Courtesy and respect are the least an invited guest can expect from its host community.

Let Syracuse University be a school to be proud of. Here on the Hill, we invite controversial speakers to present their views for comment, study and dissection.

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2

February 25, 1964

Editor-In-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor Clayton F. Richards
News Editor Andrew Forte
Editorial Director Adair DuFrie
Sports Editor Bernard MacCallum
Arts Editor Rea Turel
Photography Editor Steve Schwimmer

BUSINESS STAFF

National Ads. Mgr. Lynn Mandel
Classified Mgr. Christine Sedziak
Promotion Mgr. Stu Shapiro
Ad. Bus. Mgr. Jon Weisberg
Layout Managers Martha Jochanski, Julian Lehr

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 201 Brookline Drive, Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter at U. S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

Millstones and Milestones

That Was The Week

By Dan Stone

NBC is pioneering this year with a copy of a British satire show called "That Was the Week That Was." The foundation of the show for those of you who haven't seen it is a topical review in a satirical manner of the top news events of the past week. Viewers have so far been treated to such morsels as Fidel Castro scratching himself (no one on Cuba really needs water) and Henry Morgan explaining the operation of the United States government as compared to the human anatomy. What fun!

Last week was one of the most significant weeks I can remember at Syracuse. Two things made it so. Leaving humor aside for the moment, though I do intend to talk about the food service boycott before I'm through, I would like to dwell for a moment on the discovery of the omega-minus particle by Dr. Leitner.

Syracuse has the reputation, at least in this part of the country as being a football school or as one friend of mine puts it, "a school that has a football team but isn't just sure what to do with it." Justly or unjustly, I'm told we're also known as a party school.

Surprising as it may seem to some, schools are sometimes rated on other bases than the number of points the team scored last fall. One of the very important areas of competition between schools is the amount and quality of the research they are carrying on. To put it in familiar terms, in this area Dr. Horwitz and Dr. Leitner have scored a very important touchdown.

I suppose it would be naive to expect parades in their honor or even a picket sign that congratulates them on a good job -- the particle they discovered is kind of a complex thing. You can't carry it around on your shoulders, as a matter of fact you can't even see it.

But somehow I don't think it too much to wonder why more University officials or the University community as a whole hasn't come forward to say, "well done."

This is an advancement in the scientific world of which Syracuse can be justly proud -- it's the kind of thing that makes you proud to say you go to Syracuse.

On the other hand last week also saw a food service boycott at Syracuse. I had to view this with mixed emotions. In a way I suppose it is a healthy thing. It at least showed Syracuse students to be capable of something above and beyond sheer apathy. They had a cause and had settled on this way to express themselves.

But expression and farcial exhibition are two different things. I sat in Sadler and watched one of the campus characters swivel in his chair and shout obscenities at people who braved the hissing mob to eat. It disgusted me enough to send me forward to get dinner.

Sitting in the dining hall it struck me as just how futile the boycott was. In the first place I'm not convinced that by giving up a meal you have already paid for you're proving anything. Perhaps I'm wrong. The conversation at the table turned to how many ways left over ham could be prepared. The list was long.

It is getting about that time of year when elections for student government will come around again. We'll hear the importance of choosing proper representatives so that our voice can be heard. We'll hear of the importance of choosing a body of clear thinking representatives so we can speak with a common voice. But speak to whom and be heard by whom? Surely University officials are going to be hard pressed to take student government seriously after a farcial demonstration of that proportion. One University official coming from Sims shook his head sadly. "The Army will be tough on them," he said. "Maybe it's a good thing they're getting it out of their systems."

Maybe it is. But on a campus where a major scientific discovery is the second topic of conversation to an ill-planned boycott one wonders. Maybe we deserve the titles people give us.

Oh, well.
That was the week that was.

LETTERS

Application

To the Editor:

I have just read the article about Day Hall in the Tuesday, Feb. 18 DO and I have come to the conclusion that the campaign to give recognition to all the major "living centers" is indeed worthwhile. But there is, on this campus, one living center that I am afraid will go unnoticed in the series. It is historic Sims Hall, or Sims Hole as it is known to some of its more enthusiastic inhabitants.

Built in 1906, Sims Hole has remained virtually unchanged and is currently the home - away - from - home of some 128 Syracuse University freshmen men. Among the many advantages offered by Sims are: daily serenades by the Food Service ventilation equipment on the roof of Sims Dining Hall, virtual multitudes of silverfish (a cross between an ant and a centipede) which inhabit the wonderful 1906-guaranteed to leak all night-heating system; and, the lovely serenade of an electrical are welder, eight hours a day, five days a week.

While other dorms are fondly known as living centers, Sims has really no living facilities in it at all. The three lounges in the dorm are all restricted to residents only, most of the time, and there are only two television sets, both bought and maintained by the inhabitants. But wait, this is not the hole Sims Hole story! Oh no; it seems that the University is going to renovate the dear old ivied hall into classrooms this summer; hence, no special effort is made to maintain the establishment except for a few routine chores: the extermination service has been in once all year to Simms H. halls and washrooms are cleaned five times every two weeks, and floods of water from radiators are not the exception, but a rather steaming rule.

But even these inconveniences might be endured if the rest of the University community knew that Sims Hole existed as a dorm--about twice a day rather embarrassed coeds are informed that the Sims Hall classrooms are "down the walk to your left, this is a men's dorm."

Of course, the facilities at Sims for entertainment are tops, too, by 1906 standards; but it would be nice to have just one cooled water fountain when the other men's dorms have Soda, ice cream, pastry, and cigarette machines. Mailboxes are wooden affairs with no lock no door, or any protective device of any kind, whatsoever.

The mailbox situation brings up another wonderful feature of Sims Hole: the doors to the rooms. It seems that the University does not think it necessary to equip the students with keys to their rooms (after all, they won't have to worry after this year), so each resident has a key to the front door of his section. But, unfortunately, it is not really within the realm of possibility to expect the forty men in each section to lock the door at each entrance and departure. Fortunately the only incidents that have occurred to date concern attempted entry by a few, rather jolly, Hill students.

Well, at any rate, this has been a short expose of one of the less publicised of SU's "living (sic) centers." But don't get me wrong; the rooms in Sims are each private--even though they are very small.

Allan H. Parachini
Sims II

Congratulations

To the Editor

Congratulations are in order for the recent coverage in the Daily Orange of the observation of the omega-minus fundamental particle and for the proper recognition of its import. We are proud that the scientists here at Syracuse are contributing to the frontier of physical knowledge.

One of the remarks in last Thursday's issue, however was dearily unnecessary -- "Although no practical uses of S.U. Three (the theory by the detection of the omega-minus) are known, advances in fundamental knowledge, "it was noted, "have always led ultimately to applications." This is indeed comforting, but we are all aware that the intellectual achievements are sanctified in practicality, sooner or later.

And let us not despair; if it appears impractical to telescope light rays that left a star a thousand years ago, or if it is not evident how we are going to market omega-minus particles, it is only because we are impatient. I am certain, for example, that in less than a hundred years our knowledge of the atom nucleus will enable us to make gold from old shoes, or take paid vacations to Venus.

Now, that's practical!!

Joseph A. Spadaro
Physics Dept.

POLICY ON

LETTERS

The letters column is maintained for the expression of opinion by readers. However, the Daily Orange reserves the right to edit letters for grammar and good taste or to reject letters. Letters should be written legibly, preferably typed and no longer than 250 words. All letters must be signed with names and addresses; names will be withheld on request.

Drama Scholarship

From left, DR. FRANK BARRY, superintendent of Syracuse Public Schools, Miss MARGARET DWYER, director of English, Prof. G. F. REIDENBAUGH, acting chairman of SU's drama department, and MARLOW G.

BURT, manager of the Regent Theatre, discuss the drama scholarship for which three finalists were chosen after their performances in the High School Festival held on February 21 and 22.

Music

Syracuse Symphony

by Steven B. Aletti

Last Friday and Saturday evenings the Syracuse Symphony orchestra under the direction of Karl Kriz presented for its fifth concert this season, a spirited performance of works by Husa, Beethoven and Brahms.

The concert opened with the Portrait for string orchestra by the modern Czechoslovakian composer Karel Husa. The piece is supposed to be a musical portrait of the late composer Arthur Honegger. From it, one can only gather that Honegger was a rather boring, pedestrian, and inarticulated fellow. The piece seemed to serve as a warm-up for the orchestra, for it was played with feeling, but with something of a lack of coordination. The composer Husa, who teaches at Cornell, was present to congratulate Maestro Kriz, and to receive the audience's applause.

The second piece was the Beethoven Concerto in C major for Piano, Violin, and Cello, Op. 56. Here the orchestra was much more controlled and incisive; the two fiendishly difficult string parts were handled very well by Sidney Harth, violin, and Theo Salzman, cello. Harth played with a brilliant tone, and fine technique. Salzman, though occasionally bothered with intonation problems, played very well. Earl George, associate professor of theory and composition at Syracuse University, very capably handled the less ostentations but no less difficult piano part.

The second half of the concert was devoted to the Brahms Concerto for violin and cello. This was without a doubt the most successful piece of the evening; the orchestra played again with control and gusto, and here they blended much more successfully with the soloists Harth and Salzman. The solo parts were again very difficult, but they created a rather more successful fusion with the orchestra part than the Beethoven Triple Concerto they were again expertly handled, but without the tension somehow conveyed in the earlier piece. This reviewer had the feeling that both the orchestra and the soloists felt much more rapport with the Brahms.

The evening was an enjoyable and successful one.

SUCCESS

Success comes early to college women who supplement their education with Gibbs training—who obtain marketable skills that gain them quick entry into the fields of their choice.

SPECIAL COURSE FOR COLLEGE WOMEN—8½ MONTHS
Write College Dean
for GIBBS GIRLS AT WORK

KATHARINE GIBBS SECRETARIAL

BOSTON 16, MASS., 21 Marlborough Street
NEW YORK 17, N. Y., 260 Park Avenue
MONTCLAIR, N. J., 33 Plymouth Street
PROVIDENCE 6, R. I., 155 Angell Street

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

L	A	V	E	R	S	A	F	F	E	N	D
L	E	S	A	N	O	N	S	N	O	R	T
A	M	E	L	I	T	A	P	I	L	E	A
F	U	L	E	D	F	L	U	T	O	L	S
P	R	E	T	O	P	E	R	A	N	I
S	T	R	E	E	T	A	I	S	L	E
S	P	A	C	A	R	S	I	N	I	O	N
C	O	N	S	U	L	S	D	A	S	T	A
A	N	T	I	C	L	E	S	E	H	O	S
N	E	A	T	H	D	U	R	E	S	S
S	A	M	A	R	I	A	T	A	M	P
S	I	B	I	N	E	S	F	A	V	O	R
T	R	E	A	D	L	E	I	M	I	T	A
E	M	E	R	G	E	S	V	A	L	I	S
P	A	S	T	O	R	E	L	E	C	T	S

W A E R
88.3 mc

TUESDAYS

4:00 Sim On, News, WAER Highlights

4:15 Experiment in Music, Germany Today

6:15 Communique

6:30 Germany Today

6:30 Dan Stone and the News

6:45 Smoke? / Position Paper

7:00 Maxwell Comments

7:30 Georgetown Forum

8:00 Scope

8:30 The 8:30 Report

8:35 Choral Concert

Riviera CINEMA
3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. GRB-4021

"ONE OF THE YEAR'S TEN BEST!"

"AN UPPER CLASS LA DOLCE VITA!"

the EASY LIFE

VITTORIO GASSMAN - CATHERINE SPAAK

AND THE CONCRETE JUNGLE

STANLEY BAKER

Tuesday Evenings
Two Showings
7 and 9 p.m.

University REGENT Theatre

820 EAST GENESEE

TONIGHT

Shakespeare Film Series

"TWELFTH NIGHT"

(Russia)

Tickets, 75c

THE "BOOKSTALL"

147 Marshall Street

Fascinating Gifts, Fine Stationery, Fabulous Cards

38 Years by the Campus

Your Friendly Alumni Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow

SYRACUSE 10 OUT TODAY!

ENJOY THE UNUSUAL SHORT STORIES, ART AND PHOTOGRAPHY IN THE NEW WINTER ISSUE. NOW ONLY 40 CENTS.

BUY YOUR COPY AT:

Main Bookstore and branches
Corner Store
English Office (H1.203)
HBC
Syracuse Book Center

Lowe Art Center
Siegel's stores
Manny's
Varsity Camera Shop
University Hill Music Box
Burnett Drugs

Daily Crossword Puzzle

ACROSS

1 Outrigger.
5 Hebrew letter.
9 Atom ____
13 Substitute for cash; 2 words.
15 Type of girder.
16 Billet-doux; 2 words.
17 Spanish painter.
18 Primate.
19 Silken.
20 Prussian lancer of 1870.
21 Unite by heating.
23 Remaining; Fr.
25 Excellent.
27 Carapace.
28 Year in Trajan's reign; Rom.
31 Scorpion's Heart.
33 Kohinoor.
35 Covered over.
36 Rarely seen.
37 Slow beasts.
39 Breastbone.
40 Some.
41 Handy; 2 words.
43 Rain check.

DOWN

41 Man in the know.
46 Room to swing ____; 2 words.
48 Ringing sound.
51 Volcanic mount.
53 Native of; Suffix.
54 Indian ox.
55 Guided missile, movie style; 2 words.
57 Amst., Lex., Fifth, etc.
58 Busheler's work.
59 Roller coaster.
60 Gambrianus' invention.
61 Conjunction.

DOWN

1 Tom, Dick or Harry; 2 words.
2 Disclosing.
3 Verse form.
4 Bothers.
5 Helen Hayes, for instance.
6 Somewhat tardy.
7 Put up.
8 Presidential initials.

9 Loop in a rope.
10 Greek coin.
11 Ancient Mexican.
12 Coarse feed.
13 Hammer end.
14 Golfer, at times.
20 Loosens.
22 Rough sketch.
24 Tilted; Naut.
26 Soon; Poet.
28 Emblem of abundance.
29 Brooding.
30 Footnote word.
31 Ionian Sea gulf.
32 Elysiums.
34 Opera heroine.
38 Small stem.
39 Zinc.
42 "____ Fideles."
44 Working; 2 words.
45 Stern.
47 ____ age.
48 Autocrat.
49 Son of Jacob.
50 Slumber-bound.
52 Form of "esse."
55 Hack.
56 Degree in theology.

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years

FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS

3444 Erie Blvd. East

Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair

Parking at Front Door

PRESENTS

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12
13				14				15
16								17
18				19				20
21			22		23			24
	25			26		27				28	29 30
31				32			33		34
35								36
37					38		39
40				41		42			43
			44					45	46		47
48	49	50			51			52		53
54					55			56
57					58
59					60			61

DG Snow Sculpture

"Freedom and Peace Go Hand and Hand" is the title of the first place snow sculpture which stands in front of the Delta Gamma fraternity house. DG teamed up with Phi Alpha fraternity to make the sculpture.

ISO Elects New Officers

Newly elected officers for International Students Organization are: President, Seegiharto; Vice President, Azizullah Khogyani (Aziz) from Afghanistan; Secretary, Miss Amada Cipiani from the Philippines; Publicity Chairman, Miss Gioia Cipiani from Italy; Social Chairman, Miss Blanca Gallardo from the U. S.; Treasurer, Moura Hauile from Tanganyika; Newsletter Editor, Miss Ragne Lantz from Sweden.

I.S.O. also announced that the week of March 2-7, is "International Week." During the International Week, student groups from many nations will present their native dances, songs, foods, costumes and movies.

Rockefeller Group Plans Set

A Syracuse University chapter of College Students for Rockefeller is being formed.

Students interested in working on the staff should contact Bruce Kirschenbaum, ext. 2931 or Judy Simon, ext. 2177.

The object of the group is to promote the policies and candidacy of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

The first general meeting will be held Thursday, March 5, 7:30 p.m. in 111 Maxwell Hall.

SYRACUSE BLUEPRINT CO. INC.

GRUMBACHER
WINSOR NEWTON
PARATONE
ZIPATONE
RICH ART
ACS TAPES
AQUABEE PADS
STRATHMORE PADS
CRESENT BOARDS

825 E. GENESEE ST.

ART SUPPLIES

GR 6-4084

initiative:

If you had the time—you could do the computations which the biggest data processing systems do. ■ But they do them at electronic speed and without tiring. ■ It calls for constant initiative to make them work better for us. ■ You needn't know anything about them to start with. ■ IBM has an education program for continued training. ■ Ask your college placement officer for our brochures—and for an appointment when the IBM representative is interviewing on campus. ■ IBM is an Equal Opportunity Employer. ■ If you cannot attend the interview, write: ■ Manager of College Relations. ■ IBM Corp., 590 Madison Avenue, New York 22, N. Y. ■

MOVE A HEAD SEE IBM

FEB. 25-28

Startling National Survey:

ARE COLLEGE ATHLETICS CORRUPT?

April SPORT presents the most important report ever published in SPORT . . . the shocking findings of financial corruption in college sports. Based on months of investigation of colleges and universities, it pulls no punches. Be sure to read this conclusion to "How Immoral Are College Athletics."

Also in April SPORT:

"WHAT AN OLD MAN LEARNED ABOUT FOOTBALL"
by Y. A. Tittle

"HOW WE WON BACK THE DAVIS CUP"
by Bud Collins

Read all about the sport scene's great favorite and controversial figures in SPORT, the magazine that keeps you abreast of all events in college and pro sports. For top coverage, in-depth profiles, action-packed photos . . . Read

April SPORT

Favorite magazine of the sports stars and the sports minded!

NOW ON SALE!

Junior Year in New York

An unusual one-year college program.

Write for brochure JV-4

Junior Year Program
Washington Square
College
New York University
New York 3, N. Y.

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY
Junior Year in New York

12 Attend Guatemala Plan

Twelve students are spending this semester in Guatemala, under the Syracuse semester program.

They are: Louise Bal, Nutley, N.J.; Alice Bishop, Morristown, N.J.; Eda Crist, Woodstock; and Thomas Donahue, Hartsdale, a Colby College junior.

Also, Judith Duff, Natick, Mass.; Linda Hamilton, Franklinville; Evelynne Johnson, Fox Lake, Ill.; and Frances Lankton, Berwyn, Pa.

Others are Judith Merson, East Brunswick, N.J.; Karen Ream, Andover, N.J.; and William Stein, Brooklyn.

COLLEGE STUDENTS for ROCKEFELLER

IF INTERESTED IN WORKING ON STAFF CALL:

Bruce Kirschenbaum Ext. 2931-32
Judy Simon Ext. 2177-78-79

SKI Just Learning or Want to Improve?
YOU NEED SNOW RIDGE
New York State's Largest and Finest Ski School

6
•
4 Lifts
Tows

25 Certified Instructors • Classes Daily for All Abilities
Special Learn-to-Ski Weeks Available
Information: Snow Ridge Box 298-S Boonville, N. Y.

1. I've decided on the kind of job I want when I graduate.

Knowing you, I'd guess it to be something modest—like Secretary of State or President of GE.

2. I hadn't thought of those specifically. What I had in mind was a job where they give you a lot of assistants. I think that would be nice.

Very nice. Maybe they could start you off at a hundred grand a year.

3. Well, I did run an extremely successful Nickel-a-Pickle sale.

Don't forget to demand plenty of stock options.

4. You think maybe I should lower my sights a little.

I'm afraid to tell you what I think.

5. I'd be willing to settle for a vice-presidency.

Look—why don't you see if you can qualify for one of Equitable's executive training programs. The work is interesting, the pay is good. And if you prove you have the ability, you may very well end up with a title and a couple of assistants.

Make an appointment through your Placement Office to see Equitable's employment representative on (insert month, day) or write to William E. Blevins, Employment Manager for further information.

6. You really have a way of seeing through a problem.

Rooming with you has taught me a lot.

The EQUITABLE Life Assurance Society of the United States
Home Office: 1255 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10019 ©1964

SKI-FARING

with JON WEISBERG

What a sight! Not since the old Syracuse-Colgate football games was such a scene seen. With fractured limbs and torn ligaments the skiers hobbled across the quad, proudly displaying their laurels of the weekend before. This was the skier's weekend. Excellent snow conditions were found at practically all of the ski centers in the Northeast.

Stirred by these conditions and the spirit of Winter Weekend, the greatest number of students this year turned out at the local areas. As a result of this increased number of skiers, the probability rate of accidents was greatly increased — thus resulting in the excess amount of plaster of paris and Ace bandages in use.

Perhaps one of the greatest oddities of the student skier is that he does most of his skiing nocturnally. And no wonder! What an escape mechanism! Just hop into the car, or one of the busses and off you are to either SONG MOUNTAIN or LABRADOR. Under the well lit slopes at these areas, you can enjoy the pleasures of night skiing.

Looking for equipment? Now is the best time to buy. Most of the ski shops in the area have started or are just starting their end of the season sales. I have noticed some excellent buys in both clothing and equipment. One shop that is a little out of the way, but with very good merchandise is the LIVERPOOL SPORT CENTER. When you visit them, say 'Hello' to Mal Winne for me.

Last night, I was looking through a book entitled 'Guide to Skiing in the North East.' Written in the thirties, this information piece of literature was an encyclopedia of the ski areas of the Northeast. It tells you to get there where to stay, and practically everything else that could be said about the skiing facilities of the time. Under the section about Syracuse, Drumlins is mentioned as one of the ski capitals of the area. One of the trails that caught my attention was the 'Mausoleum trail, running through the cemetery from the University and out to Jamesville. Looking at the trails available now, it is not difficult to see the amount of development which has occurred in the past few years.

This is the time of year when the ice begins to appear in the middle of the afternoon. A good tip to remember is to keep your edges sharp and try to avoid the shaded sections of the slope. SKI HEIL!

BASKET & RACQUET

107 Marshall

Stretch Pants 20% off Parkas 50% off
Sweaters 20% off

SHIRT SPECIAL . . . 2 for $7.00

TIES . . . 2 for $3.00

divisor of DeWITT SPORTS, Ltd. E. Genesee at Lyndon Rd. Gl 6-0460

SKI LABRADOR

APULIA NEW YORK

2 T-Bars

2 Open slopes

6 Trails

A Family Ski Area
30 minutes from Syracuse

CERTIFIED INSTRUCTION

NO WAITING LINES

Nite Skiing - Wed. - Thur. - Fri. - Sat.

JSG Compiles Activity List

A list of all activities registered with Joint Student Government has been compiled and published by Gerri Porter, JSC activities director.

The list has been distributed to officials of all campus buildings. Miss Porter said that any activities not registered will not be able to use the buildings for meetings or other activities.

All activities which have not registered may do so this week at the JSG office in the basement of Marion Hall, or may call Miss Porter, ext. 2643.

Prof to Teach at Berkeley

Dr. Roger Harrington, professor of electrical engineering at Syracuse University, will serve as visiting professor at the University of California at Berkeley during the spring semester. He will teach a course on electromagnetic theory and work on research in that field while in California.

Dr. Harrington is also currently working on several other programs in research for the Rome Air Development Center and the U.S. Air Force's Office of Scientific Research.

AWS PRESIDENTS TO MEET TODAY

All living center presidents of this semester or last semester who have signed up or are interested in working on the constitution for the Crouse site dorm: will meet at 4 p.m. today in Ostrom lounge, Shaw Dormitory. If there are any questions, call Elaine Weiss, ext. 2968, 2969.

THE Liverpool Sport Center

ANNOUNCES ITS ANNUAL WINTER SKI SALE

20% to 50% OFF

ON SKI CLOTHING and SELECTED SKI EQUIPMENT

Liverpool Sport Center

125 First Street
Call OL 2-2594

Ski Song Mountain

OPEN DAILY 10:30 - 4:30
NIGHTS 7-10:30; WEEKENDS 9:30-4:30, NIGHTS 7 - 10:30

CLOSED MONDAY

coffee will be served on the slopes courtesy of

Every Wednesday, Syracuse Eastern buses leave Mount Olympus between 6 and 6:10 p. m. and the corners of Waverly and Comstock between 6:10 and 6:15 p. m. Round trip per student is $1. Arrive at Song Mt. at 7 p. m. Leave at 10:30 to arrive at your dormitory in time for curfew.

Enjoy live entertainment every night in the Song Mountain Lounge.

Rent boots, skis and poles for $3

$2 lift fee for evening

SONG Mt.

at Tully, N. Y. . . . from Syracuse, take Route 81 south to Tully traffic light . . . follow the signs right to Song Mountain.

BINGO — It's up and about to go in as number 22 Dave Bing lays it up. CAL SHEFFIELD (31) of Pitt looks on as does CHUCK RICHARDS (55) of Syracuse.

Syracuse Coach FRED LEWIS and two of his favorite people DAVE BING and CHUCK RICHARDS are all smiles as the Orangemen are in the home stretch of a successful 12-7 basketball season.

Bingo Basketball Orange Style

SAD SAM PENCEAL is battling a rebound to REX TROBRIDGE (53). Sam is landing on top of JOE FRANGIPANE (51) of Pitt.

Syracuse University basketball has come alive this season as the Orangemen are in the midst of compiling their first winning season after their record setting 27 losses in a row. Last season Hill hoop forces were 8-13, 2-22 before that, and 4-19 three years ago. Syracuse is now 12-7 with four games remaining.

Dave Bing and Chuck Richards have been bringing Manley Field House crowds to life with their electrifying play this season.

A new fieldhouse, a new coach and a banner crop of freshman ball players last season have combined to revive basketball on campus.

Play displayed in the surrounding pictures of action in the Fordham and Pittsburgh games in fieldhouse is typical of the Bingo theme in Manley this season. The Orangemen have lost only one game in their home court this season.

Action Photos By Steve Schwimmer

DAVE BING flies through the air to lay the ball up and in for the Orange.

A SAM PENCEAL to DAVE BING pass for the Orange against the Panthers of Pitt in Manley Field House. CAL SHEFFIELD of Pitt holds his hands high over Bing's head. JOHN LARKIN (53) looks on waiting for the play to develop.

DAVE BING eyes the basket as he is again airborne deciding whether to pass off or shoot. JOHN LARKIN (23) of Pitt is about to go up in an attempt to stop Bing.

JIM BOEHEIM (35) of Syracuse throws up a shot with Fordham's Joe Frangipane

New Dorm Features

(Continued from Page 1)
Miss Crawford said.
Three elevators will climb the 11 stories. The dorm will feature a "center core construction" whereby all utilities, including the pajama lounges and telephones, will be in the center of each floor rather than at either end.

The attached round building will house a dining hall, a lobby, a recreation lounge, and the director's offices. "Everything" in the building will be round, and surrounded by glass windows.

In the connecting corridor between the dorm and the dining hall-lounges will be a library. Featuring reference books, novels, and non-fiction, the library will have tables and easy chairs.

There is a 12th floor penthouse atop the Crouse site dorm, which has a small lounge and kitchenette. The residents can decide what it will be used for, according to Miss Crawford.

Crouse site will probably be an upperclass dorm. Miss Crawford said the final decision has not been made.

Finance Workshop Set Thursday

Family finance is the subject of a summer workshop at Syracuse University. Sponsored jointly by the National Committee for Education in Family Finance and Syracuse University, the workshop will be held July 20 to August 7.

Although the program is primarily designed for junior and senior high school teachers of social science, home economics, business education and mathematics, the workshop is also open to guidance personnel and school administrators as well.

Areas of family finance to be explored include effective money renting or buying a home, wise installment buying, using commercial banks' services, paying state and federal taxes and estate planning and preparing a will.

Workshop staff and consultants include local bank and social security officials and state consumer finance personnel in addition to Syracuse University faculty members.

School Meeting Set Thurs.

The purposes of schools will be discussed at the second meeting of the central New York school board institute set for 6:30 p.m. Thursday at Drumlins Country Club.

Herman R. Goldberg, superintendent of schools in Rochester, will speak on the central purpose of public schools. William Van Til, chairman of the department of secondary education at New York University, will discuss the educational programs which should be offered for students not planning to continue their formal education beyond high school.

The institute is sponsored by the SU School of Education's Bureau of School Service in cooperation with the New York State School Boards Association. Four sessions are held each spring semester.

BARNETT ...

(Continued from Page 1)
Atlanta, Georgia, chairman of Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee, have agreed to participate. One arrangement is yet to be completed for a speaker reflecting the position of the Federal Government.

The three days of events have been designed by Footprints to attempt to increase understanding on the most pressing social problem to face the American people since the Civil War.

Since our generation of students is keenly involved in the freely controversial nature of equity rights and civil liberties and in the sincere but conflicting position on law and morality with which each speaker is identified, Footprints has accepted the burden of sponsorship as a recognized organization to present these views.

We feel the test of responsibility calls upon the students and the interested public to assure these speakers a fair and courteous hearing.

WAER MEETS TODAY

The WAER staff will meet at 7 p. m. today, 108 Main Library. Bob Feldman, program director announced. All personnel including engineers must attend.

COURTS ...

(continued from page 1)
olina, Virginia, and Delaware each appealed to the court that separate public schools for Negroes are not equal and could not be made equal.

The Supreme Court accepted this contention, he explained, and also stated that segregation of children due to race deprives them of equal educational opportunities.

"A sense of inferiority affects the motivation of a child to learn," declared Kharas, "and there are more benefits in a racially integrated school system."

The most serious outcome of this Supreme Court decision was the bitter opposition in many parts of the country, he said. Conflicts arose in Little Rock, Ark., Oxford, Miss., and Birmingham, Ala., with the court holding its ground.

"In all cases there is what seems to be a triumph of federal law, but no change in local opinion," Kharas stated.

Kharas concluded that we must not rely upon the constitution alone, or an interpretation of the Supreme Court with respect to the constitution.

"There are a lot of fine things that human beings themselves can do," he stated.

CAP MEETS TODAY

Campus Alliance Party will hold a meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at Zeta Tau Alpha, according to President, William Gedalecia. All reps must attend.

- TODAY
- 4 p.m., Freshman Skeptics, Dean Noble's home, 315 Berkeley Drive.
 - 4 p.m., WAA dance technique, studio.
 - 4 p.m., WAA competitive swimming pool.
 - 4 p.m., American Association of University Professors, Founders Room, Maxwell Hall. All members are urged to attend.
 - 4 p.m., Christian Biblical lecture series, 221 Maxwell. Rev. Miller will discuss Romans IV.
 - 4 p.m., New Dorm Constitution Committee, Ostrom Lounge, Shaw.
 - 4:30 p.m., Footprints, 102 Maxwell.
 - 5:05 p.m., Lutheran Daily Devotions, north wing, Hendricks Chapel.
 - 6 p.m., Gamma Sigma Sigma, national service sorority, organization meeting, third floor, men's gym. All interested should attend. Use side entrance.
 - 6:45 p.m., Christian Science College organization meeting, Colonial Room, Hendricks Chapel. All are welcome.
 - 7 p.m., No Hilled religious committee.
 - 7 p.m., Theology 101, St. Thomas More chapel. Topic will be "The Miracles Worked by Christ."
 - 7 p.m., Panhellenic Council, 305 Women's Bldg. Attendance required.
 - 7 p.m., SU Committee on Equality, 207 H.I.
 - 7 p.m., SUOC, 113 HL.
 - 7 p.m., ISL Local and National Affairs committee, 205 HL. Attendance imperative.
 - 7:30 p.m., Young Republicans, 102 Maxwell. Elections will be held.
 - 8 p.m., No Hilled Council.
 - 8:05 p.m., Theology 201, St. Thomas More chapel. Topic will be "The Sacraments of the Church."
- SATURDAY
- 8 p.m., Outline Club square dance, Skytop. Bus leaves Sims at 7:50 p.m., returns at 11:15 p.m. Members, 40 cents; non-members, 65 cents. Refreshments.

Leitner Speaks

Dr. Jack Leitner, who aided in the discovery of Omega-Min particle, will discuss the particle at a physics colloquium scheduled for 4 p.m. Thursday in 106 Steele Hall.

SKI GREEK PEAK

- NEW 4800 ft. Double Chair
- 2 T-Bar (3100' & 2000')
- 100 Acres of Open Slopes
- 11 Trails—Novice to Expert
- 750 ft. Vertical Drop

CORTLAND, NEW YORK
(Between Syracuse and Binghamton)
Phone 607-753-0016

Edward Hommel and Sons
DISPENSING OPTICIANS

604 STATE TOWER BUILDING SYRACUSE 2, NEW YORK

EYE GLASSES — CONTACT LENSES — REPAIRS

SUCE to Discuss Lectures

Establishment of a lecture series will be the main topic at a meeting of the SU Committee on Equality, 7 p.m. today in 207 Hall of Languages.

Committee reports will also be discussed. Now under investigation are Joint Student Court policies and procedures, the university athletic board's statement on scheduling games against teams from segregated schools, and the Daily Orange's policy on columnists.

The meeting is open to all interested students.

*Our Expert Stylists
Create Hair Styles
That Frame Your Face
With Flattering
Loveliness!*

Style Haircut }
Shampoo and } $5.50
Style Set }

fred
The Hairstylist

GR 4-2187
For Appointment

HOTEL SYRACUSE
522 S. WARREN ST.
IN NEW YORK
18 E. 49th ST.

THE BELL SYSTEM

represented by
Western Electric
New York Telephone
New Jersey Bell Telephone
Long Lines
Bell Telephone Laboratories
will interview on campus

MAR. 3, 4

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER.

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	$.85
2 days	1.65
3 days	3.15
4 days	2.40
5 days	3.85
7 days	5.20
8 days	4.55
9 days	5.85
10 days	6.45
11 days	7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication: or, mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.

GREYHOUND TICKETS, schedules, information, bus and air charters. Hotel reservations foreign tours. FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC. in the Savoy Monday-Friday 1-4; Thursday night 7-9 476-8533.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired, Rented, Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-8833. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

ACCELERATED 5 lesson course, specializing in parking, traffic, road test. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO

3-3451.
ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lillian M. Potter 207 Comstock Ave. GR 8-5847.

TO BUY OR SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN:
Spague Motors, 1000 Hiawatha Blvd. W., 474-6007, is the place.

LAVALIERS. $2.75. Wedding, Shower, Baby gifts. Riviera sunglasses, watch and jewelry repairs. Ruth's Gifts, 734 South Crouse.

FOR SALE

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of four colors of paper, three colors of ink, two sizes of sheets. Bookstall.

MAN'S HANDSOME flat top desk 6 X 36", walnut, a basket and telephone stand to match. Call GR 2-4264.

WANTED

STUDENTS, male-female. Earn up to $50.00 per week. Telephone sales work, hours flexible. Call Mr. Manley, GR 1-6678.

FREE!! A chance to participate in a psychology experiment. A guaranteed painless opportunity to advance science. Takes no longer than 20 min. Call ext. 2208 or drop in at 107 College Place any afternoon this week. Ask for Washington Irving or Irving Washington.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students

TWO BLOCKS FROM FIELDHOUSE, 225 Lorraine Ave. Modern 4-room upper, 2 bedrooms, large closet, brick cupboards, refrigerator and stove. Picture windows, living room and kitchen, ceramic tile bath, private parking area, on bus line. Available immediately, $115. NE 8-0497. GR 6-1473.

APARTMENTS FOR RENT. Two rooms with bath, 411 S. Crouse Ave. Call 476-7188 after 1 p.m.

3 ROOMS RECENTLY remodeled — paneling, bus, light parking. $55.00. Call 476-4388.

BELLEVUE HEIGHTS, unfurnished 7-rm. house. Vacant. Fine location. $125 per month. Call owner, GR 8-1597.

3 RM. apartment, furnished and heated, newly painted. University section, very inexpensive. GI 6-1741 or 446-8527.

FURNISHED APARTMENTS. 1 and 2 bedrooms, 1 block from University. Call 478-0495 after 5.

DOUBLE AND SINGLE, $7.50, $12.50. Kitchen privileges. 474-2514.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Live models, also sales and service, special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 222 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

WILL DO TYPING in my home. 471-7216

Orange (12-7) Journey to Cornell

Junior Ace

CHUCK RICHARDS, the basket chucker from Poland, N. Y., with 103 points this season is 37 behind Jack Kiley's scoring record for an SU junior. Chuck was the seventh man to gain membership in the "100 Club" when he passed the four century mark against West Virginia. As a one two punch for the Big Orange, Richards and Dave Bing will become the second best in Hill History. They need 13 points between them tonight to move up to number two behind Gary Clark and Vin Cohen. Dave and Chuck have 795 points as a team.

Intramurals

The Hill intramural program, with one winner already crowned, is scheduled to decide champions in winter sports next week. Following the completion of the intramural ski meet, playoffs are slated in four other winter sports.

Psi Upsilon captured Saturday's ski title while Delta Upsilon and Sims 2 wound up tied for second. Kappa Phi Delta trailed in fourth place. Members of the winning Psi U team were: Chuck Smith, Pete Winkelman, John Skinner, Frank Rose and John Murray.

In basketball, most of the original 125 teams have been eliminated. Six survivors, each having disposed of the five other teams in its flight, will tangle in three games Monday night.

The living center winners are: Booth 5, DelPlain 3, Marshall Cottage, Watson W4 and Booth 1 & 2. Fraternity winners have not yet been determined.

Team champions in handball, bowling and table tennis will also be decided by elimination rounds.

Following the completion of winter competition, spring sports will get under way.

Hillmen Eye NIT Berth

By HOWIE SCHNEIDER

As the basketball season swings into its final stages Fred Lewis and Co. will attempt to break a two game losing streak and make one last run for an NIT berth.

Tonight at Ithaca the Orangemen will meet Cornell in the first of their four road games in the next ten days. Game time is 8:15 p.m. with a frosh encounter at 6:15 p.m. Tickets will be $1.25.

The Hill squad seems to have lost some of the momentum which carried them to a six game winning streak earlier this month. Lewis' boys have dropped their last two encounters, to NIT bound Pittsburgh and possible NCAA bound West Virginia, with their record dipping to 12-7.

The Cornell squad owns an over all 11-7 slate, and an 8-3 Ivy League record. Last weekend the Big Red dumped rival Harvard, 73-71, and Dartmouth. Earlier they beat Colgate, Canisius, Buffalo, Columbia, Florida Southern, Brown, Pennsylvania, and Springfield.

The Ithaca team has lost to Providence, and Minnesota. The last two coming in the Holiday Festival in New York City.

The last SU-Cornell contest, Dec. 17 at Manley Field House, went down to the wire. With

Piety Skaters Lose to RIT

The Syracuse University Hockey Club went down to defeat 10-2 to RIT Saturday night at the Coliseum.

Tom Shepard and Brian Christie scored for the Orange in the first period.

RIT scored two in the first, five in the second and three goals in the last period.

It was the last home game for Syracuse. The Orangemen have two games left on the road, one at RIT and the other at Buffalo.

Soph Sensation

BAD NEWS BING, as David Bing is known by to his opponents, will set a new Syracuse University sophomore scoring record tonight with his fourth point. Bing currently has 392 points for the season, three less than Carl Vernick's sophomore record. Dave has been averaging 20.6 a game this season. Against Cornell tonight Bing will also become the eighth man to join the "100 Club," at Syracuse.

12 seconds remaining a Chuck Richards basket gave the Orangemen an 86-84 win.

Lewis will go with Richards at center, Dave Bing and Dickie Duffy in the backcourt, and Norm Goldsmith and either Phil Schoff or Sam Penceal at forwards.

"The Cornell team has a great deal of depth, a well-balanced squad. They used two teams over the weekend. I'll have to wait before I know if its Penceal or Schoff," the Hill coach said.

The amazing Bing needs two buckets to shatter Carl Vernick's sophomore scoring record of 395 tallies, and five points in the game to become the eighth member of the Syracuse "400 Club." Richards was the seventh club member.

Mr. Bing and Mr. Richards need only 13 points between them to become the second greatest one-two scoring punch in Orange history. On top is the 1956-57 scoring combination of Clark and Cohen.

INTRAS

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

Basketball

7:00 — Phi Epsilon Pi (B) vs. Phi Delta (B); Sigma Alpha Mu (B) vs. Alpha Chi Rho (B); Sigma Alpha Mu vs. Phi Epsilon Pi.

7:45 — Phi Gamma Delta vs. Delta Kappa Epsilon; Tau Delta Phi vs. Kappa Phi Delta; Phi Sigma Delta vs. Phi Delta Theta.

8:30 — Alpha Tau Omega vs. Delta Tau Delta; Alpha Chi Rho vs. Psi Upsilon; Tau Epsilon Phi vs. Phi Kappa Psi.

Handball

7:00 — Booth 5 vs. Booth 8.

SU - Cornell Frosh Meet

VAUGHN HARPER

Syracuse's frosh basketball team invades Cornell's Barton Hall tonight in an attempt to make the Little Red their 12th victim in 16 starts. Game time is 6:15 p.m.

In their last start the Tangerines bowed to powerful Broome Tech by an 18-point margin.

Probable starters for the Hill yearlings are Rick Dean in the pivot, Scott Loll and Vaughn Harper at the forward positions, and Marty Goldstein and Rich Russo handling the backcourt chores.

Cornell and Syracuse have played three previous games this season with the Piety holding a 2-1 edge. The Tangerines scored its wins in the friendly confines of Manley Field House while the Little Red were victorious at Barton Hall.

Sky High

"Alright what do I do next," appears to be on the mind of our airborne ski jumper as he competes in the Winter Weekend Ski Meet at Skytop. Paul Smiths won the team jumping title on the 15 meter jump after wind halted competition on the 30 meter jump.

Food Changes Promised

Food Conference

Listening to arguments on food service at student administration meeting held Tuesday are, from left, Vice President FRANCIS A. WINGATE, Dean of Women MARJORIE SMITH and freshman class President JAMES RICHARDS. Several proposals for changes were aired at the meeting and were. The meeting was called yesterday by Joint Student Government President James Morris as an aftermath of last week's food boycott.

Food Service Discussion Planned for JSL Meeting

A special meeting of Joint Student Legislature will be held at 7 p.m. today in Kittridge Auditorium, H.B. Crouse Hall.

The meeting, called Monday by Joint Student Government President James Morris, will be devoted to a discussion of food service.

Morris said he will report to the legislature on the results of Tuesday's student-administration meeting on food service problems.

He will present to the group the 29 points which have been the crux of student arguments against food service, and will explain what has been promised on specific items.

The legislature, which last week sanctioned a boycott on the university dining halls, is expected to await the outcomes of the food service meeting before taking further action on food service problems.

A second meeting of students and administrators will be held Thursday to discuss the food

Vice president Francis A. Wingate is expected to report to the group on food service reaction to the proposals—whether they are feasible or not.

Morris said he will present the executive branch's proposals to the legislature and ask for suggestions.

He said that the legislature meeting will last "until all discussion has been completed and each hand raised has been recognized."

After the food service discussion, Morris will turn the floor over to JSL speaker Jay Litwin for discussion of legislative business.

2nd Protest Meeting Planned for Thursday

By DAVID SOSNA

Tentative agreement to remedy many food service problems was given Tuesday at a meeting between student government leaders and administration representatives.

The meeting was scheduled in an attempt to discuss student complaints concerning food service.

Another talk is set for Thursday to cover the basic, broader aspects of the situation.

Present were Jim Morris, President of Joint Student Government, Dean of Men Jim G. Carlton, Dean of Women Marjorie Smith, Vice-President of Public Affairs Kenneth G. Bartlett, DelPlain dorm council president Bill Weller and Jim Richard, president of the freshman class and other student representatives. Absent from the meeting food service supervisor.

Comment on the meeting was favorable, Wingate said. "It was very reasonable. I enjoyed discussing the problems with the students and I feel it led to a much better understanding." Morris said he felt the meeting was Mrs. Ursula Pettingill, went "as expected."

"We won't know what we have until Thursday when we get definite answers and reactions from food service on our proposals, but some definite answers were given today and I am optimistic." Morris was speaking of the 29 student complaints that the committee had discussed and sent to food service.

Suggestions tentatively agreed to by Wingate were:

1. All female food service employees working.
2. Pies and cakes should be served more often.

3. Do-it-yourself sundaes will be tried for a week but if the idea results in too much work for food service it will be rejected.

4. Seconds on jello and fruit will be served.

5. The grills for eggs will be clean and eggs will be served in a larger variety and more often.

6. Bacon, sausage and Canadian bacon will be served three times a week at breakfast meals, coffee cake will be served more often for breakfast meals.

8. Salads and dressings will be served in greater variety.

9. Toast, pancakes and other hot foods will be kept warmer.

10. Plastic dishes might be replaced by larger china ones in Watson and Sims.

11. Orange juice will not be served any more diluted than necessary.

12. Alternate meat for pork will be served for the Jewish students.

13. Potatoes will be cooked softer.

14. Ashtrays, and salt and pepper shakers will be put on the tables. If they are stolen they will not be replaced.

15. Table cloths will be used for Sunday meals.

16. Menus will be distributed to living centers not just dining halls.

17. Gravies will be hot and more appropriate to the meat served.

Hill Prof Meets Indian Officials

A Maxwell political science professor met with the president and vice-president of India last month.

Prof. Bertram M. Gross spent three weeks in India as a guest of the Indian Planning Commission. He discussed the nature of scientific inquiry with President Radhakrishnan, and the role of the new generation in Indian universities with Vice-President Hussein.

Both officials expressed "considerable interest" in the planning studies initiated in India by the Maxwell School.

In New Delhi, Gross worked with a group of eight Indians who are analyzing the realities of Indian planning as part of a joint study for both the Indian Planning Commission and the study of national planning in many countries.

He brought to the Indian group the results of Maxwell studies in other countries and conducted three workshops for the group on the subjects of (1) the multiplicity of national planners, (2) the bargaining concept of national planning, and (3) the use of system models evaluating performance.

Maxwell Parley

Growth Plans Cited

By HELEN McCONNELL

Why do so many national development plans exist mainly on paper? What can administrators do in both "underdeveloped" and "developed" countries, to convert plans into reality?

These are only some of the vital questions which will be considered at a Maxwell School-conducted seminar on "Action Under Development Plans." The seminar, financed by a Ford Foundation grant, will be held at the Minnowbrook Conference Center at Blue Mountain Lake in the Adirondacks. It will last from July 1 to July 31, 1964.

One group of scholars will present papers dealing primarily with various aspects of action under planning. Participating in one division of this group, is Bertram M. Gross, Maxwell political science professor. His paper will be concerned with "Activation: Not by Command Alone."

Other papers include "Activation Under Various Planning Models." "Planning and Action in Transitional Societies." "Dealing with National and International Value Conflicts." and "Handling Environmental Aspects of Plan Implementation." Each of these papers will be available for advance reading in preliminary form in May 1964.

A second group of scholars will present papers dealing with future research needs and potentialities with respect to national planning. Each scholar is stressing a survey of national planning in one country.

Among these scholars, Fred Burke, professor of political science at Maxwell, will discuss Tanganyika and Robert Shafer, professor of history at Syracuse University will deal with Mexico. Other countries on the agenda are France, India, and Great Britain.

Fellowships for full participation in the seminar have been awarded to six graduate students who have distinguished themselves in research or course work on some aspect of planning or related fields at Syracuse University. They include: Wendell Brown, Dr. M. Savithri Chari, Nikos Georgoulas, David Hutchinson, Thomas Rasmussen, and M. Tariq Siddiqi.

After the seminar is completed, it is expected that the various papers will be revised and published under the title of "Action Under Development Plans."

LENTEN SERVICES

The schedule of Wednesday's Lenten services will be 7 a.m., Interdenominational Holy Communion, north wing, Hendricks Chapel.

12:05 p.m., Roman Catholic Mass, St. Thomas More Chapel.

4:05 p.m., Roman Catholic Mass, Hendricks Chapel.

5:05 p.m., Lutheran Holy Communion, north wing, Hendricks Chapel.

5:05 p.m., Episcopal Holy Communion, Chapel House.

SYRACUSE 10
OUT TODAY

Buy your copy of the student magazine at H. B. Crouse lobby or the University Bookstores. Enjoy the winter issue's exceptional short stories, art and photography.

'Syracuse 10' Reviewed

In the midst of a few mutterings and mumblings, the new Syracuse '10 projects an unusual intellectual image to those students on the Hill who venture through it. Attempting to be a campus literary magazine, the '10 falls a bit short of creating the "aesthetic" desired by her editors and contributors.

In general terms, the '10 seems to be offering the campus a bit more than it can chew in one dose.

The outstanding story in the '10, "Annabelle Levy" is written by a New York City copy writer. Although many Syracusans may cry this is betrayal to the term "campus literary magazine", the story warrants inclusion in the magazine as one of the finest pieces published in many years. The fact that the author is not a Syracusan nor remotely affiliated with the university, is evidence of the broad scope which the '10 hopes to draw.

The cries that the '10 would only be of material from outside the campus is false. The bulk of material within the 48 pages is the labor of university undergraduates, graduates and faculty. Although these poems and short stories seem to be saying things, or rather implying things, unsaid, they leave the reader a bit perplexed as to meaning. But, that could be our strict literary training.

The quality of the literary material in the '10 is said to be on a par with the Fall issue. But the average reader might find difficulty in browsing through the pages. It is serious, unadulterated and carefully edited reading matter, which, in all due respect to the authors, deserves scrutiny.

The cover of the magazine tries to reflect the microcosm of the material inside. Or at least it seems so. The montage of newspapers does not forcefully bring the prospective buyer into direct line with the mood of the magazine. In fact, the cover suggests a far less formal magazine than the inside pages indicate.

Grouping together all the talents of the arts, the '10 uses outstanding photographs by undergraduate Alan Roth and graduate student Michael F. Johnson.

Perhaps the most provocative part of the '10 is the sketch section by Fred Hauke. The drawings are bewitching and narrative, making the reader of the '10 feel as if he has really gotten something for his money.

The Syracuse '10 tries to reflect an "aesthetic image", but the total image of the magazine seems to die before it is born.

O Say Can You See

Mutiny

By Ken Auletta

Lincoln once admonished us to realize that a House divided against itself cannot long stand; he was wrong. The rift which exists between the legislative and executive branches of student government at SU is a case in point. Student government here never seemed to take on the dimensions of a house of any appreciable size and importance; it seemed more like a little sailboat gliding around and as puffs of wind blew it about. At times it seemed to try not very hard to sail away, but always it came back to its small but comfortable bathtub. It was very safe and peaceful and quiet in this limbo port of theirs.

That is, until a whispered mutiny began to sneak beneath the sails. The leader was named Litwin, and his first mate was known as Snierison. The leader would make infrequent attacks upon the belligerent winds, while the first mate inspired subversion with his "low-level" contacts. But the winds only paused, never did they stop. And so one day Litwin, pained by a conscious conscience which could stand the blistering winds no more, exploded; his trustworthy first mate never left his side. The boat split in two... but only one half sunk. The other, captained now by Litwin, somehow grew. The House of student government is divided, but it stands straight and tall today, led by Mr. Speaker, Jay Litwin, and his "lower-level" mates. The other half, composed largely of "top level" officers, flounders in a sea of confusion and mud.

The metaphors are not entirely inappropriate for a review of this week's student government events, numbing even the imagination. It began with Snierison. Daily we were fed a diet of his persistent salvos at Food Service. Marshall Snierison was JSL's top "low level" food service investigator. He received his "No's" from food service's top "low level" administrator: Ross Moriarity. Snierison was appointed by Litwin.

On Wednesday evening, the usually placid Legislature meeting was rocked, following the food service report, by a resolution to boycott Thursday's dinner. Speeches of support leaped forth. Kate Antony, vice president of student government sat near the back; she was silent throughout. The vote was unanimous, for Mr. Speaker announced as much, slowly, and there were then no objections.

The Daily Orange headline the following morning served more as an interesting ornament than as a requisite for action, for a word of the proposed boycott spread quickly that Wednesday night. But beneath the headline flashed a black bordered box, laid out as if it were an obituary; it was a message form JSG President James Morris. It told us that the boycott was not sanctioned by the executive branch of JSG. It also told us that there were still "top-level" areas open for discussion, recommending that we heed his belated bugle and refuse to participate in this boycott which was sure to be detrimental to any progress. Morris was furious at Litwin for what he thought to be his Benedict Arnold proclamation. Here it began.

Outside Sim Hall that Thursday evening stood Litwin, Snierison, and company; laughing and nibbling on pieces of cake. From across the Quad approached Jim Morris and his executive entourage. Brief, but angry words were exchanged. Litwin was followed off to Shaw. "The Chief", as Morris' friends affectionately refer to their leader, was followed into Sims.

Friday's D O more clearly illustrated student government's civil war. Snierison, who had been appointed by Litwin, was now being cast aside for Morris, for Morris was going to appoint a group of "rational, reasonable people to meet with the top people in food service"; for people in student government "not of the top level", said he, "had negotiated with people in food service who were not top level." Clearly, Snierison was no longer considered quite rational or "top-level". In this, and in his opposition to the boycott of university dining halls, Morris claimed to have the support of his Vice-President, Kate Antony, the Class Presidents, and people in the legislature all of whom backed his stand "100 per cent". The line between being a bit pretentious and just plain ridiculous, is not very strong. Could it be that the Vice-President who was strongly behind her "chief" could be the same girl who sat quietly near the rear at Wednesday's JSL meeting? And who were these people in the legislature, the same Legislature that had just cast its solid, unanimous vote in favor of the boycott?

Student leaders learn young to be good losers; Jim Morris is no exception, for with the astounding figure of 71 per cent abstinence still loudly ringing within all our ears, the D O reported: "After viewing the boycott Thursday evening, Morris said the result was about what he expected but the idea was premature and abused."

Meanwhile, Jay Litwin, in the very same issue claimed that the boycott decision "was made after much rational thought"; the President claimed it to irrational, the Speaker said it was rational. Litwin made further snide remarks ostensibly directed at Morris: "The boycott was not planned to intimidate anyone, it was to prove that those people on the 'top-level', who by the way do not eat the food — that the majority of the students are fed up from not being fed up." Litwin did not stop here, the wound was open and harsh words, not compromise, was to be his salve: Litwin asked that all "future 'top-level' negotiators join me for the rest of the semester eating in food service so that we can understand exactly what we're talking about." Morris's indifference to the success of the boycott stands in sharp contrast to Litwin's excited "it was extremely successful".

Monday's D O further confused what one thought to be a clear civil war; Jim Richard, freshman class president was reported to have indicated on "Friday that, far from damaging JSG administration relations, the boycott had demonstrated the unity of student feelings of dissatisfaction over food service. He said that, in light of the demonstration, the administration has shown a great deal more interest in negotiations, and that students should be commended for their unified stand." If one were able to know the exact size of Jim Morris's entourage they could then subtract Jim Richard and divide, arriving at considerably less than the "100 per cent support" the "Chief" had proclaimed. Or, rather than a divided executive, was this not perhaps a trial balloon for easing into a more popular and maneuverable position?

On Monday, the President of Student Government informed the Speaker of the Legislature that he had called an emergency meeting of the Legislature which he himself would conduct. The President had clearly repaid the Speaker for his earlier slight. The meeting was called so that the boycott issue could be aired, and maybe even more important, so that the results of "top-level" negotiations concerning food service could be disclosed; negotiations conducted by "top-level" negotiators free of any "lower-level" members of the Legislature. The conflict and the competition between the two branches of student government grows wider. And Wednesday evening, if the "Chief" should benignly announce the successful completion of "top-level" negotiations concerning food service, where stands Jay Litwin? No less Marshall Snierison?

It's not entirely reasonable that the lack of sufficient

(Continued on Page 6)

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2 February 26, 1964

Editor-In-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor Clayton F. Richards
News Editor Andrew Forte
Editorial Director Adair DuFane
Sports Editor Bernard MacCallum
Art Editor Rea Turel
Photography Editor Steve Schummer

BUSINESS STAFF

National Ad. Mgr. Lynn Mondel
Classified Mgr. Christine Sedrak
Promotion Mgr. Stu Shapiro
Asst. Bus. Mgr. Jon Weisberg
Layout Managers Martha Lohrke, Lillian Lohr

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 201 Brookline Drive, Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter at U.S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N.Y.

TREVER ON CAMPUS

The Mazowsze Dancers

The troop of 100 Polish dancers that have won acclaim throughout the United States will be in Syracuse March 10 at RKO Keith's. Tickets are on sale for $5, $1.25, $3.75 and $3.20.

WCTU Play Opening Soon Miller, Cellist, Plays For Crouse Concert

"Ten Nights in a Bar-Room," a temperance melodrama in three acts, will be presented by the Syracuse University Drama Department at 8:30 p.m. March 12, 13, 14, 19, 20, and 21 at the University Regent Theatre.

The play, taken from a novel by T. S. Arthur, warns against the pitfalls of drinking by dramatizing the deterioration of people succumbing to alcohol.

Originally "Ten Nights in a Bar-Room" served as propaganda literature for the Women's Christian Temperance Union whose members performed the W. T. Pratt play in addition to their fiery lectures.

Dr. Joseph Golden of the Drama Department is directing the play. Major characters are portrayed by John McNeilly, Edward Roman, Arthur Kuzcinski, Marion Present, Hope Roppo, Richard Folmer, Rea Turet, and Ellenoy Schindler.

Tickets are available at the University Regent Theatre for $2.00 and $1.50.

The University Symphony, Gregor Piatigorsky and Luigi Louis Krasner, director, will present a concert 4 p.m. March 1 in Crouse Auditorium.

Frederick Miller, cellist, will be the featured soloist.

The program will open with the playing of "An Outdoor Miller will perform the Concerto in D Major for Cello and Orchestra by Joseph Haydn. Following intermission, Krasner will lead the orchestra in a performance of "Symphony No. 7 in A Major" by Beethoven.

Miller is a graduate of Hamilton College and holds a Master of music degree and performer's School of Music. He is a candidate for the Doctor of musical arts degree at the University of Southern California.

A regular member of the Miller has made a number of solo appearances in this area during the past two years. He has studied with Gabor, Rejto, Silva, considered to be the leading teaching cello, chamber music and music history at Syracuse University and LeMoyne College.

The program will be performed again that evening at Oneida High School.

W A E R
88.3 mc

WEDNESDAYS
WAER Highlights
4:00 Six on, News, and
4:15 Experiment in Music
6:00 Washington Report
6:15 Communique
6:30 Dan Stone and the News
6:45 Focus
7:00 Dateline London
7:30 Yankee Dollar
8:00 The Spoken Word
8:30 The 8:30 Report
8:35 Men of Music
10:45 Late Night Report
11:00 Folkways

Schmidt Pens Book On Microbiology

"Experimental Soil Microbiology" is the title of a new book by Dr. Edwin L. Schmidt, a 1940 graduate of SU.

Schmidt, now a professor of microbiology at the University of Minnesota, designed the book as a broad methods guide for the study of micro-organisms.

Co-author of the book, published by Burgess Publishing Company, is Prof. David Prame professor of agricultural microbiology at Rutgers University.

Highlights
7:30 p.m.: "Federal Dollar (U.S. Aid in Mexico), panel discussion with professors from the University of Texas.
8:30 p.m.: Mozart's Piano Concerti.
10 p.m.: The folk songs of Peter, Paul and Mary.

PEERLESS PRESS, Inc.
PRINTERS
1112 E. Fayette Street
Between University & Walnut
COMPLETE PRINTING SERVICE
at your doorstep
GR 6-6051

WELCOME STUDENTS

WIN

IN THE MARLBORO BRAND ROUND-UP CONTEST

RULES AND PRIZES TO BE AWARDED WILL BE ANNOUNCED SHORTLY

MARLBORO ★ PARLIAMENT ★ ALPINE
PHILIP MORRIS ★ PAXTON

THE BELL SYSTEM

represented by
Western Electric
New York Telephone
New Jersey Bell Telephone
Long Lines
Bell Telephone Laboratories
will interview on campus

MAR. 3, 4

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER.

Daily Crossword Puzzle

ACROSS
1 Whitefish.
6 Stringed instrument: It.
10 Handle.
14 For this case only: Lat: 2 words.
15 Brother of Odin.
16 Turkish regiment.
17 Had to do (with).
18 Segregation policy in S. Africa.
20 Mexican state.
22 Interval of a sort: 2 words.
23 Evening: Fr.
25 Oxford.
26 On deck.
29 Islamic title.
30 Crowd into.
33 "Irish Rose."
34 Relative of a high wire.
37 Bill of fare.
38 West Pointer.
39 Uniform.
40 Play by G.B.S.
42 Quill.
43 Balaam's mount.
44 French lace.
45 Himalayan peak.
47 Sibilant sound.

48 Pitchfork part.
49 Devastate: 2 words.
53 Red Square city.
57 City in New Jersey.
59 Unhesitant.
60 Pickle spice.
61 Country on the Caspian.
62 Baseball's "Cap."
63 Trifling.
64 Cozy retreat.
65 Where the poop is.
DOWN
1 Bounders.
2 Idea: Prefix.
3 State, part of Burma.
4 Structure dating from 72 A.D. in Rome.
5 Municipal taxes, in Europe.
6 Miss Gardner.
7 Mellow.
8 English royal house.
9 Impenetrable.
10 Sounds of mirth.
11 Name akin to Sandy.

12 Accomplish.
13 Ebb and flow.
19 Negotiate.
21 First words.
24 Emporium: 2 words.
26 City in Florida.
27 Does as told.
28 Sharp sounds.
30 Form of entertainment.
31 Unfolds.
32 Pulitzer prize poet, 1929.
35 Affirmative phrase: 2 words.
36 Delineate.
38 Graduation memento.
41 Of the birds.
42 Ladies of 20 Across.
46 Energy.
47 Marshy plain.
49 City in New Jersey.
50 Tart.
51 Loud outcry.
52 Periods of time.
54 Instance.
55 Fragrance.
56 Veteran comedian.
58 Explosive.

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

Ely Returns from Chile Trip | Senior Ball

Dr. Donald Ely, director of the Center for Instructional Communications returned to Syracuse University recently from a six-month Fulbright lectureship at the Institute Pedagógico of the University of Chile.

Dr. Ely lectured in audiovisual communications at the Santiago institution and also served as an audiovisual consultant to the Chilean army and public relations specialists.

He offered a seminar in the school of psychology at the university, participated in an educational television seminar in Santiago and Valparaiso and offered a workshop for teachers of English-speaking schools in Santiago.

He assisted with closed-circuit television equipment of the UNESCO-sponsored Centro Latinoamericano para Formación de Especialistas en Educación and lectured to private groups.

Ex-Forester Writes Book

A former Syracuse University forestry major, Warren L. Strickland, is author of a new book, Learning Learning, which contains techniques to a program for average students.

"Investigations in Physical Science," scheduled for April publication by Burgess Publishing Company, Minneapolis, takes the place of, but does not duplicate, text and workbook. A guide to the measurement and the manual has been tested under classroom conditions in the Tucson public school system.

Beta Sig Elects

Beta Sigma Rho has announced the election of new officers. They are Frank Landau, Chancellor; Steve Alper, Vice Chancellor; Richard Gould, Recorder; and Irwin Rockman, Auditor.

Plans Set

The Senior Ball has been set for June 5 at Three Rivers Inn, according to Ronald Brzezinski, president of the Senior Class. Tex Bennecke, with the Glenn Miller Band, and the Modernaires will provide the music for the occasion. Tickets will be sold for $5 a couple.

A budget of $4,000, the largest in the history for Senior Ball, has been allotted.

"Since we feel that graduation weekend is a time for all seniors to participate, we are holding a contest for the senior class button," said Brzezinski. "As an incentive, we are awarding a free pair of tickets to the senior whose button we use."

Neil Eisner, treasurer, stated that the treasury has more than tripled since the current slate of officers entered office. This was a direct result of the $800 profit made from the 1,000 mums and 2,000 "I am a father" buttons sold for Parents Weekend," he said.

Senior Class Button?

It will be, unless you seniors get creative and draw your own. Now you have the shape for the button. Do you have an idea? There will be a box in the lobby of HBC so you can deposit your entry. Enter as often as you like, but don't forget to attach your name to it. Senior Exec Council wants to award a pair of tickets to the creative genius who has the best button design.

A career for exceptional men

... Some notes about you, about us, and the advertising business

About you. If you are the man we seek, you have an insatiable curiosity about people and the world around you.

You're alert and responsive to new ideas, new ways of doing things. You like to take on new problems ... you see them as opportunities.

You dig deep into the why of things. And the best answers you can come up with today are never good enough for you tomorrow.

You're an individualist. Yet you thrive on team spirit.

You have conviction about freedom of choice, consistent with the rights of others.

You're the kind of man who could be successful in business for himself, but you see the greater challenge implicit in today's major enterprises.

About us. The J. Walter Thompson Company was formed 100 years ago and has long been one of the world's largest advertising firms. Its stock is owned by more than five hundred active staff members.

We help over 500 companies in the United States and abroad sell thousands of products and services to hundreds of millions of people. Last year alone, we were responsible for the advertising investment of close to a half-billion dollars.

There are 6,900 people working with Thompson around the world. Their backgrounds range far and wide. And so do their assignments, which include writing, art, broadcasting, market research, media buying, international business, marketing and merchandising, accounting, music, styling, the theatre, and the social sciences.

In our experience, superior individuals from every graduate and undergraduate educational discipline find successful careers in a major agency such as the Thompson Company. Staff members in our New York Office alone represent nearly three hundred colleges and universities here and abroad.

Your career with us. You may be surprised to learn that while an advertising company must have artistically creative people, it depends just as much on people who are imaginative and inventive in other ways.

Our business is selling. Communicating through the written and spoken word is how we sell. You must possess the ability to speak and write well so your ideas may be shared and understood.

We are looking for the kind of men who wish and are able to assume substantial responsibility early in their business lives. To such men we offer a remarkable chance to grow and develop—one seldom found in any firm.

Previous advertising experience is not required. Basically, our interest is in the nature of a person rather than in his specialized knowledge and abilities.

We offer you no standard starting salary, no cut-and-dried training program. Beginning salaries are individually considered and compare favorably to those of other national firms. We help you tailor your own development program, based on your interests, your abilities, your goals. Your program will differ from other men's programs just as you differ from other men.

When you join us you will work side by side with experienced advertising men. Your growth will be based on your own initiative, your own development. There are no age or seniority requirements to limit the responsibility you can earn.

We encourage you to follow your curiosity into all phases of advertising, because we want you to become a well-rounded practitioner as rapidly as possible. Experienced advertising men are eager to coach you individually in your efforts to develop your capabilities. Additionally, you are free to delve into every nook and cranny of advertising through our annual series of professional seminars, workshops and classes. You learn from men who are experts in their fields.

About men who join us. A remarkable number of college men who have joined us in the past decade have remained with us and are enjoying varied, exciting careers.

Because of our emphasis on early growth, relatively young men commonly handle major responsibilities in many phases of our business—both in this country and abroad.

All initial assignments are in New York City or Chicago, but we have many other offices in the United States and throughout the world; and if you are interested, you may request a transfer later on.

If you wish to be a candidate, you must graduate in 1964 and be able to join us by June of 1965. You may obtain further information at the placement office. Please check there regarding the possibility of a personal interview. We shall be on campus March 11.

J. Walter Thompson Company

New York, Chicago, Detroit, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Hollywood, Washington, D. C., Miami, Montreal, Toronto, Mexico City, San Juan, Buenos Aires, Montevideo, São Paulo, Rio de Janeiro, Porto Alegre, Recife, Belo Horizonte, Santiago (Chile), Lima, London, Paris, Antwerp, Amsterdam, Frankfurt, Milan, Vienna, Johannesburg, Cape Town, Durban, Port Elizabeth, Salisbury (Southern Rhodesia), Bombay, Calcutta, New Delhi, Madras, Karachi, Colombo (Ceylon), Sydney, Melbourne, Tokyo, Osaka, Manila.

Home Ec Gives Annual Dinner

The College of Home Economics will hold its 20th annual Orchid Dinner Wednesday. The theme of the dinner is to be "Creativity: The Challenge of Our Society." A Reception will be held at 6:45 p.m. in Sadler Hall with the dinner following an hour later.

Traditionally, an orchid is presented to the home ec. senior with the highest academic average.

Dr. Carol A. Fisher, assistant citizenship, is the featured speaker. Also speaking will be Dr. Bernice Wright, assistant professor of family relations and child development.

This will be the first Orchid Dinner to which the entire college may come. In previous years only the school's honor students were invited.

Among invited guests are the following women in the community who represent creative achievement:

Miss Esther Foley, director of the Cereal Institute of America; Dr. Helen Icken Sofa, resident consultant for the youth development center; Mrs. Louis Krasner, violinist with the Syracuse Symphony and Friends of Chamber Music; Miss Eleanor Lynch, home service and lighting representative with Niagara Mohawk Power Co.; Dr. Jean Miller, a clinical instructor in psychiatry; Dr. Jean Simpson, emeritus professor of foods; and Mrs. Frank Wood, a social worker in the local public health department.

Miss Lynch and Miss Foley are both graduates of the home ec college.

Besides honoring the outstanding senior in the college, awards will be presented to other top scholars.

Toastmistress for the evening is Miss Marcy Friedman, president of the home ex. honorary Omicron Nu. She will introduce her honorary's pledges.

Other participating in the program will be Dean Barbara Griggs and Carol Sherf.

Reservations close today. They are being accepted at the home ex. office.

Parking Jam

This scene, witnessed Tuesday on main campus, dramatizes SU parking problem.

Interviews Set For Volunteers

Interviews will be held today for Operation Volunteer, placement service for all Community Chest organizations.

All students who wish to volunteer their spare time as counselors, readers, aides, or other social work may sign up and be interviewed from 1-5 p.m. in Hendricks Chapel basement.

Operation Volunteer placed over 200 university students last year in a variety of jobs. Brochures on job opportunities have been posted on the campus. Further information can be obtained from Room 1, Chapel House, Ext. 2317, 9-10 a.m. today and 1-5 p.m. Wednesday.

Engineers Use Computer

Engineering students at Syracuse University will make use of several new analogue computers for solving original problems in their field this spring.

During the semester chemical engineering seniors will use the computers for problems in the design of chemical plants. Electrical engineering students will also have a chance to work with the new equipment.

Ever see the "Progress Corps" in action?

Its members are at work all over the free world, helping millions of people to progress toward better lives.

In India, West Germany, Italy, and in the United States, they're building nuclear power plants, launching the age of low-cost atomic power.

In Samoa, they're developing an educational TV network to battle illiteracy... while in Pittsburgh, they're working with teachers to help high school students learn more about computers.

In Wales, they're putting the final touches on Europe's first computer-controlled steel mill. Near Los Angeles they've scored a world first by putting a computer in charge of cement mill operations.

In Brazil, Pakistan and Ghana, they're providing extra-high-voltage equipment for huge dams to harness these nations' hydroelectric power. For Malaysia, they're supplying high-power diesel locomotives... for Norway, a marine engine room to power one of the world's largest supertankers.

The members of the "Progress Corps" are the men and women of General Electric, working to provide the key to progress—low-cost electric power and better ways of putting it to work. Many are engineers. Many others are international lawyers, physicists, financial specialists, marketing experts.

General Electric is growing both at home and abroad. If you'd like to grow with us, talk to your placement director. He can help qualified people begin their General Electric careers.

Progress Is Our Most Important Product

GENERAL ELECTRIC

VISIT GENERAL ELECTRIC PROGRESSLAND • A Walt Disney PRESENTATION • AT THE NEW YORK WORLD'S FAIR

Riviera CINEMA
3115 SOUTH SALINA ST. • GR8-4021
2 ★ ★ ★ ★ FILMS
THE FOUR DAYS OF NAPLES
AND "UNFORGETTABLE" hand in the trap
ELSA DANIEL

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

F	B	O	A	A	L	E	F	B	O	M	B
C	R	E	D	I	T	I	C	A	R	D	I
L	O	V	E	L	E	T	T	E	R	I	B
A	F	E	S	E	R	I	C	U	I	L	A
W	E	L	D	R	E	S	T	A	N	T	I
P	A	R	E	S	H	I	E	L	L	C	I
A	N	T	A	R	E	S	D	I	A	M	O
R	C	O	F	I	E	D	S	I	C	A	R
T	E	A	T	I	L	E	S	S	T	E	R
A	N	Y	O	N	T	A	P	S	I	T	I
C	L	I	N	G	P	E	L	L	E	O	T
Z	E	S	U	C	I	S	T	A	R	D	P
A	V	E	S	A	L	T	E	R	A	T	I
R	H	O	I	E	B	I	E	T	I	R	A

Pre-Medical Honorary Seeks New Members

Beta chapter of Alpha Epsilon Corwin at ext. 2940 and Eta Delta, national pre-medical honorary, wishes to obtain the names of those students interested in pledging.

Those eligible are pre-medical students have a 2.0 science average and 1.75 overall average.

The officers of this honorary are dismayed at the present number of those eligible, said Barney Corwin, treasurer of the fraternity. For a campus of this size and stature he would expect a greater number of students interested in joining. Corwin commented.

Those interested and eligible are asked to leave their name, address, phone number, and averages in Dr. R. O.'s office, 107 Lyman.

For further information, con-

Gage Speaks On Glaciers

Dr. Maxwell Gage, noted New Zealand geologist, will speak at Syracuse University Thursday. His lecture entitled "The Touch of Ice—Glaciers and the Landscape" will be presented at 8 p.m. in Kittredge Auditorium in the HB Crouse building.

Dr. Gage is a recognized authority in the role of glaciers in shaping landscapes and on the geologic record of ice age climatic changes in New Zealand.

In addition to his public lecture, the geologist will speak to seminar groups and talk informally to students in the department of geology on February 27 and 28. Under sponsorship of the American Geological Institute he will visit a dozen leading universities in this country before returning to the University of Canterbury in Christchurch.

Speech Grant Given to SU

A $2,000 grant to the School of Education of Syracuse University has been announced by the Edgar Stern Family Fund of New York City.

The grant will be used for a study of speech patterns of nine-year-old children in Syracuse. The work will be headed by William H. Heiner of the Elementary Education department. Heiner has collected much of the data already and expects the project to be completed in three or four months.

Faculty Wives Hold Coffee for ISO

Syracuse University faculty wives have invited all international students to an informal coffee from 5-5 p.m. every lounge, Chapel House.

Syracuse University Folk Festival Tickets Now

$2.00

CORNER STORE

MUTINY . . .

(continued from page 1)

lent warning, alone could prompt the executive branch of Student Government to engage the legislature branch in civil war. The stated reason for Jim Morris' stand on principle is that he deemed the boycott - this February - premature. Jim Richard, in this Monday's D O, broadens our perspective by putting the matter succinctly: "The executive branch of the student government had feared that premature action would damage relations between top leaders of JSG and the administration." There was no further explanation appended to this sentence; it simply began with a capital letter and ended with a period. The future of Student Government at Syracuse is not clear. Though Morris' is: this past Saturday he was notified of his acceptance into Syracuse's Law School.

Birth Control Talk

"The World Population Crisis and Its Meaning to Us" will be the topic of Lady Dhanvanthi Rama Rau, chairman of International Planned Parenthood Federation at 3:30 p.m. Sunday at the Everson Museum.

Lady Rama Rau is also founder and president of the Family Planning Association of India and known as one of her country's great women leaders.

Bard College awarded her the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters during one of her earlier visits to the country.

All interested students are invited to the talk. There is no admission charge.

See the new '64 Rambler at . . .

Feigel Motors

RAMBLER DEALERS

SALES AND EXPERT SERVICE

FOR ALL MAKES AND MODELS

SPECIALIZING IN AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSIONS
3832 S. Salina St. Call HY 2-1791

If your Periodic Pain lasts more than one day... reach past the aspirin for FEMICIN RELIEF

Does your periodic pain persist from one day to the next to the next? Do nagging headaches, tension and edgy irritability drag into the second, third or even the fourth days of your period?

Do painful cramps, backaches and depression linger? Have you tried aspirin in vain?

Femicin works where Aspirin fails. Women everywhere are discovering a new relief formula—Femicin tablets.

Clinical tests show Femicin brings you better-than-aspirin relief—especially when your periodic pain lasts more than one day!

Femicin's special formula eases aches quickly...eases cramps and periodic tension. Works to relax edgy irritability—to throw off puffiness, excess water weight. You feel better—look better—all week long!

Discover Femicin's amazing better-than-aspirin relief today.

Available at THE SIEGEL STORES

On Marshall St.

ANNOUNCING THE WINNER OF THE

ORCHID SHOPPE BEAUTY CONTEST

MISS MARGARET HEINSOHN
ALPHA GAMMA DELTA

ENTER NOW FOR NEXT WEEK'S CONTEST AND YOU TOO CAN WIN A DOZEN ROSES

THE ORCHID SHOPPE

GR 2-6221 605 BUTTERNUT
Specializing in Floral Arrangements Corsages, and Personalized Napkins and Matchbooks

FREE, RAPID DELIVERY

We Wire the World Over

SPECIAL—Shampoo, Style Cut, Set $5.00

at

Carmens HAIR STYLISTS

Two Hour Free Parking at Municipal Parking Lot

Open Thurs. & Fri. 9 to 9 Mon., Tues., Wed & Sat. 9 to 6
Call 212 Montgomery St. Syracuse, N. Y.
GR 1-0511

$1 This Week $1
at $1 Carmens $1
with this ad
One dollar off an ANY beauty treatment

COLUMBIA RECORDS WITH BARBRA STREISAND

TAKE OFF WHEN THE SPIRIT MOVES YOU AND TRAVEL AT THE SPEED OF SOUND

CL 2154 CS 8954 Stereo
Barbra Streisand—the girl who made extraordinary a commonplace word—marks her third appearance on Columbia Records in a bewitching collection of standard ballads. "Make Believe," "As Time Goes By," "It Had to Be You."

CL 2054 CS 8854 Stereo CQ 607 Tape
Barbra Streisand, the sensational Broadway, television and supper club personality sings "My Coloring Book," "Any Place I Hang My Hat Is Home," "Right As the Rain" and many others.

CL 2007 CS 8807 Stereo CQ 593 Tape
From warm to wallop to whimsy... Barbra Streisand, delightful young star of Broadway's "I Can Get It for You Wholesale," goes the vocal gamut in her exciting Columbia album debut. "Cry Me a River," "A Taste of Honey," "Happy Days Are Here Again" and others.

THE SOUND OF ENTERTAINMENT ON COLUMBIA RECORDS

3.98 .. Now 2.97 | 4.98 .. Now 3.77
5.98 .. Now 4.47 | 6.98 .. Now 5.25

Save on Records at University Hill Music Box
Open A Record Charge Account

University Hill MUSIC BOX

OWNED AND OPERATED BY SU STUDENTS

754 So. Crouse 475-4116
Open Monday 10 to 9 Tuesday thru Sat. 10 to 6

SU Prof Combines Teaching, Writing

A Syracuse University professor has combined research and writing with the traditional role of teacher and in the process has earned a fellowship and published his third book.

As a result of a $1500 fellowship awarded by the American Council of Learned Societies, Dr. Gabriel A. Vahanian, associate professor of religion will spend the 1964-1965 academic year in southern France studying the writings of Pierre Bayle a Protestant reformer.

The council is a private non-profit federation of 31 national scholarly associations devoted to the advancement of humanistic studies in all fields of learning.

In addition, Dr. Vahanian's third book, "Wait Without Idols," will be released March 9 by the George Braziller Co. Inc. According to its author the book will evaluate the works of American authors from Nathaniel Hawthorne to William Faulkner from a theological perspective.

Dr. Vahanian will spend most of his sabbatical leave in Allauch, France, which is near Marseilles. The title of his project is "Pierre Bayle and the role of Protestantism in the secularization of Western culture."

"Bayle is a 17th century Protestant who was a strong advocate of toleration in Church theology," Dr. Vahanian explained. "He defended atheism and attempted to debunk superstition."

Consequently, Bayle wrote a the thoughts of many theologians in order to determine whether their doctrines espoused toleration and or superstition.

"Bayle and his writings have

GABRIEL A. VAHANIAN

been neglected by most theologians, and it is only recently that his name has come up in scholarly circles," the professor added.

At the end of his study Dr. Vahanian hopes to write a book or research paper. The way in which his results will be published will depend upon his findings, he said.

Born in Marseilles in 1927, Dr. Vahanian has been on the SU faculty since 1958. Previously he taught at Princeton University and Princeton Theological Seminary.

He received degrees from the Sorbonne and the Faculte de Theologie Protestante de Paris. He was awarded his master and doctorate degrees from Princeton Theological Seminary.

Newman Club Holds Lecture

The Newman Apostolate at St. Thomas More Chapel on the Hill will inaugurate its distinguished lecture series at 4:30 p.m. Monday in Gifford Auditorium, H. B. Crouse Hall.

Speaker at the first session will be Msgr. John M. Oesterreicher discussing "The Council and the Jews."

Monsignor Oesterreicher serves as director of the Institute of Judaean-Christian Studies at Seton Hall University and is editor of its yearbook, "The Bridge."

Sig Ep Elects

Sigma Phi Epsilon has elected the following officers to serve for the spring-fall term: Robert Everson, President; Douglas Delaney, vice president; David Colvard, Comptroller; Morty Darsier, Secretary; Ralph Pelletia, historian and Dick Testa, chaplain.

Hillel Purim Service Set

Hillel announces that a special Purim service will be held at 8 p.m., today in the Colonial Room of Hendricks Chapel.

D.S. Altfield will chant the Megillah, noisemakers will be

CIVIL RIGHTS
At FOOTPRINTS

THANK YOU
WGC Plus 1
EILEEN AND BOB
(watch out Allen)

TODAY ONLY
ALL WOOL BLAZERS
WED., FEB. 26

$15
$30 VALUE... WITH THIS AD
IVY HALL

478-3304

705 S. CROUSE

SATURDAY
MARCH 7th
8:30 PM

ODETTA

TICKETS: $3.00 - 2.50 - 2.00
RESERVATIONS: 476-4536

University Regent Theatre

820 EAST GENESEE STREET

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	$.85
2 days	1.65
3 days	2.40
4 days	3.20
5 days	4.00
6 days	4.80
7 days	5.60
8 days	6.40
9 days	7.20
10 days	8.00

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.

GREYHOUND TICKETS, schedules, information, bus and air charters. Hotel reservations foreign tours. FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC. in the Savoy Monday-Friday 1-4; Thursday night 7-9 476-8533.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired, Rented, Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 6-5533. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

ACCELERATED 5 lesson course, specializing in parking, traffic, road test. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-3451.

ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lilian M. Potter 207 Comstock Ave. GR 8-5547.

TO BUY OR SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN. Sparac Motors, 1000 Hiawatha Blvd. W. 474-6007, is the place.

LAVALIERS. $2.75. Wedding, Shower, Baby gifts, Riviera sunglasses, watch and jewelry repairs. Ruth's Gifts. 734 South Crouse.

SLEEP-LEARNING. Hypnotism! Tapes, records, books, equipment. Advertisers details, strange catalog free! Sleep-Learning Research Assn., Box 24-CP, Olympia, Wash.

FOR SALE

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of four colors of paper, three colors of ink, two sizes of sheets. Bookwall.

MAN'S HANDSOME flat top desk 6 X 36", walnut, a basket and telephone stand to match. Call GR 2-4264.

1954 CHEVY, excellent condition, two-door, radio and snow tires. $125. Call 476-2040.

1955 CHEVY automatic, 4-door sedan. Just passed inspection. $100. Call GR 5-4923.

WANTED

FREE!! A chance to participate in a psychology experiment. A guaranteed painless opportunity to advance science. Takes no longer than 20 min. Call ext. 2208 or drop in at 107 College Place any afternoon this week. AS for Washington Irving or Home Washington.

STUDENTS, male-female. Earn up to $50.00 per week. Telephone sales work, hours flexible. Call Mr. Manley. GR 1-6678.

COLLEGE MEN who feel learning to sell will someday help your career. We train. Work your own hours during school year. Can lead to full-time summer work. Part-time while in school 4 evenings. $35.00. Call necessity. See Mr. Noyes, 517, Madison Ave. 11:00 sharp. Suite 104, Madison Park.

FOR RENT

Not Appointed for Single Undergraduate Students

TWO BLOCKS FROM FIELDHOUSE. 225 Lorraine Ave. Modern 4-room upper, 2 bedrooms, large closets, brick cupboards, refrigerator and stove. Picture window, living room and kitchen, ceramic tile bath, private parking area on bus line. Available immediately. $115. NE 8-0497, GR 6-1473.

APARTMENTS FOR RENT. Two rooms with bath. 411 S. Crouse Ave. Call 476-7188 after 1 p.m.

3 ROOMS RECENTLY remodeled—paneling, bus, light parking. $45.00. Call 478-4388.

BELLEVUE HEIGHTS, unfurnished 7rm. house. Vacant. Fine location. $125 per month. Call owner. GR 3-1567.

FURNISHED APARTMENTS, 1 and 2 bedrooms, 1 block from University. Call 478-0495 after 5.

3 RM. apartment, furnished and heated, newly painted. University station, very inexpensive. GR 6-1741 or 448-8527.

DOUBLE AND SINGLE, $7.50, $12.50. Kitchen privileges. 474-2534.

MRS. RAYMOND WEBB, HE 7-2529, 1 B M electric type writer. Specialize. Ph.Ds, tables, text books, work proof-read, satisfaction guaranteed.

PLEASANT SIX-ROOM upper flat, furnished. Utilities separate. $100 per month. Immediate possession. GR 8-1237.

FURNISHED APT. Comstock Ave. 3 rooms, first floor. $24 per week including all utilities. GR 2-9774.

UNIVERSITY AVE., newly furnished, 5 room apt. fine place for bath, parking. Ideal for 4 nurses. GR 8-4735.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models, also sales and service, special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

WILL DO TYPING in my home. 476-2216

FINE TYPING, electric typewriter. Call 472-1065.

EXPERIENCED TYPIST with 20 yrs. form of typing in her home. Call 472-3780.

EXPERT TYPING, electric typewriter. MRS. MEL SHERMAN. GR 2-2429.

TODAY

7 a.m., Lutheran Campus Ministry Holy Communion.
12:30 p.m., Daily Mass, St. Thomas More Chapel.
4 p.m., WAA badminton, gym B, Women's Bldg.
4 p.m., WAA tennis, 112 Women's Bldg.
4:05 p.m., Catholic Daily Mass, Hendricks Chapel.
4:05 p.m., Lenten Bible Studies, Lutheran Office, Hendricks Chapel.
5:05 p.m., Lutheran Holy Communion, North Wing, Hendricks Chapel.

6:30 p.m., Angel Flight, Men's Gym. Election of officers, attendance is imperative.

6:45 p.m., Hillel social committee, rm. C, Chapel House.

7 p.m., WAA Skiing, Sins Hall.

7 p.m., Russian club, basement rec room, Shaw Dorm.

7 p.m., European Students Association, Commuting Students' Lounge, Women's Bldg. Discussion of German's position in an United Europe.

7 p.m., "Nursing Ethics," to St. Thomas More Chapel. All students in the various nursing schools are invited.

7 p.m., Hillel religious committee meeting has been cancelled.

7:30 p.m., Russian Club, living room, Chapel House.

8 p.m., Hillel Purim service, Colonial Room, Hendricks Chapel. Refreshments will be served afterwards.

8 p.m., Ostrom Lounge, Show, Miss Helen Ashley from the New York State Dept. of Labor will speak.

8:30 p.m., Uppercass Skeptics, Dean Noble's home, Guest professor, Dean Alfred H. Cope.

THURSDAY

6:30 p.m., Modern Dance Group, Women's Bldg.

8 p.m., U.S. Party meeting, Phi Epsilon, Pk. 423 Lucid Ave. Attendance is very important.

You'll Save Money by Renting Your Car from

WATT

Deluxe Cars
Low Rates

BUICK SPECIALS AND F-85's
—all with automatic transmission, heater, radio and seat belts.

Our exceptionally low rates include gas, oil and proper insurance.

SPECIAL RATES FOR WEEK-ENDS
Ski racks available at no extra charge.

GR 2-1972

3 CONVENIENT LOCATIONS

- South Bay Rd. opposite Hancock Airport entrance
- 209 E. Onondaga St. near Hotel Syracuse
- 337 Peat St. near Erie Blvd. E.

FREE CUSTOMER PICKUP
Just call WATT at GR 2-1972. Our radio-dispatched car will pick you up at the airport, your hotel, home or office and bring you to our office to get your car. No extra charge for this service.

SU Raps Cornell, 89-85

Sideline Views

By BERNIE MacCALLUM
Sports Editor

Rumors have circulated and hopes have oscillated on the Hill as to the post season aspirations and the fate of one Syracuse University basketball team.

Yesterday we talked on the phone with John Bach, a member of the National Invitational Tournament selection committee. "Syracuse is one of those teams definitely under consideration," Bach told us. "Your team has been discussed".

Bach related that at a meeting of the committee Monday, "we could do nothing but disagree". There will be another meeting of the committee Sunday.

Bach pointed out that the group was in no rush to make additional selections. St. Bonaventure, Pittsburgh, New York University, DePaul and Duquesne have already been selected.

"Syracuse is potentially one of the tournament teams", Bach said. "It depends on what they do in their remaining games. Bids will not be given out on the basis of one game," he said in reference to the Cornell contest.

A victory at Colgate should be a mere formality tomorrow night. The Orange will have to win on the road against Canisius Saturday to stay in contention for an NIT bid. This will be no easy task.

Next Wednesday the Orangemen return to the fieldhouse to play Niagara University.

Reds Nip Frosh

By JIM KLURFELD

ITHACA—Sonny Liston wasn't the only loser Tuesday night, as Vaughn Harper, the Tangerines' quick-fisted and fast-tempered scoring ace, was ejected in a 75-61 loss to Cornell.

Midway through the first quarter, Rick Dean and a Cornell player fell to the ground, battling for a rebound. A second later Harper came flying through the air, fists swung. After everybody was separated, Harper was asked to leave the game.

When Harper departed, the Orange were ahead, 14-10. Five minutes later, they were behind 22-21. But behind the hot-shooting of Scott Loll, the frosh opened up a nine point lead with two minutes remaining in the first half.

Then Blaine Aston, Tom Boehnrad and Co. went wild and when the buzzer sounded in the first half, the little Orange were left with a two point lead at 37-35.

A last-minute drive by the Orange in the second half fell short as Dean brought Syracuse within five points with six minutes remaining. But Cornell was equal to the challenge, converting clutch foul shots and stealing the ball.

RICK DEAN

Tourney Hopes Kept Alive; Colgate Contest Thursday

By BILL CRONAUER

ITHACA—The Orangemen of Syracuse, sparked by unbelievable Dave Bing, toppled the Big Red of Cornell, 89-85, in a thriller here Tuesday night.

The well-deserved victory, jumped the Piety record to 13-7 and added new life to National Invitation Tourney hopes.

Bing clipped for 29 points, 17 in the opening half, and thrilled a multitude of visiting Orange rooters with his passing, dribbling and rebounding.

The first half was all Bing. His pinpoint outside shooting kept the middle free for aggressive Norm Goldsmith and Jim Boehem.

As center Chuck Richards sat on the bench with four fouls much of the final period, the Big Red's 6-6 Steve Cram broke loose underneath ending with 32 points.

The Hill forces had to fight for their lives in the closing seconds. SU faltered after jumping to an 83-68 lead with eight minutes to go. Cornell hit for eight straight points and Richards then countered with a jump shot, but Cram came back with another easy bucket and Captain Ray Ratkowski's two-point-er cut the Hill margin to 85-80.

With 1:30 on the clock, Bing scored on a pair of charity tosses and the Orange were home free.

Box Score

Syracuse Varsity

	G	F	T
Ableman	0	0	0
Bing	12	5	29
Boehem	5	2	12
Duffy	1	6	2
Goldsmith	7	0	14
Richards	5	5	15
Schoff	4	7	15
Vernick	0	0	0
Trobridge	0	0	0
Penceal	0	0	0
Murray	0	2	2

Totals 34 21 89

Cornell Varsity

	G	F	T
Berube	6	0	12
Cram	13	6	32
Bliss	3	0	6
DeLuca	0	0	0
Naglisceau	1	2	4
McCready	0	2	2
Murson	1	4	6
Ratkowski	6	3	15
Van Leeuwen	3	2	8

Totals 33 19 85

INTRAS

TODAY'S SCHEDULE Basketball

7:00 — Kappa Sigma vs. Beta Sigma Rho; Delta Upsilon vs. Tau Kappa Epsilon; Phi Alpha vs. Sigma Nu.

7:45 — Acacia vs. Beta Theta Pi; Pi Kappa Alpha vs. Zeta Psi; Sigma Chi vs. Theta Chi.

8:30 — Delta Upsilon (B) vs. Phi Gamma Delta (B); Maxwell vs. A.L.P.; Barristers vs. Raiders.

177-Pounder

LEW ROBERTS, a 177-pound grappler for the Orange has a 3-2-2 record, including one shutout. Lew and his teammates tangle with Colgate at Hamilton Saturday. The next home meet is March 7 against Cortland.

137 Pound Ace

JIM MURRIN, the Orange 137-pound wrestler is 4-3-0 so far this season. He has two shutout wins against Cornell and Pitt. Jim was runnerup in the Eastern Championships last season.

Morris Explains Boycott Stand

Registration Change Slated Says Morris

Student Government President James Morris announced to the Joint Student Legislature that registration next fall may be according to class rather than alphabetically.

Morris said that although this plan is not yet official, it is the outcome of student government-administration talks during the last semester. Under the proposed system, seniors would register first, then juniors, sophomores and freshmen.

The new system, Morris said, would alleviate the present difficulty whereby a student registers first one semester and last the following semester. It will also end the problems of seniors who are told upon registration that classes necessary for their graduation have been closed.

Scientist Examines

Dr. Jack Leitner, who worked on the discovery of the Omega-minus particle at Brookhaven Laboratories, examines some of the equipment at SU's atomic pile alongside Archibald Stadium.

Hits Faulty Use Of Top Channels

By JESSE SMITH

Joint Student Government President James Morris said Wednesday he opposed the food service boycott because it undermined the channels for communication between students and administration.

Morris spoke at a special meeting of Joint Student Legislature to explain actions being taken by the executives on the food service issue. Morris said that when a meeting between JSL food committee chairman Marshall Sneirson and Ross Moriarty, assistant food service director, failed to produce satisfactory results, the next logical step was to "go to the top."

He denied claims that administrators would not have listened to student government negotiators without the boycott.

Morris cited the receptiveness of food service director Ursula Pettingill to requests for tablecloths at Sunday dinners. In that case, he asserted, the freshman forum expressed its desires and freshman President James Richard carried them out by meeting with Mrs. Pettingill and requesting the change.

Morris gave a progress report on the executive committee formed to negotiate with administrators on what he called the "top level." At a meeting Tuesday were Morris, Richard, Kate Antony, JSG vice president, Vice Presidents Francis Wingate and Kenneth Bartlett, Dean of Men Jim Carleton, Dean of Women Marjorie Smith, and representatives of four dining hall food councils.

According to Morris the group discussed most of 29 points put forth by the JSL food committee and made considerable progress. He said that a meeting is scheduled today at which Mrs. Pettingill will be present. Definite proposals will be made by both students and administrators for improving food service, Morris said.

The JSL session was marked by sharp controversy. Morris and several others called the boycott inconsistent with a rational democratic process. A number of students voiced the opinion that the demonstration had spurred administrative response to student feelings on food service.

Joint Student Court Chief Justice Herbert Lustig attempted to reconcile the executive and the legislature on their roles in accomplishing changes in the food service. He said the matter should be one of "issues, not egos," and that bickering would accomplish nothing.

Both sides must recognize, said Lustig, that they have done something that neither could have done alone. He expressed the hope that with students now united, "Out of something bad will come something good."

(Continued on Page 7)

Dr. Hart Wins Fulbright Grant

Dr. Donn V. Hart, associated professor of anthropology, has been awarded the Senior Fulbright Research Fellowship to the Philippines.

The award is Hart's third Fulbright for research in the Pacific island group.

Hart and his wife plan to return to Southeast Asia in July. Brief periods of time will be spent in Rangoon, Bangkok, Saigon, Kuala Lumpur and Singapore, for research on a bibliography of bibliographies on Southeast Asia.

He received grants-in-aid from the Social Science Research Council and the Wenner-Gren Foundation to do the work.

In 1950-51, Hart made a study of the village of Negros Island, for his doctoral dissertation, under the auspices of a Fulbright grant. In 1955-56, he returned to the Philippines on a second Fulbright grant.

On his second trip, Hart and his wife, Harriet studied a village in the isolated region of the island group.

Upon completion of the work, he was given a Smith-Mundt Exchange Professorship, when study of Hart's on Filipino Bissayan Folklore.

At present, Syracuse University Press is publishing a recent book he wrote while he taught anthropology at the university of the Philippines.

Hart returned to Syracuse in 1958, coming from Yale University, where he was part of the Southeast Asia Program. He has published many articles on his research in the Philippines.

Inside Sadler Hall

Large Upperclass Dorm Boasts Unique System

This is the third in a series of articles by the staff of the Daily Orange about Hill dormitories. This segment of the series is on Sadler Hall which was dedicated in November, 1960.

Take eight floors of dormitory. 480 Hill students, a quiet location and a unique dorm plan and you have Sadler Hall.

Sadler, one of the newer of the men's dorms on the Hill, was built four years ago and is located at 1000 Irving Ave.

Even though the dorm can be classed as a large living center, it sports several plans which make it unique and, according to director Frank Harrar, a dorm of continuing tradition and established identity.

One of the features of the dorm most appreciated by its residents is the movie program, which offers free movies to university students several times during the year. And the movies offered there aren't grade "C" ...they're chosen by the residents from a ballot which was distributed during the first term.

To illustrate: "Pal Joey" and "Blackboard Jungle" drew record crowds this year.

Harrar has also begun a trophies program within the dorm, awarding trophies to the floor or group of residents who win some honor on campus. Recent trophies awarded were for touch football and other intramural sports.

And it was no surprise to Sadler men to see the football trophy, either, because the entire traveling squad of the football team live "over the hill," in Sadler Dorm.

"Over the hill" is a good way to describe the location of Sadler, too...it lies away from the rest of the campus and is, according to its director, one of the quietest dorms on the Hill.

Culture also plays a part in Sadler Hall, especially since last April, when Boar's Head, Hill drama society, held its drama festival in the dorm. The festival was such a success that it is scheduled for a repeat engagement there this year.

Physically, the eighth floor building sports a large lounge, dining facilities for 800, a 3,000-book library, rec room, exercise room, hobby room and snack bar.

Designed by King and King architects, the dorm cost $2,866,308 and was named for John W. Sadler, class of 1896 and his sister, Miss Nettie M. Sadler, class of 1900.

In the Rec Lounge

Shuffleboard and ping pong are featured in the lounge of Sadler Hall, eighth-floor dormitory located on Irving Avenue. Sadler, built in 1958, houses 480 SU students.

A House Divided?

It was made apparent at Wednesday night's special JSL meeting that there is definitely a split in Joint Student Government (administrators may applaud now) between the executive and legislative branches of the organization.

The division of Joint Student Government forces may superficially be attributed to the respective stands of the legislative and executive branches on the food service issue.

JSL Speaker Jay Litwin has called for strong student action (such as boycotts) to demonstrate dissatisfaction with food service, while JSG President Jim Morris has demanded orderly democratic procedures.

Both have agreed that food service "stinks." Both agree that the student body wants and deserves an improvement in food, the service and the attitude of an organization that has a complete monopoly on campus.

What then, is the disagreement? Both argued that the means used is the crux of the problem. We contend this is not the argument.

The rift exists not in positions on food, but in the battle between the leaders of the two branches.

Morris contends that Litwin is a "once-every-two-weeks speaker." What does this have to do with food service?

Litwin complains "the executive branch is a do-nothing group." What does this have to do with food service?

The legislature's boycott and the ensuing food service conferences by the executive branch have something to do with food service. They have proven to be effective.

An SU administrator summed up the rift only Tuesday. "It's great for administrators," he said, "because a divided student government is like putty in the hand."

Is this what Mr. Litwin and Mr. Morris and their political allies are trying to accomplish? Hasn't the food service issue become a political weapon with the Morris's, the Antony's, the Litwin's and the Sneirson's who are fight for a campus image.

While there is laughing in the little red brick building, there is no unity in student government. The display of unification asked for by both combatants in election speeches, is under these conditions as feasible as the Louisville (nee Kansas City) Athletics franchise.

For while Mr. Litwin and Mr. Morris console themselves with the illusions that "I have the support of the student body," that student body is losing what it had only started to gain a voice in the administrative decisions that affect every four-year transient.

The legislators and executives are traipsing around unchecked seeking support for their respective stands while the food service "hearings" continue without administrative respect. The question has often come forth from administrators: "Who do you represent? Mr. Morris, your cabinet of four people?" or, "Who do you represent, Mr. Litwin, your legislature that meets twice a month?"

Obviously, the presently divided student government, which had a strong answer to this question at the time of the 70 per cent boycott, now stands speechless.

Permanent improvement of food conditions seemed a week ago a respectable and attainable goal.

Now it appears impossible. For promises made to transients can easily be broken. The loser? Certainly not the administration.

The only possible avenue open for student government advancement is a burying of the hatchet between Mr. Morris and Mr. Litwin for the betterment of the student body.

If this can not be accomplished, an alternative would be the burying of the hatchet by the student body between the graves of Mr. Morris and Mr. Litwin.

Think

To the Editor:

Dear Mr. Rayburn,
The United States lost a great speaker when you died. It is too bad you could not have been here to see a truly God-like speaker in action.

The student legislature of a large eastern college has found your successor. Lean and hungry from the plains of Forest Hills our hero has emerged, with noble stead, fighting the truly great fight. Backed by his valiant Resident Advisor, Len, he is carrying forward the march to spaghetti. More than once he has exercised his prerogative as our savior and has quieted, by non-recognition, those poor misguided souls who have the earthly audacity to disagree and who therefore relegated to hell, fire, and brimstone. The east would hardly be complete without our chief inquisitor and investigator Nearless Pearson. Nearless though not given to the vice of tact is saved by his infallibility. With this fine array of goodness how can our three characters be wrong? Between Flippin, the Speaker; Pearson, the inquisitor; and our knowledgeable R.A. we have our leaders. The cause is just but are the means necessarily the best? Mr. Sam, what other great American had these same noble characteristics? The song of those days was not "No One's for the Students but Flippin" but rather "No One's for the People but McCarthy."

Our problem is this, Mr. Sam. How can our young thinkers of the campus follow blindly the teachings of Flippin (or more properly Len)? By not examining the methods of action or the rational advice of their popularly elected representative they are blinded to reality and results. Apathy is no longer dead but reason and judgment have taken its place in the graveyard. Their President advocated waiting until all avenues of negotiation had proved futile but Flippin couldn't and wouldn't be upstaged. Why, Mr. Sam, in this community of scholars, has the supposed virtue of discussion and thought been scorned?

Jon Eberenz

The reasoning that people use is their greatest asset. To jump onto a bandwagon without careful thought as to its consequences and purpose gives rise to dictatorial power in some persons. The people thought Hitler was right and their failure to reason led Germany to destruction and shame.

Behind the scenes lies a man who is able to affect the campus through his use of student leaders. I implore you as students and intelligent individuals to use your reason and force your student leaders, such as the speaker of JSL, to defend their ideas on a basis of sound reason and not forceful, dictatorial, emotional power.

The food is bad but the evils of a Flippin may be far worse. The willful flaunting of student rights in a legislature to gain an end is in itself an evil. THINK WELL, THEN ACT.

Lesson

To the Editor:

Because the food service protest is rather superficial and mundane relative to any number of social issues that demand attention here at Syracuse University, the boycott itself is of little consequence. Because it was not directed at a vulnerable aspect of the food service operation, the boycott was tactically unsound as a form of direct action. Because it was an expression of long standing and deep seated frustration the boycott tended to be diffuse and unfocused, and thus, was ill conceived. Moreover, because the JSL is an utterly defunct organization whose function is to lend prestige emerging grassroot student leadership does not AS YET understand the tenants of non-violent direct action and the redress of grievance, the to its leaders and because boycott lacked experience and well defined leadership.

It is not likely then that the food service will be significantly improved. Thus, the university will continue to make massive profits by underpaying the food service staff and exploiting student labor. Yet a fundamental and profound change has occurred in the atmosphere at Syracuse University which has been inciting since last fall's civil rights demonstrations. We are the witnesses to the first ground-swells of this change brought about by the civil rights movement; now being registered on the student body in the form of the first direct action protest since the founding of this university.

It is naive to suppose that a small group of students, however dedicated, can in one act sweep away the clouds of apathy that have choked this university for as long as anyone can remember. But one must walk before one can run. However feeble and halting—THE FIRST STEP HAS BEEN TAKEN. Just as in the case in the civil rights movement, a few students here at SU have come to realize that they are not helpless manikins to be passively manipulated by a paternalistic bureaucracy. If the student court is unjust, CHANGE IT! If supporting segregated schools by forced purchase of football tickets is immoral, DON'T DO IT! If segregation exists at SU, CONFRONT IT!

THE STRENGTH OF THE FOOD PROTEST LIES IN THE FACT THAT IT RAISES A FUNDAMENTAL ISSUE: DOES THE STUDENT HAVE THE RIGHT TO DEFINE OR REDEFINE THE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY THAT THE UNIVERSITY HAS TO THE STUDENT AND THE COMMUNITY OF WHICH IT IS A PART?

And . . . does it make any sense to say that attendance here is a privilege and not a right that can be withdrawn "at anytime for any reason deemed sufficient to it (SU) and no reason for requiring such withdrawal need be given?"

As I have said before in response to Dean Bailey's address the greatest enemy in our society and at our universities is not lawlessness but apathy; a pathy that breeds malcontent, misdirected frustration, and whining complaints about real and imaginary injustice; apathy that fosters deeply rooted frustrations and discontent in students who leave SU, resenting their total inability to effect administrative policy that regulates their daily lives.

The issue here is not whether steak should be served, twice a week. The issue is whether the student has the right to decide for himself that the university is not exercising moral or social responsibility and if necessary to take non-violent direct action to redress grievances. In essence, the question must be asked: Am I to be buffeted about by fate and circumstance or am I a man to say, ENOUGH?

Roger W. Knapp
Instructor

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2

February 27, 1964

Editor-in-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor Clayton F. Richards
News Editor Andrew Porter
Editorial Director Adam Dufine
Sports Editor Bernard MacCallum
Arts Editor Rea Turel
Photography Editor Steve Schummer

BUSINESS STAFF

National Adv. Mgr. Lynn Mandel
Classified Mgr. Christine Sedrak
Promotion Mgr. Stu Shapiro
Asst. Bus. Mgr. Jon Weisberg
Layout Managers Martha Jabanek; Edith Jahr

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 200 Brooker Drive Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter at U. S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

TREVER ON CAMPUS

The Greenbriar Boys

The Greenbriar Boys, John Herald, Bob Yellin, and Ralph will be one of the features at the Sat., Mar. 21, concert at Manley Field House. The concert will be part of the second annual SU Folk Festival. Tickets are on sale at the Corner Store.

That's Entertainment!

The Stage Manager

by Rea Turet

There is a place that is considerably off campus, but that the drama majors have discovered to be a second home. It is a dimly lit place called the Regent Bar.

We spotted Bob D'Angelo sitting in one of the booths working industriously on a hamburger.

"What brings you here" we wanted to know.

"I'm on a rehearsal break, and I thought that I'd get something to eat."

"What show are you working on?"

"Ten Nights in a Bar Room."

"Everyone seems to be working on that show."

"Why shouldn't they be, it's a huge cast. And as a stage manager, I should know."

"All right Bob, what do you do?"

"I'm the go between the actors, director, make-up man, publicity man, costumer, technician and miscellaneous people. I also take the blame for everybody's mistakes, and my own too. Actually, I'm an unpaid scapegoat. In the professional world, I'm paid."

"Is 'Ten Nights in a Bar Room' going to be a good play?"

"It should be. It's a vital opportunity for the actor and director in a style that is no longer in existence. This style however should not be considered dead."

"We have a conglomerate cast of people, which should add to the play. This includes graduate and undergraduate, city people and a university professor," Bob D'Angelo added.

"Besides 'Ten Nights,' what else do you do?"

"I am a playwright. Nickel Theatre is doing a play of mine March 2. I'd like to have people there in the audience. It'll build up my ego. Will you come?"

We promised the stage-manager, playwright that we would see his show.

"This is a funny story. I sent the 27-page play to a on stencils. When I got it back it had been done backwards. I cut three classes in order to type it, and run it off on the stencil. My hands are now black and blue, like my typewriter."

"What do you study, when you aren't typing plays?"

"I'm a drama major. Is there anything else But don't tell my mother, She thinks I'm a pre-med."

Bob looked at his watch, realized that he was late, and ran next door to work as the stage manager for "Ten Nights in a Bar Room."

Bernie Manheim's BON TON

SEAT COVERS

FREE INSURANCE ESTIMATES

Give a Bon-Ton Gift Certificate

Hickok Auto Seat Belts

BOAT TOPS, COVERS and WINDSHIELDS

BON-TON

420 Erie Blvd., East

OPEN Daily 9 A.M. to 6 P.M. Mon. - Fri. 10 P.M. PH. GR 6-3107 GR 6-3031

Nozy on Down

and enjoy

that SPAGHETTI SAVOY

with that unbeatable Meat Sauce

85¢ with hot bread, fresh ground cheese, and the whole bit

GO SAVOY

W A E R
88.3 mc

THURSDAYS

- 4:00 Sign On, News, WAER Highlights
- 4:15 Experiment in Music
- 6:00 World of the Paperback
- 6:15 Communique
- 6:30 Dan Stone and the News
- 6:45 Orange Spotlight
- 7:00 Sounds of Literature
- 7:30 Ziente-Touman Report
- 8:00 Great Decisions
- 8:30 The 8:30 Report
- 8:45 Sweet and Swains
- 9:00 Quiz
- 9:30 Baroque Concert Hall
- 10:45 Late Night Report
- 11:00 Broadway Showtime

Riviera CINEMA
3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. - GRB-4021

2 ★ ★ ★ ★ FILMS

THE FOUR DAYS OF NAPLES

AND 'UNFORGETTABLE'

hand in the trap

ELSA DANIEL

JSG Releases Activities List For Student Information

The following are the student activities registered with Joint Student Government. They can legally participate in campus activities and are the only ones that are officially registered.

Advertising Design Illustration Honorary, AISEC - Inter-udent of Economics and Commerce, Alpha Epsilon Delta Pres-medical Honor Society, Alpha Epsilon Rho National T.V.-Psi - Business Administration Honorary, Alpha Phi Omega - American Institute of Industrial Engineers - AIIIE, Angel Flight (Robert P. Halloran Squadron), Anthropology Club.

Also, Arnold Air Society, Art of Women Students, Cadet Association, Campus Alliance Party, Campus Chest, Chapel Board, Chinese Students Club, Christian Science College Organization, Commuting Students Association.

Also, Daily Orange, DellPlain Dorm Council, Delta Sigma Rho, debate honorary, Eta Kappa Nu, electrical engineering honorary, Eta Pi Upsilon, senior women's honorary, Freshman Cheerleading, Freshman Footprints, Green Squad, Independent Students on Institute, Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, Joint Student Government.

Also, Kappa Phi Kappa, professional men's education honorary, Lambda Sigma Sigma, junior women's honorary, Liberal Arts Advisory Council, Onondagan yearbook, Orange Key, junior men's honorary, Phi Kappa Alpha, senior men's honorary, Phi Mu musi fraternity, Physical Education Major's Club, Pi Me Epsilon, math honorary.

Also, Pi Sigma Alpha, political science honorary Quill and professional organization for women, Rho Delta Phi, English honorary, Seaboard and Blade, military honorary, School of Speech Advisory Council, Sig speech honorary, Sigma Lambda Delta, freshmen women's honorary, Stuart Stevens Debate Society, Student Nurses' Organization, Syracuse 10.

Chapter of the American Economics Association, Syracuse University Committee on Equality, Syracuse University Chess Club, Syracuse University Outing Club, Syracuse University Skin Diving Association, Syracuse University Soccer Club, Section of the American Institute of Physics.

Also, Syracuse University Tau Theta Upsilon, senior men's honorary, Ukrainian Club, Unite Students Party, WAER, Women's Athletic Association of Syracuse University, Young Democrats of Syracuse University, Young Republicans of Syracuse University, Zeta Phi Alpha, speech and dramatic arts professional organization.

Daily Crossword Puzzle

- | | | |
|------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| ACROSS | 45 Facade. | 21 Very: Sp. |
| 1 Mock. | 47 Interrogative. | 25 Show off. |
| 6 Coryza. | 48 Palm leaf. | 26 Begone! |
| 10 Author of "Mary." | 49 Crockery. | 27 Raced: Colloq. |
| 14 Resort isle. | 56 Time to sleep. | 28 Sign. |
| 15 Perfume. | 58 Hawkeye. | 29 Spanish money. |
| 16 Go by plane. | 59 Exhort. | 30 Adjust. as a microscope. |
| 17 To the point that. | 60 Equal: Fr. | 31 Wagon tracks. |
| 18 Relative of onionskin: 2 words. | 61 Milestone. | 33 Water bird. |
| 20 Character reference. | 62 Charon's river. | 34 Girl's name. |
| 22 Doctor's group: Abbr. | 63 Clammy. | 35 Word associated with "roger" |
| 23 Litchi. | 64 Coarse grass. | 36 Jumble. |
| 24 Furniture wood. | | 41 Spun. |
| 26 Lumpish. | DOWN | 44 "___ walks in beauty..." |
| 30 Norse goddess. | 1 Rabbit's tail. | 45 Coquet. |
| 32 Wag. | 2 Malacca. | 46 Marked by syn-copated rhythm. |
| 33 Place for a trial. | 3 Chooses. | 47 Large marine snail. |
| 37 Sand: Lat | 4 Fuse partly. | 48 Responsibility. |
| 38 Calendar abbreviation. | 5 Piece of office furniture: 2 words. | 50 Latvian city. |
| 39 Bisect. | 6 French painter. | 51 Federal operative. |
| 40 Dark. | 7 Norse god. | 52 Made cloth. |
| 42 Outskirts. | 8 Places. | 53 Filled with fear and wonder. |
| 43 Disorders. | 9 Castle-builder. | 54 Sounded loudly. |
| 44 Shoots. | 10 Motorist's group. | 55 Heraldic term. |
| | 11 Flower part. | 57 Bewitch: Dial. |
| | 12 ___ de menthe. | |
| | 13 Hour: Sp. | |
| | 19 Race track phrase. | |

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

Bubble . . .

"Double, double, toil and trouble; fire burn and cauldron bubble," a food service employee seems to say as he cooks up a pot of soup.

Into the Oven

"And this is what you will have for dinner tonight," says a food service employee as he places a tray of meat in the oven.

BERT'S RENT A CAR

2 OFFICES — Fay and Rte. 11
Thompson and Molloy

COMPARE
OUR CAR PRICES!

$4⁹⁵ per Day

5¢ per Mile

Phone HE 7-8909 - HE 7-8797 -

Many Other Plans to Choose From
FREE PICKUP — Join Our Unlimited Mileage Plan
$35 Minimum Deposit
Student I. D. Required

We try harder

AVIS
RENT A CAR

$11.50 For Entire Weekend & $.10 a Mile

501 S. Salina St. 422-4171

Avis rents Fords and other fine cars

Symphony Sets Concerts

The Syracuse University symphony orchestra, directed by Prof. Louis Krasner, will present two concerts Sunday.

A concert will be given at 4 p.m. in Crouse Auditorium followed by a performance of the same program Sunday evening in Oneida High School. The Oneida concert is one of the regularly scheduled concerts in the Oneida concert series.

Featured soloist for the performance will be Frederick

Miller, cellist. A member of the SU School of Music teaching staff, Miller has studied cello with Gregor Piatigorsky and chamber music with Jascha Heifetz, William Primrose and Piatigorsky.

Included in the program are "An Outdoor Overture" by Aaron Copland, "Concerto in D Major for Cello and Orchestra" by Joseph Haydn and "Symphony No. 7 in A Major" by Beethoven.

THE BEST DEAL ON FLOWERS

Is At J. ALLEN DEAL, FLORIST

Corner So. Warren & E. Washington

Bonded Member,
Florist Telegraph
Delivery Assn.

Telephone:
HA 2-1219

THE BELL SYSTEM

represented by

Western Electric

New York Telephone

New Jersey Bell Telephone

Long Lines

Bell Telephone Laboratories

will interview on campus

MAR. 3, 4

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER.

TODAY

1 p.m., WAA basketball, gym A.
5:05 p.m., Lutheran daily devotions, north wing, Hendricks Chapel.
7 p.m., WAA dance production, studio.
7 p.m., WAA symphony, pool.
7 p.m., Christian Marriage, St. Thomas More chapel. Topic will be "Sins Committed Against Marriage."
7 p.m., Catholic choir rehearsal, 201 Crouse College. Recruits needed.
7:30 p.m., JSL student conduct and welfare committee, student government office, Marston basement. All members must attend.
7:30 p.m., Freshman Skitex (2), Dean Noble's home, 315 Berkeley Drive.
8 p.m., Traditions Commission, Kappa Kappa Gamma. Elections will be held.

CIVIL RIGHTS
At FOOTPRINTS

SECOND ANNUAL SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY FOLK FESTIVAL

MARCH 20, 21, 22, 1964

AN EXCITING ROUND-ROBIN OF CONCERTS, HOOTENANNIES, SEMINARS, WORKSHOPS, CLINICS, AND TALENT COMPETITION

—FEATURING AMERICA'S FINEST FOLK ARTISTS—

DOC WATSON JEAN RITCHIE THE GREENBRIAR BOYS
REV. GARY DAVIS GIL TURNER ROGER SPRUNG
THE SHANTY BOYS THE ALL-NIGHT SINGERS
AND MANY OTHERS.

YOUR FESTIVAL HOST

JERRY SILVERMAN

AUTHOR, PERFORMER, MUSICOLOGIST, ASSOCIATE EDITOR OF SING OUT

GENERAL ADMISSION TICKET FOR ENTIRE FESTIVAL $2.50

SPECIAL ADVANCED SALE - TO MARCH 18 ONLY - $2.00

FESTIVAL SPONSORED BY

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY
BOOKSTORES

FESTIVAL HEADQUARTERS

CORNER BOOKSTORE MUSIC DEPARTMENT
943 SO. CROUSE AVE. SYRACUSE, N.Y., 13210
PHONE 476-5571 EX 2008

TICKETS AND FULL INFORMATION AVAILABLE AT FESTIVAL HEADQUARTERS
AND AT FAMOUS ARTISTS TICKET OFFICE - CLARK MUSIC BLDG., SALINA ST.

100 LP RECORDS -- GUITARS -- SONG BOOKS WILL BE GIVEN AWAY

LETTERS

$519.75

To the Editor:

Monday's DO had a letter in it signed "Name Withheld," and it's a good thing, too. If it was written by a member of the administration, then I am not surprised; but if it was a student, then all I can say is that he must have spinach flowing in his veins instead of red blood.

The letter, of course, had to do with food service and the boycott. And the writer exhibited a remarkable degree of being out of touch with reality. He compares the boycott to the civil disobedience tactics of CORE, calling both ridiculous. At the same time, he is proving the effectiveness of both by his own letter. Would he or I be writing letters to the Editor if the topic had not been brought to our attention? He most certainly wouldn't. He would complacently sit back and wait for the "proper channels" to do nothing at all about the organized and united student complaints that they have been receiving at least since 1958, which is when I began my schooling at SU.

And this is no different from the civil rights problem: if you want to exercise your rights and someone else doesn't want to let you do so, then you can either wish for it or ask for it - and your chances of getting nothing are overwhelmingly good. But if you have done so and got nowhere, then make some noise, or do anything that drives home the idea that you mean what you're saying, and you will have a better chance of gaining your objectives.

One must be insane not to see this - or else one must be uninvolved. And uninvolved Mr. Name Withheld is, at least with the student body, whose members pay $519.75 a year (that is $15.75 a week) for food that half the time is not fit to eat. And Mr. Withheld wants to make JSL as uninvolved as he is - he has ideas different from everyone else's on "just what JSL represents." (Maybe he is thinking of a rubber stamp bearing YES on its face.) He lauds Mr. Morris' "commendable statement that this action only represented those feelings of a minor segment of the government" - who the hell cares about the feelings of the "executive branch" of the student government? Is it not the student body whose feelings the government is supposed to represent? If the "executive branch" boys have too much to lose, then they can make the choice that they'd rather eat bad food and bear it - all the more admirable is the action taken by Mr. Litwin and JSL.

Mr. Withheld's final analogy between student government and a chain and its links is a telling one, too. I would like to know why he must think of the supposed representatives of the students as a chain; and if he means no more than the desirability of presenting a common front (I don't know to whom, and I don't know why this would be desirable, after all this is supposed to be a representative rather than a totalitarian government), then whose front is student government anyway? I think he should review his notions about just who is the "weakest link" in his "chain."

Of course, I should not be involved, I am not a student on the Hill anymore. But I am involved because it grieves me to see what the mentality of some young college students in a free country can be. It disturbs me that a university has the gall to force advance payment of room and board and not live up to average expectations. My stomach still turns when I think of my freshman year when I worked part-time in Slocum's Commons dining hall and saw the cook frequently mix the casserole with his hands. I still remember the distinction that was made in the preparation of meals during Parents' Weekend or when the football team ate there. (I also remember the 76¢ per hour pay I received when I decided to no longer take my pay in food. Since I worked 16 hours a week, this clearly means that the university only valued its food worth $12.16 a week rather than $15.75.)

Presently, the university maintains a cafeteria at the Medical School - and, while the quality of food served there is better than at SU dining halls, the opinion of most of my classmates regarding the quality of food vs. price is well demonstrated by their willingness to walk to any of the hospital cafeterias of to the Varsity rather than eat at school.

The staff and students of the Medical Center are able to make the choice and thus apply economic sanctions against food service. The captive customers - students of Syracuse University who signed away all their rights when they applied by "agreeing to comply with the regulations" of the university - have no such choice. Their only chance lies in repeated and persistent demonstrations that will embarrass those in charge and help them envision the possibility of losing some business, even though "enrollment is a privilege and not a right" at the university.

Louis M. Flohr

Service

To the Editor:

I am amazed at the attitude of a few students toward the recent boycott of food service. Although I myself do not eat at food service, most of my friends do, and what they usually have to say about the meals is not very complimentary, and could not be printed. I have only been on this campus for one semester, but what I have seen and heard has led me to believe that JSL has been ineffectual in seeking a solution to the major grievances of the majority of students. For the first time this year student government has acted forcefully to correct a situation of great discomfort to the students, and have not even received the full support of those for whom they are working.

JSL has been negotiating with food service for some time, but to no avail. Until this time they have been working as an individual organization, without the direct support of the majority of the students, and therefore have been banging their heads against the authority of the administration. Anyone attempting to negotiate from a position of weakness will find himself at the mercy of his adversary. On the other hand, anyone working from a position of strength can force concessions from his adversary which he could not have otherwise even considered striving for.

JSL can now bargain from such a position, thanks to the support of the majority of SU students. In the face of the boycott, and with the threat of future action by the students, the administration and Food Service will have to think twice before refusing once again to remedy the situation as suggested by the students.

To continue to approach the officialdom of this university at their own level would not only be fruitless but foolish. Such attempts have been proven to be in vain time and time again. Action by the student body should be cultivated, organized and governed by reason; always ready to be put into motion should the situation arise calling for it. It is not to be criticized, but highly praised.

It is truly a terrible shame that things have become as serious as they are, not only with food service, but with the lack of influence exerted upon the administration by the student body, but it would be more terrible if this situation was permitted to continue and worsen. An important precedent may have been set that Thursday night, and it is the duty and obligation of every student to support his own interests before he reach a point of despair.

Stuart Maskowitz
Class of '67

when are 65% and 35%
good marks?

when they're
65% DACRON
& 35% cotton in Post-Grad slacks by

h.i.s.

This is the fabric combo that makes music with sleek good looks and washable durability. And Post-Grads are the bona fide authentic that trim you up and taper you down. Tried-and-true tailored with belt loops, traditional pockets, neat cuffs. Only $6.95 in the colors you like... at the stores you like.

*DuPont's Reg. TM for its Polyester Fiber

WIN A TRIP TO EUROPE

Pick up your "Destination Europe" contest entry form at any store featuring the h.i.s. label. Nothing to buy! Easy to win! h.i.s. offers you your choice of seven different trips this summer to your favorite European city by luxurious jet. Enter now!

SYRACUSE 10 OUT NOW

READ THE PROVOCATIVE SHORT STORY

"ANNABELLE LEVY" by Robert Chamblee in the Winter Edition of SYRACUSE 10 STILL 40¢.

BUY YOUR COPY AT:

Main Bookstore and branches
Corner Store
English Office (HL203)
HBC
Syracuse Book Center

Lowe Art Center
Siegel's stores
Manny's
Varsity Camera Shop
University Hill Music Box
Burnett Drugs

CENTRAL NEW YORK'S FINEST BILLIARD PARLOR

"GAY NINETIES ATMOSPHERE"

Now forming singles & doubles
Leagues
Open 10 a.m.-12 p.m.
FREE PARKING

HOLIDAY
BILLIARDS
3033 ERIE BLVD., E.
GI 6-9836

A SATISFIED
CUSTOMER...

MIDTOWN CAR RENTAL

PHONE 476-4281

Join the SWINGERS

at

POPE'S GROVE

EVERY FRIDAY NIGHT

THIS FRIDAY

the KEYSTONE'S

½ MILE PAST THE STATE FAIR
GROUNDS, ON STATE FAIR BLVD., LAKELAND

Buildings Rise At Changing SU

Proceeding according to plans is the construction on the Communications Center at the corner of University and University.

Upperclassmen in 1964 will have the ultimate in dining facilities. The new circular dining hall will give the diners a full view of the landscape and a new air of lightness and cheery living.

Nearing completion, perhaps the most revolutionary structure on the Hill, is the Crouse Site Dorm, which looks over Walnut Place and Ave. and Marshall Street like a giant stereo.

The modernistic ensemble of dormitory and dining hall on the Crouse site are nearing completion. As spring approaches, the new dormitory will be bright news on the old campus.

Photos by Steve Schimmer

Hovering over the Newhouse Communications Center like a giant stork is a long.

crane, used to transport the sections of the building from the ground to "sky level."

"Every man counts . . ." That's the word as workers at the Crouse Site Dorm hurry to meet each building deadline on the eight-story building.

Career Seminar Opens Today

College of Business Administration students who are "up in the air" about after-graduation careers are advised to attend a Career Seminar day today.

The third of these career days set for the Women's Building, will discuss finance, real estate, and personnel and industrial relations.

Set for 7:30 p.m. in the recreation lounge, will be a seminar in finance. Speaking will be Eric Lawson, chairman of the finance department.

A real estate seminar will be held at 7:30 p.m. in room 303. Speaking will be Max Bloom, chairman of the real estate department, and William Taylor, of Palmayra Securities Corp.

A seminar in personnel and industrial relations will be held at 8:30 p.m. in room 305. Alan Seinar, vice president of Carrier Corp., will speak, along with D. Kline Haber, chairman of the department of personnel and industrial relations.

Omega-Minus Talk Today

Dr. Jack Leitner, instrumental in the discovery of the Omega-minus particle will give the physics colloquium at 4 p.m. today in 106 Steele Hall.

"New Particles and a New Symmetry of Nature" is the topic of his talk, which will be preceded by a tea at 3:30 p.m. in 106 Steele Hall.

Physics department personnel emphasize that the colloquium will be given on a technical level. It will be unintelligible to non-physics majors.

CORE Conference To Feature Rustin

Speeches by three nationally known civil rights leaders, including Bayard Rustin, will highlight the first part of the Upstate New York regional CORE conference to be held in Syracuse this weekend.

About 200 delegates from Niagara Falls, Binghamton and Utica CORE chapters are expected to attend. The conference will be hosted by Syracuse CORE.

The speeches, at 8 p.m. Friday in Lincoln Auditorium, will be on the topic, "The Negro Revolution—Past, Present and Future." The program is open to the public.

Speaking will be Rustin, coordinator of last year's March on Washington and the February 3 New York City school boycott; Norman Hill, program director for National CORE and coordinator of the 1959 Washington Youth March for Integration; and August Meier, professor of history at Morgan State College in Baltimore and author of "Negro Thought in America."

Meier's topic will be "Negro History and the History of the Protest Movement;" Hill's, "Politics of the Negro Movement;" and Rustin's "New Directions for the Unfinished Revolution."

The program will be moderated by Rudy Lombard, National CORE vice chairman and a member of Syracuse CORE.

Other phases of the weekend-long conference are open only to delegates, Syracuse CORE members, and invited guests.

Brief talks on housing, education and discrimination will be held at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at AME Zion Church, 711 East Fayette St.

Walter Phabat, formerly city planner for Baltimore, will discuss housing. Phabat now works independently in New York City. Hill will lead the education talk and Tom Kahn, author of "Unfinished Revolution," about the Southern sit-ins, will speak on employment.

Workshops will begin at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at University College. Sessions will be devoted to urban renewal housing, led by Syracuse CORE Executive Secretary Byron Rushing; slum housing, led by Allan Hoffman, CORE field secretary; private housing, led by Elaine Clyburn, a member of the State Commission on Human Rights and a member of Syracuse CORE; police brutality, led by a member of Rochester CORE.

Other workshop topics include employment, led by Dr. S. M. Miller, professor of sociology and anthropology at Syracuse University and senior research associate at SU's Youth Development Center; school integration, Norman Hill of National CORE; Syracuse civil rights groups inter-relationships, led by Dr. George Wiley, Syracuse CORE community relations director to CORE and the techniques of non-violence, led by Syracuse CORE Chairman Bruce Thomas.

A program on the political implications of the civil rights movement and the future of non-violence on Sunday afternoon will complete the conference.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

CITISCOARPAHIAFT
ADHOCVILISALAI
DEALTAPARITHIJD
SONORIAENTIRACIE
SOJRTIES
TOPSTIDEAGAMOB
ABTIESLIGHTROPE
MENUCADET EVEN PYGMALIONSPINE
ASISVAL EVEREST
SISS TINE
LAIYWASTE MOSCOW
OCEANPORT READY
DILLIRAN ANSON
IDLE NEST STERN

BALFOUR

L. G. BALFOUR CO.

Fraternity & Sorority Insignia
Jewelry • Rings
Stationery • Favors
Gifts • Ceramics
Leathergoods

Carl Sorensen, Mgr.
729 S. Crouse GR 5-7837

MORRIS...

(Continued from Page 1)

JSL speaker Jay Litwin was silent during most of the meeting. However, at one point he challenged Morris to a discussion before the legislature of all issues raised at Wednesday night's session. The discussion would center on the roles of the various parts of student government. Morris agreed to such a discussion sometime in the future.

After the meeting, Litwin voiced strong criticisms of the executives' actions in the food service matter. He called Morris' failure to include a legislative representative in the top-level negotiations "direct slap" at JSL. Litwin said he felt that the executives had destroyed the possibility of unified, effective student action by opposing the boycott.

FOOTPRINTS

March 11-12-13

Federal Service Break Set

Federal Service Entrance examinations for seniors interested in careers with the Social Security Administration are being offered at 3 p.m. Wednesday in the Women's Bldg.

Students interested in the examinations should contact Mrs.

Marguerite Ruoff, ext 2720. Application forms for Federal Employment must be submitted, complete to the examiner before the exam. Forms can be obtained from the local Social Security Office, telephone 474-1561.

THE "BOOKSTALL"

147 Marshall Street
Fascinating Gifts, Fine Stationery, Fabulous Cards
38 Years by the Campus
Your Friendly Alumni Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow

INTERNATIONAL CANDY and GOURMET SHOP

has

COOKIES CANDY FOODS
from Petite Fours Mexican Delicacies
England Parisiens Indian Paptadums
Holland Chocolate Nougates Caterpillars
Ireland Ass. Swiss Choc. Rattlesnake Meat
Germany Fried Grasshoppers

And a host of other fine products from the world over
161 Marshall Street

HERTZ RENT A CAR

• LOW HERTZ RATES INCLUDE EVERYTHING — INSURANCE & GAS

3

50 plus 9¢ per mile

Compact any Weekend — 24-Hour Period

Other Cars at Slightly Higher Rates

537 S. Warren
Hancock Airport

Reservations

GR 4-6578
454-2496
GL 4-2311

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day $.84
2 days 1.65
3 days 3.15
4 days 2.40
5 days 3.85
6 days 5.20
7 days 4.55
8 days 5.85
9 days 6.45
10 days 7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL, HO 8-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy, GR 6-5995.

GREYHOUND TICKETS, schedules, information, bus and air charters. Hotel reservations foreign tours. FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC. in the Savoy, Monday-Friday 1-4; Thursday night 7-9 476-8533.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired, Rented, Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-8533. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

ACCELERATED 5 lesson course, specializing in parking, traffic, road test. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL, HO 3-5451.

ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. E. Lillian M. Potter 207 Comstock Ave. GR 8-5847.

TO BUY OR SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN. Sparac Motors, 1000 Hiawatha Blvd. W., 474-6007, is the place.

LAVALIERS. $2.75. Wedding, Shower, Baby gifts. R-iera sunglasses, watch and jewelry repairs. Ruth's Gifts, 734 South Crouse.

FOUND: WOMAN'S fur hat, Syr. Univ. Campus. Call GR 6-5571. Ext. 2314.

LOST: Small fur hat, near Shum Hall. Finder please return it to Dean Griggs, 300 Shum Hall, Reward.

FRENCH TYPE PERFORMERS, etc. Profits $1 for 10 bottle set catalog. Transul, 15 W. 17th St., NYC.

FOR SALE

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of four colors of paper, three colors of ink, two sizes of sheets. Bookquall.

MAN'S HANDSOME flat top desk 6 X 36", walnut, a basket and telephone stand to match. Call GR 2-4264.

1954 CHEVY, excellent condition, two-door, radio and snow tires, $125. Call 476-2040.

RCA COLOR T.V., $200, 5 years old. Steelman Hill, $75. GR 2-3652.

WANTED

FREE!! A chance to participate in a psychology experiment. A guaranteed painless opportunity to advance science. Takes no longer than 20 min. Call ext. 2208 or drop in at 107 College Place any afternoon this week. Ask for Washington Irving or Irvine Washington.

STUDENT to drive V.W. to Los Angeles during spring vacation, 6-2-8720.

COLLEGE MEN who feel learning to sell will someday help your career. We train. Work your own hours during school year. Can lead to full-time summer work. Part-time while in school. 3 evenings - 6:30-9:00. Car necessary. See Mr. Noltes, Sat. mornings only.

11:00 sharp, Suite 104, Midtown Plaza. ENTERPRISING MALE, upperclassman or graduate student who would like free 3-week European trip, August. No guiding, escorting. For information call GL 6-1504 or GL 6-4161.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students
APARTMENTS FOR RENT. Two rooms with bath, 411 S. Crouse Ave. Call 476-7181 after 1 p.m.

3 ROOMS RECENTLY remodeled — paneling, bus, light parking. $85.00. Call 478-4388.

BELLEVUE HEIGHTS, unfurnished 7-rm. house. Vacant. Fine location. $125 per month. Call owner, GR 8-1567.

DOUBLE AND SINGLE, $7.50, $12.50. Kitchen privileges. 474-2634.

PLEASANT SIX-ROOM upper flat, furnished. Utilities separate. $100 per month. Immediate possession. GR 8-1257.

UNIVERSITY AVE., nicely furnished 5 room apt., fine place, tile bath, parking. Ideal for 4 nurses. GR 8-4733.

FURNISHED APT., Comstock Ave., 3 rooms, first floor, $24 per week including all utilities. OV 2-9679.

A PLEASANT 6-room furnished apt., near campus, available now. $110. Call GR 4-1734.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models, also sales and service, special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St., HA 2-1457.

EXPERT TYPING, thesis, term papers, theses. 458-0141.

EXPERIENCED TYPIST will do any form of typing in her home. Call 472-5780.

FINE TYPING, electric typewriter. Call 472-1605.

PEERLESS PRESS, Inc.

PRINTERS

1112 E. Fayette Street
Between University & Walnut

COMPLETE
PRINTING SERVICE

at your doorstep
GR 6-6051

'Cuse Juice

By RON ROBERTS

Sonny Liston looked like a man with an annoying itch in the small of his back — he wanted so badly to rub it out, but he couldn't quite reach it.

The "itch" was a 22-year-old, self-proclaimed savior of the boxing world named Cassius Clay. Clay wrote his name into the ring record books Tuesday night. His name may also go down in a few of Ripley's record books.

Clay didn't beat Liston. Liston lost to Clay. Or, more correctly, Liston lost to an untimely injury. "Untimely," that is, unless you happened to be one of the harvest-repeating television promoters of this contest. Then it was very timely indeed.

There is no way to tell just how serious — or just how real — Sonny's injury was. But it was quite evident that after the third round his favorite left hook lacked its usual mustard.

Liston said after the fight that he had injured his shoulder in the first round, and it had been growing worse each round. In the third, Liston put on an aggressive charge, perhaps realizing the seriousness of his injury and attempting to end things quickly.

But, by the grotesque fifth round, Sonny's left was almost useless. As Clay reeled and blinked his eye as a result of a misused ointment, Liston mauled him. But the punch just wasn't there, and at the end of the round you wondered who was chasing whom.

And Cassius proved that he certainly belonged in the same ring with "the big, ugly bear." He fought a smart, heady fight. He ran, popped a few counter shots, and ran some more. He didn't attempt to "mix it up" with Liston, even when a few of his lightning flurries had found the mark.

What would have happened if the injury hadn't occurred is hard to say and it makes little difference. They will battle again in a few months and thousands of people will again be on hand. And until that rematch, at least, Clay is the champion.

The question is: "Is Cassius Clay good for boxing?" The answer is: "Only if there are no more like him."

Boxing was — and still is — in the doldrums. It needed someone like Clay to bring color and excitement to the ring. But if this phoniness continues, boxing could degenerate into the category of professional wrestling — a comical farce.

There are some fight fans left. There are some fans who "know" something about the art of fighting, about the strategy involved and about the tricks of the ring. If boxing is to make a comeback, it must make it on the merits of the sport itself, not in the "good guys vs. the bad guys" or "the loudmouth phony vs. the ugly bear."

Cassius is to boxing what a shot of whiskey is to a depressed man. One shot may help him feel a bit better, and maybe do some good. But if too many more follow, the result could be disastrous.

All Eyes on Tonight's Brush with Colgate

By JUDY ADAMS
Associate Editor

When Colgate's turn came to face the Orangemen last month, the Red Raiders chose that night to erupt for the largest total any visiting team had rung up in Manley Field House.

But Syracuse was also putting out some extra effort and put to bed a 117-91 win.

Colgate's number comes up again at 8 p.m. tonight their Huntington Gymnasium.

For the hosts, it's their last 40 minutes on the basketball court this season. Thank goodness, some bitter Colgate fans may be moved to add.

For the Hamilton school, this year has been a bit erratic on the basketball court. After being drowned by 15 of the 22 teams they've faced, they are about ready to come up for air.

Meanwhile most Syracuseans are holding their breaths as the days and games slip by into weeks and the date of the final NIT selections draw near.

"Send These Boys to the NIT" has been the campaign during recent weeks. The crusade was badly wounded by the losses to Pittsburgh and West Virginia on the road.

But with some band-aids, iodine and a much-needed win over Cornell the campaign is back in bloom.

A win over Colgate tonight would help it nicely.

And a loss by an overconfident club would kill it dead.

Colgate has four men in double figures going into the attempted kill. Ed Muntner (20.7) leads the group at forward.

Bob TeCarr (18.1) and Bruce Corbett (15.1) handle the guard slots around Tom Cruthers (14.1).

STANDINGS

SU CLASSIC BOWLING

(First half results)

	W-L	Ave.
Cosmo Pizza	55-15	164
Old Crows	42-28	156
King Pins	36-34	155
Aunt Semimas	34-36	155
Ivy Hall	24-46	153
Cobras	19-51	152

High Average — Bernie Scalton (175)

High Game — Bill Haldenwang (224)

High Series — Bill Haldenwang (584)

INTRAS

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

Basketball

7:00 — Phi Epsilon Pi (B) vs. Phi Sigma Delta (B); Sigma Alpha Mu (B) vs. Phi Delta Theta (B); Raiders vs. A.E.C.P.

7:45 — Kappa Sigma vs. Tau Kappa Epsilon; Beta Sigma Rho vs. Sigma Nu; Delta Upsilon vs. Phi Alpha

8:30 — Acacia vs. Zeta Psi; Beta Theta Pi vs. Theta Chi; Phi Kappa Alpha vs. Sigma Chi

Table Tennis

7:00 — DelPlain 3 vs. Kimmel 2; Marion vs. Sims 2

7:45 — Booth 5 vs. winner Match 24; Sims 3 vs. Watson W 4

8:30 — winner Match 25 vs. winner Match 27; Hangerford vs. Marshall

9:15 — Cleveland vs. winner Match 29

0) at center.

Captain Bob Druckenmiller (6.6) fills out the starting lineup at forward.

The Orange should go with the same starting team that steered them through Tuesday's 89-85 win over Cornell.

Dave Bing, Chuck Richards and the three unsungs: Richie Duffy, Phil Schoff and Norm Goldsmith.

Perhaps Goldsmith should have been listed first, for it was 33 days ago, against Colgate, that he had his finest night of the year 19 points and 23 rebounds.

The latter caused some orrassing in the athletic record department as did the team's 117 final score.

RICHIE DUFFY

Piety Yearlings Invade Colgate

By ART ROSSKY

Syracuse's frosh basketball team will attempt to snap a two-game losing streak tonight in an away tilt with the Colgate yearlings. Game time is 6 p.m.

In their most recent outing, the Hill cubs Tuesday bowed to Cornell by a 75-61 count. The Tangerines, now 11-5, have not tasted victory since Feb. 12 when they tipped the Little Red at Manley Field House.

Among Common opponents the homestanding Raiders whipped the Cornell cubs twice, 89-72 at Ithaca and 64-59 at Hamilton. Syracuse broke even in four games with the Little Red.

Colgate also claims a victory over Army, a squad which split two games with the tangerines.

In the teams' first meeting Syracuse emerged victorious by an 81-72 score.

Probable starters for Coach Morris Oshurn's Hillmen are Rick Dean in the pivot, Scott Loll and Vaughn Harper at the forwards, with Rich Russo and Marty Goldstein at the guards. John Lewien, who has displayed accurate jump shooting in recent games is a possible replacement for Loll in the starting five.

Against Cornell the Hill cubs suffered a jolt when Harper was ejected early in the first half. Colgate's standouts include 5-10 guard Tom Vigrass, 6-2 forward Gary Blongiewicz, and center Al Brown.

Following tonight's encounter the Piety yearlings will play their fourth straight road game Buffalo for a clash with the rugged Canisius squad.

Schoff Shoots Soft Shot

Junior Phil Schoff drives in for a basket in Tuesday night's 89-85 victory over the Big Red of Cornell. The win enhanced Syracuse's hope for a NIT bid.

DID YOU KNOW?

THAT A ROENTGEN IS A MEASURE OF RADIATION EXPOSURE

THAT MOST INDIVIDUALS COULD CONTINUE TO WORK AFTER AN EXPOSURE OF UP TO 200 ROENTGENS

THAT 600 ROENTGENS EXPOSURE IN A SHORT PERIOD OF TIME WOULD PROBABLY KILL YOU.

THAT IN OUR LIFETIME EACH OF US ABSORBS ABOUT TEN ROENTGENS FROM NATURAL SOURCES + SMALL AMOUNTS FROM X-RAYS, LUMINOUS WATCHES, ETC.

THAT RADIATION SICKNESS IS NOT CONTAGIOUS

MORE FACTS? CONTACT YOUR LOCAL CIVIL DEFENSE

Food Meeting

Food service and student government officials gather with representatives of dining hall food committees Thursday as students and administration attempted to reconcile differences that have developed over university food service.

Food Service Action Taken

By MARLENE CIMONS

Two committees to act on food complaints were established Thursday at a meeting of student government officials, administrators, and dormitory food council representatives.

The student-administration group also decided to drop the 10 most disliked items from the weekly menu and plan future menus with items voted most popular. Those dropped were: grilled liver, baked liver, fresh sausage patties, chicken croquettes, roast veal, chicken loaf, Hungarian goulash, stuffed veal roll, veal paprika, and porcupine meat ball.

One member from each dormitory food council will comprise a committee to meet with Mrs. Ursula Pettingill, director of food service, to plan weekly menus and enforce the standards set for food service. This group, proposed by Mrs. Pettingill, and agreed to by Wingate, will meet for the first time Thursday.

Another committee suggested by Carleton, will be formed to establish a code of standards to be followed by food service employees and students in dining halls.

The quality of food served was also discussed. Wingate said that this matter will be turned over to Mrs. Pettingill.

Morris proposed that a university food council be created as a formal structure to supervise and work in conjunction with the individual dorm councils and committees.

This group tentatively will be composed of six food council representatives. Dr. Francis Wingate, university vice-president and treasurer; Mrs. Pet-tingill, student government officials, and a personnel administrator.

It was agreed to have a statistical analysis made on the

The committee also approved a resolution that The Daily Orange publish the official reports of the committee and not use any quotes. Two DIO reporters had taken during the meeting. (See editorial, page 2). Morris said that direct quotes taken out of context can ruin the mood of entire meeting.

food service surveys to determine what further items will be eliminated from the menu. This will be completed no later than Monday.

Freshman class president Jim Richard suggested that the committee should check to see how frequently the discarded items are served. Morris said this will be done by the Standards Committee.

(See Food, Page 7)

Honorable Mention for Bing

Syracuse's Dave Bing was named Thursday as an honorable mention All-American on the United Press International team.

Bing, who scored 421 points in his first 20 varsity games to lead Orange scoring, had to receive three or more All-America votes to earn the honorable mention honor.

Fred Crawford of St. Bonaventure was the only other Upstate New York player to make honorable mention.

Princeton's Bill Bradley was the only Syracuse opponent to make any of the first three All-American teams.

GRAD OFFICE HOURS

Due to a peak in applications being submitted to the graduate school, office hours will be changed. Until further notice room 101 Slocum will be open 10 a.m.-12:30 p.m. and 1:30 p.m.-3:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Honorable Mention

Student Union Shows Oxbow

The Oxbow Incident, a realistic film portraying the turbulent lives and problems of the citizens of the Old West, will be shown by the Student Union at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Women's Building.

Bosley Crowther of the New York Times said that it was hard to imagine a picture with less promise commercially because it shows the "cruelty, bloodlust, ruffianism, pusillanimity and sordid pride" of human nature. This view is not supported by the popularity of the novel "The Oxbow Incident", which has been a best seller.

Students at the showing will be given a questionnaire compiled by the United Campus Christian Fellowship in cooperation with the University Union Board, concerning the theme. The purpose is to determine whether this film and similar films have a moral purpose.

Candidates Named For AWS Elections

Candidates for spring elections have been announced by the Association of Women Students. Elections will be held Sunday, March 15.

Candidates for the office of president are Dianne Kessler from Holland Patent, N.Y., and Joan Moore from LaFayette, N.Y.

Miss Kessler served as assistant dorm council chairman for AWS and is on junior class executive council. She is a member of Lambda Sigma Sigma, junior women's honorary and has a 1.8 cumulative average.

Miss Moore has served as AWS junior officer in charge of publicity, chairman of sorority women for Campus Chest and president of her living center. She has a 2.1 average.

The candidate receiving the most votes will become president, and the runner-up will become vice-president in charge of Standards Council.

Two candidates are running for the position of overall guide chairman. The candidates are Myra Lampman from Binghamton, and Judy Tabakin from Elkins Park, Penn.

Miss Lampman, public relations director for WAER, is a member of Lambda Sigma Sigma and Syrafinis. She has a 2.4 average.

Miss Tabakin is ideas and exchange chairman for Panhellenic, rush chairman of her sorority, and has been head of the JSG secretariat. She has a 1.5 average.

The runner-up for this position will be elected. (See AWS, Page 10)

UN Discussion

Bunche Lecture Set

Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, under-secretary of the United Nations, will speak on "United Nations and World Conflict" at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Hendricks Chapel.

He is appearing as part of the citizenship department's regular series and also will be the guest of the SU United Campus Christian Fellowship. The latter organization is sponsoring an informal coffee hour with Bunche for students and faculty at 4 p.m. in the Hendricks Chapel Colonial Room. The 59-year-old statesman was adviser to the United States delegation to the San Francisco founding meeting of the United Nations in March 1945. Since that time he has continued active in UN activities.

He was a member of the UN executive committee meeting in London in September of 1945 and in 1957 he was appointed to his present position. Prior to his work with the UN he had joined the state department in 1944. In 1946 he attended the first general assembly of the UN in London.

During 1946 the UN requested his services on loan from the state department and he subsequently resigned from the department to accept a permanent post in the UN secretariat.

His work has included mediation in Palestine in 1948 and service as a special representative to the Congo in 1960.

In 1950, Bunche was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize. He received the Spingarn Medal by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in 1949 and the Theodore Roosevelt Assn. medal of honor in 1954.

(See Bunche, Page 7)

RALPH BUNCHE

Censorship and the Press

"I believe that suppression of the news, for any consideration other than the welfare of society, is indefensible." - The Journalist's Creed.

The role of this newspaper is not to appease the Administration or Joint Student Government; it is to inform the student body on all matters that concern it.

Others have charged the role of the newspaper is to give the student body "what we want it to know."

The student-administration food service committee met, Wednesday, and the major decision of the group had nothing to do with food.

Behind the prodding of JSG President James Morris, Dean John S. Hafer and Dean Jim G. Carleton, the group of eight "student" representatives and six administrators resolved unanimously that the members of the press (present at the meeting) publish the official reports of the committee, rather than anything occurring during the meeting the press might have considered newsworthy.

A member of the committee told reporters he voted for the resolution because the reports of the last meeting "made us look bad." If this is his only consideration as a student representative of the food service committee, he should be removed by his constituents.

This newspaper cannot condone and will not adhere to such an arbitrary ruling, which can only be construed as an attempt to keep the student body in the dark.

The committee justifies this action because it wants to prevent being misinterpreted. The chairman of the committee told a DO reporter that she was to use no quotes of those present. He held that a report of the committee would be sufficient.

We contend that such an arrangement makes it easier for administrators to transform this committee into a do-nothing group.

We further contend that we were disappointed at the results of the first two meetings.

After the committee had labored for two hours setting up a bureaucracy of red tape, it then proceeded to establish autonomy. This development cannot serve the best interests of the student. For if the student wants to act on food service, he must know what's going on.

This development is not unique to Syracuse University. At this university, the developments of all 14 committees that student government leaders sit on are "top secret." One student leader was reprimanded for giving the newspapers an account of a university meeting. We were reprimanded for reporting a "student ideas convocation."

What has been accomplished by the student representatives attending this meeting is that they have protected themselves and the administrators from public opinion. This type of committee should have no such protection, for it is directly responsible to the student body.

And this newspaper will not be a party to such a protection. We feel that we must put the actions of students and the administrators in clear view of the student body.

We feel such an action is necessary by this newspaper, and if we are wrong, we are sure this will be presented to us at the next Board of Publications meeting.

We believe that the Daily Orange is a public journal with a public trust. As trustees for the public we cannot submit to this intimidation, for this would be a betrayal of whatever faith the students may have in us.

The Other Side of the Rainbow

The Veil of Onondaga

by Andrew Porte

The only difference between Cassius Clay and Jay Litwin is that Cassius himself tells us he's great, while it takes Jay's jolly band of Argonauts to tell us he's great.

From watching Jay in the legislature all year, it seems to appear that he's a pretty square guy, who seems to be sincere in wanting to get the best for the students. But many of his supporters could use a quick course in etiquette and common courtesy.

Jay didn't interrupt Jim Morris in that special meeting the other night, but four of his henchmen (of whom only one wore the customary coat and tie), sitting about seven rows back, were full of razberries usually reserved for a heavyweight fight. It's L-i-t-w-i-n guys, not L-i-s-ton.

What started out to be a simple, clear discussion of issues and progress turned into an emotional personality clash between Litwin's supporters and Jim Morris, as much as Morris tried to keep the subject confined to issues.

Even when some seniors got up and appealed that the discussion be kept to issues, these neatly attired and boisterous individuals continued to steal the show.

It's a shame that all this had to happen, but then again, between childhood and adolescence, felt it was necessary. At least that's the opinion I got from sitting in front of them.

Jim wanted to talk about the issues, and for a while at least, Jay seemed to want to discuss the issues. It was the student body that wanted to ignore them and reduce it to a person-to-person basis.

The student body has a new darling, it seems, in one Ken "Mother for Pain" Auletta, the voice of progressivism. There are those who remember Barwick Millstein, who had followings a few years back. The first Ken was a Sig Ep, the new one is a graduate student, who seems to be studying student motivation.

Auletta took this campus by storm. From reading his work, it seems as if Litwin and Morris were ready to go at it in a four-round bout before the main event.

Ken missed the boat, too, by trying to make it a personality clash rather than a difference of opinion on procedure. The only people who are getting hurt in the long run are the students. They must be having quite a gay time in the administration building soaking all this in.

I just hope that Jay's followers, from that overly polite foursome to the "haters," will for once let him do what he thinks is right and not lower themselves to discussing personalities, when the crucial is at stake.

In fact, all is ex post facto now. It is over and done. Jim thought all possible steps had not been taken; Jay thought the brick wall had been reached. An emotion-pitched legislature voted to boycott.

Top-level, to borrow a phrase, meetings have been held, and progress has apparently been made. To whom we can attribute this cannot be said. What must be done now is to proceed with a unified front to assure the implementation of the recommendations and promises, so that there will be no relapse as happened after similar promises two years ago.

Let us not think that there cannot be differences of opinion between our executives and our legislators. If there were none, our country would spend alternating four years undoing what had been done in the previous four.

When such differences do occur, there should be consultation and discussion. There should be recommendations from the body, but in no case should one group expect its superiority by acting swiftly without the knowledge of the other.

And there's no reason why Jay and Jim should have to debate this whole business in public. It's their matter, a difference of their opinions and methods. It's much easier to arrive at a workable decision in a few meetings than in a mass gathering where everyone's worried about public appearance.

Enough of this bunk, Auletta. Let's worry about the food.

LETTERS

Hooray

To the Editor:

Hooray for Roger Knapp! He has probably written the clearest formulation of the actual issues in the food service protest. At last someone has come down to cases.

Although I do not agree that "the food service protest is rather superficial and mundane" (since I eat the food in question and Mr. Knapp probably does not!) I realize that this is not the most important point. The question is whether the student government is merely a token association permitted by the administration, or whether it has the power to speak for the students and get things done.

I realize that there are those who would argue that the boycott was not a true representation of the student opinion as a whole — evidently 70 per cent of the ticket-holding students does not constitute a majority. They would also say that the boycott was unnecessary, irrelevant, and poorly organized; that direct action was not called for, and that negotiation was the answer. But for how long are the students expected to negotiate with JSG, saying one thing, JSG another, and the administration and food service chuckling up their respective sleeves while nothing gets done?

To borrow a thought from Martin Luther King, Jr., "Nonviolent direct action and establish such creative seeks to create such a crisis tension that a community that has constantly refused to act is forced to confront the issue." This was the purpose of the boycott, and the fact that the issue, since the boycott, has received so much since in the DO illustrates its effectiveness.

If only Mr. Litwin and Mr. Morris would present a united front on behalf of the students, maybe some good will come out of the whole mess. For once, the students have raised their voices loud enough to be heard by the educated deaf ears of the administration. I only hope that what was started can be successfully finished, with the students having the last word.

Stephanie Donaldson
Class of '67

Athletics

To the Editor:

Since I participated in Ivy League athletics, and my father is coach of the Columbia University baseball team, I feel that I am qualified to answer the letter of John V. Scott concerning "Morality."

Ivy League acceptance is divided into two parts: admission, and grants-in-aid. Financial aid is considered only after the student is admitted. Also, in direct conflict with the letter of Mr. Scott, these grants-in-aid are distributed equally to all accepted students on the basis of need. This policy explains why Archie Roberts (all-Ivy quarterback) sells papers in the morning to obtain spending money. How many schools would refuse to support players of this calibre? The main attraction which the Ivy League can offer an athlete is academic prestige. This possibly explains why many future engineers and doctors play Ivy sports, while there is a significant lack of physically majors competing on these terms.

My fraternity was what might be called an "athletic fraternity," and I remember many instances where these grants-in-aid were withdrawn from these athletes for scholastic reasons. I also recall an incident where Coach Rohan (basketball) refused to permit a boy to participate in a game because he knew before hand that the boy would be ineligible even though the eligibility lists had not been made official (compare this action to the Everling case). No athlete is ever the recipient of alumni gifts; these gifts are made directly to the Colleges, and generally go toward equipment, facilities, etc. In this way, the Ivy League is able to present fine athletic buildings without having to rely upon the success or failure of the football team.

I am very proud of being an Ivy League athlete, but also enjoy Syracuse athletics, and feel that there is a place for this type of policy.

It is not my intention to criticize Syracuse athletics, although at times it might seem otherwise. I find little to criticize about the Syracuse policy of winning. Syracuse policy of winning. The criticism I feel is toward as long as it is openly stated, people such as Mr. Scott and Mr. Steinberg, who feel compelled to create issues by criticizing, praising, and comparing various institutions and inventing "myths" to justify their position. They fail to realize that both Syracuse and the Ivy League are capable of producing both fine scholars and fine athletes, while each school lives up to its respective standards.

James M. Balquist
Graduate Assistant,
Chemistry
Captain-1962 Columbia
Wrestling team

POLICY ON LETTERS

The letters column is maintained for the expression of opinion by readers. However, the Daily Orange reserves the right to edit letters for grammar and good taste or to reject letters. Letters should be written legibly, preferably typed and no longer than 250 words. All letters must be signed with names and addresses (names will be withheld on request).

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2

February 28, 1961

Editor-in-Chief
Business Manager

Allan T. Kort
Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor: Clayton F. Richards
News Editor: Andrew Porte
Editorial Director: Adair DeLine
Sports Editor: Raymond MacCallum
Art Editor: Ron Thiel
Photography Editor: Steve Schmitter

BUSINESS STAFF

National Ad. Mgr.: Lynn Mondel
Class Ad. Mgr.: Christine Sedrak
Promotion Mgr.: Stu Scarpito
Asst. Bus. Mgr.: Jan Westberg
Layout Managers: Masha Jozwick, Ellen Loh

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year. Students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 200 Brookline Drive, Syracuse, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter at U. S. Post Office, Lanesville, N. Y.

WEEKEND

ECKEL:—"Tom Jones" is still running, trying to avoid the clutches of all those nasty females in order to get to his true love, Sophie. Albert Finney plays Tom in the cinema adaptation of Fielding's novel. The film shows 18th century, lusty, British life complete with wild chases, bed scenes, great background music and sight gags. If you have enough stamina to brave the long lines outside the Eckel, go see the picture that got 10 Academy Award nominations. "Finney" at 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m.

RIVIERA—The "Four Days of Naples" is another film from the land of pizza. At the time of this film, however, pizza was pretty scarce. It is the time of the resistance movement. And this is what the film is about. Who can resist are anti-Nazi and rooted for this topic? Especially if you the Americans to win in World War II. With it is "Hand in the Trap" another foreign flick, well done. Naples at 6:45 and

Krozel Given Panhel Award

Gail Krozel has been awarded the Panhellenic Scholarship for study abroad.

The scholarship of $300 is awarded to a student studying abroad during the spring semester.

Miss Krozel, a junior with a dual major in secondary education and French, is presently studying abroad under the Semester France program.

A native of Holley, N. Y., she has a 1.9 cumulative average.

Miss Krozel is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

Beta Elects Officers

The results of the recent Beta Theta Phi elections are; President, Gary Germain; Vice-president, Jay Nelson Happy; treasurer, Ross Fenster; secretary, Robert Gola; correspondent John Wadlin.

FOOTPRINTS

March 11-12-13

10:15 p.m., Trap at 8:40 p.m. RKO KEITH'S—"Love with the Proper Stranger" with Steve McQueen and Natalie Wood is playing this weekend. Natalie Wood plays an unwed mother who tries to stay unwed. Seems she doesn't think Steve McQueen is a good catch. Huh? Anyway, there's a big, spectacular, happy ending at Macy's which probably makes Macy's very happy and should reassure the bourgeois and conventional ones in the audience. Co-feature is "No, My Darling Daughter", a British comedy for Beatle fans. "Proper" at 6:20 p.m. "No" at 10:15 p.m.

SHOPPINGTOWN—"The Cardinal" starring Tom Tryon in the title role, with Romy Schneider and Carol Lynley gives a pictorial concept of American life during World War I. The theme uses the stereotype of an Irish-American boy from Boston who enters the priesthood and rises, to become a Cardinal. The film is presented in a panoramic manner with concentration on two dramatic episodes: the priest's encounter in Georgia with the Ku Klux Klan, when championing the cause of a Negro priest and his experiences in Vienna during the time of Hitler's Anschluss. Atheists will get a "good laugh. Panorama at 8:20 p.m.

LOEW'S STATE—Spending a "Sunday in New York" is no worse than spending a Sunday in Tuscaloosa, Iowa. There's probably less Sunday traffic in New York. However, Jane Fonda found quite a bit of traffic on a bus when she gets hooked to Cliff Robertson on a bus. Then she goes through the problems of should she or shouldn't she, and by the end of the flick nobody really cares, and so she does, but only after she goes off to marry the guy. But things like that don't happen to people on a Sunday in New York. Most people get hit by the bus. Sunday at 7:40 and 9:40 p.m.

PARAMOUNT—"The Victors" is a war picture which traces the development of a group of American soldiers from the time of World War II to a post-war Berlin episode. The form, the publicity releases say, is a cinematic version of Dos Passos' "U.S.A." (English 177a, remember?). The film is divided into a group of episodes intended to show the pointlessness of war. It's got a cast of thousands, with some of Europe's female pulchritude, and American male looks. Albert Finney plays a Russian. Look quick, or you might miss him, that's how short his part is. At 6:05 and 9:10 p.m.

KALLET-GENESEE—"Charade" with Cary Grant and Audrey Hepburn is playing this weekend. Incidentally, for Cary Grant fans, this is the last movie you can see him in with dark hair—he's decided to give up dyeing it. (we got this tid-bit courtesy of Jimmy Fiddler). Anyhow, Audrey Hepburn plays the role of an innocent wife, whose husband has been murdered. Grant tries to help her solve the murder. Co-feature is "Showdown" with Audie Murphy. Nobody has been able to figure out if it's a Western or a war story. "Last Dyeing" at 6:30, 9:45 p.m. "Which is it?" at 8:30 p.m.

HOLLYWOOD—They've got a double bill of two really big flicks! It's "The Days of Wine and Roses" or the saga of the Greeks at Syracuse University. It's about an advertising man who becomes an alcoholic. His wife joins him in the bottle and they have merry times getting loaded. With it is "Who's Afraid of Baby Jane?" alias "Whatever Happened to Baby Jane." See Bette Davis have a strange sister who isn't her twin. See Joan Crawford without an ax, but with a wheel chair. Wine at 7:05 p.m., Jane at 9 p.m.

WOMEN'S BUILDING—It's Student Union night, and they are showing "The Ox-Bow Incident" which is an old old flick that shows up on television every now and then. But it is still one of the best westerns to come out of Hollywood. It's an oldie but goodie. This stars Henry Fonda when he looked like his son Peter. At 8 p.m. Friday.

REGENT THEATRE—The Syracuse Little Theatre Group is presenting "The Male Animal," by James Thurber and Elliot Nugent. It's all about a college professor who gets into trouble for the idea that he professes. At 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

CROUSE AUDITORIUM—Louis Krasner, conducting the University Symphony and featured soloist Frederick Miller, cellist will present a program that includes music by Copland, Haydn, and Beethoven. At 4 p.m. Sunday.

Al Markowitz Florist

ORCHID & ROSE CORSAGES

AS LOW AS $1.95

CALL US WE'LL DELIVER 212 E. FAYETTE ST. GR 4-5346

Daily Crossword Puzzle

- ACROSS
- 1 Fright.
 - 6 Small mollusk.
 - 10 Tiff.
 - 14 Of the ear.
 - 15 Ecclesiastical vestment.
 - 16 Peel.
 - 17 Immediately: 6 words.
 - 20 King: Sp.
 - 21 "Parisienne," Offenbach ballet.
 - 22 a dozen: 2 words.
 - 23 Fish.
 - 24 Frenzy.
 - 26 U.N. head: Full name.
 - 29 "I do not run:" 2 words.
 - 33 Column.
 - 34 Eighteenth president of U.S.
 - 35 Greek letters.
 - 36 Fourth base.
 - 37 Beldame.
 - 38 Per —
 - 39 Qua — (here and there): It.
 - 40 Fragment of pottery.
 - 41 la vista.
 - 42 Pertinent.
 - 44 Beantown.
 - 45 Repudiate.
 - 46 Loyalty —
 - 47 Straight man.
 - 50 Quantity.
 - 52 Soul: Fr.
 - 55 Ready whenever needed: 4 words.
 - 58 His: Fr.
 - 59 Tranquility.
 - 60 Ohio city.
 - 61 Scarlet, rouge etc.
 - 62 Pentagram.
 - 63 Goddess of 53 Down.
- DOWN
- 1 River into the Moselle.
 - 2 Pretty: Colloq.
 - 3 Dilettantish.
 - 4 Cheer.
 - 5 Fine: Colloq.
 - 6 Certificate.
 - 7 Swag.
 - 8 Advantage: 2 words.
 - 9 Earth: Prefix.
 - 10 Black cards.
 - 11 Two-hulled canoe of Tahiti.
 - 12 Biblical region.
 - 13 Head: Fr.
 - 18 Arrow.
 - 19 Bundle of sticks.
 - 23 Bistro.
 - 25 First-rate.
 - 26 Man in the aisle.
 - 27 Rowboat.
 - 28 Oriental porter.
 - 29 Ten million rupees.
 - 30 Live.
 - 31 Become associated with: 2 words.
 - 32 Ottoman ruler.
 - 34 Serving dish: 2 words.
 - 37 Facial feature.
 - 38 Hyphen's cousin.
 - 40 Exacting.
 - 41 Rash fellow.
 - 43 Beloved of Venus.
 - 44 18th cen. composer.
 - 46 Aquatic animal.
 - 47 Inharmonious.
 - 48 "King" of song.
 - 49 Dull sound.
 - 51 Handle: Lat.
 - 52 Port of Guam.
 - 53 Space probe objective.
 - 54 Historic volcano.
 - 56 Give assent to.
 - 57 Indulge in winter sports.

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

SATURDAY
MARCH 7th
8:30 PM

ODETTA

TICKETS: $3.00 - 2.50 - 2.00

RESERVATIONS: 476-4536

University Regent Theatre

820 EAST GENESEE STREET

"Ten Nights"

Demon Rum

by Renee Bruns

The persecution of the horrible Demon Rum, once a holy task of temperance groups, will be recreated by the Syracuse University Drama Department in a melodrama entitled "Ten Nights in a Bar Room."

The W. T. Pratt play exposes the fiendish effects of alcohol, as seen through the eyes of temperance movement supporters.

In three acts, a miller-turned-innkeeper falls into the clutches of alcohol and ruins his family's life. A drunkard sees his little daughter injured in a barroom brawl and reforms. And a Yankee tippler becomes a hero even in the face of alcohol.

To add to the excitement and atmosphere, original temperance songs will be sung, and the audience will be asked to sign the "Pledge," a vow "to be at all times sparing and cautious in the use of spirituous liquors . . ."

The temperance movement like evangelism, civil rights and beatlemania—spun into orbit on the strength of a few so sure they were right that others, however thirsty, capitulated.

Ultimate vindication of the movement was viewed as prohibition.

Prohibition did not work, but residue effects include Alcoholics Anonymous, recognition of alcoholism as a disease, and a bundle of liquor laws which New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller is still trying to untangle.

The first prohibitory liquor law was passed by the state legislature in Maine during the 1840's. The law called for total abstinence from spirits except for medicinal use. Result: liquor sales off an estimated 50 per cent.

Other states were less stringent. The trend was towards licensing regulations which purported to foster "moderation" while avoiding direct confrontation with powerful distillery interests. The New York State Liquor Law, passed in the mid-1800's, was an eclectic document, which in spite of changes has remained, according to some state officials, virtually unenforceable.

But the bulk of the temperance movement was extra legal. During the mid and late 1800's it threaded its way into pulpit, press, and street-corners.

First organized movement to spur moderation in use of alcohol was the Connecticut "temperance farmers" during the 1790's; a fastidious group that refused to allow its farmhands to punctuate a day in the fields with the usual bottle of spirits. Result: the farmers hoed their own fields.

Early movement called for "moderation," but in 1826 the formation of the Boston Temperance Society in the middle of the Massachusetts rum country—heralded the first organized cry for total abstinence. The group appointed its own public relations man, who toured the eastern states propagating the faith of temperance.

But it was in a Baltimore tavern—in the midst of a drinking bout—that the most well-known of the early temperance societies was formed. Six drunks teetered out of the tavern, vowed never to touch another drop, and the "Washingtonians" was formed.

Main weapon of the group: the pledge card. "Sign the pledge and it will make a sober man of you," exhorted the Washingtonians. Membership was composed mostly of what were described as "conformed drunkards."

Members admitted many a card was signed, and then solemnly meditated on over another bottle of rum. But the movement also spawned renowned temperance crusaders, such as John B. Gough, who spent a day with the bottle deciding to sign the pledge card, then carried the banner of temperance through the U. S. and Great Britain.

The mid-1800's spawned a cluster of temperance groups (such as the Sons of Temperance, formed at New York's Teetotaler's Hall, later the Daughters of Temperance, (both fraternal groups) but it was in Ohio during the 1870's that the blossoming temperance movement sprouted its most notable bud.

A small but ardent band of women marched from saloon to saloon, town to town, city to city, resolutely planting their knees in prayer before every bar and wailing the evils of Demon Rum until distraught proprietors tossed their liquor—or the women—into the street. A small group of the female gladiators finally invaded Cincinnati for a campaign of sit-ins—and were arrested.

It was the beginning of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, a national movement which could boast shortly that it had branches in 22 states. In 1875 the group pleaded with Congress to prohibit liquor traffic entirely, and was granted a hearing before the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Snapped the president of the National Women's Temperance Union when no results were forthcoming: "Because men put their feet upon the back of their desks in legislative halls and smoke their cigars till the whole ceiling is almost hid with cloud, that does not make it right."

The Demon Rum has now been hanged in effigy in the lobby of the University Regent Theatre. His despicable activities will be seen March 12, 13, 14, 19, 20, and 21, at 8:30 p.m.

TheatreHolds Festival

Nickel Theater will reopen its spring season of productions with a week's festival of new plays, March 2. The new plays will be treated as staged readings and will be performed in the Boar's Head Theatre in Machinery Hall.

Admission to each performance is five cents. An open discussion of the plays, involving actors, directors, and audience will be held at the conclusion of each production, moderated by Dr. Joseph Golden, director of Boar's Head Theatre.

Odetta

ODETTA will sing for Syracuse audiences 8:30 p.m., March 7 at the Regent Theater. She made the song "Water Boy," one of the 200 songs in her repertory, famous. Her career has led her to television, the concert circuit and Carnegie Hall. Tickets are on sale for $3, $2.50 and $2 at the Regent Theater.

OPEN DAILY AT 9:45
SHOP TONIGHT UNTIL 9

DEY'S BASEMENT

the most popular jeans on campus or anywhere!

Slim Fit JEANS

White LEVI'S

4.49

- tan
- black
- olive waist sizes:

28-36
inseam:
28-34

Slim, trim jeans
in belt loop model.
Western cut. Cuffless bottoms.
Sanforized, washable.
13½ oz. denim.

charge it in Dey's Basement Work Clothes

USE ONE OF DEY'S
CONVENIENT CREDIT ACCOUNTS

DEY BROTHERS & CO., Syracuse, N. Y. 13201 ±967
2/28/64 Please send me Slim Fit JEANS @ 4.49. Add 2% sales tax within city limits. Allow 1 week for delivery.

quantity	waist size	inseam	color	2nd color

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ Zip _____ State _____
☐ charge ☐ check ☐ money order
☐ please open a charge account for me

ENGINEERING OPPORTUNITIES for Seniors and Graduates in MECHANICAL, AERONAUTICAL, CHEMICAL, ELECTRICAL, NUCLEAR, and METALLURGICAL ENGINEERING

ENGINEERING MECHANICS
APPLIED MATHEMATICS
PHYSICS and ENGINEERING PHYSICS

CAMPUS INTERVIEWS

MONDAY, MAR. 9

Appointments should be made in advance through your College Placement Office

Pratt &
Whitney Aircraft

U
A
DIVISION OF UNITED AIRCRAFT CORP.

An Equal Opportunity Employer

SPECIALISTS IN POWER... POWER FOR PROPULSION—POWER FOR AUXILIARY SYSTEMS.
CURRENT UTILIZATIONS INCLUDE AIRCRAFT, MISSILES, SPACE VEHICLES, MARINE AND INDUSTRIAL APPLICATIONS.

Times Article

Inequality of Wealth Seen

By SANDI EHRLICH
Junior Editor

A Maxwell School associate professor published his first article in last Sunday's New York Times Magazine.

Michael D. Reagan, associate professor of political science, wrote "What 17 Million Shareholders Share," an article about the stock market. He spent almost two weeks writing the article, and it was based on about 100 hours of reading and research.

Reagan has also published articles in the New Republic, the American Political Science Review, Dissent, Harvard Business Review, and The Nation.

Reagan, who is also director of the public administration programs of the Maxwell Graduate School, made two points in his Times article.

His major thesis was that in spite of the large number of shareholders, the great bulk of shares is held by only a few people. Eighty per cent of all stock is held by only 1.6 per cent of the adult population, Reagan said.

"This demonstrates the appalling inequality of wealth that still exists in this country," Reagan said in an interview yesterday.

His article also decried the privileged position of corporation executives whose income is partly given in the form of stock options.

A new book by Reagan, "The Managed Economy," published in October by the Oxford University Press, deals with the relationship of the government to the economy.

Reagan writes that there needs to be more public control over the political and social power of the corporation. He also says that a sensible public policy depends upon public understanding of the vital intermingling of government and big business.

DR. MICHAEL REAGAN

Presently teaching an undergraduate course in American government, he will teach a graduate seminar next fall on the relationship between government and science.

Reagan is currently working on three other articles for future publication.

About the administration's recently approved tax cut bill, Reagan commented, "I have mixed feelings. I will enjoy the cut personally, but I would rather see larger public expenditures on housing, schools, and slum clearance to solve social problems."

Orange Pages Aid Future SU Students

By RENEE BRAUN

Orange Pages are not part of the Syracuse University phone directory. It is an organization whose function is to introduce prospective students to the campus.

The Orange Pages have given limited tours of the campus for two years. The group was approved by student government in September 1963. The Pages are run in conjunction with the admissions office.

A meeting of the Orange Pages was called Tuesday, February 11 for all interested students. One hundred sixty students submitted applications at this meeting. The turnout was so large, according to William deCaligny, assistant Director of Admissions, that many students were eliminated; 70 students were interviewed last Saturday.

The final selection of members was based on a 1.5 average last semester and the interview.

The interview gave the selection committee an idea of how well fit the applicants were for the group.

The following have been chosen as new members of Orange Pages: John Ackerman, Jack Bender, Robert Dunstone, Joseph Durzo, Nelson French, Sue Golden, Bonnie Holland, John Hopkins, Ronni Kupferstein, Barbara Lagod, Bill Morehouse, Martha Rhea, Ann Rucher, Charles Seaman, Bonnie Semple, Gayle Snyder, Geneva Wadman, Dick Wallach, Margie Wansky and Dick Ward.

These students will join the present members: Karen Barth, Karl Crawford, Terry Erik, Sandra Greene, Claire Hirsch, Dennis Hulstrom, Karen Miller, Dennis Morrish, Elaine Staune, and Ron Surprenant.

The Orange Pages will hold its first meeting at 4:30 p.m. Monday in 110 Maxwell Hall. The purpose of the meeting will be to organize and orient new members.

YES, SALE

. ART BOOKS

. HARDBACKS

. PAPERBACKS

. RECORDS

. ART PRINTS

VALUES UP TO 60% OFF

FRIDAY &
SATURDAY AT...

THE
SYRACUSE
BOOK CENTER

113 MARSHALL STREET
PHONE GR 5-7540

OPEN EVERY EVENING OF COURSE

INTERESTED IN AN OVERSEAS CAREER?

Mr. Carl S. Coler,
Admissions Officer

will be on the campus

March 2, 1964

from 5:00 to 9:00

to discuss the training offered at A.I.F.T. (an intensive nine months program of post graduate study) and the job opportunities open to graduates in the field of INTERNATIONAL TRADE and GOVERNMENT SERVICE.

Interviews may be scheduled at

Office of Vocational Counselor and

Director of Placement

The American Institute
For Foreign Trade

Thunderbird Campus
PHOENIX, ARIZONA

An Affiliate Of
The American Management Association

Child Course Offered

Syracuse University will offer courses for the training of exceptional children as part of the summer sessions program. Classes will be held June 29 - August 7.

Courses for the teaching of crippled, visually and orally handicapped, mentally retarded, gifted and emotionally disturbed children will be given. Offerings in corrective physical education, vocational rehabilitation, audiology and speech pathology will present the most modern methods of dealing with the handicapped child.

In addition, a demonstration school, directed by SU Education Instructor Henry S. Balmer, will be conducted at Edward Smith School. Sponsored by SU and the Syracuse Board of Education, an ideal, modern elementary school has been established. Children from the Syracuse area comprise the student body.

GAME BROADCAST

Saturday's basketball game with Canisius will be broadcast over WAER, it was announced Thursday.

The broadcast will begin at 9:25 p.m. and will be sponsored by Varsity Restaurant, Glenn Burdick Rambler, SU Bookstore and SU Varsity Club.

East African Seminar Set

In keeping with its yearly custom, the Program of East African Studies of the Maxwell Graduate School will hold a seminar attended by invited guests and guest speakers. Interested faculty of the university and graduate students in the Program of East African Studies are also invited.

This year the seminar deals with "East Africa in Transition." It is organized and chaired by Prof. Stanley Diamond, of the sociology and anthropology department.

Among the topics discussed will be the colonial heritage in East Africa, nation building (covering Uganda, Kenya, Tanganyika, and Nyasaland and the Rhodesias in different lectures), revolution in the making and the special case of Ethiopia.

Grad to Attend UN Seminar

A graduate student in the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs is one of 15 scholars selected to participate in a United Nations summer seminar.

He is Daniel W. Figgins Jr. from Des Moines, Iowa.

The conference, sponsored by the Brookings Institution, will be held in Warrenton, Va., June 14 - 27. Its purpose is to give students an opportunity to analyze, in close collaboration with senior governmental and university specialists, key problems of U. S. policy related to the United Nations.

Figgins is majoring in public administration and international law at Syracuse University. He served with the U. S. State Department in Washington, D.C. and was national vice-president of the Collegiate Council for the United Nations in 1960 - 1961.

WAA Plans CBS Exec Guest Lecturer

The Women's Athletic Association will hold a sportsday from 1:30-3:30 p.m. today. The group will host groups from Elmira, Ithaca, Cazenovia, Wells, William Smith and Oswego. Events scheduled for the Women's Building will be volleyball, basketball, competitive swimming, fencing and modern dance. Skiing will take place at Skytop.

Registration will be held 12:30-1 p.m., followed by a short business meeting. After the activities, refreshments will be served in the City Women's Lounge.

SKI BUSSES

Buses will transport university skiers to Skytop tonight and Saturday afternoon.

Tonight's bus will depart from Sims at 7 p.m. and return about 9:30. Saturday's bus leaves at 1 p.m. and returns at 4.

The bus service is also provided on Wednesday nights from 7-9:30.

Oscar Katz, vice president for program administration of CBS television network, arrived in Syracuse to begin a two-day series of appearances at Syracuse University seminars and classes.

He is the first guest professor in the Television-radio department's spring semester series. In all, 10 communications authorities will participate.

A 25-year veteran of the network, Katz has been with CBS since 1938 and was named to his current position last March. He was vice president for network programs from 1959 to 1962, when he became vice president for daytime programs. In 1942 he was named assistant director of the research department. Subsequently, he became associate director and in 1951 was named director of research.

2 Represent SU at NYC

Brenda Cook and Rhoda Leicher will represent Syracuse University in the 16th annual conference on Careers and Retailing at the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Manhattan Friday.

More than 150 faculty counselors and students from 60 colleges will participate in the conference. Highlights include fashion shows, tours at the showrooms of some of New York's leading dress and sportswear manufacturers and a tour at B. Altman and Company. Merwin Bayer, president of Arnold Constable fashion chain, will deliver the keynote address: "The Dynamic Dimensions of Retailing." The conference is sponsored by New York University's School of Retailing.

New Library Hours Slated

New library hours for the Art and Music Library have been established. The library will now remain open from 8:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Saturday's hours will be from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday's hours from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m.

John Lauritzen wanted further knowledge

He's finding it at Western Electric

When the University of Nevada awarded John Lauritzen his B.S.E.E. in 1961, it was only the first big step in the learning program he envisions for himself. This led him to Western Electric. For WE agrees that ever-increasing knowledge is essential to the development of its engineers—and is helping John in furthering his education.

John attended one of Western Electric's three Graduate Engineering Training Centers and graduated with honors. Now, through the Company-paid Tuition Refund Plan, John is working toward his Master's in Industrial Management at Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute. He is currently a planning engineer developing test equipment for the Bell System's revolutionary electronic telephone switching system.

If you set the highest standards for yourself, both educationally and professionally, we should talk. Western Electric's vast communications job as manufacturing unit of the Bell System provides many opportunities for fast-moving careers for electrical, mechanical and industrial engineers, as well as for physical science, liberal arts and business majors. Get your copy of the Western Electric Career Opportunities booklet from your Placement Officer. Or write: Western Electric Company, Room 6405, 222 Broadway, New York 38, N. Y. And be sure to arrange for a personal interview when the Bell System recruiting team visits your campus.

Western Electric MANUFACTURING AND SUPPLY UNIT OF THE BELL SYSTEM
AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER
Principal manufacturing locations in 13 cities • Operating centers in many of these same cities plus 26 others throughout the U.S. Engineering Research Center, Princeton, N. J. • Teletype Corp., Skokie, Ill. • Little Rock, Ark. • Gen. Hq., 195 Broadway, New York

Bonne Bell
TEN-O-SIX LOTION
BONUS OFFER!

$3.00
PLUS TAX

regular 8 oz.
size with 2 oz.
plastic travel bottle and COETS®

Your face never had it so clean

Skin cleansed by Ten-O-Six Lotion is immaculately clean, antiseptically clean, cleaner than it's ever been. Medications in Ten-O-Six work to correct and normalize your skin, heal blemishes, reduce oiliness, and relieve dryness. Cleanse your skin with Ten-O-Six twice daily — first thing in the morning, last thing at night.

AT BOTH
SIEGEL'S STORES

Morris Speaks

Joint Student Government President JAMES MORRIS talks to SU Vice President FRANCIS A. WINGATE during Thursday's meeting concerning university food service. Morris and other students presented gripes against food and operation of the organization.

Food Service

(Continued from page 1)

Present at the meeting were: Wingate, Carleton, Richard, Morris, John S. Hafer, dean of personnel; Marjorie C. Smith, dean of women; Miss Jean Crawford, director of women's housing; Kenneth G. Bartlett, vice-president and dean of public affairs; and Kate Antony, vice-president of JSG.

Mrs. Pettengill was not present at the meeting. The meeting had been planned for Thursday instead of Wednesday in order to permit Mrs. Pettengill to attend. Wingate told the committee he did not feel Mrs. Pettengill's presence was necessary at the meeting.

He told the Daily Orange that Mrs. Pettengill will deal directly with the appointed committees.

Also, Barnett Corwin, Sadler representative; Bill Weller

Sims representative; Lynn Beiser, Shaw representative; Diane Rubin, Graham representative; Bill Phillips and Dave Finnigan, Kimmel representatives.

"There will be a meeting of the proposed university food council two weeks from today, which will be the final crisis meeting," said Morris chairman of the meeting. "We are going to attempt to gather more and accurate requests for change. At this meeting, all of the final results will be announced. In activating the food councils we are re-establishing direct contact with all students who eat on food service."

"We have been assured by administrative officials," he continued, "that requests will be met. Progress has been made. Greater progress and results will be finalized at the next meeting."

US Supports Food Boycott

The United Students party released a statement Thursday announcing its agreement with last week's food service boycott.

The statement "The United Students party is in accord with the student body's action regarding the food service boycott."

"The main reason for our stand is based upon the belief that the boycott aided in forcing the administration to take action rather than being detrimental to negotiations."

The statement was released by party officials after a general party meeting Thursday night.

Bunche ...

(Continued from Page 1)

A Detroit native, Bunche graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles in 1927 and received his masters and doctoral degrees from Harvard University. He was appointed to the faculty at Harvard in 1950, but after two successive annual leaves of absence without ever having begun his teaching duties resigned to continue his US work.

He did post-doctoral work at Northwestern University, London School of Economics and the University of Capetown South Africa. He holds a doctor of laws degree from Boston University.

Bunche is a trustee of Oberlin College, a member of the Board of Overseers of Harvard and a member of the Political Science Assn. Since 1958 he has been a member of the board of higher education in New York City.

Swimmers Swamp Cortland

Ted Webster's varsity swimmers swamped Cortland 76-19 in an away meet Wednesday, as the Orangemen prepared for their final encounter of the season against Cornell Tuesday. The freshmen were also victorious, beating the Cortland frosh 34-17.

Three new Cortland Pool records were set and one tied by the Hill forces as they captured seven of nine individual events and swept the relays.

Soph. Dick Bauschard set a new pool record in the 50-yard freestyle by swimming the event in 23.3. The previous record of 23.4 was set in 1961 by Warner Hamilton. Bauschard also established a new mark of 51.4 in the 100-yard freestyle only seconds after Syracuse freshman John DeYoung had topped the old record of 51.9.

Bill Hotchkiss bettered the former 200-yard breaststroke record of 2:32.9 by finishing in 2:32.2. Senior Jim Myerberg was a double winner for the Orange. In capturing the 200-yard freestyle, Jim tied the pool record of 2:00.2. He also took first place in the 500-yard freestyle (5:44.4).

In the 400-yard medley relay, Dwayne Lehigh, Bill Hotchkiss, Pete Moore, and Bob Duthie combined to beat their rivals with a time of 4:10.2. The 400-yard freestyle relay was won by Pete Moore, Jeff Meyer, Roger Ellenberger, and Bob Duthie in 3:42.1.

Syracuse also finished 1-2 in the 200-yard butterfly and diving competition. Pete Moore paced the flyers while Roger Ellenberger finished second. Diver Chan Rudd compiled a score of 170.90 and teammate Al Roth took second.

The Syracuse swimmers will travel to Ithaca Tuesday to finish out the season with a dual meet against the Big Red of Cornell.

WHAT'S NEW IN THE MARCH ATLANTIC?

"Mexico Today": A Special 62-page Supplement reveals the character and vitality of the Mexican people—through their short stories, poetry, and painting, and articles about their social advances, industrial growth, new art, music and archaeological discoveries.

Oscar Handlin: "Is Integration the Answer?" After 10 years, a view of the unexpected consequences of the Supreme Court ruling on segregation.

"Trips to Felix" by Garson Kanin: A portrait of Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter—his love of people, wide knowledge, and intimate thoughts.

"Whatever Happened to Women's Rights?" by Paul Foley: Why today's American women are not availing themselves of their "equal status" opportunities.

Every month the Atlantic provides a platform for many of the world's most articulate and creative men and women. The result is always entertaining and informative, often brilliant, occasionally profound. More and more, the Atlantic is finding its way into the hands of discerning readers. Get your copy today.

THE BELL SYSTEM

represented by

Western Electric

New York Telephone

New Jersey Bell Telephone

Long Lines

Bell Telephone Laboratories

will interview on campus

MAR. 3, 4

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER.

1. I've decided on the kind of job I want when I graduate.

Knowing you, I'd guess it to be something modest—like Secretary of State or President of GE.

2. I hadn't thought of those specifically. What I had in mind was a job where they give you a lot of assistants. I think that would be nice.

Very nice. Maybe they could start you off at a hundred grand a year.

3. Well, I did run an extremely successful Nickel-a-Pickle sale.

Don't forget to demand plenty of stock options.

4. You think maybe I should lower my sights a little.

I'm afraid to tell you what I think.

5. I'd be willing to settle for a vice-presidency.

Look—why don't you see if you can qualify for one of Equitable's executive training programs. The work is interesting, the pay is good. And if you prove you have the ability, you may very well end up with a title and a couple of assistants.

6. You really have a way of seeing through a problem.

Rooming with you has taught me a lot.

Make an appointment through your Placement Office to see Equitable's employment representative on March 5 or write William E. Blevins, Employment Manager for further information. The EQUITABLE Life Assurance Society of the United States Home Office: 1285 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10019 ©1964

TODAY

3:30 p.m., WAA apparatus and tumbling, gym B, Women's Bldg.
3:30 p.m., Outing club ON picture, equipment room.
4 p.m., "Pepe", Day Hall recreation room, 25 cents per person.
4 p.m., Hispanic-American Club party, Chapel House.
4 p.m., Methodist Graduate Fellowship, 113 Berkeley Drive, speaker, Mr. Jack Morrison.

SATURDAY

2 p.m., Day Hall mixer, 25 cents per person.

SUNDAY

7:30 p.m., Great Decision panel, "World Communism Today" Day Hall recreation room.

ELECTRONIC FLASH FOR THE AMATEUR!

GRAFLEX

29.95

303 University Place

Semester Program

Coed Tells of French Study

By CYNTHIA DAVIS

Poitiers, located in the western central part of France, has a population of approximately 60,000. Though Poitiers is perhaps best known for being one of the centers of medieval art, it also boasts of the art of other centuries. As is quoted in a pamphlet of introduction to Poitiers, "Poitiers is indeed better than a museum. It is twenty centuries of history, whose tale is told in old stonework which is part and parcel of modern life and so remains alive." Extremely narrow streets and sidewalks, trolley cars, a town hall, a park-zoo combination, a river that runs through the outskirts of the city, an American Army base, a sewage system which empties partly into the streets, a university -- all help to create the "character" of Poitiers.

As for the people, I cannot say that all the French are like this. Neither can I say that all the French are like that. In connection with countries and peoples, the words all and none have next to nothing to lack then up and 9 out of 1 times, they leave nothing but an erroneous impression. I can speak only of the French with whom I have come in contact. I lived in a French family and found that they went out of their way many times to make my stay at their home as pleasant as possible. I was treated so royally that at times I truly felt embarrassed. Though I offered on several occasions to help with the housework, my offer was refused with a "No, no, you didn't come to France to do housework. We want you to be able to make the most of your time here." In spite of the fact that I was spared household chores, I was made to feel very much a part of the family. For example, upon my return from a weekend in other part of France, I was presented with a small dish by the family. During the weekend, they had visited a pottery factory and thought that I might like a sample of this type of work as a souvenir of France.

Yet, I met French people who labeled me as "a rich American who drives around in fancy cars and who is going to slaughter the French language" even before I had a chance to say one word. I remember walking to class one day and having a group of young male students most indignantly as I passed saying, "Humph an American!" After all it was common knowledge that being American, I was less than human.

And what about academics? Concerning the courses we took with French professors who came to our classroom in our special building, I'd risk saying that almost all of us hung on Monsieur D's every word; whereas, almost all of us winced when Monsieur L. entered the room. Our civilization course was really four courses in one; therefore, for most of us, we were taking eight courses instead of five. Concerning the course with Dr. George, try translating Melville or Queen Elizabeth I into French and you've got a considerably accurate idea of the content of the course.

Without going into the details of the French university

tures every period on the sex life of the wife of a minor novelist, the student is still held responsible for everything connected with the name of the course, 19th century literature.

In our two courses at the university, we were under these same conditions as were the French students, with the exception that we took Syracuse exams at the end of one semester. This part of our program was explained by Dr. Christofides in a previous DO article on Poitiers. Some of the group adjusted easily to this system; others had a more difficult time of it. All considered, for most of us, this past semester was perhaps the busiest ever.

It goes without saying that it's difficult to write completely objectively about Poitiers, seeing as it was our "home" for one semester. However, I do hope that what I've said will help put together a more complete picture of our experiences in France. I'd be more than willing to discuss the program further with any student who is seriously considering applying to the Syracuse Semester in France.

Syracuse
University
Folk Festival
Tickets Now
$2.00
CORNER STORE

Two SU Students Injured

Two Syracuse University sophomores have been hospitalized as a result of a crash Sunday which took the life of a Lake Placid woman.

Miss Carol Rubright, 19, of Buffalo and John J. Spitzer, 19, of Lake Placid were admitted to Lake Placid Memorial Hospital for treatment. Miss Rubright, a Daily Orange staffer who covered IFC news, reportedly suffered a broken nose, a spinal injury, and left leg bruises.

Spitzer, the driver of one car, suffered a fracture of the right leg.

Mrs. Ida Beebe, 46, of Lake Placid, driver of the other car, died Sunday night from a massive brain hemorrhage, state police reported. Mrs. Beebe is survived by her husband and three sons.

The collision occurred on Route 46, half a mile west of Lake Placid.

Group Attend UN Meeting

Three Syracuse University students are attending a mock United Nations security council conference at St. Lawrence University. The three are Alvin Davis, Ken Auletta and Ron Mittleman.

Syracuse has been assigned the role of Morocco for the three-day conference, which began Thursday.

Awards are given to the best delegation and the best delegate.

LOST
SILVER DISC BRACELET with Indian Design
Thursday Afternoon
Vicinity Front Steps of Slocum Hall
REWARD
TRICIA ZELLER
ext. 2756

Aunt Jemima's Kitchen

Featuring

37 VARIETIES OF PANCAKES
SOUTHERN FRIED CHICKEN
SOUPS — SANDWICH — STEAKS

SERVING
BREAKFAST, LUNCH
DINNER
LATE NITE SNACKS

THE IDEAL RESTAURANT
FOR THE BUDGET MINDED
STUDENT

Erie Blvd. East
DeWitt
446-0388

HOURS
Sun - Thurs.
7 a.m. - Mid.
FRI. & SAT.
7 a.m. - 3 a.m.

YOUR ROUTE TO OPPORTUNITY

with the Army and Air Force Exchange Service

One of the world's giant retailing organizations offers career opportunities for young graduates with limitless horizons. With over 11,000 retail, food and services outlets throughout the world, the Exchange Service employs civilians in a wide variety of positions second to none.

If you are a college senior interested in a career in the retailing field, and if you are qualified, you can enter a one year training program prior to assignment at one of our installations in the U.S. You will be prepared for an executive or management position that will enhance your professional growth and development as well as your economic future and happiness.

Currently we are seeking college graduates with interests in the following fields:

RETAIL MANAGEMENT — Majors in Business Administration, Liberal Arts, Marketing or Retailing.

PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT — BS in Business Administration, Personnel Administration, Also Liberal Arts graduates.

ARCHITECTURE —
Degrees in Architecture.

ACCOUNTING — Accounting degrees.

FOOD MANAGEMENT — Hotel and Restaurant Administration majors.

CAMPUS
INTERVIEWS
TUESDAY
MARCH 3

Or, for further information, write to CHIEF, Career Management Branch

ARMY and AIR FORCE
EXCHANGE SERVICE
8 West 14th Street, New York 11, N.Y.

COMPLETE OPTICAL
SERVICE
EYEGLASSES FITTED
CONTACT LENSES

EASY CREDIT

1 to 24-HOUR SERVICE
No Appointment Necessary

BROKEN LENSES & FRAMES
REPLACED PROMPTLY

Open Daily, 9 A.M. to 6 P.M.
Mon. & Friday Until 8 P.M.
FREE PARKING—ANY CENTER

CITY
OPTICIANS
211 E. FAYETTE ST.
CORNER S. WARREN
PHONE HA 2-6018 SYRACUSE, N.Y.

Join the SWINGERS

at

POPE'S GROVE
EVERY FRIDAY NIGHT
THIS FRIDAY

the KEYSTONE'S

1/2 MILE PAST THE STATE FAIR GROUNDS, ON STATE FAIR BLVD., LAKELAND

LETTERS

Action

To the Editor:

The letters and editorial printed on February 24 concerning the Joint Student Legislature's actions against food service all took issue with these actions and with Speaker of the House, Jay Litwin. Can it be that no letters were written in favor of the boycott after 70 percent of the students demonstrated to show their approval of the boycott? Whatever the case, let this be considered a student's statement in favor of the legislature's actions.

It is, at the very least, odd that Joint Student Government should first call the boycott irrational and then, on the heels of this action, rush into plans for "top-level negotiations." The air of urgency surrounding these plans seemed precipitated not by singular objections, but by the combined overt actions of the majority of the students served by Syracuse University Food Service.

But, would these negotiations have been so urgently undertaken, had the boycott been less successful?

The success of the boycott raises the question of Mr. Morris' persistent stand against the majority of the student body, in direct violation of his obligations to the students to whom he is responsible and whom he represents. It is indeed unfortunate that he placed his own image before his duties to the students who elected him; it is indeed unfortunate that he saw it fit to turn to the administration for sanction rather than to the student body for support.

Loren Hubbard '66
Shaw 4

Projects

To the Editor:

Often times a grandiose project is undertaken to prove a point, and the project is extremely successful. But lo and behold the point is obscured by clever manipulation or else by acute mismanagement: such was the case on this campus last week.

Jay Litwin had the guts to call for a boycott of food service. Three thousand students demonstrated that they were of the same mind. Yet even with this overwhelming mandate, the executive still did not have enough guts to challenge the administration.

Here was an opportunity for a unified student government backed by a unified student body to bring the administration virtually to its knees and win all of their points. Instead the executive let the administration crawl out of the corner it was in, and laugh a hearty laugh at the rift in student government. Whereas, previously, the administration would be forced to agree to all of the crucial demands of the students, they are now able to offer various minute concessions while completely avoiding the real problem of the food service fiasco.

Maybe the fact that Mr. Morris was perturbed by all the headlines garnered by the Legislature prompted his action, but we will never know. All we do know now is that those people who see a great similarity between Jim Morris and Jerry Mahoney are all wrong. Jerry Mahoney has thrown off the strings.

Marlene Slavitt
Class of '63

Apathy

To the Editor:

In Friday's editorial the writer attempts to show us, or perhaps convince us, that apathy is dead at old SU because 70% of the students eating in the dining halls boycotted food service. As commendation followed commendation he seemed to lose sight of some of the realities which surround the boycott.

We will, for the present, disregard the validity of the boycott and proceed from the popular presumption that food service is bad.

To say that students are no longer apathetic because many skipped a meal is farcical. It would be interesting to know the reasons why some of the students did not go to dinner. How many, like ourselves, would not go because they do not feel it is right to cross a boycott? How many did not care to walk the gantlet of razzing; the censor of "public mockery?" And of those who did not go to dinner because they don't like food service, how many of them bothered to turn in the survey sheets?

It is a general practice that a boycott is a last resort, after all other methods have been tried and have failed. Is apathy dying? Following the survey, the students were given a chance to step out of the grumbling group by making concrete suggestions. If the laughable suggestions reported in the DO were an indication of the trivial ideas of the student body it is no wonder that "little" response has been noted. According to the DO it seems that Mr. Moriarity of food service was cooperating with the few suggestions that were reasonable. Perhaps if the students had taken time to think of more significant proposals, Food Service would take more heed to them. The boycott was said to be inexpedient by JSG when they announced they had not, as yet, talked to the higher authorities.

Yet JSL felt justified in calling a boycott. Perhaps these are not all the facts, maybe there are significant details of which we don't know. But these are all the facts that the student body has to back up its actions. And they jumped on the bandwagon. Here was a safe, uncontroversial topic. No one had to fear adverse public opinion. There was no worry of having to defend their actions and point of view as everyone was on the same side. It is much easier to join the laughing group of boycotters in dining hall lounges than to bother with the individual thought and action which should precede protest.

The boycott is not an indication of apathy dying but rather a demonstration of a group of students out on a lark. It is one of those classic stunts which is tacitly enacted by the administration and students. The administration nods its head and smiles nostalgically, "Ah, yes just like when we were students." How many of these students would step out of an anonymous role and protest against a more controversial issue? How many would move themselves out of the glass bubble world of food service to that of the common civil liberties of men? Or, closer, out of food service to academic freedom?

Mary Kaufman
Susan Violante
Class of '66

Rifles

To the Editor:

A few months ago, I wrote a letter that was published in the DO concerning the SU Varsity Rifle Team. Since then, the DO has overdone itself in its job of reporting the team's season. I would like to enlighten you to their success.

The highly spirited group of students, who form the team, under the coaching of Sgt. Lunn, beat Cornell, U. of Buffalo, Niagara, St. Bonaventure, Clarkson, St. Lawrence, and Siena. With a loss of only 3 league matches (Alfred, Canisius and Clarkson) by a total of only 14 points, the team has won a high place in the league. This is the first time in almost a decade, or more, that an SU team has done so. This year's team also marked another milestone. They were the first team to break 1400 in many, many, many years. They did this on Feb. 22 when a combined team effort fired 1402, out of a possible 1500, to beat St. Lawrence (1389); thus gloriously ending the '63-'64 season. This team consists of the following members: Bill Gold (capt.), Don Hadyk, Tony Jeric, Bob Kinstry, Bob Maraghy, Phil Przestrzelski, Rick Rider, Roger Rubrecht, Walt Sall, and Ron Stout. The next few years the present young varsity, reinforced with new equipment and promising Frosh, can look forward to many more successful seasons. Thus making any Syracusean proud of saying, "Yes, we do have a Football team but we also have a very good Rifle Team."

I would also like to thank the university, for modernizing the rifle range, and the Army, for making it possible for the team, in the near future, to turn in their old rifles for brand new ones. However, none of the things that have happened to the Rifle Team this year could have happened without the generosity of their coach, Sgt. H. K. Lunn.

Thank You,
Robert Kinstry
Varsity Rifle Team

Legalities

To the Editor:

I should like to inform Mr. "Name Withheld" of three major points which he seems to have missed in writing his letter in Monday's DO.

1. Picketing is legal. The civil rights demonstrators were arrested for illegal trespassing, not for picketing. This peaceful means of demonstration has been used successfully many times in bringing problems to the attention of people who had ignored those problems.

2. The purpose of the food service boycott was to bring the problem to the attention of the administration, who did not seem to know that the problem existed, despite the swarm of student complaints. It seems to me that the boycott achieved its objective. The administration now seems to know that there is a problem with food service.

3. The student government on this campus is a democratic one, which means that every student on this campus is represented in the legislature. The representatives in JSL from each living center voted to have the boycott. The mere fact that over 70 percent of those students holding meal tickets supported the boycott shows that "Messrs. Sneirson and Litwin" were not acting through a "minor segment" of student government." Saying that JSL is a minor segment of student government is equivalent to saying that Congress is a minor segment of the government of the U.S.

Jeanne E. Blair
Class of '67

W A E R

88.3 mc

THURSDAYS

4:00 Sign On, News,
WAER Highlights
4:15 Experiment in Music
6:00 Transatlantic Pacific
6:15 Communique
6:30 Dan Stone and the News
6:45 Over the Back Fence
7:00 Musical Memorabilia
8:30 The ABC Rerail
8:35 World of the Voice
10:45 The Late Night
Report
11:00 International Music
Festival
12:45 Headlines and Sign
Off

SATURDAYS

1:00 Sign On and Headlines
1:30 CBC Panorama
6:00 College Authors Forum
6:15 Communique
6:30 Special of the Week
7:00 Spectrum
8:00 Symphonic Showcase
10:45 Late Night Rerail
11:00 Downbeat
12:45 Headlines and Sign-Off

SUNDAYS

1:00 Sign On and Headlines
1:30 CBC Panorama
4:00 Crouse Center
Sunday Concert
6:30 Frontiers Forever
7:00 In Spirit and in Truth
7:30 Lecture of the Week

PEERLESS PRESS, Inc.

PRINTERS

1112 E. Fayette Street Between University &
Walnut

COMPLETE
PRINTING SERVICE

at your doorstep
GR 6-6051

Exotic Chinese Foods

— Takeout Service Only —

Free Delivery Sat. & Sun. Evenings

Special discounts for parties
full orders only

House of Chung

Mattydale

Call: 455-5266

The

BIRCHES

is

OPEN WITH EXPANDED FACILITIES

for

PARTIES, BANQUETS & RECEPTIONS
SPECIAL STUDENTS RATES!

Shoppingtown, DeWitt

Plenty of Convenient
ParkingSYRACUSE BLUEPRINT
CO. INC.

GRUMBACHER
WINSOR NEWTON
PARATONE
ZIPATONE
RICH ART
ACS TAPES
AQUABEE PADS
STRATHMORE PADS
CRESENT BOARDS

ART
SUPPLIES

825 E. GENESEE ST.

GR 6-4034

Tues. March 17

WAR MEMORIAL CONCERT CIRCLE

$3.50, $3.00, $2.50, $2.00
Famous Artists
Clark Music Bldg.
GR 1-0162

Support Needed

Student Union - Its Future

By RENEE BRAUN

The purpose of Student Union is three-fold; to provide free programs for the student body, raise funds for a future Student Union building, and foster salesmanship of Student Union, according to Ann Cooney, chairman of the "University Union."

Each Friday evening the union group sponsors a movie free of charge to the student body. In addition there are various games such as volleyball and ping pong available.

An informal atmosphere is maintained at these functions so that the student body will feel at home.

Programming was started in April, 1962 by Joint Student Legislature to determine whether there was enough interest in a student union. Five programs were put on that year. Last year, 20 programs were presented. This year a variety of programs have been presented. The union is attempting to determine whether cultural programs are desired by the students, Miss Cooney said. The attendance at a movie such as "Julius Caesar" has been around 200. The attendance at popular movies has been about 1,600.

The Student Union not only runs its own programs, but help other organizations. Last year they helped International Students Organization run their functions. Whenever there have been conflicts with other university functions, the union has cancelled its program for the evening, Miss Cooney pointed out.

Miss Cooney explained the chief function of fund raising is to gain an increase in student support. "Only an enthusiastic student body will convince the administration that this campus needs a student union," said Frank Kelley, fund raising chairman. "It would be impossible for us to raise the enormous sum needed to finance the construction of a union building, Kelly added.

"The student Union hopes to give supporters of student union something for their money," Miss Cooney pointed out.

Fund raising activities for the future include a student government-administration and the freshman against the varsity basketball game, Monday March 9. There will be a "button-button" sold in conjunction with the game.

A twister, with the Techniques is planned for Friday, March 13.

AWS...

(Continued from Page 1) ition will become campus guide chairman.

Six junior officers will be elected from the following ten candidates: Jean Abbott, Orchard Park; Lois Baker, Schenectady; Patty Berger, Warren, Pa.; and Adele Clarke, Port Washington.

Also, Laraine Jeffers, Schenectady; Elaine McIntosh, Arlington, Va.; Marty Thea, LaChagrin Falls, Ohio; Laurie Sandeman, North Kingstown, R. I.

Also, Lynn Sute from Windsor, Conn., and Rosalind Yuen from New Rochelle. All are sophomores.

CIVIL RIGHTS

At FOOTPRINTS

Tino's

RESTAURANT

FINE ITALIAN FOOD

pizza

ORDERS TO TAKE OUT

425 N. Salina Street

GR 1-9458

GR 1-9446

DANZER'S RESTAURANT

"A touch of Old Germany"
German - American Food

- Sauerbraten
- Roast Beef
- Hot and Cold Turkey

"The Finest Sandwich in Syracuse"

912 Park St.
471-9031

WELCOME TO SYRACUSE'S FRIENDLIEST HOTEL

SYRACUSE, NEW YORK

4 Fine Restaurants

AIR CONDITIONED MODERATELY PRICED

including

- English Dining Room
- Cafeteria
- Cocktail Lounge
- Tap Room
- and the famous
- STEAK 'N' RIB ROOM
- Yates Roast Beef
- "Carved before your eyes"

FREE PARKING

"DINE OUT"

F I 4 U

Friday "THE TRADEWINDS" Saturday "Special Rock 'n Roll" Party"

SOCIAL CHAIRMEN

Reserve your parties at

BOB CASEY'S INN

GI 6-0270

DeWitt, N. Y.

Open Monday - Saturday

Fri. Sat. Nights Till 1 A.M.

TOBINS

RESTAURANT
W. Genesee at Fairmount Corners

Route 5

Private Rooms for Parties

Tuesday-Saturday Luncheon 11:30 to 2:30

Dinners 5:00 - 9:30

Sunday Brunch Dinners

Weekdays 11:30-9:30
Sundays 12-8

Chops and Roast Beef Dinners

TUBBERT'S

304 Court Street, Cor. No. Salina

"House of Gracious Dining"

Listening Pleasure at our Piano Bar

Fish - Frog - Steak - Chicken

MELTZER'S

SANDWICH SHOP

TWO LOCATIONS

• 516 Irving, cor. Harrison. Open 8 - 8

• Back End of New Tower Apts. Open 7 - 9

Featuring

CORNER BEEF • ROAST BEEF
PASTRAMI • HOT DOGS • CHOPPED LIVER
CHEESE BLINTZES • POTATO PANCAKES

Tel. GR 8-7978

We Deliver

Closed Sundays

Nozy on Down

and enjoy

that SPAGHETTI SAVOY

with that unbeatable Meat Sauce

85¢

with hot bread, fresh ground cheese, and the whole bit

GO SAVOY

PROSSERS

RESTAURANT and LOUNGE

Where STEAK is KING and the STEAKS are KING SIZED

Free Parking For Dinner Customers
So. Warren St. at Harrison St.

Enjoy a Delicious Family Dinner at

CAROMA

Specializing in Italian Cuisine

Spaghetti, Monicotti, Baked Lasagna, Ravioli

Also American Dishes

STEAKS, PRIME RIB

-Take Out Service-

402 Lodi

GR 4-2119

Free Parking

PITCHES ARE BACK

T.G.I.F.

Specials for $39

CLOVER CLUB

- Corned Beef
- Pastrami
- Roast Beef
- Baked Ham

Special Prices for Parties and Banquets

Corner Cedar and Almond

GR-59612

AWS Guides Announced

A partial list of AWS guides for next year has been announced by the Association of Women Students.

Senior guides were chosen from this year's junior guides, while junior guides were selected after the AWS training program, Through the Keyhole.

A second TTK training program will be offered later this spring for those upperclassmen who missed the fall program and wish to be city guides or transfer guides.

These Senior Guides selected include Thea Benzelewski, Janet Patterson, Karen Metz (city guide), Pat Deibert (city guide), Nancy Jo Chmiel, Myra Lampman, Carolee Plack, and Nancy Koplinka.

Also, Nan Bishko, Carol Stanley, Joan Keneny, Bette Brindle, Georgianna Slanski, Carroll Ann Arce, Ginny Lederer, Becky Linbaugh, and Judy Tabakin.

Junior guides are Marty Rhea, Pat Berger, Rose Yuen, Mini McCarty, Carol Oppenheimer, Jean Ann Smith, Kathy Knapp, Sue Ann Marshall, Jean Race, Jean Fontaine, and Penny LaBorde.

Also, Adele Clarke, Lois Baker, Laraine Jeffers, Norma Gerkins, Ellen Eisner, Janet Aspinwall, Nancy Lankton, Laurie Sandeman, Cheryl Linderman, Karen Barker, Jean Abbott, and Olivia Smith.

Junior transfer guides are Peggy Ober, Karen Miller, Sue Wilkes, Carol Knight, Karen Rhodes, Sylvia McAllister, and Elaine McIntosh.

Junior city guides are Elaine Harmand, Pat Smith, and Lynn Suto.

Skytop Ski Area Open at Night

Skytop will be open for skiing from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. today and Friday. Buses will be run at 7 p.m. both days from Sims Hall to Skytop, and back to the campus at 9:30 p.m.

The area is also scheduled to be open from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday, with buses leaving Sims at 1 p.m. and returning from Skytop at 4 p.m.

Chapel Roundup

EPISCOPAL
Sunday, 9:30 a.m., Episcopal Holy Communion, Griford Auditorium, H.B. Crouse Hall.
Wednesday, 5:05 p.m., Episcopal Holy Communion, Chapel House.
Friday, 12:10 p.m., Episcopal Holy Communion, Chapel House.
Sunday, 5:30 p.m., Canterbury Association at Chapel to go to the Thornfield Conference, Center for service, supper and discussion.

ORTHODOX CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP
Sunday, 6 p.m., Chapel House Vespers in English conducted by the very Rev. Dr. Alexander A. Warnecke, OIC Chaplain.
Sunday, 7 p.m., Oleg Beliaeff, choirmaster at St. Peter and Paul Russian Orthodox Church will lecture on Russian Church.

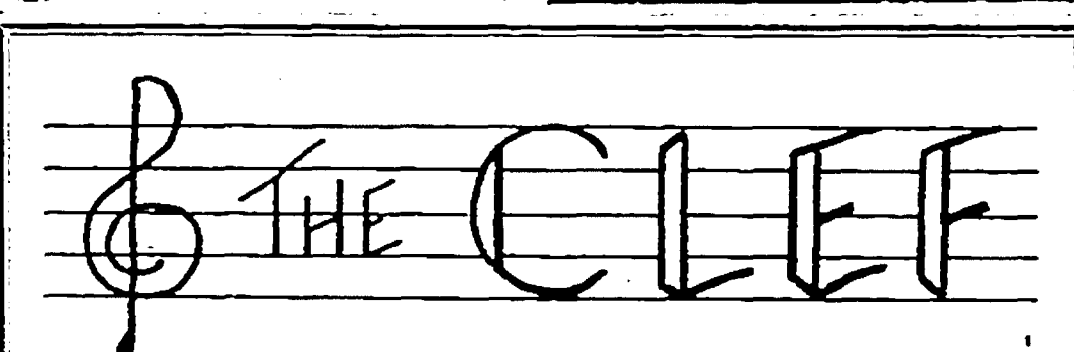

HILLEL
Regular Sabbath Eve Services will be held 7 p.m. today in Hendricks Chapel. Rabbi Elai Jordan will speak on "Abad Ha'Em." An Oney Shabbat will follow the service.
Dr. Daniel Smith, of the religion department, will be the guest at the Hillel supper, 6 p.m. Sunday. Dr. Smith will speak on "Clashing Symbols: East and West." The supper will be held in Shaw recreation room.

Daily classes and discussion groups meet in the Rabbi's office at 12 p.m.

LUTHERAN
Today 10 a.m. service, Chapel House, followed by coffee hour. No supper program today.
Today, 5:05 p.m., Lutheran choral vespers, north wing, Hendricks Chapel.
Wednesday, 5:05 p.m., Holy Communion.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

S	C	I	F	I	C	I	L	D	A	I	S	C	H
C	A	T	R	I	C	O	O	R	A	E	R	O
U	N	T	I	L	R	I	C	E	P	A	P	E	R
T	I	E	S	I	T	I	N	G	I	A	L	A	M
S	T	I	C	O	G	Y	F	R	E	Y	A
C	O	M	I	C	G	C	O	U	R	T	R	O	O
A	R	E	N	A	O	I	C	T	H	A	I	L	V
T	E	L	E	B	A	C	I	O	S	E	D	G	E
F	R	O	N	T	I	S	S	P	E	A	R	S
O	L	A		E	A	R	T	H	E	N	W	A	R
N	I	G	H	T	T	I	M	E		I	O	W	A
U	R	G	E		E	G	A	L		E	V	E	N
S	T	I	Y	X		D	A	I	K		S	E	D	G	E

234 Wolf St.

471-9592

Presents

The Frank Moser Jr. "Quartet"

Fri., Sat., & Sun.

"6-12"

SUNDAY

"6-12"

JAM SESSION

$100 BUFFET

"All You Can Eat"

15% Discount For Students

Skiing at Skytop

Three skiers enjoy the snow covering at Skytop Ski Lodge, located just above the university's Collendale housing area. Skytop is a university-operated ski area.

ALL THE BEATLE HITS

9-1

AT

BROOKSIDE

SATURDAY NIGHT

TOWPATH RD.

JUST PAST

DEWITT DRIVE IN

NOW THE

SYRACUSE

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	$ 84
2 days	1.65
3 days	3.15
4 days	2.40
5 days	3.85
6 days	5.25
7 days	4.50
8 days	5.85
9 days	6.45
10 days	7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.

GREYHOUND TICKETS, schedules, information, bus and air charters. Hotel reservations foreign tours. FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC. in the Savoy Monday-Friday 1-4; Thursday night 7-9 476-8533.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired, Rented, Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-8833. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

ACCELERATED 5 lesson course, specializing in parking, traffic, road test. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-3451.

ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lillian M. Potter 207 Comstock Ave. GR 8-5847.

TO BUY OR SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN. Sparke Motors, 1000 Hiawatha Blvd. W. 474-6007, is the place.

LAVALIERS. $2.75. Wedding, Shower, Baby gifts. R-riera sunglasses, watch and jewelry repairs. Ruth's Gifts, 734 South Crouse.

RUSSIAN, Conversation and Scientific. Qualified instructor. GR 4-4060.

FOR SALE

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of four colors of paper, three colors of ink, two sizes of sheets. Bookstall.

1954 CHEVY, excellent condition, two-door, radio and snow tires, $125. Call 476-2940.

RCA COLOR T.V. $200. 5 years old. Steelman Hill, 575. GR 2-3652.

BROTHERHOOD, with fun and service to humanity. Rush Alpha Phi Omega. Sunday, March 8, 8 p.m. Booth lounge.

'62 RENAULT DAUPHINE or '62 DKW junior. Both excellent, low mileage. Take your pick. Must sell one. GR 2-2185.

WANTED

FREE!! A chance to participate in a psychology experiment. A guaranteed painless opportunity to advance science. Takes no longer than 20 min. Call ext. 2208 or drop in at 107 College Place any afternoon this week. Ask for Washington Irving or Irving Washington.

COLLEGE MEN who feel learning to sell will someday help your career. We train. Work your own hours during school year. Can lead to full-time summer work. Part-time while in school. 3 evenings — $30.00. Car necessary. See Mr. Noltes, Sat. mornings only, 11:00 sharp, Suite 104, Midtown Plaza.

ENTERPRISING MALE upperclassman or graduate student who would like free 3-week European trip, August. No riding, escorting. For information call GR 6-1504 or GR 6-3161.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students

3 ROOMS RECENTLY remodeled — paneling, bus, light parking. $55.00. Call 478-4388.

BELLEVUE HEIGHTS, unfurnished 7-rm. house. Vacant. Fine location. $125 per month. Call owner. GR 8-1567.

3 RM. apartment, furnished and heated, newly painted. University section, very inexpensive. GR 6-1741 or 446-8527.

PLEASANT SIX-ROOM upper flat, furnished. Utilities separate. $100 per month. Immediate possession. GR 8-1237.

FURNISHED APT., Comstock Ave., 3 rooms, first floor. $24 per week including all utilities. OV 2-9679.

UNIVERSITY AVE., nicely furnished 5 room apt., fire place, tile bath, parking, ideal for 4 nurses. GR 8-4733.

UPPER TWO BEDROOM APT. Business room, shower bath, furnished or un-furnished. Refrigerator, kitchenette, living furnished, heated. Now available. Caronovia Lake privileges. GR 2-0277 days. After 6, weekends, OI 5-3677.

FACULTY OR BUSINESS COUPLE, 3 bedrooms, bath up, large living room, modern kitchen down. All carpeted and draped, heated. Now available. Caronovia Lake privileges. GR 2-0277 days. After 6, weekends, OI 5-3677.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models, also sales and service, special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

EXPERT TYPING, electric typewriter, MRS. MUI SHERMAN, GR 2-2420.

FINE TYPING, electric typewriter, Call 472-1605.

EXPERT TYPING, theses, term papers, theses. 458-0141.

WILL DO TYPING IN MY HOME. Electric machine. 471-7216.

Syracuse Slaughters Colgate 99-78

Orangemen Off to Face Canisius

Victory Needed to Keep Hill NIT Hopes Alive

By BILL CRONAUER
Junior Editor

Upset-minded Canisius College will throw a little bit of everything at the Orangemen Saturday night in Buffalo's Memorial Auditorium. Game time is 9:30 p.m.

The Golden Griffins feature scoring punch in sharp-shooters Frank Swaitek and Tony Gennari; fine overall team rebounding; and the defensive play of 5-10 Joe Bossert.

Saturday's contest will be broadcast over radio station WAER (88.3 mc) starting at 9:25 p.m.

Despite their won-9, lost-13 record, the Griffins pride themselves on their pride spoiler role. Among their upset victims this season are NIT entry St. Bonaventure and Detroit.

In addition, Canisius bowed to Eastern powerhouse Providence by only three points, 77-74, on the Friars' home floor.

Swaitek, Griffin scoring leader at 21.5 points-per-game, has been hampered of late by an ankle-instep bruise, but should be at full strength against the Piety.

Gennari, who will team with Swaitek at forward, is averaging 18.5 ppg, with most of his points coming on long jumpers.

John Brennan, 6-4 handles the pivot chores. He is scoring at a 12-point clip and is the no. 1 Canisius rebounder.

In the backcourt, the Griffins boast Bossert and soph John Nichols. Bossert owns a 3.1 ppg mark, while Nichols, a recent addition to the starting lineup, stands at 4.6.

Bossert is especially noted for his defensive talents. He limited Villanova's All-American candidate Wally Jones to one field goal for the better part of a half.

Canisius coach Bobby MacKinnin has assigned Bossert to guard SU's soph sensation Dave Bing, who is firing at a 21.1 rate.

In their latest outing, the Griffins fell victim to Bowling Green, 94-62.

SU Frosh Top Colgate Frosh By Seven Points

By JIM KLURFELD

Led by the hot shooting of Marty Goldstein, and the tenacious rebounding of Vaughn Harper, the Tangerines survived a late Colgate rally last night and beat the little Red Raiders 75-68.

Goldstein hitting on jump shots from the head of the foul circle had 14 field goals and two foul shots to end the night with 30 points.

But it was Harper's rebounding in the closing minutes of the game that enabled the Frosh to hold on their slim lead. In all the 6-4 forward pulled down 25 rebounds, four of them in a row when Colgate had pulled to within one point of the Little Orange, 69-68.

With seven minutes remaining in the game, Syracuse was winning 61-51, but Colgate scored six points in a row reducing SU's margin to 3 points, 61-58.

Both teams traded baskets until the score was 69-68 in favor of Syracuse. Rick Dean, who had 17 points, then converted three straight foul shots. Harper added another two, and John Lewien one to give Syracuse its winning margin.

Colgate overcame a bad start and cold first half to catch the star, scored 9 of 15 Tangerine Orange at 40-40 in the opening minutes of the second period. But they couldn't couple with Goldstein's hot hand as the former Brooklyn High School star, scored 9 of 15 Tangerine points in a six minute stretch.

Bing Leads Piety With 29, Richards Scores 27 in Win

By Judy Adams and Bill Cronauer

HAMILTON — Dave Bing, to the surprise of exactly no one, yesterday was named honorable mention All-America by UPI.

The cat-like young man, who hadn't been informed of the honor, celebrated anyway last night with a 99-78 romp over Colgate.

It might have been a 100 but the splinter crew was a little too stale and could sink only two foul tries in the last three minutes.

With Bing's 29 points wowing the sparse crowd that barely filled Colgate's dinky brick gym and Chuck Richards wheeling and dealing 27 more from beneath, the game was branded "No Contest" midway through the second period.

Until then Colgate had stayed pretty even. But with eight minutes left in the half the Red Raiders seemed to turn off their scoring as the visitors out-pointed them 19-4 and left it 48-31 at the half.

The hosts, led by Ed Muntner were never closer than nine after that.

Again after the eight minute mark they failed to keep pace and dropped behind by 28.

With more than five minutes to go, Syracuse had put 91 on the score board.

The desire was there but Syracuse couldn't quite manage the 100 plus mark.

The victory was the fourteenth of the season for the Orangemen, equaling their total wins over the past three campaigns. Syracuse has won four, two and eight since 1960.

The elusive Ed Muntner was the shining light for Colgate, firing in 30 points, 18 in the second half. During one minute stretch he put all 10 of the Red Raiders points on the score board.

Center Tom Cruthers aided the Colgate cause with 21 markers, while high-scoring backcourt ace Bob TeCarr (18.1 ppg) was held to just two. TeCarr picked up four quick fouls guarding Bing in the opening period and saw only spot duty there after.

Box Score

COLGATE (78)	FG	FT	Pts	SYRACUSE (99)	FG	FT	Pts
Mutner	12	6	30	Goldsmith	7	1	15
Zamat	3	0	6	Schoff	3	0	6
Cruthers	7	7	21	Richards	11	5	27
TeCarr	1	0	2	Bing	12	5	29
Pommersheim	4	3	11	Duffy	0	2	2
Druchermiller	3	2	8	Penceal	1	0	2
Totals	30	18	78	Boeheim	3	0	6
				Nicoletti	5	2	12
				Totals	42	15	99

Grapplers Do Battle Against Red Raiders

By HOWARD SCHNEIDER

With the Eastern Championships just three weeks away Ed Carlin's wrestlers will journey to Colgate tomorrow to seek win number four. The match will begin at 2 p.m.

Highly-rated early in the year, the season for Syracuse has thus far proved to be a disappointing one. A 17-17 tie with Cornell last Wednesday night gave the Orangemen a 3-3-1 record, respectable, but not impressive.

Only big Jim Nance and captain Dick Slutsky have lived up to their pre-season raves. Both boys are undefeated, and both seem on their way to Eastern titles, March 13-14, at Franklin-Marshall.

The remainder of the squad has been erratic. They turned in top performances against Army and Navy, but looked sloppy and slow against Pittsburgh and Penn State.

Carlin's tentative starting lineup will be Ron Pitts, 123; Terry Haise, 130; James Murin, 137; John Dussling, 147; Dick Slutsky, 157; George Reider, 167; Lew Roberts, 177; Barry Raichlin, 191; and Jim Nance, heavyweight.

Carlin doesn't look for a real tough match against the Red Raiders. "They're not in the same class with Cornell, Penn State, and Pittsburgh," he said.

Captain George Young (147 pounds) is the Colgate standout. Coach Harvey Potter has had to forfeit the 123 and headvyweight classes for the last two weeks. He will probably go with Gilbert Bieger, 130; Mike Berger, 137; Kurk Harrison, 147; Brian Small, 157; Sanford Mintz, 167; Loubet, 177; and Jeff Nichols, 191.

An inexperienced squad five sophomores will be in the starting lineup this Saturday.

Orange Sophs

DAVE BING, JIM BOEHEIM and SAM PENCEAL line up. These four along with Norm Goldsmith, Rex Trobridge and Dick

Ableman proved to be the valuable addition to this season's varsity squad. Orange sophomores FRANK NICOLETTI,

SU Gymnasts Host Cortland In Archbold

Cortland provides the opposition for the Syracuse gymnastic team tomorrow in Archbold Gym as the hosts appear in their last season meet of the year.

The event is scheduled to start at 2 p.m.

For the basically young squad, this will be the last home appearance for three seniors: John Bird, Tom Steeves and Captain Carl Poplar.

Next week a large percentage of the team will jaunt to Penn State for the Eastern Intercollegiate Gymnastics Association meet.

Other frequent performers in this last meet are Jim Barish (floor ex, H-bar, P-bar); Spike Meury (side-horse); Deano Brescia (long horse vault); Mike Mikolay (long horse vault); John Steffney (P-bar, still rings).

MAR

Piety Wins - Now Hopes

Wanted: Scapegoats

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and lead public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide." — The Chicago Tribune Credo.

Here at Syracuse we substitute "administration" for "government," but the leaders of our institution do not agree with us.

We have provided that check by reporting the occurrences that affect every student on campus. This we consider our duty. For the truth with a capital T must be presented by a newspaper which adheres to the principles of free journalism.

Joint Student Legislature believed it was on the right course when it suggested a boycott of food service. For more than a week, the Daily Orange had covered reports of food service meetings and food service surveys with the approval of both Joint Student Government and Joint Student Legislature.

However, suddenly on Thursday as the Daily Orange felt it was its duty to continue to report the activities surrounding the boycott, we fell out of the good graces of JSG. Would this body have had this newspaper disregard the actions of 3,300 students?

Trying to stay in a middle-of-the-road position while still trying to disseminate the essentials of the food service scuffle to the student, we found ourselves being attacked by both sides.

The administration breathed easier because it felt it now had had three segments of student opinion fighting each other — JSL, JSG and the DO.

When we reported JSG had used JSL as a scapegoat by refusing to appoint either the speaker or speaker pro tempore to the food service committee, we were again labeled "irresponsible."

We are guilty of this "irresponsibility" and will continue to propagate the Truth to the campus. Responding to these charges, we maintained our right to cover the food service meetings in order to serve our stated purpose as "that check upon government."

The actions of Joint Student Government were supported by the administration, and student government began to look good as the administration acceded to wishes of the group — demands which we feel will serve no purpose in correcting the basic inadequacies of food service.

JSL was made to look bad both by JSG and the administration. When this newspaper continued to report the facts of the issue, it was then also used as a scapegoat.

For the Daily Orange, in the eyes of several administrators, was now responsible for the food service surveys, the boycott and the ensuing meetings. It was purposely forgotten that the DO was just reporting the actions of the administration, JSL and JSG. What more could be expected of fair reporters.

For it appears that a scapegoat is needed for a situation caused by a creation of the administration (i. e., Joint Student Government).

This newspaper cannot and will not serve as a sacrificial lamb, if it is to adhere to the established principles of journalism, and if it, furthermore, is to honestly serve as a fair and accurate disseminator for the campus.

The pressures exercised upon Joint Student Legislature and the Daily Orange are inconsequential, for in our society freedom of speech and expression will eventually triumph.

For if the Daily Orange is smothered on the Quad of Syracuse University, there will always be other newspapers to replace it.

You can only conceal the Truth; you can never alter it. And the Daily Orange pledges to this campus that it will not shirk its foremost duty — that of a newspaper, a public trust.

Dave Bing Hits For 30 Points In Syracuse, 81-64, Win No. 15

By JUDY ADAMS
Associate Editor

BUFFALO — precisely at 11 p.m. Saturday in Buffalo's Memorial Auditorium, Syracuse fulfilled the requirements for the NIT.

And Dave Bing finally scored 30 points as Syracuse overpowered a strong Cansius club, 81-64.

To dredge up an ancient cliché, it was a team effort all the way. In fact it was probably their best game of the year.

The squad, in a state of semi-anxiety over the New York tournament, pushed their record to 15-7 with their third win in five days, all on the road.

Bing didn't quite do it by himself. It was his accomplice, Chuck Richards, having his second fine game in a row, contributing 25 more points with Griffins John Brennan and Jim Hessinger alternating in his back pocket.

And it was Norm Goldsmith, who was having scoring agonies all night, presiding under the boards with 11 rebounds and displaying hustle uncommon to a man whose main duty is retrieving errant shots.

There was the scurrying Richie Duffy and there was Sam Penceal, playing his men as if joined at the hip.

And there was Frank Nicoletti, who didn't really show up until the second half but then scored 10 points in nine minutes. Syracuse was leading by six

(Continued on Page 12)

Litwin Hits Morris Action; Slams Boycott Opposition

By JESSE SMITH

Speaker Jay Litwin of Joint Student Legislature Friday accused student government President James Morris of destroying the unity and effectiveness of Joint Student Government in the food service issue.

Litwin condemned Morris' public opposition to the JSL-sponsored food service boycott as a "stab in the back" to the 150 senators and 3,300 students who supported the move. Litwin said Morris's action stemmed from fear of the administration.

If Morris had backed the move or even remained silent, Litwin said, JSG would have been able to present a solid front in pressing the administration for improvements in food service. Instead, he said, the rift in JSG distracted attention from the food issue and harmed the legislature's status.

Morris could have repaired the injury by appointing a JSL member to his top-level negotiating committee, Litwin said. Instead, said Litwin, Morris sided with the administration.

Litwin asserted that student government must be unified because it represents the student body against a "disinterested" administration.

Litwin emphasized that the boycott was merely a demonstration, not an attempt at intimidation. The boycott, he said, was proof that a majority of students are behind his stand in demanding food service improvements.

The move was necessary, Litwin explained, because Personnel Dean John Hafer had refused to recognize Litwin's (See Litwin, Page 10)

Carleton Discusses Disciplinary Procedure Set By Student Court

By CISSY POSSELT
Associate Editor

What is Joint Student Court and what is its function on the university campus?

According to Dean of Men Jim G. Carleton, the body, made up of students, it is a student conduct review board and is misnamed as student court.

Reviewing the history of the group, Carleton noted that the present court system was established with the adoption of the constitution which set up Joint Student Government.

Before the present system was established, students liable to disciplinary action were referred to either a men's or women's court.

The men's court was set up in much the same manner as are regular courts of law with prosecuting attorneys and defense attorneys and a board of judges. The court engaged in what is now termed "fact finding."

With the change in constitutions, however, came a change in the court setup and in the jurisdiction of the group.

Outlining the functions of the court, Carleton stressed that the court deals with only infractions of university "laws," only to determine the seriousness of the violations.

JIM G. CARLETON

In case the court feels that no action should be taken on an issue, it can recommend so to the dean of men's office.

The function of the court, Carleton said, "is not to change the university regulations," but to evaluate the seriousness of the violation of the standard.

If the court did not exist, there would be "no formal way for the student body for the direction and employment of effective standards," and otherwise all such actions would be taken by the dean of men's or women's offices.

In some cases, Carleton noted, the court has established a precedent with its ruling, as in the bookstore shoplifting cases earlier this year.

The court can inflict penalties ranging from a recommendation for suspension from the university. In no case can it rule for a suspension. Such suggestions, once received, are put through customary channels.

Discussing the "guilty before trial" assumption, Carleton stated that when a student is charged with the violation of a civil or criminal law, he is called to the dean of men's office for discussion of the charges.

When the student is required to appear in a civil or criminal court, Carleton stressed that JSC and his offices cooperated in full with the defense attorney.

If the attorney should feel that any JSC ruling on the case would harm the court case. (See Carleton, Page 10)

From Obscurity Into the Light

It started as a general protest. It grew into a major issue. And now the Syracuse student body reacts as it never has before.

The food service controversy, which has grown into something more than just a discussion of poor food and service, has given the Syracuse campus an issue to get riled up about.

Letters question the reasoning of both the executive and legislative branches of the Joint Student Government. Columns flow in denouncing one columnist and praising another. In general, the student body is acting as if the issue were a life and death matter.

And this is how it should be. The food service on this campus concerns the students, not the few people in the little red brick building nor the editors or leaders of the campus per se. It is for the students of the Hill to rise in protest. It is only for the leaders and editors to advise and report.

Yes, apathy is definitely dead on the Hill if this be the criterion. And the yardstick is growing every day.

The Daily Orange could fill many more pages than just the editorial page and one other to give all the opinions and replies to columns and letters space.

It is exciting to watch the snowball gain in momentum. And it is more exciting to see Syracusans ready to fight and also ready to listen on any one issue.

Four years have passed since SU was rocked by genuine campus spirited controversy. And it has been four years to long.

Congratulations to those who have always been ready to stand up for their rights and to voice opinions rather than sink into obscurity. And congratulations to those who have found their niche and can stand tall for finding a reason to be a student.

The questioning mind can never grow dormant and die. Perhaps now the Hill will not be considered a group of blendable and grey individuals, just existing, and be considered students sincerely concerned about their present and future places in society.

Still Here

Since we have another month or so of winter to look forward to at Syracuse, may we offer a plea to the Maintenance and Grounds crew. Please clear the sidewalks and salt them!

Obviously it is impossible to have the entire campus free of snow immediately after a blizzard. However, it is possible to clear the main paths used daily into campus.

The ice also complicates matters by making the snow look safe, but actually being treacherous. Salt is plentiful in Syracuse and the crews could spread the valuable substance a little more fully around the campus.

Another point of interest. The wooden snow stairs, which are supposed to make climbing in this weather easier are more times than not covered with ice and snow. Wood can be just as slippery as concrete under these conditions.

We are not asking for miraculous snow removal, but just a little more concentration on the areas most used by the students.

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2 March 2, 1961
Editor-in-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss
SENIOR EDITORS
Managing Editor Clayton F. Richards
News Editor Andrew Pore
Editorial Director Adair DuFene
Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 201 Brookline Drive Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter 411 U.S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

Guest Spot

Barry, etc.

Barnet Corwin

In recent weeks the New Hampshire Republic primary, often more ludicrous than instructive, has focused public attention not only on the candidates, but on the widening split in the Republican Party. Indeed, it sometimes appears that there are really two Republican Parties stumping the back trails of the granite state—the "liberal" Republicans, represented by Nelson Rockefeller and Margaret Smith with Governor Scranton and Nixon waiting anxiously in the wings, and the "conservative", Republicans with Barry Goldwater as their spokesman.

The prominence of Goldwater and his supporters in the party marks the end of a long drought for the conservatives. Tinged with isolationism and dollar diplomacy, standing largely on the shoulders of yesterday's liberals, (Goldwater now supports most of Roosevelt's New Deal Program), the unhappy and frustrated conservatives have been largely dragged along by the times, opposing one progressive reform after another.

As the twentieth century progressed, they gradually lost contact with the voters and began to represent the forces of reaction even within the ranks of the Republican Party who nominated a long succession of moderates. Now, as a result of post-war frustrations in foreign policy, domestic tension, or Nelson Rockefeller's marital difficulties, they are once more a force to be considered in the Republican Party and we are told by the smiling senator from Arizona, whose campaign seems to have stalled somewhat since the assassination of President Kennedy, that "a wave of conservatism is sweeping the country."

But as attention is focused on Senator Goldwater, the inevitable question arises as to whether his conservatism is the homey conservatism of Robert Taft or the watch-hunting conservatism of Robert Welch and his loyal band of fanatics, the John Birch Society. The Birchers, and other like-minded organizations, in their frantic attempts to stamp out Communism, un-Americanism and subversion, have become un-American and subversive in their tactics and behavior. The violation of anyone's personal freedoms and constitutional rights are justified because the Communists and their fellow-travellers are everywhere — on school boards, in the universities, in the government, in the Supreme Court, (Chief Justice Earl Warren), and perhaps even in their own closets.

One "tool of the Kremlin," Dwight Eisenhower, we are told, was even in the White House. Indeed, there are so many Communists corrupting our youth and subverting adults that one wonders who is minding the store in Moscow. But Communism is not their only target. It is becoming abundantly clear that the organizations of the radical right are also characterized by racism, anti-Catholicism, and anti-Semitism. (See Life, February 7, 1961) Thus far these organizations and their followers have loyally supported Senator Goldwater and he has welcomed their support. Is this the Goldwater brand of conservatism? If so, naive Republicans seeking a tax cut of a balanced budget had best think twice lest they usher in another McCarthy era.

His supporters tell us that the Goldwater brand of conservatism appeals to southerners and if he is nominated the Arizona senator is likely to crack the Democratic solidarity of the deep south. But just what sort of southerner is Goldwater attempting to win over? The major campaign issue is likely to be civil rights and in the south the conservative position on the racial issue is closely identified with the White Citizens' Council and the Ku Klux Klan.

It would be tragic indeed if Goldwater were to lead the party of Lincoln into a conspiracy with Wallace, Barnett, and Faubus in order to procure the votes of the "Bull" Connors, the Leander Perezes, and the Bryon de la Beckwiths. Thus far Goldwater has courted southern support and mumbled vague platitudes about civil rights without being at all specific. The time has come to take a position on what is likely to be the most important domestic issue of the 1961 campaign.

Also on the domestic scene, Goldwater favors speeding up automation to furnish more jobs for the unemployed. This is certainly a curious position putting men out of work to the tune of 4,000 a week. But then the Democrats haven't been able to do much with unemployment and depressed areas and we are willing to listen. However, no more has been heard of the celebrated program of solving unemployment through increased automation.

In the arena of foreign affairs Goldwater is deeply disturbed by events in Cuba and South Vietnam. But then, who isn't? He constantly recommends a stronger foreign policy, but when questioned as to the measures he would take to strengthen our foreign policy, the result is irresponsible saber-rattling and vague promises to "send the Marines to Guantanamo to turn the water on." As with the question of civil rights, no specific course of action is suggested and no program is outlined. The same is true of foreign aid, which he would cut drastically, but when asked where he would make the cuts, Goldwater could only reply that "he didn't know, but had suspicions where the fat was." Most enlightening.

It seems that all one can safely assume from his ghost-written speeches, ghost-written column, and ghost-written book, Conscience of a Conservative, is that Barry Goldwater is dissatisfied and generally opposed to change. This seems to satisfy the neurotic lunatic fringe and those rather pathetic Americans anxious to bury their heads in the comparative safety of the Victorian past, but it has little to offer to those more or less committed to living with grim reality.

The suspicion that the Golden Boy of the conservatives is over his head and woefully ill-equipped to shoulder the awesome burden of the Presidency is growing among thinking people. If Goldwater is going to combat this widespread impression he must commit himself to a specific program and temporarily withdraw from the vague oratory of his profession.

LETTERS

Democrat

To the Editor:
Dear Mr. Morris:

It should be obvious to everyone by now that your pious sounding criticism the student legislature for "insistence with democratic process" were really a cover-up for your true feelings—anger that the JSL had stepped out of the power structure of which you are the head. If you believe with others at Wednesday's meeting that the executive branch should know about every motion previous to its being brought to JSL, and that the only function of the legislature (a representative body is to approve executive wishes, if you think lies are a good way to lure people to your meeting, how dare you invoke the name of Democracy?

Esley Hamilton
Class of '67

POLICY ON LETTERS

The letters column is maintained for the expression of opinion by readers. However, the Daily Orange reserves the right to edit letters for grammar and good taste or to reject letters. Letters should be written legibly, preferably typed and no longer than 250 words. All letters must be signed with names and addresses; names will be withheld on request.

TREVER ON CAMPUS

In addition to serving as the host of the Folk Festival, JERRY SILVERMAN will appear as a performer at the Friday night concert, conduct a blues' guitar workshop and participate in other clinics and workshops. He has been associate editor of "Sing Out" folk magazine. Advance tickets, priced at $2 for the entire weekend, are available at the Corner Store.

Review

"The Victors"

Carl Foreman has made some great movies. As a master of the spectacle in the C.B. DeMille tradition he has also made a pile of money. But unfortunately Foreman has a conscience and that can be the only reason he has produced an anti-war film like "The Victors."

Commercial and coy to the very last moment, "The Victors" is an overlong spectacle that takes seemingly forever to say that war is hell. There are no winners and no losers in view of the horrors and futility of war—here specifically the second world war.

While Foreman is salving his conscience (he's made millions with films like "Guns of Navarone") in Stanley Kramer tradition, he has seen fit to add a host of stars just to insure the movie's boxoffice success. The actors and actresses trapped in this horror are too many to enumerate and their appearances too fleeting to evaluate.

Foreman has staged a series of vignettes designed to get his messages straight to the emotional pulp of his viewers. Death, love and sex are thrown about in liberal quantities with obvious plots and morals.

The photography is a mixture of stark location shots and cardboard sound studio sets for the intimate scenes. While the acting is nondescript the directing is unobtrusive -- they go hand in hand. Even the famous Foreman battle scenes are life-back from memories of past successes.

The Birchite organizations across the land have supposedly begun a grassroots campaign to boycott this picture at the box-office. Somehow these Second World War legionnaires feel the movie is an unpatriotic view of a great crusade. While it is shame that the lunatic fringe has selected so shoddy a product to malign and destroy, it at least proves that these people discriminate intelligently when it comes to movies. In this movie case liberals have nothing to champion. It deserves a resounding "no" at the box-office.

If you are just carried away with Albert "Tom Jones" Finney you can catch him in "The Victors" if you look hard. Even his talent is disguised and smothered.

ARE YOU FREE?

Nickel Theatre Holds Original Play Festival

Nickel Theater will open its Spring season of original productions with a week's festival of new play's March 2. The new plays will be treated as staged readings and will be performed in the Boar's Head Theater in Machinery Hall.

Admission to each performance is five cents. An open discussion of the plays, involving actors, directors, and audience, will be held at the conclusion of each production, moderated by Dr. Joseph Golden, director of Boar's Head Theater. The schedule of new play readings is:

"The Waiting Room" by Robert D'Angelo, directed by Vivian Taylor at 4:30 p.m. March 2.

At 4 p.m. March 4, "A Miracle or Two" by Irwin Sirota, directed by George Fidel, and "The Belfry" by Robert Bergeron, directed by Rea Turet.

"The Open Grave" written and directed by Arney Rosenblatt will be performed 4:30 p.m. March 5.

"Stand By" by George Fidel, directed by Lorin Hunt, and, "The Hamiltons Arrive at Eight" by Carlos Yorio, directed by Leslie Meek at 4 p.m. March 6.

According to Dr. Golden, "The Nickel Theater is particularly interested and committed to encouraging new playwrights by giving them a first public hearing. It's easy to get an audience for O'Neill or Albee, but an audience rarely contributes more than when they support and criticize a beginning or unknown writer. It's the only way the theater, the writer, and the audience itself can grow."

The usual five cent cup of coffee will be available to the audience.

Connecticut has been called the "Nutmeg State," the "Constitution State" and the "Land of Steady Habits."

TODAY

- 4 p. m., WAA volleyball, gym B.
- 5:05 p. m., Lutheran choral vesper.
- 7 p. m., Hill fresh council, room C, Chapel House.
- 8:30 p. m., Lambda Sigma Sigma, Chi Omicron.
- 8:30 p. m., Graduate seminar, St. Thomas More Chapel. Discussion of "Letter."
- 9 p. m., Eta Pi Upsilon.

Daily Crossword Puzzle

- | | | |
|--|--|---|
| ACROSS
1 Savoir faire.
5 Lance.
10 Attempt; Colloq.
14 Over; Ger.
15 Vestige.
16 Shrub yielding a drug.
17 Lap of luxury; 3 words.
19 Emanation.
20 Protein granule in seeds.
21 Tract of land.
23 Southern culinary specialty.
24 A kind of light.
25 Catnapping.
28 Whims.
31 Finnish islands.
32 Nomadic Moslems.
33 Gain.
34 Oversized cigarette.
35 Low quality diamonds.
36 Site of a famous tomb.
37 Harriman's nickname.
38 Decoys.
39 Reject with contempt.
40 In other words. | 42 Bit.
43 Match, in England.
44 Venetian VIP.
45 Investigate; 2 words.
47 Island south of Australia.
51 Feels below par.
52 British dominion E. of 47 Across; 2 words.
54 Man, for one.
55 Arabian VIP.
56 Poet Pound.
57 Readied for a golf shot.
58 "Little" of kindness...
59 Per ____
DOWN
1 Wind instrument.
2 Explorer Tasman.
3 Grant.
4 Theatrical traveling.
5 Powerful.
6 Having a tendency (to).
7 Affluence.
8 Tennis point.
9 Answers.
10 Seldom met with. | 11 Improving by small changes; 2 words.
12 Israeli seaport.
13 Semitic deity.
18 Part of a fern.
22 Bow-shaped segments.
24 Lawyers' concerns.
25 African port.
26 Kind of oil.
27 Ohio pottery center.
28 Preserved.
29 Haute.
30 Tolerate.
32 Country in Asia.
35 Fastened in a certain way.
36 Petitioned.
38 Ultimate.
39 Greek letter.
41 Strained.
42 Head winds; Slang.
44 In a fog.
45 Way of walking.
46 Seine tributary.
47 Shril piping note.
48 National Socialist.
49 Concerning; 2 words.
50 Lilith's husband.
53 Scotch uncle. |
|--|--|---|

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
 3444 Erie Blvd. East
 Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
 Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

A new volume for the student of romance languages

Indian Madras

-ARROW-

From the region made famous in history and poetry ARROW brings this distinctive shirting ...Khyber Cloth. Woven on native looms and dyed with the incomparable vegetable madder hues, it is tailored in our own impeccable ivy styling. Here is a sport shirt for your wardrobe that because of its distinguished appearance might end up being your favorite of them all.

$7.95

ANNOUNCING

FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE
HAS EXPANDED AND MOVED TO OUR NEW FULL TIME OFFICE IN
754 S. CROUSE AVENUE
NOW, FIVE STAR, THE HILL'S ORIGINAL TRAVEL SERVICE, CAN OFFER ALL THESE SERVICES

★ GREYHOUND TICKETS TO ALL POINTS,
GREYHOUND PACKAGE TOURS

★ AIRLINE RESERVATIONS TO ALL POINTS IN THE U. S.
 ★ BUS AND PLANE CHARTER SERVICE FOR GROUPS
 ★ A W-I-D-E SELECTION OF TOURS OF EUROPE —
ANY PART OF THE WORLD

★ A FREE WORLD-WIDE HOTEL RESERVATION SERVICE
 ★ CAR RENTALS, DOMESTIC AND FOREIGN ★ EUROPEAN CAR PURCHASES
 ★ WORLD'S FAIR TICKETS
 ★ A COMPLETE MAGAZINE SUBSCRIPTION SERVICE

GO GREYHOUND
 and leave the driving to us

OUR CREDO

WE AT FIVE STAR MAKE NO ATTEMPT TO CATER TO THE ULTRA - SOPHISTICATED TRAVELER. WE WORK TO BRING TO THE STUDENT AND FACULTY MEMBER TRAVEL THAT HE CAN AFFORD. HOWEVER, IN DOING SO, WE NEVER SACRIFICE NORMAL STANDARDS OF SAFETY AND CONVENIENCE. NEVER - EVER AN EXTRA CHARGE FOR OUR SERVICE.

ATTENTION GROUPS

From our very inception Five Star has specialized in group travel. Never a charge for our experience.

STUDENT SHIPS

Information on ships chartered by the council on student travel is available at office.

SPRING BRIDES

and grooms let us plan your honeymoon now. We do all the work, you have all the fun.

SHERATON HOTELS

... have made Five Star their campus representative. Special student and faculty rates.

WORLD'S FAIR

Five Star is your official World's Fair Ticket and Information Center. We can provide tickets, hotel rooms, sightseeing - everything to make your trip complete in one package.

A WORD FROM THE HEART

We would like to thank all those who helped to make this expansion possible. Special thanks go to Gus and his staff at the Savoy for putting up with us for the past five months, and to you our customers without whom we could not exist.

SPRING VACATION

WATCH FOR OUR STUDENT SPECIAL ON GREYHOUND FARES TO NEW YORK

FIVE STAR SUBSCRIPTION SERVICE

Our subsidy (my we're getting big) offers subscriptions to ANY magazine. We match all special offers by publishers and offer many student rates.

BEFORE YOU GO SEE US - - OR WE BOTH LOSE MONEY

FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, Inc.

"Student travel that students can afford"

NOW LOCATED IN THE UNIVERSITY HILL MUSIC BOX

754 S. Crouse Ave.; Open Mon. 10 - 9; Tue. - Sat. 10 - 6

DIAL Greyhound 6-0135

Charter Plane to Europe For S U

STUDENTS & FACULTY MEMBERS

$240.50 ROUND TRIP
(pro-rated)

Cost based on occupancy by 113 people

TRY TO BEAT THIS PRICE

NEW YORK ^{to} LONDON

VIA

CAPITOL AIRWAYS

SUPER CONSTELLATION

DEPART: JUNE 10 FROM NEW YORK

RETURN: AUGUST 18 FROM LONDON

Please Make Reservations Now!!

CALL GR-6097

STEPHEN KEHOE

EUGENE BAILEY

TIRED OF

SYRACUSE WEATHER??

FOR A FUNDERFUL VACATION!

GO TO MIAMI

SPECIAL CHARTER FLIGHT FOR Syracuse University Students

OUR SPECIAL PACKAGE DEAL INCLUDES

- ★ Transportation Round Trip Capitol Airways Chartered Dinner Flights
- ★ Ten Nights at the Schine McAlister, Miami
- ★ Free Transportation from the hotel to the Famous Rooney Plaza Pool and Sun Club — Free Use of the Club
- ★ Transfers between the campus area and the airport and between airport and the hotel - vice versa.

Plane departs from Syracuse 6 p.m. Thursday, March 25 departs from Miami 6 p.m. Sunday, April 5

YOUR LOW COST only $123

the normal cost of tourist transportation alone is $145.95!

This charter available only to SU students, faculty members.

FOR RESERVATIONS AND INFORMATION:

Five Star Travel Service Inc.

now in the MUSIC BOX

754 S. Crouse Ave.; open Mon. 10-9; Tue.-Sat. 10-6

DIAL GR 8-0135 ANY TIME

Pictured above is Yates Castle, former home of the Journalism School and the Daily Orange, which was located on Irving avenue. The Daily Orange is again in the market for a home, as it is faced with loss of its cherished prefab, the "Hellbox," to a new social work building. Suggested homes for the DO have been the bastment of the current Journalism Center or somewhere in the Newhouse complex. Well, through rain, snow, sleet and boycotts, the DO will go through.

HillUN Group Wins Award

Syracuse University was honored as the outstanding delegation at the 16th annual Model Security Council, sponsored by St. Lawrence University. The conference ran from Thursday to Saturday at the university's Canton campus.

Members of the Syracuse delegation were Ken Auletta, a graduate student and Daily Orange columnist; and Alvin Davis and Ron Mittleman, both seniors. Syracuse had the role of Morocco in the 11-school conference.

Judging was based on how well each school represented its assigned country, adherence to the principles of the United Nations Charter, and individual presentations.

Included in the other schools were Dartmouth, West Point, the Royal Military College of Canada, Loyola of Montreal, and the University of Buffalo.

The federal government collected $1,445,480,000 in tax revenues for sale of passenger cars and motorcycles in 1962, the highest production year, increasing tax revenues 27 per cent over 1961.

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "Rally Round the Flag, Boys!" and "Barefoot Boy With Check".)

THE SLOW RUSH

Illustrated below is the membership pin of a brand-new national fraternity called Signa Phi Nothing. To join Signa Phi Nothing and get this hideous membership pin absolutely free, simply take a pair of scissors, cut out the illustration, and paste it on your chest.

Let me hasten to state that I do not recommend your joining Signa Phi Nothing. The only thing I recommend in this column is Marlboro Cigarettes, as any honest man would who likes good tobacco and a good filter, whose heart is quickened by a choice of soft pack or Flip-Top Box, and who gets paid every week for writing this column.

I am frankly hard put to think of any reason why you should join Signa Phi Nothing. Some people, of course, are joiners by nature; if you are one such, I am bound to tell you there are any number of better organizations for you to join—the Cosa Nostra, for example, or the Society for the Placing of Water Troughs in Front of Equestrian Statues.

cut it out and paste it on your chest

But if you insist on joining Signa Phi Nothing, let me give you several warnings. First off, it is the only fraternity which admits girls. Second, there is no pledge period; each new member immediately goes active. Perhaps "inactive" is a more accurate word: there are no meetings, no drives, no campaigns, no sports, no games, no dues, no grip, and no house.

The only thing Signa Phi Nothing has in common with other fraternities is a fraternity hymn. In fact, two hymns were submitted to a recent meeting of the national board of directors (none of whom attended). The first hymn goes:

*Signa Phi Nothing,
Shining star,
How we wonder
If you are.*

The second hymn, rather more poetic in content, is to be sung to the tune of Also Sprach Zarathustra:

*A Guernsey's a cow,
A road is a lane,
When you're eating chow,
Remember the main.*

Pending the next meeting of the national board of directors (which will never be held) members are authorized to sing either hymn. Or, for that matter, Frencsi.

Perhaps you are wondering why there should be such a fraternity as Signa Phi Nothing. I can give you an answer—an answer with which you cannot possibly disagree: Signa Phi Nothing fills a well-needed gap.

Are you suffering from mental health? Is logic distorting your thinking? Is ambition encroaching on your native sloth? Is your long-cherished misinformation retreating before a sea of facts? In short, has education caught up with you?

If so, congratulations. But spring is upon us and the sap is rising, and the mind looks back with poignant longing to the days when it was a puddle of unreason.

If—just for a moment—you want to recapture those careless vaporings, that warm, squishy confusion, then join Signa Phi Nothing and renew your acquaintance with fecklessness. We promise nothing, and, by George, we deliver it!

© 1964 Max Shulman

We, the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes, promise smoking enjoyment, and we think you'll think we deliver it—in all fifty states of this Union. Marlboro Country is where you are.

WAER

88.3 mc

MONDAYS

- 4:00 Sign On, News, WAER Highlights
- 4:15 Experiment in Music
- 6:00 BBC World Report
- 6:15 Communique
- 6:30 Fran Stone and the News
- 6:45 International Report
- 7:00 Syracuse 164 Drama Workshop
- 7:30 Challenges to Democracy
- 10:45 The Late Night Report
- 8:30 The 8:30 Report
- 8:35 Contemporary Scene
- 11:00 The Sounds of Jazz
- 12:15 Headlines and Sign Off

Tuesday
Evenings
Two Showings
7 and 9 p.m.

University
REGENT
Theatre

820 EAST GENESEE

TOMORROW

The Novel on Film

"THE IDIOT"

(France)

Tickets, 75c

Series $1.50

SECOND ANNUAL SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY

FOLK FESTIVAL

MARCH 20, 21, 22, 1964

AN EXCITING ROUND-ROBIN OF CONCERTS, HOOTENANNIES, SEMINARS, WORKSHOPS, CLINICS, AND TALENT COMPETITION

—FEATURING AMERICA'S FINEST FOLK ARTISTS—

DOC WATSON

JEAN RITCHIE

THE GREENBRIAR BOYS

REV. GARY DAVIS

GIL TURNER

ROGER SPRUNG

THE SHANTY BOYS

THE ALL-NIGHT SINGERS

AND MANY OTHERS.

YOUR FESTIVAL HOST

JERRY SILVERMAN

AUTHOR, PERFORMER, MUSICOLOGIST, ASSOCIATE EDITOR OF SING OUT

GENERAL ADMISSION TICKET FOR ENTIRE FESTIVAL $2.50

SPECIAL ADVANCED SALE - TO MARCH 18 ONLY - $2.00

FESTIVAL SPONSORED BY

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY
BOOKSTORES

FESTIVAL HEADQUARTERS

CORNER BOOKSTORE MUSIC DEPARTMENT
943 SO. CROUSE AVE. SYRACUSE, N.Y. 13210
PHONE 476-5571 EX 2008

TICKETS AND FULL INFORMATION AVAILABLE AT FESTIVAL HEADQUARTERS
AND AT FAMOUS ARTISTS TICKET OFFICE - CLARK MUSIC BLDG. SALINA ST.

100 LP RECORDS — GUITARS — SONG BOOKS WILL BE GIVEN AWAY

SUSAN P. SHARP

PAULA J. JOLLIN

DIANE E. KESSLER

ADRIANNE M. DEDEK

MARLENE A. KENNEDY

Cadets to Choose Ball Queen

The seven finalists for the Military Ball queen contest will soon appear before all Army and Air Force ROTC cadets in the form of a mock court martial.

At the end of the court martial each cadet will vote for the finalist of his choice.

The winner will be announced March 20 at the ball held in the Hotel Syracuse.

The queen will receive an expense paid trip for two to New York City for a weekend which will include two tickets to a Broadway show of her choice. The Hotel Roosevelt has given the queen and her escort free rooms for the weekend. Additional gifts have been contributed by local merchants.

The seven candidates are Adrienne M. Dedek, a freshsority. She comes from Maple Glen, Pa.

Diane E. Kessler, another elementary education major, is from Holland Patent. Miss Kessler, a candidate for AWS president, is a junior and a sister of Chi Omega.

Eve Kubja, a junior majoring in zoology in the College of Liberal Arts, is from Jamesville.

Susan P. Sharp is a freshman in the College of Liberal Arts. Miss Sharp is from Mt. Lakes, N.J., and lives in Flint 2c.

Nancy Story, a sophomore in the College of Liberal Arts, comes from Grand Ledge, Mich. Miss Story lives on Day 2.

EVE KUBJA

NANCY STORY

Corwin Named To CORE Job

A Syracuse University graduate student will direct much of the upstate organization for the March 16 March on Albany. It was announced over the weekend at a meeting of regional delegates of the Congress on Racial Equality.

Ron Corwin, recently appointed CORE secretary for upstate New York by national CORE will do the work, according to Bayard Rustin, director of the march. Rustin was in Syracuse to address the meeting.

The march will be carried out in order to support civil rights and social legislation now pending before the state Assembly.

In another announcement,

Rustin revealed that George Wiley, HPI chemistry professor, has been appointed to the CORE national action council.

HEAR, HERE!
ALL NEW FROM SONY.

Tape Recorders

Diviera CINEMA

3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. - GR 9 4021

2 ★ ★ ★ ★ FILMS

THE FOUR DAYS OF NAPLES

AND "UNFORGETTABLE"

1959 RELEASE in the hand trap

ELSA DANIEL

SUPERSCOPE

Bookstores

303 University Place

SYRACUSE BLUEPRINT CO. INC.

GRUMBACHER
WINSOR NEWTON
PARATONE
ZIPATONE
RICH ART
ACS TAPES
AQUABEE PADS
STRATHMORE PADS
CRESENT BOARDS

ART
SUPPLIES

425 E. GENESEE ST.

GR 6-4021

PANASONIC RADIO CLEARANCE

Help Us Make Room for
NEW THINGS IN SOUND

ALL RADIOS GREATLY REDUCED

	LIST	OUR PRICE	SPECIAL NOW
T-81	59.95	49.95	39.95
T-35	99.95	89.95	71.95
T-66	69.95	59.95	47.95
730	49.95	39.95	31.95
920 clock	49.95	39.95	31.95
782	69.95	59.95	47.95
T-22	49.95	39.95	31.95
Fleetwood	16.95	13.95	10.95

LIMITED TIME ONLY

SU

Bookstores

303 University Place

LETTERS

Confidence

Syracuse University students have long had a reputation for apathy. However, in a school of this size this is not uncommon. Realistically speaking then, those of us active in student government should not be alarmed when we are confronted with indifference on the part of many students.

However, shouldn't we draw a line of distinction between indifference and disrespect for a student leader? This statement concerns the current rift which has resulted in a supposed "house divided" in student government. The student leader of whom I am speaking is Jim Morris, an individual elected by the student body, who has devoted his senior year to working for all of us in representing the student body.

Besides the very few rare moments of satisfaction he may have experienced in performing his duties this year what thanks has he gotten? I am not suggesting that he be showered with bouquets of flowers and driven down Marshall street in a chariot. But I do believe that he does at least deserve the respect that his office demands, instead of being degraded, humiliated, and misquoted by Mr. Auletta and certain other individuals.

Let me make this point clear: I am not taking issue with any of the viewpoints expressed in the recent food service problems. Speaking merely as a student at this university, I cannot see why a person who has given so much time in such a dedicated fashion should have his year of hard work spoiled by a few very derogatory and needless statements.

I am sure that the other class presidents will agree when I say that Jim has done what he has thought was right. Whether he was correct or not is not of utmost importance. What is essential is that Jim Morris not complete his term with a sour taste in his mouth on account of a small minority of people who apparently have little contact with the Joint Student Government, and even less conscience for what they say.

Anthony Moffett Jr.
Pres. Class of '66

Meeting

To the Editor:

It seems obvious that the emergency meeting of the JSJ Wednesday night was a deliberate contrivance to dupe the legislature into retracting its position on the food service issue. It appeared that James Morris, President of JSJ, had students sympathetic to his view planted throughout the assemblage. (Students, by the way, who were conspicuously absent from the JSJ session which passed the boycott.) Mr. Morris, during the questioning, was evasive in many of his answers and was partial in calling on speakers. He, for example, refused to allow Marshall Sneirson to ask three questions and refused to call on certain opponents more than once, while allowing the friendly Senior Class President to speak for relatively long periods of time on two separate occasions. Mr. Morris, furthermore, failed to live up to promises made prior to the meeting. Vice-President Wingate, Food Service Director Pettingill, and Dean Hafer were not at the meeting as we were tricked into believing they would be. Neither did the meeting continue until "all discussion" was completed and "each hand raised had been recognized as he had promised. Mr. Morris, in fact, cut off discussion himself although many more speakers wished to be heard. If Mr. Morris cannot live up to simple promises such as these, how could he expect the legislature to believe his pie-in-the-sky promise of better food service through his methods?

Mr. Morris stated that he felt the student complaints about food service should have been aired through the "democratic process." Yet he agreed with a speaker who felt the legislature should assume an inferior position to the executive in government. The student implied that the legislature should not take action of its accord but merely approve executive requests. If this is Mr. Morris' democratic process, if he believes this method to be more rational than boycotting, then I ask how he can truly say he understands the democratic process at all?

Richard C. Michel
JSJ Representative
Class of 67

JFK

To the Editor:

The poem which follows was written by a former student of Syracuse University, submitted after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

A man came to Syracuse and I shook his hand
I shook the hand of greatness.

He came amidst noise, cheers and fanfare,
He smiled, he laughed and waved.

It was a bitterly cold that day in Syracuse,

That day I met the Senator.
I'd heard people speak of him, many times,

Before, but I knew nothing of this young smiling man.
I saw him that day and liked his way.

I saw him smile and wave for awhile.

And later I watched and listened to his voice,

This man of men; Thus the people's choice.

When I heard him speak, it made me glad,

That way he spoke as no one ever had.

With his shock of hair and handsome face,

And youthful air and lithe-some grace.

He was a man I learned to love,
Love yes as a dove loves a dove.

That I know was his secret of greatness,

He was someone we knew, a neighbor, true friend.

He left our lines, but not our hearts,

He was called from us and yet a part of JFK will forever dart, into our minds and throughout our world.

The way he died should forever be,

A deciding force - a vivid memory.

He had died for a better day,

We must live so that we can repay.

Remember his eyes, the sparkle the warmth,

The way he flashed that hearty smile.

Remember the way you used to feel,

When our 'hometown boy' - Oh what the hell,

Listen, if we forget John surely we are lost.

If we can actually allow a man such as this to die for naught,

How can we call for peace in our world?

How can we dare to ask why,

If we allow his memory to die.

JFK forever must live.

His spirit must never, never be lost.

His love for God, country and liberty, Must always our banner be.

And Americans, Americans, fill and swell the ranks.

March soundly, proudly as if to give thanks,

Lift up your head.

Lift it high and never, never forget our battlecry.

The spirit of our Jack,

Lost that fateful day.

Remember JFK.

Herbert A. Minks

CIVIL RIGHTS

At FOOTPRINTS

HAWAII SUMMER JOBS

STUDENTS — MALE and FEMALE. Summer employment in Hawaii — All possibilities listed in current "Guide to Hawaii Employment" — Send $1.00 air mail 30c extra. Island Publications, 2312 22nd Ave., San Francisco, Calif. Money Back Guarantee.

DEVELOPMENT OF MANAGEMENT IS OUR MOST IMPORTANT FUNCTION

At the 1963 stockholders' meeting, Arjay R. Miller, President of Ford Motor Company, emphasized the Company's far-sighted recruitment program and its accent on developing management talent:

"Obviously, our long-run future will be determined by the development of our management. Here, every one of us—at all levels of supervision—recognizes this as his most important function. Since 1946, the Company has recruited widely varied talent—talent that can be blended to give us the required combination of tight administration and creative scope.

"Under a carefully conceived management development program, we try to recruit the best personnel available, both in training and experience. Once we get them, we have a program for giving them varied opportunities and increasing responsibility. This program is in force in all parts of the Company—in manufacturing, finance, styling, engineering and marketing.

"The program is paying off. We have developed a real depth of management talent in the Company, and we are dedicated to seeing it continued and reinforced. Because of this, I feel not only very fortunate in being associated with this management group, but also very confident of its long-run success. We know our goals and how to achieve them."

MOTOR COMPANY

The American Road, Dearborn, Michigan

Those interested in a career with a future are invited to register at the Placement Office for an interview with Ford Motor Company representatives, who will be on campus soon.

Arjay R. Miller, President of Ford Motor Company, and Henry Ford II, Chairman of the Board, at 1963 Annual Stockholders' Meeting.

An equal opportunity employer

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

R	A	S	P	A	N	O	R	T	A	S	S	E
I	G	O	R	D	I	N	O	O	M	A	H	A
C	O	M	E	S	I	N	T	O	A	I	M	E
A	N	A	T	I	O	N	O	F	S	H	E	E
S	E	N	S	E	G	I	A	N
S	T	A	N	G	P	H	A	R	I	S	E	E
C	E	N	S	E	R	A	R	E	R	R	A	T
R	A	T	E	M	O	L	D	S	C	A	S	A
A	D	O	T	I	T	L	E	M	O	I	E	T
F	A	N	T	A	L	O	O	N	A	N	O	D
E	R	A	T		A	I	D
F	R	A	N	N	Y	A	N	D	Z	O	O	E
S	O	U	C	I	P	R	O	M	E	N	A	D
H	I	N	U	S		A	N	N	A	E	T	N
A	L	E	P	H		L	O	O	N	S	H	A

English Department To Present Awards

Syracuse University's English department has announced that a series of prizes will be offered in English competition this year.

Poetry prizes are the Leonard Brown Prize in Poetry and The Whiffen Poetry Prize.

The Leonard Brown Prize in Poetry, honoring the late Prof. Leonard Brown, has been established through the generosity of Dr. Robert Seidenberg.

Amounting to $100, the prize will be awarded the student who submits the best poem with no restrictions on form or subject matter. Deadline is March 15 at the English office.

Writer of the second-best poem will be awarded the Whiffen Poetry Prize of $25.

The Nu Sigma Nu Essay Prize, established by Dr. Douglas Shanklin of $50, will be awarded for the best undergraduate essay entitled "The Role of the Complex University in Modern Society."

Competition is open to all undergraduates at SU. Essays must be no longer than 2500 words and are to be submitted to the English office on or before March 15.

Rho Delta Phi, English honorary, will offer a $50 prize for the best short story submitted by an undergraduate. Deadline is March 15.

To the English major with the highest average in English courses for seven semesters goes the Pietrafesa Prize of $40. No application need be made.

The Garfinkel Scholarship ranging in value from $1,000 to full tuition, will go to any student planning to be an English major who will have completed 57 hours of credit at the end of the spring term.

Established by Mrs. Sadie Garfinkel in memory of her daughter, Joan, the award will go to a student with a minimum to a student with a minimum average of 2.25 in English. Applications can be made to Mr. Elson, 203 Hall of Languages. Nickel theatre holds

St. T-More Lecture Set

The St. Thomas More Chapel will inaugurate its distinguished lecture series today with a lecture by Msgr. John M. Oesterreicher, who will speak on "The Council and the Jews."

Msgr. Oesterreicher will speak at 4:30 p.m. in Gifford Auditorium, H.R. Crouse Hall.

He is director of the Institute of Judaic-Christian Studies at Seton Hall University, as well as the editor of the sultan to the Roman Secretariat for Christian Unity.

A native of Austria, both of his parents were Jewish. He was influenced by the writings of Buber, Kierkegaard, Dostoevski and Cardinal Newman.

Msgr. Oesterreicher's articles have been published in many journals, both in France and in the United States.

In the past few years, Msgr. Oesterreicher has divided his time between the U.S. and Europe. He was engaged in preparatory work for the second Vatican Council, and later attended the conference.

He has been widely identified with the fourth chapter of the Conciliar Draft "On Ecumenism" which deals with the right attitude of Catholics toward Jews.

The lecture is open to the public.

One of today's leading manufacturers of electrical products announced in 1910 it was discontinuing research into automobile lighting because it seemed an impossibility to light the whole vehicle electrically.

Festival to Open ISO Celebration

This week is only six days long! Six days that is, as far as the International Students Organization is concerned.

The ISO is showing the Hill what foreign countries are like from today until Saturday night with its sixth annual International Week.

The week is slated to start at 7:30 p.m. today, in Crouse College auditorium with a "Festival of Nations," a potpourri of dances, songs and other events presented by student groups from the 74 nations represented at SU.

Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, under secretary of state for special political affairs, will be featured at 8 p.m. Tuesday, discussing "United Nations and World Conflict."

"Last Year at Marienbad" an award winning foreign film is to be shown at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, in Gifford Auditorium and on Thursday, international students will be guests of the university's sorority and fraternity houses.

A miniature world's fair will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Sims Hall. Students will be serving refreshments and displaying various products from their countries.

The highlight and final event of International Week will be the "International Dance" at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Sims Hall. Music will be played by Vincent Pace and his orchestra.

Litwin . . .

(Continued from Page 1)
right to speak for the student body. By refusing to eat in university dining halls, said Litwin, students spoke for themselves.

Litwin called present negotiations between JSG executives and administrative officials "a start" and said he was willing to wait and see what comes out of them.

Harvey Nathan, speaker pro tempore of JSL, also voiced his views on student government problems Friday. Nathan said that the food boycott had been necessary to "wake up" the administration and arouse alumni. Student government has no power and no money, he said, and is an underdog in dealing with the administration.

Although all final solutions must come from negotiations, Nathan said, negotiations by themselves always break down. The administration is always friendly and easy to deal with, he said, but tends to dismiss students as complainers. If the same thing is not to happen every year, Nathan declared, the administration's basic attitude must change.

Carleton . . .

(continued from page 1)
university action is delayed.

After the facts of the case on the student's involvement are discussed, the case is turned over to the court, along with the records of the student. No dean of men's office personnel are present at the JSC proceedings.

In discussing the penalties levied by the court, Carleton said he "never disagreed with the general penalty," although he sometimes felt that the penalties assessed were for longer periods of time than necessary.

Student Court Suspends Four

Joint Student Court recently placed four students on disciplinary probation as a result of violations of university regulations concerning drinking and theft.

In the first case, the court placed two students on probation until February, 1965. The pair, a sophomore and a junior, both in the College of Liberal Arts, were observed intoxicated by a member of the dean of men's staff during a basketball game at the Manley Field House.

The two also had a wine bottle in their possession at the time. The pair admitted drinking during the basketball game, and both admitted they knew their actions were in violation of university regulations.

JSC Chief Justice Herbert Lustig said that both Manley Field House and Archbold Gym and Stadium are university buildings and are governed by university regulations.

In the second case, two students were placed on probation for the theft of a card table from a university dormitory. The pair admitted taking the table from the dorm to their fraternity house.

A junior in the College of Engineering, who admitted organizing the theft, was placed on probation until February, 1965. His accomplice, a sophomore in the College of Liberal Arts, was placed on probation until June.

Both were also asked to personally apologize to the director of the dormitory.

In each of the cases, disciplinary probation involved the loss of any driving privileges and scholarships held by the students.

THE "BOOKSTALL"

147 Marshall Street
Fascinating Gifts, Fine Stationery, Fabulous Cards
38 Years by the Campus
Your Friendly Alumni Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow

INTERESTED IN AN OVERSEAS CAREER?

Mr. Carl S. Coler,
Admissions Officer

will be on the campus

March 2, 1964

from 9:00 to 5:00

to discuss the training offered at A.I.E.T. (an intensive nine months program of post graduate study) and the job opportunities open to graduates in the field of INTERNATIONAL TRADE and GOVERNMENT SERVICE.

Interviews may be scheduled at

Office of Vocational Counselor and Director of Placement ex. 2720

The American Institute For Foreign Trade

Thunderbird Campus
PHOENIX, ARIZONA

An Affiliate Of
The American Management Association

Easter Vacation? See our man on campus if you want to save money and see the world.

The Sheraton Campus Representative will give you free a Sheraton Student ID or Faculty Guest Card. With it you can stay at any of 90 Sheraton Hotels round the world at special low discount rates . . . even in single rooms! Save even more with 2 or 3 in a room. Group rates for clubs and teams. Wherever Sheraton is, there's a world of things to see and do. For more information and your ID or Faculty Card, contact this Sheraton Campus Representative:

Sheraton Hotels & Motor Inns

Coast to coast in U.S.A.; in Hawaii; Canada; Nassau; Jamaica; Mexico; Puerto Rico; Venezuela; Tel Aviv, Israel.

This is no weak-sister deodorant!
...it's new

MAN-POWER

New Man-Power Deodorant has what it takes to do a MAN's job. Gives you the stepped-up penetration power, the staying power a man needs. Covers in seconds...controls perspiration...stops odor. And it's absolutely non-sticky. Try it...the new deodorant that does a MAN's job. New Man-Power. 1.00 plus tax.

EXTRA BONUS — the clean masculine aroma of OLD SPICE | SHULTON

Most Gripes Solved

Food Proposals Answered

By MARLENE CIMONS

A majority of the 31 points proposed by food service representatives have been acted upon as a result of meetings between student government officials, food service representatives and administrators.

According to Kate Antony, Joint Student Government vice president, Francis A. Wingate, university vice president and treasurer, stated that the individual food councils will discuss improving crowded dining hours and reopening second lines.

It was also decided that hair nets will be worn by food service employees while working, more pies and cakes will be served more often, and seconds will be replaced on all fruits and jellies.

Wingate said that other proposals will be handled by the menu committee. These suggestions include: including a greater variety of cheeses, improving the formula of salad dressings, providing cocoa at each meal, expanding the variety of ice creams, and changing the brand of tea.

Other ideas which have been agreed upon are: the grill for eggs will be clean, more of a variety of eggs will be served, bacon will be served on other days besides Sunday, either rolls, doughnuts, or coffee cake will be served as an alternative to toast, french toast, and pancakes, chipped bowls and cups will be replaced as soon as the budget allows, and orange juice will not be diluted, cooked softer, an alternative will be offered when pork is served, ashtrays, salt and pepper and sugar will be provided for every table, gravy will be hot and appropriate to the meat, and tablecloths will be provided for Sunday meals.

The recommendation that there should be a choice of hot and cold lunches will also be decided by the menu committee, Wingate said.

Miss Antony stated that it is now the job of the students to watch for any changes and notify representatives of student government of any complaints.

Paper Shutdown Causes Riots

Suspension of "The Setonian," Seton Hall University's weekly newspaper, was the cause of a 700-student riot on the Seton Hall campus Thursday.

The protest occurred after the Most Rev. John J. Dougherty, president of the university, suspended the paper, charging that it had "abused freedom of expression." The suspension was scheduled to last for one month, until present editors of "The Setonian" are replaced.

The demonstration began as several hundred students assembled in front of Presidents Hall, which houses the administrative offices at 2:30 p.m., chanting "We want the paper."

Size of the crowd increased as students were let out of classes and overflowed onto the city streets.

Policemen summoned to the scene to aid campus police called on area firemen to quell the rioters, who began pelting firemen with snowballs. Soon after the barrage, a fire hose was connected and water was turned on the students.

In further protest, the students "adjourned" to the student union building, where they were promised by a faculty member that "The Setonian" staff, student leaders and administrators would meet Friday.

The Bishop's statement read in part: "It has always been my policy as president of this university to allow our students the fullest measure of freedom of expression, consistent with the proper regard for their own responsibilities and the purposes and ideals of the university.

"In recent months, however, there had been growing evidence that freedom of expression is being abused in the columns of The Setonian. There have been misrepresentations of facts when the true facts could have easily been ascertained. There has been an unwholesome spirit that has characterized too many of the articles appearing in The Setonian."

Foreign Trade Expert Visits

Students interested in the field of foreign trade and international commerce will have an opportunity to discuss current events and opportunities in the foreign trade field when Carl S. Coler, admissions officer for the American Institute for Foreign Trade, visits the campus today.

Those interested may call Mrs. Marguerite Ruoff, ext. 2720.

Coler has been associated with personnel and placement problems during his 36 years of service as training director with Westinghouse Electric. He has also spent 14 years in various state department assignments.

The course of study at the institute prepares the students for international commerce and associated activities by providing specially trained personnel to serve business and government throughout the world.

The institute's curriculum emphasizes language, area studies and international commerce.

Language Exams Slated Saturday

Makeup examinations in romance languages will be given from 10 a.m. - noon Saturday. Students having incompletes in French, Spanish or Italian should register with Mrs. Renske in 205 Huntington B. Crouse prior to that day.

Five Star Service Expands

Five Star Travel Service, Inc., September they moved into the student owned travel service has undergone a major expansion. Beginning today the agency is now located in its new office in the University Hill Music Box, 751 S. Crouse Ave.

Five Star will now handle a complete line of travel including Greyhound tickets, plane tickets, foreign tours, World's Fair tours and car rentals.

Five Star Travel Service began two years ago when two then sophomores Robert Douglas and Peter Meyersohn chartered a bus to New York and sold tickets to fellow students.

Douglas continued the business and Richard Kreisberg became associated with it in November of 1962. Last March Five Star received a Greyhound franchise, enabling it to sell bus tickets to any place in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Last April Five Star was located in the Corner Store under a joint office arrangement with Syracuse Travel Bureau. In September they moved into the Savoy.

In explaining Five Star's philosophy Douglas said "We do not attempt to cater to the ultrasophisticated traveler. Our aim is to provide the student and faculty, member with travel that they can afford. However, in doing so we never sacrifice accepted standards of comfort or safety."

Five Star also specializes in group travel. It provides both bus and plane charters to student groups.

Five Star also operates a complete magazine subscription service.

Syracuse Symphony

KARL KRITZ, conductor

FRI.-SAT., MAR. 13-14

LOUIS KRASNER, Violinist

Berg VIOLIN CONCERTO

Barber Violin Suite SOUVENIRS

Lincoln Auditorium, 8:10 p.m.
$1.50, 2.75, 3.50, stud. 75¢
Hotel Onondaga — 472-5293

FOOTPRINTS

March 11-12-13

1. I just made a very smart buy. Would you like to hear about it?
You can see I'm all ears.

2. It's an item that will stand me in good stead throughout my life.
You don't say.

3. It guarantees security for the family I expect to have shortly.
Interesting.

4. It can provide money for my children's education.
Is that so?

5. It can pay off the mortgage if I die. Or make money available for emergencies or opportunities. Or provide a lifetime income when I retire.
Look, if anything was that good, a lot of people would have it.

6. Precisely. And over 11 million people do. Because I was telling you about Living Insurance from Equitable.
Tell me more.

For information about Living Insurance, see The Man from Equitable. For information about career opportunities at Equitable, see your Placement Officer, or write to William E. Blevins, Employment Manager.

The EQUITABLE Life Assurance Society of the United States
Home Office: 1285 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10019 © 1964

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.
1 day $.85
2 days 1.65
3 days 3.15
4 days 4.40
5 days 5.60
6 days 6.85
7 days 8.10
8 days 9.35
9 days 10.60
10 days 11.85
For each additional word over 15, 5¢ per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication, or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPGRADE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Acad., GR 6-3995.

AUTO DRIVING — driving problems analyzed and corrected quickly and smoothly. Dual controlled cars furnished. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-3451.

GREYHOUND TICKETS, schedules, information, bus and air charters. Hotel reservations foreign tours. FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC. in the Savoy Monday-Friday 1-4; Thursday night 7-9 476-8533.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired, Restored, Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time.

At GR 8-5833. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.
ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lilian M. Potter 207 Comstock Ave. GR 8-5847.
TO BUY OR SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN: Spare Motors, 1000 Hhawatha Blvd. W., 474-6007, is the place.
LAVALIERS, $2.75. Wedding, Shower, Baby, gifts. R-iera sunglasses, watch and jewelry repairs. Ruth's Gifts, 734 South Crouse.

DANCE CLASSES, free to all students, graduate students, staff and faculty. Registration 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, March 4. Recreation Lounge, Women's Building. Instruction in all Latin American dances. Those desiring to assist as instructors, regardless of experience, call Walt Medeiros, ext. 2283 or 2284.
DANCE LESSONS? Exclusive, inexpensive. All types, all areas. Late Dance School, 1444 E. Genesee, Fayetteville, NE 7-9111.

FOR SALE

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of four colors of paper, three colors of ink, two sizes of sheets. Booklet.

'62 RENAULT DAUPHINE or '62 DKW junior. Both excellent. low mileage. Take your pick. Must sell one. GR 2-2186.

BROTHERHOOD, with fun and service to humanity. Rush Alpha Phi Omega. Sunday, March 8, 8 p.m. Booth lounge, 1953 MERCURY TURNPIKE CRUISER — power steering, brakes, rear win-

RECORD SAVINGS

REGULAR RETAIL	OUR PRICE
3.98	2.65
4.98	3.32
5.98	3.99
6.98	4.65

CORNER STORE MUSIC CENTER

down — transmission new 1963 — excellent tires. Dick Smith, Ext. 2019.

WANTED

ENTERPRISING MALE upperclassman or graduate student who would like free 3-week European trip, August. No guiding, escorting. For information call GI 6-1504 or GI 6-4161.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students
3 ROOMS recently remodeled — paneling, bus, light parking. $85.00 Call 478-4358.

PLEASANT SIX-ROOM upper flat, furnished. Utilities separate. $100 per month. Immediate possession. GR 8-1237.

UNIVERSITY AVE., nicely furnished 2 room apt., fire place, tile bath, parking. Ideal for 4 persons. GR 8-4733.

3 RM. apartment, furnished and heated newly painted. University section, very inexpensive. GI 6-1741 or 446-8527.

THREE ROOM APT. furnished, heated $100 per month, 306 Marshall St. ♦

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models also sales and service, special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

FINE TYPING, electric typewriter. Call 472-1605.

WILL DO TYPING IN MY HOME. Electric machine. 471-7216.

Orange Await NIT Bid

(Continued from Page 1)
when he entered, by 18 when he left.

But as usual, it was Dave Bing the braumeister.

Joe Bossert is the No. 1 shadow for Canisius and has been giving some of the nation's top scorers fits all year.

Quite naturally he was assigned to Bing.

Dave took the defensive action on a full-price tour of the court although Bossert missed half of the trip by running into small gatherings of players as the sophomore All-America escaped to flick in 73 per cent of his shots and his best point total of the year.

Bing has scored 88 points in the last week, 29 each at Cornell and Colgate before last night's 30. His total now stands at 480 this season; his average at 21.8.

The Orangemen scored first and never trailed. The difference twice reached 21, but Canisius did not die easily.

The Griffins were damaged by the early loss of their top scorer, Frank Swiatek. The 6-4 junior, who has averaged 21.6 points a game, reinjured a foot that has been hampering him in the last five outings and with the game just five minutes old, retired to the sidelines.

Syracuse showed much talent in carefully constructing a nine-point cushion that with one spurt, Canisius reduced to five shortly before the half ended, 39-33.

The Griffins opened the second half with a basket and two minutes later had the lead down to 41-38.

But then it was Nicoletti and Bing and Bing and Nicoletti and in the next six minutes Syracuse doubled the Canisius output to pull ahead by 12.

The margin was quickly sliced in half and with 10 minutes to play, the scoreboard read 58-52.

During the next seven minutes Canisius couldn't make a field goal as Syracuse ripped off 13 points in a row to jog home with the victory.

The Orangemen made 31 of 60 shots from the floor for a nice 51.6 per cent. Canisius shot 25 for 64 or 39 per cent.

Syracuse also out-rebounded their hosts, 42-37.

Tim O'Mara was the high man for the Griffins with 18. Tony Gennari had 16, John Brennan had 11.

No one fouled out, although six men had three fouls and three had four when the game ended.

There were 3,640 parishioner who turned out for the meeting, including a loud scattering of Syracuseans high in the third deck of what looked like a miniature Madison Square Garden, and if that isn't a good omen, what is?

Box Score

CANISIUS (64)			SYRACUSE (81)
Swiatek	0	0	Bing	11	8
Gennari	7	2	Duffy	3	0
Brennan	5	1	Penceal	1	0
Bossert	1	0	Richards	9	7
Nichols	2	4	Schoff	1	0
Malinowski	1	0	Bocheim	0	0
Stamp	0	0	Goldsmith	0	2
O'Mara	7	4	Nicoletti	6	2
Hessinger	2	3	Trobridge	0	0
Obending	0	0	Vernick	0	0
Bakalik	0	0
	25	11		31	19
	64			81
Halftime 39-33

Piety Riflemen End Season With 7-3 Mark

By NEIL KERR

The Syracuse University rifle team climaxed a highly successful season recently by defeating St. Lawrence in Archbold Gymnasium. Recording a season high score of 1402 (out of a possible 1500), the team upped its record to 7-3.

Earlier victories were scored over Clarkson, St. Bonaventure, Niagara, Cornell, Buffalo and Siena. Against Canisius, Clarkson and Alfred, the caliber of competition proved to be too tough.

Army Sgt. Harold Lunn's rifle squad now faces a bright future. The team, composed of three juniors and seven sophomores, will be bolstered by the addition of several outstanding freshmen next year.

Captain Bill Gold and Phil Przestrzelski have been outstanding shooters for the squad this year. Other members of the team include Walt Sall, Roger Rutrecht, Tony Jeric, Bob Maraghy, Rick Rider, Don Hadyk, Bob Kinstry and Ron Stout.

With the rising interest in shooting, the rifle range has been completely renovated. In addition new, improved target rifles will be fired in future matches.

Present plans call for a pair of post-season matches against Niagara and Alfred. During the season the loss to Alfred by one point on a disputed target and are looking forward to a return match.

On March 20-21, the squad will compete in the National Rifle Association sectionals at Canisius.

INTRAS

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

Basketball
7:00 - Dell Plain 7 vs. Sadler 7.
Booth 5 vs. Dell Plain 3.
7:15 - Marshall vs. Booth 1.
8:30 - Booth 2 vs. Watson W 4.

Scrappy Guard

Scrappy Hill guard RICH DUFFY chipped in six points to the Orange cause at Canisius in the 81-64 Syracuse victory.

Hill G-Team Swings, Tumbles to Victory

By TOM MULLER

The Syracuse University gymnastics team ended its dual meet season with a 4-3 record, as it handily whipped Cortland State in Archbold Gymnasium Saturday.

The Orange swept all six events and gave their freshman gym squad a workout, as they completely dominated the meet. Sid Oglesby and captain Carl Poplar both captured two events, while John Meury and John Steffney took one apiece.

The meet was a warmup event for next week's Eastern Championships at Penn State, where Oglesby will defend his Eastern long horse vaulting title. Oglesby took that event Saturday with a jump of 9.6.

The Cortland performers showed good team spirit even though they were outclassed by their larger rival. Cortland is not a member of the EIGL, and Syracuse is its toughest opponent.

Poplar, who won the parallel bars and still rings events, had one of his better days on the parallel bars. He may have a shot at high ranking in the East in that event.

The Orange freshmen provided the crowd with some surprisingly good routines and sent Syracuse's hopes for next year soaring. Alan Kevlas performed on several of the events and showed fine form despite a few breaks.

The other freshman competing were John Dise in the floor exercise, and Ray Walters on the still rings. The freshman gym team does not have any schedule, so the experience gained Saturday should go a long way next year.

Orange Crush Red Raiders

The Orange wrestling forces crushed the Red Raiders of Colgate Saturday 27-3 at Hamilton.

Big Jim "Bo" Nance and Terry Haise pinned their men. Ron Pritts of Syracuse won the 123 pound bout as the Red Raiders forfeited. Haise then pinned Gil Bieger in the 130 pound division.

The only loss for Syracuse was in 137 pound competition where Kurt Harrison decisioned Richard Zebuhr of Syracuse. Zebuhr, a sophomore, was competing in his first meet for the Orange.

Jim Murrin won a decision over George Young of Colgate at 147. Dick Slutsky, at 157, then won over Brian Small.

George Riedner topped Sanford Mintz at 167 pounds. Lew Roberts defeated Jeff Neill.

Nance then pinned Jeff Nichols to wrap up the 27-3 victory. It took Jim three minutes to get the pin.

March 7 the Orange host Cortland in the final meet of the season before the Eastern Championships.

The Orangemen will defend their Eastern title at Franklin and Marshall College in Lancaster, Pa. March 13-14.

Syracuse is 4-3-1 this season with losses to Pitt, Lehigh and Penn State.

Tickets for the 60 annual Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association Championships are all sold out.

A six team fight for the team title is expected between Lehigh, Pitt, Penn State, Army, Navy and Syracuse in the two day meet.

Three individual champions will be back to defend their titles. Syracuse's Nance will defend his heavyweight crown. Navy's Gerry Franzen will be out to retain the 177 title. Bob Rader will be back trying for a second 191 championship.

SU Frosh Lose To Canisius Five

By JIM KLURFELD

BUFFALO — Canisius guards John Morrison and Andy Anderson combined to score 62 points and beat the Tangerines 91-81 Saturday night at Buffalo.

The Baby Griffs overcame a last minute Syracuse surge to hand the Little Orange their sixth loss in 18 starts.

Behind 77-69 with five minutes left in the game, the Tangerines rallied to come within three points 80-77. But Morrison's outside shooting and Anderson's ball hawking proved too much for Syracuse, and Canisius scored five straight points to go ahead 85-77.

Syracuse played a strong offensive game with Scott Loll scoring 19 points, Vaughn Harper and Marty Goldstein 18, and Rick Dean 16. Dean fouled out midway through the final period.

The offensive stars of the night however, were Morrison and Anderson who have lead the Canisius frosh to a 12-3 mark this season. Morrison had 32 points and Anderson 30.

The Little Orange played Canisius evenly until five minutes remained in the first half.

But the Griffs then outscored SU 15-7 and too a 46-40 intermission lead.

Numerous bad passes and technical violations hurt the frosh cause. At one point in the second half they lost the ball three times in succession on errant passes.

In the final Tangerine drive Marty Goldstein led the way with 10 points coming on jump shots from the head of the foul circle. But Morrison matched him basket for basket rendering the attempted comeback futile.

INTRAMURAL SKI MEET

	1st.	2nd.
	Run	Run	Tls.
Psi Upsilon
Smith	142.	15.5	29.7
Winkelman	18.3	17.7	36.
Skinner	20.7	17.8	38.5
Rose	24.6	17.4	42.
Murray	Disq.
			146.2

Native Dance

Native dances such as the one pictured above will be featured during International Week, an annual event sponsored by the International Students Organization. The festivities run through Saturday. Left to right are, U. H. RAHEM, MRS. TIER SOERARDI, and BLANCA GALLARDO.

Meiklejohn Says Policy Aim Is To Reduce War Tensions

The biggest problem in international relations, according to Dr. Donald Meiklejohn, is how to control and moderate the efforts of a few nations to gain power and influence over the rest of the world.

Prof. Meiklejohn, director of the freshman citizenship program, made the transition from the topic of equality to that of international conflict and co-operation in his lecture Monday.

In trying to gain acceptance for civil rights in our society, Meiklejohn said, it is possible for one side to prevail without annihilating the other. But international conflicts are more ominous and more difficult to solve peacefully, he said, because there is no common frame of reference, no organized international society.

There is a wide difference of views on the problem, Meiklejohn pointed out. He viewed one side as idealistic and optimistic, and the other as realistic and pessimistic. He characterized idealists as aiming to promote international understanding and rule of law, and said they tend to view men as inherently reasonable. On the other side are those who feel the U.S. should try to be as strong as possible, and view men as fearful, resentful of past injustices, and full of anxiety. Meiklejohn said.

Merely saying that all men are brothers does not make international conflict less real, Meiklejohn asserted. Although we may believe in equality, he said, we are stuck with differences which arise between nations. Foreign policy, he said, must strike a balance between national self-assertion and the brotherhood of man.

Meiklejohn defined two fringe positions: to dismantle the U.S. military establishment; or to forget peace, law and order and bomb our enemies while we are stronger. In the middle, he said, are lines of policy based on equality. Our present policy, he stated, is to maintain peace through the United Nations, where some equalities are given up but more substantial ones are preserved.

Woodrow Wilson, in campaigning for the League of Nations, called America the only idealistic nation in the world, a home for refugees from all nations, according to Meiklejohn. Americans reacted against Wilson's idealism, he said. Instead of making the world safe for democracy, our policy aimed at making the world safe for the American way of life.

In our actual foreign relations, Meiklejohn said, we do not regard our enemies as totally deranged; we are fighting with their institutions, with the behavior of men under tension. Our aim, he concluded, is to penetrate the curtains which separate us from our fellow men, to hold war tensions in check and to give the human element a chance.

LECTURE OFF

Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, under secretary of state for special affairs, will not be able to make his expected appearance at SU today.

Authoritative sources said Monday that due to recent developments, Dr. Bunche will be forced to enter what was reported to be "emergency operations at the U.N." Speculation indicates that this would be the Cyprus crisis.

"We may try to get him in a month or so," a university spokesman said.

Other demands are for legal-
(Continued on page 5)

ISO Presents Cultural Week

International Week 1964 began last evening with the "Festival of Nations," a variety show presented by 10 national groups.

The 700 international students on campus will be presenting the songs and dances of their native countries.

"Last Year at Marienbad", the famous foreign film, will be shown on Wednesday, 7:30 p.m. at Gifford Auditorium.

International students will be the guests of sororities and fraternities for exchange dinners on Thursday.

Student groups from many nations will present a "World's Fair" Friday, 7:30 p.m., at Sims Hall.

The students will present a fashion show and display products of their countries. Refreshments will be served.

An "International Dance" will be held Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in Sims Hall. Vincent Pace and his orchestra will provide music.

International entertainment will also be provided. There will be a charge of 50 cents per person.

Blanca Gallardo is in charge of the Festival of Nations. The World's Fair is directed by Abdul Reguigui, and Linda Simpson is in charge of the international dance.

Frank Piskor Will Speak

The annual Panhellenic Luncheon will be held Saturday, March 7, at 12:30.

Over 1000 sorority women are expected to the affair held in the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Syracuse.

The speaker at the luncheon will be Frank P. Piskor, vice-president for academic affairs and the dean of faculties.

Awards being given at the luncheon will include Highest Scholarship Average, Greatest Scholarship Improvement and a special theme award to the house whose theme was selected for the luncheon.

IFC MEETING

The first regular meeting of the Inter-Fraternity Council under new president George Van Derven has been rescheduled from Wednesday to today at 7:30 p.m., Phi Alpha (formerly SAE).

Smoke Billows Through Shaw After Blaze

A fire in the basement trash room yesterday in Shaw Dormitory roused mid-morning sleepers but caused no damage.

The fire alarm went off at about 10 a.m. in the dormitory, forcing residents to abandon their rooms. Many of them were in nightwear.

The fire was apparently caused by a lighted cigarette butt thrown down the trash chute, according to a university fire marshal Ted Otis.

The fire in the basement trash room lasted about 10 minutes, he said. However, smoke spread throughout the dormitory.

An engine, truck and rescue squad were sent to Shaw. The sprinkler system automatically put out the fire in the trash room.

LENTEN SERVICES

7:00 a.m. Holy Communion

(Interdenominational)

North Wing-Hendricks Chapel

12:05 p.m. Roman Catholic

Mass-St. Thomas More Chapel

(Daily)

4:05 p.m. Roman Catholic

Mass-Hendricks Chapel

(Daily)

5:05 p.m. Lutheran Holy Communion-North Wing-Hendricks Chapel

5:05 p.m. Episcopal Holy Communion-Chapel House

Rustin Outlines Rights Protests

By JESSE SMITH

When Bayard Rustin finally came to Syracuse, he declared that "this is going to be a spring such as you have never seen." The nationally prominent civil rights leader discussed plans for a march on Albany, demonstrations at the national political conventions, and a protest in Syracuse.

Rustin spoke at the upstate congress of Racial Equality regional conference of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), which began with a series of talks Friday evening in Lincoln Auditorium.

Rustin, whose speech was scheduled for 8 p.m., did not arrive until 11 o'clock because of delays in air travel. He had been scheduled to give a lecture Feb. 4 on the Hill, but did not show up.

Rustin is director of the march on Albany, scheduled March 10. CORE and other groups will press for civil rights and social legislation during this session of the state legislature.

Hill graduate student. Ron Corwin, recently named field support is needed is the necessary help lead the march.

The demonstration is similar to the national march on Washington last year, of which Rustin was deputy director. Rustin is now coordinator for the New York City school boycott movement.

Rustin declared that, while the labor movement sleeps, CORE is taking action on behalf of the poor. CORE is demanding a $1.50 hourly minimum wage for all workers in the state.

Other demands are for legal-
(Continued on page 5)

Yenawine Wants Increased Fund

Wayne S. Yenawine, dean of the SU Library, said recently that he hopes the administration will increase the student wage fund so that university libraries may be kept open for longer periods of time.

The student wage fund is used to pay students who work in the library as a form of financial aid.

Yenawine said that several branch libraries are already being kept open during the dinner hour.

He said that he would like to extend weekend hours in all branch libraries, and then extend weekday hours in the branch libraries to conform with the 11 p.m. closing time of the Main Library.

Bruce Rosenstein, chairman of the Joint Student Legislature library committee, said that he planned to issue a survey to obtain student opinion in an attempt to support Yenawine's appeal for additional funds.

Rosenstein said that student support is needed is the necessary funds are to be obtained for the lengthening of library hours.

The survey will be distributed at today's legislature meeting. Rosenstein said he will explain the survey at the meeting. He added that he hoped for a prompt reply so that library hours may be extended as quickly as possible.

Rosenstein said that student support is needed if the necessary mutual cooperation between the student body and the library staff that we hope to point out to the administration that this kind of change is warranted."

Six Days Of Understanding

A week with six days. A week filled with understanding and a bit of giving. A week when Syracusans can give of themselves and truly live up to the American traditions of brotherhood and international peace.

This week is International Week.

It began last night with a festival of entertainment. Varied nations throughout the world, represented at SU, presented the campus with a potpourri of dances, songs and other skits from their native land. They gave of the culture they knew so well, for Americans could understand a little better.

This is only the beginning of "International Week" on the Hill. Speeches and films and exhibitions will also highlight the week.

And what better time do we as Americans have to exhibit the qualities we are proud of.

The international students of this campus have come to learn about the United States and to bring a bit of their life to Syracuse.

They bring the pride and tradition of Europe, South America, Asia, the Near East, the Far East, Africa and almost any areas in the world before us.

We need only reach out to grasp a better understanding and clearer picture of the outside world. We need not be shut inside our own little world. Syracuse's international students bring the entire globe before us.

During this week, especially set aside to advance the theme of internationalism at SU, all students should reach out for the extra bit of education brought by these foreign students.

And the American students on the Hill should extend the extra bit of understanding and interest to our visiting students.

International Week could prove to be the uniting factor of the entire student body on an intellectual level if these small gestures were adhered to with fervor.

What are the key words for this week at SU — understanding, interests and giving. It takes so little to give a little of oneself and means so much to the party receiving.

The Miracle Of Basketball

In the event you haven't noticed, a turnabout short of a minor miracle has happened on this campus.

Two years ago with Syracuse University polishing off its second miserable basketball year in a row, the court sport had reached its lowest ebb on the Hill.

And then a man named Fred Lewis came to the Hill with a kid named Dave Bing and a bunch of hustling, basketball-minded boys. And suddenly this campus has become intoxicated with the goings on in Manley Field House.

We've been given a whiff of an NIT bid, but tournament or no, Syracuse has had one of its most exciting seasons in a long, long time.

If you haven't seen them in action yet, Wednesday night is your last chance here. We would advise it. They are well worth it.

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2

March 3, 1964

Editor-In-Chief

Allan T. Kort

Business Manager

Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor: Clayton I. Richards
News Editor: Andrew Forte
Editorial Director: Adler DeLine
Sports Editor: Bernard M. Clifton
Arts Editor: Roy T. Tiet
Production Editor: Steve Schummer

BUSINESS STAFF

National Ad. Mgr.: Lynn Mandel
Classified Ad. Mgr.: Christine Sedzick
Promotion Mgr.: Sam Shapiro
Asst. Bus. Mgr.: Jon Weisberg
Layout Managers: Martha Jankowski, Lillian Lahr

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 230 Brookline Drive, Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter at U.S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N.Y.

Second Security Force

By Carol Schlageter

The Association of Women Students has officially launched its annual round of saccharine warfare. Candidates have been named for next year's AWS offices.

But it will probably be the traditional AWS war, featuring no ammunition heavier than teacups and crumpets.

AWS today has taken a few faltering steps from the traditional ivory tower—but only a few. The organization needs a good spring tune-up.

First, AWS needs a campaign based on issues—not a popularity contest. Second, the women on campus need AWS officers who are willing to work for the planks in their platform—if necessary, by standing up before the electorate and naming administrators who have blocked those platform planks. And third, AWS needs a new purpose—a purpose besides playing hangman for errant coeds.

A campaign based on issues. Last year at AWS election time, then-president Marilyn Burke informed a meeting of living center presidents that there was no need for campaigns, platforms and planks because all candidates are equally qualified.

How nice. What, then, is the annual election? A mere formality? A popularity contest?

Needed: Officers with ideas and guts to carry those ideas into action.

On at least one past issue, dorm council, AWS met a formidable roadblock—Dean of Women Marjorie C. Smith. Officers quietly discussed the problem, but never informed campus women why they made no progress.

Last year this writer did a column asking what had become of AWS plans for more living centers on dorm council. Shortly thereafter an AWS senior officer drew me into a quiet room to discuss the column.

She said, "Frankly, the tie-up isn't with us." I asked if the "tie-up" was Dean Smith's desk, and she said "Yes."

Perhaps Dean Smith had legitimate reasons for vetoing individual petitions for dorm council. She has since changed her mind, for several living centers have gone on dorm council this year. One AWS officer, in fact, is already preparing a constitution appropriate to the new Crouse site women's dorm.

But dorm council is merely an illustration of one atrophied project which remained, for two years, in the AWS handbook. And for two years no officer would venture a public word to tell campus women why.

Meanwhile, wanted: A new purpose for AWS.

Time was when all Syracuse was divided into two student governments... men's and women's. When the two merged, AWS was a small remora left in the Women's Building. Its primary function was to play hangman for errant coeds. Three years later it is still doing so.

Today AWS needs a new goal—a purpose other than punishment.

I propose two initial projects for the group... projects to busy the hands of junior officers with such impressive titles as Director of Academics and Cultural Director. Neither project would involve punishment.

The Director of Academics should be placed in charge of rewards... academic ones.

Syracuse University in fact, has few rewards for its good students. Sophomore car privileges and library stacks use are exceptions. But the latter is automatically available only to students with 2.5 overall averages, and perhaps would better benefit those with lower accums. Students can in some cases obtain stacks permission from their advisors.)

Her first project could be to establish an honor dorm system for students with above-average accums and good citizenship records.

This could reward Dean of Women-approved seniors, and would feature 1) no curfews, 2) keys to the living center and 3) withdrawal of the privilege upon misuse.

There would be no need to shuffle living centers for an exclusively "honor" dorm. Girls accepted for the program could certainly be trusted in their chosen living centers.

AWS has toyed with a similar proposal this year, and suggested the matter or discussion at recent house meetings. It seems a rather late start on the part of this year's officers.

Incidentally, my living center voted down the proposal. I asked one girl why. Her answer: "Everything students try to do here gets blocked by the administration. And it just seems like a waste of time to have them (AWS) even try for an honordorm."

Perhaps her vote would have been different if AWS officers had the backbone to stand up and call the fouls.

Second, I propose an ex-Cultural Coordinator. Traditionally, this officer has prepared lists of speakers willing to appear for informal discussions at coeds living centers.

This is a commendable function, but many independent living centers find it easy to overlook the two cultural meetings which are theoretically required each semester. In addition to encouraging such programs, I feel that the Cultural Coordinator should add some events of her own initiative.

Perhaps she could organize, for each class, an informal meeting with some faculty member. Professor Pinwhistle, for example, could meet with junior class women to discuss some area of his expertise. Granted, the entire female portion of the class would be unlikely to attend, but AWS would be doing something positive for whatever number did attend.

AWS work so far this year has been commendable... 2 a.m. curfews on major weekends, followed by a poll to see if the new curfews pleased coeds; extension of Friday night curfew to 1 a.m.; another poll to see if coeds favor foreign-language living centers, honordorms and the like.

Baby steps have been taken. Now giant steps are in order. As more living centers go on dorm council, centralized AWS paper work can be eliminated. The question: What will AWS do with its time? Syracuse University already has an adequate security force and AWS' role as campus cop for coeds is obsolete.

LETTERS

Morality

To the Editor:

I should like to add to the discussion of morality; which, has been appearing in this column as of late.

Yesterday while in an anthropology lecture I overheard two people talking in reference to what they were going to do as far as their voluntary term paper was concerned. They made mention of the fact that they were going to copy one that was in the sorority files and mix-up the line of thinking. This I felt was going a wee bit too far on the subject which we are all greatly concerned.

Next, while I was seated in the recitation section for the same course a good friend of mine asked what I was going to write on for my term paper. I told him that I wouldn't have time to write one. He then replied that he didn't have time to write one either, so he was going to use "Frank's" because "Frank" got an A in the same course last year.

My jaw dropped about sixty-nine feet. I am not a righteous person, in fact, I was brought up in a rather tough neighborhood, but I do have a few scruples left.

What is the moral structure of this school coming to, Athletes can break all kinds of rules dealing with the social functions of this community. Regular students can plagiarize at will. What is next?

My sentiments are as follows: the student who will knowingly plagiarize is a menace to this academic society and should be sought out and expelled, never to return again. This type of student hurt the moral standing of his school, Japs his fellow students, and most of all degrades himself to nothing more than the lowest of all creatures.

Bruce Larkose
Class of '66

DID YOU KNOW - ?

THAT BLAST & HEAT FROM A NUCLEAR EXPLOSION COVER A SMALL AREA BUT THE AREA COVERED BY SERIOUS FALLOUT EXTENDS MANY HUNDREDS OF MILES DOWNWIND.

THAT TENS OF MILLIONS OF PERSONS WOULD SURVIVE A NUCLEAR WAR EVEN WITHOUT THE PROTECTION OF SHELTERS

...BUT A NATIONWIDE SYSTEM OF SHELTERS WOULD SAVE ANOTHER 20-65 MILLION PERSONS

MORE FACTS? CONTACT YOUR LOCAL CIVIL DEFENSE

That's Entertainment!

The Poster

by Rea Turet

Repent!

"Fellow students! Drink is the great obstacle to the diffusion of education! The ruin of fortunes! Sign the pledge," urges John McNeil, as a temperance leader in "Ten Nights in a Bar Room."

WAER to Broadcast Cazenovia Folk Festival

WAER will bring its audience an all collegiate concert on March 6. The concert, to be taped live at Cazenovia College, will be broadcast on March 7 at 8:33 fm.

This all collegiate concert will be represented by The Salt City Singers from Syracuse University, the Zumbies from Amherst College, "Greenbriars" from Cortland State College, St. Lawrence Saints from St. Lawrence University, Sinners at St. Lawrence also from St. Lawrence, James Croce from Villanova, Three Pennies and a Yen from the University of Pennsylvania.

The Salt City Singers are three sophomores led by Mort Jacobi. They have appeared in Syracuse and in night clubs in New York City. Mort Jacobi starred in last year's folk festival.

This four hour concert is another "Folkways" special, the next of which will be the SU Folk Festival, to be broadcast by WAER.

Executive production and engineering will be done by Bob Feldman, with Bob Jones the producer-hoset of the Cazenovia Concert.

"We were walking along Genesee Street to go to the Regent Theatre to see one of their Tuesday night films.

There was a poster hanging up in the theatre in the style that reminded us of the days when "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was considered the great American melodrama. Syracuse University was going to do its own version.

We thought that it was cute. It read: "Demon Rum, the hideous monster of drink, will threaten the University Regent Theatre stage in a spectacle of shame and destruction." (What a threat we thought!)

"Witness his dramatic activities and thrilling persecution in "Ten Nights in a Bar-room," a temperance classic presented by the Syracuse University Drama Department March 12. (Who's temperate at Syracuse University?)

"Be prepared for the thrill of your life! (What thrill?)

"See a father killed by his own son. (Happens every day.)

"Hear the great hit song: "Father, Dear Father." (Do the Beatles sing it?)

"Laugh to the fine wit and subtle action of Simon Swichel. (Who he?)

"Cry at Little Mary's tragic death. (Sob, Sob!)

"Shudder at the horror of Demon Rum.

"Rejoice in Virtue rewarded. (Isn't it always?)

"Help destroy Demon Rum: sign the PLEDGE! Promise to be at all times sparing and cautious in the use of spiritous liquor. (Especially at fraternity)

"Don't miss the stirring performances of Edward Roman as Simon Slade, whose wretched bar served as playground for Demon Rum; Arthur Kucinski as the son Frank Slade who turned into a raucous drunkard; Richard Folmer as Sample Swichel, the remorseful Yankee tippler; and Marion Present as Mehitable Cartright, a virtuous and honorable Yankee girl.

"See them all March 12, 13, 14, 19, 20, and 21 at 8:30 p.m. Get your tickets at the University Regent Theatre for $1.50 and $2.00."

Beat Niagara

ARE YOU SAVED?

TONIGHT

The Novel on Film

"THE IDIOT"

(France)

Tickets, 75c

Series $1.50

Tuesday Evenings
Two Showings
7 and 9 p.m.

University
REGENT
Theatre

820 EAST GENESEE

Daily Crossword Puzzle

- | | | |
|--|-----------------------------|----------------------------|
| ACROSS | 46 Type of train. | 11 Russian city. |
| 1 Den mother's charges. | 48 Mississippi Senator. | 12 High. |
| 5 Shop. | 50 Two-footed animals. | 13 Inner: Prefix. |
| 10 Aye or nay. | 51 Kind of cap. | 21 Utah mountain range. |
| 14 With: Fr. | 52 Slice. | 23 Experiences. |
| 15 Euripides play. | 54 Broadway offering. | 25 Sea nymphs. |
| 16 Neo-Persia. | 58 Infinite. | 27 Type of contract. |
| 17 Laban's daughter. | 62 Cooler. | 28 Supernumerary. |
| 18 Reveals. | 63 That is to say: 2 words. | 29 Assemblies. |
| 19 Irishman, for one. | 65 Top-notch. | 31 Light red. |
| 20 Irma of the movies: 2 words. | 66 Unerring. | 32 Song's companion. |
| 22 The Moor of Venice. | 67 Girl in a song. | 33 Tale of Troy. |
| 24 Compare. | 68 Chinese society. | 34 Picks out. |
| 26 Synonym for "hell." | 69 Vous — (you are). | 36 "Green Pastures" scene. |
| 27 Site of French auto race. | 70 Beverage. | 40 Striking in effect. |
| 30 Incidental. | 71 Biblical patriarch. | 41 Active. |
| 35 Put into action. | DOWN | 44 Dresses. |
| 36 Colleen's name. | 1 Curtain — | 47 Run. |
| 37 River into the Yellow Sea. | 2 Layer of the eye. | 49 Commercial resin. |
| 38 Nibbled. | 3 Globular gem. | 50 Ball player. |
| 39 Appendices. | 4 Student. | 53 German poet. |
| 42 — desperandum. | 5 Artists' frocks. | 54 — on scene. |
| 43 Senorita: Abbr. | 6 Indian home. | 55 Shape of a pocket. |
| 45 Author of "Listening With the Third Ear." | 7 Shelley's forte. | 56 Withered. |
| | 8 Nevada city. | 57 Lemur. |
| | 9 Eurus: 2 words. | 59 High time. |
| | 10 King's sovereign. | 60 Part of A. D. |
| | | 61 Centipede's forte. |
| | | 64 Become a benedict. |

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

Edward Hommel and sons
DISPENSING OPTICIANS

604 STATE TOWER BUILDING SYRACUSE 2, NEW YORK
EYE GLASSES — CONTACT LENSES — REPAIRS

stay at a

SYRACUSE TRAVELODGE

MOTEL

SLEEPY SAYS:
MAKE RESERVATIONS
NOW FOR
WINTER WEEKEND

- Free phone or T.W.X. reservations to any Travelodge across the U.S.A.
- 130 spacious, air conditioned, soundproof rooms with free TV and AM-FM Radios.
- Simmons "Beautyrest" Mattresses.
- Easy access from all directions.

Central TRAVELODGE Uptown TRAVELODGE

454 JAMES STREET 940 JAMES STREET
(1 block from State St.) (Next to Corinthian Club)
472-6381 For Reservations Call 472-6281

WAER
88.3 mc

Highlights

8:35 p.m.—Choral Concert, Mozart: Mass in C Major, Gilles: Requiem, Give Unto the Meek, Lord, Hear Our Prayer.
11 p.m.—Mantovani, composer and arranger.

TUESDAYS
4:00 Sign On, News.
4:15 WAER Highlights
4:30 Experiment in Music
4:45 Germany Today
5:15 Communique
5:30 Germany Today
5:45 Dan Stone and the News
6:15 Smoke?/Position Paper

Riviera CINEMA
3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. - GR8-4021
2 ★★★★★ FILMS
THE FOUR DAYS OF NAPLES
AND "UNFORGETTABLE" in hand the trap
ELSA DANIEL

Campbell Speaks

Small Town's Day Past

By SANDI EHRLICH
Junior Editor

The man behind Syracuse University's Metropolitan Studies Program believes the isolated small town has no future.

Dr. Alan K. Campbell, director of the program, cites the fact that over 65% of the American population lives in 219 metropolitan areas of the country.

"There is now a gradual awakening to the fact that we have become an urban society," Campbell says.

The Metropolitan Studies Program is the recent recipient of a $276,500 Carnegie Foundation grant to study how the nation's largest cities reach decisions on educational problems.

The nation's largest cities have the most complex and difficult fiscal problems in quality public education, according to a report Campbell prepared.

Who makes decisions in the political process of education, what influences induce the decision, and what results from the decision will be the main topics of study in five of the country's largest cities beginning next fall. The study, under Campbell's direction, will take about two years.

Five major areas of decision-making will be involved: fiscal policy, racial balance, curriculum, teacher-administrator relations, and educational output.

Three Maxwell professors

DR. ALAN K. CAMPBELL

have agreed to work on the project with Campbell.

They are Seymour Sacks, Frank Munger, and Jesse Burkhead.

About 20 graduate students will also work on the research, and will live in the city being studied.

At least seven books will result from the research, Campbell says.

Campbell started the Metropolitan Studies Program in the fall of 1961. Now the program offers the doctor of social science degree through the departments of political science, sociology, economics, or geography. There is also a master of regional planning degree and an urban option in the master of public administration program. There are 42 graduate students in the program currently.

He emphasizes that metropolitan studies is not a research center, but only an administrative unit for supervising the research of others. It has no separate staff, and the research is done by the Maxwell faculty.

Campbell has been involved with metropolitan and urbanization studies for about eight years. He has been a research consultant to the New York State Commission on the Governmental Operations of New York City (1959) and Deputy Comptroller for Administration for New York State (1960-61).

Also a professor of political science on the Hill, Campbell is active in state and national politics. He was chairman of the Democratic platform committee of New York State in 1962, and he nominated Howard Samuels for Governor last year.

He is presently co-chairman of the committee platform and resolutions, which will make recommendations to the National Democratic Platform Committee for the 1964 Presidential election.

"A vice-president will be picked with much greater care than in the past," Campbell says, "because two presidents have died in office in the past few decades."

He comments that "choosing a vice-president is simply a matter of Johnson's choosing a running mate." He predicted that Johnson will pick "a northern or western liberal who clearly has presidential stature," mentioning Hubert Humphrey, Robert Wagner, Sargent Shriver, Eugene McCarthy, and Robert Kennedy as possible candidates.

Campbell is presently working on a book on state and local government, with a "strong urban orientation."

He describes himself as "an urban specialist who lives in exurbia," which is similar to suburbia, but farther out, Campbell explains. His home is in Cazenovia, which he says "is a good example of a village which survived only because of its dependency for an economic base on Syracuse."

SKI Just Learning or Want to Improve?

YOU NEED SNOW RIDGE

New York State's Largest and Finest Ski School

6
•
4 Lifts
Tows

25 Certified Instructors • Classes Daily for All Abilities
Special Learn-to-Ski Weeks Available
Information: Snow Ridge Box 298-S Boonville, N. Y.

Our Expert Stylists
Create Hair Styles
That Frame Your Face
With Flattering
Loveliness!

Style Haircut)
Shampoo and) $5.50
Style Set)

fred
The Hairstylist

GR 4-2487
For Appointment

HOTEL SYRACUSE
522 S. WARREN ST.

IN NEW YORK
18 E. 49th ST.

Medical Center Appoints Aide

Dr. Carlyle Jacobsen, president of the State University Upstate Medical Center, and dean of the College of Medicine, announces the appointment of David N. Watts as director of public relations for the Upstate Medical Center. Watts will replace Mrs. Betty K. Sherman who is retiring to assist her husband in the insurance business.

Watts graduated from Union College in 1959, with a B.A. degree in English. Since graduation, he has been in technical writing and editing with the technical publications unit of Syracuse General Electric's Heavy Military Electronics Department. He joined the General Electric Company first as editor for technical manuals and field change bulletins, and in October, 1960 became chief editor of Navy projects, supervising the preparation of publications material for all Navy projects. From June, 1961 to May, 1962 he worked in the capacity of project clerk for technical publications, dealing with the contract aspects and a requirements in the publications field. And, most recently, he has been working as a technical writer.

Honors Convo Hears Hamming

A noted mathematician and specialist in the computer field will be the main speaker at the second annual Syracuse University College of Engineering honors dinner.

Dr. Richard W. Hamming, head of Bell Telephone Laboratories' numerical methods research department, will speak on "Contributing to Modern Science and Engineering" at 6 p.m. Thursday (March 5) in Graham Hall.

One of the founders and a former president of the Assn. for Computing Machinery, Hamming presently is vice president of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science. He also is author of "Numerical Methods of Scientists and Engineers" published two years ago.

Several top students will be honored at the banquet. More than 150 persons are expected to attend.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

TACT SPEAR SITAB
UBEP TRACE COCIA
BEOCROSES AURTA
ALEURONEPARCEL
PONE TORCH
OZING GCONCEITS
AILAND KURDSENET
KING BORTS AGRA
AVE LURIES SPURN
PESTATED NLPED
VESTIA DOGE
GIGNTO TASMANIA
AILES NEWZEALAND
ISLE MEER EZRIA
TEECOTEEDSDIE

SU Women Hold Party

The fifth annual co-sponsored evening party of the Syracuse University Women's Club and Faculty Club will be held Saturday at the University Club.

This year's theme will center around the S.S. Syracuse. Some 250 members will be boarding at 6:30 p.m. for refreshments. A buffet will be served from 7-9 p.m.

MUSIC CO.
ATTENTION FOLK FANS

IN STOCK NOW
Martin D28 Guitar
Martin 00-18C Guitar
Martin 0-16NY Guitar
Goya TS5 12 String Guitar
Fine Old Vega Mandolin
(in excellent condition, w/case)

OTHER FOLK and CLASSIC GUITARS

From $33.50 up

LARGE SELECTION OF ACCESSORIES

STRINGS - BOOKS - RECORDS

119 W. JEFFERSON STREET

HA 2-8423

HA 2-1952

College Capers

at

Mt Snow

Syracuse Vacation

Mar. 19 - Apr. 7

Special Rates

Mt. Snow Ski Weeks

The days are warm, the snow is crystalline and you are skiing, swimming, dancing, sunning and funning at the madest ski vacation ever! Mt. Snow five day College Ski. Special at your choice of 99 inns including Mt. Snow's own exciting Snow Lake Lodge. Week day budget rates include lodging, meals, entertainment, dancing, parties, heated outdoor sauna pool, ice skating, and much more, plus daily use of 10 double chair lifts and TEN LESSONS IN HARVEY CLIFFORD SKI SCHOOL. All yours to enjoy at the world's largest ski resort — MT. SNOW, Vt. Best Snow in the North East! New double chair! Mt. Snow's North Face for experts. Spring skiing at its greatest. Mt. Snow, Box 11, Mt. Snow Vt. Call 802-464-3333

GRADUATE ENGINEERS

For Career Opportunities with

CITY OF PHILADELPHIA

WATER DEPARTMENT

On-Campus Interviews

will be conducted on

MARCH 13

Interested students may register for interviews and obtain additional information at the College Placement Office. If Interview Is Inconvenient Please Send Resume to:

COLLEGE RELATIONS OFFICER

CITY OF PHILADELPHIA

792 CITY HALL

Philadelphia, Pa. 19107

The Most Exciting City

Of the 20th Century!

SKI-FARING

with JON WEISBERG

Although you may not be immediately aware of it, there are many differences between skiing in the Winter and skiing in the Spring. In the next few weeks, I will try to toss out some pointers that I have come across in the past few years, concerning Spring skiing and the many little tricks that can make this time of year all the more enjoyable.

You will find (especially if you are a novice) that the warm temperatures of Spring skiing can cause the snow to become very wet. This added dampness can cause great discomfort if your gloves become damp. To prevent this hazard, you should buy a cake of ski wax and follow these instructions. Making sure that your gloves (or mittens) are completely dry, slip on the glove and hold that hand over an electric hotplate (which you aren't supposed to possess) or a stove, until the glove warms up. While the glove is hot, rub the paraffin all over the glove. Don't be afraid to put on enough to have an extremely waxy surface. Work the wax in thoroughly, rewarming from time to time. Having completed this waterproofing process, you will be prepared to ski in the wettest snow conditions. Of course, a mistake can be made while involved in treating your gloves in this fashion. I know of one novice who kept her hand over the stove a bit too long. Poor lass — she had to get a longer set of ski poles!

With the sudden change of weather that we have been experiencing, it is often difficult to avoid an encounter with ice. Perhaps the best way to maintain control on this ice is to make sure that your edges are always quite sharp. Although practically every skier has his own way of sharpening his edges, I believe that the following method incorporates most of the advantages of the other systems. Placing the ski in a vice with the edge up and the running surface of the ski away from you, file diagonally across the steel edge. Make sure that you cut only on the forward stroke. Use the top edge of the ski as a guide to keep the file level. By drawing your finger across the edge (not down the length), you will be able to tell if the edge is sharp. It is sharp if the edge tends to scrape your finger. To be sure of an expert job, take your skis into one of the specialty ski shops in the area.

This past weekend, I had the pleasure of skiing on excellent snow conditions at MOUNT SNOW, in West Dover, Vermont. Along with the 43 trails that serve everyone from beginner to expert, Mount Snow has 10 double chair lifts. DICK McLERNON, publicity director of this great resort stressed that Mount Snow is catering to college students over Spring recess. If you are not the skiing type, perhaps a 106 degree heated outdoor swimming pool or an indoor ice-skating rink will suit your taste. If you are interested in learning the sport, HARVEY CLIFFORD'S Ski School of 55 Certified Instructors is ready to serve you. In the past year alone, they have taught as many as 55,000 lessons to all classifications of skiers from beginner to expert.

SKI HEIL!

Rustin in Syracuse, Leads Demonstration

(continued from page 1)

ization of rent strikes, integrated low-cost public housing which workers can afford, a ban on discrimination in apprenticeship training, bargaining rights for hospital workers, elimination of the literacy test for voting, and the establishment of a legislative committee to deal with problems of automation.

The march will also demand $200 million in state aid to provide for quality, integrated education, and tuition-free education in all state-supported colleges.

The Birmingham demonstrations opened a new phase in the civil rights movement, said Rustin, because demands were made for broad school integration, employment, and basic changes in housing.

The fundamental nature of American society must be changed, he declared, but those interested in civil rights can not do the job alone. Only stumbling progress will be made, he said, until everyone joins to make society decent for all Americans.

If the one-party system is to be broken up in the South, Rustin asserted, it will be a result of the efforts of civil rights groups.

Rustin also said that CORE will carry its demonstrations inside the national political conventions this year.

Rustin stayed in Syracuse until Saturday so that he could lead a protest against alleged police brutality in the Charles Presley case. The orderly demonstration included several Hill students and faculty members.

In his speech Friday night, Rustin said that police brutality is moving north along with the Negro revolution.

Rustin told the delegates to the CORE conference that non-violence is the only effective weapon of the civil rights movement in this society.

CIVIL RIGHTS
At FOOTPRINTS

He said the source of the moral power of civil disobedience is in demonstrators' cooperating with police and pleading guilty to violations of unjust laws.

Rustin predicted a spring of increased militancy in the rights movement in 1964.

SKI GREEK PEAK

- NEW 4800 ft. Double Chair
- 2 T-Bars (3100' & 2000')
- 100 Acres of Open Slopes
- 11 Trails—Novice to Expert
- 750 ft. Vertical Drop

CORTLAND, NEW YORK
(Between Syracuse and Binghamton)
Phone 607-753-0016

Ski Song Mountain

OPEN DAILY 10:30 - 4:30

NIGHTS 7-10:30; WEEKENDS

9:30-4:30, NIGHTS 7 - 10:30

CLOSED MONDAY

coffee will be served on the slopes courtesy of Flak Co.

Rent boots, skis and poles for $3

$2 lift fee for evening

Enjoy live entertainment every night in the Song Mountain Lounge.

Every Wednesday, Syracuse Eastern buses leave Mount Olympus between 6 and 6:10 p. m. and the corners of Waverly and Comstock between 6:10 and 6:15 p. m. Round trip per student is $1. Arrive at Song Mt. at 7 p. m. Leave at 10:30 to arrive at your dormitory in time for curfew.

SONG MT.

at Tully, N. Y. . . . from Syracuse, take Route 81 south to Tully traffic light
. . follow the signs right to Song Mountain.

SKI LABRADOR

APULIA NEW YORK

2 T-Bars
2 Open slopes
6 Trails

A Family Ski Area
30 minutes from Syracuse

CERTIFIED INSTRUCTION

NO WAITING LINES

Nite Skiing - Wed. - Thur. - Fri. - Sat.

SUCE Praises 1964 Footprints

The full statement reads, "The Syracuse University Committee on Equality welcomes the return of academic freedom on campus with the scheduling of three controversial speakers for the Footprints lecture series."

"We commend the Footprints committee for deciding to devote this year's series to civil rights, the most important socio-political issue today facing the United States."

"We are looking forward to the opportunity to hear and question these three speakers. This, to us, affords the chance to put into practice the highest ideals of equality—the right to hear the widely differing viewpoints of Gov. Barnett of Mississippi, John Lewis of the Student Non Violent Coordinating Committee, and a representative of the United States Department of Justice."

"SUCE hopes there will be no action taken by any member of either the academic or the Syracuse communities in an attempt to obstruct the rights of any of these three speakers to lecture on the Syracuse University campus."

SUCE will meet at 6:45 today in 207 Hall of Languages to discuss participation in the March 10 "March of Albany."

The Syracuse University Committee on Equality Monday issued a statement praising the Footprints Committee for its choice of speakers this year.

Lib. School In Summer

Two seminars and a symposium will be offered this summer by the Syracuse University School of Library Science, according to Dr. Wayne S. Yemawine, dean of the school.

In addition to this regular sessions courses, beginning June 30, a symposium is scheduled for July 23 and two seminars will take place August 10-21.

Eleven guest consultants will join the SU staff during the summer sessions. Dr. Paul A. Witty, Northwestern University; Mrs. Ruth Hill Viguers, and Mrs. Sara Strygley, associate professor, Florida State University Library School, will participate in a symposium dealing with the reading of children.

Director of a seminar in literature for children will be Spencer G. Shaw, children's consultant, Nassau Library system, Hempstead.

Stewardesses needed by United Airlines

Classes available June through the fall

Fly the jets from coast to coast, border to border, with the country's number one airline.

Minimum Qualifications:

AGE: 19½ thru 26 years of age.
HEIGHT: 5'2" to 5'8".
WEIGHT: 105 to 140 lbs. (in proportion to height)
MARITAL STATUS: Single (may be divorced or widowed without dependents)
EDUCATION: High school graduate with two years of college or public contact experience desired.

Please contact Women's Placement Office for date and time of Stewardess interviews.
Ext. 2720

UNITED

Hill Research Budget Raised

A contract for an additional budget of $72,879 has been signed by the Syracuse University Rome Air Development Center at the Griffiss Air Force Base, Rome, N.Y.

The addition increases the total value of the 32-month grant to over a quarter of a million dollars.

Under the direction of Dr. David K. Cheng of the college of Electrical Engineering, the contract provides for extension of a research program on ground antenna characteristics.

A graduate of Harvard University, Cheng joined the staff at SU in 1948. He has dirgrams on microwave antennas since 1949 and has won the annual research award of the Syracuse chapter of Sigma Xi, honorary society for scientific research.

FOOTPRINTS

March 11-12-13

CORE Council Names Wiley

The election of George Wiley as Syracuse CORE to the National Action Council of CORE was announced Thursday.

The announcement was made at a special luncheon meeting of the executive committee of Syracuse CORE.

DR. GEORGE WILEY

Wiley is presently Community Relations Director of Syracuse CORE.

He is assistant professor of chemistry at Syracuse University.

The 21 members of the National Action Council are responsible for national CORE policy-making.

The council is the governing body of CORE between national conventions.

Allan Hoffman made the announcement for James Farmer, national director of CORE.

Hoffman was the first national CORE staff member to arrive in Syracuse for the Upstate CORE convention.

The weekend convention opened with an open forum at Lincoln Auditorium featuring Bayard Rustin, deputy director of the "March on Washington."

Hofman also announced the appointment of Ron Corwin of Syracuse CORE to the post of Field Secretary to upstate New York.

The Syracuse chapter asked for consultation with the national staff members on two specific local problems.

Award Given To Forester

The Paper Industry Management Association has presented the Thirteenth annual National PIMA Student Award to Michael J. Kocurek of Plainview, a pulp and paper technology senior at the State University College of Forestry at Syracuse University.

Olin W. Callighan, of Kalamazoo, Mich., chairman of the board, Paper Industry Management Association, gave out the $20 scholarship at a presentation ceremony held at the college. Prof. Frederic W. O'Neil, chairman of the department of pulp and paper technology, participated in the ceremony.

At college, Kocurek is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity, Papyrus Club, senior men's honorary and Newman Club.

The PIMA Award, presented annually to an outstanding senior specializing in pulp and paper technology, is awarded on the basis of scholarship, extracurricular activity, personality and need. It was established in 1951, and originally was called the Fred C. Boyce Student Award, in honor of the first active resident of The American Pulp and Paper Mill Superintendents' Association.

Syracuse University Folk Festival Tickets Now

$2.00

CORNER STORE

BASKET & RACQUET

107 Marshall

Stretch Pants 20% off Parkas 50% off
Sweaters 20% off

SHIRT SPECIAL . . . 2 for $7.00

TIES . . . 2 for $3.00

DeWITT SPORTS, Ltd.

F. Ghessee
at London Rd.
GI 6-0160

CORRECTION

The Mistake in yesterday's paper for the European Charter service phone number should read.

GR 6 - 6097

O O P S !

Somebody Goofed!

WE'RE REALLY NOT AT

GR 6-0135 or GR 8-0135

WE ARE REALLY AT

GR5 - 0135

WE'RE SORRY FOR THE INCONVENIENCE

(AND SO IS THE D.O.)

FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE

Now in the University Hill Music Box

OPEN MON. 10-9

TUES. thru SAT. 10-6

A Lotta Folks in a Volks

One downtown paper showed the front side Sunday so we thought we'd show the opposite today. What you see is an indeterminate number of girls climbing into a volkswagon which apparently became the rage on leap year day. Not wanting to be left out, Delta Phi Epsilon decided to join in too, but as you can see some did get left out.

TODAY

- 4 p.m., Freshman Skeptics, Dean Noble's home, 335 Berkeley Drive. Guest: James M. Kahl, English Dept.
- 4 p.m., Footprints, 132 Maxwell.
- 4 p.m., WAA, Dance Technique Studio.
- 4 p.m., WAA, Competitive Swimming, pool.
- 4 p.m., Bible Lecture series, Reverend Donald Miller (Romans VI, 22), Maxwell.
- 5:05 p.m., Daily Devotions, North Wing, Hendricks Chapel, sponsored by the Lutheran Campus Ministry.
- 5:45 p.m., SUCC, 207 H.L.
- 6 p.m., HELL, Sore Committee Meeting, Room C, Chapel House.
- 6:45 p.m., Christian Science College Organization, Colonial Room, Hendricks Chapel.
- 7 p.m., Theta Sigma Phi, pledge test, 202 Journalism Center. Attendance mandatory. Meeting for pledges and members at 7:30 p.m. to discuss citation and recommendation.
- p.m., SUCC, 110 H.L.
- 7 p.m., HELL, Religious Committee Meeting, Room C, Chapel House.
- 7:45 p.m., Delta Phi Alpha, German honorate, Colonial room, Hendricks Chapel.

SOCCER

All students interested in playing for the Soccer Club this spring and fall should contact Walt Couser (ext. 2022) or Mike Bello (GI 6-1453).

Offer Free Dance Course Weekly

A free six-week dance course is being offered to students Wednesday evenings in the recreation lounge of the Women's Building.

Walt Medicis, director of the class, announced that registration will be held from 7:30-8:30 p.m. Wed. in the recreation lounge.

The weekly course will consist of three half-hour sessions each Wed. evening. Instruction will be given in fox trot, swing, waltz, cha-cha, rhumba, tango, bossa nova and ay bo le, as well as novelty dances.

Instructors assisting Medicis will be Mike Guzman, Melinda Seirba, Ken Loeh, Audrey Gale, Bo's Thater, Kathy Mantle, Don Newroth, Jim Supernault, and Mitch Cohan.

More instructors are needed. Persons with even a little dancing background will be trained as assistant teachers. Those interested are asked to see Medicis at a 7:30 p.m. Wed. during registration, or to call ext. 2284.

SU Contracts Rome Base

A $72,879 contract for a research project on ground antenna characteristics has been signed by Syracuse University Research Institute and the Rome Air Development Center at the Griffiss Air Force Base, Rome.

The contract is an eight-month extension of the program which has already been in existence for two years and the new figure brings the total expenditure to over a quarter of a million dollars. It is under the direction of Dr. David K. Cheng, professor of electrical engineering.

The research contract calls for an assistant professor, three instructors and five graduate students besides Dr. Cheng.

Purpose of the contract is to conduct theoretical study, mathematical analysis and experimental verification of research type problems related to the advancement of the state-of-the-art in the field of antennas for ground-based applications.

Dr. Cheng has directed sponsored research programs on microwave antennas since 1949, and won the annual research award of the Syracuse chapter of Sigma Xi (honorary society for scientific research) in 1962.

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	$.85
2 days	1.65
3 days	3.15
4 days	2.40
5 days	3.85
7 days	5.20
8 days	4.55
9 days	5.85
10 days	6.45
11 days	7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 6-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.

ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lillian M. Potter 207 Comstock Ave. GR 8-5847.

TO BUY OR SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN: Spague Motors, 1000 Hiawatha Blvd. W. 474-6007, is the place.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired, Rented, Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-8833. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

AUTO DRIVING—driving problems analyzed and corrected quickly and smoothly. Dual controlled cars furnished. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-3451.

DANCE CLASSES. Free to all students.

Sufrin's Book to be Published

A Syracuse University economics professor, Dr. Sidney C. Sufrin, has written a new book, "Unions in Emerging Societies; Frustration and Politics." It will be published Monday by Syracuse University Press.

The book is an analysis of trade unions in developing countries and their relations to government. Sufrin examines the social functions of trade unions in the West and uses this background to provide a conceptual view of unions in new and developing nations.

He revealed that this conception and role of unions often do not coincide with their social forces, especially the changing political beliefs. In this situation, the ideology and structure of unions are forced to change in order to harmonize with a world not as ideal as they had visualized.

In addition to this latest work, Sufrin has written "What Price Progress?", "Issues in Federal Aid to Education," "Administering the National Defense Education Act," and "Labor Policy and the Business Cycle." He is co-author of "Capital Formation and Foreign Investment in Underdeveloped Areas," "Labor Laws", "Labor Problems," and "The New St. Lawrence Frontier."

Sufrin was chief of the U.S. Economic Cooperation Administration Study Mission to Spain in 1950.

CITY OF PHILADELPHIA

Is Building

The Most Exciting City of

The 20th Century

JOIN US

There's a Rewarding Role for You! Graduates in

- ARTS and SCIENCES
- BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION
- ENGINEERING
- NATURAL and PHYSICAL SCIENCES

... may obtain further information and register for interviews to be held at the College Placement Office on . . .

MARCH 13th

If Interview Is Inconvenient Send Resume to

COLLEGE RELATIONS OFFICER
CITY OF PHILADELPHIA
792 CITY HALL
Philadelphia, Pa. 19107

BUY, SELL, or RENT

WANT a RIDE or RIDERS?

ADVERTISE!!

CAMPUS CLASSIFIEDS

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

COLLEGE STUDENTS

An Exciting 7½ Week Summer Adventure

KIBBUTZ & VACATION in ISRAEL & EUROPE

JET DEPARTURES: June 27 & July 9

Program Features:

- 14 days of fruit-picking and other work in Galilee Kibbutzim
- 7 day "Go Native" sightseeing tour throughout Israel
- 14 days of rest and recreation at the ASHKELON — village de vacances on the Mediterranean
- 14 day tour of Italy, Switzerland and France

For further information & reservations contact:

HISTADRUT STUDENT TOURS
33 East 67th St New York 21, NY
RE 4-7440 or RE 4-6010

ALL INCLUSIVE RATE: $897

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students

3 ROOMS RECENTLY remodeled — paneled, bus, light parking. $85.00. Call 478-4388.

3 RM. apartment, furnished and heated, newly painted. University section, very inexpensive. GI 6-1741 or 446-8527.

PLEASANT SIX-ROOM upper flat, furnished. Utilities separate. $100 per month. Immediate possession. GR 8-1237.

THREE ROOM APT. furnished, heated. $100 per month. 306 Marshall St.

UPPER TWO BEDROOM APT. Business couple. Refrigerator, kitchenette, living room, shower bath, furnished or unfurnished, heated. Now available. Cazenovia Lake privileges. GR 2-0277 days. After 6, weekends, OL 5-3677.

FACULTY OR BUSINESS COUPLE, 3 bedrooms, bath up, large living room, modern kitchen down. All carpeted and draped, heated. Now available. Cazenovia Lake privileges. GR 2-0277 days. After 6, weekends, OL 5-3677.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models, also sales and service, special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

FINE TYPING. electric typewriter. Call 472-1605.

WILL DO TYPING IN MY HOME. Electric machine. 471-7216.

FOR SALE

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stations in packets. Choice of four colors of paper, three colors of ink, two sizes of sheets.

Bookstall.

BROTHERHOOD, with fun and service to humanity. Rush Alpha Phi Omega Sunday, March 8, 8 p.m. Booth lounge.

LAVIERS. $2.75. Wedding, shower, baby gifts. Rhinoceros sunglasses, watch and jewelry repairs. Available. Joanne Creme Bleach, Ruth's Gifts, 734 South Crocus.

1960 IMPALA CONVERTIBLE, V-8, automatic. Radio, heater. Sell to best offer. GR 5-2576.

Furnished and Heated, paneled, bus, light parking. $55.00. Call 478-4388.

WANTED

ENTERPRISING MALE upperclassman

Sideline Views

By BERNIE MacCALLUM
Sports Editor

The chances that the Orange will be making a trip to New York City in a few weeks were severely darkened Sunday. The eternal flame of optimism started bellowing black smoke in the Salt City.

The NIT selection committee met at 5 p.m. Sunday. The name Syracuse was mentioned frequently, tossed around and batted back and forth along with the names of about eight other schools.

We talked with committee chairman John Bach Sunday night. He told us that Syracuse had been under very serious consideration at the meeting. "We recognize the fact that you have a 15-7 record and should win your next two games," Bach said.

Bach said that two more teams had been selected, neither of which was SU, whose names would be released Monday after the schools had been contacted. Syracuse Coach Fred Lewis guessed that the schools would probably be Miami of Florida and St. Joseph's.

Each pointed out that this brings to a total of eight the number of teams given bids. Of the four remaining spots, two will more than likely be filled by conference teams, the runner-ups in the Missouri Valley Conference and the Western Athletic Conference.

New York University, Army, Pittsburgh, St. Bonaventure, DePaul, and Duquesne have already been selected in addition to the two teams yet to be announced.

There is strong opposition in New York to the Orange being in the NIT field, which appears to be coming from St. John's University. I am not saying that Syracuse deserves the bid any more than any of the other teams under consideration. The selection process is one of give and take with a variety of cross influences interacting with one another.

The next meeting of the selection committee will be Thursday. It looks, however, that if Syracuse were going to get a bid it would have decided upon at the Sunday meeting in light of the fact that the committee expects us to win our remaining two games.

We still have our foot in the door, although it has been closed considerably.

In addition to this the Orange will have no easy time defeating Niagara University and Connecticut.

Whistful Look

Head Coach FRED LEWIS looks over his squad in practice in preparation for the Niagara game at the fieldhouse Wednesday night. Lewis seems to have that hopeful look on his face with his mind far away occupied with thoughts of the NIT.

Purple Eagles Ready To Invade Fieldhouse

By BILL CRONAUER
Junior Editor

"We don't foresee another season like last year. We're not expecting any miracles." . . . John J. (Taps) Gallagher, Niagara University, December 1963.

Three months later Coach Gallagher would gladly trade off his prophecy talents for a couple of victories.

True to prediction, the Purple Eagles, SU's Wednesday night cage foe at Manley Field House, have not had a banner campaign. They currently stand at 7-11 in contrast to last season's 14-4 mark.

And Taps Gallagher has suffered only three losing years in his 30 at the Niagara helm, and is not happy.

In last weekend's 91-69 loss to St. Bonaventure on the Student Center court, Gallagher experimented with one new starter and gave indications that more are to follow.

Against the NIT-bound Bonnies, the usual Niagara lineup of George Phillips, Art Coleman, Jim Kuryak, Pat Broderick and Joe White managed just 40 points as reserves took over the scoring slack.

Gallagher benched Coleman, fourth high point-producer on the Eagle club at 10.6, and replaced him up front with 6-5 junior Dom Ventura. The latter responded with eight points.

Coleman in the meantime could account for only one bucket, which Phillips, No. 1 scorer at 13.4 ppg, was limited to 10 points.

In the backcourt, captain Kuryak and Broderick, both averaging 11.9 ppg, hit for eight and seven markers respectively.

Only junior forward Joe White (9.8) came through with a peak performance, collecting 13 points and battling well off the boards.

Two other juniors, 6-3 forward Brian Motter and 6-1 guard Tom Linney, played their finest games of the season. Motter, averaging a mere 1.8 ppg, clicked for nine tallies, with Linney (4.0) chipping in with eight.

In the first meeting between Niagara and the Orangemen at the Falls, SU emerged triumphant in an 83-81 overtime thriller. Since that time, the Purple Eagles have tumbled downhill and the Piety forces jumped upward.

Gallagher's crew has dropped nine of its last 10 contests, including the final two at home to St. Bona and Youngstown.

Syracuse, on the other hand, has captured three consecutive victories on the road, and run its slate to 15-7.

Piety Mermen Swim At Cornell U. Today In Final Dual Meet

By NEIL KERR

The Syracuse University swimmers will be out to improve on last season's record tonight when they take on Cornell in Ithaca. The Orange are now 5-3 and are preparing for an all-out effort against the Big Red.

"Every Cornell meet we've ever had has been a knock down-drag out fight and I don't imagine this will be any different," said coach Ted Webster. "They're hungry for a win and so are we."

Cornell is rated the favorite though possessing only a 2-7 record. The Red have faced somewhat tougher competition and have fared a bit better than SU against Colgate and Bucknell.

Captain Vince Crockenberg in the freestyle sprints, Pete Gilmour in the butterfly, and Dave Hawk, an All-American diver, are expected to provide points for Cornell. Other Cornell standouts are diver Norm Brokaw, breaststrokers Kennedy and Sears and Bill Litman, a backstroke.

Swimming in their last dual meet for Syracuse will be Seniors Jim Myerberg, Jeff Meyer, Dwayne Lehigh and Alan Roth. Other top performers for the Orange are juniors Channing Rudd, Jim Marshall, Tom Fahrenholtz, Roger Ellenberger and Hugh Dunseath.

The sophomore swimmers include Bill Hotchkiss, Steve Beaudry and Dick Bauschard.

This weekend the Syracuse swimmers will travel to Buffalo State for the New York State Competition.

JOHN STEFFNEY

INTRAS

TODAY'S SCHEDULE Basketball

7:00 — Phi Epsilon Pi (B) vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon (B); Sigma Alpha Mu (B) vs. Phi Sigma Delta (B).

7:45 — Alpha Chi Rho (B) vs. Phi Delta Theta (B); Acacia vs. Theta Chi.

8:30 — Marion 3 vs. winner of DP 7 — Sadler 7.

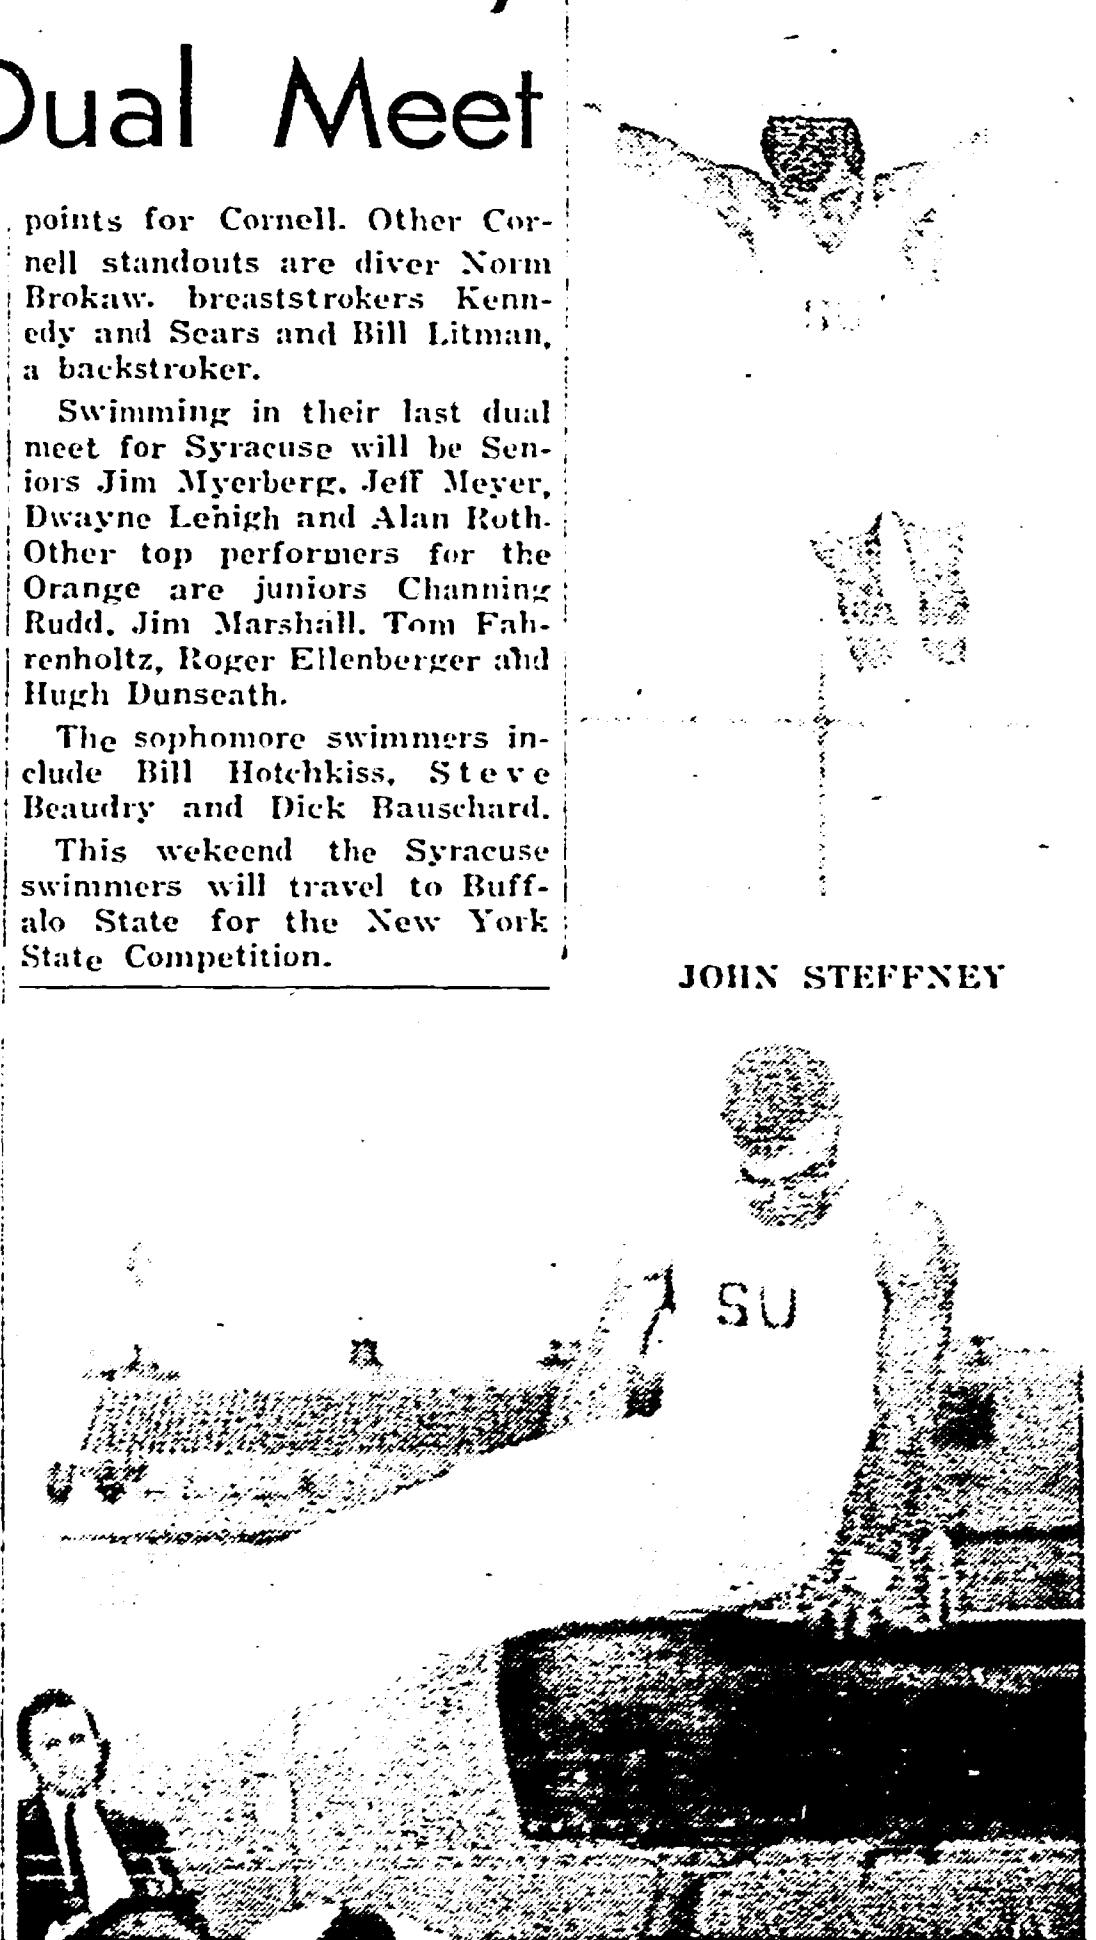

Handball

7:00 — Delta Upsilon vs. Tau Delta Phi.

Bowling

6:15 — Zeta Beta Tau vs. Phi Gamma Delta (1-2); Delta Upsilon vs. Tau Delta Phi (3-4); DelPlan 2 vs. Booth 1 (5-6).

8:30 — Sadler vs. Sims 2

Man on a Horse

JON MEURY

DAILY ORANGE

Syracuse University's Daily

Newspaper Since 1903

Vol. 61, No. 86

Syracuse, N. Y., Wednesday, March 4, 1964

Price 10 Cents

Traditions

The incoming officers of the Traditions Committee are from left, SUE ROWLAND, historian; JAMES MARSHALL, treasurer; KAREN ERIKSON, secretary; GERRI PORTER, vice-president; TURK ROSE, president. Outgoing are, DICK COST, president; BARB SCHISCHIEBEL, vice-president; NANCY BOOTH, secretary; RON BRZEZINSKI, treasurer; and ROBERT DAVIS, historian.

Opinion Poll

Food Service Poll Notes Varied Opinion On Change

By DAVID SOSNA

This reporter has attended many "top-level" food service meetings, written many food service stories and covered the food service boycott. He has heard promises, accusations and denials. The results of all three are of great interest to all concerned and have elicited much student comment.

"The quality of the food still is not as good as it could be," declares Ted Kiamas ('66). In opposition to this view, Robin Daniels, freshman, says "I think there has been a definite improvement in food service."

Leslie Durr, also a freshman, is undecided. "Maybe the change is just psychological."

Opinion was varied and sometimes even violent.

Those students who complained of promised changes not being effected, complained strongly.

"It still stinks," Joseph Sutura ('65) declared.

"The food is just as lousy now as it has always been," Eileen Briar said.

Raymond Davis ('66) stated that "food has definitely gotten worse since the boycott."

Students feeling that there has been an improvement in food service are generally calmer than this, however.

"The attitude of the workers seems better," says Dennis Brown, a sophomore.

"Food service has changed for the better," stated Kathy Young ('67).

"We got steak twice this week," Pam Johnston told the DO. Susan Howard, a freshman, said "I think the food definitely has been better."

However, even those students that felt that the situation has improved, made statements much in agreement with Phyllis West when she said "The changes probably won't last long. Only time will tell."

LENTEN SERVICES

7:00 a.m. Holy Communion (Interdenominational)

North Wing-Hendricks Chapel
12:05 p.m. Roman Catholic Mass-St. Thomas More Chapel (Daily)

4:05 p.m. Roman Catholic Mass-Hendricks Chapel (Daily)

5:05 p.m. Lutheran Holy Communion-North Wing-Hendricks Chapel

5:05 p.m. Episcopal Holy Communion-Chapel House

ISO Dance Starts Week

By RENE BRAUN

Anyone who saw Monday night's International Show might wonder why we are continually living in a world of conflict.

The president of the ISO, Soegiharto Reksohadiprodjo, opened the program by expressing the hope that the program would indicate the unity and friendship that does exist amongst nations.

The first group to perform was the newly formed European students group. They performed dances from Italy, Germany and Greece.

The songs they sang were representative of England and France. At the conclusion of their program the entire audience sang "Are You Sleeping" in their native tongue.

The Indonesian group presented three dances of Sumatra and a few group songs. The women in this group were dressed in native costumes of silk brocade.

The Turkish group entertained the audience with several songs that are unique to their country.

Two folk dances, which tell the story of two girls flirting with some boys, Caracorinas and the Joropo, and two modern dances, the Paso Doble and the Merengue, were demonstrated by the South American group.

Tinkling, Pandango and Itik-itik, three dances native of Philippines, were put on by the group from there.

The African student group sang three songs from Tanganyika to the accompaniment of drums.

The Dabkeh, a typical folk dance of the Arab world and a group of slides representative of the Arab countries were presented by the Arab students.

The Virginia Reel and Devil's Dream were chosen to represent American culture in the program.

In addition to the foreign groups the Israeli dance group, a division of Hillel, presented several dances from Israel.

Today as part of the ISO program "Last Year at Marienbad" will be shown at 7:30 p.m. in Gifford Auditorium. The picture is representative of the thinking process of the protagonist. The film aims at revealing only the individual's psychological experience, which is full of drama and suspense, and defies logical analysis.

SDX Urges Free Press On Campus

The Syracuse University Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society, today reaffirmed the need for complete freedom of expression in college publications in a statement made by Bernard J. MacCallum, SDX president.

The society called for a renewed vigilance of freedom of the press at the Syracuse University campus.

MacCallum said that such a statement of principles is necessary because of recent pressure reportedly extended by administrators on the Daily Orange.

He noted that Daily Orange reporters had been told not to use quotations of a food service meetings that concern them.

"We must reaffirm the right of the Syracuse University student to know what goes on at meetings on which there are involved," MacCallum said.

He called upon the administration to open to the press student government representatives, "so that the student will be well informed on all campus activities." He also noted a responsibility of the newspapers for accurate and unbiased reporting of these meetings.

SDX is traditionally dedicated to protect "freedom of information and the highest ideals of journalistic efforts and standards."

MacCallum asked that the administration at SU act in the best interests of freedom of the press.

Student-Faculty Hoop Game Set

The Syracuse University Union will sponsor basketball games between the freshman and varsity teams and between the administration and student government teams, Monday March 9.

The first game, administration versus student government will begin at 8:00 p.m. in Manly Field House. The second game, between the freshman and varsity squads is scheduled for 9:15 p.m.

Half-time entertainment is planned. In addition, according to Frank Kelly, fund raising coordinator of the University Union, there will be a door prize of a typewriter, which was particularly donated by the Syracuse University bookstores.

The profits of the games will go to the university union building funds. Tickets for the game are 50 cents for students with I.D. cards and 75 cents without. Tickets will go on sale Friday morning in HBC lobby. A "Button-button" will also be sold starting Thursday in conjunction with the event. This button is a modification of last year's "button-button."

This game pends on whether SU's varsity team receives a NIT bid.

Cords will be given extended curfews with ticket stubs.

IFC Aids Billion, Discusses Hazing

InterFraternity Council voted Tuesday to donate $200 in scholastic aid for former SU track star Gary Billion, and considered a proposal to abolish hazing during any portion of fraternity pledge initiations.

Billion, who was paralyzed from the neck down in an accidental fall while attending a football game this year, is taking a three credit course by telephone from his hospital bed. The donation is to cover the cost of the phone service.

In other action at the Tuesday night meeting, IFC examined a resolution to abolish hazing on campus. The recommendation, considered by IFC (Alpha Chi Rho) to be an extension of present IFC policy, pledge paddling, "line-ups" and other forms of what VanDerven termed "harassments."

Also included in the resolution is a specific detailing of punishment to be meted out by the IFC Judicial Board for various offenses, ranging from not granting permission to take a pledge class the semester after the offense was committed to a $50 fine.

The resolution is presently tabled and is to be considered for voting at the next IFC meeting, March 18 at Tau Delta Phi. The purpose of the tabling was to allow individual fraternity houses to consider the recommendation in detail at chapter meetings and form opinions and make suggestions concerning it.

SDX Initiates 4 Members

The Syracuse University Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society, initiated four new members Monday night in a brief ceremony in the Sadler Hall library.

Robert A. Feldman, Dale E. Rath, Daniel B. Stone and Douglas D. Webster became brothers of SDX.

Feldman is a senior and is program director of campus radio station WAER.

Stone is a junior in the School of Speech. He also announces for WAER.

Rath is a senior in the College of Liberal Arts.

Webster, who announces for WAER, is a liberal arts senior. Brothers present who conducted the ceremony were, William Cronauer, Bernard MacCallum (pres.), Allan Millstein, Ronald Roberts (sec.), Prof. Robert Waters (v. pres.).

Humanities Duet Enrich SU Minds

Applications are presently being solicited and accepted for two of Syracuse University's finest liberal arts programs — the Humanities Reading Program and the Maxwell School's Washington Seminar.

The Humanities Reading Program is the same type of small seminar cultural program that the wealthy ivy league universities offer during the regular school year (i.e. the Harvard freshman seminar).

Syracuse University's presently poor endowment cannot of course support a program with such a low faculty-student ratio during the regular school year so what the administration in effect is doing is making the course available to those students who are interested enough to forgo several weeks of intersession vacation. The course meets June 8-23 and Sept. 1-9, and earns seven hours credit.

This program was developed four years ago under a $10,000 grant to Syracuse University from the Ford Foundation's Fund for the Advancement of Learning. Each year enrollment has lagged far below capacity and the course has been threatened with termination. However, due to the strong personal commitment of Chancellor William P. Tolley, the university has continued to conduct this excellent program at a loss.

The most unusual aspect of the program is the close rapport which exists between students, faculty and subject matter. The program addresses itself to such themes as "the shaping of the modern mind," "When did modern times begin?" and "the heritage of western civilization." As a comprehensive survey of the Great Ideas — social, literary, scientific artistic, which have shaped our civilization this type of course is considered by many of America's leading universities as indispensable to a good college education.

In addition, the university offers the student a substantial financial savings as the total cost for the seven hours tuition, plus room and board is $350. SU is also making available a number of scholarships.

The Maxwell School's Washington Seminar which meets June 8-26 in the nation's Capitol is another unique academic experience provided by Syracuse University. The teachers are mostly the country's political leaders: last year these included Sen. Barry Goldwater, Theodore Sorenson, Justice Arthur Goldberg, Rep. James Roosevelt and approximately 25 other government studies "to life," an experience refreshingly different from traditional textbook studies.

Led by Professor Karl Schmidt, the course earns three hours of credit with tuition based on the regular fee per hour.

Students overly-burdened by the prohibitive cost of Syracuse education might note that by completing both the Humanities Reading Program and the Washington Seminar, and taking a few extra hours it is possible to graduate a full semester earlier. And neither program would interfere with the continuity of summer employment.

Mud Mess

Instead of ice and snow, Syracusans are now faced with mud and heaving sidewalks.

With the early arrival of spring on the Hill, the quad and the parking areas have become virtual mud ponds of oozing mess. Students start off to class in good form, groomed and clean. They usually arrive in a state similar to little children after playing in a mudpie contest.

The parking lots have become sinking ponds of mud. To park in one is almost like in a pool of quicksand.

Granted that the university has no control over the weather, but they do have control of maintaining the campus in usable and workable order.

Students suffered with poor maintenance in the snow and now they suffer with poor maintenance in the mud.

Parking is the most congested and most ostensive problem now. May we suggest that the grounds and maintenance crew find some possible way of keeping parking lots usable and open to faculty and students who must use the facilities every day.

NEVER ON SUNDAY

Moment of Truth

By Charles Steinberg

It now appears obvious that the much-publicized administration ruling (DO, Jan. 30) that "scholarship holders, including athletes, are not permitted to own and operate automobiles" is a farce.

This ruling came to the Daily Orange from the Dean of Men's office in the form of a release and gave the impression that Syracuse University was acting to eliminate double-standards as well as courageously taking a stand on a moral issue involved—that to permit scholarship holders, including athletes, to maintain automobiles amounts to the university in effect subsidizing the automobiles.

Dean of Men Jim G. Carleton holdly declared "In effect we do not intend to give a student money which is marked for educational needs and have him spend it on a car."

But at least ten athletic scholarship holders have now been witnessed by our staff operating automobiles on campus (including a sophomore with less than a 1.6 average).

So the possibility cannot be discounted that the Dean of Men's office has once again been overruled by the Athletic Department and its allies in the SU administration hierarchy.

Perhaps, as the Daily Orange editorialized, this ruling should not have been made in the first place. After all, the other "big time" schools don't have such moralistic rules, and such a regulation as an athlete not being able to have a car could severely handicap SU "recruiters" in their competition for the top high school athletes.

But the ruling has been issued and now the university must stand accountable for itself. Does SU have the strength to back its stated moral convictions?

Says Sport Magazine in an April article on "the ills of college athletics:" "...eventually the colleges engaged in big-time sports must determine whether the college administration and the faculty run the sports program. Or whether the sports administrators run the university."

Such a moment of truth has apparently arrived at Syracuse University and a response is unavoidable. For if the university is going to back down and not uphold the ruling then an official statement must be issued declaring the ruling rescinded.

Because if the ruling continues to remain posted and not enforced (or for all we know, it was never intended to be enforced) then the SU administration stands guilty of hypocrisy and deceit.

Our prediction unfortunately is that the spectator-enterprising "big time" athletic machine presently has such a stranglehold on this university that probably nothing will be done or even said. (So you needn't worry about losing your cars, boys).

QUOTE OF THE WEEK: At a recent SU alumni gathering Chancellor William P. Tolley announced that Syracuse was now "seeking top scholars in the same way football players are sought."

According to WSYR radio, an alumnus voiced: "Imagine, seeking academic scholars like football players. That could lead to a very dangerous emphasis on academics!"

And wouldn't that be a hell of a shame.

LETTERS

Explanation

To The Editor:

Last night, we called the Security Police to take one of our residents to the emergency room of her doctor's hospital. We indicated that this was an emergency and that we needed a car immediately. They replied that a car would be sent right away.

We did not think that we would have to wait more than 12 minutes for the car to arrive from any point on campus. After 15 minutes, our head resident called again. The Security Police did not arrive until almost a half hour after the first call.

We do not understand how it could have taken so long for the Security Police to answer an emergency call. If one patrol car is, for some reason, away from campus, we think that another should always be on call for any emergencies in the immediate area.

When any head resident calls after midnight, it most surely will be an urgent matter.

We would like an explanation of the university's inefficiency in failing to protect student welfare.

Residents of Peck Co-op

Academics

To the Editor:

It is hoped that, as the latest student government survey states, the members of this "University Community" are concerned with academics. Indeed, this should be considered self-evident in the expression "University Community". It is with great satisfaction that we see student government taking an interest in this important side of our life on the Hill. However, we must bow to the impulse to make a few critical comments on the way this interest is being expressed.

1) Listing the courses by number does little to produce a valid evaluation, as many courses have several sections which have different instructors, different books, and actually amount to different courses.

2) We are instructed to answer this "disregarding... personal evaluation of your instructor's personality." Yet one is supposed to respond to such statements as No. 15 ("The instructor had a genuine and sincere regard for the students as individuals"). In fact the last six statements all contain a large unavoidable personality element.

3) "The object of this questionnaire is to evaluate your courses and your instructor's techniques." It is difficult to believe that most students are qualified to evaluate techniques, yet this is underlined and apparently to be stressed. The untrained observer can view such things only subjectively and certainly many factors enter into a student's understanding of the course material beyond the ability of the instructor.

Several statements in the survey were good despite a few difficulties in wording. (This, however, is too petty a subject to discuss). Some, such as No. 8 ("The instructor used evidence about students' progress to clear up points the class found most difficult.") are unclear or pertinent only to certain types of courses. Again, the last six enter areas in which it is impossible for a student to judge accurately. Many students' points of view as expressed in class are not worthy of appreciation (see No. 12) nor are their questions at all relevant (see No. 14).

The entire questionnaire serves as an excellent vehicle for anonymous expression of personal dislikes without emphasizing constructive views. The opportunity to provide three suggestions for improvement is probably the best part.

The statement says this is a university community. We wonder if the other members of the community -- the faculty and administration -- are being given an equal opportunity to express their views.

Joline Johnson
Class of '61
Janet O'Brien
Class of '61

POLICY ON LETTERS

The letters column is maintained for the expression of opinion by readers. However, the Daily Orange reserves the right to edit letters for grammar and good taste or to reject letters. Letters should be written legibly, preferably typed and no longer than 250 words. All letters must be signed with names and addresses; names will be withheld on request.

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2

March 4, 1964

Editor-In-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor Clayton F. Richards
News Editor Andrew Forte
Editorial Director Adair DuFice
Sports Editor Bernard MacCallum
Arts Editor Rea Turist
Photography Editor Steve Schwimmer

BUSINESS STAFF

National Adv. Mgr. Lynn Mandel
Classified Mgr. Christine Sedriak
Promotion Mgr. Stu Shapiro
Ass. Bus. Mgr. Jon Weinberg
Layout Managers Martha Johannek; Lillian Labr

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 266 Brookline Drive Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter at U. S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

Parenthesis

High School Festival

by Jay Zelermeyer

The High School Drama Festival, held on February twenty-first and twenty-second, and sponsored by the Syracuse University Drama Department and the drama honorary, Boar's Head, was a huge step in the direction of practical theatre education.

For what was involved in the festival, it leaned for its practice, on workshops and demonstrations, on seeing, telling, hearing, showing, but most of all on doing.

Briefly, the program ran this way: Friday afternoon, a make-up workshop conducted by Ellenjoy Schindler of Boar's Head; Friday evening, the performances of schools, followed by oral critiques; Saturday morning, an acting and directing workshop conducted by Dr. Joseph Golden of the Syracuse Drama Department, and a technical workshop conducted by John Workman of the department; Saturday afternoon, productions by the remaining schools, each followed by critiques; Saturday evening, a dinner, a speaker (Paul Gray, Director of Theater at Plattsburg State College), and performances by Boar's Head.

It was an ambitious program, an ambitious idea to begin with, but one that is certainly worthwhile for all the participants, including the university students involved.

On Thursday, the day before the festival began, I talked with Dick Folmer, President of Boar's Head, and coordinator of the festival. He said that the "learning experience" of the festival was not to come from a simulated "classroom experience," but rather from the practice, from the "doing."

We are not interested in telling these people what the theatre is all about in grand and general terms," he said. "They will learn what the theatre is all about from learning what a specific show is all about from working on it, rehearsing it, and performing it in front of a live and critical audience."

The productions themselves were a joint project, performed and directed by the participants from the various schools, and stage-managed by members or apprentices of Boar's Head. "This is to have them work with people from the university, so that they don't just watch us. They learn from working with us and with each other," Folmer said, "and they will also have the opportunity to watch their peers working under the same sets of circumstances."

As was to be expected, the level of the productions was not the best, but there were some impressive and inspired surprises for the audiences, and the pre-college particiipants themselves, no matter how good their performance, no matter how difficult the critiques, felt that they had gained from the experience.

There were only six schools participating in the festival, but we can chalk this up to the newness of the plan. If the program is continued in the future, the number of participants will undoubtedly grow.

But even the size of the festival is not the point. What is at stake here is the expansion of horizons, the creation of new possibilities for young people interested in the theatre, the chance to learn by doing, the only way to learn in the arts.

The dramatic activities at Syracuse are educational, to be sure, but they are also creative, in that they introduce, teach, and permit growth where it might not otherwise occur. Nickel Theatre and the exchange program, each set up last fall, are giant steps; so is the inception of the High School Drama Festival.

Credit is due Boar's Head and the Drama Department, for they are both making strong and moving efforts to help the American Theatre grow and expand and encourage. We owe them our praise, our aid, and our thanks.

Nickel Theatre Gives Two Original Plays

In continuing its festival of the presentation of new plays, Nickel Theatre will present a double bill of stage readings.

"A Miracle or Two," by Irwin Sirota, will be directed by George Fidel, a graduate student in drama.

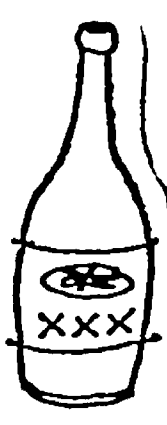

The other play will be "The Belfry," by Robert Bergeron, directed by Rea Turet, a senior drama major.

After the productions, there will be a discussion of the two plays, led by Dr. Joseph Golden, associate professor in drama.

Coffee will be available for 5 cents. Admission is a nickel.

Attention SENIOR and GRADUATE MEN Students
WHO NEED FINANCIAL HELP IN ORDER TO COMPLETE THEIR EDUCATION THIS YEAR AND WILL THEN COMMENCE WORK.
Apply to STEVENS BROS. FOUNDATION, INC.
A Non-Profit Education Fdn. 610 Endicott Bldg., St. Paul 1, Minn.
UNDERGRADS, CLIP AND SAVE

PURITY..LOVE..orDEATH?

Mazowsze To Perform March 10

Poland's famous dance company, Mazowsze, will appear March 10 at RKO Keith's Theatre under the auspices of the Famous Artists Series, in the course of its second U.S.-Canadian tour.

Presented by impresario S. Hurok, who imported the Company on its first tour in 1961, Mazowsze offers the regional dances, costumes and music of the great central Polish plain.

It was founded in 1948 by the late Tadeusz Sygietynski and his wife, Mira Ziminska. Since its premier, it has been acclaimed throughout the world and has performed for more than five million persons.

Tickets are priced at $5, $4.25, $3.75, $3.20.

Bond Slated As Prize In "America" Essay Contest

A $25 United States bond will be the first prize of an essay contest on the theme of "America America," announced Mr. Levin, manager of RKO Keith's Theatre.

The entries should be no longer than 250 words, and be on the topic of "America America." This contest is being run in conjunction with the Elia Kazan film "America, America" which will open in Syracuse March 11.

The ten runner-ups will be the recipients of ten passes to RKO Keith's.

Entries should be sent to the Daily Orange office by March 13.

The film "America America" is the story of a young Greek and his attempt to get to America around 1900.

A special student discount will be available to Syracusans for the run of the film: "America, America."

Adversiting Execs Hold Interviews

The first in a series of executives from the top ten advertising agencies was on campus Monday, March 2.

Paul Smith, personnel department of the Leo Burnett Agency in Chicago, interviewed graduating majors. The appointments have been arranged by Prof. Philip Ward Burton, Chairman of the School of Journalism's advertising department.

In the next few weeks representatives of McCann-Erickson and Foote, Cone and Belding will be here to interview prospective employees.

The film "America America" is the story of a young Greek and his attempt to get to America around 1900.

A special student discount will be available to Syracusans for the run of the film: "America, America."

March Buses Available

All students interested in participating in the March 10 "March on Albany" may arrange for bus transportation today, Thursday and Friday in the lobby of HBC. Round trip fare is $1.

Daily Crossword Puzzle

- | | | |
|----------------------------|--------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| ACROSS | 47 Arctic bird. | 18 Body of Moslem scholars. |
| 1 Barrels: Abbr. | 48 Remote. | 23 Axlike tool. |
| 5 About: Lat. abbr. | 49 General pardon. | 25 Plaster base. |
| 9 Horns of the new moon. | 53 Ruler in Teheran. | 28 Very independent one. |
| 14 Behind. | 56 Important. | 29 American base in the Pacific. |
| 15 Eurasian range. | 57 Likewise. | 30 New Haven's forte. |
| 16 Ready for use: 2 words. | 58 Derived from oil. | 31 Weaver's reed. |
| 17 Retinue. | 59 Conversation: 2 words. | 32 Talent. |
| 19 Demon of Hindu myth. | 62 Minimum. | 33 Consumer. |
| 20 December: Abbr. | 63 Public hero. | 34 Willow genus. |
| 21 Teen-ager. | 64 Hebrides isle. | 38 Preprandial drink. |
| 22 Cheese dish. | 65 A suitor of Lydia Languish. | 39 Noble. |
| 24 Olympics contestant. | 66 The inevitable. | 41 Forsakes a cause or party. |
| 26 Merchandise: Abbr. | 67 Say. | 42 Haakon's successor. |
| 27 I love: Lat. | | 43 Garbo role. |
| 28 Cough drops. | DOWN | 44 Thrust in fencing. |
| 32 Serenade accompaniment. | 1 Netherlands city. | 46 Piece of luggage. |
| 35 Unique thing: Colloq. | 2 Poet of Civil War narrative. | 49 Father Superior. |
| 36 Stepson of Thor. | 3 Gate fastening. | 50 Gamble. |
| 37 Isthmus: Abbr. | 4 Broadway sign. | 51 Chemical from coal tar. |
| 38 Insect. | 5 Museum director. | 52 Rustic. |
| 39 Feminine title. | 6 Sultan's edict. | 53 — Negri, actress. |
| 40 Retainer. | 7 Kind of paper. | 54 Actor Guinness. |
| 41 Inside info. | 8 Fulton's steamboat. | 55 Learn. |
| 43 Inept. | 9 Of rougher texture. | 60 Oklahoma city. |
| 45 Phileas Fogg, for one. | 10 Hidden. | 61 Sibillant sound. |
| | 11 Cigar end. | |
| | 12 Equal: Prefix. | |
| | 13 Quarrel. | |

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14				15				16
17				18				19
20				21			22	23
24				25			26
				27			28			29	30	31
32	33	34				35				36
37						38				39
40				41	42			43	44
45				46				47
				48			49			50	51	52
53	54	55					56			57
58						59	60			61
62						63				64
65						66				67

Riviera CINEMA

3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. - GR-8-4021

"ONE OF THE YEAR'S 10 BEST" — Times

The most suspenseful film you will ever see!

JEAN GABIN any ALAIN DELON NUMBER can win

JULIE the REDHEAD PASCALE PETIT DANIEL GELIN

THE "BOOKSTALL"

147 Marshall Street
Fascinating Gifts, Fine Stationery, Fabulous Cards
38 Years by the Campus
Your Friendly Alumni Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow

SPECIAL—Shampoo, Style Cut, Set $5.00

at

Karmens HAIR STYLISTS

Two Hour Free Parking at Municipal Parking Lot

Open Thurs. & Fri. 9 to 9 Mon., Tues., Wed & Sat. 9 to 6

Call 212 Montgomery St. Syracuse, N. Y. GR 1-0511

This Week at Karmens with this ad

$1 $1 $1

One dollar off an ANY beauty treatment

Educational Society

SU Prof Appointed Head

A Syracuse University professor of education is the new president of the board of trustees of the University Council for Educational Administration, a national organization concerned with research and educational administration.

Dr. Richard C. Lonsdale was elected to this post at a recent meeting of the council's board according to Dr. Robert C. Stewart, acting dean of SU's School of Education.

The council, composed of 46 universities, was founded in 1956. Syracuse is one of the 33 charter members. Dr. Lonsdale currently is serving his second three-year term on the board.

He has been associated with the university since 1916, first as a graduate student and since 1947 as a faculty member. For the last 11 years he has directed the SU graduate program in educational administration and has served as coordinator of the Central New York School Board Institute, an organization of 87 boards of education within a 90-mile radius of Syracuse.

In 1959 Dr. Lonsdale was chairman of the National Conference of Professors of Educational Administration. From 1956-1958 he was the first chairman of the Collegiate Association for the Development of Educational Administration in New York State.

DR. RICHARD LONSDALE

The new president has been active in the Educational Research Association of New York State, the New York State Citizens Council, and the New York State Citizens Committee for the Public Schools.

Dr. Lonsdale has been a visiting professor at Columbia University Teachers College and the University of Oregon. He has written numerous articles and co-authored two books.

SOCCER

All students interested in playing for the Soccer Club this spring and fall should contact Walt Couser (ext. 2022) or Mike Bello (GI 6-1453).

Final Game for Frosh

Back on their home floor Syracuse's frosh basketball team attempts to regain the winning touch tonight against the Niagara yearlings. Tap off time is 6:15 p.m.

Last week the Hillmen took to the road three times and found rough going, winning just once.

Probable starters for Coach Morris Osburn's Tangerines who stand at 12-6, are center Rick Dean, forwards Scott Loll and Vaughn Harper, and guards Marty Goldstein and Rick Russo.

Loll played his finest game of the season in Saturday's loss to Canisius as he led the Hill scoring with 19 points. Other Piety eagers in double figures were Goldstein and Harper, 18 apiece, and Dean, 16.

Goldstein, who had difficulty finding the basket earlier in the season, has come on strong in recent games, scoring 48 points in the last two contests.

Comprising the starting five for the Baby Eagles, who show an 8-5 log, will be high scorer John Traverse, Bob Sheldon and

In their first clash on Feb. 5 Syracuse whipped Niagara by an 81-70 count at the Falls.

On Campus

with Max Shulman

(Author of "Rally Round the Flag, Boys!" and "Barefoot Boy With Cheek.")

THE INNER MAN

College is fun and frolic and fulfillment—except for one melancholy omission: we don't get to enjoy Mom's home cooking. (In my own undergraduate days, curiously enough, I did not undergo this deprivation; my mother, a noted cross-country runner, was never home long enough to cook a meal until her legs gave out last Arbor Day.)

But most of us arrive at college with fond gastric memories of Mom's nourishing delicacies, and we are inclined now and then to heave great racking sighs as we contemplate the steam tables in the campus cafeteria. Take, for an extreme example, the case of Finster Sigafos.

Finster, a freshman at one of our great Eastern universities (Oregon State) came to college accustomed to home cooking of a kind and quantity enjoyed by very few. Until entering college, Finster had lived all his life in Europe, where his father was an eminent fugitive from justice. Finster's mother, a natural born cook, was mistress of the haute cuisine of a dozen countries, and Finster grew up living and eating in the Continental manner.

He arose each morning at ten and breakfasted lightly on figs,

My mother was a noted cross country runner

hot chocolate, and brioche. (It is interesting to note, incidentally, that brioche was named after its inventor, perhaps the greatest of all French bakers, Jean-Claude Brioche (1634-1921). M. Brioche, as we all know, also invented croissants, French toast, and—in a curious departure—the electric razor. Other immortal names in the history of breadstuffs are the German, Otto Pumpernickel (1509-1848) who invented pumpernickel and thus became known to posterity as The Iron Chancellor; the two Americans, William Cullen Raisin (1066-1812) and Walter Rye (1931-1932) who collaborated on the invention of raisin rye; and, of course, Hans Christian Andersen (1805-1875) who invented Danish pastry.)

But I digress. Finster, I say, breakfasted lightly at ten a.m. At eleven a.m. his Mom brought him his elevenses. At twelve she brought him his twelveses. At 1:30 she served his lunch: first a clear broth; then a fish course (porgy and bass); then an omelette; then the main course—either a saddle of lamb, an eye of sirloin, or a glass of chicken fat; then a salad of escarole; and finally a lemon soufflé.

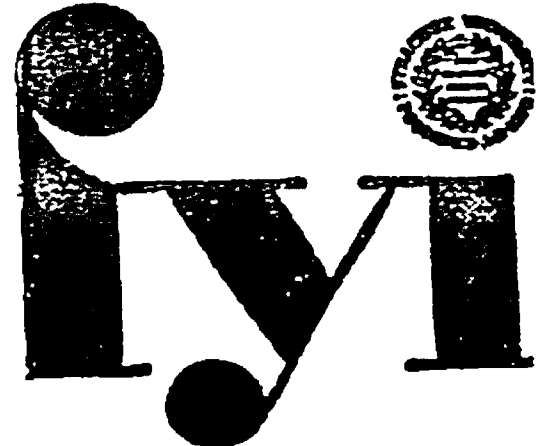

At three p.m. Mom served Finster low tea, at five p.m. high tea, and at ten p.m. dinner—first a bowl of petite marmite (she trapped the marmites herself); then a fish course (wounded trout); then an omelette of turtle eggs; then the main course—either duck with orange or a basin of farina; then a salad of unborn chicory; and finally a caramel mousse.

And then Finster went off to college, which reminds me of Marlboro Cigarettes. (Actually it doesn't remind me of Marlboro Cigarettes at all, but the makers of Marlboro pay me to write this column and they are inclined to get surly if I fail to mention their product. Mind you, I don't object to mentioning their product—no sir, not one bit. Marlboro's flavor is flavorful, the filter filters, the soft pack is soft, the Flip-Top box flips, and the tattoo is optional. Marlboros are available wherever cigarettes are sold in all fifty states of the Union. Next time you're in the U.S.A., try a pack.)

But I digress. We were speaking of Finster Sigafos who went from Continental dining to dormitory feeding. So whenever you feel sorry for yourself, think of Finster, for it always lifts the heart to know somebody is worse off than you are.

© 1964 Max Shulman

We, the makers of Marlboro, can't say whether European food beats ours, but this we believe: America's cigarettes lead the whole world. And this we further believe: among America's cigarettes, Marlboros are the finest.

IYI

TODAY

4 p.m. Badminton, Gym 34
4 p.m. Tennis, Room 112, WB
4 p.m. Tennis, Room 112, WB
5:05 p.m. Daily Debates, South Wing, Henricks Chapel
7 p.m. Ski, Sims
7 p.m. Freshmen Forum, 111 Maxwell
8 p.m. Ballroom, Deane, Recreation Center, WB
9:30 p.m. Upperclass Speeches, Dean Natchez, home, Guest, Dr. Ray, Room 111, Chairman of the Speech Department
10:00 p.m. April Fool, Men's Gym, Membership Required

Juniors, Seniors . . .

Career Opportunities In All Phases Of Marketing

- Advertising
- Sales Management
- Merchandising
- Sales Promotion
- Market Research

Join Vick Chemical Company's Programs for Career Development this summer. Schedule a campus interview with the company representatives now.

Seniors . . . Permanent employment. Gain extensive experience in all 5 phases of marketing.

Juniors . . . Summer employment. Get a head start on your career before graduation. Gain valuable sales and marketing experience.

Both programs provide car, good salary and pay all expenses seven days a week.

Contact your Placement Director for full details.

Interviews on March 11, 12

Vick Chemical Company

Manufacturers of Vick's VapoRub, Cough Syrup, Cough Drops, Nasal Preparations, Cold Tablets, Lysol, and Clearasil.

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

SWISS
AIR

JET summer charter

To EUROPE

for SU students, faculty members, employees and their immediate families only

only $285 round trip

Leaves: June 13th to London
Returns: Sept. 5th from PARIS — saves the cost of a second channel crossing!!!

for further information and reservations contact:

ALAN ROTH
Tau Epsilon Phi
472-9486
478-4676

CHAN RUDD
Delta Upsilon
475-9045

Also available: Special student tour only $775!!!

Car rentals
Eurail passes

Spring Welcomed Unofficially At SU

Spring? Not quite yet. But the grass looks just a little greener at SU and the air is just a bit warmer and the students quite a bit happier.

The balmy weather of the past five days has brought with it a tinge of spring fever and the traditional outside study.

Students are taking advantage of the good weather instead of the blizzards typical of Syracuse winters. Light coats and bright colors breeze across the quad and the general spirit of the Hill has lifted.

Spring hasn't arrived by the calendar, but it has received a royal welcome unofficially.

PHOTOS BY Steve Schwimmer

Get Yer Button!

A Barry Goldwater fan club has sprung up on the SU campus. Students have been passing out "We Like Barry" buttons on campus, with the HBC Lobby as their headquarters.

Princeton Prof Speaks On "Limitations of Math"

"The Limitations of Mathematics as Applied to Economic Theory and Policy Making" is the subject of Dr. Oskar Morgenstern's public lecture at 3:15 p.m. on Monday, March 9. Morgenstern, a professor of political economy at Princeton, will deliver his address in the Founders Room of the Syracuse University Maxwell Graduate School of Citizenship and Public Affairs. The university's department of economics will sponsor the lecture. The economist is the co-author, with John von Neumann, of "The Theory of Games and Economic Behavior." He had consulted various public and private organizations, including the Atomic Energy Commission and the Rand Corporation and served as a White House advisor during 1959-60.

How to Span the Space between Campus and Career ...Berkeley!

Add solid secretarial skills and exact business knowledge to your academic learning. Berkeley School graduates win responsible, well-paying positions in exciting fields—advertising, retailing, publishing, banking, government; in museums and schools, with airlines and architects. Special Executive Secretarial Course for College Women. Distinguished faculty. Career guidance and free lifetime placement service. Begin at Berkeley! Come in, call, or write for catalog W.

BERKELEY SCHOOL 420 Lexington Avenue, New York 17, New York MU 5-3418
122 Maple Avenue, White Plains, New York WH 8-6466
22 Prospect Street, East Orange, New Jersey OR 3-1246

You'll Save Money by Renting Your Car from

Deluxe Cars

Low Rates

WATT

BUICK SPECIALS AND F-85's—all with automatic transmission, heater, radio and seat belts.

Our exceptionally low rates include gas, oil and proper insurance.

SPECIAL RATES FOR WEEK-ENDS
Ski racks available at no extra charge.

FREE CUSTOMER PICKUP
Just call Watt at GR 2-1972. Our radio-dispatched car will pick you up at the airport, your hotel, home or office and bring you to our office to get your car. No extra charge for this service.

GR 2-1972

3 CONVENIENT LOCATIONS

- South Bay Rd. opposite Hancock Airport entrance
- 209 E. Onondaga St. near Hotel Syracuse
- 337 Peat St. near Erie Blvd. E.

Lecture Set By McKey

"France and the West" is the topic of the first Great Decisions lecture Thursday in Hendricks Chapel. The speaker will be Professor Richard H. McKey. Sponsored by the Foreign Policy Association, the lecture will be broadcast at 8 p.m., by WAER-FM.

The series will include seven other lectures on current events. Groups on the Hill will meet for informal discussion of foreign policy and then they will discuss the material in depth later in the day.

All interested students are urged to contact Miss Moore at ext. 2110.

Rienow to Discuss UN Membership

A leading New York political science professor will speak tonight at a session of the North Syracuse World Affairs Forum.

Dr. Robert Rienow, professor at the State University of New York at Albany and author of 11 books on government and politics, will discuss "Will Mass Membership Doom the United Nations"

His lecture, open to the public, is scheduled for 8 p.m. at the Village's high school on Fay Road.

Stewardesses needed by United Airlines

Classes available June through the fall
Fly the jets from coast to coast, border to border, with the country's number one airline.

Minimum Qualifications:
AGE: 19½ thru 26 years of age.
HEIGHT: 5'2" to 5'8".
WEIGHT: 105 to 140 lbs. (in proportion to height)
MARITAL STATUS: Single (may be divorced or widowed without dependents)
EDUCATION: High school graduate with two years of college or public contact experience desired.

Please contact Women's Placement Office for date and time of Stewardess interviews.
Ext. 2720

SAVOY'S

Soft - Smooth

"Velvet Vanilla"

10¢ 20¢ & 30¢

REAL ICE CREAM

- in de sundae 35¢

Book Contest

Deadline for the book collection competition is March 9. The four contests, one for each year, each offer sums of money ranging from $25 to $100. For further information go to 303 Main Library, of the Leisure Reading Room.

PEERLESS PRESS, Inc. PRINTERS

1112 E. Fayette Street
Between University & Walnut

COMPLETE PRINTING SERVICE
at your doorstep
GR 6-6051

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

CUBS	SIGOR	VOTE
AVEC	EDER	TRAN
LEAH	OPENS	CELT
LADOUCE	OTHIELLO
LIVEN	WAR
LEMAN	ZEPI	SODIC
EXETER	PIR	YALLU
ATIE	ADEND	ALL
CRIT	REIK	LOCAL
EASIT	LAND	BIPEDS
ITAM	SHAVE
MUSICAL	ETERNAL
ICE	TOMIT	ALONE
SURE	TIENE	TONG
ETES	CIDER	ENDS

ANNOUNCING THE
WINNER OF THE

ORCHID SHOPPE BEAUTY CONTEST

MISS BETSY MOSS
FRENCH COTTAGE

ENTER NOW FOR NEXT WEEK'S CONTEST AND
YOU TOO CAN WIN A DOZEN ROSES.

THE ORCHID SHOPPE

GR 2-6221 605 BUTTERNUT

Specializing in Floral Arrangements Corsages, and Personalized Napkins and Matchbooks

FREE, RAPID DELIVERY

We Wire the World Over

Guest Spot

An Internal Problem

By Marilyn Creel

The problem of our joint student government leaders and their current internal strife comes from two sources.

1. There is no channel for the teaching of leadership theory or technique within the Syracuse system. Most of the student leaders leave here no more sophisticated in the arts of political leadership than when they left high school. But this can not be cured until the second problem is solved. When student leadership achieves a self concept, the training of new leaders will be part of the system -- Leaders are allocators, mediators, and trainers.

2. The Joint Student Government self concept is wrong for the situation, not necessarily for the theory. Student life is not a sovereign existence on this campus, which is able to be represented as an equal. We do not have the power of a sovereign; to determine internal policy, and enforce it. There is no sovereignty as long as students cannot go before their peers for the final verdict on their actions. Student court has neither original nor final jurisdiction. Before a student goes before the Court his case is reviewed by the personnel deans to decide if it is petty enough. Then they have a final review power. And remember, a student may still be expelled for doing or saying "anything which might tend to shed discredit upon" Syracuse University. Since attendance at SU is a privilege, and not a right, the student is a student at the pleasure of his superiors; a position equal to that of an employee in mass industry.

The proper roll for JSG is thus that of a labor union. We are bargaining for each and every consideration from management, from an inferior position, made tenable only by management's recognition of our elected bargaining agent, and our willingness to back that bargaining agent in a pinch.

We elect our shop stewards and pay our dues. But remember it is a company union. The administration collects the fee and does it out at its pleasure. We not only have no control, we cannot audit the disbursements, since our company maintains a central treasury system -- called the general fund.

Our bargaining officials are the executive branch. You are our union executive secretaries, legal aids, and specialists. Our union leaders are the legislative leaders, acting upon the consent of the stewards. And, the strike is a legitimate weapon, among others, not for economic reprisal, but for publicity.

Public opinion is our real weapon. A student uprising is not the best publicity for a school that is only "on the edge of greatness." Food wars are not so conducive as physics discoveries in attracting the good students in the numbers this university hopes to achieve.

In case you are interested, two years ago we voted to remain a company union, by not joining the National Student Association; our only outside bargaining agent. It is too bad our executives are denied this leadership training offered by NSA, and its other aids to local campuses. Even the faculty isn't that absurd. They have AAUP, which came to bat for us in the demonstrations last fall.

There is no reason for our management to grant us a single concession, particularly one that would cost them money (a better food service) or cause them to lose control of money. (an independent student treasury.) We have to bargain with something to give in return.

What can we offer them in exchange for better food service? What can we bargain with? Only good will and the promise of future alumni contributions -- a product of good will. If they can see no advantage in a future good will on a balance sheet with current rising costs, then we must use current ill will and the threat of immediate loss in revenue through bad publicity.

For such a show of strength to be effective, it must be followed up by immediate bargaining apparatus and in an atmosphere of underlining good will on the part of our exees. This is to assure management that its concessions will be met with good will, and not continued hostility.

Yes, our executives had better be on speaking terms with the administration, if there is to be strike negotiation, and not just a cold war. Our union leaders and stewards should be looking out for the student's interests only not management's.

So, our two branches of government played their hands correctly as they saw it. But they did not see this division of labor, purpose, and activity as complementary. Their self concepts were those of an executive and legislative branch which could establish foreign policy, and then negotiate from strength against a reasonable equal. Diplomacy!

This is not the arena for political power games. That should be left for inter-student solving conflicting interests. These issues we have with the administration are "Bread and Butter" issues worth dollars and cents to our employer, an economic institution faced with great problems. State supported higher education in New York is gaining strength, and quality rapidly. Syracuse must meet this competition while facing rising costs. The minimal tuition charged today by the State universities is being used to pay off the construction bonds of the new State schools, which will have tripled their capacity by 1970.

From the point of view of the SU administration, caught in this bind, the more control they can keep over costs, and disbursements, the better their ability to control their economic position at any moment.

We must prove that well fed students will cause less publicity problems, work better, and contribute more in the future.

Until our courts have original jurisdiction, and our representatives have control of student taxes and disbursements, we can not bargain from strength; but only as employees of a tolerated company union and in an open shop. Even with a real student court and budget, we can only be a strong union with internal policy power over union and auxiliary activities.

Start with the idea. Oh leaders to be, that you are labor union organizers, at the turn of this century. It is closer to the real position of authority you have with both the students and the administration. You are our bargaining agent. We will use you to win what we can. We hope you fight for real economic gains, and not just company bowling leagues. (weekends, etc.) Only as you win each new concession will your authority with us and the administration grow.

Perhaps you can win something other than mere promises. It took the United Auto Workers decades. We aren't around that long, and the administration is. It just needs to consolidate its power and hold on. We must fight up hill, and with constantly changing personnel. A labor union fighter really is not a popular self concept for a rising status conscious young executive to hold; so don't start to fight for keeps unless you want to work, and not just be popular, top dog on campus.

Perhaps someday you will win a strong union. Do you want to fight for it with your guts, and risk the inherent dangers of going all out? You may even join national someday. It's an unpopular position, and killed the reputations of many of your former leaders around here.

Perhaps you will get better food. I hope you actually win it, and not just accept a token from the benevolent administration, as manna.

Or more realistically, perhaps you will learn to accept your lot on the assembly line. It's only four years out of your life. You never have to see or hear from this place again after that. You can compromise your humanity for that long, and that of the fresh who will come next year and in years after.

I compromised yours.

INTRAS

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

Basketball

7:00 -- Phi Delta Theta (B) vs. Zeta Beta Tau (B); DellPlain 5 (B) vs. Watson W2 (B)
7:15 -- DellPlain 6 vs. Winner Flight 7: Zeta Psi vs. Alpha Chi Rho

Handball

7:00 -- Sigma Phi Epsilon vs. Sigma Nu

Bowling

6:15 -- Marion 3 vs. winner DellPlain 2 -- Booth 1 (1-2); Phi Sigma Delta vs. winner Delta Upsilon -- Tau Delta Phi (3-4); Alpha Tau Omega vs. winner Zeta Beta Tau -- Phi Gamma Delta (5-6)

Advertising
Copywriter

MALE or FEMALE

Career Opportunity for young person to learn while working in an accredited, highly creative Syracuse Agency.

Broadcast and Print

Write: Box 100
DAILY ORANGE

BUY, SELL, or RENT

WANT a RIDE or RIDERS?

ADVERTISE!!

CAMPUS CLASSIFIEDS

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	$.85
2 days	1.65
3 days	3.15
4 days	2.40
5 days	3.55
6 days	5.20
7 days	4.55
8 days	5.85
9 days	6.45
10 days	7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.

AUTO DRIVING -- driving problems analyzed and corrected quickly and smoothly. Dual controlled cars furnished. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-3451.

TYPEWRITERS--Repaired, Rented, Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-8833. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lillian M. Potter 207 Comstock Ave. GR 6-5447.

TO BUY or SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN, Spang Motors, 1000 Hiawatha Blvd. W., 474-6007, is the place.

DANCE CLASSES. Free to all students, graduate students, staff and faculty. Registration 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, March 4, Recreation Lounge, Women's Building. Instruction in all Latin American dances. Those desiring to assist as instructors, regardless of experience, call Walt Medeiros, ext. 2283 or 2284.

DANCE LESSONS? Exclusive, inexpensive. All types, all areas. Five Dance School, 1444 E. Genesee, Fayetteville, NE 7-9111.

SLEEP-LEARNING. Hypnotism! Tapes, records, books, equipment. Astonishing details, strange catalog free! Sleep-Learning Research Assn., Box 24-CP, Olympia, Wash.

GREYHOUND BUS TICKETS, plane tickets, hotel reservations, foreign tours, car rentals. Five Star Travel Service Inc. NOW in the MUSIC BOX, 754 S. Crouse Ave. Open Mon. 10-9. Tues.-Sat. 10-5. Dial GREYhound 6-0135.

LOST: Small white mixed retriever. Answers to name of Ralph. Contact Sigma Nu, ext. 2626.

LOST -- silver disc bracelet, afternoon of 2/27. Vicinity -- Stocum hall. Reward. Tricia Zeller, ext. 2756.

FOR SALE

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of four colors of paper, three colors of ink, two sizes of sheets. Bookhall.

BROTHERHOOD, with fun and service to humanity. Rush Alpha Phi Omega. Sunday, March 8, 8 p.m., Booth lounge. 1960 IMPALA CONVERTIBLE, V-8, automatic. Radio, heater. Sell to best offer. GR 5-2576.

LAVALIERS. $2.75. Wedding, shower, baby gifts. Riviera sunglasses, watch and jewelry repairs. Available Joanne Creme Beach. Ruth's Gifts, 734 South Crouse.

NEW, EVERY MONDAY MORNING for the lowdown -- "missing you" cards. The Bookstall, 147 Marshall St.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students
3 ROOMS RECENTLY remodeled -- painting, bus, light parking. $55.00 Call 478-4388.

3 RM. apartment, furnished and heated newly painted. University section, very inexpensive. GI 6-1741 or 446-8527.

THREE ROOM APT. furnished, heated. $100 per month. 306 Marshall St.

FURNISHED HEATED apartment. 6 rooms, 3 bedrooms. Suitable group. Near Thornden Park. GR 2-2406.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models, also sales and service, special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

WILL DO TYPING IN MY HOME. Electric machine. 471-7216.

EXPERT TYPING. electric typewriter MRS. MEL SHERMAN. GR 2-2420. MRS. RAYMOND WEBB. HE 7-8259. I B M electric type writer. Specialty. Ph.D.'s, tables, text books, work proofread, satisfaction guaranteed.

at Wilsons. . .

NEW LOW PRICE!

WEBCOR
MICROCORDER
Transistor Tape Recorder
• Goes anywhere
• 2 speed dual track
COMPLETE!
99.95
NO MONEY DOWN

WILSONS Leading Jewelers

DOWNTOWN-Wilson Building

• Shop City
• Auburn

• Shoppingtown
• Northern Lights

Niagara - Orange Battle

Home Finale

Capt. CARL VERNICK will be appearing in his last regular season game tonight on the home court, "Gyro", a senior, set the university sophomore scoring record two years ago with 395 points as his club finished the season 2-22. Carl, with 55 points thus far this year, has an outside shot at Vic Hanson's all-time record season of 601.

Dave Bing Named To All-East Team For First Time

Dave Bing started last week needing eight points to set a new Hill soph scoring record. When the week was over Bing had netted 83 points in three rugged road games, in addition to his usually superb passing and rebounding, to help the Orangemen to three straight wins.

Bing received further recognition for his amazing week by being named to the this week's Eastern Collegiate Athletic Association All-Star Team. It was Bing's first appearance on the honor squad.

Other members of the team include Frank Corace, LaSalle; Tim Kehoe, St. Peter's; Jim Christy, Georgetown; and Steve Courtin, St. Joseph's (Pa.).

For the season Bing has pumped in 480 points for a 21.8 norm. The old soph scoring record of 395 was set by Carl Vernick in 1962.

Tonight local fans will get a chance to see Bing in action as the Orangemen play Niagara in Manley Field House.

The visiting Purple Eagles should be well-acquainted with Bing, for it was the Hill soph who back on Feb. 5 netted a jump shot at the buzzer to give the Salt City entry an 83-81 overtime victory in the team's first meeting.

HOOP STATS

	Fgm	Fga	%	Ftm	Fta	%	Reb.	Pts.	Ave.
Richards	161	273	59.9	148	203	72.9	203	470	22.4
Bing	185	394	46.9	110	154	71.4	184	480	21.8
Goldsmith	70	164	42.7	41	62	66.1	140	181	8.2
Schoff	51	112	45.5	41	51	80.4	76	143	6.8
Eceheim	37	78	47.4	23	29	79.3	34	97	4.4
Duffy	38	79	48.1	16	24	66.7	22	96	4.8
Nicoletti	38	90	42.2	19	35	54.3	47	95	5.0
Murray	15	29	51.7	5	6	83.3	16	35	2.9
Ableman	23	53	43.4	13	22	59.1	49	59	3.3
Vernick	21	45	46.7	13	17	76.5	28	55	2.8
Seaman	18	41	40.9	19	25	76.0	3	55	3.9
Trebridge	8	28	28.6	2	11	18.2	33	18	1.1
Penceal	32	77	4.6	11	20	55.0	36	75	3.8

Home Finale For Orangemen; NIT Vigil Continues on Campus

By BERNIE MacCALLUM
Sports Editor

It's "Home Sweet Home" for the last time this season in Manley Field House as the Orangemen play host to Niagara University.

Tip-off will be at 8:30 p.m. for the varsity game with the frosh playing the Niagara yearlings at 6:15 p.m. The varsity game will be broadcast over WAER.

Coach Lewis will go with Dave Bing, Chuck Richards, Richie Duffy, Norm Goldsmith and either Frank Nicoletti or Sam Penceal. Lewis will start Sad Sam if Art Coleman is in the Niagara starting lineup.

After tonight's contest Syracuse will finish out the regular season on the road against the University of Connecticut.

The Orange return to the fieldhouse after three road victories last week. Cornell, Col-

JIM KURYAK

The Purple Eagles of Coach Raps Gallagher have lost nine of their last 10 games and are 7-11 on the season.

Over the weekend Niagara dropped a 91-69 decision to St. Bonaventure.

Syracuse won an overtime game 83-81 at Niagara early in the season.

The Purple Eagles will start George Phillips, 6-6, Jim Kuryak, 6-2, Pat Broderick, 6-0, Joe White, 6-3, and either Art Coleman, 6-3, or Dom Ventura, 6-5.

Coleman is the team's fourth leading scorer with a 10.6 average, however, against St. Bonnie replacing him with Ventura.

Phillips is the top gun with a 13.4 average.

The two backcourt men Broderick and Kuryak are scoring at a 11.9 clip.

If Bing keeps pace with his 21.8 scoring average he will go over the 500 point mark this season. He now has 480.

Athletic Policy

By Neil Kerr

For every action there is an equal and opposite reaction. Oddly enough, this axiom is obeyed even by the Syracuse University Athletic Department.

Recent actions by the department have been aimed at producing nationally prominent basketball and football teams. Meanwhile the university has adopted a policy which, in all likelihood, will result in the gradual decline of the Hill swimming, gymnastic and wrestling teams.

The university policy is expressed in one inflexible rule; a rule which often discourages top-notch athletes from attending Syracuse. It stipulates that an SU swimmer, gymnast or wrestler must first win his event at the Eastern Regionals before going to the NACC championships.

Only in the event that Syracuse wins a team championship at the Easterns can an SU non-winner advance to the NCAA's.

As a result, an SU athlete can't afford an off-day at the Easterns. Even if he's the nation's best in his event, a sub-par performance at the regionals could cost him a national title.

Take Jack Nesbitt for example. In 1961 he swam the 220 and 440-yard freestyles for the Orange and was expected to place high - possibly win - at the NCAA's. However, at the Regionals he lost by a matter of inches.

Nesbitt never got a chance for revenge or to win a national championship since this narrow upset cost him a trip to the NCAA's.

The SU policy also insures the fact that two university athletes in the same event will never reach the NCAA's. If two teammates finished 1-2 in the Easterns, only the winner would advance to the Nationals.

Syracuse coaches agree that it's possible to finish second or third in the Easterns, yet have a hot day at the NCAA's and win a title. They believe that all the finalists should be eligible for the NCAA's due to the terrific competition offered at the Eastern Regionals.

Outstanding SU gymnasts of recent years have also suffered under this rule. In 1962, Corky Voas and Ron Orlick won Eastern championships in tumbling and long horse vaulting. At the same time Ray Grimaldi and Carl Poplar were second place finishers. Only Voas and Orlick traveled to the NCAA's at Albuquerque.

The year before Grimaldi had been a sophomore runner-up in the sidehorse at the Easterns. Yet Corky Voas, a regional winner, was SU's only representative at the NCAA's that year.

Meanwhile, teams such as Penn State, Temple, Pitt, Colgate and Cornell have been taking representative groups to the Nationals. In many instances, their men have been defeated in dual competition with Syracuse.

If cost is the prohibitive factor, perhaps funds could be set aside each year to support trips for possible NCAA finalists or winners. One cost-cutting device would be to have different SU athletic teams travel together when they are all slated for competition with one rival school on the same weekend.

Also unlucky is the Syracuse wrestler who places second, third or fourth at the Easterns. There is often little difference in the abilities of the top three or four men in a weight class. Time and time again a wrestler has failed to win at the Regionals but has won the Nationals.

A glance at the record book confirms this statement. In the past ten years, a total of 13 eastern wrestlers have lost out in the Easterns but have gone on to win National titles.

No SU wrestler is listed among these "second chance" winners because a wrestler never gets a second chance at Syracuse.

During the last few years eastern wrestling has been fast catching up with midwest. So, if a man has an off-day or is physically under the weather and doesn't win at the Easterns, he still has a chance of placing well in the Nationals.

The present rule, requiring a Syracusan to win a Regional title before advancing to the NCAA's, is also a definite hindrance to SU recruiting. A high school coach won't recommend Syracuse to his top athletes if he is aware of the athletic policy here.

When a rival college coach discovers that one of his choice high school prospects is considering Syracuse, he can persuade the boy otherwise by simply explaining the facts of strife at Syracuse.

As a result, SU coaches Ted Webster (swimming), Paul Romeo (gymnastics), and Ed Carlin (wrestling) are under a severe handicap in trying to build winning teams.

March on Albany To Include SUCE

The Syracuse University Committee on Equality will participate in the one-day March on Albany Tuesday, March 10 to press for civil rights and social legislation in this session of the New York state legislature.

Buses with SU participants will leave from the Savoy at 7:40 p.m. March 10. The cost for the bus trip is $4. Students who wish to register for the march must do so by Monday. Registration is being conducted in H.B. Crouse Lobby from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. and Syracuse Book Center from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Anyone who wishes to register over the weekend may contact Danny Mitchell at 476-0663 or Rudy Lombard at 474-3074. As of Wednesday afternoon, 35 people from SU had registered for the demonstration.

The demands which the demonstrators are marching for are:

—A state law to provide a $1.50 minimum hourly wage covering workers in both interstate and intrastate commerce including all workers currently excluded from the protection of state and federal minimum wage laws.

A state law making rent strikes legal; and the appropriation of funds for a massive program to provide integrated housing for working people at rents they are able to pay.

—A state law extending collective bargaining rights to vote throughout the state and bringing these workers under the protection of the state unemployment insurance and anti-discrimination laws.

A state law prohibiting discrimination by unions and management in apprenticeship training programs.

—Provisions for substantial financial aid for the development of quality, integrated education throughout the state with special attention to New York City. And a state law guaranteeing tuition free education at all state-supported colleges.

A state law eliminating the literacy test as a requirement

(See March, Page 7)

Litwin Discusses JSG-JSL Split

By DAVID SOSNA

Jay Litwin, speaker of Joint Student Legislature, stated that there definitely is a "rift" between himself and James Morris, president of Joint Student Government.

Speaking of Morris's actions preceding the Feb. 20 food service boycott, Litwin said, "The rift started when Morris put the box (a notification of JSG's opposition to the legislature's boycott proposal) in the DO."

When the Daily Orange asked Litwin if all channels of communication between student government and administration had been exhausted, he replied "I'll give a qualified yes. Although we had not spoken to everyone possible, we felt that there was an indication that we would not get anywhere talking."

"The boycott was necessary and when Jim put the box in, he split the government. JSL went with the students and Jim went with JSG and the administration."

Litwin stated that he did not feel that the existing separation was detrimental. He declared "The next important issue that comes before the government will bring us much closer together than we have

(See Litwin, Page 7)

Orange Slam Niagara As Bing Passes '500'

To Shoot or Not to Shoot

High flying DAVE BING looks around to decide whether to pass off or shoot. The Hill sophomore decided to do the latter, registering two points.

By BERNIE MacCALLUM
Sports Editor

Mr. David Bing stuffed in his 20th and 21st points of the night, his 500th and 501st of the season, with 3:35 left in the game, as the Orangemen were well on their way to burying Niagara University, 97-72, Wednesday night in the Manley Field House.

The "Capitol Comet" thus became the second player in Syracuse University history to join the "500 Club." Vin Cohen scored 605 in the 1955-56 season.

It was a tired and elated Bing in the post-game locker room. "My goal at the beginning of the season was the sophomore record," Dave said. "This is certainly one of my biggest thrills."

In another corner of the dressing room, Coach Fred Lewis said in reference to the NIT situation, "We are incensed that we haven't received a bid. I am worried that the team might give up in the Connecticut game if we haven't received any word. We deserve it just as any of the teams already in

(See Bing, Page 8)

'Footprints' Change Set

The evening panel discussions for the Footprints series have been shifted from Gifford Auditorium to Hendricks Chapel in order to accommodate a larger seating capacity.

The series of lectures will be held at 3 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The panel discussions will be held at 8 p.m.

Ross Barnett, former Mississippi governor will speak Tuesday, while John Lewis, director of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, will speak Thursday. The Wednesday speaker has not been named.

Button Buttons on Sale Today

"Buy a Button Button in color for the Game Game" is the cry which will be heard in the Huntington H. Crouse lobby on Thursday, Friday and Monday as buttons are sold for the student Union basketball game. The buttons which cost 25 cents each, come in five colors: white, red, yellow, pink and light blue.

The program, which will be held Monday at the Manley Field House, will feature games in which the varsity basketball team will oppose the frosh and the student government will oppose the administration. The games will start at 9:15 p.m. and 8 p.m. respectively and intermission entertainment has been assured according to Sue Golden, program chairmen. hers have the following suggestions for the use of Button Buttons: put them on Goon hats; make double-breasted PGR's; or just wear them to support Student Union.

Ultimately they may be coordinated with Spring outfits and become the year's Easter fad.

JSG MEETS TODAY

Joint Student Court will meet at 7 p.m. today in Chapel House. Attendance is imperative for all members.

Ten Nights

MARION PRESENT and DICK FOLMER tenderly embrace as they vow to fight the evils of Demon Rum. The two star in the temperance play "10 Nights in a Bar-room," which will open on March 12 at the Regent Theatre.

"Ten Nights" Drama To Prohibit Liquor

The Syracuse University Drama Department will present its latest offering, "Ten Nights in a Bar-Room" on March 12 at the University Regent Theatre.

The classic temperance book, by Shay Arthur, was written during the 19th century as a warning against the evils of alcoholism. The original book action took place over 10 nights, but the play form compressed the time expansion for the sake of unity.

The SU version is being directed by Dr. Joseph Golden, assistant professor of the drama department. Golden joined the SU faculty this year, after leaving Cornell University where he taught and directed over 20 plays.

Golden has also been in charge of Nickel Theatre, which presents plays for an admission charge of five cents and offers after-theatre discussions led by Golden.

NetworkExec Seminar Set

Edgar J. Sherick, vice president of television network programming for American Broadcasting Co., today begins a two-day series of appearances at Syracuse University seminars and classes.

He is the second guest speaker in the television-radio series. In all, 10 communications authorities will participate.

Political Top Whirls and Whirls

Here we go again! As the time for the March campus elections nears the campus political parties are busy planning the platitudinous campaigns which they are going to wage on the student body.

But the type of campaign which the parties will run on campus is not nearly so important as the tactics used by the parties internally.

With all the flourishes of a national political party, campus politicians go through the motions of being political bosses. They have meetings to plan strategy, pick candidates and contrive tricky slogans to entice the students.

However, this is not all play acting and it does not always provide the campus with the best qualified candidates for campus office, nor does it really provide adequate leadership for the parties. It actually confuses the average student and leaves questions, year to year, unanswered.

A secret ballot proposal two years ago was voted down by the United Students Party. At the time, the party was told that this type of balloting was used by the major political parties. A rollcall vote, used extensively, gives the politicians an idea of who opposes his candidacy and who supports him.

The highly polished and efficient national parties should be able to give a few lessons to their one-day followers.

College politics are nothing more than miniature versions of national groups — which are far from perfect.

The campus politician will one day graduate from the Hill and take his place in the grown-up world. Perhaps many of them will seek a place in politics at some level of government.

If they do, it will indeed be unfortunate that they never had a chance to develop any political technique while in college.

The problems which face campus political parties continue from year to year and never lessen, except when the unusual leader emerges.

It is a shame that the student politicians cannot make the necessary steps forward and set the precedent for their elders rather than just mimic them.

Perhaps this year it will be different. At least we can hope so.

O Say Can You See From The Cold

By Ken Auletta

Spring comes quickly, causing much discomfort for the Syracuse student: hard tops need be given to daddy for soft ones, white skin need be subjected to the hot sun so that it may brown, perspiration need be combatted by wearing bermuda shorts. It's all very difficult.

We're not the only ones who suffer — however. Out in America, somewhere, are 40 to 50 million poor people; out there, there is a rat for each of us; those sharp-toothed, long-tailed animals which bite a child's soft skin, and only scare us. Out there, somewhere, contrary to Dan Stone, there is no Santa Claus; only a daily anguish which decreases in pain as it increases in duration. The newspapers and the television and the books tell us this, in different words. And to illustrate our learning capacity, we repeat the latest information received until we know it by habit. We are very good. We are at Syracuse.

It is winter, and the Ward is mostly quiet; and the pickets are working in-doors; and the poor are crowded about small heaters. And we are warm.

But life isn't what it used to be; no longer do certain people allow us the comfort of words alone. Core people and colored people, in strong actions and hard stares... pinch us. No one takes our word — alone — anymore. It's very embarrassing.

And then Spring comes; and the Ward comes alive; and the pickets chant songs and circle the pavement; and the poor burst from their homes and out into the alleys and the fields... The strange music of the discontented begins to creep within our ears, igniting passionate responses which, later, fade into shiny badges of our merit.

But life isn't what it used to be; labels have changed... to be a "liberal" is to be a wordy conservative. Events blink by so quickly that our minds are numbed and incapable of stretching enough so that we may comprehend and grow with them.

It was last year—just about this time—that the convulsion really began. It was very distant. Then, as time passed and wisdom accumulated, the leaders of the civil rights movement came to see the necessity of broadening their minority so that it would encompass many of the other discontents within our society. The poor and unemployed, the labor unions, the tuition-paying State University of New York, student... all broadened the base. The civil rights revolution has become the human rights revolution; while we struggle to keep abreast with the newspapers and the television and the books and the certain people tell us.

Only one thing seems to remain constant through all of this turbulence and that is our basic inability to truly understand the pain of another. How can one know, truly, that which he has never experienced? How can I say a soft yes to the complaint of a man I hardly know? I can... but maybe I shouldn't. Maybe I should be simply quiet or simply indignant—not simply, in-between.

But there is more to our innocence than a deep and abiding interest in ourselves and nourishing our superfluities... For one, there are our optimists: those who need search for their evidence; those who have been promising reward and paying in delayed blushes. Secondly, there is society, which conveniently keeps such raw and vulgar things from our true consciousness. Another America, drowning in squalor and despair... united in pain. And we do not—all of us—even approach an understanding of it. For we do not see it.

And so Spring is here again. And this Tuesday there is a March On Albany, not alone for the Negro and his civil rights, but broader, for man and his human rights. Most of us will have our shiny soft-topped cars by then, our flesh will be growing darker, and our bermuda shorts will have allowed cool breezes to refresh our hairy legs. The occasional guest from this hidden America will still elicit our soft yes's and our worn and swollen words. And someone will caution him patience and promise Santa Claus, while others will deny that he exists. But most of us will just shine our cars.

Till one day, when our guest acts like we were his guest. And then we will jump!

LETTERS

Mr. Porte

To the Editor:

I just don't know about Andy Porte. Take his column of Feb. 28.

He begins by comparing Litwin to Cassius Clay, calling Ken Auletta the "new darling of the student body," criticizing Litwin's supporters for being poorly attired, and by calling the girls among those supporters the "harem." With apparent short memory he criticizes others a few lines down for "lowering themselves to discussing personalities."

He states that Wednesday's special meeting, "Morris tried to keep the subject confined to issues." Ask people who attended both that meeting and the regular one the week before just how issue-conscious Morris was, alluding questions that would have damaged his position, calling on friendly speakers two, three and four times, hostile ones once or not at all.

Porte refers to Litwin's parliamentary supporters as "Henchmen." I refer him to those same JSL representatives who noticed quite a few people last Wednesday they hadn't seen the week before, almost all of them for Morris, being called on again and again. Are these people not henchmen—simply because they have the floor when they spoke?

Porte states as fact, "An emotion - pitched legislature voted to boycott." The only evidence of this emotional pitch comes from the vice-president, who needed to save face both with Morris and the JSL for not speaking out at the meeting, and from the fellow who claims to have voted against the boycott proposal, but who obviously did not have the courage of his convictions to raise his hand. This is hardly reliable evidence, certainly not enough to establish fact.

Porte, with others, has said that JSL should not act without the knowledge of the executive. I have yet to learn why not. Why shouldn't the duly elected representatives of the students act in a duly constituted body without first bowing to the vested interest, whether student or administrative?

Apparently as a general truism, Porte advises that "it's much easier to arrive at a workable decision in a few meetings than in a mass gathering where everyone's worried about public appearance."

On the same page the editorial points out that people are just as worried about how they look at committee meetings as at mass gatherings, and also that the "few meetings" technique is a perfect way to keep the student body in the dark.

For the persistent usage of the "unified" slogan, cite Louis N. Flohr's letter of Feb. 27. As for this appeal to unity it seems nothing more than the Morris power structure telling every one else to "get thee behind me Satan."

If the only way to unity is for the JSL and its supporters to bow to personal interest and distortion of fact, then who wants it?

Esley Hamilton
Class of '67

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2 March 5, 1964

Editor-In-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor Clayton F. Richards
News Editor Andrew Porte
Editorial Director Adair DuFine
Sports Editor Bernard MacCallum
Art Editor Rea Turel
Photography Editor Steve Schwimmer

BUSINESS STAFF

National Adv. Mgr. Lynn Mandel
Classified Mgr. Christine Sedriak
Promotion Mgr. Stu Shapiro
Asst. Bus. Mgr. Jon Weisberg
Layout Managers Martha Johannek; Lillian Lahr

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 200 Brooklea Drive Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter a U. S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

TREVER ON CAMPUS

Caught in Passing

More on "The Victors"

By Jeff Zients

In Monday's Daily Orange a column was written reviewing Carl Foreman's latest motion picture "The Victors." While the columnist shared my general opinion of the effort I feel he did not go far enough. The plot and message of this film are the same: War is Hell. Writer-Producer-Director Foreman makes this point in the first five minutes of his film. Then he makes it again, and again, and again, and again and so on. The most cliché ridden lines since Audie Murphy wiped out all of North Korea come fast and furious. Even Americans are rat finks in war, says Foreman, my gosh they even shoot innocent little puppy dogs!

But Hollywood being Hollywood a good war film is not complete without a beautiful girl to send the hero off in an "I'll be back for you, Helga, and we'll live in Seaside" mood. Foreman has three such lovelies but these are of a tougher variety than the norm. His female stars are Romy Schneider, Melina Mercouri, and Elke Sommer. Luckily Foreman's male heroes are right out of SU and wouldn't think of taking advantage of these anxious lassies even in wartime. And so the plot sickens...

The male stars of the flick are so numerous we just don't have the space. Worth mentioning are Albert Finney, whose name is plastered all over the theatre and is given top billing and who appears on film for less than a moment as a Russian guard. George Peppard and the rest are part but, wait a minute, that guy third from the left is Dr. Ben Casey. Yes, Vince Edwards joins the war going "in" crowd and comes off just about unrecognizable.

We understand that certain scenes were not shown here in Syracuse including a German homosexual, Melinda Mercouri seducing one of the G.I.'s and others. Well, I guess they needed to cut something. They left in one good scene, though. Frank Sinatra sings "Have Your Self a Merry Little Christmas" as our boys form a fitting squad and do in a fellow GI Joe for deserting. Well, at least he didn't have to stay and see more of Foreman's epic.

Krasner Plays Berg Concerto

Louis Krasner will be the featured artist at the Syracuse Symphony concert at 8:40 p.m. March 13 and 14 at Lincoln Auditorium.

Krasner joined the SU School of Music faculty in 1949 and has been conductor of the Syracuse University Symphony since 1955. A graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, Krasner has appeared in concerts extensively throughout Europe and the United States.

Krasner will perform Alban Berg's "Violin Concerto." He has performed the premieres of works by Sessions, Casella, Schoenberg, and Achron as well as the Berg Concerto.

Krasner will also perform the "Roman Carnival Overture" by Berlioz and Beethoven's "Symphony No. 8, in F".

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

B	B	L	S	C	I	R	C	C	U	S	P	S
R	E	A	R	U	R	A	L	O	N	T	A	P
E	N	T	O	U	R	A	G	E	A	S	U	R
D	E	C	L	A	D	R	A	R	E	S	I	I
A	T	H	L	E	T	E	M	O	S	E
G	U	I	T	A	R	O	N	E	R	U	L	L
I	S	T	H	A	N	T	D	A	M	E
F	E	E	D	O	P	E	C	L	O	M	S	Y
T	R	A	V	E	L	E	R	A	U	K
A	F	A	R	A	N	N	E	S	T	I
P	A	H	L	E	V	I	B	I	G	T	O	O
O	L	E	I	C	T	A	B	L	E	T	A	L	K
L	E	A	S	T	I	D	O	L	S	K	Y	E
A	C	R	E	S	F	A	T	E	T	E	L	L

Bernie Manheim's BON TON

SEAT COVERS

Kleer Plastic
Saran Plastic
Nylon
Fiber

FREE INSURANCE ESTIMATES

Give a Bon-Ton Gift Certificate

Hickok Auto Seat Belts

BOAT TOPS, COVERS and WINDSHIELDS

CONVERTIBLE TOPS To Fit All Cars

BON-TON

420 Erie Blvd., East

OPEN Daily 9 A.M. to 8 P.M.
Mon. - Fri. 11:30 P.M.
GR 6-3107
PH. GR 6-3031

SECOND ANNUAL SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY

FOLK FESTIVAL

MARCH 20, 21, 22, 1964

AN EXCITING ROUND-ROBIN OF CONCERTS, HOOTENANNIES, SEMINARS, WORKSHOPS, CLINICS, AND TALENT COMPETITION

—FEATURING AMERICA'S FINEST FOLK ARTISTS—

DOC WATSON JEAN RITCHIE THE GREENBRIAR BOYS

REV. GARY DAVIS GIL TURNER ROGER SPRUNG

THE SHANTY BOYS THE ALL-NIGHT SINGERS

AND MANY OTHERS.

YOUR FESTIVAL HOST

JERRY SILVERMAN

AUTHOR, PERFORMER, MUSICOLOGIST, ASSOCIATE EDITOR OF SING OUT

GENERAL ADMISSION TICKET FOR ENTIRE FESTIVAL $2.50

SPECIAL ADVANCED SALE - TO MARCH 18 ONLY - $2.00

FESTIVAL SPONSORED BY

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY BOOKSTORES

FESTIVAL HEADQUARTERS

CORNER BOOKSTORE MUSIC DEPARTMENT
343 SO. CROUSE AVE. SYRACUSE, N.Y. 13210
PHONE 476-5571 EX 2008

TICKETS AND FULL INFORMATION AVAILABLE AT FESTIVAL HEADQUARTERS AND AT FAMOUS ARTISTS TICKET OFFICE - CLARK MUSIC BLDG., SALINA ST.

100 LP RECORDS -- GUITARS -- SONG BOOKS WILL BE GIVEN AWAY

Race Relation Plays Slated

A unique attack on basic racial equality questions will be presented at 8 p.m. Friday in Grace Episcopal Church parish house.

The program features three plays written by Rev. Malcolm Boyd, to be presented by a company under his direction. The three are entitled, "The Job," "A Study in Color," and "Boy." They were selected as among the best plays of the '62-'63 season.

The plays were premiered in Detroit and have toured the country. The original cast will appear in Friday's performance.

The troupe's appearance is being sponsored by Grace Church, the Episcopal Church at Syracuse University, the Episcopal Society for Cultural and Racial Unity, and the Syracuse committee of Congress on Racial Equality. Tickets will be available at the door.

SOCCER

All students interested in playing for the Soccer Club this spring and fall should contact Walt Couser (ext. 2022) or Mike Bello (GI 6-1453).

W A E R
88.3 mc
THURSDAYS
4:00	Sign On, News.
4:15	WAER Highlights
4:30	Experiment in Music
4:45	World of the Paperback
5:00	Communicate
5:15	Dan Stone and the News
5:30	Orange Spotlight
5:45	Sounds of Literature
6:00	Ziente-Torman Report
6:15	Great Decisions
6:30	The 8:30 Report
6:45	Sweet and Swingin'
7:00	Symposium
7:15	Baroque Concert Hall
7:30	Late Night Report
7:45	Broadway Showtime

Syracuse Symphony
KARL KRITZ, conductor

FRI.-SAT., MAR. 13-14

LOUIS KRASNER, Violinist

Berg
VIOLIN CONCERTO
BARBER
BALLET SUITE SOUVENIR

Lincoln Auditorium, 8:40 p.m.
$1.50, 2., 2.75, 3.50, stud. 75c
Hotel Onondaga — 472-5293

Students for Rockefeller Meeting TONIGHT

7:30

111 Maxwell

Daily Crossword Puzzle

- | | | | | | |
|--------|-------------------|------|--------------------|----|---------------------|
| ACROSS | | | | | |
| 1 | Tweet-tweet. | 52 | Left isolated. | 21 | Boggy. |
| 6 | Sharp. | 56 | Elf. | 24 | Small portion. |
| 10 | Three: Ger. | 58 | Vacuum tube. | 25 | "The Forsyte |
| 14 | Insurgent. | 59 | Dresden's river. | | " |
| 15 | Lay by. | 60 | Wrestling hold. | 26 | Degree. |
| 16 | Islets. | 61 | Ruhr city. | 27 | Creator of King |
| 17 | Griddlecake: Sp. | 62 | Topsy-turvy | | Log and King |
| 18 | Scarebabe: 3 | | state. | | Stork. |
| 20 | Another 18 | 63 | Shepherd's | 28 | Destructive insect. |
| | words. | | concern. | 29 | The "Heathen |
| 22 | Stage forest. | 64 | Sly glances. | | Chinese:" 2 words. |
| 23 | Far East title. | | | 30 | English novelist. |
| 24 | Expressed in | DOWN | | 33 | Prices. |
| | words. | 1 | Complain. | 35 | Town near Fort |
| 25 | Ladderlike. | 2 | Intrepid one. | | Devens. |
| 28 | Object of dread. | 3 | "— your | 37 | Augurs. |
| 31 | Tavern order. | | pardon:" 2 | 39 | Plant of the |
| 32 | Ulster county. | | words. | | lily family. |
| 34 | American ostrich. | 4 | Abrogate. | 41 | Trip. |
| 36 | Canadian | 5 | Chum. | 42 | Decant. |
| | peninsula. | 6 | — as (to the | 45 | Colorado: Abbr. |
| 38 | Jeanne d'— | | extent that): | 47 | Juvenile heroine. |
| 39 | Put to test. | | 2 words. | 49 | Members of |
| 40 | Hebrew lyre. | 7 | City on the Orne. | | FDIC. |
| 41 | Imbues. | 8 | Common | 50 | Acting part. |
| 43 | Chemical suffix. | | contraction. | 51 | Wanes. |
| 44 | Phantom. | 9 | Madame —, | 52 | Rodents. |
| 46 | Kitchen gadget. | | Dickens character. | 53 | Nozzle. |
| 48 | Small coins. | 10 | Slowpokes. | 54 | River into the |
| 49 | Furniture | 11 | Prevalent. | | Fulda. |
| | decoration. | 12 | Vingt— | 55 | Animal abodes. |
| 50 | Emirate, for one. | 13 | Doctrine. | 56 | Border. |
| | | | Wearer of a | 57 | Shallow. |
| | | | burnoose. | | |

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14						15				16
17						18				19
20						21				22
				23				24
25	26	27					28				29	30
31					32		33				34		35
36				37			38				39
40						41				42		43
	44				45					46		47
				48				49
	50	51						52				53	54	55
56
57
58
59
60
61
62
63
64

AWS Names Officer Candidates

The Association of Women Students has announced its candidates for spring elections for the offices of president and overall guide chairman.

Presidential candidates are Dianne Kessler from Holland Patent and Joan Moore from LaFayette.

Miss Kessler has served as assistant dorm council chairman for AWS and is on junior class executive council. She is a member of Lambda Sigma Sigma, junior women's honorary, Beta Theta Phi, philosophy honorary, is a candidate for ROTC military ball queen and has a 1.51 cumulative.

Miss Moore has served the AWS junior officer in charge of publicity, chairman of sorority women for Campus Chest and president of her living center. She is in the AWS assembly class, is an organist for St. Thomas More Chapel and has a 2.12 average.

The candidate receiving the most votes will become president, and the runner-up will become vice-president in charge of Standards Council.

Candidates for overall guide

DIANNE KESSLER

JOAN MOORE

MYRA LAMPMAN

JUDY TABAKIN

chairman are Myra Lampman of Binghamton and Judy Tabakin from Elkins Park, Penn.

Miss Lampman, WAER public relations director, is a member of Lambda Sigma Sigma, Phi Sigma Alpha, the political science honorary, Syrafrins and is a AWS guide. She has a 2.1 average.

Miss Tabakin is ideas and exchange chairman for Panhellenic rush chairman for her sorority, has been head of the JSG secretariat, is a member of Goon Squad and AWS guides and has a 1.5 average. The runner up for the position will become campus guide chairman.

TV Magazine Begins 3rd Year

The third year of publication of "Television Quarterly" got underway last week with the mailing of Volume III, No. 1 according to Dr. A. William Bluem, associate professor of radio-television at Syracuse University, and editor of the publication.

The Quarterly is published by the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences in cooperation with the Syracuse University Television and Radio Center. The Academy is also the organization which awards annual "Emmys" for excellence in television.

Dr. Bluem, who said the Quarterly has maintained a continuing increase in circulation from its inception, reported it is now close to the 8,000 level.

Other aspects of the growth of the publication are equally optimistic, he reports. "We are trying to bridge the gap between the academicians in the schools of communication and the professionals in the industry," he said.

A list of contributors to the publication in its two years of existence shows a large representation from both professional and academic fields. Names like George Gubler, Paul Weston, Fairfax M. Cone from the professional area, and anthropologist Henry Lee Smith of the State College at Buffalo, social researcher John W. Evans of the United States Information Agency, and Dr. Samuel Gould of the New York educational television station, WNDT, of academic pursuits, all have appeared as byline writers.

Two members of the SU faculty have authored articles for the Quarterly. They are Philip Booth of the English department and Dr. Lawrence Myers of the radio-television faculty.

Conversations have been published on serious topics of the television spectrum by such personalities as Reuben Frank, Don Hewitt, Steve Allen, Dick Gregory, E. G. Marshall, Marc Connelly and George C. Scott.

Syracuse University is well represented on the editorial board of the Quarterly. Editor Bluem, and Kenneth G. Bartlett, SU vice president and dean of public affairs, are among the 19 members.

Other prominent board members include Max Wyllie, Walter Cronkite, Joseph Klapper, Eugene S. Foster, Gilbert Seldes, Lawrence Laurent and Jacqueline Habbinn.

As the Quarterly began its third volume, an editorial by Editor Bluem called on interested students of the medium to probe television's unique role in communications.

"The artist, the journalist, the social scientist and above all, the philosopher must come to this medium with humility and a sharpened sense of inquiry—and they must come soon. If the emerging 'schools' of communication fail to observe this desperate need — and too few show such inclination—then the professionals must assume the responsibility. Hopefully, some have already begun to move in this direction.

"For we face this possibility: In the year 2000 a typical child born into this world may spend one-fifth of the total waking hours of his life attending to messages emanating from a television receiver. Perhaps this explains, as we commence the third year of publication of Television Quarterly, why those who are associated with this journal feel some satisfaction."

We try harder

$11.50 For Entire Weekend & $.10 a Mile

501 S. Salina St.

422-4171

Avis rents Fords and other fine cars

SATURDAY
MARCH 7th
8:30 PM

ODETTA

TICKETS: $3.00 - 2.50 - 2.00

RESERVATIONS: 476-4536

University Regent Theatre

820 EAST GENESEE STREET

Harrassed by Smashed Glasses!

We work miracles replacing your broken lenses in just one day.

No need to create a crisis at home getting new lenses. Carpenter & Hughes can duplicate your lenses to the exacting prescription specifications of your home-town eye physician—just from the broken pieces. That's the promise of Central New York's only complete dispensing laboratory.

Confidently choose contact lenses, regular or prescription sun glasses—with the newest in frames from our Fashion Center for Frames.

Carpenter & Hughes

OVER 165,000 PRESCRIPTION EXPERIENCE
State Tower Bldg. Center of City

Between the Lines

Why So Many Catalogues

The SU Library

Are you completely confused whenever you are confronted with the card catalog in the main library? Have you ever wondered just why you have to look in so many places to find the information you need? What is all this about an old author-title catalog and a new one, and an old subject catalog and a new one, and a supplementary catalog? What is wrong with having just one good old-fashioned card catalog—like the one you used to use in your school or public library?

Believe it or not, all this dividing of the card catalog is done to make it easier to use and more accessible to more people at a time. You must remember that the card catalog in the main library is a union catalog and as such indexes all the holdings of the branches as well as the materials in the main library.

You are used to a dictionary catalog—one in which all the cards for a book are filed in one alphabet. This is the kind of card catalog most common and the kind found in most of the branch libraries on campus. Compare the size of these catalogs and the use they get with the one in the main library and its use. There are some days it is difficult to get near the union catalog because there are so many people using it.

Ever stop to realize just how you use the card catalog when you are looking for a book with a specific title or one by a certain author? You can usually find whether or not it is in the library, jot down the call number and be on your way in a relatively short time. But sometimes you need to find out just what books the library has on a specific subject, may be it's term paper time again.

When you are choosing books on a subject you need to look the cards over carefully and try to choose the ones which best suit your purpose from the information given on the catalog cards. You may need to copy down several titles. This takes time.

This is why the university library has what is known in library language as a 'divided catalog.' The subject cards have all been separated from the others and filed in a separate alphabet and thus a separate catalog. Therefore, if you need to look for a book by F. Scott Fitzgerald, you don't have to wait for someone who is looking for books about him to finish with the drawer so you can look and be on your way.

Well, that explains the author-title and subject catalog divisions. Now what about What is all this you keep hearing about L. C. and Dewey? Most of us grew up on the Decimal Classification system—some of us even had teachers who seemed to think that we should memorize the ten main classes and some even went so far as to impress upon us the need for memorizing the ten subdivisions under each of these. In fact, there was a time for some of us that we wished books could be arranged by color or something so we wouldn't have to memorize any more numbers. Many of us were impressed by the fact that the call number of a book consisted of the classification number plus the author letter and some more numbers. So why is it called a number when it contains the term 'factor symbol' could be used instead of call number. Isn't that what the number assigned the book really is—a means of quickly locating that book?

The Dewey Decimal Classification system is not perfect—no classification scheme is—but it is reasonably satisfactory until a library reaches a certain size. We have reached that size and this is why we have decided to use the Library of Congress classification for much more expansion. At the time the decision to adopt the new classification scheme was made, it was further decided to start a new card catalog. All new titles added to the library collections after April, 1962 have been classified in the new system as well as added copies of titles already cataloged earlier. This involves reclassifying the earlier copies.

You may have noticed that the Library of Congress classification symbols—numbers, if you must—include letters as well as numbers. Several years ago letters were used instead of stamps to indicate branches. For example, in the old catalog a CB over the call number indicated that that book was in College of Business or what is now known as the Business Administration Library. In the new catalog, CB as a subdivision of the C table in the L.C. classification scheme stands for the history of civilization. Hence, the need for the old and new catalogs.

The supplementary catalog is merely a file of books on order or waiting to be cataloged. When you are using any of these catalogs remember that there are reference librarians available to help you find what you are looking for.

Former Finance Prof Dead

Stephen Purcell Toadbine, former assistant professor of finance at the SU College of Business Administration, died Monday in Chester, Pa.

The 64-year-old Toadbine was chairman and professor of the division of business administration at Pennsylvania Military College at Chester.

He taught on the Hill from 1922 to 1945. During that period he held many other positions including chief of the statistical section of the Securities and Exchange Commission from 1926 to 1941 and president of the National Association of Better Business Bureaus from 1933 to 1935.

Prof. Toadbine worked with the New York Times and New York Herald Tribune from 1936 to 1940. He was general manager of the Syracuse Better Business Bureau in 1946-47.

He was also an adviser to the U.S. Army Military Government in Seoul, Korea.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mae Toadbine; a daughter, Mrs. Arthur Kurlan of New York City, a son, Stephen P. Toadbine 3rd, of Bronxville, and three grandchildren. Services and burial will be Thursday.

BERT'S RENT A CAR

2 OFFICES—Fay and Rte. 11
Thompson and Molloy

$4.95 per Day
5¢ per Mile

Phone HE 7-8909 - HE 7-8197 -

Many Other Plans to Choose From
FREE PICKUP—Join Our Unlimited Mileage Plan
$35 Minimum Deposit
Student I. D. Required

THE ENGAGEMENT RING WITH THE PERFECT CENTER DIAMOND

Keepsake

True artistry is expressed in the brilliant fashion styling of every Keepsake diamond engagement ring. Each setting is a masterpiece of design, reflecting the full brilliance and beauty of the center diamond... a perfect gem of flawless clarity, fine color and meticulous modern cut.

The name, Keepsake, in the ring and on the tag is your assurance of fine quality and lasting satisfaction. Your very personal Keepsake diamond ring is awaiting your selection at your Keepsake Jeweler's store. Find him in the yellow pages. Prices from $100 to $2500. Rings enlarged to show beauty of detail. Trade-mark registered.

HOW TO PLAN YOUR ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING

Please send two new booklets, "How to Plan Your Engagement and Wedding" and "Choosing Your Diamond Rings," both for only 25c. Also send special offer of beautiful 44 page Bride's Book.

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ Co. _____ State _____

KEEPSAKE DIAMOND RINGS, SYRACUSE, NEW YORK

Lisson's Keepsake

INTERLOCKING RING SETS beautifully matched... forever

Other Styles from $50.00 to $5000.00

These rings cannot twist or turn on your finger. The famous hidden lock holds them together for more beauty and satisfaction.

SPECIAL CONSIDERATION GIVEN TO STUDENTS

Convenient terms arranged to fit your budget. No interest or carrying charge.

Lisson's

OPEN
FRI.
AND MON.
NIGHTS

418 S. Salina — Opp. Deys

TODAY
4 p.m., WAA basketball, gym A
4 p.m., ISI steering committee, student government office
5:05 p.m., Lutheran daily devotion, north wing, Hendricks Chapel
7 p.m., WAA dance production, studio
7 p.m., WAA symposium, pool
7:15 p.m., Joint Student Legislature, Kitchie Auditorium, H.B. Crows
7:30 p.m., Freshman Skeptics regular meeting, cancelled
8 p.m., Senior class executive council, Zeta Tau Alpha 8:30 p.m., Traditions Commission, Kappa Alpha Theta

PEERLESS PRESS, Inc.

PRINTERS

1112 E. Fayette Street Between University &
Walnut

COMPLETE
PRINTING SERVICE

at your doorstep
GR 6-6051

Research Group Shares Contract

Syracuse University Research Institute and the Rome Air Development Center at the Griffiss Air Force Base, Rome, have been awarded a contract for an eight-month extension of a research program on ground antenna characteristics.

The extension budget is $72, $79, bringing the total contract for a 32-month period to more than a quarter of a million dollars.

The contract is under the direction of Dr. David K. Cheng, professor of electrical engineering. He has directed various sponsored research programs on microwave antennas since 1949 and won the annual research award of the Syracuse chapter of Sigma Xi, honorary society for scientific research, in 1962.

The purpose of the present contract is to conduct theoretical study, mathematical analysis and experimental verification of research type problems related to the advancement of the state of the art in the field of antennas for groundbased applications.

Contract personnel consists of an assistant professor, three instructors and five graduate assistants as well as Dr. Cheng.

Dr. Cheng has been on the Hill faculty since 1948. He received his masters and doctorate degrees from Harvard University.

Rockefeller Group to Meet

Students for Rockefeller will hold a public meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in III Maxwell Hall. The program for the year will include bi-monthly meetings to discuss current campaign issues, dances, rallies and guest speakers.

Tentatively scheduled for the near future is baseball star Jackie Robinson. An information table giving away Rockefeller souvenirs will be set up next week in the lobby of Maxwell Hall.

CIVIL RIGHTS
FOOTPRINTS

Riviera CINEMA

3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. - GR 5-4021

"ONE OF THE YEAR'S 10 BEST."

The most suspenseful film you will ever see!

JEAN GABIN and ALAIN DELON

any number can win

JULIE the REDHEAD

PASCALE PETIT DANIEL GELIN

Last Career Seminar Set

The last "Career Day" seminar sponsored by the College of Business Administration will be held today in the Women's Building. The object of the seminar series will aid undergraduates choose their major and help with choosing future business electives.

An insurance seminar will be held at 7:30 p.m. in room 303. Dr. Raymond Valenti, chairman of the finance department, will head the meeting.

A seminar in business education is set for 7:30 p.m. in room 309. Dr. Carroll Nolan, chairman of the business education department, will preside.

An office management seminar will be held at 8:30 p.m. in room 305. Speakers will be Dr. O. Richard Wessels, chairman of the department of office administration, Jack Donnelly, systems analyst at Carrier, Lee Hunter, of Bell Telephone and a speaker from Univac.

All business and other students are welcome to attend.

ROTC Queen Selection Set

A combined gathering of the Army and Air Force ROTC corps will select the queen for the 1964 Military Ball at 7 p.m. today in Marshall Auditorium.

Syracuse television performer Baron Daemon will assist in the presentation of the seven queen finalists. They are Adrienne Dedek, Paula Jollin, Marlene Kennedy, Diane Kessler, Susan Sharp, Nancy Story and Eve Kufja.

The queen will be crowned at the March 20th Military Ball at the Hotel Syracuse. Among her gifts are an all-expense-paid weekend for two in New York City.

MARCH BUSES

All students interested in participating in the March 10 "March on Albany" may arrange for bus transportation today. Thursday and Friday in the lobby of HBC. Round trip fare is $1.

THE BEST DEAL ON FLOWERS

Is At J. ALLEN DEAL, FLORIST

Corner So. Warren & E. Washington

Bonded Member, Florist Telegraph Delivery Assn.

Telephone: HA 2-1219

CENTRAL NEW YORK'S

FINEST BILLIARD

PARLOR

"GAY NINETIES ATMOSPHERE"

Now forming singles & doubles Leagues

Open 10 a.m.-12 p.m.

FREE PARKING

HOLIDAY BILLIARDS

3033 ERIE BLVD., E.

GI 6-9836

College Capers

at

MT SNOW

Syracuse Vacation Mar. 19 - Apr. 7

Special Rates Mt. Snow Ski Weeks

The days are warm, the snow is crystalline and you are skiing, swimming, dancing, sunning and funning on the maddest ski vacation ever! 10 Double Chairlifts. Mt. Snow five day College Ski Special at your choice of 99 inns including Mt. Snow's own exciting Snow Lake Lodge. Week day budget rates include lodging, meals, entertainment, dancing, parties, heated outdoor sauna pool, ice skating, and much more. plus daily use of lifts and TEN LESSONS IN HARVEY CLIFFORD SKI SCHOOL. All yours to enjoy at the world's largest ski resort — MT. SNOW, Vt. Best Snow in the North East! New double chair! Mt. Snow's North Face for experts. Spring skiing at its greatest. Mt. Snow, Box 11, Mt. Snow Vt. Call 502-461-3333

FREE FOOD

Yes, now only hungry college students are entitled to two (2) Free (free) meals with every ticket they purchase for the

FABULOUS

CHARTER TRIP

To MIAMI

Ticket also entitles them to:

1) An adventure filled round-trip flight on Capitol Airlines (flying exclusively only the latest P-38 Lockheed "Lightnings").

2) 10 swinging nights (there's an Elk's Convention during the day) at the SCHINE-McALLISTER (they're only $69 so you can figure out how much harder they try).

3) Transportation to and from the airport (via Vespa).

4) Free transportation (electric roller skates) to and from the famous Rooney Plaza Pool and Sun Club—Free Use of the Club (Just don't hit any cops with it, you know how the University hates student demonstrations).

Pay Now or you don't go!

Call or See 5 Star Travel Service

Now in the University Hill Music Box

GR 5-0135

Albany March

A Goldwater man reads the "Daily Barry" as two representatives of the Syracuse University Committee on Equality take signups for the Tuesday March on Albany. So it seems like the SUCE people will go to Albany looking for Rocky, who's in New Hampshire chasing Barry, who's yelling at Rocky, who's not in Albany. But it's all one big happy family - in H.B.C., at least.

BE A SOLI
THE V ON POVE
JOHN TUE
MAC
O
ALP

March ...

(Continued from Page 1)
for voting.

The setting up of a permanent joint legislature committee to deal with the problems of automation.

The lobbying is scheduled to last until 5 p.m. Participants are requested to bring their own lunch, and arrangements will be made for dinner.

Set Honors Council Undergrad Meeting

The Honors Council of the College of Liberal Arts will hold a meeting for sophomores and juniors at 7 p.m. today in Maxwell Auditorium.

The meeting will center around and Preparation for Graduate Study."

INTERNATIONAL CANDY and GOURMET SHOP

has

COOKIES	CANDY	FOODS
from	Petite Fours	Mexican Delicacies
England	Parisians	Indian Paptadums
Holland	Chocolate Nougates	Caterpillars
Ireland	Ass. Swiss Choc.	Rattlesnake Meat
Germany		Fried Grasshoppers

And a host of other fine products from the world over
161 Marshall Street

Litwin Discusses

(Continued from Page 1)
ever been before. We couldn't take another rift like this one. Public opinion would ruin us." "I am perfectly willing to get the two branches unified and concentrate solely on student government problems and issues," Litwin continued. "If Jim puts a legislature man on the food service committee, I'm sure things will be on their way to improvement." Emphasizing the long run, Litwin said he felt things have worked out for the best. "We got the administration to wake up to the students feelings concerning food service, and we got a top-level food service committee, and all else is immaterial."

FOOTPRINTS

SAVOY'S BUDGET-STRETCHING MEAL TICKETS

"Eat wat ya want — when you wanna"

$$$10.75 for 10.00

at our cashier's stand

GO SAVOY

Greek Houses to Host ISO

Thirty house and 100 foreign students are participating in the Greek dinner which is being held today in conjunction with International Week.

This is almost double the number of foreign students and houses that participated last year.

One house has requested eight international students and two have requested six. Many of the houses have asked that the students be from various sections of the world so that some good political discussions could be fostered.

Many of the men in the International Students Organization requested to be sent to sororities.

The houses are using a United Nations motif for decorations.

Lecture Set On Infra-Red

"Seeing the Invisible" will be the topic of a talk by Dr. Henry Levinstein at the American Institute of Physics meeting, 7:30 p.m. today in 206 Steele Hall.

Dr. Levinstein, an authority on infra-red detection and measurement devices, is project director of a hill research group on semi-conductors. Also he has been active in creating infra-red detection devices for both government and industry.

The meeting will be open to all interested persons.

Stewardesses needed by United Airlines

Classes available June through the fall

Fly the jets from coast to coast, border to border, with the country's number one airline.

Minimum Qualifications:

AGE: 19½ thru 26 years of age.

HEIGHT: 5'2" to 5'8".

WEIGHT: 105 to 140 lbs. (in proportion to height)

MARITAL STATUS: Single (may be divorced or widowed without dependents)

EDUCATION: High school graduate with two years of college or public contact experience desired.

Please contact Women's Placement Office for date and time of Stewardess interviews.
Ext. 2720

UNITED

HERTZ RENT A CAR

• LOW HERTZ RATES INCLUDE EVERYTHING — INSURANCE & GAS

3 50 plus 9¢ per mile

Compact any Weekend — 24-Hour Period

Other Cars at Slightly Higher Rates

537 S. Warren
Hancock Airport

Reservations

GR 4-6578
454-2496
GL 4-2311

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	$.85
2 days	1.65
3 days	2.40
4 days	3.15
5 days	3.90
6 days	4.65
7 days	5.40
8 days	6.15
9 days	6.90
10 days	7.65

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.
PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.
ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lillian M. Potter 207 Comstock Ave. GR 6-5647.
TO BUY OR SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN. Spang Motors, 1000 Hiawatha Blvd. W., 474-6007, is the place.
TYPEWRITERS—Repaired, Rented, Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. AT GR 6-8533. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.
AUTO DRIVING — driving problems anal-ized and corrected quickly and smoothly. Dual controlled cars furnished. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-3451.

DANCE LESSONS? Exclusive, inexpensive. All types, all ages. Faye Dance School. 144 E. Genesee, Fayetteville. NE 7-9111.

GREYHOUND BUS TICKETS, plane tickets, hotel reservations, foreign tours, car rentals. Five Star Travel Service Inc. NOW in the MUSIC BOX. 754 S. Croase Ave. Open Mon. 10-9. Tues-Sat. 10-5. Dial GREYhound 6-0135.

BROTHERHOOD, with fun and service to humanity. Rush Alpha Phi Omega. Sunday, March 8, 8 p.m. Boath lounge. 1051: Small white mixed retriever. Answers to name of Ralph. Contact Sigma Nu. ext. 2626.

LOST — silver disc bracelet, afternoon of 2/27. Victims — Stadium hall. Reward. Trace Zeller, ext. 2756.

FOR SALE

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of four colors of paper, three colors of ink, two sizes of sheets. Bookstall.

SHE'S A DOLL! and she is really. "FRIEND", the most adorable replica out of any book. "A Friend is Someone Who Likes You." Irresistible! Only at the BOOKSTALL.

LAVALIERS. $2.75. Wedding. Shower, baby gifts. Riviera sunglasses, watch and jewelry repairs. Available. Jolene Creme Bleach. Ruth's Gifts, 734 South Croase.

1960 IMPALA CONVERTIBLE, V-8, automatic. Radio, heater. Sell to best offer. GR 5-2576.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students
3 ROOMS RECENTLY remodeled — parking, bus, light parking. $55.00. Call 478-4388.

3 RM. apartment, furnished and heated, newly painted. University section, very inexpensive. GL 6-1741 or 445-8527.

FURNISHED HEATED apartment, 6 rooms, 3 bedrooms. Suitable group. Near Townsend Park. GR 2-2340.

FURNISHED APARTMENT — 1 bedroom — 1 block from the University. Call 478-0495 after 5 P.M.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models, also sales and service. special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

EXPERT TYPING. electric typewriter, thesis typewriter, thesaurus 458-0141. WILL type term papers in my name. Pick up and delivery. GR 4-0355

FUN'ROUND THE

Round Hearth

STOWE'S GREAT SKI DORM

Warm, casual, glowing with good companionship, the Round Hearth's the lodge to rest and refresh yourself. Hearty fare, dancing, relaxing around the famous circular fireplace — it adds up to fun! Only $7 daily with two meals, $45 weekly. Write for folder or Tel. STOWE, Vt. ALpine 3-7223.

Orange NIT Hopes Slim

BOX SCORE

SYRACUSE (97)				NIAGARA (72)
	FG	FT	T		FG	FT	T
Bing	11	5	27	Broderick	4	0	8
Boeheim	4	3	11	Coleman	12	2	26
Duffy	2	2	6	Kuryak	2	2	6
Goldsmith	4	2	10	Lenney	1	0	2
Nicoletti	0	0	0	Motter	1	0	2
Penceal	2	0	4	Phillips	2	0	4
Richards	6	12	24	Ventura	2	0	4
Schoff	7	1	15	White	8	4	20
TOTALS	36	25	97	TOTALS	32	8	72

Cornell Edges SU

By CHRIS VIVIANO

Ithaca — A great team effort by Ted Webster's varsity swimmers fell just short as Syracuse was nosed out 48-47 by Cornell in the final meet of the season. The freshmen also bowed to the Cornell frosh 67-28.

With only two events remaining, the Orange trailed the Cornell swimmers by a score of 43-36, but were unable to capture first place in the 200-yard breaststroke and gain the five points which would have won the meet. It was that close.

But, if the piety forces did not beat the Big Red, they certainly managed to conquer the swimmer's other great enemy, the clock. Four new Syracuse University records were set while countless other individual times were improved.

A new Syracuse University record of 3:50.4 was set in the 400-yard medley relay by Pete Hickman, Bill Hotchkiss, Pete Moore, and Dick Bauschard, bettering the old mark of 3:54.8 by 4.4 seconds.

The friendly rivalry between two Syracuse swimmers was again apparent as Dick Bauschard broke the old 100-yard freestyle record of 49.8, which had been set only minutes earlier in the freshman meet by John DeYoung. This was a repeat performance of the Cornell meet in which the record was exchanged by the two teammates. The new record established by Bauschard was 49.2.

Pete Hickman also set a new piety record of 2:12.0 in the 200-yard backstroke by topping the old time of 2:13.7.

Even after the Orangemen had been eliminated from the meet, they managed to turn in a record-breaking performance. Bob Duthie, Jeff Meyer, Steve Beaudry, and Dick Bauschard combined to establish a new team record of 3:24.1 in the 400-yard freestyle relay. The old record was 3:28.0.

Down In Front

The dapper gentleman glanced up sharply at the iron hoop on the unbreakable glass window. He crouched forward and started to raise his hands.

His companion flung his body into the air in an effort to block any forward movement.

But by now the young man had darted left, then right and was behind the still-airborn companion.

Again he eyed that loop. A second man, came to take the place of the first, moved into his path, determined not to make the same mistake, and so remained on his feet.

The young man didn't. He leaped, legs pulled up to his waist in that kind of a jump you make when maybe your jump rope is too short.

He looked left, then right, counted the crowd and finally after what seemed an eternity, passed to a teammate left uncovered in the corner.

The teammate missed. "No matter," the young man's poker face seemed to say, and he whacked his teammate soundly on the opposite side of the lap.

Seconds later the young man had the ball again and now his opponent watched him uncertainly. Pausing in the middle of a dead run, only to continue it; bobbing and weaving, the young man was the tournament."

(continued from page 1)

Notification reached the scorer's table just as the second half began that Bradley University had received an NIT invitation, as the Orange were pouring it on the Purple Eagles of Niagara.

Syracuse led throughout the game, leaping to a 12-0 lead. With a fast-breaking, race-horse style of play the Orange were up 11-48-37, at the half.

SU had a balanced high-scoring attack in the opening half, with Chuck Richards, Bing, Phil Schoff, Norm Goldsmith and Jim Boeheim evenly spread in the scoring columns.

INTRAS

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

Basketball

7:00 — Sigma Phi Epsilon vs. Phi Delta Theta.

7:45 — Phi Delta Theta (B) vs. Phi Sigma Delta (B).

AP Poll

	W.	L.	Pct.
1. UCLA (38)	24	0	.398
2. Michigan	19	3	.322
3. Kentucky	21	3	.300
4. Duke (4)	20	4	.273
5. Wichita	20	5	.209
6. Oregon S. (1)	25	3	.203
7. Villanova	21	3	.125
8. DePaul	20	2	.94
9. Chicago L.	19	5	.81
10. Davidson	22	4	.44

Art Coleman had 14 rebounds for the visitors. He was high scorer for Niagara with 26. Joe White had 20.

Syracuse hit from the floor at a 44.7 percentage clip. Niagara had a field goal shooting percentage of 39.9.

The range steadily pulled away from Niagara in the second half to their final 25-point margin of victory.

After the Capitol Comet stuffed in his historic two points as he was all alone on a fast break, making it 83-68, the Orange poured it on.

Mr. Bing scored three more times in the last two minutes as SU raced for the century mark.

A crowd of 4,417 sat in on the final home game of the season and made their presence felt with a three minute standing ovation for Bing. The Orange called time out after the 500-point mark had been reached as a roar went up, as many will in future years for this young man.

A group of Varsity Club members and a sizeable representation from Niagara attended the game.

It was the last home contest for Syracuse. The Orange are at the University of Connecticut Friday night. Until then, the team will wait with its 16-7 record for what may come from New York City.

Tangerines Slaughter Baby Eagles, 95-71

Syracuse's frosh basketball team concluded its season on a high note by whipping the Niagara cubs, 95-71, Wednesday night at the Manley Field House. Their final log is 13-6, including 11 straight victories on their home floor.

Pacing the win were Rick Dean and Vaughn Harper, who may be of tremendous help to next year's varsity.

Dean led the Tangerine offense with 31 points to bring his campaign total to 370 tallies, a fine 19.5 per game.

The muscular Dean, a 6-6,

220-pound athlete, also hauled home 12 rebounds to give him a season total of 233, 12.3 caroms a game.

Besides his scoring accomplishments, he boasted 54 per cent accuracy from the field and 75 per cent from the free throw line for the season.

Harper tossed in 18 points to bring his season total to 355, 18.6 points a game. Harper paced the rebounders Wednesday night as he grabbed 13 errant shots to bring his season total to 228 recoveries, an average of 12 a game.

Incumbent All-America

By Judy Adams

RICK BAUSCHARD

suddenly jumping and arcing the ball from 20 feet out, while his opponent, left far behind, watched helplessly.

The ball hit the rim, bounced high and suddenly it disappeared as a long arm reached out from the crowd beneath the loop and snatched it out of the air like a school-boy scooping up jacks.

It was the young gentleman.

It was, of course, Dave Bing.

"Aah," one breathless visitor observed with his head in the clouds, "he must have been born with a golden basketball in his hands."

The visitor will be forgiven his gaudy cliché, for he knows not of what he speaks.

For Dave Bing did not spend his early youth practicing baskets on the local court. If you had to hunt him up for supper, you headed for the baseball diamond.

But after all, you can't play basketball all year long. And a 13-year-old Dave Bing began to show an idle curiosity about a basketball court.

"I wasn't very big and I wasn't very good," he grins now, "and if you weren't very good you got kicked off the court by the older boys. So we always had to wait until they were finished."

As a soph in high school, he decided to give the basketball team a whirl. He made the team but only as far as the bench.

Then around the middle of the season his coach finally said, "OK Bing, you start tonight."

He's started ever since. "I didn't score much," says Dave, belittling his record. "only about 16 a game, not even 1,000 all together. I was only the third or fourth scorer in the school's history."

Behind a fella named Elgin Baylor and another one called Ollie Johnson.

In spite of Bing's "poor" showing, in his three varsity years, Washington, D.C.'s Spigarn High won 66, lost 5 and spent much post-season time in tournaments.

It was at one in Allentown, Pa., that Dave met Fred Lewis.

By then he had been swamped with "80-90 scholarship offers and about 10-20 more after the tournament."

"I hadn't even considered Syracuse," he explained. "But I liked Lewis and I liked the prospects." So Syracuse trotted him up for a look-see.

His guide was Ernie Davis. "Ernie showed me around," Dave says with unmasked awe, "and boy, being with, 'the great Ernie Davis', well, I was impressed."

So Dave Bing passed up the pleas of his high school chum Ollie Johnson to join him in San Francisco, and came to Syracuse.

A decision for which many Syracuseans are eternally grateful.

Suprisingly, the incumbent All-America soph has not been able to satisfy every one he's played before.

"Why pass off so much?" cry those who watch him build up assist records instead of point records.

"I like to pass off," he explains, "besides, somebody has to."

"But you should shoot more," say the bleacher coaches.

"I shoot enough," he says simply.

Then in less bold tones they ask, "Where did you learn those moves?"

He shrugs his shoulders and mumbles embarrassedly, "gift."

Dave Bing, who draws raves for his basketball wizardry as well as his modesty and sportsmanship; who is first a team player and incidentally a star; who in none-boasting tones says "if the NIT doesn't take us this year, they won't get us before I graduate because we'll be going to the NCAA's."

Dave Bing, whose only sin is excellence.

SPECIAL

DAILY ORANGE

Vol. 61, No. 88

Syracuse, N. Y., Friday, March 6, 1964

Price 10 Cents

MOST HAPPY FELLA ➡

NIT CALLS: PIETY SAYS YES!

By BERNIE MacCALLUM
Sports Editor

Syracuse University Thursday Night received and accepted a bid to the National Invitational Basketball Tournament.

Athletic Director James Decker received the call at 6 p.m. from John Bach, chairman of the selection committee. Decker immediately accepted the bid on behalf of the university and athletic department.

Shortly after the news broke on local radio stations it was shrieked across campus.

The news climaxes two weeks of hopeful waiting as estimates of Syracuse's chances for a bid fluctuated.

The news also climaxed a Cinderella story of rags to riches for King Fred Lewis and his team.

Two years ago we set a major college NCAA record of 27 straight basketball losses—Today basketball is king on campus.

(Continued on Page 3)

Losers no more are Orangemen DAVE BING, FRED LEWIS, and CHUCK RICHARDS. The three were the key men in the Syracuse basketball resurgence.

Spring Fever Commencement

Spring is the time when a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of...Commencement?

As the temperature soared into the 60's Thursday, commencement seemed to grow closer and we began to think about graduation plans.

Going through the average senior's mind about this time of year are such questions as: who is the commencement speaker, where am I going to house my parents, what is going on socially for the graduating seniors, where are the exercises going to be held, where do I get my tickets, caps and gowns and yearbook, and who I am going to take to the senior class ball (wherever it is)?

Although it appears that the university has given little thought to these questions and others, there are at least a dozen persons who have been daily concerned with the problems since the beginning of the year.

Commencement seems like a well-organized affair which follows a stereotyped pattern year after year and, therefore, needs little planning. While this conception seems reasonable, it is false.

Graduation, in toto, is a large - scale operation which draws into it every department in the university.

While a student may complain that no speaker has been chosen yet, he refuses to admit the amount of work put in by each one of these people.

As an insurance measure, bleachers are set up in Manley Field House in the event of rain. Although many students may say this is added effort and a waste of time, all will agree that they don't want to sit in the rain.

The KumBak Show is carefully planned by Al Martin in the Alumni Office. It is not just conglomeration of people thrown together at the last moment.

Tickets for the commencement are non-existent, contrary to common belief. Students may bring as many guest as they wish with seating capacity unlimited. The greatest turnout for commencement in the past years have been 7,000 - 8,000. Manley Field House can seat 10,000 including graduating seniors.

Seniors need not worry about plans for the senior class ball. The senior executive council has been allotted over $4,000 for the evening. Plans have been made and executed to hire Three Rivers Inn for the occasion. The committee has contracted the Tokens, singing group, for entertainment.

Housing for parents and visitors to the campus during commencement weekend is handled by the dean of men's and dean of women's offices respectively, settling the housing problem.

Within the next few weeks applications for class marshalls will be released and all interested students will be able to apply for the honor. The dean of the libera arts college with panel and senior executive council make the decision.

It appears therefore that preparations are being made to insure a successful commencement.

Guest Spot

Number One

By John R. Marko

Dear Harry Harvard,

Well, we've done it again... number one in football, on our way in basketball, and now they are thinking about going to get us a championship academic team. You're probably quite surprised and possibly skeptical, and I can't say that I blame you...we've never been much interested in that sort of stuff around here...but things have changed and scholarship is "in."

To give you an idea of just how serious we really are, I'll just quote our Chancellor in that we are now "seeking top scholars in the same way football players are sought." Man, that means business! Our trustees are probably right now scouring the nation's intelligentsia for a head coach. Some one of national stature, like Admiral Rickover, will probably get the job.

That Rickover's big, he's got contacts! He'll probably bring along a complete staff...author, composer, scientists, and publicity men. Then we'll plan a big fund-raising campaign to set them up in a new library almost as big and almost as nice as the Manley Field House (us regular guys'll probably call it the Un-manly Field House...hah!) But anyway even before that our organization will start to roll...we'll send Admiral Rickover, Jimmy Brown, and "Omega-Minus" Leitner to talk to all the science fair winners, Merit Scholars, and valedictorians. Of course our very strict rules on grants-in-aid prohibit us from offering them any more than we do to our football and basketball players...but I imagine our influential alumni and the prestige of Coach Rickover's organization should give us a recruiting advantage over our Ivy-League competitors.

As with any of our programs in the past, this is bound to have some disruptive effect on the rest of the campus. These scholars are a strange lot. We'll probably have to set up special tutoring sections in dancing, fashion styles, and that sort of stuff. If we don't keep them occupied, they'll probably give our administration daily fits with their silly civil-rights demonstrations and freedom-of-speech picketing. But then again our athletes also get into some mischief now and then. Probably the only serious problem will be the effect these fellows can have on our fraternity system if they become integrated into it. But purists will have to be tolerant, for these scholars will join the Browns and the Davises in making Syracuse University a household word.

Well anyway Harry, I hope I haven't sounded terribly smug about this, I'm not really...it's just what the Goon Squad calls "spirit...we're darn proud whenever any of our boys are Number One in anything. See you in Pasadena, or wherever it is that they hold that College Bowl thing.

Your Friend,
Bill

LETTERS

Vote

To the Editor:

I can excuse the DO's original error reporting a unanimous vote on the boycott proposal in view of the fact that it was corrected the next day. It is also conceivable that in "the heat of the moment" my vote was not recorded.

But the contention in Mr. Hamilton's letter of March 5, that "...the fellow who claims to have voted against the boycott proposal, but who obviously did not have the courage of his convictions to raise his hand," is inexcusable.

I do have witnesses who will justify that I did indeed raise my hand in a negative vote at that time.

Terry Ogden
JSL Representative
Class of '64

Median

To the Editor:

Some time ago I had the pleasure of reading the October 29 issue of the DAILY ORANGE and found most interesting your editorial "Finding a new Median."

I was particularly impressed with your clear analysis of what seems to be a difficulty at Syracuse, as well as your conclusion that the key to such difficulties is in finding a median.

For more than a year that problem has been a serious one at Pfeiffer College, culminating in a crisis toward the end of the last academic year. As a means of solving this difficulty, committees were appointed to come up with an acceptable answer. I, fortunately or unfortunately, headed the Faculty Committee to deal with the matter.

Without going into a play by play of all the work that was done subsequently, I might indicate that we believe we have, at least for this college, an acceptable solution. That solution is contained in an enclosure which I am sending for your information and for any use you might wish to make of it.

It might be well indicated that the point at which we began to make real progress was that point at which we realized that our solution should not be merely to gloss over or to prevent troubles, but should contribute positively to the future of the college, based upon the realization that all segments of the college community can and should contribute to its progress.

I realize that a larger university might not find this proposal acceptable, in that its problems might be considerably more complicated.

There is the counterpoint, however, that in a small institution a problem which in a larger one might be less prominent, becomes critical. While the proposal itself may not be adaptable to an institution of your size, the principle of it may be worth your consideration.

The things which I regard significant in this are the following principles:

1. A complete freedom to submit to the Forum any conclusion by any element of the community.
2. A maturity of participation to permit the most valid judgments.
3. A continuity of membership to provide for an atmosphere of cooperation.
4. A prohibition against voting to avoid the alignment of factions against each other.

The present status if this is that it has animous Faculty approval, approval by the College Administration, and approval by the Student Senate, representing the student body. We are now in the process of selecting members.

As a final thought, none of us whether we be students, faculty, or administration, think this is going to solve all of our difficulties. If it becomes no more than a paper organization to which questions are not submitted and proposals are not made, it will become an abject failure. Those of us who had a hand in framing it, therefore, are now vitally interested in finding a means whereby questions can be submitted to it and given at least a push in the direction of being a functioning part of the college.

I have wondered at times during our work on this proposal whether or not the assembly of conflicting elements is not really a much larger problem than that of colleges and universities. I have wondered whether or not it is not a part of our problem between nations and between areas of our own country. The United Nations, for which most of us at one time had very high hopes, seems now to have lost much of its effectiveness by the voting procedures and the tendency of manipulate blocks of votes.

My reason for sending this to you is actually twofold. One of them is that I was very much intrigued by the clarity of your editorial. The other is that my son is a freshman at Syracuse.

James L. Williams

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2 March 6, 1964

Editor-In-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor Clayton F. Richards
News Editor Andrew Forte
Editorial Director Adair DuFice
Sports Editor Bernard MacCallum
Arts Editor Rea Turel
Photography Editor Steve Schwimmer

BUSINESS STAFF

National Adv. Mgr. Lynn Mandel
Classified Mgr. Christine Sedriak
Promotion Mgr. Stu Shapiro
Asst. Bus. Mgr. Jon Weissberg
Layout Managers Martha Johanski; Lillian Lahr

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 200 Brooklea Drive Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter a U. S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

TREVER ON CAMPUS

Tourney Bid Highlights Two-Year Hill Comeback

(Continued from Page 1)

From Minus 27 to the NIT; An Orange Rise to Prominence

By HOWIE SCHNEIDER

It all ended, or maybe it would be better to say it all started, on a night almost two years ago. Syracuse University, a prominent figure on the national collegiate football scene, had made the record books in another sport — it had lost its 27th consecutive basketball game, a new major college mark.

It was 6-3 sophomore Bob Murray who finally gave the SU students a little peace of mind, and a little sleep. Murray popped in a jump shot in the final seconds of the Boston College game, and it was "the basket heard round the world." Riding high on the crest of their fifth victory in two years, the squad surprised the campus the next night by upsetting Connecticut.

The two wins, however, could not erase the 22 defeats which Marc Guley's squad had suffered, and "basketball" was still a dirty word. Guley quietly bowed out after coaching the Orange for 12 seasons, and the athletic department searched high and low for a predecessor, coming up with a transplanted Brooklynite, who was coaching Southern Mississippi. We were still a football school.

Fred Lewis came in "a cloud of dust and a hardy high-school silver." A 42 year old former Sheboygan Redskins and Baltimore Bullets star, and a All-American at Eastern Kentucky, Lewis tutored teams had won 89 and lost 38.

He didn't have much to work with, but what he did have produced 100 percent. On a cold December night the first Syracuse team a la Fred Lewis met Kent State in a new Manley Field House.

That night the Orange had junior Carl Vernick at guard, and if Lewis was counting on anyone it was Vernick. The year before he had set the all-time sophomore scoring record with a fella named Bing.

At the other guard position Lewis had sophomore Dick Duffy (the coach was also to use Dick Finley and Jim Seaman—two scrapers). Up front there was captain Herb Foster and sophomore Phil Schoff, and at the center slot Manny Klutskowski. "Klutch" gave the new fieldhouse floor quite a workout (reminiscent of Chuck Richards) and he was a popular favorite with the growing crowds.

for those who believed in black cats, and miracles, the Kent State battle was a sign of better things to come. A Herb Foster basket with four seconds remaining gave the Orangemen a rousing 36-35 victory.

Lewis' squad was to go on and win 7 more games last year, highlighting the season with a win over highly rated Niagara. They dropped 13. Vernick was the team scoring leader, and Foster was the top man off the boards.

But the big basketball news last year was about a Mr. Osburn and his freshmen following. Paced by a young Washington D.C. High Schol All-American by the name of Bing, who re-wrote the Orange record books, the frosh finished with a 13-6 record.

Norm Goldsmith, Frank Nicoletti, Jim Boenheim, and Sam Penceal were other outstanding high school ball players who joined with Bing. All are key men in this year's attack.

The picture was almost complete, and when West Point transfer student Chuck Richards joined the Lewis fold, it was.

Earlier in the year Lewis said, "We thought that the kids did a pretty good job in winning eight games last year, and we feel that we will win more games this winter. It would be nice if we could rebuild overnight, but it isn't quite that easy." It's been a long night, and there's more to come.

A new coach, a new team, a new fieldhouse, a resurgence of interest — a basketball renaissance at SU.

The last time Syracuse went to a post-season tournament was after the 1956-57 season when we were in the Eastern NCAA finals.

In 1960-61 it was 4-19, in 1961-62 we were 2-22, last season it was an 8-13. The Orangemen will enter Friday night's game at UC with a 16-7 record.

Mr. Fred Lewis is the man responsible for changing all this. The Hill coach now could have an excellent shot at being selected "coach of the year."

Lewis came here after five successful seasons at Mississippi Southern. The former All-American player from Eastern Kentucky State selected his team and has presented Syracuse University with champions.

Strong NIT Field Awaits Orangemen

By BILL CRONAUER
Junior Editor

The Syracuse Orangemen will be in fast company for the next two weeks as they compete in Madison Square Garden's National Invitational Tourney.

Among the top-flight teams that will participate are DePaul, New York University, Miami of Florida and Bradley.

DePaul, ranked No. 8 in the latest Associated Press poll, boasts a 20-2 record, best of the NIT entries. The Blue Demons are paced by forward Jesse Nash and 6-10 pivotman Dave Mills.

NYU, although a disappointment this season with a 14-7 mark and a recent loss to little-known Rider, has a pair of standout in All-American Barry Kramer and Happy Hairston. Miami enters the tournament on a four-game win streak, jumping their season slate to 20-6. The Hurricanes, featuring Rick Barry and Lou Dampier, have the highest scoring five in the country.

The Braves of Bradley, third-place finisher in the rough Missouri Valley Conference, stand at 19-6. Their ace performer is 6-8 center Joe Strawder, backed by rookies Eddie Jackson and Ernie Thompson.

Other NIT competitors and their standouts include St. Bonaventure (16-6) with Freddy Crawford pacing the club at 28 ppg; Army (16-6) and its 6-6 left-handed center Mike Silliman; and Duquesne (16-6) with jump-shooting Willie Somerset.

New Mexico (19-5), runnerup in the Western Athletic Conference, will be handicapped by the loss of big Ira Harge for the tourney. The Lobos are rated among the national leaders in team defense.

Completing the field of 11 clubs named so far are Pittsburgh (17-7) and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia (17-9). Pitt depends on the shooting of Cal Sheffield and rebounding of Brian Generalovich, while the Hawks of St. Joe's ride on the shoulders of backcourtman Steve Courtin.

One berth remains open for the tournament. A member of the NIT committee, Will Ranken of Albright College, said last night that "a number of schools have been talked about. We probably won't decide on the final entry until Saturday or Sunday."

Team Under Pressure

By JIM KLURFELD

After losses to Pittsburgh and West Virginia, and with the prospect of three road games in a row against Cornell, Colgate, and Canisius, Orange hope for an NIT bid were at a low ebb last week.

But each player had that trip to New York City in the back of his mind.

The countdown started with a bus trip to Cornell. Rumors said that if Syracuse could take all three road games a tournament bid would be likely. But winning three games on the road was no easy task, and nobody had forgotten that last-second victory over The Big Red in December.

Dave Bing took a rear seat near a window and sat there quietly for the next hour. Chuck Richards and Dick Duffy talked in low tones. Coaches Lewis and Osburn assumed their seats on the head of the aisle.

It was hard to concentrate on Cornell, after all they had come so close in Pittsburgh, and now it seemed so hard.

Lewis was afraid the pressure of dangling NIT bid would place too much pressure on his team. "He's been telling us to forget it," one player said, because even if we get an invitation he won't accept it. He doesn't want to be embarrassed by our play."

The team believed his words as much as they believed there was a man in the moon.

"Maybe if we get a bid we'll turn it down and then see what he says," another kidded. But there wasn't too much laughter.

Cornell fell, not easily, but they fell. The trip home was a happier affair. "After all," the team reasoned, "if Clay had just knocked out Liston, Syracuse still had a chance to make the tournament."

Wednesday turned to Thursday and the Orangemen were traveling to traditional rival Colgate. Since Cornell, NIT talk had increased on campus, but the team silence still prevailed.

"Everybody says not to think about it," Dave Bing whispered, "but you can't help it. Just two more wins and we could make it."

Colgate was easy and momentum started to build. Coming home from Colgate most of the boys fell asleep. You could see a few of them dreaming of a packed Madison Square Garden, but Canisius still had to be beaten.

And they were. The pressure was on in Buffalo as the tournament-conscious Orangemen came through. But the post game locker room didn't look like the home of a winner.

The players were seated in a semi-circle around Lewis who was pacing the floor saying, "Boys you've done what they said you had to do, but I haven't heard a thing. Maybe we'll have to go all the way. But as far as I'm concerned, we should be in that tournament."

There was silence. Nobody moved until Bing slowly stood up and walked to the showers. The rest followed. Everybody slept unhappily on the way home next morning.

The week dragged on and the tournament field began to fill. The low point came during the Niagara game as the news that Bradley had accepted a bid came over the wires. Syracuse was clobbering the Purple Eagles but still no word.

Lewis was unhappy after the game and he let it be known. "It'll be a darn shame if this team doesn't receive an invitation," he said hotly.

Apparently someone agreed with him.

SU Wrestlers Host Cortland

"All's well that ends well," or at least that's what Ed Carlin and his wrestling crew are hoping as they prepare to face Cortland St. in their last dual meet of the season. The two squads will tangle tomorrow at 2 p.m. in Archbold.

Boasting a 5-3 record, the Orangemen will journey to Franklin-Marshall next week to participate in the Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association Championships. Defending team champs, Carlin and Co. are looking for their second consecutive title.

Weekend Sports

The swimmers will compete in the Upper New York State Championships Saturday at the University of Buffalo.

The fencing team of the Orange is competing in a tri-meet at Buffalo against Notre Dame and the University of Buffalo.

The track team will be in New York City competing in the IC4As Saturday night.

The Syracuse University Hockey Club plays its final game of the season Sunday night at the University of Buffalo. The Orange skaters lost their last game 9-7 to RIT.

Campus station WAER will broadcast the LeMoyne College Small College NCAA Tournament games. Game time tonight for the Youngstown contest is 7 p.m.

Piety skiers close out their season at the Paul Smith's Winter Carnival this weekend.

FLASH!!!

TWO BIG ANNOUNCEMENTS TO MAKE THE EUROPEAN CHARTER FLIGHT AN EVEN GREATER VALUE

1. DEPARTURE OF THIS FLIGHT IS GUARANTEED - MAKE YOUR PLANS
WITH CONFIDENCE. THIS FLIGHT CANNOT BE CANCELLED BECAUSE OF LACK OF PATRONAGE.

2. THE RETURN DATE HAS BEEN POSTPONED TO AUGUST 30th. ALLOWING ELEVEN WEEKS IN EUROPE.

Remember Our Low Price

ONLY $240.50 ROUND TRIP
NEW YORK TO LONDON

DEPART: June 10th

RETURN: Aug. 30th

CALL GR6-6097

STEPHEN KEHOE

EUGENE BAILEY

12:10 p.m., Episcopal Holy Communion, Chapel House.
3-5 p.m., WAA apparatus and tumbling Gym B. Women's Bldg.
5:05 p.m., Daily Devotions, North Wing Hendricks Chapel.
7:30 p.m., Lutheran open house, 100 Berkeley Dr.
MONDAY
5:05 p.m., Lutheran Choral Vespers, North Wing Hendricks Chapel.
TODAY
7 p.m., Hillel Services, Hendricks Chapel. Once Shabbat will follow.
SUNDAY
6 p.m., Hillel supper, Shaw recreation lounge. Dr. Paul Meadows will hold a discussion after the dinner. Supper is 60 cents for registered members and 85 cents for non-registered members.

CHAPEL ROUNDUP

EPISCOPAL
Sunday, 9:30 a.m., Gifford Auditorium. If B. Crouse, Episcopal Holy Communion.
Wednesday, 5:05 p.m., Chapel House. Episcopal Holy Communion.
Friday, 12:10 p.m., Chapel House. Episcopal Holy Communion.

METHODIST
Sunday, 9:30 a.m., Bible Study class.
Sunday, 5:30 p.m., Hendricks Chapel. Sunday night supper and the third in a series of programs on "Signs of Renewal in the Church." Mrs. Vernon Bieker will speak on "Is Sunday School for the Birds?"
Monday, 7 p.m., Chapel House, class on Christian marriage.
Tuesday, 12:15 p.m., Chapel House. Dialogue Luncheon.
Wednesday, 7 a.m., Communion and breakfast.
Thursday, 8 p.m., parsonage, Covenant Community.
Friday, 8 p.m., home of Rev. and Mrs. Vernon Bieker, Methodist Graduate Fellowship, Mr. Jack Morton, architect, will speak on "Expression of Faith through Mass and Form."

CATHOLIC
Sunday, 9:30 a.m., Crouse College Auditorium, mass.
Sunday, 11 a.m., Crouse College Auditorium, mass.
Daily, 12:05 p.m., St. Thomas More Chapel, mass.
Daily, 4:05 p.m., Hendricks Chapel, mass.
JEWISH
Friday, 7 p.m., Hendricks Chapel, regular Sabbath eve service. An Once Shabbat will follow the service.
Sunday, 6 p.m., Hillel Shaw recreation room. Sunday supper and program. Paul Meadows, chairman of the department of sociology and anthropology, will speak on "When Brothers Become Strangers."
Daily, noon, Rabbi's office, classes and discussion groups.

UNITED CAMPUS CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP
Monday, 5:30 p.m., Communion and meeting with the National Survey Team.
LIBERAL
Sunday, 6 p.m., DellPlain Family Room. Dinner and discussion on "Sex-Your Decision or the University's". Free. All welcome.
LUTHERAN
Sunday, 10 a.m., Chapel House, communion with coffee hour following.
Sunday, 5:30 p.m., north wing, Hendricks Chapel, buffet supper.
Sunday, following supper, 100 Berkeley Drive, program on the sketches of the Communion.
Wednesday, 4 p.m., Colonial Room, Lenten Bible Study.

INTERDENOMINATIONAL
Sunday, 11 a.m., Hendricks Chapel, interdenominational services. Dean Charles C. Noble will preach on "Achieving Genuine Freedom."
Tuesday, 4 p.m., 221 Maxwell, Bible lecture series. Rev. Donald Miller from the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church will speak on "Roman VI."
Tuesday, 8:00 p.m., Religion and Psychiatry Dialogues. The topic is "The Problem of Guilt", will be spoken on by Rev. Edward Tullis, Chaplain of the Willard State Hospital and Dr. Robert Edwards, psychiatrist of the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Wednesday, 7 a.m., north wing, Hendricks Chapel, Holy Communion. Breakfast will be served following the service.
ORTHODOX CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP
Sunday, 6 p.m., Chapel House. Vespers in English conducted by the Rev. Fr. Alexander Ar. Warneche, OCF Chaplain. A buffet supper will follow the services.
Sunday, 7 p.m., Chapel House. Rev. Fr. John Kozak, pastor of St. Nicholas Church in Auburn and OCF Chaplain at Cornell University will discuss "Repentance: Inner Transformation"

Paramount NOW!
A SHATTERING ENTERTAINMENT EXPERIENCE!
THE VICTORS
Extra! CUSTON VS CLAY FIGHT PICTURES!

HILLEL PRESENTS:

WEEKLY SUPPER-
DISCUSSION

DR. PAUL
MEADOWS

6 P.M.
SUNDAY
MARCH 8

SHAW
REC.
ROOM

"WHEN BROTHERS
SUPPER DISCUSSION BECOME STRANGERS"

SOCIOLOGY
AND ANTHROPOLOGY DEPARTMENT HEAD

REGISTERED MEMBERS
60¢

OTHERS
85¢

NEXT WEEK:
DR. RONALD LEIFER

SUCE BUSES SET

The buses for Tuesday's scheduled March on Albany will leave at 7:10 a.m. that day from the Savoy, a spokesman for the Syracuse University Committee on Equality said.

The cost of the bus trip will be $1. Students who have registered should bring their money when they board the bus.

NOMINATED FOR 10 ACADEMY AWARDS!
INCLUDING: PICTURE!
BEST ACTOR!
DIRECTOR!
The whole world loves
Tom Jones!
NOW A SENECA Theatre ECKEL

WHEN RENTING A CAR, REMEMBER
THE NAME MIDTOWN CAR RENTAL

• Complete Line of Sedans, Hardtops, Convertibles and Station Wagons •
Free Pick-up and Delivery • 476-1231

MARSHALL SAPERSTEIN, Prop. and J.C. Member

ATTENTION PRE-MEDS! PRESENTING

THE NIKON SERIES S MICROSCOPE

NIKON SBR

COME IN FOR A FREE DEMONSTRATION

MEDICAL CENTER BOOKSTORE

766 IRVING AVE.

LOCATED IN THE LOWER LEVEL OF
THE COLLEGE OF MEDICINE

S.U. Bookstore Charge Accounts Welcome

Store Hours: 9 - 4, Monday to Friday

ENGINEERING OPPORTUNITIES

for Seniors and Graduates in MECHANICAL, AERONAUTICAL, CHEMICAL, ELECTRICAL, NUCLEAR, and METALLURGICAL ENGINEERING
ENGINEERING MECHANICS
APPLIED MATHEMATICS
PHYSICS and ENGINEERING PHYSICS

CAMPUS INTERVIEWS

MONDAY, MAR. 9

Appointments should be made
In advance through your College Placement Office

Pratt & Whitney Aircraft

An Equal Opportunity Employer

SPECIALISTS IN POWER... POWER FOR PROPULSION—POWER FOR AUXILIARY SYSTEMS.
CURRENT UTILIZATIONS INCLUDE AIRCRAFT, MISSILES, SPACE VEHICLES, MARINE AND INDUSTRIAL APPLICATIONS.

CORRECTION

The Daily Orange was in error when it reported the Footprints meeting to be March 11, 12 and 13. The actual dates are March 10, 11 and 12.

Riviera CINEMA
3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. - GR 8-4021
"ONE OF THE YEAR'S 10 BEST"
The most suspenseful film you will ever see!
JEAN GABIN any number can win
ALAIN DELON
JULIE the REDHEAD PASCALE PETIT DANIEL GELIN

DR. JOHN OLSON, vice president and executive assistant to the Chancellor, accepting a check for $639 from R. W. SCAIFA, Syracuse sales manager for Gulf Oil Corp. The gift is one of some 692 awards, totalling $500,000, that Gulf will distribute this year as direct, unrestricted grants to as many universities and colleges under its aid to education program.

DANZER'S RESTAURANT
"A touch of Old Germany"
German - American Food
● Sauerbraten
● Roast Beef
● Hot and Cold Turkey
"The Finest Sandwich in Syracuse"
912 Park St.
471-9031

Tino's RESTAURANT
FINE ITALIAN FOOD
pizza
ORDERS TO TAKE OUT
425 N. Salina Street
GR 1-9458
GR 1-9446

Stewardesses needed by United Airlines

Classes available June through the fall
Fly the jets from coast to coast, border to border, with the country's number one airline.

Minimum Qualifications:
AGE: 19½ thru 26 years of age.
HEIGHT: 5'2" to 5'8".
WEIGHT: 105 to 140 lbs. (in proportion to height)
MARITAL STATUS: Single (may be divorced or widowed without dependents)
EDUCATION: High school graduate with two years of college or public contact experience desired.

Please contact Women's Placement Office for date and time of Stewardess interviews.
Ext. 2720

UNITED

WILL YOU FIGHT?

SATURDAY
MARCH 7th
8:30 PM
ODETTA

TICKETS: $3.00 - 2.50 - 2.00
RESERVATIONS: 476-4536

University Regent Theatre
820 EAST GENESEE STREET

Cadets Hold Annual Dance

The Arnold Air Society of SU's AFROTC program is holding its annual dinner-dance at Hancock Field in the Officer's Club today.

New officers to be installed at the dinner are: James S. Burns, commander; Harlan R. Gage, executive officer; Lee Owens, administrative executive officer and Robert Cheny, operations officer. Air Force Colonel Carey will be the guest speaker.

CIVIL RIGHTS FOOTPRINTS

See the new '64 Rambler at . . .

FEIGEL MOTORS, INC.

"Syracuse's Volume Rambler Dealer"
Experienced Factory Trained Mechanics
Specializing In Automatic Transmissions
Sales And Expert Service
Open Evening

3832
S. Salina

Call
HY 2-1791

THE "BOOKSTALL"

147 Marshall Street
Fascinating Gifts, Fine Stationery, Fabulous Cards
38 Years by the Campus
Your Friendly Alumni Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow

Nozy on Down

SAVOY'S famous Glazed Donuts—

perfect partner — to our

"Real Coffee"

GO SAVOY

TOBINS

RESTAURANT
W. Genesee at
Fairmount Corners

Route 5
Private Rooms for Parties

Tuesday-Saturday
Luncheon
11:30 to 2:30

Dinners
5:00 - 9:30

Sunday Brunch

Dinners

Weekdays 11:30-9:30
Sundays 12-8

TUBBERT'S

304 Court Street, Cor. No. Salina

"House of Gracious Dining"

Listening Pleasure at our Piano Bar

Fish - Frog - Steak - Chicken

MELTZER'S SANDWICH SHOP

TWO LOCATIONS

● 516 Irving,
cor. Harrison
Open 8 - 8

● Back End of
New Tower Apts.
Open 7 - 9

Featuring
CORNED BEEF ● ROAST BEEF
PASTRAMI ● HOT DOGS ● CHOPPED LIVER
CHEESE BLINTZES ● POTATO PANCAKES

Tel. GR 8-7978

We Deliver

Closed Sundays

Oglesby Leads SU Forces

By TOM MULLER
Penn State's Recreation Hall will be the site of this year's Eastern Gymnastic Championships, which get under way today and finish tomorrow afternoon.

In contrast with last year, the Syracuse University gym squad will be playing the part of underdog and is expected to fall short of the point totals compiled by Penn State and Temple.

Coach Paul Romeo's squad boasts only one of the three returning winners, Sid Oglesby, who placed first in the long horse vaulting last year when the meet was held at Syracuse. This year Oglesby has a 6-1 record in that event, with his only loss at the hands of sophomore Pete Saponaro of Penn State.

Oglesby will also be one of the favorites in the floor exercise and on the parallel bars. He won the floor exercise event in most of the meets this year and has turned in some fine scores on the bars in recent meets.

SID OGLESBY

Captain Carl Poplar will be one of the top men in the all-around competition which was won by Tom Seward of Penn State last year. Last year he placed second on the parallel bars, and he has been steadily improving in the other events to pose a big for the all-around title.

Syracuse's third big man will be Jon "Spike" Meury, who specializes on the side horse. He went through the first four dual meets of the season with an unblemished record, but suffered two straight defeats at Penn State and Temple and finished the season with a 5-2 record in that event. Last year he was seventh in the Eastern meet, and this year he faces tough competition from Mark Cohn of Temple and Al Porter of Penn State.

Cohn is the pre-meet favorite to snare the all-around title; he was runner-up last year. Cohn, who Romeo describes as "definitely Olympic material," averages better than 9.0 in every event. He won the Eastern title on the parallel bars last year and lost only to Oglesby in that event this year. He was first on the side horse against Syracuse this year.

The other returning title holder is Tim Phillips of Temple. He won the horizontal bar competition last year and is undefeated in that event this year.

ISO . . .

(Continued from Page 8)
The different groups of the International Students Organization will also stage an international fashion show at the fair.

The international dance, with an Oriental theme, will be from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday in Sims. Vincent Pace and his orchestra will provide the entertainment.

Refreshments will be served. Tickets are 50 cents per person. All co-eds will be given late two's with ticket stubs.

International Week is held annually to help educate the campus about the countries of international students attending Syracuse University.

RECORD SAVINGS

REGULAR RETAIL	OUR PRICE
3.98	2.65
4.98	3.32
5.98	3.99
6.98	4.65

CORNER STORE
MUSIC CENTER

Swimmers, In NYS Events

A squad of frosh and varsity swimmers will head west to Buffalo Saturday for the upper New York State Intercollegiate Swimming Championships.

Although there is no team title, Colgate is expected to dominate the meet as they did last season when it was held in Orange Pool.

Swimming for the Orange will be Dick Bausehard, Steve Beaudy, Bob DeWolf, Hugh Dunseath, Bob Duthie, Roger Ellenberger, Pete Hickman, Bill Hotchkiss, Dwayne Lehigh, Jeff Miller, Pete Moore and Chan Rudd.

John DeYoung will lead the frosh of SU.

The Orangemen are 5-1 for the season.

VIOLINIST NEEDED

A violin player is needed for "Ten Nights in a Bar Room." Anyone interested should contact Dr. Joseph Golden at Ext. 2710 or 2708.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

C	H	I	R	P	A	C	I	D	R	E	I
R	E	B	E	L	S	A	V	E	A	I	T
A	R	E	P	A	F	E	E	F	A	W	F
B	O	G	E	Y	M	A	N	A	R	D	E
S	C	A	L	A	R	B	U	G	B	E	A
A	L	E	T	Y	R	O	N	E	R	H	E
G	A	S	P	E	R	A	R	C	A	S	S
A	S	O	R	S	T	E	E	F	S	I	D
S	P	E	C	T	E	R	O	P	E	N	E
S	O	U	S	E	S	U	H	L	E	R
R	E	A	L	H	A	R	D	O	N	E	D
H	O	S	G	O	B	L	I	N	D	I	O
E	L	B	E	L	O	C	K	E	S	S	E
M	E	S	S	E	W	E	S	L	E	E	R

Syracuse Symphony
KARL KRITZ, conductor

FRI.-SAT., MAR. 13-14

LOUIS KRASNER, Violinist
Berg VIOLIN CONCERTO
BARBER BALLET SUITE SOUVENIR!

Lincoln Auditorium, 8:40 p.m.
$1.50, 2., 2.75, 3.50, stud. 75c
Hotel Onondaga — 472-5293

ORANGE AID SALE

The freshman class directory, the "Orange Aid," is on sale in the bookstore, according to Carl Carsallo, president of the junior class. The junior class executive council published the book.

F I 4 U

Friday
"The Eldorado's"

Saturday
The Fabulous "Link Ray and The Raymonds" also "The Vikings"

SYRACUSE BEATLES at BROOKSIDE

TOWPATH ROAD SATURDAY NIGHT 9-1 JUST PAST DEWITT DRIVE-IN

PITCHERS ARE BACK

T-Bone Steak $1.25

CLOVER CLUB

Steak Sandwich . $1.25

Special Prices for Parties and Banquets

Corner Cedar and Almond

GR-59612

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.
1 day $.85
2 days 1.65
3 days 2.40
4 days 3.20
5 days 4.00
6 days 4.80
7 days 5.60
8 days 6.40
9 days 7.20
10 days 8.00
For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.
PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.
AUTO DRIVING — driving problems analyzed and corrected quickly and smoothly. Dual controlled cars furnished. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-3451.
TYPEWRITERS—Repaired, Rented, Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-8833. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.
ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lillian M. Porter 207 Cornstock Ave. GR 8-5847.
TO BUY OR SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN. Sparue Motors, 1000 Hiawatha Blvd. W., 474-6007, is the place.
GREYHOUND BUS TICKETS, plane tickets, hotel reservations, foreign tours, car rentals. Five Star Travel Service Inc. NOW in the MUSIC BOX. 754 S. Crouse Ave. Open Mon. 10-9. Tues.-Sat. 10-5. Dial GREYhound 6-0135.
LOST: Small white mixed retriever. Answers to name of Ralph. Contact Sigma Nu. ext. 2626.
DANCE LESSONS? Exclusive, inexpensive. All types, all ages. Fay Dance School, 1444 E. Genesee St. GR 2-0073.
RUSSIAN, Conversation and Scientific. Qualified instructor. GR 4-4060.
CHARTER FLIGHT to Miami for Spring Vacation. $79.50 round trip including ground transportation to airport. Special Package includes hotel room, $125.00. 5 Star Travel Service Inc. in the Music Box, 754 S. Crouse Ave. 475-0135. SU Students and faculty members only.
EUROPEAN CHARTER FLIGHT — $240.50 — round trip New York to London. Guaranteed departure. Call Eugene Bailey or Steve Kehoe. GR 60906. SU students, faculty and staff only.
THE JEWISH YOUNG ADULT CLUB is having a pizza party, Sunday, March 8 at Enrico's Restaurant at 8 p.m. Entertainment will be provided by Herb Schottland, folk singer, in the form of a "Hootenanny". Adm. $1.75. Open to all single adults between ages 20-40. For further information call Wm. Block at 472-6358.

cial Package includes hotel room, $125.00. 5 Star Travel Service Inc. in the Music Box, 754 S. Crouse Ave. 475-0135. SU Students and faculty members only.
EUROPEAN CHARTER FLIGHT — $240.50 — round trip New York to London. Guaranteed departure. Call Eugene Bailey or Steve Kehoe. GR 60906. SU students, faculty and staff only.
THE JEWISH YOUNG ADULT CLUB is having a pizza party, Sunday, March 8 at Enrico's Restaurant at 8 p.m. Entertainment will be provided by Herb Schottland, folk singer, in the form of a "Hootenanny". Adm. $1.75. Open to all single adults between ages 20-40. For further information call Wm. Block at 472-6358.

(Sailfish), handcrafts, cameras, campcraft, swimming, rafting, trapping, to ages 7-14. Mr. Rogers, 22 Balford Drive, Pittsford, N.Y. 14534.
MALE instructors or graduate students to share 8 room — 4 bedroom apartment. Large, very well furnished, university area, rent $50 month — all included. Call 478-1527.
FLAT — furnished, unheated, 150 Henry St. 6 room upper, 3 bedroom. Available now. $115 plus utilities. GR 2-2115 or 4462-2027.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students
3 ROOMS RECENTLY remodeled — paneling, bus, light parking. $55.00. Call 478-4368.
3 RM. apartment, furnished and heated, newly painted. University section. Very inexpensive. GI 6-1741 or 446-8527.
THREE ROOM APT. furnished, heated. $100 per month. 306 Marshall St.
FURNISHED HEATED apartment, 6 rooms, 3 bedrooms, suitable group. Near Thornden Park. GR 2-2436.
FURNISHED APARTMENT — 1 bedroom — 1 block from the University. Call 478-0495 after 5 P.M.
BELLEVUE HEIGHTS, unfurnished 7-rm. house. Vacant. Fine location. $125 per month. Call owner. GR 8-1587.
FURNISHED APARTMENT. Three rooms, Westcott Street. Modern furnishings. $115 monthly 474-0244.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models, also sales and service, special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.
EXPERT TYPING, electric typewriter, thesis, term papers, theses, 458-0141.
EXPERT TYPING. Thesis, theses, term papers. 458-0141, after 6 p.m.
MRS. RAYMOND WEBB, HE 7-5259.
I B M electric typewriter. Specialty, Ph.D.s, tables, text books, work proofread, satisfaction guaranteed.
Will type term papers in my home. Pick up and delivery. GR 4-0055.
S.U. GRADUATE, IBM electric typewriter. Will do typing at home. Call Mary Carey. GR 8-7108.

FOR SALE

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of four colors of paper, three colors of ink, two sizes of sheets. Bookstall.
1960 IMPALA CONVERTIBLE, V-8, automatic. Radio, heater. Sell to best offer. GR 5-2576.
LAVALLIERES, $2.75. Wedding, shower, baby gifts. Riviera sunglasses, watch and jewelry repairs. Available Joanne Greene Bleach, Ruth's Gifts, 734 South Crouse.
SHE'S A DOLL! and she is really. "FRIEND", the most adorable replica out of any book. "A Friend is Someone Who Likes You." Irresistible! Only at the BOOKSTALL.
ALFA ROMEO 2000 Gran Touring Spyder. New — Koni shocks-Michelin "X" Battery, brakes, no miles since 100% Rebuilt engine. $1925. 463-6531. 2006 Teall Ave.
1957 CHEVROLET, 4 door, power steering, power brakes, V-8 automatic radio and heater. Call Rich Turner. GR 2-4504.
12 VOLUMES OF SEMINARS in art in conjunction with the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Color prints in each volume. 468-6522.
1961 RED CORVETTE, 3-speed transmission, etc. condition. Will take reasonable offer. 472-8249 after 5.

WANTED

SUMMER JOB: Private boys' camp. Adjudicator, counselors to teach sailing

Aunt Jemima's Kitchen

Featuring

37 VARIETIES OF PANCAKES

SOUTHERN FRIED CHICKEN

SOUPS — SANDWICH — STEAKS

SERVING

BREAKFAST, LUNCH

DINNER

LATE NITE SNACKS

THE IDEAL RESTAURANT FOR THE BUDGET MINDED STUDENT

Erie Blvd. East
DeWitt
446-0388

HOURS
Sun - Thurs.
7 a.m. - Mid.
FRI. & SAT.
7 a.m. - 3 a.m.

UConn Offers NIT Tune-Up

By BILL CRONAUER
Junior Editor

An overjoyed Syracuse University cage team, bolstered by a National Invitational Tournament bid, tries to keep its spirits high tonight as it tangles with the NCAA-bound UConn Huskies at Storrs, Conn.

The Hillmen, who climaxed two weeks of anxious waiting last night by accepting the NIT offer, will be gunning for their fifth straight victory.

SU topped Niagara, 97-72, Wednesday after capturing visiting contests from Cornell, Colgate and Canisius the previous week.

Connecticut won a trip to the NCAA tourney last Wednesday by edging Rhode Island, 61-60, in a playoff for the Yankee Conference crown. The Huskies now stand at 14-9 overall and 9-2 in league play.

Orange center Chuck Richards will attempt to follow in Dave Bing's footsteps tonight in becoming the third player in SU hoop history to register 500 points.

Richards needs just seven tallies to enter the charmed circle. Bing fired in his 500th point against Niagara, joining only Vinnie Cohen, who chalked up 605 in the 1956-57 season.

Richards and Bing will be united in the Hill lineup with Norm Goldsmith, Richie Duffy and either Sam Penceal or Phil Schoff. Jim Boehm, who played a brilliant floor game against Niagara, is also slated for plenty of duty.

For Connecticut, it will be 6-8 Toby Kimball, 6-11 Ed Slomcenski and 6-4 Bill Della Sala on the forward wall. Kimball has been the outstanding Huskie this year, tallying 473 points and 401 rebounds in 23 games. He is averaging 20.5 points per contest and pumped in 43 scores against Colgate two weeks ago.

Slomcenski owns an 8.2 ppg norm and ranks as the no. 2 rebounder, while Della Sala is scoring at a 9.7 clip.

Handling the guard slots for the UConns are 6-1 Dom Perno (10.9 ppg) and 6-3 Al Ritter (10.3).

The annual Syracuse International Week will come to a close this weekend with a world's fair today and a dance Saturday evening.

The International World's Fair will be held from 8-10:30 p.m. in Sims Dining Hall. Each nation or regional group will set up a booth in which they will display customs and traditional items which are native to their countries.

There will be no admission charge to the public for the fair. Refreshments will be sold and the regional groups will serve free samples of their national dishes. The exhibits will not be for sale.

(See ISO, Page 7)

Bingo "500"

With this dunk shot, DAVE BING passed the 500-point mark for the season. The "Capitol Comet" has scored more points in one season than any Orangemen with the exception of Vinnie Cohen in 1956-57.

3 Hill Students Arrested In Sit-In At City Police Headquarters

Three Syracuse University students were arrested Thursday after sitting-in at downtown police headquarters.

The students, Sandy Ann Myers, 775 Comstock Ave., Robert M. Levin, 1000 Irving Ave., and Karen Ann Carlson, 102 Waverly Ave., were charged with violating section 16-38-A of the city ordinances: loitering in a public place.

The purpose of the sit-in was to protest the alleged beating of a Negro Marine private by a Syracuse policeman.

A lineup was to have been given at 3:30 p.m. to allow the private to identify the police officer he accused of assaulting him.

At about 4 p.m., Miss Myers said, Mrs. Faith Seidenberg, CORE attorney, appeared in the corridor of the headquarters building with the Marine private. She called to Miss Myers, who was at the other end of the corridor. "She asked me to come over; she had something to tell me. I started down the corridor and a cop stopped me. I argued with him and he finally let me pass." "Mrs. Seidenberg told me that the line-up had been given but the cops wouldn't let Brooks (the private) because the hour was too late.)

"I turned around and started back up the corridor," Miss Myers continued. "Another cop stopped me and said 'You don't have an appointment with Mr. Murphy, (the police chief) you can't go in his office.' I told him I was going to stay in Mr. Murphy's office until I got to see him or until Pvt. Brooks got to see the other cop. "Another man came over and said to the cop 'Let her stay, it's another $1,000. (It is assumed that this remark concerned the bail to be set for the three students. The actual amount was $500.)

"Then he let me go back into the office and wait there. At about 5 p.m., they came in and arrested us."

The students were in police headquarters for approximately 1½ hours when, at 5:05 p.m., police asked and then told them to leave. When they would not, they were arrested and charged.

Miss Myers, Levin and Miss Carlson are being held on a $500 cash bond and will be arraigned at 9 a.m. today in police court.

JSL - JSG Together Again

By JESSE SMITH

Speaker Jay Litwin told the Joint Student Legislature Thursday that there is no longer a rift in student government.

He claimed to have patched up differences with JSG President Jim Morris, and said that there is now truly a joint effort in student government.

Litwin admitted to the D.O., however, that a member of JSL has not yet been appointed to take part in the food service negotiations and said that he is prepared to continue his fight to gain a role for JSL in the meetings.

Litwin declared that the JSL sponsored food boycott had caused agitation in the administration and led to present negotiations. He said that JSL stands ready to take action when necessary without fear of anyone.

Kate Antony, JSG vice president, reported that two subcommittees have been set up to continue negotiations with administrators.

One includes representatives of all dining hall food councils, who have begun meeting with Mrs. Ursula Pettingill, food service director, to plan menus. The other group will discuss food service standards and personnel.

Litwin announced that the Footprints lecture series will begin Tuesday, with former Gov. Ross Barnett of Miss., and asked that students respect Barnett's freedom of speech no matter what their own views.

Wednesday a member of the government will come to campus, and Thursday John Lewis, head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, will speak.

Herbert Lustig, chief justice of Joint Student Court, explained to the legislators that JSC has original jurisdiction in all cases involving student government and elections, and referral jurisdiction in disciplinary cases involving university codes.

He said that each case is considered individually, and that any penalties are handed down as recommendations to personnel deans.

Button Buttons Boost B-Ball

Hooray Hooray for the team team!! These are the sentiments of the University Union board concerning the basketball teams recent NIT bid.

To "direct all basketball effort towards the NIT" the union board has cancelled its Monday night administration-student government game and of course, its varsity-fresh game.

"We congratulate the team on its bid," said Ann Cooney, chairman of the University Union board, "and would like to wish it the best of luck."

The union is selling Button Buttons for the purpose of boosting the team in the NIT.

The Button Buttons which come in red, white, blue, yellow or pink, are on sale for 25 cents in the H.B. Crouse Hall lobby today and Monday.

Button Button

'A Long Time Coming'

By JUDY ADAMS

While word of the bid to the National Invitational Tournament roared through the campus living centers only minutes after it was accepted, the group that it was accepted for sat in restaurants and movie theaters in Hartford, Conn., without knowing that the bid they had been waiting for, for weeks was now theirs.

At last Syracuse was NIT-bound.

"Just tell everyone we're REAL happy," an elated Lewis said last night from his hotel. "I've just finished talking to Bill O'Donnell (WSYR sports director). He was congratulating me and I didn't know what for at first.

"But the kids don't know yet. We checked in late and I sent them out to eat. They won't know until I round them up later tonight."

The bid wasn't a COMPLETE surprise for Lewis who said that he has talked to some of the selection committee earlier this morning.

"They were more or less assuring," Lewis said wryly, "but then they've been doing that all along."

Then the yearling coach, who in two years turned Syracuse basketball from an embarrassment into one that brings smiles to the faces of alumni paused, then added:

"But it was so darn long coming."

Barnett, Lewis to Speak In Footprints Lectures

Former Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett, Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee Chairman John Lewis and a speaker to be named will speak during the 11th annual Footprints lecture series next week...

In a statement issued Thursday, Dale Anderson and Nancy Wright, Footprints co-chairman, said the group had selected civil rights as this year's topic because:

"Civil rights problems recently hit, some people felt, too close to Syracuse and the Syracuse University academic community. Because the issue is so controversial, and because many students and faculty members feel they know too little of the situation, the committee for Footprints XI decided to devote this year's lecture series to civil rights, in an attempt to study the problem not only on a local level but with a national view."

"The three speakers will present the two extremes in the conflict, as well as the government's role as an arbiter and a lawmaker."

"While the members of the Footprints committee realize the explosive nature of the topic, and know that the views expressed by some speakers may not be concomitant with those of some members of the Syracuse University community, we are convinced that the students, faculty members and other interested persons will treat all three speakers with the respect due them."

GOV. ROSS BARNETT

Each speaker will lecture at 3 p.m. in Hendricks Chapel with a discussion session at 8 p.m. in the chapel. The evening series will consist of panel discussions with faculty members questions and answers from the floor.

The evening programs will be piped to Gifford Auditorium, H. B. Crouse Hall for the overflow of people.

Gov. Barnett, native Mississippian, will speak Tuesday. Barnett attended Mississippi College and the University of Mississippi School of Law, from which he graduated in 1926. Now the senior member of a seven-partner law firm, he served as president of the Mississippi State Bar Association and is now state chairman for the Mississippi State Bar Association committee on procedural reforms.

Gov. Barnett has been an active member of the American Bar Association and served for several years on its committee on improving in the administration of justice.

He served as governor of Mississippi from 1960-64, and is now practicing law and making speeches throughout the United States.

Serving on the evening panel for Gov. Barnett will be Dr. George Alexander, assistant professor of law; Dr. George Wiley, assistant professor of chemistry and community relations director for Syracuse

(Continued on page 5)

Orange Play NYU Thursday Night In NIT Round One

By BERNIE MacCALLUM
Sports Editor

Syracuse will play the Violets of New York University Thursday night in the first round of the National Invitational Basketball Tournament in Madison Square Garden.

The two teams will meet at 9 p.m. in the second game of a doubleheader. St. Josephs will play Miami of Florida in the opening contest at 7 p.m.

Students can purchase tickets with an ID card for $1.50 at the Garden box office. These tickets are normally $3.00 and are for the end promenade sections.

Regular tickets will go on sale at Manley Field House today for $6.00, $5.00 and $3.50.

Student government is looking into the possibility of running busses to the game.

NYU has a 15-8 record. The Violets, a pre-season pick to be one of the top three teams in the nation were upset twice last week. They were beaten by Rider College and lost to St. John's 71-51 Saturday in a televised game. Earlier in the season they were upended by Wagner College.

NYU is a team of super stars that has been unable to completely jell this season. They still have an impressive record, however, and will be a strong hometown favorite when they

(Continued on Page 8)

Architecture Student Wins National Contest Award

A fourth year student in the Architecture has been awarded first prize at the national convention of the American Concrete Institute.

William A. Maples, secretary-treasurer of the American Concrete Institute, announced at the Institute's convention in Houston, Texas recently that Clark J. Shaughnessy of Syracuse had won the $100 first place cash award.

Concrete structures were submitted from students in major schools of architecture throughout the nation. Shaughnessy's project is entitled "A Sports Arena."

Commenting on the award, D. Kenneth Sargent, dean of the School of Architecture, said, "This is a very important success to this boy and the School of Architecture since it involves a philosophy of teaching total architecture in the correlation of all facets of architectural practice."

More Arrested

Rights Protests Continue

The arrests of persons demonstrating in protest of alleged police brutality continued Friday.

Arrested on charges of blocking a doorway was John P. Patterson, a university clerk. Kenneth L. Baer, a Hill student was arrested for loitering.

Friday's arrests added to the tally of "protest arrests" for the cause of Joseph C. Brooks, 21, a Negro Marine private. Brooks had charged that he was beaten by a police officer after he was arrested and pleaded innocent to a public intoxication charge.

He was also charged on Friday with a perjury charge, for statements he made in his brutality charge against the officer. Accompanying him was his attorney, Mrs. Faith Seidenberg.

Speaking for the police department was First Deputy Chief William H.T. Smith, who said Friday, "the police department has completed its investigation of the alleged attack on Pvt. Brooks. The findings have been turned over to the district attorney...As a result...the district attorney has seen fit to apply for a warrant of arrest, charging Pvt Brooks with perjury, second degree."

Four other Syracuse University students who had been previously arrested, are now free on $500 bond in connection with the demonstrations for the cause of Pvt. Brooks. Pleading innocent to the charge of violating a city ordinance by loitering in a public building were: Sandra A. Myers, Karen A. Carlson, Robert M. Levin and Susan L. Starvynski.

Miss Starvynski was reportedly carried from the police chief's office and arrested because she refused to leave the office. Her mission there was reportedly to deliver a letter from the Congress on Racial Equality to Police Chief Murphy.

All of the students arrested in connection with the demonstrations will appear before the court on March 19, along with five other demonstrators.

Approximately 30 members of CORE were present at the West Genesee street side of the police department building Friday, also demonstrating against the alleged brutality.

Panhel Gives Annual Awards

By M. L. WRIGHT

Phi Sigma Sigma and Zeta Tau Alpha were presented the Panhellenic awards for highest scholarship and greatest scholarship improvement at the annual Panhellenic Luncheon Saturday at the Hotel Syracuse.

Service awards from Panhellenic were given to Marcy Rast (Alpha Delta Pi), Ellen Steinberg (Alpha Lambda Phi) and Lois Wiltse (Alpha Xi Delta).

Miss Rast is a member of chapel choir, a junior guide and Panhel delegate. She is also a member of Sigma Alpha Iota, music honorary and Panhellenic judiciary board. She is secretary of Panhellenic and president of her house.

Miss Steinberg is president of Alpha Lambda Phi and Panhellenic rush chairman.

Miss Wiltse is president of Alpha Xi Delta and a member of Eta Pi Epsilon, senior women's honorary.

The Louella Boswell scholarship, presented by City Panhellenic to a junior on basis of scholarship and contribution to university, was awarded to Mary Jane Sinzler (Phi Sigma Sigma). Miss Rinzler is guide chairman, president of her house, and treasurer of Panhellenic. She is also a member of Lambda Sigma Sigma, junior women's honorary.

Dean Marjorie C. Smith also presented scholarship awards to Alpha Sigma Tau and Chi Omega for second and third place in scholarship.

Miss Florence Kramer, president of City Panhellenic, presented the awards to "those girls who had demonstrated outstanding service to Syracuse University."

The Panhellenic theme award was presented to Kappa Delta. Lambda Psi received the scholarship plaque for an associate member of Panhellenic. More than 1,000 sorority women representing 25 sororities attended the luncheon. City Panhellenic officers were guests of the affair.

Dr. Frank P. Piskor, vice-president of academic affairs, addressed the assembly of "the vital and influential role sorority women play at the university."

Spanish Critic Gives Lecture

A Spanish critic of the post-war generation will speak at Syracuse University Thursday, March 12. He is German Bleiberg, professor of Romance languages at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn.

Prof. Bleiberg will give a spring humanities lecture in the Maxwell auditorium at 4 p.m.

He will discuss the work of the Spanish intellectual and novelist, Unamuno, as a writer who anticipated the post war development of Existentialism. Title of the speech is "Unamuno, the Precursor."

Visiting Critic To Speak

Richard Meier, visiting critic at the Syracuse University School of Architecture will deliver a lecture on synagogue design at 4 p.m. Tuesday at Kitteredge auditorium, H. B. Crouse Hall, on the campus.

Meier, a New York City architect, recently designed and organized an exhibition on synagogue architecture for the Jewish Museum in New York City.

While he is visiting SU, he is directing a project for fourth year design students on synagogue architecture. The students will complete the design problem on March 25.

BLOOD NEEDED

Twenty - two pints of Type O, Rh Negative blood are needed by Tuesday night for Dawn Morgan, granddaughter of Mrs. Gwen Lynch, cook for Alpha Epsilon Phi.

Miss Morgan must undergo open heart surgery early Wednesday at University Hospital.

George Van Dervan, president of InterFraternity Council is asking students and faculty with this rare blood type to call the Red Cross Center at 749 South Warren St. at GR 6-9071, and ask for Mrs. Walters.

Eco Talk Given Today

A guest lecturer on economics from Princeton University will speak 3:15 p.m. today in the Founders' Room of Maxwell Auditorium.

Dr. Oskar Morgenstern will lecture on "Limitations of Mathematics as Applied to Economic Theory and Policy making."

Morgenstern is a professor of political economy at Princeton University. The lecture is sponsored by the Hill Economics Dept.

Basketball King

The sport of basketball has emerged from the shadow of football at Syracuse. The invitation received by the university Thursday to play in the National Invitational Basketball Tournament climaxes one of the most amazing turn-about in recent sport history.

Two years ago the Orangemen were floundering with a 27 game losing streak—the longest ever to be compiled by a major college team.

Two seasons and one coach later the Hill basketball team is NIT bound. In the interim a guy by the name of Fred Lewis came north to Syracuse and became coach and architect of Syracuse University's basketball. A new coach, a new team and a new field house, plus a revival of interest has produced a remarkable face-lifting of the basketball picture.

Why, now even coeds know what the letters "NIT" stand for.

The entire campus is behind the team as the opening round of the tournament in New York City approaches. The Daily Orange came out with a special extra Thursday night and Student Government is now looking into the possibility of running buses to the NIT.

Crowds in the Manley Field House steadily increased as the season progressed. Even last year student interest was high with the novelty of the possibility that the Orange were capable of victory. Our record was 8-13 last season. Before that the team was 2-22 and 4-19 the years before that.

Soon after Lewis arrived on the Hill he went recruiting and came up with a guy named Dave Bing and a banner crop of freshmen ball players.

Students turned out in force to watch the freshmen play last season. They turned out in droves to see the same players as varsity performers this year.

An exodus down the thruway from Syracuse to New York City and the NIT will take place this week. Coach Lewis and his team will be waiting at the other end.

The Orangemen will take the floor in Madison Square Garden with campus support and enthusiasm which lately has not been present for our football team. Winning is new in basketball and a post-season tournament game is an added dessert and particularly unexpected so soon in SU's basketball renaissance.

Lewis and the team are certainly to be congratulated.

The Other Side of the Rainbow Basketball: Welcome Home

by Andrew Porte

Now that we're finally going to the NIT, we can temporarily forget the possibility of a student-administration basketball game. Yet such a game would have had a few interesting possibilities, judging from the proposed rosters.

Would Vice President Francis Wingate, the overall food service boss, have dared enter the court to oppose an angry student team, headed by Jay "Dimples" Litwin, the indigestion kid?

Yet we wonder whether Litwin would have seen much action, for the student squad was to be coached by Jim "Boris" Morris, student government leader. Reliable sources reported that Litwin didn't like to play Morris' man-to-man defense.

Ron Brzezinski and Karl Corrallo, those roommate-presidents, would have been opposing loyal fraternity brother John Hafer, personnel dean. We hope they would have realized it was only a game and not a social committee meeting.

Let us also be thankful that there were no SAE's on the student team, for we wonder how long Joe Iannoli from the dean of men's office would have lasted.

Al Davis and Bill Gedallcia, two fairly good tennis players and students, would have been disappointed to learn that Don Micklejohn, noted faculty tennis player, and educator was not on the roster.

Larry Rubin and Don Cronson, a pair of avid basketball fans, might have missed Coach Lewis, although Morris Osburn was on the roster.

George "Skip" Stanger and George "Flip" Van Derven might have been perturbed that there weren't too many Greeks on the administration squad, but they would have been happy to know that the Bobby Cohen on the student squad was a SL senator and not a CORE (SUCE) leader.

Herb Lustig, of the student disciplinary agency, would have been right at home on a court with a Kort (AI, that is) on the team.

But it was for a good cause anyway, the university union, which has been the goal of a bunch of hard-working committee members.

The university of Connecticut has a spacious union directly across from their fieldhouse making it the post-game headquarters for students and friends. Here's to our union committee, who have been devoted to the cause against nearly impossible odds.

And speaking of Connecticut, I wonder how Art Perschetz (of IFC rushing fame) and Bob Brier (Val Pinchbeck's right hand) felt after driving five hours to the game only to arrive ten minutes after it ended. Better luck at the NIT, fellas.

We had the good fortune of sitting next to a NYU scout at the game, and he was kind enough to let us know all about our university and its operation, once the game had ended.

It seems that the New York City coaches aren't too fond of our Freddy Lewis, principally because he happens to be a better recruiter than Lapchick, Rossini, et al. (Maybe basketball players think they can get more of an education here, too. This fact was immediately discounted by the scout.)

After all, they've been in business for a lot of years, and they don't like this upstate whippersnapper invading their territory. Keep it up, Freddy, boy.

We're glad it was only us and not someone a bit bigger who talked to this full-of-facts gent, for someone approximating his size might have taken a bit stronger offense at the remarks he made about Messrs. Bing, Harper and Reid.

Seems we're paying these boys more than anyone else to come here. Well, we don't talk about the practices at NYU — we'll let the national magazines bury their comments.

We don't mind criticism, but not from NYU about what we do for basketball players.

Back in time from Connecticut, we managed to catch the NYU-St. John's game on the video tube. That Joe Lapchick (St. John's coach) can really talk up a storm.

Now it must be understood that Joe, the patron saint of New York basketball, is one hell of a good coach. But calling his club the best in the city and griping that they weren't even considered for an NIT bid when he was on the committee is carrying it a bit too far. All he had to do was open his mouth like he did on television.

His Redmen did beat NYU, and they beat us rather handily, too, but next time maybe Chuck Richards won't be suffering with a 100-degree temperature.

Yep, we like New York City basketball, but there ain't nothing like the old home-bred kind. Welcome home to Syracuse, basketball, it's good to have you back where you belong.

LETTERS

Academics

To the Editor:

There exists in the basement of Graham dining hall a book vending machine which will dispense on deposit of 75c, the most famous and the best treatise on the subject of pornography.

This in itself is of some interest, but is inconsequential when one considers that there also exists certain areas of the nation where this book is banned. (I don't know if it is banned because it appeals to the prurient interests and is therefore by definition obscene or because it takes a very liberal and logical view concerning pornographic erotic literature; I can only guess.)

For it then becomes ludicrous for this university to allow students to buy a banned book when it will not allow its coed to wear pants on campus unless the overcoat is X inches below the knees.

Obviously (or tragically, perhaps not), it is the university's attitude towards the female form that I recommend be burned not the book.

There is, of course, as little chance of the university policy on pants being altered as there is of seeing this campus lose its Methodist charter, or allow drinking or revoke the infamous "Three-foot rule".

However, one can hope that sometime before the second coming the university will undergo a modernization of attitude and become 30 years behind the time instead of its present 45.

Name Submitted
But Withheld

PS. It is interesting to note that Billy Sol Estes was of such a Puritanical predilection that he forbade dancing among young, unmarried adults. Cleanliness is next to godliness. Halleluliah!

Qualifications

To the Editor:

In Wednesday's DO you, asked when if all communication with the administration had broken down, answered with a qualified yes. I have an idea that those qualifications would fill a hard bound volume. Up until the very last moment, you dealt only with food service personnel, not administrators. That you had difficulty with food service is possible, but you cannot then sit back and claim that all means have been tried.

If you are still publicizing the rift which students were aware of last week to get a legislator on the food service committee, it is being done. If this is still a personal matter, you and Jim should lock yourselves in a room and hash out your problems, for hash out your problems for the sake of the student body.

Richard Cost
Class of '61

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2

March 9, 1964

Editor-In-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor Clayton F. Richards
News Editor Andrew Porte
Editorial Director Adair DuFane
Sports Editor Bernard MacCallum
Art Editor Rex Turlet
Photography Editor Steve Schwimmer

BUSINESS STAFF

National Ad. Mgr. Lynn Mandel
Classified Mgr. Christine Sedrak
Promotion Mgr. Stu Sharino
Asst. Bus. Mgr. Jon Weisberg
Layout Managers Martha Johansk, Lilian Lehr

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 201 Brookline Drive Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter at U.S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

TREVER ON CAMPUS

"Ten Nights"

The Women's Christian Temperance Union's comic melodrama will give performances March 12, 13, 14, 19, 20, 21 at the Regent Theater.

Tickets on sale for $1.50 and $2. There is a twenty-five cent discount for those students who take the pledge of abstinence from the demon rum.

Kingston Trio, Folk Group To Play at War Memorial

The Kingston Trio will appear 8:30 p.m. March 17 at the War Memorial concert circle, sponsored by the Famous Artists series. This marks the fourth year that they have appeared in Syracuse.

As a group, they have appeared on such television shows as Milton Berle, Perry Como, Dinah Shore and Garry Moore. Their big hits have included "Tom Dooley," "The MTA," "Scotch and Soda" amongst other recordings and best selling albums. Five of their 13 record albums have each sold over a million copies.

Other awards include "Best Group of the Year" by the disc jockey; the Ballroom Operators gave them the "Best Show Attraction of the Year" award. They have also received two grammys from the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences.

Their career started at a Stanford University hangout called "The Cracked Pot." From there they moved to "The Purple Onion," a San Francisco night spot, where they stayed for seven months.

A nationwide nightclub tour followed, as then did "The hungry i," and their first record album for Capitol records.

In the Spring of 1961, the Kingston Trio was joined by John Stewart, formally a member of the Cumberland Three. Dave Guard, an original member of the Trio had decided to go on his own.

Tickets are on sale for $3.50, $2.50 and $2.

Nickel Theatre Gives Alechem's 'Gymnasium'

A play by Sholem Aleichem, the foremost contemporary writer of Yiddish folk lore and humor, will be presented 4:30 p.m. today at the Boar's Head Theatre of the Syracuse University Drama Department. Entitled "The Gymnasium," the play will be performed by members of the Civic Company and directed by Burton Weeks.

"The Gymnasium" deals with a couple who are trying to place their son in a good school. The bitter-sweet results of their efforts are treated with warmth and understanding by the author.

Appearing in the cast are Lenore Canter as Hanna, Albert Stewart as Aaron, Steven Zeitlin as Moishka, Al Ross as the Principal, Joel Fleming as the Tutor, Bill Rennie as Uncle Maxl, and Margaret Rennie as Aunt Reba. Anna Marie Bernazza is Stage Manager.

Admission to the performance is five cents. A discussion of the play will follow.

BEAT NYU

WAER Airs This Week's Lecture Series

WAER, the Syracuse University radio station, will broadcast all of the lectures in the 1964 Footprints Series, it was announced by Robert Feldman, program director.

The afternoon lectures on March 10, 11 and 12 will be taped and replayed the same night at 7 p.m.

The afternoon lecture, "The Southern View on Civil Rights," by former Governor of Mississippi, Ross Barnett will be heard 7 p.m. March 10.

At 7 p.m. March 11, the lecture concerning "The Southern View of Civil Rights," will be aired.

The same schedule applies to the John Lewis lecture on Mar. 12.

Riviera CINEMA
3115 SOUTH SALINA ST. - GR 8-4021
"ONE OF THE YEAR'S 10 BEST"
The most suspenseful film you will ever see!

any number can win

JEAN GABIN
ALAIN DELON

JULIE the REDHEAD

PASCAL PETIT
DANIEL GELIN

DO YOU KNOW THE DEMON?

Syracuse Symphony

KARL KRITZ, conductor

FRI.-SAT., MAR. 13-14

LOUIS KRASNER, Violinist

Berg VIOLIN CONCERTO
BARBER BALLET SUITE SOUVENIR!

Lincoln Auditorium, 8:40 p.m.
$1.50, 2., 2.75, 3.50, stud. 75c
Hotel Onondaga -- 472-5293

Tuesday Evenings
Two Showings
7 and 9 p.m.

University REGENT Theatre
820 EAST GENESEE

TOMORROW

The Novel on Film

"THE LAST ANGRY MAN"

(U. S. A.)

Tickets: Single, 75c

Series, $1.50

Daily Crossword Puzzle

- ACROSS

1 Box lightly.
5 Fissures.
10 Corvine bird.
14 Hounds' prey.
15 Relative: Colloq.
16 Abhor.
17 Where the Ob flows.
18 Irving's Ichabod.
19 — meridiem.
20 Attila the Hun: 4 words.
23 Italian poet.
24 Boil.
25 Expression of disbelief.
27 Latin admonitions to the reader: Abbr.
28 Mr. Ziegfeld.
31 Member of a safari.
34 Initials on N.Y.C. building.
35 Pole.
36 Insist upon.
37 Approves: Colloq.
39 Light vapor.
40 German ballad.
41 Fasten.
42 Laundry worker.
44 Garden area.
45 Kind of Buddhism.
46 Passed swiftly.
- 47 Lucrezia or Cesare.
49 Misbehave.
53 Scene of defeat. of 20 Across, in 451: 3 words.
57 Sweetbrier.
58 Cousin of Absalom.
59 Relative of a salon.
60 So be it.
61 Pithy.
62 Diabolic.
63 Hoover Dam lake.
64 — de (in case of): 2 words.
65 Appoints.

DOWN

1 — al Arab, river of Iraq.
2 Turkish title.
3 Zodiac sign.
4 Restored to confidence.
5 Puerto —.
6 A pouring in.
7 Road signal.
8 State of being in contact.
9 Minty plant: 2 words.
10 Abrade by rubbing.
11 Re-echoed.
12 Palindromic
- name.
13 Darnel, for one.
21 Approach.
22 Exclamations.
26 Name applied to a particular thing: 2 words.
28 Cheese or fruit tart.
29 Take it easy.
30 Past.
31 Gardener's concern.
32 Great Lake.
33 Having existed long.
34 Operated.
35 Display cabinets.
38 Nursery rhyme characters: 2 words.
43 Quantity of paper.
45 Park feature.
46 Wife of Constantine the Great.
47 Mix.
48 Biblical patriarch.
50 Crossbeam.
51 Dark.
52 Sounds of bells.
53 Stuff (into).
54 Britain's P.M.
55 Voyaging.
56 Beams of light.

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

the Kingston Trio

Tues. March 17

WAR MEMORIAL CONCERT CIRCLE

$3.50, $3.00, $2.50, $2.00
Famous Artists
Clark Music Bldg.
GR 1-0162

FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE AND GREYHOUND

SALUTE THE ORANGEMEN PARTICIPANTS IN THE NATIONAL INVITATIONAL TOURNAMENT

TO MAKE IT EASIER FOR ORANGE ROOTERS TO ATTEND THE TOURNAMENT WE ARE OFFERING A SPECIAL EXCURSION FARE $14 ROUND TRIP TO NEW YORK THIS WEEK

(If the game is held on Saturday, there will be buses departing from campus at 3.)
SPECIAL RATES ARE ALWAYS AVAILABLE ON HOTEL RESERVATIONS
WE CAN ALSO HANDLE YOUR CAR RENTALS

STUDENT SAVINGS BEGIN AT

FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE INC.

"STUDENT TRAVEL THAT STUDENTS CAN AFFORD"

(FACULTY AND STAFF TOO, OF COURSE)

NOW IN THE MUSIC BOX

754 S. Crouse

DIAL Greyhound 5-0135

Note This Number Is Right

GR 5-0135

Potholes

Looking at one of the hazards of Spring on the Syracuse University campus are some students who found some of the many potholes now appearing on campus. These holes, which are a hazard to driving are expected to be repaired shortly.

Barnett, Lewis to Speak

(continued from page 1)
CORE; and Dr. William Zelermyer, chairman of the department of business law.
It is hoped that a representative of the government will be available for Wednesday.
On that evening panel will be Dr. Norman Balabanian, electrical engineering professor and chairman of the Syracuse chapter American Civil Liberties Union; Mrs. Faith Seidenberg, attorney for Syracuse CORE; and Dr. Linton Freeman, associate professor of sociology and anthropology.
John Lewis, 23, accepted the chairmanship of SNCC after serving for two years as chairman of the Nashville Student Movement. A graduate of the American Baptist Seminary, he is now studying at Fisk University and oversees the operations of 150 staff members working on voter registration and direct action projects in the South.

He participated in the 1961

Freedom Rides and was a speaker at last year's August 28 March on Washington.
He will speak on the Hill next Thursday. Arrangements for that evening's discussion have not been completed.
All Footprints lectures and discussions are free and open to the public.

Reading Center Planned

Tired of being "one of the slowest readers around"?
If you've just answered that question with a "yes," you are a likely candidate for a series of special sessions offered to Hill students. The sessions are designed to aid students in developing rapid reading skills.
Sessions are slated to begin the week of March 16 and to run during the first four weeks after spring vacation.
Only cost of the course is a charge of $1.50 for books needed for instruction. Pre-registration for the course will be held beginning Monday at the reading center, 508 University Pl. or at ext. 2468 between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Participation must be limited and students wishing to sign up for the course are urged to do so as early as possible. Sign-ups will be taken on a "first-come, first-serve" basis.

WAER To Be Judging Center

Syracuse University's Television-Radio Center has been selected as the judging center for the annual News Awards Competition of the United Press International Broadcasters Association of Virginia.
Dr. A. William Bluem and Dr. John Rider of the center faculty were named co-directors of the project. They will also serve as judges. Other judges will be Dr. Lawrence Myers, television - radio chairman Marvin Rimerman, instructor in radio special events broadcasting.

Radio and television stations in Virginia will submit representative samples of their best news and public affairs coverage for 1963. There are 11 categories to be judged and awards will be made at the group's annual banquet in Virginia Beach, May 2.

Cit Conference

Anyone who is interested in being a discussion leader for the annual citizenship conference on Saturday, April 11, should contact Beverly Kaupa at ext. 2960 or Edward Haell at ext. 2022 for further information.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

C	H	I	R	P	A	C	I	D	D	R	E	I
R	E	B	E	L	S	A	V	E	A	I	T	S
A	R	E	P	A	F	E	E	F	A	W	F	U
B	O	G	E	Y	N	A	K	A	R	D	E	L
S	C	A	L	A	R	I	M	O	R	A	L	E
S	C	A	L	A	R	B	U	G	B	E	A	P
A	L	E	T	Y	R	O	K	E	R	H	E	A
G	A	S	P	E	A	R	C	A	S	S	A	Y
A	S	O	R	S	T	E	E	F	S	I	D	E
S	P	E	C	T	E	R	O	P	E	N	E	R
S	O	U	S	J	O	U	L	E	R	S
R	E	A	L	M	H	A	R	O	O	N	E	D
H	O	G	G	O	3	L	I	N	Q	I	O	D
E	L	D	E	L	O	C	K	E	S	S	E	R
N	E	S	S	E	W	E	S	L	E	E	R	S

BUY, SELL, or RENT
WANT a RIDE or RIDERS?

ADVERTISE!!

CAMPUS CLASSIFIEDS
GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

N. Y. WORLD'S FAIR TICKETS

Now Available for ONLY $1.35

at the UNIVERSITY BRANCH of the

Syracuse Travel Bureau

in the CORNER STORE (upstairs)

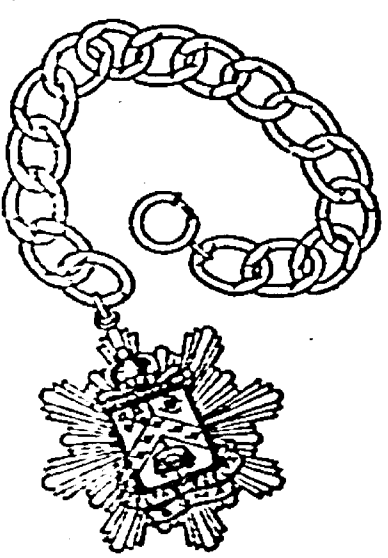

See us for All Your Travel Needs

Tel. 476-2178 or SU Ext. 2095/6

TODAY
4 p.m., Volleyball, Gym B, Women's Bldg.
4 p.m., Footprints Ushers, Important! Short meeting, 102 Maxwell.
5:05 p.m., Lutheran Choral Vespers, North Wing, Hendricks Chapel.
7:30 p.m., Dr. Anthony Bouscaren, Professor of Political Science at LeMoyne College, speaks on Senator Barry Goldwater, Knickerbocker Auditorium, H. B. C.
8:30 p.m., St. Thomas More Chapel, Graduate Seminar.

BALFOUR

L. G. BALFOUR CO.
Fraternity & Sorority Insignia
Jewelry • Rings
Stationery • Favors
Gifts • Ceramics
Leathergoods

Carl Sorensen, Mgr.
729 S. Crouse GR 5-7837

Stewardesses needed by United Airlines

Classes available June through the fall
Fly the jets from coast to coast, border to border, with the country's number one airline.
Minimum Qualifications:
AGE: 19½ thru 26 years of age.
HEIGHT: 5'2" to 5'8".
WEIGHT: 105 to 140 lbs. (in proportion to height)
MARITAL STATUS: Single (may be divorced or widowed without dependents)
EDUCATION: High school graduate with two years of college or public contact experience desired.

Please contact Women's Placement Office for date and time of Stewardess interviews.
Ext. 2720

SECOND ANNUAL SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY
FOLK FESTIVAL

MARCH 20, 21, 22, 1964

AN EXCITING ROUND-ROBIN OF CONCERTS, HOOTENANNIES, SEMINARS, WORKSHOPS, CLINICS, AND TALENT COMPETITION

—FEATURING AMERICA'S FINEST FOLK ARTISTS—

DOC WATSON JEAN RITCHIE THE GREENBRIAR BOYS
REV. GARY DAVIS GIL TURNER ROGER SPRUNG
THE SHANTY BOYS THE ALL-NIGHT SINGERS
AND MANY OTHERS.

YOUR FESTIVAL HOST
JERRY SILVERMAN
AUTHOR, PERFORMER, MUSICOLOGIST, ASSOCIATE EDITOR OF SING OUT

GENERAL ADMISSION TICKET FOR ENTIRE FESTIVAL $2.50
SPECIAL ADVANCED SALE - TO MARCH 18 ONLY - $2.00

FESTIVAL SPONSORED BY SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY BOOKSTORES
FESTIVAL HEADQUARTERS
CORNER BOOKSTORE MUSIC DEPARTMENT
943 SO. CROUSE AVE. SYRACUSE, N.Y. 13210
PHONE 476-5571 EX 2008

TICKETS AND FULL INFORMATION AVAILABLE AT FESTIVAL HEADQUARTERS
AND AT FAMOUS ARTISTS TICKET OFFICE - CLARK MUSIC BLDG, SALINA ST.
100 LP RECORDS -- GUITARS -- SONG BOOKS WILL BE GIVEN AWAY

Onondagan

Onondagan Editor KATHY ARNOLD (left) plans with assistants the final section of the Onondagan, Syracuse University yearbook, which will go to the printer next week.

Service Honorary

New Pledges Sought

Newly elected officers of Alpha Phi Omega national service fraternity, Phi (Syracuse) Chapter, are Donald Fleming, president; Bob Ward, vice-president; Howie Brickman, corresponding secretary; Joel Zeigler, recording secretary; Ed Weiss, treasurer; Rusty Smyk, pledge-master; Connor Power, historian; Richard Kuzmack, parliamentarian; Michael Reitelman, alumni secretary.

Pledges initiated into the fraternity this fall are George Forbes, Eric Goltzer, John Modjeska and Steve Springer.

Alpha Phi Omega was founded in 1925 by 29 men at Lafayette College in Pennsylvania. In 39 years' time it has become the largest fraternity in the United States and, with its international chapters included, is the largest fraternity in the world. There are now over 350 chapters with a membership of 80,000.

The goals of the fraternity are: to develop leadership and friendship, to provide service to humanity, and to further freedom. The local chapter has been active in numerous campus and community service projects.

One is the "Ugly Man" contest, in which competing students solicit votes on campus in the form of donations to Campus Chest. The contestant receiving the most money wins prizes donated by local merchants. Last year over $400 was collected.

APO conducts a used book exchange for students wishing to buy or sell books. The student wishing to sell tells APO the amount he wants to sell each book for. APO charges 10 cents for every sale made. This money is used for an endowment fund in the form of a monetary award for a student who needs money to buy books. Over the past eight years a principal of about $3000 has been accumulated.

Another project was the fall 1962 blood drive when a record-breaking 556 pints were donated.

Brothers of the fraternity visit the infirmary each night and make small purchases on Marshall Street for patients.

The ride board, operated by APO brings students who want rides and those who want riders together. Erecting a Christmas tree on the quad each year is another service. APO is a participant in both the Syracuse University on Community Affairs and Youth Opportunities Unlimited; they sponsor a Christmas party at Elmerest Children's Home and help open Camp Woodland each spring.

Newly installed advisors for the local chapter are Paul Ruoff, Landon Bowers, Dean Carson Buck, Rowland Graeber, Peter Cataldi, Air Science Lt. Col. Frank Cox, ROTC Col. Raymond C. Wittmayer and Charles Eberly.

Advertising Copywriter

MALE or FEMALE

Career Opportunity for young person to learn while working in an accredited, highly creative Syracuse Agency.

Broadcast and Print

Write: Box 100

DAILY ORANGE

RECORD SAVINGS

REGULAR RETAIL	OUR PRICE
3.98	2.65
4.98	3.32
5.98	3.99
6.98	4.65

CORNER STORE
MUSIC CENTER

FREE

ATTRACTIVE, DECORATIVE

PICTURE FRAME

with purchase of

ANY 8 x 10 or 11 x 14

COLOR ENLARGEMENT

at your

PHOTO HEADQUARTERS

Limited Time Only

303 University Place

Home Ec Awards Given

Awards were presented to four women in the Syracuse University College of Home Economics at the 30th annual Orchid Dinner in Sadler Hall Thursday.

Dean Barbara Griggs presented the Orchid Award to Miss M. Susan Pannier, junior in fashion merchandising. The award is given to the upper class student with the highest scholastic average. Miss Pannier's cumulative average is 2.71.

A native of Pittsburgh, the Orchid winner is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, Women's Goon Squad and has served on the Home Economics Student Board.

Miss Carolyn Ragonese of Syracuse was cited as outstanding freshman by the college. Her cumulative average is 2.58.

The sophomore award, made by Omicron Nu, home economics honorary, was given to Miss Judith Nonnenmocher, New Holland, Pa. Winner of the freshman award in 1963, she is a member of Sigma Lambda Delta and the Home Economics Club. Her cumulative average is 2.8.

John McKain, president of the Borden Co., presented the Borden Award to Miss Margery Anderson, Mt. Lake, N. J. The award is given to a senior with the highest cumulative average among students who have taken at least two courses in foods.

Her average is 2.54. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma and the Home Economics Student Board.

Dr. Carol A. Fisher, SU assistant professor of anthropology and citizenship, was main speaker at the banquet. She discussed "Creativity: The Challenge of Our Society."

BEAT NYU

INFORMAL COURSE

Computer Center

116 Machinery Hall

The Syracuse University Computing Center will offer another informal short course in FORTRAN programming for the IBM 7070, starting Monday, March 9, and continuing on Wednesday and Friday and the following Monday and Wednesday. There will be five two-hour sessions for those who have had no previous programming experience. The last two sessions will be devoted to the PEST system and FORMAT statements and will be of interest to individuals who already know FORTRAN for some other computer.

TIME: 1:30 - 6:30 p.m.

DATES: March 9, 11, 13, 16, 18

PLACE: 116 Machinery Hall

Sign Up at the Computing Center or call X 2677

It is suggested that the book:

A Guide to Fortran Programming

by Daniel D. McCracken be purchased at the Book Store where it will soon be available.

Nozy on Down

SAVOY'S famous Glazed Donuts—

perfect partner — to our

"Real Coffee"

GO SAVOY

Chartered Plane

To MIAMI

For SU Students, Faculty and Staff

Guaranteed Departure

$79⁴⁰ Round Trip

Includes Ground Transportation to Airport

(For $38 extra Go to Nassau by Scheduled Plane)

SPECIAL PACKAGE DEAL

Including 10 Nights at Schine's McAllister Hotel

Free Use of Roney Plaza Beach

Free Transportation between Hotel and Beach

$123

DEPART: March 25th

RETURN: April 5th

For Information or Reservations — see or call

Five Star Travel Service Inc.

NOW IN THE UNIVERSITY HILL MUSIC BOX

GR5-0135

Open Monday 10 - 9

Tues. thru Sat. 10 - 6

Hill Student Comments on France

This article on Syracuse University's semester in France program was written by a Daily Orange staffer currently in Poitiers. More of her commentary on the program will appear at a later date.

By MARILYN GREENE

POITIERS, March 2 — Poitiers is a university town; students are its heart. It is also a provincial little city, exhibiting a strange melange of the twentieth century, and the second.

None of the current Syracuse semester in France students would describe it in the same way, or emphasize the same details. Each is absorbing, outside his academic studies, very individual concepts of his academic experience in Europe. One invariable precondition for all cases, however, is that every aspect of the adventure is new; different from anything previously encountered.

Gregg to Talk on DeGaulle

DeGaulle's recognition of Red China will be the topic of a meeting sponsored by the European Students Association. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in 111 Maxwell Hall.

Dr. Robert W. Gregg of the Maxwell School will outline the causes for DeGaulle's decision and the repercussions it may have on French and American political and economic foreign policy.

An open discussion will follow the lecture.

Rains Cut Down Parking

Campus parking was curtailed Thursday, due to Wednesday night's rain that made much of the area in back of the Archbold Stadium prefabs unsafe for cars.

Sgt. Raymond Cretzer of Security Police told the Daily Orange that work was being done in the Sims area, also damaged by the rains and that the prefab parking section would probably be repaired before Monday.

ROTC Seeks Coed Auxiliary

Recent campus interest in a women's auxiliary for the Hill ROTC program was the inciting factor for a coffee held Feb. 19.

Nine coeds attended the coffee, which was held to acquaint interested women students with the organization. Nine were extended invitations to form the auxiliary.

Those selected were extended the invitation on the basis of their interest, appearance and personality by a group of senior cadets.

Selected were Patricia Boyd, Julia Brigadier, Debbie Dickson,wich, Conna Prosser and Suel-len Wilson.

A contest is being held among Army ROTC companies to suggest a name for the new organization. The company suggesting the name adopted will receive a specified number of points toward the Commander's Trophy, which will be awarded in the spring.

This fact should minimize any distress over less abundant than usual amounts of hot water, electricity and modern American conveniences. Considered beside the prospect of living among the evidence of 200 years of history, material luxury is unimportant.

Poitiers, with a population of about 70,000, is located in the western central region of France. Primarily an agricultural town, it is in many ways the same as it was 150 years ago.

Saturday morning brings a flock of farmers, merchants and shoppers to the open market place. A strangely anachronistic scene evolves when a modern truck loaded with vegetables or livestock pulls up beside a medieval cathedral, and a kind of all-time bazaar spreads about the square.

Our surroundings reek with history, from the Celtic period before Christ, to exploitation by Julius Caesar, and through the middle ages.

Ruins of four protective city walls are evidence of various turbulent periods. One of Europe's oldest Christian structures, a fourth century baptistry, is in view from the university dormitory. Notre-Dame-la-Grande is famous as an eleventh century Romanesque cathedral. And the Syracuse delegation was greeted in the house from which Joan of Arc gathered her army in 1429.

Young people have been studying here for over 500 years; the University of Poitiers was established in 1431. Classes generally convene once a week, and no textbooks or course outlines exist.

Dr. Albert George, at home head of the Romance language department and in Poitiers a combination of parent, professor and dean of women, commented on the difference in university systems. "Here you are simply thrown into an adult world," he said, "and must make assumptions; that is, 90-100 per cent of the work is individual."

He noted that this lack of direction is often confusing to American students, and causes them worry. "Granted," he said, "they should work hard, but while here they should be concerned with other things too." methods do cause a certain amount of frustration and some students have also found the social customs bewildering. The French are more reserved than the people most of us have known; eating habits are different; dating is hardly similar.

However, most of the students who have chosen to subject themselves to assimilation by the French have found the inequalities enlightening. They see them as basis for viewing objectively the customs taken for granted until now.

"It's cultural relativism," said Dorothy Knaus, a junior political science major. She continued, noting that foreign students (Americans in this instance) must meet any unfamiliar customs realizing that they hold relevance and meaning for the people to whom they are native.

"We are here to learn a new culture," said Barbara DeSnoo, who is planning to teach French. "We didn't come with the intention of bringing America with us," she continued, "If you put yourself out a little the French are very warm and friendly, very understanding of a foreign student's language difficulties."

Janice McMonagle, also a junior French major, said, "Naturally there are difficulties adjusting to a life thousands of miles from home—but how many students get the opportunity to study in a foreign university, travel in Europe and attend a TGIF in France?"

Incidentally, the nature of such end-of-the-week festivities is modified somewhat, to capitalize on the abundance of quality wine.

BEAT

NYU

SUCCESS

Success comes early to college women who supplement their education with Gibbs training—who obtain marketable skills that gain them quick entry into the fields of their choice.

SPECIAL COURSE FOR COLLEGE WOMEN—8½ MONTHS

Write College Dean for GIBBS GIRLS AT WORK

KATHARINE GIBBS SECRETARIAL

BOSTON 16, MASS., 21 Marlborough Street
NEW YORK 17, N. Y., 200 Park Avenue
MONTCLAIR, N. J., 33 Plymouth Street
PROVIDENCE 6, R. I., 155 Angell Street

SYRACUSE BLUEPRINT

CO. INC.

GRUMBACHER
WINSOR NEWTON
PARATONE
ZIPATONE
RICH ART
ACS TAPES
AQUABEE PADS
STRATHMORE PADS
CRESENT BOARDS

825 E. GENESEE ST.

GR 6-4084

ART SUPPLIES

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	$.85
2 days	1.65
4 days	3.15
3 days	2.40
5 days	3.85
7 days	5.20
6 days	4.55
8 days	5.85
9 days	6.45
10 days	7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS. automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.

ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lillian M. Potter 207 Cornsick Ave. GR 8-5847.

TO BUY OR SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN. Spang Motors, 1000 Hiawatha Blvd. W., 474-6007, is the place.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired, Rented, Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-8833. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

AUTO DRIVING—driving problems analyzed and corrected quickly and smoothly. Dual controlled cars furnished. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-3451.

DANCE LESSONS! Exclusive, inexpensive. All types, all ages. Fay Dance School, 1434 E. Genesee St. GR 2-0073.

GREYHOUND BUS TICKETS. plane tickets, hotel reservations, foreign tours, car rentals. Five Star Travel Service Inc. NOW in the MUSIC BOX, 754 S. Crocus Ave. Open Mon. 10-9, Tues.-Sat. 10-5. Dial Greyhound 5-0135.

EUROPEAN CHARTER FLIGHT — $240.50 — round trip New York to London. Guaranteed departure. Call Eugene Bailey or Steve Kehoe, GR 6-0936. SU students, faculty and staff only.

CHARTER FLIGHT to Miami for Spring Vacation. $79.40 round trip including ground transportation to airport. Special Package includes hotel room. $123.00. 5 Star Travel Service Inc. in the Music Box, 754 S. Crocus 475-9135. SU Students and faculty members only.

FOR SALE

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of four colors of paper, three colors of ink, two sizes of sheets. Bookstall.

1960 IMPALA CONVERTIBLE. V-8, automatic. Radio, heater. Sell to best offer. GR 5-2576.

LAVALIERS. $275. Wedding, shower, baby gifts. Riviera sunglasses, watch and jewelry repairs. Available Jolene Creme Bleach, Ruth's Gifts, 734 South Crocus.

1957 CHEVROLET. 4 door, power steering, power brakes, V-8 automatic radio and heater. Call Rich Turner. GR 2-4804.

NEW, EVERY MONDAY MORNING for the love/dorn—"missing you" cards. The Bookstall, 147 Marshall St.

1961 RED CORVETTE. 3-speed transmission, etc. condition. Will take reasonable offer. 472-8239 after 5.

ALFA ROMEO 2000 Gran Touring Spider. New — Koni shocks Michelin "X" Batteries, brakes, no miles since 100% Rebuilt engine. $1995, 463-6531. 2006 Teal Ave.

1930 FORD PICK-UP. $600. NE 7-9061.

'63 CHEVY IMPALA CONVERTIBLE. 327 engine, 4 speed floor transmission. Radio, heater, white sidewalls. Call 474-9562 M-17, Skystop, T/S McDorman.

1963 MGB. Radio, heater, overdrive. Wire wheels, 3 tops. Convertible, hard top and tonneau. Call S/S Marwood. 474-9562 - M-17, Skystop after 2:30.

1958 TRJ. Black, four new whitewall tires, twin rear mirrors. Excellent condition. GR 1-9831, GR 9-5165.

WANTED

SUMMER JOB: Private boys' camp. Adirondacks; counselors to 7-12 sailing (Sailfish), handicrafts, canoeing, campcraft, swimming, riflery, tripping. to ages 7-14. Mr. Reiners, 22 Bitternut Drive, Pittsford, N.Y. 14534.

MALE instructors or graduate students to share 8 room — 4 bedroom apartment. Large, very well furnished, university area, rent $50 month — all included. Call 478-1527.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students
3 ROOMS recently remodeled — furnished, heated, paneled — bus, light parking. $85.00. Call 478-4388.

3 Rm. apartment, furnished and heated, newly painted. University section, very inexpensive. GI 6-1741 or 446-8527.

FURNISHED APARTMENT — 1 bedroom — 1 block from the University. Call 478-0495 after 5 P.M.

BELLEVUE HEIGHTS. unfurnished 7-rm. house. Vacant. Fine location. $125 per month. Call owner. GR 8-1567.

FURNISHED APARTMENT. Three rooms, Western Street. Modern furnishings. $115 monthly 474-0185.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models, also sales and service, special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

S.U. GRADUATE. IBM electric typewriter. Will do typing at home. Call Miss Carey. GR 8-7168.

PROFESSIONAL TYPING — Thesis, term papers, etc. 20¢ per page. 483-8182.

GREYHOUND TICKETS & INFORMATION

now available at the UNIVERSITY BRANCH of the Syracuse Travel Bureau
in the Corner Store

Tel. 476-2178 or SU Ext. 2095 & 2096

going to Europe this Summer?

Get your free copy of the new booklet "TRAVEL TIPS FOR EUROPE." It's free and it's full of useful information you'll need. Currency, Passport and Customs regulations, even average temperatures and wardrobe hints.

And even if you've already booked passage on another tour, you'll be interested in receiving an Adams' Student Tour brochure, too. You can join an Adams tour in New York or London.

ONLY ADAMS' STUDENT TOURS TAKE YOU
■ By Hydrofoil to the New York World's Fair ■ Dinner at Maxim's in Paris ■ "Son et Lumiere" Festival at Amboise ■ Outdoor Opera in Rome ■ Boat trips on Lake Lugano and Lake Lucerne ■ Lido and Polles Bergere ■ 10 countries — 35 days

ADAMS' STUDENT TOURS 5455 Wilshire Blvd. Los Angeles 90036

NAME _____
ADDRESS _____
CITY _____
STATE _____
COLLEGE _____

MAIL TODAY FOR YOUR FREE COPY OF "TRAVEL TIPS FOR EUROPE."

NYU (15-8) Awaits Fred Lewis & Co. Orange End Season on Winning Note

Defeat UConn, 59-48; Set 3 Season Records

By JUDY ADAMS
Associate Editor

STORRS, CONN. — Like a water-starved man eyeing the mirage oasis just over the next knoll, the Syracuse basketball team had fixed its gaze on the elusive bid for the NIT.

With each of the four hills they conquered (Cornell, Colgate, Canisius and Niagara), the bid seemed more and more mirage-like.

Then just as hope was flickering out, the thirsty man reached his oasis; Syracuse got its bid and after a first-half collapse Friday managed to perk themselves up and pull out a 58-49 win over the University of Connecticut.

It was their 17th win of the year against seven losses.

The team had been under a fiendish pressure in recent weeks and a letdown was predicted after the bid came.

UConn enhanced this relapse with frustrating ball-control tactics, working the ball long seconds before putting it into the air.

For a while it seemed as though this virtuous patience might pay off as Syracuse unearthed a rash of degenerate basketball and hopefully got it out of their system.

The Orange were sometimes passing as though teammates had arms five feet long, shooting as though the basket was three feet wide and shuddering over the bitter taste of its own medicine of last year when Orange talent was less and games were won on grit and ball-control alone.

Syracuse finished the first 20 minutes down 26-20, never having led, as 4,087 deathly loud students endorsed the huskie effort.

Dave Bing's opening - period basket then closed the gap to three.

Eight evenly - divided goals later Bing swiped the ball and with two Huskies tripping over his heels, broke for the basket, pausing long enough to score and to be fouled.

His free throw tied the game; his tip-in a minute later gave the Orange the lead.

After that they were never behind.

In the last 11 minutes Chuck Richards put in 12 of his 20 points, including the first five in a 10-point Orange spurt.

He also became the third man inducted into the "500 Club" by polishing off the regular season with 511 points and a 22.3 average.

Teammate Bing added 18 to bring his total to 525, a 21.9 average, and to set a new soph scoring record.

Chuck had his troubles at first on offense with only four points in the first half, but his defensive problem was work for an IBM computer.

Toby Kimball, 6-8, 230-pound junior, made a complete nuisance of himself with 25 points and 18 rebounds, more than half of his team's totals in each department.

Syracuse shot 44 percent overall (22 for 50), only 39 percent before the half. The Huskies shot 55 per cent the first half and wound up with 18 for 38, 47.4 percent. Syracuse was also out-rebounded 34-23 by the taller UConn team.

For the first time in the 63 years of Syracuse basketball the club went over the 2,000 mark in total points.

The Orange racked up 2,014 this year and set a second mark by averaging 84 points a game.

Until this year the best were set in 1955-6 when the average was 79.5 an outing and a season later with Guley's guys scored 1969 in 25 games.

CHUCK RICHARDS

Meanwhile New York University had learned only a few hours before game time that it was to be paired with Syracuse in the tournament and chased a scout up to Storrs just in time for the game.

"Tough," he said of Syracuse, "maybe too tough for us."

But his psychology was showing.

In posting their win over the UConn, Syracuse, on purpose or not, showed NYU very little.

As a retaliatory measure, NYU showed Syracuse the same in their 20-point loss to St. John's the following afternoon.

Violets Favored Over SU; Winner to Meet DePaul

(Continued from Page 1)
take the court against the Orange Thursday.

The Violets have won at Cornell by 17 points, and at West Point by 20. They have victories over Tulsa, North Western, So. Cal., Holy Cross, North Carolina, Memphis State and Fordham.

The four seeded teams in the NIT are DePaul, 20-3, Bradley, Duquesne, 16-6, and New Mexico, 20-5. These teams do not have to play first round games.

The winner of the Syracuse-NYU game plays DePaul, Saturday night. Bradley will meet the winner of the Miami-St. Joseph's clash.

Saturday afternoon first round games will pair Army against St. Bonaventure and Pittsburgh against Drake.

The second round of quarterfinals will pit Duquesne against the Army-St. Bonaventure winner and New Mexico against the Pitt-Drake victor.

The semifinals will be Thursday March 19 with the finals Saturday March 21.

The Orangemen finished their regular season with a 58-49 victory at the University of Connecticut. SU now is 17-7, having completed their finest season since 1956-57 when the Orange were 18-7.

The team will fly to New York Wednesday night and workout on the Garden court for the first time Thursday afternoon.

Cortland Fells SU; Nance Wins on Pin

By HOWIE SCHNEIDER

The Syracuse University wrestling squad finished the dual meet season in fine fashion Saturday, dumping Cortland State 23-3 in Archbold. Both captain Dick Slutzky and heavyweight Jim Nance remained undefeated.

The victory gave the Orangemen an over all 5-3-1 record. Cortland is 6-3. Next week Ed Carlin and Co. will journey to Franklin and Marshall to defend their Eastern team title in the Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association Championships.

Ron Pritts opened the match for Syracuse with a commanding 11-0 decision over Mark Cranfield in the 123-pound class. The Hill squad jumped out to an early 3-0; lead and they never lost it.

At 130 SU's Terry Haise shutout Fred Merz 5-0. A 5-2 victory for Jim Murrin in the 137-pound division gave the Orange a 9-0 advantage. Murrin defeated previously unbeaten Charles Wilkison.

In the 147-pound clash John Dussling suffered the only setback for the home team. Duane Whitaker decisioned Dussling 7-4.

Undefeated Dick Slutzky faced Ray Coley, State College champ, in the 157-pound battle. In a tough match it was victory No. 9 for Slutzky.

Orangemen George Reidener and Lew Roberts decisioned their opponents in the 167 and 177-pound clash, respectively. By mutual agreement their was no 191-pound contest. Reidener beat Al Sosa 8-2, and Roberts shutout Vern Wallace 5-0.

In the heavyweight tilt it seemed that Mr. Jim "Bo" Nance was wrestling against time, rather than opponent Roy Pearson. The "big fella" gift wrapped Pearson at 2:26. It was his 73 consecutive victory.

INTRAS

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

Basketball

7:00 Phi Epsilon Pi vs. Sigma Chi (P); Alpha Epsilon Pi vs. Sigma Alpha Mu (P); D. P. 6 vs. Dell Plain 3.

8:00 Acacia (P) vs. Tau Delta Phi (P); Zeta Psi (P) vs. Phi Sigma Delta (P); Booth 1 vs. Booth 2.

Handball

7:00 Sims 2 vs. Go Team.

FROSH BASKETBALL

Interested candidates for the freshmen baseball team should meet at 4 p.m. Wednesday in room 215 of Archbold Gym.

Nance Picks Gridiron Over Mat

By NEIL KERR

Jim Nance is on top of the wrestling world after having won 73 straight matches and an NCAA heavyweight championship. Consequently, Jim has been tabbed as the top US hope for a heavyweight wrestling championship at the Olympics this fall.

However, SU's combination footballer-wrestler has decided he will try out for the Olympics only on one condition.

"If I can go to the Olympics and still be back for football, I'll go," said Jim. "If not, I'll just have to give it up."

If Nance sticks to this decision, chances are that Syracuse will not be represented on the 1964 US Olympic Team. SU's first football game next season is on September 19. The Olympic wrestling competition will take place during the week in shape. "I try to do it three times a day," he said.

"I like wrestling but football comes first," explained Jim. "If there's a chance of my playing pro football, it's going to depend on this year. If I have a good year, which I'm counting on, there's a good chance I'll play."

On March 13-14, the team will compete in the Easterns at Franklin and Marshall. Then Big Jim will defend his NCAA heavyweight title at Cornell, site of the NCAA championships March 26-28.

"Bo" will be facing stiff competition at the nationals. Among the best of the heavyweights are Joe James of Oklahoma State and Bob Billberg of Morehead State. These men are ranked second and third in the national.

In addition, John Illengwarth (Lehigh), Larry Cristoff (Southern Illinois), Merrill Solowin (Toledo), and Steve Shippis (Iowa State) are considered by Jim as being the best wrestlers in the heavyweight class.

To say the least, Nance has a good chance to stay on top this year. He is ranked the Number 1 heavyweight in the nation. And, as Jim himself said, "I think I'm in better condition now than I was last year at this time."

To get into peak physical condition, Nance wrestles a series of opponents during practice. Each man goes three minutes against Jim as he wrestles for nine, 12—even up to 18 minutes at a time.

In addition to daily practice, Bo works out regularly on his own. Jim, who lives in Sadler dorm, runs up and down eight flights of stairs to get his legs

JIM NANCE

AWS Candidates State Platforms

The two candidates for president of the Association of Women Students Monday announced their platforms for the office.

Joan Moore said: "One of the problems which the recent assembly questionnaire brought out is the concept held by many that AWS is strictly a regulatory agency. I feel AWS needs a more positive approach."

"To realize this goal I would like to see a more active cultural commission working closely with JSG, not only providing the living centers with a list of speakers, but carrying this through by assisting the living centers with the actual arrangements."

"In other areas I suggest the new direct voting procedure be continued, coeds in the cottages be given an opportunity to meet and talk with the candidates next year, living centers be visited by a junior or senior officer at least once every six meetings to promote closer ties, a system whereby freshmen who wish to use the library may have a later curfew, the establishment of a later Sunday curfew, and finally a conscientious effort to let coeds know what is happening to their petitions in assembly."

The other candidate, Dianne Kessler, said: "AWS, on the Syracuse campus, carries the image of being strictly a standards council, enforcing rules and regulating curfews."

"AWS is more than that. Therefore, I would like to see it released from the burden of sheer paper work — work which can be handled by women students through their own dorm councils, so that the officers can concentrate on improving and expanding the activities of their various commissions."

"AWS also allows much of the campus potential to be wasted by not using freshmen and sophomores to any great extent within the organization. I suggest, therefore, that TTK (AWS training program) be

AWS Reveals Voting Plans

The candidates for offices of the Association of Women Students appeared Sunday in Flint and Day Halls, in preparation for campus-wide elections set for Sunday.

A new election procedure will be used this year. Coeds will vote at Sunday house meetings, while commuting students may vote from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Monday in the lobby of Huntington B. Crouse Hall. Final results will be announced in Tuesday's Daily Orange.

Candidates for president are Joan Moore and Dianne Kessler. Vice presidential nominees are Myra Lampman and Judy Tabakin.

Running for the six junior officer posts are Jean Abbott, Lois Baker, Patty Berger, Adele Clark, Laraine Jeffers, Elaine McIntosh, Marty Rhea, Laurie Sandeman, Lynn Suto and Rose Yuen.

opened to second semester freshmen, thus preparing them to become sophomore guides in AWS commissions such as academic, social and cultural.

"In addition, I would like to see AWS extend freshman curfews to 10:15 p.m. during the fall semester. This would allow more time for library study as well as for weeknight concerts and lectures."

"Finally, I would like to see the election procedure changed in the coming year so that they are more than a popularity contest. In general, AWS must rid itself of the apathy and stagnation which presently exists in the organization."

Barnett Talks Today; Integration Opponent

Alexander Speaks Wed

The third speaker in the Footprints civil rights lecture series this week will be George Alexander, an assistant professor of law at Syracuse University.

He will speak at 3 p.m. Wednesday in Hendricks Chapel and participate in a panel discussion at 8 p.m. in Gifford Auditorium. Alexander's topic will be "School Segregation in the North and the West."

Former Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett will speak today and Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee Chairman John Lewis will speak Thursday, as part of the Footprints series.

Alexander is speaking in place of a government representative.

Alexander, who has been at SU since 1960, was a consultant for the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights in 1962-63.

He will be a Ford Fellow at the Yale Law School for 1964-65.

Alexander is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, and received an LL.B. from that law school in 1959.

ROSS BARNETT

GEORGE ALEXANDER

Ex-Governor Gives Views

Ross Barnett, former governor of Mississippi, will open the 11th annual Footprints lecture series with a talk at 3 p.m. today in Hendricks Chapel.

His topic will be "A Southern View on Segregation." The lecture will be taped and carried over WAER (88.3 mc) at 7 p.m.

Barnett is considered a "controversial speaker," because his appearance at other college campuses has resulted in picketing and riots.

A spokesman for the university has said that Syracuse welcomes controversial speakers sponsored by a university organization.

The Co-chairman of Footprints, Dale Anderson and Nancy Wright, have said, "... we are convinced that the students, faculty members and other interested persons will treat all three speakers with the respect due them."

George Alexander, SU assistant professor of law, will speak Wednesday. John Lewis, Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee chairman, will be the guest Thursday.

Barnett will also participate in an 8 p.m. discussion (See Barnett, Page 6)

Dr. Robert G. Cox

New Business Dean Named

An assistant dean and professor at the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce at the University of Pennsylvania has been named dean of the Syracuse University College of Business Administration.

The new dean, Dr. Robert G. Cox, takes over administrative duties in September. He replaces Dean William T. Jerome Jr., who resigned last fall to accept the presidency of the Bowling Green State University in Ohio.

Dr. Cox, 41, with the Wharton School for nearly 20 years, arriving at the university in 1945 as an instructor. During that time he has specialized in the areas of general accounting theory. He was a member of the Wharton School Board of Advisors from 1950 to 1959 and chairman of the curriculum committee from 1953 to 1960. He has been vice dean of the undergraduate division there since 1960.

The new SU dean received his B.S. degree at the University of Illinois, an M.B.A. from the Wharton School and a Ph.D. in economics from the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Cox has been active in consultant roles during his academic career. He has been a research consultant to the Carnegie Fund Survey of Business Education under the direction of Prof. Frank Pierson of Swathmore since 1956. He has also been a consultant to McKesson and Robbins, the National Association of Retail Druggists, and other trade associations.

DR. ROBERT COX

A long list of publications has been recorded by Dr. Cox during his career. He is co-author of "Principles of Accounting" with Rufus Wixon; "Drug Store Operating Costs and Profits" with O.E. Burley and A.B. Fisher; and a contributing author to "Education of American Businessmen," a Carnegie Fund book edited by Prof. Pierson. He is currently preparing a second

(Continued on page 5)

250 Frosh Needed

Goon Applications Due

Goon Squad applications are due Wednesday, March 25. It was announced Monday by Traditions Commission.

Goon Squad is the group of students which aid Traditions Commission with orientation. It has been composed in the past of from 200-250 sophomores.

Transfer students, both freshman and sophomore, may obtain mimeographed application information from the main desk in the Women's Building.

All freshmen will receive information in the mail this week.

According to a commission spokesman, Goon Squad selection and Goon Squad activities are "undergoing a housecleaning" this year.

In explaining the Goon Squad, the spokesman said:

"One of the many functions of the Goon Squad is to aid the freshman in adjusting to his new college life and to give any assistance it can with the freshman's problems, if any, concerning registration and academics."

The Goons create an atmosphere of pep and enthusiasm to carry the freshman through what could be a potentially depressing week. The warmth extended to the incoming freshman by the Goons dispels many of the anxieties which both the freshman and his parents have when they first arrive at a large university such as Syracuse.

"Not only do we want to 'orient' the freshman socially, but also culturally and academically, for this is the kind of environment in which he will be living for the next four years."

"Goon Squad is not all fun and games, nor do we of Traditions Commission want it that way. There is a lot of hard work involved and you will get out of this job exactly what you put into it. This is a continuing job. It doesn't stop at the end of Orientation Week. It continues through the first few months of school.

"Our payment is not anything in the material sense, but in the satisfaction we derive from watching freshmen adjust quickly and well to university life. It is a marvelous feeling to sit back and look at a job well done, especially when you were responsible for it."

"We want our orientation program to be the very best. It can only be so with your help. What can you do on Goon Squad? You can do just about anything which interests you: lead pep rallies, work as a dorm rep, have a part in the Goon Show, help set up academic programs for the freshmen, help organize placard cheering, work with the city students, and more. There is something for anyone who wants to work and later have satisfaction and lots of fun from seeing a job well done."

Footprints XI:

A Challenge

It has been said that personalities make the news and that these same personalities inspire the youthful minds of the country.

Students on the Hill that complain that the university is a cultural and intellectual void will be jolted into a new reality of fact when they attend the first Footprints lecture tonight.

Footprints XI, 1964, has sought to bring the unusual and the outstanding speaker before the university audience. And they have succeeded.

Bringing history before us, the Footprints XI committee decided to devote the series to civil rights, in an attempt to study the problem not only from our local level, but also in the national scope.

And how outstanding is the first speaker, former Mississippi governor Ross Barnett.

Footprints XI hopes to provoke questions from the listening audience and hopes to give the campus a view from the outside; a view not circumscribed by the university walls.

Both extremes in the conflict of civil rights will be presented as well as the government's role as arbiter and lawmaker. Opinions will be voiced and views aired and the university community will be involved in the entire program.

With the planning done and the basic hard work completed, the Footprints IX committee now waits for university approval and interest. There should be no doubt as to university approval, since we all clamor for better and bigger-name speakers.

The only question is that of "interest".

For every student on the Hill, since students we all are, the Footprints XI series should be a challenge and a change. A challenge to make us see beyond our four ivy-covered walls and a chance to exchange ideas with prominent men who have come to devote time and energy to our further knowledge.

Let's Rally!

Basketball is King. And Syracuse is riding on the wing of fortune.

The team that placed the Hill on the basketball map deserves a royal send-off.

To date, no pep rally has been planned for the National Invitational Tournament this Thursday. May we suggest the creation of such a rally.

Like our nationally famous football team, the basketball team thrives on student enthusiasm and support. Let's give it to them.

The cost will be minimal and the effect will be maximal. A car parade, a send off by the band a general student rally and a show of spirit.

Since speakers are planned throughout this week, why not a send off at Hancock Field?

The choice is up to you, but let's rally before our team leaves to meet NYU at Madison Square Garden.

Millstones and Milestones

Cloak Without Dagger

By Dan Stone

I should like to begin by offering congratulations to whoever is responsible for the Footprints lecture series — both its inception and the line-up of speakers for this year. One of the most important contributions a University can make both to its students and to the community at large is the offering of divergent points of view.

This contributes to a dialogue between students, between students and professors, and among members of the community. It is from a dialogue of this nature that education comes.

It is particularly fitting that the subject matter with which these lectures will deal, civil rights, is that which has probably prompted the most conversation, and consternation at Syracuse this year.

I only hope that the battling average for the Footprints series is better than it has been for the Maxwell lecture series so far this semester.

I also can't help but hope that the appearance of these speakers will not trigger a demonstration of any kind. A demonstration will do little to dissuade any of the speakers from their point of view, it will do little to further the academic atmosphere in which a series of this kind should progress, and it would do little for the general student image at Syracuse.

I was encouraged to see that SUCE had commended the heads of the Footprints series for their choice of speakers and assume this means that rather than pounding the pavement outside, the campus demonstrators will be inside listening and when the occasion arises questioning, pinpointing, and making a real contribution.

However, it has been brought to my attention that a decision has been made to the effect that the panel discussions scheduled for the evening are to be neither taped nor broadcast. I fail to see the point in this. Surely it is not an attempt to save either speaker or questioner from embarrassment should he make a slip. Considering the number of newspaper people who will no doubt be on hand, the speaker is hardly going to receive protection from slips of the tongue. What difference does it make if a community hears it live or from their front pages at nine the next morning?

Surely there is no thought in anyone's mind that radio coverage could detract from the size of the audience. The prominence of the people appearing in itself guarantees a in any one's mind that radio coverage could detract from the size of the audience. The prominence of the people appearing in itself guarantees a full house. And yet those people who are unable to attend for one reason or another are not going to be given the opportunity to participate in any way.

As I mentioned before this series will this year be a significant contribution to some sort of dialogue — it seems unfortunate that the genesis for that dialogue should be limited to those people who are physically present.

Syracuse University has taken a major step in the right direction. It has distinguished itself as an institution that wants to make an important contribution to the public knowledge.

But now that step is becoming unsure and is being muddled by indecisiveness and tentativeness. It seems a shame that a series with so much to offer, a series that has aroused interest and can give rise to a good deal of worthwhile thought and consideration, should be hidden behind a cloak of semi-secreteness.

This is a decision which should be quickly reconsidered.

LETTERS

Manners

To the Editor:

No one can deny that racial discrimination is an injustice. No one can deny that integration of the races should be an accepted fact and not a questionable fiction. Ostensibly, CORE and SUCE are functioning to transform that fiction into fact. Therefore, the goals of these groups cannot be questioned.

Some people criticize their methods, especially picketing. I disagree with the idea of picketing, but I agree with the right of members of these groups to picket, but I do oppose the manner in which they carry out their duties. If the appearance and behavior of members of these groups, while picketing, is an indication of the inner workings of the organizations then CORE and SUCE, and their goals are doomed to failure.

Case in point: picketing in front of the Syracuse Police Station this past weekend.

Picketing is presumably an instrument of civil disobedience, a doctrine admirable in its respect for the worth of the human being. But the individuals of CORE and SUCE turn that doctrine and its goals into a mockery.

When SUCE and CORE seize a case which is nebulous in its relationship to racial injustice or even erroneous, they become no better than the boy who cried, "Wolf." When a true case appears, the public ignores it, because the groups have hollered "Wolf" once too often.

These groups should think twice before they undertake any action. If they decide that a particular case warrants action, then the action should reflect the justice and righteousness of the cause.

The action should also be free of any malice. When CORE demonstrates hatred, it becomes no better than a racial bigot, and perhaps worse, for it is betraying a just cause.

When John Q. Public sees student picketers (male and female) wearing dungarees and sweatshirts, chewing gum, and behaving in a generally obnoxious manner, he does not even pause to consider the ends being pursued. He is disgusted by the means and brushes the whole business from his mind.

A righteous cause is being defeated because the methods utilized are objectionable.

This mode of dress and behavior gives an impression of college students on a picnic, and I doubt that these students would consider their cause a picnic.

Furthermore, if John Q. Public is at all bigoted, he will use such behavior to reinforce his own prejudices.

CORE and SUCE purport to uphold the dignity of a race, but fail to exhibit any dignity of their own.

Picketing can be carried on without antagonizing pedestrians. The cause will not be furthered if a little old lady is forced to walk out in the street because picketers will not move to let her pass on the sidewalk.

Passing Syracusans notice the dress and manner of the picketers and wrongly conclude that the students' appearance reflects their attitude toward racial justice.

The situation calls for the practice of manners, not of the etiquette book variety, but manners that involve basic consideration for other human beings. After all, that is what the whole business is about, isn't it?

Sharron Yablonsky
Class of '64

Milk

To the Editor:

The recent sit-ins, an annual affair, regarding the food served in Syracuse University dorms, were a little early this year.

I am a purveyor of milk to some of the dorms. I realize I will be accused of, well...you name it, for writing. However, maybe the silence of the milk-man, the meat-man, the vegetable-man and the other purveyors is wrong.

Mrs. Ursula Pettingell's office purchases the food it serves. The food is not bought through the purchasing office along with wax and light bulbs... but gets her personal attention. I have never been asked, or have heard any other purveyor asked, to quote on any product except...the best quality available. In addition to the best quality, the students are allowed all the milk they can drink. The better restaurants and hotels charge twenty cents per glass for milk...not in New York City, but here in Syracuse.

I have been in the coolers, meat rooms, ice boxes and store rooms all over campus. I have, also, been in the so-called better restaurants, Air-Force installations, Army camps, hospitals and rest homes throughout Central New York and the Syracuse University kitchens and facilities are show places...be proud of them.

Now, to my point, what causes these demonstrations... students seeking attention? Oswald started in a similar manner — just seeking attention.

The DO is dear to all, but it, too, has an obligation — recognize those who earn respect — ignore those who seek it without first earning it.

BYRNE DAIRY INC.
C. Vincent Byrne

POLICY ON LETTERS

The letters column is maintained for the expression of opinion by readers. However, the Daily Orange reserves the right to edit letters for grammar and good taste or to reject letters. Letters should be written legibly, preferably typed and no longer than 250 words. All letters must be signed with names and addresses; names will be withheld on request.

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2

March 10, 1964

Editor-In-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor Clayton F. Richards
News Editor Andrew Porter
Editorial Director Adair DuFane
Sports Editor Bernard MacCallum
Art Editor Rea Turcotte
Photography Editor Steve Schwimmer

BUSINESS STAFF

National Ad. Mgr. Lynn Mandel
Classified Mgr. Christine Sedrak
Promotion Mgr. Stu Shapiro
Asst. Bus. Mgr. Jon Weisberg
Layout Managers Martha Johannek; Julian Fahr

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 209 Brooklee Drive Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter at U. S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

"Killed By His Own Son!"

JOHN MCNEIL tells, the sad news to ELLENJOY SCHINDLER and DR. PAUL REID during a rehearsal of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," while director DR. JOSEPH GOLDEN and LESLIE MEEK watch. The comic-melodrama opens 8:30 p.m. March 12, with other performances March 13, 14, 19, 20 and 21, at the Regent Theatre. Tickets are $1.50 and $2, with a special student discount of 25c.

Art

African Art at Lowe

By Charles H. Barney

The carefree life of primitive man is expressed in his art works. A lack of rules and regulations, therefore, dominates an exhibition of Masterpieces of African Art now on display at the Lowe Art Center.

"The scholarly interest in African studies has been one of the pioneer efforts of Syracuse University through its Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs," said Laurence Schmeckebier, dean of the Syracuse University School of Art, "and it is with this thought that the exhibition was assembled."

The exhibit consists mainly of carved wooden masks and human figures. Including functional items such as carved locks, doors and heddle pulleys for weaving, the display has few common traits.

A small carved mask from the Ivory Coast has a finely smoothed finish. Within the oval face are two circular holes for eyes and an oval mouth in relief. The nose and eyebrows are minor details.

The surface of a crocodile mask from the Upper Volta, however, is a checkerboard of red, black and white squares. On the mask every detail of a crocodile from tail to teeth is included.

The primitive artist does whatever he wants. No standards determine style or size.

A mask of the House from Mali stretches 14 feet, 9 inches while a Ghanaian brass anteater is only 4 inches long. The same anteater is realistic.

Opposed to the anteater's natural look are human fetish objects exaggerating body proportions.

Also illustrating this freedom to exaggerate is another wooden sculpture from the Ivory Coast — Large Bird Supported by a Human Figure. The 50-inch bird with a balloon-like body seems weightlessly supported by the tiny man beneath.

Occasionally a well-liked form is repeated. The display at Lowe includes 10 Ibeji figures from Nigeria — each 10 to 12 inches high. Each figure has a similar pointed hairstyle, and all arms hang in a similar position. But even the Ibeji figures vary with surface treatment and other details.

According to Schmeckebier, "The discovery of the African Negro as artist by Vlaminck and the cubists sixty years ago exerted not only a determining influence on the art of the twentieth century in Europe but was also a major factor in the liberation of its creative spirit from the limitations of tradition formalism."

a particular place for particular skiers...

A single chair lift, rising 2000 ft., a double chair lift, rising 1600 ft., and a T-Bar, serving a wide network of trails, ranging from very gentle to very steep.

NOTE: Since the above picture was produced, two new trails have been added: (1) a most interesting trail of varying grades and 24 curves running from the mid-station to the east of the base of the single chair lift. 1½ miles long, 1300' drop; (2) another trail, of "slalom glade" character, from the top of the double chair lift half way down the mountain.

There's no better skiing anywhere in the East!

MAD RIVER GLEN

Ski Area

WAITSFIELD • VERMONT

TONIGHT

The Novel on Film

"THE LAST ANGRY MAN"

(U. S. A.)

Tickets: Single, 75c

Series, $1.50

Tuesday
Evenings
Two Showings
7 and 9 p.m.

University
REGENT
Theatre

820 EAST GENESEE

S. U. Drama Department Presents "TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR ROOM"

MAR. 12, 13, 14

MAR. 19, 20, 21

8:30 P. M.

$2.00 — $1.50

176-1536

UNIVERSITY
REGENT THEATRE

820 E. Genesee - Free Parking

Daily Crossword Puzzle

ACROSS

- 1 Dress.
- 5 "Taffy" — thief...: 2 words.
- 9 City in N. Italy.
- 14 Extinct Hawaiian bird.
- 15 Thine: Fr.
- 16 Assyrian war god.
- 17 Old Greek coin.
- 18 Scene of Puccini opera: 2 words.
- 20 Moderation: 2 words.
- 22 River islands.
- 23 Canadian officials.
- 24 "Treasure Island" character.
- 26 Negative conjunction.
- 27 Golden — California trees.
- 29 Italian girl's name.
- 32 Epithet for Clemenceau.
- 35 Something sought but never found: 3 words.
- 37 Slangy suffix.
- 38 Blends.
- 39 Spanish jar.
- 40 Spokesman for conservatism.

DOWN

- 42 Shrub or tree.
- 43 Sound: Abbr.
- 44 Alackaday!
- 45 Ampersand.
- 46 Italian seaport.
- 48 Namesakes of juvenile heroine.
- 51 Biblical twin.
- 53 Heroine of the nursery.
- 57 Matthew vii. 12: 2 words.
- 59 August in Paris.
- 60 Arabian Satan.
- 61 Biblical farmer.
- 62 Bridge bid.
- 63 "The defense" —
- 64 Centers.
- 65 Girl's nickname.

- 13 Liberal —
- 19 On the whole: Fr.
- 21 Bacchanal's cry.
- 25 German "etc."
- 27 Silver —
- 28 Roman road.
- 30 "Winnie — Pu."
- 31 Jewish month.
- 32 Two-year-old sheep.
- 33 Shade of gray.
- 34 Trio on a pawnbroker's sign: 2 words.
- 35 Lile fiber.
- 36 Former name of Ghana: 2 words.
- 38 Slander.
- 41 Cold —
- 42 Indigo.
- 45 Strangers.
- 47 Examination of the books.
- 48 Improvisation: 2 words.
- 49 Lycee's relative.
- 50 Gull-like birds.
- 51 River of Hungary.
- 52 — it: 2 words.
- 53 Orchestra: Abbr.
- 55 Kind of feast.
- 56 Theological degrees.
- 58 Sigmoid.

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

Riviera CINEMA
3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. - GRB-4021
"ONE OF THE YEAR'S 10 BEST"
— Times —
The most suspenseful film you will ever see!

JEAN GABIN
ALAIN DELON
any NUMBER can win

JULIE the REDHEAD
PASCALE
PETIT
DANIEL
GELIN

JILL MOSS

NANCY BOOTH

LINDA MANAKER

JERRY LADUE

JERRY DELISI

Spring Queen Candidates Chosen

Five senior coeds have been chosen as finalists in the Eta Pi Upsilon Spring Weekend Queen contest.

The five, all members of the senior women's honorary, are: Jerilyn J. (Jerry) Delisi, Nancy Booth, Jeralline (Jerry) Ladue, Jill Moss, and Linda Menaker.

The weekend queen will be chosen by vote of senior women. Finalists were selected by a committee composed of Dean of Women Marjorie C. Smith, president and vice president of Eta Pi Upsilon, a representative of the chapel staff, a faculty member from the women's physical education department, a representative of the Eta Pi alumni Association and a female member of the faculty.

Miss Delisi, from Pittsburgh, is a fashion merchandising major with a 2.23 average. She is a president of Chi Omega sorority, a member of Panhellenic Council, Omicron Nu, Phi Kappa Phi and AWS director of training.

Miss Booth, from Cheyenne, Wyoming, is an English major with a 2.4 average. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, a student legislator, senator-at-large, and a member of chapel choir.

Miss LaDue, from Wrentham, Mass., is a business education major with a 2.0 average. She is president of Zeta Tau Alpha and president of Panhellenic, and a member of its judiciary board.

Miss Moss, from Great Neck, is an education for the therapeutically handicapped major. She is an AWS senior guide, and president of Eta Pi Upsilon. A transfer from William Smith College, she is president of the Ambassador Apartments, and speaker pro tempore of AWS. She formed a nursery school for the physically handicapped at the Syracuse Cerebral Palsy Clinic this fall.

Miss Menaker, from Baltimore, is an American Studies major with a 1.6 average. She is vice president of the senior class, a member of Phi Sigma sorority and Pinebrook conference secretary.

The name of the queen will be announced at the traditional pageant Friday night of Spring weekend, May 8.

SWISS AIR JET EUROPE

SUMMER
CHARTER
TO

FOR S. U. STUDENTS, FACULTY, EMPLOYEES & THEIR IMMEDIATE FAMILIES . . .

ONLY $285⁰⁰

WE URGE PROSPECTING TRAVELLERS TO NOTE:

1. THIS IS A REPUTABLE AIRLINES — WELL KNOWN FOR EXCELLENT QUALITY & SERVICE — NOT A SUPPLEMENTARY AIRLINE WITH WHICH INSURANCE IS EVEN A PROBLEM.
2. THE MEMBERS OF THIS CHARTER CROSS THE ATLANTIC BY DEPENDABLE JET RATHER THAN SLOW PROPELLER PLANE.
3. OUR CHARTER RETURNS FROM PARIS SAVING YOU THE COST OF TRAVELLING BACK TO LONDON FOR THE RETURN FLIGHT.
4. SEATS ARE LIMITED—MAKE YOUR RESERVATIONS AS SOON AS POSSIBLE.

LEAVES JUNE 13th TO LONDON

RETURNS SEPT. 5th FROM PARIS

FOR RESERVATIONS & INFORMATION CONTACT:

AL ROTH

or

CHAN RUDD

472 - 9486

475 - 9048

ALSO AVAILABLE

SPECIAL STUDENT TOUR

ONLY $775.00

CAR RENTALS

EURAIL PASSES

Syracuse
University
Folk Festival

TICKETS FOR THE ENTIRE WEEKEND

NOW

$2.00

CORNER STORE

TODAY
4 p.m. WAA dance to the new studio
4 p.m. WAA competitive swimming pool
4 p.m. Bible Lecture series, 221 Maxwell. Rev. Donald Miller will discuss Romans VI.
4 p.m. Freshman Speeches. Dean Noble's home. Guest will be James Kitch of the English department.
7 p.m. Theology 201, St. Thomas More Chapel. Topic will be "Kardem of the Messiah."
7 p.m. Sophomore executive council. Alpha Epsilon Phi. Attendance is mandatory. Meeting will end before 8 p.m. for Barnhart discussion.
8:05 p.m. Theology 201, St. Thomas More Chapel. Topic will be "Confession."

News of the ROTC Cadets

The Army ROTC corps of cadets at Syracuse University recently announced the promotion of three cadets to the rank of Cadet Lieutenant Colonel. Philip Larson, executive officer of the corps of cadets. Cadet Frederick Mingo, 1st Battalion Commander, and Cadet Edward Hoppe, 2nd Battalion Commander, are the other two cadets to earn the rank of Lieutenant Colonel.

Other recent promotions include: Promoted to Cadet Captain, Paul De Santis. Promoted to Cadet 1st Lt., Marlin Dutterer, William Johnke Norman Leary, and Stephen Nathan.

Cadet of the Month
The Syracuse University Army ROTC corps of cadets has announced the selection of Cadet Thomas H. Barry, A Company, as the "Outstanding Cadet" for the month of February.

The "Outstanding Cadet" is chosen each month by the Army ROTC corps staff. In being selected as the "Outstanding Cadet" for the month of February, Cadet Barry is permitted to wear the distinctive orange and white leadership tabs.

Cadet Barry was chosen on the basis of his exceptional leadership qualities, and the excellent knowledge of military subjects which he demonstrated before the board.

Cadet Barry is a junior in NEW DEAN . . .

(Continued from Page 1)
course text, "Financial Accounting" with Dr. Wixon. Dr. Cox has also authored many articles for the Accounting Review and other professional and academic publications.

He is a member of Beta Alpha Psi accounting honorary, Beta Gamma Sigma scholastic honorary, American Accounting Association, Financial Executives Institute, National Association of Accountants, the Pennsylvania Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Zeta Psi social fraternity.

Dr. Cox is married and has three children, Robert, Janet and Stephen. The family currently lives in Wallingford, Pa., and plans to move to the Syracuse area around Sept. 1.

Acting Dean Karl E. Vogt, who has functioned as dean of the SU school since last July 1, will be assuming responsibilities as director of the Syracuse University consultants providing technical assistance in the School of Administration and Finance, in Medillin, Colombia.

the College of Liberal Arts, majoring in geography.

Scabbard and Blade
At the last meeting of Scabbard and Blade, national military honorary, twenty Army ROTC Cadets were formally initiated into the Syracuse chapter of the society. In order to be eligible for membership, cadets must be enrolled in the 2nd, 3rd, or 4th semesters of the advanced course ROTC, have an average grade in ROTC of "B" or higher, and have an overall academic average of at least "C".

The new members, all juniors, include: Robert Acciavatti, Thomas Behuniak, Mark Bobry, David Boysen, Raymond Cardillo, Frederick Celke, William Christie, David Cook, Harry Dorosh, Bruce Eaton and Michael Elefante, Louis Gross, Ihor Hapij, Joseph Lesiuk, Jeffrey Paulus, Dean Phelps, Jerry Pierce, Earle Sherrod, Rostyslaw Snyk and Richard Testa.

In being elected to the society the new members are now privileged to wear the distinctive red and blue ribbon, and shoulder cord of Scabbard and Blade.

Scabbard and Blade is a national military honorary society with local chapters, called companies, located in 167 leading colleges and universities which have Reserve Officer Training Programs. Founded in 1904 at the University of Wisconsin, it is organized "...to preserve and develop the essential qualities of good and efficient officers..."

Drill Team
The Syracuse University Air Force ROTC drill team won the first place trophy during competition at the mid-east area conclave held in Pittsburgh, Pa., March 1.

The team has 25 members and is led by Cadet Capt. Edward R. Woicak. Air Force Captain Richard Olin and sergeant Harry Rogers of the AFROTC education staff are the advisors for the group. The Syracuse drill team is one of the few teams in the east which is not armed when competing and must prove its proficiency and ability through perfect timing.

The group has been invited to the Manhattan College Invitational meet on March 14, and to the national championships in Washington D.C. April 10 and 11. At the end of May, the drill team will again compete in the invitational meet at Hancock Field that it has won for the past two years. The group is sponsored by the AF Society.

The Arnold Air Society of Syracuse University's AFROTC program held its annual dinner-dance at Hancock Field in the Officer's Club Friday. New officers were installed. They are: Commander, James S. Burns; Lee Owens; and Operations Officer, Robert Cheney. Air Force Colonel Carey was the guest speaker.

CIVIL RIGHTS
FOOTPRINTS

Engineering Prof Feted at Dinner

The Student-Faculty Council of the College of Business Administration will hold its monthly coffee at 2:15 p.m. today in the north room of the Slocum Hall basement.

The coffee will offer all business students a opportunity to meet professors and instructors on an informal basis.

Dr. Leroy Mullin, professor in the College of Engineering for the past 35 years was honored March 5 at the second annual Engineers Honors Dinner in Graham Hall.

At the dinner, Charles Alaimo, a senior in electrical engineering was presented the all around senior award. Alaimo is editor of the Sliderule, engineering magazine, secretary of Eta Kappa Nu and a member of Tau Beta Pi. He is a resident advisor on the dean of men's staff.

During his four years on the Hill he has maintained a dean's list average.

PROF. LEROY MULLIN

BEAT NYU

"Illuminating, often moving, and altogether a most helpful contribution toward clearer thinking."

—ASHLEY MONTAGU, noted critic and author

SEX AND THE COLLEGE GIRL

by Gael Greene
Introduction by Max Lerner

SEX AND THE COLLEGE GIRL is based on hundreds of on and off campus interviews with parents, teachers, and undergraduates at more than 100 schools all over America—from Big Ten to Bible Belt, Ivy League to UCLA. Interviewed by a prize-winning reporter and feature writer, the girls talk candidly about themselves—and about weekends, petting ("everything but..."), promiscuity, technical virgins, affairs, chastity, curfews, motels, drive-ins, status, marriage, and love. The results are jarring educators, fascinating undergraduates, and keeping parents awake nights throughout America.

"SEX AND THE COLLEGE GIRL is a fascinating account of the changing moral attitudes of the present-day college student told not in meaningless statistics, but in the lively language of the coded."—Harold Greenwald, Ph.D., author of Emotional Maturity In Love and Marriage

SEX AND THE COLLEGE GIRL is at your nearest bookstore now. Or, if you wish, send your name and address and your check for $4.95 to The Dial Press, 750 Third Avenue, New York, N. Y. 10017.

A DELACORTE PRESS BOOK distributed by The Dial Press

College Capers at Mt Snow

Syracuse Vacation | Special Rates
Mar. 19 - Apr. 7 | Mt. Snow Ski Weeks

The days are warm, the snow is crystalline and you are skiing, swimming, dancing, sunning and funning on the maddest ski vacation ever! 10 Double Chairlifts. Mt. Snow five day College Ski Special at your choice of 99 inns including Mt. Snow's own exciting Snow Lake Lodge. Week day budget rates include lodging, meals, entertainment, dancing, parties, heated outdoor sauna pool, ice skating, and much more, plus daily use of lifts and TEN LESSONS IN HARVEY CLIFFORD SKI SCHOOL. All yours to enjoy at the world's largest ski resort — MT. SNOW, Vt. Best Snow in the North East! New double chair! Mt. Snow's North Face for experts. Spring skiing at its greatest. Mt. Snow, Box 14, Mt. Snow Vt. Call 802-464-3333

Button Button

ROTC Queen

NANCY STORY, finalist in the competition for queen of the Military Ball, is interrogated by television personality BARON DAEMON during a "court martial" ceremony last week in Marshall Hall. Cadets will vote for the queen. Miss Story is a member of Angel Flight, Air Force ROTC auxiliary.

Barnett...

(Continued from Page 1)
session in Hendricks Chapel. On the panel with Barnett will be Alexander, Dr. George Wiley, assistant professor of chemistry and community relations director for Syracuse Congress of Racial Equality, and Dr. William Zelenmyer, chairman of the department of business law.

Gov. Barnett is a native Mississippian. He attended Mississippi College and the School of Law, from which he graduated in 1926.

Now the senior member of a seven-partner law firm, he served as president of the Mississippi State Bar Association committee on procedural reforms.

He has been an active member of the American Bar Association and served for several years on its committee on improving the administration of justice.

He served as governor of Mississippi from 1960-64, and is now practicing law and making speeches throughout the United States.

Catholics Set Retreat

The Newman Apostolate of Syracuse University will hold its annual retreat this weekend.

The Rev. Joseph Dorsey, C.S.B., dean of studies at St. John Fisher College in Rochester, will be the retreat master for the weekend.

The schedule for the weekend calls for an opening Mass and sermon at 4:05 p.m. Friday at Hendricks Chapel; a girl's conference at 7 p.m. Friday at St. Thomas More Chapel, and a boys' conference at 8:30 p.m. Friday at St. Thomas More.

The Saturday schedule calls for girls' conferences at 9 a.m. at St. Thomas More; boy's conferences at 1 p.m. at St. Thomas More; and a spiritual and social mixer at 8 p.m. at St. Thomas More.

On Sunday, there will be a closing Mass at 11 a. m. in Crouse College, and a Communion brunch at 1 p.m. at Drumhills.

Tickets for the Communion brunch will be $2.50 each. A limited number of tickets are available. Entertainment will be provided by the Pompeian players.

Edward Hommel and Sons

DISPENSING OPTICIANS

604 STATE TOWER BUILDING SYRACUSE 2, NEW YORK

EYE GLASSES — CONTACT LENSES — REPAIRS

IF SHE'S NOT GETTING IN YOUR HAIR
...GET THIS

Those dainty fingers aren't about to play games in a messy, mousy mane! So, get with it! ... get your hair shaped-up with SHORT CUT. Disciplines crew cut, brush cut, any cut; gives it life! Helps condition—puts more body, more manageability, more girls in your hair! Get it today. Old Spice SHORT CUT Hair Groom by Shulton... tube or jar, only .50 plus tax.

Art Student Gives Show in Day

Jeannette Stadtmueller, a printing and print major in the School of Art, is currently having a one man show in the Day Hall recreation lounge.

Her work deals chiefly with the figure and groups of figures. These figures have particular meaning for her. "I like to deal with people and how they act in crowds," she said. "They are a great part of my philosophy," she added.

Last year Miss Stadtmueller won the junior painting prize at Syracuse University. She currently has a print entry in the Emerson Museum show in Syracuse.

Men the girls go for, go for FARAH®
Slacks

go further in

Faréx

Slacks by

FARAH

Only $5⁹⁸ - so, get several pairs!

FARAH MANUFACTURING CO., INC. EL PASO, TEXAS

National Politics

SU Goldwater Club Grows

By JICMAHON

Like Topsy, it just grew.

That was the consensus among three campus politicians early this week when asked how the new Goldwater-for-President organization came into being.

"I stopped at the downtown headquarters and they gave me a few names of other fellows on campus who were interested," explained Ronny Garman.

"There's been a lot more response than we expected, considering the campus is primarily a liberal one," said Bob Lisenko.

Garman, a freshman from Poughkeepsie, is a business administration major.

Lisenko, a sophomore from North Syracuse, and Bob Meyerson, a freshman from Cornwall, complete the trio. Meyerson is an accounting major and plans to go on to law school after graduation. Lisenko is undecided about his future plans.

A request for capsule comments about the qualifications of Barry Goldwater that most attracted them, brought these replies.

Meyerson said, "He believes what he says. He knows that we must use the Constitution as a basis for our laws; that the individual should be able to create his own life and that we must be strong to maintain our position in the world."

"He's honest with America and himself," Lisenko says. "He

The Conservatives favor "a program in which disorganized solutions are made to individual problem areas," according to Bob Meyerson.

"The Goldwater policy is victory."

The aim of the new group is to arouse student interest in Barry Goldwater as a presidential candidate. They will express explain or argue the conservative viewpoint at the slightest invitation, said Lisenko.

The student organization has held two meetings thus far. Twenty persons attended the first and indicated an interest in promoting the drive. Membership has since increased to about 35, according to Lisenko. The second meeting, scheduled the night of a basketball game, drew about 12 persons.

The students have set up a table in H.B. Crouse Lobby to answer inquiries about Goldwater and to distribute campaign material to those interested. Pins, pamphlets and pocket-books expressing the conservative credo are available.

As election time nears, the college conservatives will be available for active Goldwater support in Syracuse. They are willing to ring doorbells, supply transportation to the polls and aid in various miscellaneous tasks, said Meyerson.

NAACP Meeting Set Today

The Syracuse Branch of the University Hill institutional National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will meet at 8 p.m. today.

The speaker will be David H. Beers, executive director of the University Hill Corporation.

Beers is a graduate of Wesleyan University, and also holds a master's degree in Public Administration from the Maxwell School at Syracuse University. He has had a background of working in various departments of municipal life and was most recently engaged in Peace Corps Training.

He is now serving as first executive director of the University Hill Corporation concerned with the upgrading and long-term development of the entire area and its surroundings just east of Syracuse's central business district.

The public is invited.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

HATE SPICY SEPT
AWAY CADRE TAUR
JAMES OGLETHORPE
ORE TREED ORSAY
REIS POND UNUM
OPS CLASSING
ALBS ALIVE VITA
MILLER LIT SCALP
ENUEBONY SONES
SEEDLING GEM
EINE PARAGON
THE NEAOMI RHO
WAR OF JENKINS AIR
IRON ESSENCE HARS
TESS TSARS ATEE

THE "BOOKSTALL"

147 Marshall Street
Fascinating Gifts, Fine Stationery, Fabulous Cards
38 Years by the Campus
Your Friendly Alumni Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow

BUY, SELL, or RENT
WANT a RIDE or RIDERS?

ADVERTISE!!

CAMPUS CLASSIFIEDS
GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

N. Y. WORLD'S FAIR TICKETS

Now Available for ONLY $1.35
at the UNIVERSITY BRANCH of the Syracuse Travel Bureau
in the CORNER STORE (upstairs)
See us for All Your Travel Needs

Tel. 476-2178 or SU Ext. 2095/6

Conflict Essential: Swerdlow

By JESSE SMITH

Dr. Irving Swerdlow told freshman citizenship students Monday that international economic conflict is essential but must be regulated to prevent damage.

Swerdlow said that it is now fashionable to "understress the role of economics in international conflicts." Formerly, he said, economics was recognized as the prime mover in international affairs, and such things as war were considered aspects of it. Now, Swerdlow indicated, economics is merely considered a facet of war-type conflict among nations.

According to the laissez-faire doctrine of Adam Smith, Swerdlow said, economics was the underlying factor in history, and would produce benefits for all if competition were allowed free reign. But the excesses produced by unrestrained competition led to a reaction against 18th-century theories. Swerdlow indicated, mentioning Karl Marx's economic determinism of history as an example.

Now, Swerdlow stated Marx is rejected totally and his theory of inevitable conflict has been abandoned. This, he declared, is wrong, because some international conflict is both inevitable and good, and must be recognized as such.

Swerdlow attempted to draw a line of policy between the extremes of Smith and Marx. Domestically, he said, we have recognized the harmfulness of unchecked competition and have taken steps to reduce it in some areas and promote it in others. We must, he asserted, adopt the same attitude in international economics.

As an example of the economic aspects of international conflict and cooperation, Swerdlow pointed to the European Common Market, which has been a huge success for its members but a problem for outsiders. The Common Market is finally facing its greatest challenges, Swerdlow said, which are political cooperation and agricultural policy. But, he added, it is also starting to confront the United States, as in the recent "chicken war."

All over the world, Swerdlow said, American products will meet increased competition and not find a constructive policy to follow if it examines the problem only from its own point of view; the international view, he said, is both more productive and less painful.

Only harm can result, Swerdlow warned, if the U.S. reacts violently to what it feels is betrayal by the same European nations whose economic cooperation it has promoted. In the coming "Kennedy round" of international economics talks, Swerdlow suggested, we must not judge solely on the basis of how the Common Market affects us. The current trend toward increased competition may be a healthful process if it leads to a better Common Market, he said.

Summing up, Swerdlow re-emphasized the idea that international economic conflict is essential for efficiency and increased productivity, but can produce damage. We must make adjustments through international agreements and organizations, he concluded, but must avoid that stagnation which would result from eliminating competition.

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

ates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	1.65
2 days	3.15
3 days	4.70
4 days	6.25
5 days	7.80
6 days	9.35
7 days	10.90
8 days	12.45
9 days	14.00
10 days	15.55

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 1 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL, HO 8-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy, GR 6-1995.

AUTO DRIVING — driving problems analyzed and corrected quickly and smoothly. Dual controlled cars furnished. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL, HO 3-3451.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired, Rented, Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-5833. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lilian M. Potter 207 Comstock Ave. GR 8-5847.

TO BUY OR SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN. Sparke Motors, 1000 Hiawatha Blvd. W., 474-6007, is the place.

GREYHOUND BUS TICKETS, plane tickets, hotel reservations, foreign tours, car rentals. Five Star Travel Service Inc. NOW in the MUSIC BOX, 754 S. Crouse Ave. Open Mon. 10-9. Tues.-Sat. 10-5. Dial GREYhound 5-0135.

DANCE LESSONS? Exclusive, inexpensive. All types, all ages. Jay Dance School,

1444 E. Genesee St. GR 2-0073

CHARTER FLIGHT to Miami for Spring Vacation. $79.40 round trip including ground transportation to airport. Special Package includes hotel room. $123.00. 5 Star Travel Service Inc. in the Music Box, 754 S. Crouse 475-0135.

SU Students and faculty members only.

EUROPEAN CHARTER FLIGHT — $240.50 — round trip New York to London. Guaranteed departure. Call Eugene Bailey or Steve Kehoe, GR 6-6097, SU students, faculty and staff only.

FOR SALE

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of four colors of paper, three colors of ink, two sizes of sheets. Bookstall.

LAVALIERS. $2.75. Wedding, shower, baby gifts. Riviera sunglasses, watch and jewelry repairs. Available. Jolene Creme Bleach, Ruth's Gifts, 734 South Crouse.

SHE'S A DOLL! and she is really "FRIEND", the most adorable replica out of any book. "A Friend is Someone Who Likes You." Irresistible! Only at the BOOKSTALL.

ALFA ROMEO 2000 Gran Touring Spider. New — Koni shocks Michelin "X" Battery, brakes, no miles since 100% Rebuilt engine. $1995. 463-6531, 2006 Teal Ave.

1957 CHEVROLET, 4 door, power steering, power brakes, V-8 automatic radio and heater. Call Rich Turner, GR 2-4804.

1961 RED CORVETTE, 3-speed transmission, etc. condition. Will take reasonable offer. 472-8249 after 5.

'63 CHEVY IMPALA CONVERTIBLE. 327 engine, 4 speed floor transmission. Radio, heater, white sidewalls. Call 474-9562 M-17, Skystop, T/S McDorman.

1958 TRJ, Black, four new whitewall tires, wire wheels. Excellent condition. GR 1-9871, GR 9-5185.

1963 MGR, Radio, heater, overdrive. Wire wheels, 3 tops. Convertible, hard top and tonneau. Call S/S Marwood, 474-9562 - m-17, Skystop after 2.30.

WANTED

SUMMER JOB: Private boys' camp. Adirondacks; counselors to 7-8 sailing (Sailfish), handicrafts, canoeing, camping, swimming, riflery, tripping, to ages 7-14. Mr. Reinert, 22 Buntinut Drive, Pittsford, N.Y. 14534.

MALE instructors or graduate students to share 8 room — 4 bedroom apartment. Large, very well furnished, university area, rent $50 month — all included. Call 478-1527.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students

3 ROOMS RECENTLY remodeled — furnished, heated, paneled—bus, light parking. $85.00. Call 478-4388.

3 RM. apartment, furnished and heated, newly painted. University section, very inexpensive. GI 6-1741 or 446-8527.

FURNISHED APARTMENT. Three rooms, Westcott Street. Modern furnishings. $115 monthly 474-0188.

FURNISHED APARTMENT — 1 bedroom — 1 block from the University. Call 478-0495 after 5 P.M.

UNIVERSITY SECTION — 120 Oakland St. Pleasant six room upper flat. Furnished, unheated. $100.00. GR 8-1237.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models, also sales and service, special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

SU GRADUATE, IBM electric typewriter. Will do typing at home. Call Miss Carey, GR 8-7168.

Our Expert Stylists
Create Hair Styles
That Frame Your Face
With Flattering
Loveliness!

Style Haircut
Shampoo and Style Set

$5.50

Fred
The Hairstylist

GR 4-2487
For Appointment

HOTEL SYRACUSE
522 S. WARREN ST.

IN NEW YORK
18 E. 49th St.

Orangemen Seek Reverse Decision

By BILL CRONAUER
Junior Editor

Two years, two months, 23 days and 39 losses ago, Syracuse's basketball Orangemen suffered their most humiliating setback.

For on Dec. 15, 1961, New York University humbled the Piety forces, 122-59, in a record-shattering performance at Madison Square Garden.

Many of the faces will be different Thursday night, but the teams, places and ambitions remain the same.

NYU enters the NIT opening round against SU with four returnees from 1961, including All-American Barry Kramer and hot-shot Harold "Happy" Hairston.

Kramer, a 6-4 senior regarded as the greatest NYU player ever, proved a thorn in the Hill's side that year as he tallied 27 points.

Since then Kramer has not become any less plainless to the opposition. He averaged 21 points per game this season and was named to the AP and UPI all-America third teams.

Hairston, a 6-7 senior, has outscored Kramer this campaign with a 22.4 ppg norm. He hits well from underneath and favors a right-handed hook shot.

The third member of the powerful Violet front line is 6-8 Ray Bennett, a sophomore transfer from Tennessee A&I. He teams with Hairston to handle the rebounding chores and has chipped in with 10.7 ppg.

Operating in the NYU backcourt are 6-5 defensive ace Bob Patton and little Gene Fisch, a graduate of Syracuse's Sacred Heart High.

Patton, averaging 5.2 tallies, is expected to handle the defending of the Orange's Dave Bing. Fisch, at 5-10, is the Violet playmaker and owns a 3.6 scoring mark.

BARRY KRAMER

HAPPY HAIRSTON

Orangemen Qualify Three

Three Syracuse University Jersey City finished the long gymnasts reached the finals in the Eastern Intercollegiate Gymnastic Championships at Penn State Saturday.

Junior Sid Oglesby took a first place tie, a second place and a third place. The native of Jersey City finished the long horse vaulting competition with an 9.7 effort, sharing first place honors with Penn State's Pete Sapanaro. Oglesby was the defending Eastern champ.

Oglesby finished second to the Nittany Lion's Mike Jacobson, the All-Around winner and the only double winner in the meet, on the parallel bars. He finished third in the floor exercise.

SU captain Carl Poplar tied for fourth in the parallel bars event and finished sixth in still Orangeman Jon Meury finished fifth on the side horse.

Rebounding Ace

Goldsmith: SU Sure Starter

By JIM KLURFELD

At the beginning of the basketball season Coach Fred Lewis said he had two starters — Dave Bing and Chuck Richards. Today he has three sure starters and that third man may have transformed the Orangemen from a good team to an excellent one.

Norm Goldsmith—that third man—has been the "unsung hero" for Syracuse this year according to Lewis.

"He's done quite a job for us," the coach said. "He has been a bull off the boards and when we needed it he has given us that extra scoring punch."

A sophomore from Malverne, Goldsmith broke into the starting line-up with a 19-point, 23-rebound performance against Colgate over two months ago.

"It was great to make the first five," Norm said. "I was playing a lot but it wasn't the same as starting."

And starting was something Norm had become accustomed to in high school. In the 1961-62 basketball season he was voted the most valuable player on Long Island's South Shore and almost led Malverne to a county championship.

But according to Norm not being a star has its advantages also. "Now everybody doesn't expect you to score 20 a game," he said. "There isn't as much pressure on you."

A tenacious rebounder, Norm is in perpetual motion on the court. After a few minutes of action he looks more like a man who had just finished running a mile and needs oxygen. But he gets the job done.

A good example of his value to the team was demonstrated by a play in the Canisius game at Buffalo. Canisius shot, the ball hit the rim and bounced high into the air.

As the ball had gone up, Goldsmith turned around to be in position to block his man from getting the rebound, leaped, tapped the ball above his outstretched hands, then jumped again grasping the ball, threw it to a teammate, put his head down trailing the fast break, and when the shot was missed grabbed the rebound at the other end of the court and made the basket.

No wonder he looks poised. Though in an interview he doesn't talk too much, his friends and teammates do. Says roomie Ron Cohen, "He's the most modest guy in the world. He works so hard at the game and takes it so seriously that you couldn't help but be elated when things started to go his way and he made the starting line-up."

Norm takes things in stride—that is most things. The team and undoubtedly some hotel guests, are still talking about his reaction to the NIT bid. "We were all pretty excited," one player related, "but Norm practically ripped down the phone booth when he went to tell his parents he'd be home on Thursday."

Over a month ago when the NIT was a distant goal Norm said, "Even last year when we were frosh we would talk of going to a tournament. I remember going to the Garden and watching the guys play. It would be great having people watch us."

And it looks as if people will be doing just that Thursday night. If Syracuse is going to beat NYU, though, they will have to control the backboards, and Goldsmith's primary job will be to prevent the Violets from taking that second shot.

"I just hope I'll do the job," he says. "I guess all I can do is my best."

And so far this year it has been good enough.

Remember 1961

NYU (122)				SYRACUSE (59)
	FG	FT	T		FG	FT	T
Hairston	5	2	12	Foster	4	0	8
Boose	4	2	10	Machemer	3	1	7
Galliard	2	2	6	Klutschkowski	1	2	4
Kramer	11	5	27	Vernick	1	0	2
Reiner	4	4	12	Murray	1	0	2
Filardi	5	2	12	Seaman	5	4	14
Williams	5	3	13	Dodge	0	0	0
Jordan	4	4	12	Taylor	1	6	8
Blaha	2	8	12	Tydemann	3	0	6
Patton	2	2	6	Brisswanger	0	0	0
				Wellman	0	1	1
				Bennett	1	1	3
				Machner	2	0	4
	41	34	122		22	15	59

Hockey Club Beats Buffalo

Syracuse's hockey team finished its season with a 4-2 victory over Buffalo. The game was played at Fort Erie, Ontario.

By winning, Syracuse ended the season in third place, with a 6-6 record, nine points out of first. RIT was in first place with a 10-0-1 slate and Buffalo in second at 8-3-1.

Syracuse scored twice in the first period and once in the second and third. Buffalo scored in the first and second periods.

Brian Christie playing for Syracuse had 2 goals and 1 assist running his point total up to 53, third best in the league.

The victory avenged an earlier 5-3 defeat that Syracuse had suffered against Buffalo.

BEAT
NYU

INTRAS

TODAY'S SCHEDULE Basketball

7:00 — Phi Delta Theta (P) vs. Delta Upsilon (P); Phi Gamma Delta (P) vs. Winner Game (A); Phi Delta vs. Sigma Nu, Ma Nu.

8:00 — Kappa Sigma (P) vs. Winner Game b; Sigma Phi Epsilon (P) vs. Winner game c; Phi Gamma Delta (B) vs. Phi Sigma Delta (B).

Handball

7:00 — Sigma Alpha Mu vs. Sig Epp.

Bowling

6:15 — Tau Delta Phi vs. Alpha Tau Omega; Dell Plain 2 vs. Sadler 2.

March 23 at 7 p.m. in the main gym there will be a foul shooting contest. Entries are due Fri. March 20 in the Intramural Office.

FROSH BASEBALL

Interested candidates for the freshmen baseball team should meet at 4 p.m. Wednesday in room 215 of Archbold Gym.

Barnett Denounces Civil Rights Bill

Burnett on Campus

Former Mississippi governor Ross Barnett, right speaks with members of the Daily Orange and WAER staff at an informal press conference prior to Tuesday night's lecture. Some 1,720 students crowded Hendricks Chapel and Gifford Auditorium to hear Barnett speak.

Rights-Freedoms Lecture Nucleus

By JESSE SMITH

In the name of freedom and the Constitution, former governor Ross Barnett of Mississippi upheld states' rights and denounced the Civil Rights Bill in a speech Tuesday night on campus.

"Today, the right of freedom and local self-government, won by your forefathers and by mine at so dear a price, is threatened as never before," Barnett declared.

He warned that "the future of constitutional government in the United States is in grave danger from selfish, ruthless minorities blocks that have the open support of high government officials and of some of the federal courts."

Barnett called the Civil Rights Bill "the new form of tyranny," and an "effort to force the extension of dangerous and obnoxious social reforms." He said "you can not control desires; you can not control feelings and attitudes of people by legislation."

Barnett attacked the provisions of the Civil Rights Bill aimed at prohibiting discrimination in public accommodations. "In the name of 'freedom,' freedom is being destroyed," he said. By giving federal inspectors power of arbitration in matters relating to race, he maintained, the Civil Rights Bill would extend the power of the central government to restaurants, hotels, farms and other private businesses.

Citing two supreme Court cases, Barnett asserted that the proposals are unconstitutional. He claimed that the bill would give the federal government eventual control of public schools and would permit suppression of segregationist newspapers.

The sovereignty of the states, according to Barnett, is the source of all government power in the United States — local and national. He said that

(Continued on Page 7)

Barnett Interview

Soft-Spoken Southerner

By CLAY RICHARDS
Managing Editor

The last time 1,260 students jammed Hendricks Chapel was four years ago when the controversial novelist and philosopher Ayn Rand spoke on the Hill.

Tuesday night it was the hulking form of former Mississippi governor Ross Barnett that caused more than 1,800 SU students to wait half an hour in the snow. Some had to be turned away, and went to Gifford Auditorium to hear the soft-spoken voice of the southern conservative.

What students heard was not the ranting of a madman, but a big man asking quietly that Mississippi, and each of the southern states decide their problems for themselves without federal intervention.

At a press conference prior to his speech the man who led the anti-integration movement at Ole Miss asked "all liberals and left-wingers to put forth every effort to unite on the issues that threaten the American Constitution."

"Mississippi is a conservative state," he commented, rubbing his large gnarled hands. "It takes a long time to learn what problems you have and to live with them before you can tackle them. Thus each state must direct and control the affairs they have to live with."

When the big man opened his briefcase to hand out prepared copies of his speech, half a dozen shelled peanuts fell out on the table. Removed from the heat of violence he was a mild man, espousing a conservative philosophy and asking only that Mississippi be left alone.

Outside the room a score of city policemen aided by campus security officers protected Barnett against an unseen enemy. No trouble developed. He was given a cordial, loud, but not enthusiastic welcome by the students. He began at once to tear down the Civil Rights Bill he fears will "destroy the constitutional government of the United States."

"It has me terribly worried," he stated. Still Barnett predicted the death of the bill in the Senate backing the comment with the concurrence of an unnamed member of that body.

The upcoming Presidential election also had the governor worried. The South will not accept a liberal candidate from either party, he said, "I believe a liberal candidate will have a difficult time getting a majority of the electoral vote," he said.

Barnett predicted that the southern states will "probably

(Continued on Page 7)

NO RALLY

There will be no organized pep rally for the basketball team today, a Traditions Commission spokesman said. However, the spokesman recommended that students gather at the fieldhouse and Hancock Field this afternoon to salute the team individually.

The team is scheduled to leave the fieldhouse at 3:30 p.m., and is scheduled to depart from Hancock Field at 5 p.m.

Alexander To Discuss Segregation

George Alexander, an assistant professor of law at Syracuse University, will speak at 3 p.m. today in Hendricks Chapel and participate in a panel discussion at 8 p.m. in Gifford Auditorium.

Speaking in place of a government representative, Alexander's topic will be "School Segregation in the North and the West."

A graduate and recipient of an L.L.B. from the University of Pennsylvania, Alexander will be a Ford Fellow at the Yale Law School for 1964-65.

Alexander, who has been at SU since 1960, was a consultant for the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights in 1962-63.

Winter Returns; Snow Falls..Falls

So you thought you were in Fort Lauderdale for a few days vacation. Well, wrong again people. It's just part of that good old Syracuse weather.

According to weather bureau reports at 3 p.m. Tuesday, the Salt City had seven inches of snow with more coming down.

Students were distracted in their classes by dreams of the beautiful weather they had enjoyed for so short a time as well as the rumbling thunder that accompanied the snowfall.

Buildings and grounds reported 16 men shoveling snow throughout the campus but the elements were too far ahead of them.

Coeds struggled across campus in snow drifts that came above their high boots. Footprints speaker Ross Barnett, former governor of Mississippi, was delayed because of adverse flying conditions.

Campus parking lots as well as staff and commuter lots were plowed during the evening, after most cars were off university grounds.

And those nasty old pot holes Well, they were just as discouraging in winter weather as motorists got stuck in the holes or the drifts, especially by the administration building and the prefabs.

Fasten your snow shoes. Winter is back again.

'Ten Nights' Premieres Thursday

By REA TURET

Thursday marks the opening of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," the comic-melodrama being produced by Boar's Head, the dramatic honorary, at the Regent Theatre.

The entire performance will resemble an original, gay '90's Women's Christian Temperance Union meeting, drawing the audience into the action as sympathizers of the temperance movement, according to Dr. Joseph Golden, director of the play, and associate professor of drama.

On view in the lobby will be a tableau of four temperance women giving recitations on the evil of alcohol. Demon Rum has been hung in effigy.

The Serenity Sisters, led by Mrs. Lucinda Ott will sing such hit songs of the era as "Reach Out a Helping Hand" and "My Wandering Boy." Marion Present will recite the famous temperance poem, "Who Killed Tom Roper"

DR. JOSEPH GOLDEN

The play, "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" is a melodrama typical of the melodramas of the latter part of the 19th century.

Love, fights, murders, a tragic death and the triumph of virtue over evil are all ingredients in the production.

The play was written by W.T. Pratt, Esq. Based on the best selling book of the same name, it depicts the story of the people who visit the Sickle and Sheaf Inn over a period of eleven years.

From the dregs of alcoholism, Joe Morgan, played by Dr. Paul Reid, chairman of the Speech education department at SU, triumphs over demon rum to become the most respected man in the village.

Simon Slade, the innkeeper, played by Ed Roman, becomes corrupted as he falls into the clutches of the demon rum.

Students will receive a 25 cent discount on the tickets priced at $2 and $1.50, if they sign the pledge, vowing abstinence from the demon rum (at least during the performance). Pledge sheets are available in the lobby of the Regent Theatre.

Fun and Games: Indiana Style

From the heartland of America came the news Monday that 37 college students had been arrested in an Indianapolis hotel for what the police described as a "regular orgy." It is ironical that while the passions of physical strife are rampant in Cyprus, American soldiers are dying almost daily in the Vietnam crisis and President Johnson is addressing Congress on the perils of poverty to the national welfare, the only contribution that those kids in Indiana could make to their country was to chase each other down hotel corridors dressed in their undershorts.

The incident in Indiana was reported nationwide. It occurred appropriately at a convention of a national collegiate fraternity where the business of drinking and sex almost always outweigh the formal agenda. It is obvious that the business going on in the delegates' bedrooms was a lot more productive than what was taking place on the convention floor.

At a time when the university youth of foreign countries, especially those in the emerging underdeveloped nations of Africa, are in the forefront of their people's fight for independence and freedom it is all the more disheartening to read about the highjinks of a three dozen college kids. It is understandable that kids will "party" if the conditions are conducive (a room, women and plenty of beer). But when the bottles go out the windows, the formal party game is stripping and the only sounds are the screams of half naked coeds, then it's time to start wondering why our generation of college men and women want more freedom from parental and institution control. How can we seriously make the claim that if we had more freedom we'd exercise it in a mature fashion? Indiana seems to give every parent and every university administrator a ready made answer to the student's cry for relaxation of custodial care.

It is significant that the event occurred in the Mid-West for it is there that Americans feel that our youth is our most precious natural element. Patriotism and flag waving are pasttimes almost as popular as Big-Ten football and baseball. Now the adults know how miserably they have failed. The father of one wayward coed is reported by the Associated Press as having said when he posted bail, "I thought she had been in an accident when the police called. Thank God it's only this."

Syracusans should take note of fun and games in Indiana. We are the children of the post-war era; the most spoiled lot of kids ever sent off to college.

Certainly we live in a period in world history when issues of peace or atomic war, affluence for this country and poverty for 75% of the rest of the world and domestic civil rights are constantly before us. The times in which we live are difficult for us to understand. Those who hold the reigns of government today, our parent's generation, are seemingly overwhelmed by the complexities of domestic and world problems.

What type of world do we have to look forward to if this generation of the college educated can do nothing more for their nation's destiny and democracy than to make fun and games in a style usually reserved for those American Legion conventions?

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2 March 11, 1964
Editor-in-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss
SENIOR EDITORS
Managing Editor Clayton F. Richards
News Editor Andrew Forte
Editorial Director Adair DuFaine
Sports Editor Bernard MacCallum
Arts Editor Rea Turel
Photography Editor Steve Schammer

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 200 Brooklea Drive Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter at U.S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

Respect

To the Editor:

In other countries, Americans cannot tolerate any mistreatment of the National Ensign. We expect these people to treat our flag with the utmost respect at all times. However, it appears that here at SU we do not really care, and are not very interested in setting a good example for our visiting students from other lands.

On many occasions I have observed the American flag in front of Hendricks Chapel on its staff during bad weather. Specifically, on the afternoon of March 9 the displayed flag was a disgrace as it was so soppy wet that it resembled a wet cleaning rag. Article 174 (c) in Title 36 of the United States Code Annotated, which is a U.S. military law code, definitely states that, "The flag should not be displayed on days when the weather is inclement."

I don't think this condition should continue to exist on our campus, and immediate steps should be taken to remedy it. The flag should not be hoisted in the morning if the weather is inclement, and if during the day the weather changes after the flag has already been hoisted, it should be taken down as soon as possible.

Reginald Prouty
Class of '66

Sports

To the Editor:

I thoroughly agree with all that Charles Steinberg has said in his last two articles. But I would like to make one correction: It is not the Athletic Department which runs Syracuse University, it is the football office!

From various conversations I have had (notably with Mr. James Decker, Director of Athletics) it has become obvious to me that Syracuse University will continue to concentrate the preponderance of its "financial aid" only in that area which will provide it with the greatest remuneration, and that Syracuse University will continue not basing the majority of its awards of financial aid on the need of the student.

My experience here obviates the fact that (to quote someone in the athletic department) "the sky's the limit for (the) football (budget)," while other athletic teams, working with relatively meager budgets, must grovel and fawn for any crumbs our King Football may deign to spare them. But as usual (to quote the same person) "the football department went over its budget and Chancellor Tolley's raising hell about it." So there won't be any crumbs this year.

But why should equity and the need of the student determine the recipient of an award of financial aid? After all, a football game can draw

LETTERS

30,000 people, many of whom pay up to $5 to witness the spectacle, while a lacrosse game, for instance, is lucky if it draws 4,000 people most of whom pay only their student's general fee each year. Therefore, the football department must continue to give out 30-odd "free rides" a year, hoping that chance and large numbers will provide it with at least eleven bodies capable of playing a decent ballgame while at the same time earning their own keep as well as other benefits for themselves, their teammates and for a significant part of the rest of the university. And the lacrosse team will continue to bestow its one room and board job per year and its one free ride every four years upon the neediest of its needy.

Tom Rennie

Bars

To the Editor:

Coming as it did during International Week, a recent conversation in which I participated became even more striking to me. I would like to relate it to you.

I was approached in my capacity as an officer of Beta Alpha Psi, the national accounting fraternity, by another accounting major: "Could you tell me, please, the requirements to join Beta Alpha Psi?"

I related the grade average requirements to him. "Yes," he continued, "but a person of my color cannot join. Is that not so?" I looked at the African student, speechless for a moment, and explained that membership was based solely on academic achievement. "But we were told when we came here that we could not join fraternities." I did my best to explain the differences between the various types of Greek-letter organizations at SU.

That afternoon I read in the DO that the fraternities and sororities would host international students at dinners.

Paul Pacter
Class of '61

Food

To the Editor:

At a meeting of the Kimmel Dining Hall Food Service Committee this Monday, Mrs. Ursula P. Pettengill, head of Food Service, failed to show up. Food Service was represented by Mrs. Pettengill's assistant, Mr. Ross Moriarty, and her secretary, Mr. Moriarty had no authority to give concrete answers on any but the most minor points; on anything of any consequence, his answer was, "Food Service will look into this matter." In essence, Food Service was unrepresented, and the Committee got a lot less accomplished than anticipated.

I can only wonder why Mrs.

Pettengill does not attend these meetings. If she did, I am certain that the recent boycott would not have been necessary. Perhaps she is afraid that she will be forced to make concessions. I challenge Mrs. Pettengill to attend the next meeting of the Kimmel Dining Hall Food Service Committee.

Donald K. Piermont, Jr.
Class of '67

Talk

To the Editor:

There has been quite a lot of talk about apathy around campus this year. My reaction has been exactly the opposite. Since arriving at Syracuse, I have been appalled at the lack of respect shown to the administration by the students and their organizations. The DO makes it sound like a class war between students and administration is imminent, and JSL calls for direct action against a branch of the administration to cite only a few instances.

It would be pertinent to point out that the administration is composed of men who have been trained in education and related fields and have had many years experience in running university affairs. The JSG, JSL, DO, etc. are composed either of kids whose parents think they have sent them here to be educated by people who they think know more than their children, employees of the university who are given the privilege of studying here, or persons who have chosen this college because of the fact that the administrators have kept it a good college.

It seems that if we take any account of the respective capabilities of these two groups, the administration's decisions should be respected in all matters pertaining to the university. The students' active opposition to the administration's decisions has therefore been unwarranted. As to the administration, my only objection to them is that they have not treated a bunch of squalling brats as they deserve to be treated.

Clark W. Pennington, Jr.
Graduate Student

POLICY ON LETTERS

The letters column is maintained for the expression of opinion by readers. However, the Daily Orange reserves the right to edit letters for grammar and good taste or to reject letters. Letters should be written legibly, preferably typed and no longer than 250 words. All letters must be signed with names and addresses; names will be withheld on request.

TREVER ON CAMPUS

"Ten Nights"

The Rehearsal

by Renee Bruns

Rumors are spreading that a certain person is supervising the transformation of a respectable SU professor into a raging drunkard, a conscientious student into a gambler-murderer, and several gentle co-eds into zealous temperance gladiators.

Reliable sources revealed that said person is known as Dr. Joseph Golden, 36, assistant professor at the SU Drama Department. This reporter undertook private investigation to uncover the facts.

Here is the scene as it unfolded the other night at the drama office on Genesee St:

Dr. Golden, smoking and holding a cup of black coffee — "All right, Doug. Do that scene over again.

You've just killed a man. Someone is chasing you. Your's scared." Now Dick you come in, discover your victim, and grab him."

discover your victim, and grab him."

A young man emerges, seemingly intoxicated, stares at the murderer, and lunges into him. They fall to the ground and wrestle.

"Paul you're next," Dr. Golden orders. This is the part I've been waiting for. Paul Reid, instructor in the SU School of Speech, sprawls out on the floor. The rumor is true after all! There he lies, growling like a drunkard, acting like a dog. Wow, what a story.

Meanwhile, Dr. Golden is observing Reid's every move, interrupting him frequently, correcting his positions.

"Very good," he comments. "Repeat that line with more feeling: 'Mary, my child, I'll never touch another drop of liquor as long as I live.'"

"O. K. Let's do the finale. Temperance women, get ready to sing."

Dr. Golden sat down, lit another cigarette, and critically observed his stout defenders of temperance as they chanted "The Victory May Depend on You."

"With a little more conviction, ladies! You're fighting a noble battle."

By now, the story was clear: what I had seen was a rehearsal for "Ten Nights in a Bar-Room."

Dr. Golden, who came to Syracuse University from Cornell last September, is the director of this 3-act temperance melodrama.

"It's a very exciting play,"

Dr. Golden said. "We're performing it as authentically as possible with choruses, bands, and pledge cards. The audience will roar with laughter at the exaggerated events accredited to alcohol, but in the early days of the temperance movement, people were moved to tears. Demon Rum was a real despicable monster."

SPECIAL—Shampoo, Style Cut, Set $5.00

at

Karmens
HAIR STYLISTS

Two Hour Free Parking at
Municipal Parking Lot

Open Thurs. & Fri. 9 to 9 Mon., Tues., Wed & Sat. 9 to 6
Call 212 Montgomery St.
GR 1-0511 Syracuse, N. Y.

$1 This Week $1
$1 at $1
$1 Karmens $1
$1 with this ad $1
One dollar off an ANY beauty treatment

MINIATURE MIRACLE!
KEY BEAM
lifetime of light
...on your key!

End fumbling for keyholes, stumbling in the dark... squinting at theatre programs, road maps. Fingertip pressure does it. Key Beam becomes part of any key you own, fits your key ring or chain. The secret? World's tiniest lamp (developed for computers), wired with platinum... powered by costly silver energy cell. Thoughtful, welcome gift.

Lifetime
Manufacturer Guarantee

SU
Bookstores
303 University Place

W A E R

88.3 mc

WEDNESDAYS

4:00 WAER Highlights
4:05 Sign on, News, and Weather
4:15 Experiment in Music
6:00 Washington Report
6:15 Communique
6:30 Dan Stone and the News
6:45 Focus
7:00 Dateline London
7:30 Yankee Dollar
8:00 The Spoken Word
8:30 The 8:30 Report
8:35 Men of Music
10:45 Late Night Report
11:00 Folkways

THURSDAYS

4:00 Sign On, News, WAER Highlights
4:15 Experiment in Music
6:00 World of the Paperback
6:15 Communique
6:30 Dan Stone and the News
6:45 Orange Spotlight
7:00 Sounds of Literature
7:30 Zientz-Torman Report
8:00 Great Decisions

FROSH BASEBALL

Interested candidates for the freshman baseball team should meet at 4 p.m. Wednesday in room 215 of Archbold Gym.

Riviera CINEMA
3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. GR 8-4021
Special Return Engagement
ACADEMY AWARD NOMINEE
Best Film of the Year!
Lilies of the Field
Best Actor of the Year!
Sidney Poitier
AND Margaret Rutherford • Terry-Thomas
The Mouse on the Moon

S. U. Drama Department Presents
"TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR ROOM"

TOMORROW THRU
SAT. AND MAR. 19,
20, 21

8:30 P. M.
$2.00 — $1.50

476-1536

UNIVERSITY
REGENT THEATRE

820 E. Genesee - Free Parking

Daily Crossword Puzzle

ACROSS

1 Spouse.
5 Piquant.
10 September: Abbr.
14 Distant.
15 Framework.
16 Bull: Prefix.
17 General in 61.
Across: Full name.
20 Cinnabar.
21 Cornered: Colloq.
22 Quai d'—
23 React.
25 E pluribus —
27 Ceres' mother.
28 Grouping.
32 Vestments.
35 Active.
36 Passing through.
37 Runner.
39 Kindled.
40 Trophy.
42 Big bird.
43 Hardwood.
45 Numerals.
46 Young plant.
48 Diamond.
50 One: Ger.
51 Model of excellence.

55 Subject.
58 Mother-in-law of Ruth.
60 Greek letter.
61 Conflict of 1739-48: 4 words.
64 Fetter.
65 Ruhr city.
66 Man of war.
67 Angel Clare's wife.
68 Rulers.
69 To —: 2 words.

DOWN

1 Army officer.
2 Cognizant.
3 Domesticates.
4 Hurricane center.
5 Spurns.
6 Summoned by calling.
7 Vain.
8 Gullibility.
9 Still.
10 Hurricanes.
11 Fruiting spikes.
12 Insect stage.

13 Card.

18 Obstruct.
19 Domiciles.
21 Propound.
26 Navy: Abbr.
28 Adhere.
29 See 68 Across.
30 Shade of green.
31 Hiatuses.
32 Iowa city.
33 Candy flavor.
34 Cerulean.
35 Solitary state.
38 Kind of map.
41 Silky tuft on a seed.
44 Storage place.
47 Imps.
48 Urchins.
49 Fenians' land.
51 Card game.
52 Important.
53 Chicago airport.
54 Vikings.
55 Upbraid.
56 Rodent.
57 Cupid.
59 Handle: Lat.
62 Type of engine.
63 Little: Scot.

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14				15					16
17				18					19
20				21					22
23				24				25	25
				27			28				29	30
32	33	34				35					36
37				38		39			40	41
42				43	44					45
46				47					48	49
				50				51			52	53
55	55	57				58	59				60
61						62					63
64						65					66
67						69					69

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

H	U	S	H	R	O	S	T	R	A
B	A	I	S	H	E	S	A	T	H	E	A	R	T
M	E	S	S	I	A	H	S	T	E	A	L	T	H
A	M	B	L	A	S	H	E	D	L	I	E
T	I	E	D	S	T	E	E	R	T	I	C	S
C	R	E	E	S	T	A	R	C	H	E	L	I
H	E	N	C	H	E	N	C	H	I	D	E	S
L	A	T	R	C	H	A	N
T	R	O	I	K	A	W	H	I	S	K	E	R	S
H	O	R	N	Y	B	E	E	R	M	E	R	I	T
R	U	D	E	B	U	R	R	I	S	R	A	C	A
O	S	E	J	E	T	T	I	E	S	S	H	Y
N	I	R	V	A	N	A	S	T	O	R	I	E	S
E	N	L	I	V	E	N	H	U	M	A	N	S
G	Y	P	A	T	I	E	P	I	A	N	G

THE TRUTH ABOUT CHARTERED PLANES

by R. J. Douglas,
President and Manager, 5 Star Travel Service, Inc.; former manager Syracuse Travel Bureau, Inc. University Office.

Yesterday's D O contained an ad concerning charter plane flights to Europe this Summer. This ad made several allegations which we wish to answer. LET'S SET THE RECORD STRAIGHT!

AIRLINE: The $240.50 charter flight to, Europe arranged through 5 Star Travel is on a reputable, experienced and highly qualified airline-Capitol Airways. Remember, all charter flights are under the supervision of the FAA and CAB, and all equipment must meet Federal requirements. Further, 5 Star has done business with this airline before and this airline enjoys an excellent reputation with other agencies.

TRAVEL AGENCY: The signers of yesterday's ad are dealing with a foreign airline (for which we have the highest regard), thereby removing money from our gold reserves. They are also dealing with an out of state travel agency. This agency has no reason to be concerned with the satisfaction of SU customers since its name is not even mentioned. 5 Star Travel Service booked the $240.50 charter. 5 Star is a full time agency serving Syracuse University students, Staff and Faculty members. We make our living here. Travel is not our side-line. Deal with an agency you know. We need your business next year. Remember, we are now in our third year of serving you.

GUARANTEED DEPARTURE: The $240.50 charter is a guaranteed departure. The other is not and as such may be cancelled for lack of patronage.

INSURANCE: There is absolutely no difficulty in obtaining flight insurance on the $240.50 charter. It is available at the airport. If the people who wrote the ad knew anything about travel insurance or travel, they would have known this.

GETTING TO PARIS: Round trip railroad fare from London to Paris is $14.55.

In conclusion, I advise everyone to remember:

1. To deal with a travel agency you know and trust.
2. To deal with an American carrier.
3. To be wary of ads or statements by inexperienced local representatives.

This ad paid for by Charter Plane Group for Syracuse University Students and Faculty members

BOB DOUGLAS

For information & reservations call:

STEPHEN KEHOE

EUGENE BAILEY

476-6097

Archives

No longer stuffed into a dingy corner of the main library, the archives have a "new home." Inspecting several of the tomes are FRANCES STATSONBERG and JAMES OWENS, university archivist.

Archives Move to White Hall

The Syracuse University Archives has moved from the top floor of the Main Library building to the basement of the E. I. White Hall low building, director James Owens announces.

The new area, formerly a storage area for the library's circulation department, has been completely renovated to provide optimum conditions for the storage of the university's important non-current historical records. The new location, which is adjacent to the engineering library, has been repainted, equipped with new lighting and archival shelving and provided with air-conditioning and humidity control.

Owens, the university archivist, said that the new location provides a larger area for the expanding archival collection. The increasing acquisition of the university's important non-current records necessitated an area devoted exclusively to the storage of the university's archives.

In the library the Archives shared its facilities with the library's manuscript collections.

CAP Announces Stand

The Campus Alliance Party announced Tuesday its position on food service and recent related events.

"We believe that a boycott in this area is a sound weapon to be employed by our student body to show dissatisfaction about food service to our university officials.

"The need for improvement and reformation in food service is so painfully self-evident that to rehash our grievances would be redundant.

"We believe that with more notice, over a longer period, possibly a week, more students would have participated behind a more unified student leadership.

"We recommend that, if current negotiations fail, the student body, through its student representatives, call for a boycott on a larger scale plus any other reasonable means possible to affect a change in food service.

"The reasonable period of negotiations should be approximately two weeks. The negotiations should include members from all branches of student government."

TRAFFIC COURT SET

Traffic Court will meet from 4-6 p.m. Thursday in the Security Police office building 19. Any member of the university community who wishes to appeal a paid SU traffic violation ticket is welcome. A bursar's receipt of the money paid is required.

BEAT NYU

NOW IS THE TIME

for

"Special Rates"

CALL for

MIDTOWN CAR RENTAL

800 ERIE BLVD., E.

Ph. 476-4281

SAVOY'S

Soft - Smooth

"Velvet Vanilla"

10¢ 20¢ & 30¢

REAL ICE CREAM

- in de sundae 35¢

TODAY

4 p.m., WAA badminton, gym B.
4 p.m., WAA Fencing, 112 Women's Bldg.
5:05 p.m., Episcopal Holy Communion, Chapel House.
6:15 p.m., Angel Flight executive council, men's sym.
6:30 p.m., Angel Flight, men's sym.
7 p.m., WAA sking, Sims.
7 p.m., "Non Catholic and Catholic Hospital Codes," St. Thomas More Chapel.
7 p.m., JSU government structure committee, 102 Maxwell.
7:30 p.m., Peace Forum Meeting, 316 Maxwell.
7:30 p.m., Young Republicans, 110 Maxwell.
8 p.m., Traditions Commission, Sigma Kappa.
8 p.m., Ballroom Dance Classes, recreation lounge, Women's Bldg. Instruction in Fox Trot, Cha-Cha, Swine, Tango, Waltz, Rhumba, Bossa Nova, and Stomp.

PEERLESS PRESS, Inc.

PRINTERS

1112 E. Fayette Street
Between University & Walnut

COMPLETE
PRINTING SERVICE

at your doorstep
GR 6-6051

ANNOUNCING THE WINNER OF THE

ORCHID SHOPPE BEAUTY CONTEST

MISS ENE PILRAK
DELTA GAMMA

ENTER NOW FOR NEXT WEEK'S CONTEST AND
YOU TOO CAN WIN A DOZEN ROSES.

THE ORCHID SHOPPE

GR 2-6221

605 BUTTERNUT

Specializing in Floral Arrangements Corsages, and Personalized Napkins and Matchbooks

FREE, RAPID DELIVERY

We Wire the World Over

Your Parents Too Can Fly
To MIAMI

For only $79⁴⁰ Round Trip

(Pro-Rated Cost Based on Occupancy by 108 Persons)

VIA CAPITOL AIRWAYS
SUPER CONSTELLATION

Flight Available Only To

SU Students, Faculty and Staff

& Members of Their Immediate Families

(Extension to Nassau Available Via

Scheduled Tourist Flight $38 Extra

For More Reservations See or Call:

Five Star Travel Service Inc.

NOW IN THE UNIVERSITY HILL MUSIC BOX

GR5-0135

Open Monday 10-9

Tues. thru Sat. 10-6

Snow, Snow, Snow

It's "January in June" — in Syracuse, at least! Red faces, bent figures, sour expressions attest to the fact that winter still has a few more surprises to offer the campus.

Veterans of Syracuse say that spring can't be predicted for a long time yet — even April showers may be a replica of our eight inches of white stuff... How long, how long?

BEAT THE VIOLETS

SKI BUS

Buses will be run to Skytop for skiing tonight. They will leave Sims at 7 p.m. Skiing will be from 7:30-9:30.

Speed Reading

Reading sessions designed to aid students in developing rapid reading skills are slated to begin the week of March 16. They will run during the first four weeks after spring vacation.

The cost of the course is $1.50 for the necessary books. Pre-registration is at the reading center, 508 University Pl. or ext. 2468 from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Enrollment is limited and students wishing to sign up for the course are urged to do so as soon as possible. Enrollment will be on a "first come - first serve" basis.

Business Council Forms Due

The Student-Faculty Council of the College of Business Administration will hold its annual membership drive this week.

Freshmen, sophomores and juniors in the business school interested in applying may fill in the application form available in the dean's office, 105 Slocum Hall.

Students wishing to join the council must have a 1.25 cumulative average.

Interviews will be held from 3-4 p.m. Wednesday and from 4-5 Thursday in Lubin Hall.

As in the past, the SFC acts as an avenue of coordination between the student body and the faculty interest in activities, and sponsors general activities of the business school. This year the SFC has included a series of career convocations designed to help undergraduates choose a major area of study.

SPECIALS!!

THESE RARITIES!!

(Piece or Box)
SNAILS FROM FRANCE!
EDAM CHEESE (3½ LBS.) FROM HOLLAND!
BACIO CANDY FROM ITALY!

And a host of other fine products from the world over

INTERNATIONAL CANDY and GOURMET SHOP

161 Marshall Street

ThriftiCheck PERSONAL CHECKING ACCOUNT does it better!

This low-cost checking was designed to help young people manage their finances better.

ThriftiCheck benefits for you are:

- Cheaper than most money orders
- Legal receipts for payments
- Bills paid by mail — saves time
- Makes budget-keeping easy
- Book of 20 checks costs only $2
- Name on checks imprinted free
- Make deposits or withdrawals at any of First Trust 25 offices.

Do away with haphazard cash payments! ThriftiChecks (available only at First Trust) provide a three-way-record of payments: your cancelled check, your check stub and your periodic bank statements.

Start your ThriftiCheck account now.

EAST SIDE OFFICE

Location at East Genesee
M. John Wente, Acting Manager
BANKING HOURS:
9:15 to 3:15 Monday to Thursday
9:15 to 5:00 Friday
AUTO TELLER HOURS
8:00 to 3:15 Monday to Thursday
8:00 to 3:15 Monday to Thursday
8:00 to 6:00 Friday

NOTTINGHAM OFFICE

Nottingham Shopping Center
Edmund Tyminski, Manager
BANKING HOURS:
10:00 to 5:30 Monday, Tuesday,
Wednesday
10:00 to 5:00 Thursday and Friday

Has Parking Lot

Has Auto Teller Window

Now, a cotton sock that stays up as late as you do

Kick up your heels in the new Adler Shape-Up cotton sock. Nothing gets it down. The indomitable Shape-Up leg stays up and up and up in plain white, white with tennis stripes, or solid colors. No matter how much you whoop it up. In the air, her Shapette, 69¢, his Shape-Up, 85¢.

ADLER

THE ADLER COMPANY, CINCINNATI 16, OHIO

Rights-Freedoms

(Continued from Page 1)
states' rights are the concerns of all states not only those of the South, and that segregation is not the only issue at stake. The people of each state, he said, know best how to solve their own problems.

Barnett attacked what he called "selfish, mealy-mouthed, pussy-footing, fence-riding politicians." He said that "there are too many politicians in America who are motivated solely by their own political ambitions." This statement was greeted with laughter by the audience in Hendricks Chapel.

As he neared the close of his prepared speech, Barnett said "Just hand on, things are

Barnett...

(Continued from Page 1)
hold back their electoral vote as Mississippi did in the last election." The governor said if this action were taken it would probably be on a much larger scale than four years ago, and would throw the election into the House of Representatives.

"In the House I feel that Senator Harry Byrd, or whoever we back would have a pretty good chance for the presidency," he predicted.

The governor hinted that the South might back Senator Barry Goldwater on the Republican ticket if the Democrats ran a slate composed of President Lyndon B. Johnson and Attorney General Robert Kennedy.

Barnett is now on an unofficial tour of major American colleges in the North. "Everywhere I have spoken to packed houses," he said. "While I speak only by invitation I always welcome the opportunity to tell college students of the North just how we of the South really feel."

"You see, our points of view aren't really that far apart," he concluded.

bound to work out our way." He was jeered by the audience.

Barnett concluded, "It is time for true Americans to become awakened. It is time to identify the traitors throughout America."

As questions continued, Barnett said that "Equal but separate facilities is still the law in the state of Mississippi." Although this doctrine was struck down by the supreme court Barnett declared that this decision is not the law of the land, but applies only to the case of Brown vs. The Board of Education of Topeka.

Barnett justified his action in the James Meredith integration dispute, saying he was bound by his oath of office to uphold the state and federal constitutions, "and that is what I did."

Barnett drew unfavorable responses from members of the audience with the statement "we in Mississippi believe in purity and integrity of both the white and colored races." He said that integrated classrooms lead to mixed marriages and that anywhere white and black races mixed, the product was a "mongrel race."

As students gathered around the stage to confront him, Barnett made a hasty exit, surrounded by city police, firemen, body guards and security police.

IFC FORMS DUE

Applications for InterFraternity Council committee chairmen, under secretaries and under treasurers are due by 5 p.m. today in the dean of men's office. Time and place of interviews will be announced later.

Bing All-East

It took the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference most of the season before they noticed the charity work of Syracuse's Dave Bing.

Last week they named him to their weekly All-East team for the first time. This week they did it again as the 6-3 soph added 27 points against Niagara and 18 more against UConn to finish the season with 325 points, a 21.9 average and a sophomore scoring record.

John Thompson of Providence; John Austin of Boston College; Merle McClung of Harvard and Tony Genari of Canisius were also named to the team, the final of the season.

Syracuse University Folk Festival

TICKETS FOR THE ENTIRE WEEKEND

NOW

$2.00

CORNER STORE

Home Ec Honorary Taps

Omicron Nu, national home economics honorary, tapped five seniors and six juniors at its annual Orchid dinner Wednesday.

Senior pledges are Elizabeth Burns, Syracuse; Frances Haida, Croton Falls; Alice Olesen, Burnt Hills, N. J.; Marjorie Schlesserman, Syracuse, and Linda Zehner, Readnig, Pa. Juniors are Margery Andersson, Mountain Lakes, N.J.; Gail Hewitt, Farmington, N.J.; Diana Osterwell, Maplewood, N. J.; Margaret Pannier, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Karen Welsh, Syracuse; and Mary Ellen White, Morrisville.

Named outstanding sophomore was Judith Nonnenmacker, with honorable mention for the same award going to Susan Strandberg.

You'll Save Money by Renting Your Car from WATT

Deluxe Cars Low Rates

BUICK SPECIALS AND F-85's —all with automatic transmission, heater, radio and seat belts.

Our exceptionally low rates include gas, oil and proper insurance.

SPECIAL RATES FOR WEEK-ENDS
Ski racks available at no extra charge.

FREE CUSTOMER PICKUP
Just call Watt at GR 2-1972. Our radio-dispatched car will pick you up at the airport, your hotel, home or office and bring you to our office to get your car. No extra charge for this service.

GR 2-1972

3 CONVENIENT LOCATIONS

- South Bay Rd. opposite Hancock Airport entrance
- 209 E. Onondaga St. near Hotel Syracuse
- 337 Peat St. near Erie Blvd. E.

the Kingston Trio

Tues. March 17

WAR MEMORIAL CONCERT CIRCLE.

$3.50, $3.00, $2.50, $2.00

Famous Artists
Clark Music Bldg.
GR 4-0162

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.
1 day $.85
2 days 1.65
3 days 2.40
4 days 3.15
5 days 3.85
6 days 4.55
7 days 5.20
8 days 5.85
9 days 6.45
10 days 7.05
For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication: or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.
PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.
ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lilian M. Potter 207 Comstock Ave. GR 8-5847.
TO BUY OR SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN. Spang Motors, 1000 Hiawatha Blvd. W., 474-6007, is the place.
TYPEWRITERS—Repaired. Rented. Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-8833. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.
AUTO DRIVING — driving problems analyzed and corrected quickly and smoothly. DUAL CONTROLLED cars furnished. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-3451.
DANCE LESSONS! Exclusive, inexpensive. All types. All ages. Fay Dance School, 1444 E. Genesee St. GR 2-0073.
GREYHOUND BUS TICKETS, plane tickets, hotel reservations, foreign tours, car rentals. Five Star Travel Service Inc. NOW in the MUSIC BOX, 754 S. Crouse Ave. Open Mon. 10-9. Tues.-Sat. 10-5. Dial GREYhound 5-0135.
EUROPEAN CHARTER FLIGHT — $240.50 — round trip New York to London. Guaranteed departure. Call Eugene Bailey or Steve Kehoe. GR 5-0135. SU students, faculty and staff only.

CHARTER FLIGHT to Miami for Spring Vacation. $79.40 round trip including ground transportation to airport. Special Package includes hotel room. $123.00. 5 Star Travel Service Inc. in the Music Box, 754 So. Crouse 475-0135. SU Students and faculty members only.
EUROPEAN JOBS — TRAVEL GRANTS for all students. Life guarding, office work, etc. For prospectus, application send $1; Dept. C, ASIS, 22 Avenue de la Liberte, Luxembourg City, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg.

FOR SALE

ALFA ROMEO 2000 Gran Touring Spider. New — Koni shocks Michelin "X" Batteries, brakes, no miles since 100% Rebuilt engine. $1995. 463-6531. 2006 Teal Ave.
1963 MGB, Radio, heater, overdrive. Wire wheels, 3 tops. Convertible, hard top and tonneau. Call S/S Marwood. 474-9562 - m-17, Skystop after 2:30.
1958 TR 3, Black, four new whitewall tires, wire wheels. Excellent condition. GR 1-9831. GR 9-5165.
A GREAT DAY FOR THE IRISH! MARCH 17, A very special Birthday to remember. Funny, studio and serious cards, Corages, Shamrocks, and Flax. Paper, Napkins, ST. JOSEPH'S DAY (MARCH 19th) GREETINGS. Bookwall, 147 Marshall St.
NEAR UNIVERSITY, 1163 Meadowbrook Drive, four bedroom colonial. See, make offer, owner. GI 6-5146.
WATCH and jewelry repair. Easter and Passover cards. Gaubaud de Paris cosmetics. Gifts for all occasions. Free gift wrapping. Joline Creme Bleach. Lavaliers. Syracuse University jewelry. Prince and Princess Gardner and Buxton wallets. Riviera sun glasses. Ruth's Gifts. 734 S. Crouse Ave.

WANTED

SUMMER JOB: Private boys' camp. Adirondacks; counselors to 2-3 sailing (Sailfish), handicrafts, canoeing, camp craft, swimming, rafting, tripping, to ages 7-14. Mr. Reinert, 22 Butternut Drive, Pittsford, N.Y. 14534.

RIDERS wanted to Westchester. Leaving at 5 Friday. Call Jamie at ext. 2679.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students
3 ROOMS RECENTLY remodeled — furnished, heated, paneled — bus. light parking. $85.00. Call 478-4388.
3 RM. apartment, furnished and heated, newly painted. University section. Very inexpensive. GI 6-1741 or 446-8527.
FURNISHED APARTMENT — 1 bed-room — 1 block from the University. Call 478-0495 after 5 P.M.
BELLEVUE HEIGHTS, unfurnished 7-rm. house. Vacant. Fine location. $125 per month. Call owner. GR 8-1567.
FURNISHED APARTMENT. Three rooms, Westcott Street. Modern furnishings. $115 monthly 474-0188.
UNIVERSITY SECTION — 120 Oakland St. Pleasant six room upper flat. Furnished, unbeated. $100.00. GR 8-1257.
A LARGE PLEASANT six room upper apartment. Nicely furnished, neat campus. $110. Available now. GR 4-1734.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models, also sales and service, special student prices. Free pick-up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.
S.U. GRADUATE. IBM electric typewriter. Will do typing at home. Call Miss Carey. GR 8-7168.
EXPERT TYPING. electric typewriter, thesis term papers, theses 458-0141.
MRS. RAYMOND WEBB, HE 7-8259.
I B M electric typewriter. Specialty, Ph.D.s. tables, text books, work proofread, satisfaction guaranteed.
WANTED — Typing in my home. Experienced, electric typewriter. GR 8-6240.
TYPING DONE in my home. Electric typewriter. Will pick-up and deliver. 468-2396.

C.W. POST COLLEGE

OF LONG ISLAND UNIVERSITY

Salutes the World's Fair with

TWO 5-WEEK SUMMER SESSIONS

Enjoy a profitable summer of study and recreation at the 141-acre campus of C. W. Post College, located on the North Shore of Long Island, only 30 minutes from the World's Fair, one hour from Midtown Manhattan.

On-campus facilities include: swimming, gymnasium, riding, bowling, theatre and concerts.

APPLICATIONS NOW BEING ACCEPTED

for

DAY & EVENING SESSIONS

JUNE 22 to JULY 24 ★ JULY 27 to AUGUST 28

NEW MEN'S and WOMEN'S RESIDENCE HALLS AVAILABLE

ACCELERATE YOUR DEGREE PROGRAM

UNDERGRADUATE COURSE offerings include studies in Liberal Arts and Sciences, Pre-Professional, Pre-Engineering, Business and Education.

GRADUATE COURSE offerings include studies in Biological Sciences, Education, English, Guidance and Counseling, History, Library Science, Mathematics, Music Education and Political Science.

DISTINGUISHED VISITING AND RESIDENT FACULTY OUTSTANDING LIBRARY FACILITIES

APPLY NOW... Admission open to VISITING STUDENTS from other accredited colleges.

For additional information, summer bulletin and application, phone 516 MAYfair 6-1200 or mail coupon

Dean of Summer School, C.W. Post College, P.O., Greenvale, L.I., N.Y. 11548

Please send me Summer Sessions information bulletin.

☐ Women's Residence Hall ☐ Men's Residence Hall
☐ Undergraduate ☐ Graduate ☐ Day ☐ Evening

Name.....

Address.....

City.....State.....

If visiting student, from which college?.....

Orangemen Off to Gotham

SPORTS

DAILY ORANGE

SPORTS

Page 8

March 11, 1964

Lewis and Team Confident, Oglesby to Perform Hopeful as NIT Approaches In Gym Nationals

By BERNIE MacCALLUM
Sports Editor

A confident Coach Fred Lewis and team will be winging their way toward the big city tonight. The Orangemen will leave Hancock Field on a 5 p.m. flight for their Thursday night date with NYU.

"We feel that if we come up with one of our better games there's no reason we can't take them (NYU)," Lewis said. "I saw them play St. John's and they can be beaten."

Defense will be the key according to the Orange coach. "We will more than likely have Sam (Penceal) on Kramer. We are still working out our defenses," Lewis said yesterday afternoon.

Syracuse students can purchase tickets for Thursday night's game at the 49th Street box office. Student tickets are $1.50 with an ID card. Syracuse students should ask for tickets in a block which has been reserved for SU fans at the game.

NYU's rebounding height will be tough for the Orange to deal with. Norm Goldsmith and Chuck Richards will have their work cut out for them. The forwards of the Violets and their measurements are Barry Kramer, 6-4, Happy 6-7, Hariston, 6-8, and Ray Bennett, 6-7.

The home court advantage of NYU will be another obstacle, according to Lewis.

"We're going to have to play a tight team defense. You can't concentrate on just Kramer and healthy and in good spirits as their coach reports that they are "mentally really up for the game."

"There is no team in the tournament that we can't beat on any particular night," Lewis said. "We're glad that we are playing NYU. It will give us a chance to get even for the licking they gave Syracuse a few years ago. This along with personal reasons have us glad that we have the chance to get a crack at them."

NYU will be waiting as a six point favorite.

Hairston because the others will get loose and kill you," Lewis commented.

NYU has the potential of being a great team, the Hill coach pointed. "They're strong physically; they have good jumpers and can really get up to that basket."

The Orangemen are all

By TOM MULLER

Junior Sid Oglesby was Syracuse University's outstanding performer at the Eastern Intercollegiate Gymnastics Championships Saturday as Penn State dominated the field. The meet was held at State's Recreation Hall.

Oglesby tied for first in the long horse vaulting, placed second on the parallel bars, and was third in the floor exercise. He was the defending champ in the long horse vaulting. His scores of 9.65 and 9.7 tied Pete Saponara of Penn State and were the highest scores of the meet for all events.

Penn State's Mike Jacobson, a junior won the all-around title, coasting to victory on the high bar and parallel bars. By snaring the horizontal bar title, he replaced Temple's Tim Phillips, last year's champ, who placed second.

Jim Petrino and Barry Weisman brought Temple two first places with wins in the floor exercise and on the still rings respectively. Russ Mills of Yale took first place on the side horse and thus became the only non-Eigl champion.

Oglesby will be Syracuse's only performer to travel to the National championships, where he was second on the long horse last year. He was also mentioned in 1963.

Captain Carl Poplar in the all-around and Jon Meury on the side horse were the other Syracuseans to finish well up on the list of competitors in their events, but neither man will be sent to the Nationals.

SAM PENCEAL

Five Swimmers Enter Easterns

Five Syracuse University swimmers will travel to Dartmouth today for the Eastern Championships. Making the trip with Coach Ted Webster will be Pete Hickman, Bill Hotchkiss, Pete Moore, Dick Bauschard and Jim Myerberg.

"Their times are good enough nationally so they've got a chance to place among the top six in their event," said Coach Webster.

Last weekend the Orange swimmers warmed up for the Easterns by participating in the Upper New York State Championships at Buffalo State. For SU, Pete Hickman set a Syracuse school record when he placed second in the 200 yard back stroke with a time of 2:11.9.

Sophomore Dick Bauschard placed second in both the 50 and 100 yard freestyle. Bill Hotchkiss took a third place (200 yard breaststroke), Roger Ellenberger finished fourth (200 yard butterfly) and Channing Rudd captured fifth in the diving.

The Syracuse medley relay team, composed of Bob Duthie, Bill Hotchkiss, Pete Moore and Pete Hickman, placed second. The freestyle relay team, (Hickman, Meyer, Beaudy, Bauschard), took a third place.

In a companion freshman meet John Young won the 100 yard freestyle and Jim Barlow finished first in the 200 yard breaststroke for Syracuse.

PETE HICKMAN

INTRAS

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

Handball

7:00 - Phi Gamma Delta vs. Phi Sig.

Bowling

8:15 - winner (Tau Delt - ATO) vs. winner DelPlain 2 - Sadler 2)

Eastern NCAA Roundup

By MARK DIAMOND

Special to the Daily Orange

PHILADELPHIA, PA. — Connecticut, Villanova and Princeton scored important victories Monday in Eastern regional games of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's basketball tournament, before a packed throng of 9,200 here at the Palestra.

Connecticut edged Temple's Owls 53-48 in the curtain-raiser after Temple had shadded the Huskies with an effective sliding zone.

Then soph Bill Della Sala hit four straight jumpers as Connecticut went from 5-13 to 18-17. The game was evenly played from then on, with Connecticut's rebounding, chiefly Toby Kimball, eventually turning the tide.

Della Sala and Dan Hespord led the winners with 14 points, while Temple's Bill Kelley had 10.

Next on tap was the battle of the east's best, Villanova's Wildcats with a 22-3 mark and rated seventh in the country, against Providence's Friars, 20-5.

Providence opened well, penetrating Villanova's Thompson clear. Meanwhile, Villanova zone and springing 6-10, John under the boards while sparkplug Wally Jones was being checked effectively.

The Friars were up 13-7 before Villanova began working. Sophomore Bill Melchionni, in only his second start of the year, and soph Richie Moore was getting beaten under the started hitting from outside. Then when Jones found the range, the Wildcats surged to a 29-25 margin. Villanova left the court with a 34-28 halftime lead when Melchionni hit a last second off balance, half-court jump.

The second half was all Villanova. Though unable to move the ball inside (they only scored their long range bombing was something to see. Moore wound-up with 25 points, including 12 for 24, while Melchionni had 13 with 14 and 19 rebounds.

Providence was led by Thompson with 18, but he could only collect three rebounds, and that was the story. Jones, playing in his last Palestra game got a standing ovation when he left, finishing with 15.

The third game pitted upstart Virginia Military Institute, surprise winners over Davidson in the Southern Conference tournament against Ivy Champ Princeton. Princeton has Bill Bradley, and he proved enough. The Tiggers won 86-69, with Bradley scoring 34, while adding 12 rebounds and eight assists. He was magnificent against a team which threw a box and one at him, while his teammates were unable to get the ball to him for much of the game.

Syracuse Ready for NYU

DAILY ORANGE

Vol. 61, No. 92

Syracuse, N. Y., Thursday, March 12, 1964

10 Cents

Prof Discusses Law Integration

History Told

By JESSE SMITH

George Alexander of the College of Law Wednesday traced the legal progress of school integration from the "separate but equal" doctrine to the Princeton plan. Speaking in Hendricks Chapel, Alexander declared that, "if in law, an easy answer suggests itself to racial problems, it is probably wrong."

The lecture was the second in the Footprints series.

A former consultant for the Civil Rights Commission, Alexander told the audience that Ross Barnett views federal law as a poor means of solving racial problems. John Lewis, he predicted, will probably say that law is not enough. Alexander's position is that, while the law

JOHN LEWIS

(See Discusses, Page 4)

SNCC Head Here Today

John Lewis, the chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, will speak at 3 p.m. today in Hendricks Chapel in the concluding lecture of the Footprints series.

He will appear in a panel discussion at 8 p.m. in Maxwell Auditorium.

Lewis also will be present at a coffee from 10-11 p.m. in the Chapel coffee corner. He will answer questions from students and faculty.

Lewis, 23, accepted the chairmanship of SNCC after serving two years as chairman of the Nashville Student Movement. A graduate of the American Baptist Seminary, he is now studying at Fisk University and oversees the operations of 150 staff members.

Drawing Nears

Women's Housing Plan Set

The instructions for number drawing for undergraduate women who will be living in university housing for 1964-65 have been announced by the director of women's residence.

Future seniors ('65) and juniors ('66) may draw their room numbers on Monday from 9:30 a.m. - noon and 2 p.m. - 4:30 p.m., and also on Tuesday during the same hours.

Future sophomores ('67) may draw their room numbers on noon and 2 - 4:30 p.m., or on Friday, during the same hours.

If any student cannot draw a number at any of the schedule times, someone else may draw for her if she has her written permission.

When the student draws a number, she will receive a room application.

Within each class, the students with the lowest numbers will receive first choice of room. Students in the class of '65 will select their rooms first.

Numbers will be drawn in the recreation lounge of the Women's Building.

A list of where upperclassmen will live during 1964-65 will be available after spring vacation. The application will be turned in at the time the student selects the room.

After spring vacation, each class will have an announced time at which they will be able to select, from spaces available, the room they wish for next year.

Confirmation of assignment to the room selected will be sent to students only after student has made the $100 advance payment on total fees for 1964-65.

Any city student who wishes to live in university housing should also draw a number with her class.

Applications for the university cooperatives will be available at the same time.

SU Student Exodus For Tonight's NIT New York Contest

By HOWIE SCHNEIDER

Syracuse University will meet Lou Rossini's New York University squad tonight in the opening round of the National Invitational Basketball Tournament in Madison Square Garden. The Orangemen are a six point underdog. WSYR will broadcast the game starting at 8:50 p.m.

Fred Lewis and Co. flew to New York yesterday, and will have a light afternoon workout at the Garden before encountering the Violets. Some 600 Syracuse rooters are expected to make the trip to New York.

The two teams will battle at 9 p.m. in the second game of a doubleheader. St. Joseph's will play Miami of Florida in the opening contest at 7 p.m.

Students can purchase tickets with an ID card for $1.50 at the Garden box office. In the event of a Syracuse win the same procedure will follow for the De Paul clash Saturday night.

The Orangemen, 17-7, have won their last five ball games, and have completed their most successful campaign since the 1956-57 season. The team scored 2,014 points, averaging 84 (See Violets, Page 8)

Bar Room Play Opens Tonight

The old-fashioned melodrama that was rampant throughout the United States during the latter part of the 19th century is being revived 8:30 p.m. today at the Regent Theatre. The comic-melodrama is "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," written by William Pratt, Esquire.

When it was first produced, "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" was an exposition on the evils of alcohol for the Women's Christian Temperance Union. The play would travel from one town to another, exposing the demon rum. With the troupe of actors were temperance people who gave lectures, recitations and sang songs. All of this is incorporated into the production that is opening tonight.

"Ten Nights in a Bar Room" is performed in a style that was prevalent throughout the era of melodramas. By today's acting standards, this style seems exaggerated and humorous. The sets, designed by John Workman are keeping in with the style of the melodrama, according to Dr. Joseph Golden, director of the production, and associate professor of drama.

The cast consists of undergraduates, graduates, professors and local talent.

Portraying Romaine, the philanthropist who witnesses the deterioration of the characters at the Sickle and Sheaf Inn is John McNeill, a sophomore drama major.

As Simon Slade, the inkeeper is Edward Roman, a graduate student in drama who was seen earlier this year in "The Fantasticks." Art Kucinski plays Frank Slade, the son, who also falls into the clutches of alcohol.

Paul Reid, chairman of the speech education department at SU plays Joe Morgan, the drunkard who rises from the depths of depravity to become a respectable man.

As Mrs. Morgan, the long-suffering wife, is Ellenjoy Schindler. Hope Roppo plays the angelic daughter Mary Morgan.

Richard Folmer, portrays Sample Swichel, the comical Yankee tippler who overcomes his passion for alcohol. Marion Present plays the girl-friend, Mehitable Cartright, a sentimental, upright Yankee girl. (See Bar, Page 6)

Hill Students Get Wilson Fellowships

Eleven Hill students have been chosen as recipients of Woodrow Wilson awards, seven of them earning fellowships and four receiving honorable mention.

The seven are among 1,507 awarded the fellows for first U.S. and Canadian students year graduate study next fall.

Students winning fellows are Joseph L. Camp, Jr., philosophy; Richard L. Dauenhauer, German; William J. Gedalecia, political science; and John B. Lindeman III, economics.

Also Valdmira Micpovil, anthropology; Nanca A. Thomson, English and Naida Verbeek, English.

Receiving honorable mentions were Eileen A. Baker, Michelle S. Bendin, Erwin A. Blackstone and Eleanor L. Miller.

Sir Hugh Taylor, president of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation stated that "The Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, which is dedicated to developing college teachers for tomorrow is the largest private source of support for advanced studies in the liberal arts in North America."

Each fellow is awarded full tuition and fees for the first year at the graduate school of his choice, as well as a stipend of $1,800 and dependency allowances.

This year is the first time that the same living stipends go to unmarried fellows and married fellows without children. The experiment also includes $1,000 for the first child of the fellow and $250 for each additional child.

Competition for the awards this year was among 11,000 students, representing a total of 904 colleges and universities in North America.

(See Wilson, Page 6)

Wilson Winners

Pictured above are the seven Woodrow Wilson scholarship winners from Syracuse University. Standing (left to right) are BRUCE LINDEMAN, JOSEPH CAMP, RICHARD DAUENHAUER, and WILLIAM GEDALECIA. Seated are NAIDA VERBEEK, NANCY THOMPSON and VALLY MICPOVIL.

Our Responsibility In Politics

The political fever has started to grip the nation, and the Hill has not been excluded from the excitement. With over 2000 graduating seniors who will vote in the next National election, the prediction and the preview of the year through the New Hampshire primary should play an essential part.

New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller obviously has not given the people of New Hampshire the type of proposed platform they want. Thus he was defeated in the primary.

Arizona Senator Barry Goldwater has offered, to the greater degree, the populace the type of program and the appeal to persuade a small majority of his qualifications. Thus, he carried many of the New Hampshire votes.

Yet of the three candidates entered officially in the race, a "dark horse" succeeded in polling mass support. His candidacy was not announced and the many "write-in" votes for him provided enough impetus to start another political top whirling, and perhaps thoughts of another possible champion of the Republican cause.

Henry Cabot Lodge now finds himself in the 1964 political picture.

And what does this mean for the university family? With the many Goldwater and Rockefeller clubs being formed on the Hill, it will mean a resurgence of political rabble-rousing and political persuading.

The prospect of new clubs for Lodge and Nixon are not too obscure in possibility. And campaigning for the candidates will begin as soon as the air becomes a bit warmer and the days to convention grow a bit shorter.

Many may ask what direct connection this primary or even the entire campaign prospects has with the Syracuse campus. We feel it has a definite correlation with the Hill.

For 21 years every person in the U.S.A. must listen to the promises of candidates, live under the victor's program and do nothing more than complain about the ills of our society.

In 1964 we as young Americans will have the opportunity to use the important right to vote. However, many students feel no compulsion to use this right. Many say "it's a closed election with the Democrats carrying the ball." And many others feel the "sympathy" vote for Robert Kennedy will carry the Democrats to victory.

Although the campaigns are only starting their surge and the parties only surveying the possible candidates, the election year is quickly coming upon us.

Syracusans should become directly involved in the up-and-coming political picture. Students should take a direct look at the political situation in the United States and also should be willing to contribute to our political future.

Instead of letting the "aging" generation rule our lives, we should take clear and unquestioned steps to rule our own lives and take over the leadership of our nation.

It is fine to sit back for 21 years and let others push buttons and pull strings for us, but it is high time we realize our responsibility as Americans.

The political coin has been tossed for the first time in 1964 and the university is now aware of the possibilities.

Now is the time to look, in detail, at the prospects. Now is the time to weigh the pros and cons of both parties. Now, because we are still students and now, because we still have the questioning mind not to be dominated by past generations.

Now is one of the first times we may show the worth of a four-year education and now is the time for us all to grow up to the reality of the world we live in and face the consequence this reality brings with it.

O Say Can You See

Sojourner

By Ken Auletta

Tuesday evening Ross Barnett was a "Negro" speaking to a southern audience. Maybe he didn't know it, but the audience did. What a strange, ironic, inversion that the oppressor should suddenly appear as the oppressed; that the Big Dog should become the underdog; that the terribly self-conscious white man should be greeted much as if he were the colored man — asking us to open our minds.

He was the first "Negro" that we had ever seen with body guards. There were no pickets protesting his treatment at the hands of the Syracuse police department. He was well protected from us both physically and mentally.

Throughout, one got the impression that Ross Barnett spoke as if he were in a cage that allowed us to see and hear him, but not him to see and hear us; not the type of cage in which we place wild animals . . . for Ross Barnett is not wild . . . He smiled, and paused, and flicked his head as does any young actor practicing before his mirror. And then he told us once, and then twice, that Syracuse was one of the fairest of them all. Then he reminded us that we were all Americans. Somehow it was difficult to believe him.

The entree served, the Governor then proceeded to serve the standard main course; feeding us again and again a relentless profusion of words. The — Civil Rights Bill now before Congress was his meat, for it was nearly forty minutes since he had served the barely digestible entree and he was still chewing this same piece of meat. It was very tough.

But it was our politicians for whom he reserved the unkindest words. For they were self-seeking, vote conscious people concerned with capturing the minority vote, while most Americans stood helplessly by. We were not told why we could not vote too, but that's an uncomfortable question and Ross Barnett knows well how to make the ballot box elusive.

Three times he paused to present a concluding preface that began with "To my humble way of thinking"; we would have him, too, if we knew that James Meredith and the late Medgar Evers would. No, Ross Barnett could not escape the image he had so diligently embedded within our minds, and stomachs as well. He worked hard for his reputation. Sweet words and breaking smiles could have warmed us, a solitary figure alone before a hostile audience could have aroused our deepest empathy, but we could not forget what the newspapers and the television had taught us. It was we who were truly American, for we gave him what we thought he deserved.

But we were smug.

We possessed an almost unquenchable thirst to embarrass him; to subject him to pain; to cause him to acknowledge more than an emotional and intellectual defeat, but a personal one as well. So some of us whispered and some of us laughed and some of us sneered and some of us snapped our fingers, but the granite figure before us remained impervious — and he looked a little sillier for it . . . just a little.

As much as we may dislike admitting it, this was not an ignorant — certainly not a foolish — man before us. In fact, he was quite clever. There on stage stood one of America's more renowned civil disobeyers, sprouting his outrage at people like Martin Luther King and John Lewis, as if he had learned nothing at all from them.

Let us one day read that James Meredith has stalled traffic by placing his body limply across some muddy Mississippi road, and Ross Barnett will be able to take due credit for teaching this "boy" the art of interposition.

He was perceptive. For he was not incorrect in stating that the passage of the civil rights bill would be similar to the "Fireball of liberty spinning into darkness." In claiming that its passage would destroy the liberties of the state of Mississippi, and the liberties of Ross Barnett and all his less honest adherents — everywhere, he was really quite lucid.

Mississippi will indeed have less liberty to excuse itself beneath the cloak of its favorite constitutional amendment, the Tenth. Ross Barnett will truly be left with less "freedom" to capture people. One "fireball" will recede, prompting a more luminous one to glow more brightly. And then, maybe some Southern audience will be allowed the comfort and liberty of being smug, and laughing right before the very eyes of Ross Barnett.

The fact is, even with our shiny smugness, that we treated our "Negro" better than he would have treated his.

LETTERS

Button

To the Editor:

The Syracuse University Union Board has canceled the administration vs. student government and varsity vs. freshmen basketball games scheduled for Monday evening, March 9 in hopes that all campus attention will be focused on the forthcoming National Invitational Tournament. With this in mind we decided to make the Button Button symbolic of our NIT hopes. Proceeds from button sales will go to the University Union Building Fund.

We were impressed and gratified by the cooperation received from the many administrators and campus organizations in support of the games. We thank them, and the student body for supporting the Button Button sales to date. Most of all we thank the Athletic department, particularly the basketball teams and coaches for their cooperation.

Finally, we wish the varsity team best of luck at the NIT. University Union Board Fund Raising Coord.

Civil Rights

To the Editor:

Miss Sharron Yablonsky, in her letter of March 10, exhibited an ignorance so complete concerning the current situation in this city and concerning civil rights in general that even a normally taciturn individual must acquire an amazing degree of loquacity upon reading her creation.

Picketing is not a form of civil disobedience, as anyone with a rudimentary knowledge of the subject will explain. It is as Gandhi wrote "the civil breach of unmoral statutory acts." Further, Miss Yablonsky's rejection of picketing naturally lends itself to the query as to her method for redress of grievances.

Having been among the "student picketers" condemned by the author, I am at least qualified to describe the dress of my comrades, since there was little else to observe during three hours of picketing in freezing weather. Very few, if any of the students on the line fit Miss Yablonsky's hackneyed stereotype. The latter's perusal of the picket line, if it indeed did take place, was at best cursory and her observations reflect this. Her "little old lady" walked in the street by choice for the sidewalk area which was left open was at no time overcrowded. Our "generally obnoxious attitude" must have been our occasional singing of civil rights songs, and our more frequent consumption of warm liquids to enable the continued expression of our feelings. Perhaps, Miss Yablonsky's feelings stem from the arrest of John Patterson. That gentleman was very calmly standing before a door to Police Headquarters, which was locked, attempting to register a complaint with the police when he was arrested. If this be totally obnoxious, Heaven help those who are not in that state.

The author refers specifically to the present series of actions without indicating any knowledge of the incidents which precipitated these actions. Indeed, if Miss Yablonsky is familiar with the case and has arrived at her conclusions on the basis of a complete knowledge she is certainly stupid. For whether or not one believes that the police force of Kelly can become the pristine force of Murphy one year later is irrelevant. A complaint has been made and ignored and it will occur again and again until the Miss Yablonskys overcome their fear of imaginary gum-chewers and love of N-1 surplus Navy jackets. If the dress conscious Miss Yablonsky wished to hear the side one does not get in the papers or on WOLF she would have attended an open meeting of CORE this past Sunday. A discussion of the merits of Pfc. Brooks' case was aired such as space does not permit here. It will suffice to say that every Negro in the ward has heard the screams and one can but hope that Miss Yablonsky never does, for her sake.

Core and SUCE make no claims to uphold the dignity of the Negro race, for this dignity speaks alone. So with the words flowing slowly now I bid Miss Jane Q. Public adieu and leave to her the legacy of "gradualism now."

Michael Krassner
Class of '66

POLICY ON LETTERS

The letters column is maintained for the expression of opinion by readers. However, the Daily Orange reserves the right to edit letters for grammar and good taste or to reject letters. Letters should be written legibly, preferably typed and no longer than 250 words. All letters must be signed with names and addresses; names will be withheld on request.

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2

March 12, 1964

Editor-In-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor Clayton F. Richards
News Editor Andrew Porter
Editorial Director Adair Dufine
Sports Editor Bernard MacCallum
Art Editor Rea Turel
Photography Editor Steve Schwimmer

National Ads. Mgr. Lynn Mandel
Classified Mgr. Christine Sedziak
Promotion Mgr. Stu Shapiro
Asst. Bus. Mgr. Jen Weisberg
Layout Managers Manha Joharcki; Lillian Lahr

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 200 Brookline Drive Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter a U. S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

The Kingston Trio

BOB SHANE, NICK REYNOLDS and JOHN STEWART return for an appearance at 8:30 p.m. March 17 at the War Memorial. Sponsored by Famous Artists, tickets are on sale for $3.50, $3 $2.50 and $2.

W A E R
88.3 mc

THURSDAYS

- 4:00 Sign On, News, WAER Highlights
- 4:15 Experiment in Music
- 6:00 World of the Paperback
- 6:15 Communique
- 6:30 Dan Sene and the News
- 6:45 Orange Spotlight
- 7:00 Sounds of Literature
- 7:30 Zientz-Torman Report
- 8:00 Great Decisions
- 8:30 The 5:30 Report
- 8:35 Sweet and Swingin'
- 9:00 Syraquiz
- 9:30 Baroque Concert Hall
- 10:45 Late Night Report
- 11:00 Broadway Showtime

BEAT NYU

Riviera CINEMA
3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. - GR 8-4021

Special Return Engagement
ACADEMY AWARD NOMINEE
Best Film of the Year!
Lilies of the Field
Best Actor of the Year!
Sidney Poitier

AND Margaret Rutherford - Terry Thomas
The Mouse on the Moon ★

BERT'S RENT A CAR

2 OFFICES — Fay and Rte. 11
Thompson and Molloy

COMPARE
OUR CAR PRICES!

$4.95 per Day
5¢ per Mile

Phone HE 7-8909 - HE 7-8797 -

Many Other Plans to Choose From
FREE PICKUP — Join Our Unlimited Mileage Plan
$35 Minimum Deposit
Student I. D. Required

We try harder

AVIS
RENT A CAR

$11.50 For Entire Weekend & $.10 a Mile

501 S. Salina St. 422-4171

Avis rents Fords and other fine cars

Krasner Plays Berg Concerto

Louis Krasner, SU professor of violin and chamber music, will play as featured artist for the Syracuse Symphony Orchestra March 13 and 14 Alban Berg's Violin Concerto.

Berg wrote the music especially for Krasner who has also performed the premiers of works by Sessions, Casella and Achron.

Currently Krasner is concertmaster for the Syracuse Symphony. He is also music director for Syracuse Friends of Chamber Music which he organized in 1950.

S. U. Drama Department Presents
"TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR ROOM"

Tonight, Tomorrow,
Sat. and MAR. 19, 20, 21

8:30 P. M.
$2.00 — $1.50

476-4536

UNIVERSITY
REGENT THEATRE
820 E. Genesee - Free Parking

Daily Crossword Puzzle

ACROSS
1 Silence.	41 Callous and tough.	9 Exchanged several strokes in tennis.
5 Pulpits.	42 Insect.	10 Magazine piece.
11 Hits hard: Slang.	43 Deserve.	11 Bog down.
13 In one's deepest emotions: 2 words.	44 Boorish.	12 Break.
15 Liberator.	45 Prickly seedcases.	14 Composition.
16 Slynex.	47 Biblical term of reproach.	15 Contest.
17 Ambassador: Abbr.	48 Full of: Suffix.	19 Mr. O'Casey.
18 Dashed or spattered.	49 Piers.	22 Wane.
20 Rest.	51 Diffident.	24 Philosopher.
21 Bound.	52 Paradise.	26 Not reliable.
23 Direct.	53 Floors.	28 Crevasse.
24 Muscle twitchings.	56 Animate.	30 May: It.
25 Indians.	57 People.	31 Greek letter.
27 Road surface.	58 Spin.	33 Prize.
28 Claw: Prefix.	59 Throe.	34 Seat of kings.
29 Followers of a kind.		35 Awakening.
31 Rebukes.	DOWN	36 Law-abiding.
32 Haunt.	1 Candidate for a comeback.	37 Poetic verb.
33 Charlie —	2 U.S. Senate: Abbr.	38 Removing.
34 Russian sleigh.	3 Yankee clipper.	39 Nabob's forte.
37 Hirsute adornments.	4 Restores.	40 Old-time corsets.
	5 Slice of bacon.	42 Hydrocarbon.
	6 Water carnivore.	45 American poet.
	7 Molt.	46 Arrange.
	8 Collation.	49 Kind of coffee.
		50 Body: Biol.
		53 Man: Lat.
		55 Sped.

ROBERTS — University's Only Campus Shoe Store

PROUDLY ANNOUNCES

THE ARRIVAL of "WHAT'S NEW" in

Easter Shoe Fashions

You Are Invited to "COME in and BROWSE"

FOR HER	FOR HIM
Andrew Geller	PHI - BATES
Mademoiselle	NETTLETON
Citations	WALL STREETER
Deliso Debs	BROCTON EAGLE
Sandler of Boston	U. S. KEDS
Coach & Four	JACK PURCELL
U. S. KEDS	CONVERSE

ATTENTION STUDENTS!
EARN EXTRA MONEY!

We Need 50 Students to be our Campus Representatives
Stop in and see AL COMER!

ROBERTS SAMPLE SHOES
910 E. GENESEE ST.

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

Discusses Law

(Continued from Page 1)

in its present form is not adequate, "it has come a long way."

Speaking on school segregation in the North, Alexander outlined the results of a survey he undertook in Buffalo. He said that there, as in many northern areas, white and Negro schools are created by "gimmicks" of local school boards. In an integrated residential district, he said, parents in the predominantly white areas may send their children to schools outside the district. The result, according to Alexander, is a 98 per cent Negro school.

Alexander reviewed the complex history of school racial questions in the federal courts. In 1954, he said, the Supreme Court ruled that segregated schools are unconstitutional because they are necessarily unequal. It is now recognized, he said, that the problem of school segregation still exists, in the North as well as in the South.

Claiming that de facto segregation is unconstitutional Negro leaders have sued in the courts to end it, Alexander said. He termed lower court decisions "completely contradictory."

Alexander described the case of Gary, Ind., where a court refused to rule de facto segregation unconstitutional. A school board has a right, the court ruled, to provide for neighborhood schools rather than racially balanced school, and any efforts to integrate the schools are unconstitutional because they involve assigning pupils according to race.

In contrast to this case, Alexander cited a ruling in Westchester which declared that de facto segregation for any reason is unconstitutional. He said that the court held that school boards have a duty to integrate schools, but not to balance them. The difference has not been made clear yet, he said.

Alexander also cited rulings in Hempstead and Manhasset which required school boards to remove racial imbalance.

"There is strong reason to suspect," he asserted, "that Negro rights should have special protection under the constitution. Existence of de facto segregated schools in the North and legally segregated schools in the South, he said, has been an invitation to discriminate. Tax payers and teachers, he added, invitation.

Alexander outlined the Princeton plan, first used in New Jersey, which combines Negro and white schools so as to integrate them. Pupils of all races in the lower grades are assigned to one school, and in the upper grades are assigned to another.

"A society which has disadvantaged Negroes for 300 years, and kept them in ghettos for the last 100 years... suddenly finds that the constitution requires color blindness," Alexander declared. He said that courts have told Negroes nothing can be done, that they must find a way out for themselves, that the constitution forbids pupil assignment on a racial basis.

"I'm suspicious," he said, of that kind of easy answer."

"Wanna Button?"

DR. C. G. CHRISTOFIDES and DAVE "Yogi" SHINEMAN purchase "button buttons" from KEN ANGEL and SHEILA BERKLEY at the table in the lobby of H. B. Crouse Hall. Proceeds will go to the university union fund.

ORANGE AID SALE

The freshman class directory, the "Orange Aid," is on sale in the bookstore, according to Carl Corsallo, president of the junior class. The junior class executive council published the book.

ZBT Gives $50 To Charity

Zeta Beta Tau fraternity has donated $50 to Campus Chest as a result of their annual Monte Carlo night, held recently in the chapter house.

The brother accumulating the most play money received a plane ticket to Miami. The night is an annual ZBT feature.

The competition was for play money, which was redeemed for prizes at the end of the even-here is a book that is helping us to find ourselves

BEAT NYU

SCIENCE AND HEALTH with Key to the Scriptures
by Mary Baker
Eddy

You, like many of us, may be reaching out in an effort to identify yourself properly, to learn who you are and where you are going. We believe we have found the answers to these questions in the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy. You can find them, too.

We invite you to come to our meetings and to hear how we are working out our problems through applying the truths of Christian Science.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ORGANIZATION

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY
Meeting time 5:45 Tuesdays
Meeting place Colonial Room
Hendricks Chapel

Science and Health is available at all Christian Science Reading Rooms and at many college bookstores. Paperback Edition $1.95.

Arm yourself with facts about DuPont

These booklets helped persuade some 700 new B.S. graduates to join us in 1953. It was mostly a matter of getting facts.

For example, if you want to start your career in a certain section of the country, you'll find that DuPont—with facilities in 28 states—will try to accommodate you.

If you're interested in growth for what it can mean to you personally, you'll be interested to know that our sales have increased 750% since 1937. You've probably heard that R&D expenditures are a good indicator of a company's future success. We spend $90 million a year on it, $60 million of which goes straight into "pioneering research"—the discovery of new scientific truths and new materials.

Our booklets will answer most of your preliminary questions. Later—or even now if you wish—we can talk specifics by letter, or face to face. Why not write us or send our coupon? We'd like to know about you.

BETTER THINGS FOR BETTER LIVING ...THROUGH CHEMISTRY

An equal opportunity employer

TECHNICAL MEN WE'LL NEED FROM THE CLASS OF '64
Chemists
Chemical Engineers
Mechanical Engineers
Industrial Engineers
Civil Engineers
Physicists
Electrical Engineers

E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. (Inc.)
2531 Nemours Building, Wilmington, Delaware 19898

Please send me the literature indicated below.

- | | |
|--|--|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Du Pont and the College Graduate | <input type="checkbox"/> Reprint of Saturday Evening Post article on Du Pont, July, '63. |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Mechanical Engineers at Du Pont | |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Engineers at Du Pont | |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Chemical Engineers at Du Pont | |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Also please open in my name a free STUDENT SUBSCRIPTION to the award-winning Du Pont Magazine—the official bi-monthly publication of the Du Pont Company. | |

Name _____
Class _____ Major _____ Degree expected _____
College _____
My address _____
City _____ Zone _____ State _____

Playboy Philosophy Talk Set Bleiberg Talks

Harvey Cox, assistant professor of church and culture at Conover Newton Theological School, will lecture at 8 p.m. Sunday in Hendricks Chapel on "Prosperity, Chastity and Hypocrisy," a critique of the Playboy philosophy. Cox has written an article entitled "Playboy's Doctrine of the Male" in which he said that the playmates and fiction were shown to be "like an accessory, detachable and disposable." He also called the magazine "not a liberator, but a dictatorial taste-maker." He concluded it was "basically anti-sexual."

Cox, who recently returned from Berlin where he studied as a Fulbright fellow, was named by Time magazine as one of the top six young theologians in America today.

On Unamuno

German Bleiberg, professor at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tennessee will speak at the spring humanities lecture at 4 p.m. today in Maxwell Auditorium on "Unamuno, the Precursor."

Bleiberg is a Spanish critic of the post-war generation. His poetry includes Sonetos, Amorosos, Masalla de las ruinas, El poeta ausente and La mutua primavera. He is ranked among the leading contemporary Spanish poets. In addition he has edited several Spanish-English dictionaries and translated many books from English, French and German into Spanish.

Unamuno is a writer who anticipated the post-war development of existentialism. The visiting lecture is organizer of the international congress honoring Unamuno's centennial year to be held at Vanderbilt this September.

Europe on $5 a Day Plan

21 Days of Fun-Filled Travel and Sightseeing

You'll travel and live in the same manner as the average European, enjoy an exciting unique and amazing inexpensive European holiday.

NOT AN ESCORTED TOUR YOU PLAN YOUR OWN ITINERARY

We arrange:

- jet flight reservations
- rail travel on the continent
- hotel accommodations
- all breakfasts, some lunches
- at least 1, often 2 or 3 free sightseeing trips
- many optional excursions at low cost

The Best Is Up To You!

Date: August 4 to 25, KLM jet from New York to Amsterdam
Try to match our plan—all this for only $591.50
Accommodations limited — call at once
Aladdin Tours, 406 Kemper Bldg.,
GI 6-1504, GI 6-4161

TODAY
4 p.m.: WAA basketball, gym A.
4 p.m.: Pi Sigma Alpha, political science honorary, 204 Maxwell. Members must pay full $6 dues at the meeting.
5:05 p.m.: Lutheran daily devotions, north wing, Hendricks Chapel.
7 p.m.: WAA dance production, studio.
7 p.m.: WAA symphony, pool.
7 p.m.: Catholic choir rehearsal, 201 Crouse College. Recruits needed.
7:15 p.m.: Greek Week committee, Sigma Nu.
7:30 p.m.: Chess Club, Chapel lounge. Officers will be elected. All members must attend.
7:30 p.m.: Student Zionist Organization, room C, Chapel House. Discussion will be on "Cultural Trends in Israel." Refreshments will be served.
8 p.m.: Senior executive council, Women's Building. Check at main desk for room number.
Freshman Skeptics meeting cancelled.

BEAT NYU

THE BEST DEAL ON FLOWERS

Is At J. ALLEN DEAL, FLORIST
Corner So. Warren & E. Washington
Bonded Member, Florist Telegraph Delivery Assn. Telephone: HA 2-1219

SEE LATIN AMERICA UP CLOSE

How much do you know about Latin America? About the Alliance for Progress? Are Yanquis to blame for Latinos' shortcomings? What does the Moscow-Peking split mean to Lima, Caracas, Managua? Can free enterprise cope with the staggering problems of Latin America? These are some of the questions that TIME's Special Correspondent John Scott set out last summer to answer firsthand. "How Much Progress?" is the result—a 140-page report to TIME's publisher. It is the twelfth in a series of annual studies Scott has been making for TIME, analyzing major political, economic and social developments throughout the world. "How Much Progress?" also includes a comprehensive bibliography and comparative tables on Latin American population, GNP, exports, prices, monetary stability, U.S. investments, and food production. A copy of Scott's report on Latin America is available to students and educators with our compliments. Write TIME Special Report Box 834, Rockefeller Center New York, N.Y. 10020

Bernie Manheim's BON TON

SEAT COVERS

FREE INSURANCE ESTIMATES

Give a Bon-Ton Gift Certificate

Hickok Auto Seat Belts

BOAT TOPS, COVERS and WINDSHIELDS
CONVERTIBLE TOPS To Fit All Cars

BON-TON

420 Erie Blvd., East

OPEN Daily 9 A.M. to 6 P.M.
Mon. - Fri. 11:30 P.M.
PH. GR 6-3107
GR 6-3031

SECOND ANNUAL SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY

FOLK FESTIVAL

MARCH 20, 21, 22, 1964

AN EXCITING ROUND-ROBIN OF CONCERTS, HOOTENANNIES, SEMINARS, WORKSHOPS, CLINICS, AND TALENT COMPETITION

—FEATURING AMERICA'S FINEST FOLK ARTISTS—

DOC WATSON JEAN RITCHIE THE GREENBRIAR BOYS

REV. GARY DAVIS GIL TURNER ROGER SPRUNG

THE SHANTY BOYS THE ALL-NIGHT SINGERS

AND MANY OTHERS.

YOUR FESTIVAL HOST

JERRY SILVERMAN

AUTHOR, PERFORMER, MUSICOLOGIST, ASSOCIATE EDITOR OF SING OUT

GENERAL ADMISSION TICKET FOR ENTIRE FESTIVAL $2.50

SPECIAL ADVANCED SALE - TO MARCH 18 ONLY - $2.00

FESTIVAL SPONSORED BY

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY
BOOKSTORES

FESTIVAL HEADQUARTERS

CORNER BOOKSTORE MUSIC DEPARTMENT
943 SO. CROUSE AVE. SYRACUSE, N.Y. 13210
PHONE 476-5571 EX 2008

TICKETS AND FULL INFORMATION AVAILABLE AT FESTIVAL HEADQUARTERS
AND AT FAMOUS ARTISTS TICKET OFFICE - CLARK MUSIC BLDG., SALINA ST.

100 LP RECORDS -- GUITARS -- SONG BOOKS WILL BE GIVEN AWAY

Harrassed by Smashed Glasses!

We work miracles replacing your broken lenses in just one day.

No need to create a crisis at home getting new lenses. Carpenter & Hughes can duplicate your lenses to the exacting prescription specifications of your home-town eye physician—just from the broken pieces. That's the promise of Central New York's only complete dispensing laboratory.

Confidently choose contact lenses, regular or prescription sun glasses—with the newest in frames from our Fashion Center for Frames.

Carpenter & Hughes

OVER 165,000 PRESCRIPTION EXPERIENCE
State Tower Bldg. Center of City

Barroom Drama

RICHARD FOLMER looks on as PAUL REID is threatened by DOUGLAS ARANGO on the evils of alcohol in the temperance comic-melodrama, "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" opening 8:30 p.m. today at the Regent Theatre.

Bar Room Play

(Continued from Page 1)
Douglas Arango is Harvey Green, the villainous gambler. As his side-kick is Marvin Bowman, as Willie Hammond, the son of the town judge. Both are corrupted by the influence of the demon rum.

Music will be provided by Tom Grasso.
Entr'acts will be performed by Susan D-Cicco, Gretchen Smith, Andrea Gurner, and Stephanie Erill, Nanci Fried, Eileen Dietz, Tina Haines and Edye Comins.

Syracuse students will receive 25 cent discount on tickets if they sign the pledge of abstinence (at least during the performance). Tickets are $2 and $1.50.

Performances will be given 8:30 p.m. today, Friday, Saturday and March 19, 20 and 21.

Ars Antiqua Holds Concert

The opening of Museum Week at the Everson Museum will be highlighted with a concert of seldom heard antique instruments and music at 3 p.m. March 15. The program, Lorenzo Dei Medici and Renaissance Italy, supported by the New York Council on the Arts, is presented by the Ars Antiqua.
In presenting the musical story of Lorenzo and his time, colored slides of art work will be coordinated with dance and narration. The musicians, singers and dancers perform in costume appropriate to the period resulting in a synthesis of history and art, making the performance unique.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

S	P	A	S	S	H	A	N	I	T	S	I	T	A	G
C	A	V	E	R	E	L	I	T	E	T	A	X	I
A	V	E	R	E	L	I	T	E	T	I	B	I	S
R	I	C	I	T	I	A	L	I	N	T	R	U	S	T
J	E	A	N	E	I	N	S	P	I	R	E	D
I	L	E	G	R	E	I	T	A	S	N	O	R	E
H	E	S	S	S	M	E	L	L	G	O	N	G
A	M	O	U	R	B	A	S	A	L	M	I	A
D	I	P	L	O	M	A	S	T	E	S	E	S
L	E	E	S	T	H	O	U	S	E	S
D	E	T	E	S	I	T	S	E	M	L	O	C	K
O	X	I	E	N	T	I	G	E	P	T	O	I	A
M	A	R	I	L	L	E	A	S	E	A	Z	I	A
E	M	M	Y	E	S	S	E	S

Syracuse University Folk Festival

TICKETS FOR THE ENTIRE WEEKEND NOW
$2.00
CORNER STORE

PEERLESS PRESS, Inc.
PRINTERS
1112 E. Fayette Street
Between University & Walnut
COMPLETE PRINTING SERVICE
at your doorstep
GR 6-6051

CENTRAL NEW YORK'S FINEST BILLIARD PARLOR

"GAY NINETIES ATMOSPHERE"
Now forming singles & doubles Leagues
Open 10 a.m.-12 p.m.
FREE PARKING
HOLIDAY BILLIARDS
3033 ERIE BLVD., E.
GI 6-9836

Wilson . . .

(Continued from Page 1)
Candidates are nominated by faculty members and are screened carefully by regional and national selection committees, composed of eminent college professors, deans and presidents. Recipients of the awards are expected to consider college teaching as a profession.

JSC MEETS TODAY

Joint Student Court will meet at 7 p.m. today in the Chapel House, according to Chief Justice Herbert Lustig. Attendance is imperative.

Syracuse Symphony

KARL KRITZ, conductor

FRI.-SAT., MAR. 13-14

LOUIS KRASNER, Violinist

Berg VIOLIN CONCERTO
BARBER BALLET SUITE SOUVENIR
Lincoln Auditorium, 8:40 p.m.
$1.50, 2., 2.75, 3.50, stud. 75c
Hotel Onondaga — 472-5293

AWS ELECTIONS

City women students can vote in the AWS elections from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday in the H.B. Crouse lobby.

Rudolph's
DEPENDABLE JEWELERS SINCE 1906

DOWNTOWN, S. Salina and E. Jefferson Sts.
Open Monday and Friday Evenings and FAIRMOUNT FAIR, Open Evenings Monday to Friday

Where but Rudolph's will you find so many expertly trained people to solve all your watch and jewelry repair problems! For instance:

- watch repairing
- silver plating
- ring re-sizing
- bead restringing
- clock repairing
- watch bands
- watch cases

College Capers at Mt Snow

Syracuse Vacation | Special Rates
Mar. 19 - Apr. 7 | Mt. Snow Ski Weeks

The days are warm, the snow is crystalline and you are skiing, swimming, dancing, sunning and funning on the maddest ski vacation ever! 10 Double Chairlifts. Mt. Snow five day College Ski Special at your choice of 99 inns including Mt. Snow's own exciting Snow Lake Lodge. Week day budget rates include lodging, meals, entertainment, dancing, parties, heated outdoor sauna pool, ice skating, and much more, plus daily use of lifts and TEN LESSONS IN HARVEY CLIFFORD SKI SCHOOL. All yours to enjoy at the world's largest ski resort — MT. SNOW, Vt. Best Snow in the North East! New double chair! Mt. Snow's North Face for experts. Spring skiing at its greatest. Mt. Snow, Box 11, Mt. Snow Vt. Call 802-451-3333

when are
65% and 35%
good marks?

when they're
65% DACRON
& 35% cotton
in Post-Grad slacks by h.i.s.

This is the fabric combo that makes music with sleek good looks and washable durability. And Post-Grads are the bona fide authentic that trim you up and taper you down. Tried-and-true tailored with belt loops, traditional pockets, neat cuffs. Only $6.95 in the colors you like...at the stores you like.

*Du Pont's Reg. TM for its Polyester Fiber

WIN A TRIP TO EUROPE
Pick up your "Destination Europe" contest entry form at any store featuring the h.i.s. label. Nothing to buy! Easy to win! h.i.s. offers you your choice of seven different trips this summer to your favorite European city by luxurious jet. Enter now!

CENTORE'S
HEADQUARTERS FOR HIS SPORTSWEAR

Centore's Men's Shop
416 S. Salina (at the cross-light) Call HA 2-1728
Open Mon. & Fri. Eve.
till 9:00

Greeks Elect Officers

Greek houses are starting spring cleaning early with a rash of elections.

Delta Pi
Newly elected officers of Delta Pi sorority are: Marcia Oronker, president; Sharon Minick, vice president; Kathryn Hoffman, treasurer.

Kappa Alpha Theta
Kappa Alpha Theta sorority has elected Joan Hum, president; Brenda Cook, vice president; Ginny Waugh, secretary; and Carol Murray, treasurer.

Kappa Delta
Kappa Delta has elected Sandra Espejo, president; Nina Ann Perkins, secretary; and Linda Speliotis, treasurer.

Alpha Xi Delta
Alpha Xi Delta's new officers are Nancy McBride, president; Nancy Illich, vice president; Diane Freany, treasurer; and Carol Ann Arce, secretary.

Phi Mu
Phi Mu has elected Thea Benzelski, president; Becky Lim-Ostrander, secretary; and Judy Piester, treasurer. elected Paula Gallup, president; Mary Ann McMahon, vice president; Donna Veneruso, secretary; and Jill Krimont, treasurer.

Alpha Chi Omega
Alpha Chi Omega has elected Susan Egan, president; Martha Rhea, vice president; and Sherry Saxton, secretary.

Delta Phi Epsilon
Delta Phi Epsilon has elected Wendy Rhine, president; Ruth Feigenbawn, vice president; Eileen Grubel, secretary; and Peggy Krowitz, treasurer.

Pi Kappa Alpha
Pi Kappa Alpha has elected Thomas Mullar, president; Tony Felicetti, vice president; and Jack Kreischer, treasurer.

Kappa Phi Delta
New officers for Kappa Phi

Delta are Rick Mercer, president; Robert Foster, vice president; Ray White, secretary; and Hal Gerow, treasurer.

Zeta Beta Tau
Zeta Beta Tau's new officers are Bernie Amicus, president; Ronnie Penn, vice president; Stan Dick, secretary; and Phil Pearl, treasurer.

SU Profs Consult

Profs. Michael F. Andrews and Charles Giordano of the Syracuse University School of Art will serve as consultants on elementary art education at the Eastern Arts Association Conference this week in New York City.

TRAFFIC COURT SET

Traffic Court will meet from 4-6 p.m. Today in the Security Police office building 19. Any member of the university community who wishes to appeal a paid SU traffic violation ticket is welcome. A bursar's receipt of the money paid is required.

Student Court Names Five New Justices

Five students have been appointed to Joint Student Court, it was announced Wednesday by Herbert Lustig, JSC chief justice.

The five are three juniors and two sophomores, bringing the number of students on the court to 12.

Named were Nancy Illich, a sophomore in the College of Liberal Arts from Brooklyn; Peggy Levison, a sophomore in the College of Liberal Arts from Coral Gables, Fla.; and Douglas Bryman, a sophomore in the College of Liberal Arts from West Hempstead.

The two juniors were Kathleen Arnold, a student in the School of Journalism from Syracuse; and Walter Beardsle, an Oswego resident in the College of Liberal Arts.

All have cumulative averages of over 1.7. The five were appointed after applications and interviews.

Lustig pointed out that this was the first time sophomores had been appointed to the court. Lustig said the appointments were made in order to get "a wider crosssection of views."

Cuba Talk Slated

"Castro's Cuba" will be the subject of a lecture and discussion period conducted by Dr. Ronald McDonald at 4 p.m. today in Hendricks Chapel Colonial Room.

The lecture is the second in the "Great Decisions" series. All such discussions are open to students and faculty.

Honorary Sets Initiation

Alpha Xi Alpha, design honorary, will hold its formal initiation at 5 p.m. Sunday at Drumlins Country Club.

Each pledge will give a short talk on his major field, and show examples of his work.

Scheduled to be inducted are Robert Fisher, Donald O'Conner, Berkley Kirchhoffer, Sandy Lowgren, Nancy Walker Linda Dunlap and Jamie O'Conner.

Med. Center Course Today

Office Orthopedics a post-graduate course in orthopedics will be held today in the Hotel Syracuse.

Dealing with orthopedic problems in daily medical life, the course will stress principles of diagnosis and management of bone problems. Physicians will be instructed in current treatment techniques.

An opening address will be given by Dr. Carlyle Jacobsen, president of the Medical Center and Dean, College of Medicine.

Participating in the course instruction will be orthopedists from the Department of Surgery faculty.

Coed Radio Talk Slated

A career symposium for women in broadcasting will be held in Syracuse March 20-21 under the sponsorship of the Central New York Chapter of the American Women in Radio and Television, Inc., and the Syracuse University department of television and radio.

Panel discussions of careers, and likes and dislikes of women broadcasters will be featured with tours of WHEN radio and television studios set for 5 p.m. Friday, March 20.

Julie Chase Fuller, director of women's programs for radio station WTAG, Worcester, Mass., and Eastern area vice president of AWRT, will be a featured speaker at the group's banquet.

CIT CONFERENCE

Anyone who is interested in being a discussion leader for the annual citizenship conference on Saturday, April 11, should contact Beverly Kaupa at ext. 2960 or Edward Haell at ext. 2022 for further information.

APPLICATIONS DUE

Sophomores and juniors on university scholarships are reminded that they must make out application forms and submit them to the financial aids office to retain the scholarships next year. Deadline for submission of the applications is Apr. 6.

Maxwell Prof Returns to Hill

Prof. Gerard J. Mangone, executive assistant to the dean of the Syracuse University Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, returned recently from a meeting of the Commission on International Education of the American Council on Education in Washington, D.C.

The commission discussed the forthcoming task force report of John Gardner, president of the Carnegie Corporation of New York, to David Bell, director of the Agency for International Development. The report dealt with the relationship between universities and United States Economic Assistance Agencies.

HERTZ RENT A CAR

● LOW HERTZ RATES INCLUDE EVERYTHING — INSURANCE & GAS

3

50 plus 9¢ per mile

Compact any Weekend — 24-Hour Period

Other Cars at Slightly Higher Rates

537 S. Warren
Hancock Airport

Reservations

GR 4-6578
454-2496
GL 4-2311

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	1.65
2 days	3.15
3 days	2.40
5 days	3.85
7 days	5.20
6 days	4.55
8 days	5.85
9 days	6.45
10 days	7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5¢ per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 1 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.

AUTO DRIVING — driving problems analyzed and corrected quickly and smoothly. Dual controlled cars furnished. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-3451.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired, Rented, Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-8833. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lillian M. Potter 207 Comstock Ave. GR 8-5847.

TO BUY OR SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN. Sparac Motors, 1000 Hiawatha Blvd. W. 474-6007. is the place.

GREYHOUND BUS TICKETS, plane tickets, hotel reservations, foreign tours, car rentals. Fine Star Travel Service Inc. NOW in the MUSIC BOX, 754 S. Crouse Ave. Open Mon. 10-9. Tues.-Sat. 10-5. Dial GREYhound 5-0135.

DANCE LESSONS? Exclusive, inexpensive. All types, all ages. Fay Dance School, 1444 E. Genesee St. GR 2-0073

CHARTER FLIGHT to Miami for Spring Vacation. $79.40 round trip including ground transportation to airport. Special Package includes hotel room. $123.00. 5 Star Travel Service Inc. in the Music Box, 754 So. Crouse 475-0135. SU Students and faculty members only.

EUROPEAN CHARTER FLIGHT — $240.50 — round trip New York to London. Guaranteed departure. Call Eugene Bailey or Steve Kehoe. GR 5-0135. SU students, faculty and staff only.

EUROPEAN JOBS — TRAVEL GRANTS for all students. Life guarding, office work, etc. For prospectus, application send 5¢. Dept. C, ANIS, 22 Avenue de la Liberté, Luxembourg City, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg.

LOST — Black high heel leather shoe between Walnut and Marshall. Please call GI 6-2158.

FOR SALE

SHE'S A DOLL! and she is really "FRIEND", the most adorable replica out of any book. "A Friend is Someone Who Likes You." Irresistible! Only at the BOOKSTALL.

1958 TR 3. Black, four new whitewall tires, wire wheels. Excellent condition. GR 1-9831. GR 9-5165.

A GREAT DAY FOR THE IRISH! MARCH 17. A very special Birthday to remember. Lunas studio and serious cards. Corsages, Shamrocks, and Flags. Paper Napkins. ST. JOSEPH'S DAY (MARCH 19th) GREETINGS. Bookstore, 147 Marshall St.

NEAR UNIVERSITY, 1163 Meadowbrook Drive, four bedroom colonial. See, make offer, owner. GI 6-5146.

WATCH AND jewelry repair. Easter and Passover cards. Gaubaud de Paris cosmetics. Gifts for all occasions. Free gift wrapping. Jeanne Creme Blacn. Lavaliers. Syracuse University jewelry. Prince and Princess Gardner and Baxton wallets. Riviera sun glasses. Ruth's Gifts, 734 S. Crouse Ave.

AUSTIN-HEALEY SPRITE — 3 months old — all equipped — spoke wheels. Call GR 5-6654.

1930 FORD RESTORED. $900 or best offer. NE 7-9664.

240 lb. BILLARD BARRELL SET. $25 or best offer. Like new. GR 5-0755.

'63 SPRITE, black, white walls, wires, snow tires, radio, tonneau, luggage rack, 8500 miles. GR 6-8175.

WANTED

SUMMER JOB: Private boys' camp. Adirondacks; counselors to 7th grade (Sailfish), handicrafts, canoeing, campcraft, swimming, riflery, trophies, to ages 7-14. Mr. Reiners, 22 Barnhart Drive, Pittsford, N.Y. 14554.

RIDERS wanted to Westchester. Leaving at 5 Friday. Call Janie at ext. 2973.

PSYCHOLOGICAL testing dept. of Upstate Medical center needs men over 21 who do not wear glasses. Will pay $5.00 for series. Call GR 5-4143, ext. 40 before 5 P.M.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students

3 ROOMS RECENTLY remodeled — furnished, heated, paneled—bas. Light parking. $55.00. Call 478-4333.

3 RM. apartment, furnished and heated, newly painted. University station, very inexpensive. GI 6-1741 or 445-5527.

FURNISHED APARTMENT — 1 bedroom — 1 block from the University. Call 478-0945 after 5 P.M.

UNIVERSITY SECTION — 120 Oakland St. Pleasant six room upper flat. Furnished, unheated. $100.00. GR 5-1235.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Lyle model, also sales and service, special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

SU GRADUATE, IBM electric typewriter. Will do typing at home. Call Miss Carey. GR 5-7105.

SPECIALS!!

THESE RARITIES!!

(Piece or Box)

SNAILS FROM FRANCE!

EDAM CHEESE (3½ LBS.) FROM HOLLAND!

BACIO CANDY FROM ITALY!

And a host of other fine products from the world over

INTERNATIONAL
CANDY and GOURMET SHOP

161 Marshall Street

Violets Favored in Opener

tallies a game, and setting an alltime university scoring record.

The Hill's greatest one-two punch in history, Chuck Richards and Dave Bing, have pumped in 1,029 points between them, averaging 44.3 points together. NYU's pacesetters Bary Kramer and Happy Hairston have combined for a 43.4 scoring average.

In addition to the top junior and sophomore scorers in the Orange record books, Lewis will start Norm Goldsmith, 6-4, Sam Penceal, 6-3, and Richie Duffy, 5-10. All three are from the Greater New York area.

NYU, 15-8, has been a big disappointment, dropping two out of their last three games to Rider College and St. John's University. A pre-season pick as one of the nation's top three clubs, however, the Violets are tough to beat at home, and play their best when they're under pressure.

Along with Kramer, 6-4, and Hairston, 6-7 Rossini will start Ray Bennett, 6-8, Bob Patton, 6-4, and Gene Fisch, 5-10.

Lewis' defensive ace Penceal will have the not so pleasant task of trying to contain the All-America Kramer. He is averaging 21 points per contest. The Violet's Patton will also have a tough defensive assignment against Mr. Bing. Bing has scored 21.9 per game. Both Richards and Hairston have thrown in 22.4 points per contest from their center positions.

Face NYU Tonight

From left to right they are: Coach Fred Lewis, Rex Trobridge, Phil Schoff, Sam Penceal, Bob Murray, Frank Nicoletti, Jim Seaman, Richie Duffy, Carl Vernick, Dave Bing, Jim Bocheim, Norm Goldsmith, Dick Ableman, Chuck Richards and frosh Coach Morris Osburn. In front is manager Billy Brodsky.

SPORTLIGHT

WAER Sportlight Thursday night at 6:15 p.m. will be a special on the Orange bid to the NIT. Todd Caso will interview Coach Fred Lewis and some of the players and recap the highlights of the 1963-64 season.

INTRAS

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

7:00 p.m. — Phi Gamma (p) vs. Sigma Alpha Mu (p); Sigma Phi Epsilon (p) vs. winner of Zeta Psi vs. Delta Upsilon; WW2 (B) vs. winner of Delta Plain 6 vs. Booth 2.
7:15 — Alpha Chi Rho vs. Phi Delta Theta (for fraternity A championship).

WRESTLING

WAER 88.3 mc fm will broadcast the Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Championships at 7:00 p.m., Saturday, March 14 from Franklin-Marshall. Matches prior to the finals will be heard taped and the finals live.

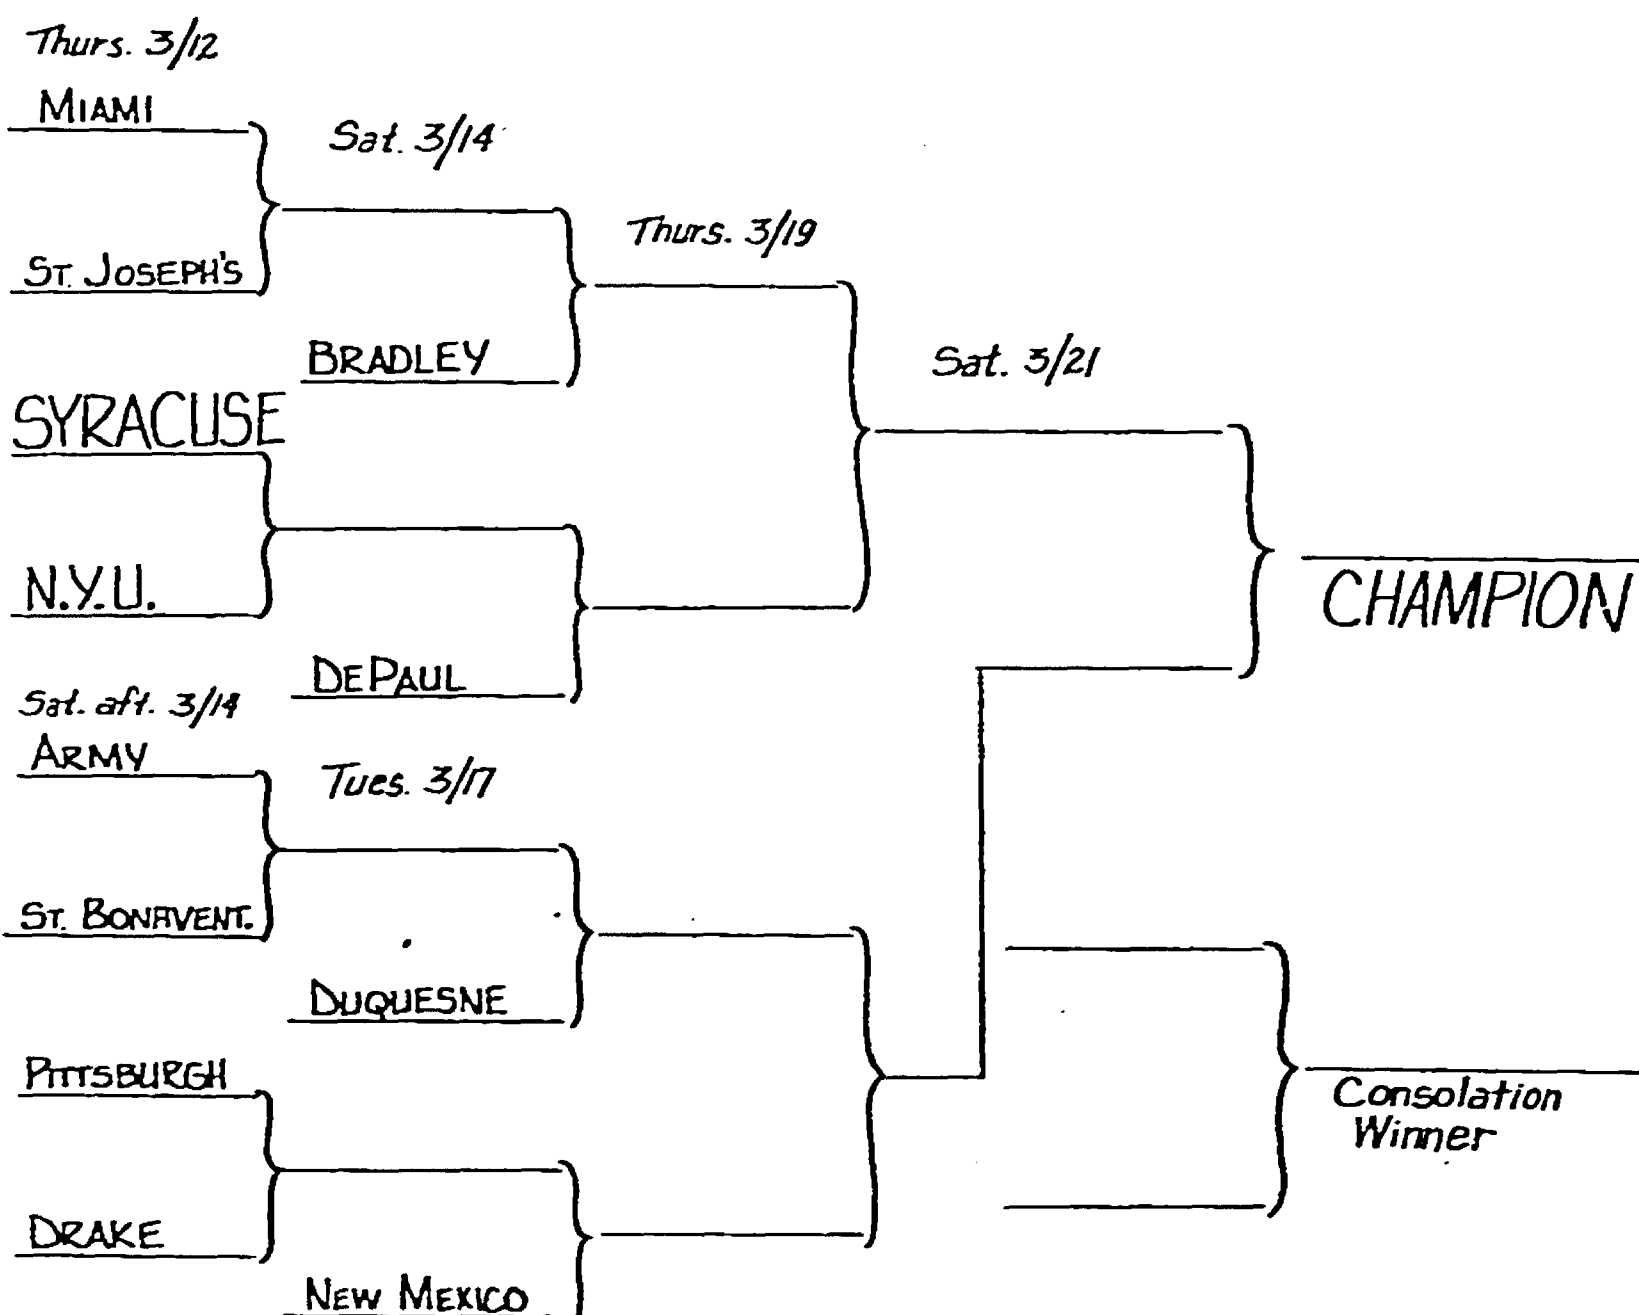

Orange Stats

Player	fgm	fga	pct.	ftm	fta	pct.	reb.	pts.	ave.
Bing	204	435	.468	117	162	.722	197	525	21.9
Richards	173	297	.582	168	230	.730	219	511	22.3
Goldsmith	76	184	.424	43	69	.623	110	195	8.1
Schoff	57	129	.441	44	55	.800	85	158	6.9
Bocheim	46	97	.474	26	33	.788	40	118	4.9
Duffy	41	82	.500	19	27	.704	23	101	4.6
Nicoletti	39	91	.429	19	35	.543	48	97	4.6
Penceal	34	84	.405	12	22	.545	67	80	3.6
Ableman	23	53	.434	13	22	.591	49	59	3.3
Vernick	21	45	.467	13	17	.765	28	55	2.8
Seaman	18	44	.409	19	25	.760	3	55	3.9
Murray	15	29	.517	5	6	.833	16	35	2.9
Trobridge	8	28	.286	2	11	.182	33	18	1.1
Team							205

Own Team Totals 755 1598 .472 500 714 .700 1173 2010 84.8
Opp. Team Totals 697 1630 .427 398 589 .675 1008 1792 71.7

Bing is already the highest scoring sophomore in Syracuse history (former record 395), and Richards is the highest scoring junior (old record 439). They are the second and third Orangemen to score 500 or more points in one season. Vince Cohen, with 605 in 1956-57, was the first.

NIT Pairings

Syracuse

Toronto	88-83
Buffalo	91-69
Penn State	76-95
Cornell	86-84
Eastern Ky.	72-90
Valparaiso	100-66
Princeton	76-71
Miami (Fla.)	86-85
St. John's	71-84
LaSalle	61-63
Army	68-69
Penn State	84-82
Colgate	117-91
Manhattan	96-65
Niagara	83-81
Pittsburgh	96-84
Fordham	83-59
Pittsburgh	67-69
West Virginia	85-104
Cornell	89-85
Colgate	99-78
Canisius	81-64
Niagara	97-72
Connecticut	58-49

NYU

Cornell	82-65
Tulsa	99-76
Northwestern	75-66
Toledo	74-87
Fair, Dickinson	67-58
Wagner	76-77
Michigan	74-83
Yale	96-82
So. California	70-69
St. Joseph's	76-82
Santa Clara	79-64
Army	86-66
Holy Cross	103-83
Brandeis	88-45
North Carolina	69-68
North Carolina	69-68
Georgetown	72-79
Memphis State	95-71
St. Francis (NY)	70-54
Creighton	86-88
Iona	81-61
Rider	62-66
Fordham	74-69
St. John's	51-71

NYU Dumps Piety, 77-68

Footprints

Talking to civil rights speaker JOHN LEWIS, Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee spokesman who lectured yesterday at Hendricks Chapel are Footprints co-chairmen, NANCY WRIGHT, left and DALE ANDERSON, right.

dricks Chapel are Footprints co-chairmen, NANCY WRIGHT, left and DALE ANDERSON, right.

Lewis Cites Struggle In Rights Movement

JOHN RUSSELL

"Today in this country, we are involved in a struggle - we are involved in a revolution," declared John Lewis, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee in an address Wednesday afternoon in Hendricks Chapel. His speech was the third and last in a series of lectures sponsored by Footprints.

In citing the demands of the Negro people, Lewis spoke of "adequate income, decent housing, and non-discrimination in education, the right to vote, to decent jobs, and the right to have selfcontrol over his destiny, to mention only a few."

"Today we believe the cities of the North are not properly represented in Congress, he said. However, he cited certain northern congressmen such as Emmanuel Celler of Brooklyn and Jon Lindsay of Manhattan whom he thought would vote for the civil rights bill.

Lewis noted that the bill would have to go through many committees before it got to the floor. Because of the seniority rule, "Mississippi congressmen are the most powerful in Congress," he declared.

Lewis cited various lynchings of persons who attempted to register for the vote in Mississippi and read eyewitness accounts of the lynchings. "For 10 years, Negroes have been waiting for Americans to redeem and justify themselves," he said.

"There comes a time in the life of any oppressed people when the cup runneth over. Negroes want freedom and they want it now," Lewis warned.

Lewis called for changes in "our present economic and political structure that allows for oppression. The situation in Mississippi amounts to social and economic slavery. Forty-seven percent of its inhabitants earn less than $2,000 a year," he noted.

He cited places in Alabama where the Negro population is 80 per-cent, yet there is not one registered voter. "These people will not wait," Lewis warned. "Even a Ph.D. in philosophical theory from Boston University

(Continued on Page 6)

2nd Half Rally Fails; Bing Scores 31 Points, Hairston Paces NYC

By BERNIE MacCALLUM and BILL CRONAUER

NEW YORK — Syracuse University made its NIT appearance a brief one this season as the Violets of New York University outran the Orangemen, 77-68, before 13,927 screaming fans at Madison Square Garden.

SU's Dave Bing had to try to do it alone with his 31-point effort, a season high for Bing. The one-two punch of Barry Kramer and Happy Hairston combined for 20 and 29 points respectively for NYU.

The NYU team appeared to come into its own at last this season as they played their best game of the year.

Syracuse was down 41-38 at the half after the lead exchanged hands freely in the first segment. NYU rolled off eight straight points led by Happy Hairston to start the second half.

The Orange frantically tried to battle back with Bing leading the way. Their efforts were continually frustrated as Hair-

(Continued On Page 8)

J-Class Hears Mag Head

Ben Gordon, of New York, vice president and editorial director of Chain Store Age publications, will speak today to magazine students of the School of Journalism.

He will discuss opportunities in business magazines and the efforts such publications make to improve fast readability. His talk is sponsored by the Associated Business Publications of New York.

The class he will meet is Introduction to the Magazine at 1 p.m. Friday in 10 Maxwell. The instructor, Dr. Robert Root, said that visitors will be welcome.

APhiO Sets Rush Plans

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, will hold a rusher at 8:00 p.m. Sunday in Dell Plain library.

All male undergraduates interested in the campus and community service group are urged to attend.

For further information contact Donald Fleming, president, or Rostyslaw Smyk, pledging vice-president, at ext. 2019.

AWS Voting Set for Sunday

AWS elections are drawing nearer. Coeds go to the polls this Sunday in house meeting for the candidates. Ballots will be collected after voting by a group of AWS volunteers.

City women will vote Monday in the lobby of HBC but can do so only if they show their ID cards. The final returns will be tabulated Monday night and the results will appear in Tuesday's DO.

The two candidates for president of AWS are Diane Kessler and Joan Moore.

Miss Moore has a 2.1 cumulative average and is a social studies education major. She is an AWS Junior Officer in charge of publicity, chairman of Sorority Women for Campus Chest, president of her living center, AWS Assembly Clerk, and organizer for St. Thomas More Chapel.

Miss Kessler has a 1.8 cumulative average and is an elementary education major. She is an AWS Junior Officer (assistant Dorm Council Chairman), a member of Lambda Sigma Sigma (Junior Women's Honorary vice-president), a member of Junior Class Executive Council, a majorette, and a member of Beta Theta Phi (Philosophy Honorary).

Candidates for over-all guide chairman are Judy Tabakin and Myra Lampman.

Miss Lampman has a 2.4 accum and is a political science major. She is Public Relations Director for WAER, a member of Lambda Sigma Sigma, Syra fins, an AWS Junior Guide and a member of Pi Sigma Alpha (Political Science Honorary). She is from Binghamton.

Miss Tabakin has a 1.5 accum. She is a member of Panhellenic Executive Council (Ideas and Exchange Comm., head of the JSG secretariat, rushing chairman for her sorority, an AWS guide, and a Goon. She is from Binghamton.

The ten candidates for Junior Officers are Jean Abbott, Lois Baker, Patty Borger, Adele Clarke, Loraine Jeffers, Elaine McIntosh, Marty Rhea, Laurie Sandeman, Lynn Suto and Rosalind Yuen.

Miss Yuen has a 1.6 cumulative average and is a JSL representative and an international guide. She is from New Rochelle.

Miss Suto has a 1.9 average, is in Syra fins and is a JSL representative. She is from Windsor, Conn.

Miss Sandeman has a 1.7 average. She is a member of the Music School Advisory Council (secretary), and Sigma Alpha (ary). She is from Kingstown, R.I.

Miss Rhea has a 1.5 average. She is a Panhellenic delegate and on the JSG publicity committee. She is from Arlington, Va.

Miss Jeffers has a 2.2 accum and is editor of Flint Magazine. She is also scholarship chairman for her sorority. She is from Schenectady.

Miss Clarke has a 1.9 average. She is president of her living center and a JSL Representative. She is from Port Washington.

Miss Borger has a 1.5 accum. She is president of her living center and chairman of philanthropy for her sorority. She is from Warren, Pa.

Miss Baker has a 1.6 accum. She is a Panhellenic rep. and on the JSG public relations committee. She is from Schenectady.

Miss Abbott has a 1.8 accum. She was dorm president last fall and is vice president of her living center this spring.

Footprints Panel Airs Civil Rights Problems

By JESSE SMITH

John Lewis emphasized the goal of political power for Negroes in a panel discussion Thursday in Maxwell Auditorium.

"I don't see voting as an end in itself," Lewis added, saying that Negro voters must change the political structure of the nation. "We have to liberalize not only the South, but the Congress," he said.

Lewis is chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, a federation of local protest groups. The panel, part of Footprints series, also included Dr. George Wiley, Dr. William Zelmanmyer and Dr. Joseph Julian.

"If we violate an unjust law, we are upholding a higher law," Lewis declared, saying the laws are being used as "gimmicks" to counter civil rights protests.

Lewis called the problem of segregation a "radical and extreme evil," thus justifying radical and extreme non-violent

(Continued On Page 6)

O Where To Park

"O where O where will I park my auto. . ."the song on the Hill of late seems to go. With the number of automated students at SU on the rise, the cry most heard arises from the ranks of car-owners, frustrated in trying to find a place to leave "the buggy."

And when it was suggested that the university impose a premium on the available parking places around the Hill, an even larger cry, denouncing the mercenary quality of university officials, resounded from the ivy walls.

The next cry echoed all over campus when it was suggested that students receiving university financial aid not be allowed to maintain cars unless they could prove the cars were needed.

And the students on the Hill who are making the loudest noises in the periodic outbursts. . .they're the ones who should learn the facts behind the dictums. . .the ones who should "look before they leap," in this case, onto the bandwagon.

Because Syracuse University, like many other large educational institutions, is facing a problem which is promising to grow to uncontrollable dimensions unless action is taken now. The problem, oddly enough, is one of physics.

There is a law which states that matter occupies space. In this case, the matters are some three automobiles which somehow vie for the same space. . . parking, that is, on the Hill.

Syracuse is not alone. . .at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, students drive to school, park, and pedal the two miles from the lots to the campus buildings. Harvard men leave off their dates from other schools well before curfew so they can return to the university to put up their cars for the night.

Yale instructors do not feel "in" until they have received their close-to-campus parking stickers. And at Syracuse the cry goes up.

With a little less criticism that's based on hearsay and only connotes the most popular "issue" on campus, Syracuse might not have to rely on "football recruiting tactics" to raise its academic level.

Getting Around

Getting around campus for the past two days has been near to impossible. The quiet slow-flowing stream of the student mass trudging off to class has been one of the few signs of life as Old Man Winter grips the Hill again.

Driving is hazardous and that is only if the car can be moved. Students waded through waist high drifts to reach Crouse or just to cross College Pl. The gales and blinding mixture of snow and hail have frosted the too-soon warmed Syracuse humors.

As soon as the Grounds and Maintenance crews shovel out from under the falling snow, inches more accumulate within an hour, making their job unending.

Caution must be the by-word for the next few days, since conditions are beyond the control of the city, the university and the Maintenance crew.

Please walk with care and use good judgement during these, we hope to be, last gusts of Winter.

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2

March 13, 1964

Editor-in-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor Clayton F. Richards
News Editor Andrew Porte
Editorial Director Adair DuFine
Sports Editor Bernard MacCallum
Arts Editor Rea Turel
Photography Editor Steve Schwitter

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 200 Brooklee Drive Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter at U. S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

NEVER ON SUNDAY

The Race Myth

By Charles Steinberg

At the root of Mississippi Governor Ross Barnett's debacle here Tuesday night lay one issue deftly glossed over in his myriad of constitutional and state's arguments. This is the fallacious and too-widely held doctrine of the "racial inferiority of the Negro." This doctrine is the whole cause of the present, and what should be unnecessary, "civil rights struggle" in America.

Make no mistake, Barnett's constitutional arguments were all designed to support the racist doctrine. He displayed a remarkable and perhaps dangerous ability to argue his cause almost entirely on righteous constitutional and legal terms, rather than resort to racism, the real basis of his beliefs.

In several instances, however, Barnett revealed the racist foundation of his cause. In the name of American liberty and individual freedom, he declared, an employer should have the right to hire whomever he pleases even "if in the nature of his experience he considers one race more capable and reliable than another."

The notion that all Negroes are less "capable and reliable" than any white is of course preposterous and reaches the height of lunacy when doctors and professional people are ruled "illiterate" and thus ineligible to vote.

In the South, the belief of racial supremacy flourishes amidst ignorance and poverty, often preached by well-intentioned ministers on the basis of biblical mythologies.

Wherever there is ignorance, and there is still plenty of it in America, racist ideology may grow, including also Negroes as the Black Muslim movement indicates.

The question facing the United States in the passage of the Civil Rights Act is whether the vociferous minority of "race supremacists" should be allowed to adhere to and practice their belief.

Governor Barnett would maintain that American individual liberty allows anyone to hold a view, no matter how erroneous it might appear to others, and to practice this belief insofar as it is consistent with one's "inalienable" "private property" rights.

He would also grant, in the name of state's rights, the freedom of tyrannous local majorities to disenfranchise the Negro because of a popular local belief in "white racial supremacy."

Barnett displayed a remarkable one-sidedness in considering "freedom" strictly from the white supremacist's point of view. He completely ignored the fact that American minorities also have rights which are not to be overruled by local "tyrannies of the majority."

Can the U.S. afford to allow the "freedom" Barnett speaks of? In effect the proposed Civil Rights bill may be attempting to legislate against a "belief," and as Barnett claims this is impossible.

No law of course can change people's beliefs; this requires social change. But what the bill at least would do is prevent those who hold the doctrine of racial supremacy from practicing it publicly, especially through state and local government.

The belief that "one race is superior to another" is founded on ignorance and superstition. It has no place in the spirit of American life. Legislation should not be necessary to enforce the "spirit of the law" but apparently this is the reason for the Civil Rights Act.

An unfortunate result of more discussion of the doctrine of "racial superiority" and the "race problem" is that the discussion itself necessitates the supposition that there are two distinct, separate racial groupings and it is implied that every Negro is a "member" of the "Negro group" and is "labeled" as such. Actually, of course, except for skin color two Negroes, like any other American people, have absolutely nothing in common.

LETTERS

FYI

To the Editor:

From what you tell us, the DO, our campus newspaper, is for us the students. Sometimes I find this hard to believe. Many people may not know that FYI means "For Your Information," but the print is so small that few bother to read it. Some do. People who want to put a notice in the FYI are told to type it and submit it before 2 p.m. which may or may not get results.

One club, which usually meets on Tuesdays, scheduled a Wednesday meeting. An appropriate notice was taken to the DO office by 11:30 Monday. The typed notice bore the plea "Please print this on Tuesday and Wednesday," but to no avail. And it was too late to do anything about it, when it did not appear on Tuesday.

I wonder if the DO really is "our" paper, as you tell us.

Carol Rosenblum

Publicity Director, SUOC

P.S. The notice did not appear on Wednesday either.

Food

To the Editor:

Re: Mr. C. Vincent Byrne of the Byrne Dairy Inc.

I am referring to your letter, Tuesday March 10, in which you compared the students of Syracuse University to an emotionally maladjusted killer, Lee Harvey Oswald.

You are right Mr. Byrne, the students in the dining halls are given the privilege of having all the milk they want. And by personally speaking with the president of the New York State Food Service Executive Association, I have learned that you are right again by stating the Syracuse University Food Service does obtain a high quality of food and that its kitchens are equipped with excellent facilities.

I have also learned through courses in the College of Home Economics that any quality of food that has been undercooked, overseasoned, watered down, recooked, underseasoned, overcooked, or smothered with gravy may be tough, mashy, hard, rubbery, tasteless, not too good looking, or simply a mystery.

Still another college course has taught me that a meal is much more pleasant and appetizing when first, the silverware and glasses are clean, the food is free from hair and other foreign objects, and the people serving you can put forth a pleasant disposition; second, when you haven't had to wait in a long slow moving line because there aren't enough workers - only to find that you must gulp your lunch down in order to make your one o'clock class because, of course, it's impossible to have our high quality food ready fifteen minutes earlier; and third, when you can enjoy seconds of our high quality desserts, and you can find the salt shaker.

Did you realize while writing your letter Mr. Byrne, Sir, that when the Syracuse University students demonstrated against Food Service, they MEANT Food SERVICE?

Carolyn Ragonese '67
901 Walnut Avenue

LETTERS

The letters column is maintained for the expression of opinion by readers. However, the Daily Orange reserves the right to edit letters for grammar and good taste or to reject letters. Letters should be written legibly, preferably typed and no longer than 250 words. All letters must be signed with names and addresses; names will be withheld on request.

TREVER ON CAMPUS

WEEKEND

ECKEL — "Tom Jones" is still wowing the audiences. And the film still has 10 Oscar nominations. And the film is still worth the price of admission. At 7 and 9:20 p.m.

RIVIERA — "Tom Jones" has its biggest Oscar competition in "Lilies of the Field" which is about Sidney Poitier helping a group of nuns from East Germany build a chapel. With it is Terry-Thomas and Margaret Rutherford fighting the battles of the Grand Ducy of Fenwick in "Mouse on the Moon." Sidney at 6:45 and 9:50 p.m., Fenwick at 8:20 p.m.

SHOPPINGTOWN—Once again we have the story from rags to riches as the hero, Tom Tyrone, rises from being a priest to a Cardinal. The Cardinal" at 8:20 p.m.

PARAMOUNT — It's World

War Two fought all over again in this series of episodes spliced together and called "The Victors." The Liston vs. Clay fight pictures are being shown at 5:38 and 8:42 p.m. WW 2 is at 6:09 and 9:12 p.m.

RKO KEITH'S — Once again "Love with the Proper Stranger" is shown, about an illicit romance that has a happy ending. With it is "No, My Darling Daughter." Love at 6:20 and 10:18 p.m. on Saturday. No at 8:07 p.m. Friday, and 8:35 p.m. Saturday.

LOEW'S — Rossano Brazzi and Shirley Jones are in this mystery film that takes place in Italy. "Dark Purpose" at 7:40 and 9:35 p.m.

WOMEN'S BUILDING — The Student Union presents "Sunset Boulevard" starring Gloria Swanson, William Holden, and that Dagnet man, Jack Webb. It's all about an aging Hollywood movie queen who stages a comeback. At 8 p.m. Friday.

LINCOLN AUDITORIUM — Louis Krasner is the guest violinist and in the Syracuse Symphony's program that includes works by Berlioz, Berg, Barber and Beethoven. At 8:40 Friday and Saturday.

Parentthesis "Ten Nights" by Jay Zelermyer

Wednesday evening I attended a preview performance of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," given before a predominantly high school audience. The following is not a review of that performance. It is hopefully, an objective account of the evening's events and experience.

Inside the Regent Theatre everything is a part of the performance, as the play itself, in the style of the turn-of-the-Century Theatre. Hanging in the lobby is an effigy of the Demon Rum. On the walls are posters advertising soaps, hair dressings, and other items no 19th Century man (or woman) could be without. And there are charts, graphically demonstrating the debilitating effects of liquor.

Finally, but still in the lobby, are the Temperance Women, four of them, not very brightly attired, striking tableaux, and enacting the recitation of poems advocating temperance, such as "Strike it Down."

In the foyer one of the Serenity Sisters is singing a hymn to abstinence, or a lament to a drunkard, and song sheets are passed out, with the greeting, "Good evening, sir Won't you join us in a hymn tonight?"

The stage has also been pushed back sixty years: there are working footlights spread across its width, and a false proscenium has been created with the addition of a painted drape. The curtain is painted with the signs and symbols of local merchants.

Then the overture is struck up, nad after a brief temperance lecture and some community hymn-singing, the play begins.

It is, of course, a temperance melodrama, and the story is of a sot who swears abstinence and is, in the end redeemed. There is fighting and drinking, and card-playing and wooing, and pleading and murder. And virtue, that is, temperance, wins out in the end.

It would, I suppose, have been quite easy for the director and his cast to have been stylistically cynical, to have overplayed the overplaying that is necessary. But they have not gone overboard in their efforts.

Rather, the posing and posturing, the grand gesticulating and the slapstick, all seem functional and organic to the show. The director has taken his task quite seriously, as have the members of the cast, and what might have been farce remains solid melodrama.

And what all of this amounts to is this: everything is the way it was, the play, the theatre, the performance, the programs, the candy, the intermissions, sixty or so years ago.

When you go to the show, however, don't just go to watch, don't go as though you were taking a tour of a museum. Don't feel restrained: sing, boo, cheer, hiss all you like. For from the moment you enter the building, you are asked to join in the production, to get into (although I now hesitate to use the word) the "spirit" of things.. It isn't hard, and it can be more fun than a barrel of whiskey. Well, almost, anyway.

NOMINATED FOR 10 ACADEMY AWARDS!
INCLUDING: PICTURE!
BEST ACTOR!
DIRECTOR!

The whole world loves
Tom Jones!

ALBERT FINNEY, SUSAN WATKINS
NOW A Sinecure Theatre ECKEL

Syracuse Symphony
KARL KRITZ, conductor

Tonight & Tomorrow

LOUIS KRASNER, Violinist

Berg
VIOLIN CONCERTO
BARBER
BALLET SUITESOUVENIR!

Lincoln Auditorium, 8:40 p.m.
$1.50, 2., 2.75, 3.50, stud. 75c
Hotel Onondaga — 472-5293

Riviera CINEMA
3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. • GR8-4021

Special Return Engagement
ACADEMY AWARD NOMINEE
Best Film of the Year!

Lilies of the Field
Best Actor of the Year!
Sidney Poitier

AND Margaret Rutherford • Terry-Thomas
The Mouse on the Moon ★

PARAMOUNT NOW!

A SHATTERING ENTERTAINMENT EXPERIENCE!

THE VICTORS
CLAY FIGHT PICTURES!

Extra! LISTON VS CLAY
FIGHT PICTURES!

S. U. Drama Department Presents
"TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR ROOM"

Tonight, Tomorrow,
Sat. and MAR. 19, 20, 21

8:30 P. M.
$2.00 — $1.50

176-1536

UNIVERSITY
REGENT THEATRE
820 E. Genesee - Free Parking

Daily Crossword Puzzle

ACROSS

- 1 Precipice.
- 6 Sea duck.
- 12 Pithy truth.
- 14 Famous naturalist.
- 15 Fanciful thought.
- 16 Cops and —
- 17 Girl's name.
- 18 Delicious beverages.
- 20 Explosive.
- 21 Namesakes of a certain queen.
- 23 Godly person.
- 24 Rind.
- 25 Attorney — 2 words.
- 27 Us; Ger.
- 28 By itself; Lat.
- 29 Strangest.
- 31 Sausage; Ger.
- 32 "Rule Britannia" composer.
- 33 — chair.
- 34 Longchamp events.
- 36 Singers.
- 39 Felt concern.
- 40 Place.
- 41 Incline.
- 43 Frigg's husband.

DOWN

- 44 Stags.
- 46 Oriental title.
- 47 Estuary; Sp.
- 48 Long-lived reptiles.
- 50 Cuckoo.
- 51 Frog-to-be.
- 53 Cotton fabric.
- 55 Uplift.
- 56 Ancient people of central Italy.
- 57 Prefix used with "phonic."
- 58 Ardent.

13 For the reason that.

14 Over; Prefix.

19 Color.

22 Crusader's opponent.

24 Latticework structure.

26 Sent a telegram.

28 Football plays.

30 Ensign; Abbr.

31 Acquire.

33 Rooster's throat appendages.

34 Lament.

35 Daughter of Minos.

36 Short.

37 Lettuce.

38 Shiny fish lure.

39 Great conquistador.

40 Gay city.

42 Indians.

44 Exclamation of surprise.

45 Bristles.

48 — sure; 2 words.

49 Biblical land.

52 For; Sp.

54 Marble; Dial.

Aunt Jemima's Kitchen

Featuring

37 VARIETIES OF PANCAKES
SOUTHERN FRIED CHICKEN
SOUPS — SANDWICH — STEAKS

SERVING
BREAKFAST, LUNCH
DINNER
LATE NITE SNACKS

THE IDEAL RESTAURANT
FOR THE BUDGET MINDED
STUDENT

Eric Blvd. East
DeWitt
446-0388

HOURS
Sun - Thurs.
7 a.m. - Mid.
FRI. & SAT.
7 a.m. - 3 a.m.

Why is it leaning?

If you just ran a mile without stopping, would you be standing straight?

BIC is the world's finest writing instrument—writes on and on—yet it costs only 19¢. Only BIC is guaranteed* to write first time everytime. BIC's "Dynamite" Ball Point is the hardest metal made by man. Get a BIC, now at your campus store. BIC "Crystal" 19¢. BIC pens available with blue, red, green, and black ink. Made in U.S.A. *For replacement send pen to: WATERMAN-BIC PEN CORP., MILFORD, CONN.

BIC

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

Footprints Panel

Profs Discuss Integration

By SANDI EHRLICH
Junior Editor

School integration was the major topic at a panel discussion Wednesday night in Maxwell Auditorium.

The discussion followed the afternoon lecture of Dr. George J. Alexander, assistant professor in the School of Law, in which he traced the legal process of integration from the "separate but equal" doctrine to the Princeton plan.

Both programs were part of the Footprints Lecture series.

Participating in the panel were Professor Norman Balabanian, engineering; Associate Professor Byron Fox, Sociology; Assistant Professor Professor Linton Freeman, so-Fernando R. Molina, philosophy; Alexander stated that "economie considerations should and must determine if a school is racially imbalanced." He said that a district often must decide if it will spend money to improve the facilities in existing schools or if it will instead spend funds on integration. This would probably require special buses for travelling from one district to another to integrate a school.

Freeman said that he was not sure he'd "buy the judgement to save money by maintaining segregated schools." He added one must consider the disadvantages in good but segregated education.

In discussing the role of the court, Alexander said that court decisions in desegregation cases tend to be more influenced by legal considerations than by sociological ones.

The panel then answered questions from the audience for the remaining period.

Prof Appointed To State Post

Dr. O. Richard Wessels, Syracuse University College of Business Administration staff member, has been appointed as a consultant for the preparation of syllabi and instructional units in data processing. The appointment was made by the New York State Department of Education, Business Education Division.

GIT CONFERENCE

Anyone who is interested in being a discussion leader for the annual citizenship conference on Saturday, April 11, should contact Beverly Kaupa at ext. 2960 or Edward Haell at ext. 2022 for further information.

1. I just made a very smart buy. Would you like to hear about it?
You can see I'm all ears.

2. It's an item that will stand me in good stead throughout my life.
You don't say.

3. It guarantees security for the family I expect to have shortly.
Interesting.

4. It can provide money for my children's education.
Is that so?

5. It can pay off the mortgage if I die. Or make money available for emergencies or opportunities. Or provide a lifetime income when I retire.
Look, if anything was that good, a lot of people would have it.

6. Precisely. And over 11 million people do. Because I was telling you about Living Insurance from Equitable.
Tell me more.

For information about Living Insurance, see The Man from Equitable. For information about career opportunities at Equitable, see your Placement Officer, or write to William E. Blevins, Employment Manager.

The EQUITABLE Life Assurance Society of the United States
Home Office: 1255 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10019 © 1964

RECORD SAVINGS

REGULAR RETAIL	OUR PRICE
3.98	2.65
4.98	3.32
5.98	3.99
6.98	4.65

CORNER STORE
MUSIC CENTER

COMPLETE OPTICAL
SERVICE
EYEGLASSES FITTED
CONTACT LENSES

EASY CREDIT

1 to 24-HOUR SERVICE
No Appointment Necessary

BROKEN LENSES & FRAMES
REPLACED PROMPTLY

Open Daily, 9 A.M. to 6 P.M.
Mon. & Friday Until 8 P.M.
FREE PARKING—ANY CENTER

CITY OPTICIANS
211 E. FAYETTE ST.
CORNER S. WARREN
PHONE: HA 2-6088 SYRACUSE, N.Y.

MORE AND MORE MANAGEMENT SHOES need filling every year at New York Telephone. If you can fill a pair of these shoes a few years hence, we want to see you now. It's a young man's world at New York Telephone, because the communications business is growing and changing fast. Customers require more specialized services, custom-tailored to meet their needs.

We need young men with creative minds, good grades, and the courage to tackle tough problems. The liberal arts man will find New York Telephone the place to test his ideas, use his many talents and interests. Before you make up your mind about employment, let us tell you about opportunities that can lead to a well-rounded, well-rewarded future for you.

Call Mr. Peter Stark, College Employment Coordinator, in New York City, Area Code 212, 394-3663. Just call collect. Or see your College Placement Office.

New York Telephone
An equal opportunity employer

World Traveler

Mangone Directs UN Study

By SANDI EHRLICH
Junior Editor

"My suitcase is almost always packed," smiled Gerard J. Mangone, director of the Maxwell International Organization Research Program.

Also a political science professor and executive assistant to Maxwell Dean Stephen K. Bailey, Mangone has been overseas annually for the past 16 years doing research or professional work. He estimates that he has crossed the Atlantic Ocean 22 times on ships, and has spent about six months of his life on the sea.

The only place in the world that he has not visited is the west coast of South America, and he will leave for there in April.

Mangone will visit the United Nations resident representative and director of the special fund in eight Latin American countries during his six-week trip.

He will visit Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Peru, Colombia, El Salvador, Bolivia, and Mexico as part of the Maxwell International Organization Research Program. The program is part of a five-year grant by the Ford Foundation to strengthen and expand international programs.

Mangone hopes to visit alumni of the Maxwell Graduate School in public administration posts in Brazil and Columbia, an institute at Medellin, Colombia, which is part of the College of Business Administration at SU, and the Semester in Guatemala program.

GERARD J. MANGONE

"I've been studying Spanish six days a week at 8 a.m.," Mangone said. He is already fluent in Italian and French.

Two books by Mangone have recently been published, "Foreign Policy and Onondaga County" and "Foreign Visitors to Onondaga County."

Mangone said he is "concerned about the strengthening of the United Nations as an international agency for peace and security."

He continued, "The UN is becoming more and more important; it is one of the great hopes we have for preventing violence and for channeling resources from the rich nations to the poor ones."

Mangone wrote in an article for the Texas Quarterly, "If some of our friends in America are inclined to take our troubles out of the United Nations and compress them into iron alliances, they may find the world exploding in their faces. If, however, we give the fledgling world organization regular opportunities to discuss political and economic problems, a candid chance to work out differences of opinions, and the training needed for managerial competence, it will thrive and mature, with an ever-increasing potential for international peace."

Mangone received his A.B. from City College of New York and his A. M. and Ph.D. from Harvard University. He has taught at Wesleyan University, Swarthmore College, Yale and Princeton Universities.

He was a senior Fulbright scholar in Italy in 1954-55. He has been at Syracuse since 1957.

He has authored or co-authored nine publications and had articles published in many national magazines.

Ten Nights In A Bar Room

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

S	L	A	G	W	A	S	A	P	A	R	H	A
M	A	H	O	A	T	O	I	A	S	H	U	R
O	B	O	L	G	O	L	D	E	N	W	E	S
G	O	L	D	E	N	M	E	A	N	A	I	T
R	E	E	V	E	S	G	U	N	N
H	O	R	F	I	R	S	G	I	A
T	I	G	R	E	P	O	T	O	F	G	O	L
E	R	O	O	M	I	X	E	S	O	L	L	A
G	O	L	D	W	A	T	E	R	A	L	D	E
S	N	D	A	L	A	S	A	N	D
B	A	R	I	A	L	I	C	E	S
E	S	A	U	G	O	L	D	I	L	O	C	K
G	O	L	D	E	N	R	U	L	E	A	O	U
E	B	L	I	S	C	A	I	N	S	L	A	M
R	E	S	T	S	H	U	B	S	T	E	S	S

Tuesday, March 17th, olivetti underwood

an Olivetti Underwood Representative will be on campus to talk with graduate and undergraduate students interested in the following training programs:

Manufacturing & Service
Sales & Marketing
Finance & Accounting

For an interview, contact the Placement Director.

THE WORLD'S FAMOUS YMCA INVITES YOU TO ITS HOLIDAY PROGRAMS

Every facility for your comfort in one building—laundry, cafeteria and coffee shop, barber, checking service, TV room, newsstand and tailor. Reasonable rates: Single — $2.75 - $2.90 $4.40 - $4.70 double.

WILLIAM SLOANE HOUSE Y.M.C.A.

356 West 34th St. (at Ninth Ave.) New York, N.Y. Phone: OXford 5-5133 (One Block From Penn Station)

WELCOME TO NEW YORK

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "Rally Round the Flag, Boys!" and "Barefoot Boy With Check.")

A ROBE BY ANY OTHER NAME

With the Commencement Day just a couple of short months away, the question on everyone's lips is: "How did the different disciplines come to be marked by academic robes with hoods of different colors?" Everybody is asking it; I mean everybody! I mean I haven't been able to walk ten feet on any campus without somebody grabs my elbow and says, "How did the different disciplines come to be marked by academic robes with hoods of different colors, hey?"

This, I must say, is not the usual question asked by collegians who grab my elbow. Ordinarily they say, "Hey, Shorty, got a Marlboro?" And this is fitting. After all, are they not collegians and therefore loaded with brains? And does not intelligence demand the tastiest in tobacco flavor? And does not Marlboro deliver a flavor that is uniquely delicious? And am I not short?

But I digress. Back to the colored hoods of academic robes. A doctor of philosophy wears blue, a doctor of medicine wears green, a master of arts wears white, a doctor of humanities wears crimson, a master of library science wears lemon yellow. Why? Why, for example, should a master of library science wear lemon yellow?

Why, Why?

Well sir, to answer this vexing question, we must go back to March 14, 1844. On that date the first public library in the United States was established by Ulrich Sigafos. All of Mr. Sigafos's neighbors were of course wildly grateful—all, that is, except Wrex Todhunter.

Mr. Todhunter had hated Mr. Sigafos since 1822 when both men had wooed the beautiful Melanie Zitt and Melanie had chosen Mr. Sigafos because she was mad for dancing and Mr. Sigafos knew all the latest steps—like the Missouri Compromise Samba, the Shays' Rebellion Schottische, and the James K. Polk Polka—while Mr. Todhunter, alas, could not dance at all, owing to a wound he had received at the Battle of New Orleans. (He was struck by a falling praline.)

Consumed with jealousy at the success of Mr. Sigafos's library, Mr. Todhunter resolved to open a competing library. This he did, but he lured not one single patron away from Mr. Sigafos. "What has Mr. Sigafos got that I have not?" Mr. Todhunter kept asking himself, and finally the answer came to him: books.

So Mr. Todhunter stocked his library with lots of lovely books, and soon he was doing more business than his hated rival. But Mr. Sigafos struck back. To regain his clientele, he began serving tea at his library every afternoon. Thereupon Mr. Todhunter, not to be outdone, began serving tea with sugar. Thereupon Mr. Sigafos began serving tea with sugar and cream. Thereupon Mr. Todhunter began serving tea with sugar and cream and lemon.

This, of course, clinched the victory for Mr. Todhunter because he had the only lemon tree in town—in fact, in the entire state of Maine—and since that day lemon yellow has, of course, been the color on the robes of masters of library science.

(Incidentally, the defeated Mr. Sigafos packed up his library and moved to California where, alas, he failed once more. There were, to be sure, plenty of lemons to serve with his tea, but, alas, there was no cream because the cow was not introduced to California until 1937 by John Wayne.)

© 1964 Max Shulman

AD EVENINGS WITH
the Kingston Trio

Tues., March 17
War Memorial
Concert Circle
$3.50, 3.00, 2.50,
2.00
FAMOUS ARTISTS
CLARK MUSIC BLDG.

PEERLESS PRESS, Inc.
PRINTERS
1112 E. Fayette Street
Between University & Walnut
COMPLETE
PRINTING SERVICE
at your doorstep
GR 6-6051

PITCHERS ARE BACK

T-Bone

Steak $1.25

CLOVER CLUB

Steak

Sandwich . $1.25

Special Prices for Parties and Banquets

Corner Cedar and Almond

GR 5-9612

Today Californians, happy among their milch kine, are enjoying filtered Marlboro Cigarettes in soft pack or Flip-Top Box, as are their fellow Americans in all fifty states of this Marlboro Country!

Lewis Cites Struggle

(Continued from Page 1)
can flunk a voting test in Mississippi."

Lewis told of the indifference of Southern Negroes to the national elections. "They do not care who is elected President, but who is elected local sheriff." He noted that trouble begins on a local level.

Lewis then castigated those who sought to maintain the status quo by telling the Negro to slow down and that "everything will be worked out." These people, he thought, were indifferent to the whole civil rights movement.

He said that all people who were interested in the rights movement should contribute to

it. "But," he declared, "as we make our contribution, we must remain non-violent."

Lewis used as an illustration recent news article in which the Jackson City (Miss.) police had recently ordered new shotguns, a tank, and more police dogs. When questioned about the increase in weapons, the Mayor of Jackson said, "we are preparing for the summer."

Lewis concluded that the only real integration that he has seen "has taken place within the movement - within the struggle itself. This is not a war between black and white, but a war between justice and injustice."

JOHN LEWIS

Panel...

demonstrations to publicize these evils.

Zelmyer pointed out that it is difficult to determine the truth in civil rights issue in Syracuse, making it hard for the public to judge who is right.

Wiley answered that, while demonstrations have not been successful in making the truth clear to the public, the facts never got out at all before the protests started. "You don't have news media in this town that are geared to getting out the truth."

Lewis said that attempts to solve problems through laws and court suits are making little progress. He claimed that federal government is not enforcing laws such as the one prohibiting interference with constitutional rights by local officials.

FBI agents, he asserted, should arrest southern police who tried to arrest Negroes attempting to register for voting. Instead, he said, the agents, many of them southerners, stand by or cooperate with local officials.

Wiley declared that the civil rights movement is beginning to operate on a mass scale, as in the marches on Washington and Albany. By asking for legislative action on labor reforms, such as a $1.50 minimum wage and a study on effects of automation groups are coming to grip with basic Negro problems.

Lewis spoke out on campus issues related to civil rights. He said that by playing segregated football teams, Syracuse University is cooperating with the system of segregation, and this is "not a thing for a university to do."

Catholics Begin Annual Retreat

The Newman Apostolate of Saint Thomas More Chapel will hold its annual Easter Retreat this weekend. Retreat activities will begin at 4:05 Friday with Mass at Hendricks Chapel for all students.

Conferences for women will be held from 7:00 to 8:30 Friday evening and from 9:00 to 12:00 on Saturday morning. Conferences for men will be at 8:30 Friday and from 1:00 to 4:00 on Saturday.

There will also be a religious-social for men and women at 8:30 Saturday evening at Saint Thomas More Chapel. The conferences will also be held at the Chapel.

The Retreatmaster will be the Reverend Joseph Dorsey, dean of studies at Saint John Fisher

College in Rochester, New York. Father Dorsey will also preach at the 9:30 and 11:00 masses at Crouse College Auditorium on Sunday.

The retreat will close with a communion brunch at Drumlins. The guest speaker will be Sister Mary Paul, and entertainment will be provided by the Pompeian Players.

Tickets for the brunch are still available and transportation will be provided to Drumlins. The Newman Club and its chaplain, Father Charles Borgognoni, invite all Catholic students to attend.

DANZER'S RESTAURANT

"A touch of Old Germany"
German - American Food

- Sauerbraten
- Roast Beef
- Hot and Cold Turkey

"The Finest Sandwich in Syracuse"

912 Park St.
471-9031

Siegel's

173 Marshall Street
next to 7 Hour Laundry

Central N. Y.
Headquarters for
Theatrical Make-up
Revlon, Max Factor,
Rubinstein, Lanvin,
Channel, Coty,
Yardley, English
Leather, Clairol,
plus all
nationally advertised brands.

Complete Line of School Supplies and Stationary.
GR 8-9885

We Carry Garment Leather and Suedes in high fashion colors for making your own:

VESTS JACKETS PATCHES
SKIRTS SWEATERS COULOTTES

Leather is very economical (the cost of an average vest is approximately $6.50)

TANDY LEATHER CO.

353 E. Onondaga St.

HA 2-9184

PROSSERS

RESTAURANT and LOUNGE

Where STEAK is KING and the STEAKS
are KING SIZED

Free Parking For Dinner Customers
So. Warren St. at Harrison St.

TODAY

12:10 p.m., Episcopal Holy Communion, Chapel House.
3 p.m., WAA apparatus and tumbling, gym II.
4:05 p.m., Chapel retreat opening mass, Hendricks Chapel.
5:05 p.m., Lutheran daily devotions, north wing, Hendricks Chapel.
7 p.m., Chapel retreat girls' conference, St. Thomas More.

MINIATURE MIRACLE!
KEY BEAM
lifetime of light
... on your key!

Ends fumbling for keyholes, stumbling in the dark... squinting at theatre programs, road maps. Fingertip pressure does it. Key Beam becomes part of any key you own, fits your key ring or chain. The secret? World's tiniest lamp (developed for computers), wired with platinum... powered by costly silver energy cell. Thoughtful, welcome gift. Specify sky blue, white, black, or fuchsia with $2.95 check or money order.

Lifetime Manufacturer Guarantee

303 University Place

Tino's

RESTAURANT

FINE ITALIAN FOOD

pizza

ORDERS TO TAKE OUT

425 N. Salina Street

GR 1-9458

GR 1-9446

The BIRCHES

is

OPEN WITH EXPANDED FACILITIES

for

PARTIES, BANQUETS & RECEPTIONS
SPECIAL STUDENTS RATES!

Shoppingtown, DeWitt

Plenty of Convenient
Parking

Exotic Chinese Foods

— Takeout Service Only —

Free Delivery Sat. & Sun. Evenings

Special discounts for parties
full orders only

House of Chung

Mattydale

Call: 455-5266

Enjoy a Delicious Family Dinner at

CAROMA

Specializing in Italian Cuisine

Spaghetti, Monicotti, Baked Lasagna,
Ravioli

Also American Dishes

STEAKS, PRIME RIB

— Take Out Service —

402 Lodi

GR 4-2119

Free Parking

Chops and Roast Beef Dinners

TUBBERT'S

304 Court Street, Cor. No. Salina

"House of Gracious Dining"

Listening Pleasure at our Piano Bar

Fish - Frog - Steak - Chicken

WELCOME TO

SYRACUSE'S FRIENDLIEST HOTEL

SYRACUSE, NEW YORK
4 Fine Restaurants

AIR CONDITIONED
MODERATELY PRICED

including

- English Dining Room
- Cafeteria
- Cocktail Lounge
- Tap Room
- and the famous
- STEAK 'N' RIB ROOM
- Yates Roast Beef
- "Carved before your eyes"
- FREE PARKING

'Playboy Philosophy' Speech Set

The man who labels Playboy magazine "basically anti sexual," Dr. Harvey G. Cox of Andover Newton Theological School, will speak at 8 p.m. Sunday in Hendricks Chapel. His topic will be "Hypocrisy: A Critique of the Playboy Philosophy."

Cox is assistant professor of church and culture at Andover Newton Theological School. The magazine has named him one of the top six younger theologians in America today.

A series of articles by Hugh Hefner, on the Playboy philosophy of life, was instigated partially by Dr. Cox's article in the April 17, 1961 issue of Christianity and Crisis. Entitled "Playboy's Doctrine of Male," it says of Playboy and its imitators, "They are basically anti-sexual. They dilute and dissipate authentic sexuality by reducing it to an accessory, by keeping it at a safe distance."

Playboy appeals to the sexually immature, feeding on "a repressed fear of involvement with women," says Dr. Cox. It continues the comic book technique of interspersing pictures of muscular men and well-developed women with advertisements for muscle-building aids and foam rubber brassieres.

Dr. Cox has just returned from a year in Berlin where, as a Fulbright Fellow, he commuted daily to the eastern sector.

HARVEY COX

Chapel Roundup

EPISCOPAL
Sunday, 9:30 a.m., Gifford Auditorium, H.B. Crouse, Episcopal Holy Communion.
Wednesday, 5:05 p.m., Chapel House, Episcopal Holy Communion.
Friday, 12:10 p.m., Chapel House, Episcopal Holy Communion.
METHODIST
Sunday, 9:30 a.m., Bible Study class.
Sunday, 5:30 p.m., supper. The Rev. Paul Tatarus will speak on "Signs of Revival in Small Groups."
Monday, 8 p.m., Chapel House, class on Christian marriage.
Tuesday, 12:15 p.m., Chapel House, Diaconal Luncheon.
Wednesday, 7 a.m., Communion and Breakfast.
Thursday, 8 p.m., parsonage, Covenant Community.
CATHOLIC
Sunday, 9:30 a.m., Crouse College Auditorium, mass.
Sunday, 11 a.m., Crouse College Auditorium, mass.
Daily, 12:05 p.m., St. Thomas More Chapel, mass.
Daily, 4:05 p.m., Hendricks Chapel, Mass.
JULIEL
Today, 7 p.m., Hendricks Chapel, regular Sabbath Eve services will take place. The Rev. Norman Keim, Baptist Chaplain, will be guest speaker. An Oneg Shabbat will follow the services.
Saturday, 8:30 p.m., Flint Lounge, A Leap Year Twink will be held. Music by the Tradewinds, refreshments, and a door prize.
Sunday, 6:45 p.m., Rec room, Shaw dorm.

Dr. Ronald Tetter will be the guest speaker at the supper.
Daily, noon, Rabbi's office, classes and discussion groups.
LUTHERAN
Today, 7:30, 100 Berkeley Drive, open house will be held.
Sunday, 10 a.m., Chapel House, communion with coffee hour following.
Sunday, 5:30 p.m., north wing, Hendricks Chapel, buffet supper.
Sunday, following supper, 100 Berkeley Drive, program on the sketches of the Communion.
Wednesday, 4 p.m., Colonial Room, Lutheran Bible Study.
INTERDENOMINATIONAL
Preaching this Sunday will be Dr. Harvey G. Cox, Assistant Professor of Church and Culture, Andover Newton Theological School, Newton Centre, Massachusetts.
Wednesday, 7 a.m., north wing Hendricks Chapel, Holy Communion. Breakfast will be served following the service.
ORTHODOX CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP
Sunday, 6:30 p.m., Peter and Paul Church, 401 Hamilton Street, Forgiveness Vespers conducted by the Very Rev. Fr. Alexander A. Warnecke, OOI Chaplain.
Sunday, 8 p.m., Hendricks Chapel, lecture by Dr. Harvey Cox.
INTER-VARSITY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP
Today, 7 p.m., Hendricks Chapel Lounge, Easter Lin will speak on Christian Fellowship in Taiwan, IVCF camp slides will also be shown.

MELTZER'S SANDWICH SHOP

TWO LOCATIONS

• 516 Irving, cor. Harrison
Open 8 - 8

• Back End of New Tower Apts.
Open 7 - 9

Featuring

CORNER BEEF

• ROAST BEEF

PASTRAMI • HOT DOGS • CHOPPED LIVER

CHEESE BLINTZES • POTATO PANCAKES

Tel. GR 8-7978

We Deliver

Closed Sundays

WOOPS

WE GOOFED

RAIL FARE QUOTED IN WEDNESDAY'S AD FROM LONDON TO PARIS WAS ONE WAY — NOT RUND TRIP CHARTER PLANE GROUP FOR SU STUDENTS, FACULTY AND STAFF

For information: EUGENE BAILEY

STEVE KEHOE

GR 6-6097

F I 4 U

Friday

Saturday

"The Eldorado's"

"The Techniques"

SYRACUSE BLUEPRINT CO. INC.

GRUMBACHER
WINSOR NEWTON
PARATONE
ZIPATONE
RICH ART
ACS TAPES
AQUABEE PADS
STRATHMORE PADS
CRESENT BOARDS

ART
SUPPLIES

825 E. GENESEE ST.

GR 6-4084

slay at a

SYRACUSE TRAVE LODGE

MOTEL

SLEEPY SAYS:

Make Reservations Now Commencements

- Free phone or T.W.N. reservations to any Travelodge across the U.S.A.
- 130 spacious, air conditioned, soundproof rooms with free TV and AM-FM Radios.
- Simmons "Beautyrest" Mattresses.
- Easy access from all directions.

Central TRAVE LODGE Uptown TRAVE LODGE

454 JAMES STREET
(1 block from State St.)
472-6381

940 JAMES STREET
(Next to Corinthian Club)
For Reservations Call 472-6281

SAVOY'S BUDGET-STRETCHING MEAL TICKETS

"Eat wat ya want — when you wanna"

$$$10.75 for 10.00

at our cashier's stand

GO SAVOY

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

rates, Min. of 15 words.

1 day	1.65
2 days	3.15
3 days	2.40
4 days	3.85
5 days	5.20
6 days	4.55
7 days	5.85
8 days	6.45
9 days	7.05

For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 2 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. OR 6-3995.

ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lillian M. Potter 207 Comstock Ave. GR 8-8447.

TO BUY OR SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN: Sparge Motors, 1000 Hiawatha Blvd. W., 474-6007, is the place.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired, Rented, Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-8533. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

AUTO DRIVING — driving problems analyzed and corrected quickly and smoothly. Dual controlled cars furnished. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-3451.

DANCE LESSONS! Exclusive, inexpensive. All types, all ages. Fay Dance School, 1444 E. Genesee St. GR 2-0073.

GREYHOUND BUS TICKETS. Plane tickets, hotel reservations, foreign tours, car rentals. Fine Star Travel Service Inc. NOW in the MUSIC BOX, 754 S. Crouse Ave. Open Mon. 10-9. Tues.-Sat. 10-5. Dial GREYHOUND 5-0135.

EUROPEAN CHARTER FLIGHT — $240.50 — round trip New York to London. Guaranteed departure. Call Eugene Bailey or Steve Kehoe. GR 5-0135. SU students, faculty and staff only.

CHARTER FLIGHT to Miami for Spring Vacation. $79.40 round trip including ground transportation to airport. Special Package includes hotel room. $123.00. 5 Star Travel Service Inc. in the Music Box, 754 So. Crouse 475-0135. SU Students and faculty members only.

EUROPEAN JOBS — TRAVEL GRANTS for all students. Life guarding, office work, etc. For prospectus, application send 51: Dept. C, ASIS, 22 Avenue de la Liberte, Luxembourg City, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg.

RUSSIAN, Conversation and scientific. Qualified instructor. GR 4-4060.

MEDITERRANEAN CRUISES — Pongal, Spain, France, Italy, Balearic Islands, Corsica, Greece. $799 — 60 days. Swedish Schooner, Box 283, Seal Beach, Calif.

FOUND — Will the Bus Admin. freshman who was given ride from Syracuse Exit 35 to Rochester afternoon on Friday, March 6 please call Ext. 2316.

FOR SALE

1958 TR 3, Black, four new whitewall tires, wire wheels. Excellent condition. GR 1-9831. GR 9-5165.

A GREAT DAY FOR THE IRISH! MARCH 17, A very special Birthday to remember. Funny studio and serious cards. Corsairs, Shamrocks, and Flays. Paper Napkins. ST. JOSEPH'S DAY (MARCH 19th) GREETINGS. Bookwall, 147 Marshall St.

NEAR UNIVERSITY, 1163 Meadowbrook Drive, four bedroom colonial. See, make offer, owner. GI 6-5146.

WATCH AND jewelry repair. Easter and Passover cards. Gaubaud de Paris cosmetics. Gifts for all occasions. Free gift wrapping. Jeine Creme Bleach. Lavaliers. Syracuse University jewelry. Prince and Princess Gardner and Buxton wallets. Riviera sun-glasses. Ruth's Gifts, 734 S. Crouse Ave.

SHE'S A DOLL and she is really. "FRIEND", the most adorable replica out of any book. "A Friend is Someone Who Likes You." Irresistible! Only at the BOOKSTALL.

240 B. BILLARD BARRELL SET, $25 or best offer. Like new. GR 5-1076.

'63 SPRITE, black, white walls, wires, snow tires, radio, tonneau, luggage rack, 8500 miles. GR 6-8175.

AUSTIN-HEALEY SPRITE — 3 months old — all equipped — spoke wheels. Call GR 5-6654.

1930 FORD RESTORED, 5000 or best offer. NE 7-9664.

BRICK Colonial House — 4 bedrooms. Beautifully finished game room, gorgeous new kitchen. Call HE 7-8865. 1961 THUNDERBIRD, cream, excellent condition. GI 6-4025.

WANTED

PSYCHOLOGICAL testing dept. of Upstate Medical center needs men over 21 who do not wear glasses. Will pay $5.00 for series. Call GR 8-4133, ext. 40 before 5 P.M.

MALE GRAD STUDENT to share apartment with same. Call 478-8057 after 6 P.M.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students. BELLEVUE HEIGHTS, unfurnished 7-rm. house. Vacant. Fine location. $125 per month. Call owner. GR 8-1567.

3 Rm. apartment, furnished and heated, newly painted. University section, very inexpensive. GI 6-1741 or 446-8527.

UNIVERSITY SECTION — 120 Oakland St. Pleasant six room upper flat. Furnished, unheated. $100.00. GR 8-1257.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models, also sales and service, special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

S.U. GRADUATE, IBM electric typewriter. Will do typing at home. Call Miss Carey. GR 8-7168.

EXPERT TYPING, electric typewriter, thesis typewriters, theme's 458-0141.

EXPERT TYPING of term papers and thesis done at home. Phone GI 6-2999.

IS HUNT AND PECK for the birds? Make a better impression with the clearer impression of the IBM electric. Central location, reasonable rates. 478-6611, ext. 261. Miss Rapalaki.

WANTED — typing to do in my home. Many years experience. Call OL 2-2498 anytime.

"DIAL A LETTER," dial and dictate, no need to wait. Also thesis, manuscripts, and statistical typing. Prompt service. OL 2-5194.

Kramer, Hairston Stop SU

(Continued from Page 1)
ston scored wildly before he fouled out with four minutes remaining.

Box Score

SYRACUSE (68)

	FG	F	T
Penceal	1	2	4
Goldsmith	2	0	4
Richards	1	6	11
Duffy	1	0	2
Bing	11	9	31
Boenheim	1	5	13
Schoff	0	0	0
Nicoletti	0	0	0
Ableman	0	0	0
Murray	0	0	0
Vernick	0	0	0
TOTALS	23	22	68

NYU (77)

	FG	F	T
Kramer	8	4	20
McKenzie	4	2	10
Hairston	11	7	29
Fisch	0	2	2
Patton	1	0	8
Brown	0	0	0
Bennett	1	6	8
TOTAL	18	21	77

WRESTLING

WAER 88.3 me fm will broadcast the Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Championships at 7:00 p.m., Saturday, March 14 from Franklin-Marshall. Matches prior to the finals will be heard taped and the finals live.

Syracuse used a full court press as Orangemen dived, lunged, and leaped for the ball — always frustrated as the Violets maintained the edge in controlling play.

Syracuse closed the gap to 55-53 on the Norm Goldsmith jump shot with eleven minutes remaining. From then on SU was unable to get the big basket to bring them within reach again.

After Hairston hit for six straight NYU points midway in the half, Jim Boehm and Bing led a futile comeback attempt which fell five points short with six minutes remaining.

The teams then traded baskets down the stretch as the Orangemen were in their full court press. The Violets pulled ahead by eleven near the end on cripple shots.

The final total read 77-68. Chuck Richards was second high scorer for Syracuse with a below par 14 points. Chuck, amid the towering NYU forwards got off only eight shots from the floor. Richards, with Bing and Goldsmith shared top rebounding honors with nine each for the Orange. Hairston pulled down 15 for NYU. Kramer had eight.

The Orange hung on throughout most of the second half but couldn't seem to cope with their opponents height advantage.

The boisterous delegation of Syracuse fans present was continually drowned out by the highly partitioned hometown crowd.

Hill coach Fred Lewis used

11 men, freely substituting near the end in an effort to find a combination that would click. The Orange hustled all the way but on this particular night they were playing a better team.

For NYU, it's on to play DePaul Saturday night — for SU its back up the thruway.

The game ended, Syracuse banners were rolled up and SU fans filed out knowing that Syracuse University basketball would be returning to the Garden and post season competition in seasons to come.

Wrestlersto Defend Mat Title

Ed Carlin and his wrestling squad will be looking for their second consecutive Eastern team title as they begin two days of competition today in the Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling at Franklin and Marshall.

The team has a respectable 5-3-1 overall record, however, the Championships may provide redemption for a crew that many picked to go undefeated.

The Orangemen have dumped Ithaca, Navy, Army, Colgate and Cortland. They have tied Cornell, and they have lost to Lehigh, Pittsburgh, and Penn State.

Captain Dick Slutzky (157), Terry Haise (130), and Jim "Bo" Nance (heavyweight) are the leading SU contenders for individual honors. Slutzky is 9-0, Nance is 7-0 (with six pins), and Haise is 5-2-1.

Other Orange performers will be Ron Pritts, 123; Jim Murrin, 137; John Dussling, 147; George Reidener, 167; and Lew Roberts, 177. Barry Raichjin (191) is a doubtful starter.

Wrestlers

Syracuse University Wrestling Team, 1963-64
Front, left to right: Ron Pritts, Terry Haise, Jim Murrin, John Dussling. Back: Coach Ed

Carlin, Capt. Dick Slutzky, George Reidener, Lew Roberts, and Jim Nance.

Richards Bolsters Hoop Fortunes

"He's not as good as everybody says he is," an usher standing just off the basketball court was saying recently. "He looks awkward shooting and I don't think he's too well coordinated."

Then in the background a loud speaker blared, "And Chuck Richards leaves the game. He scored 25 points to night."

The usher did a double-take and scratched his head.

That man was talking about Chuck Richards, all right, but he had good reason to be fooled. Chuck, only the third man in Syracuse basketball history to score 500 points in one season, isn't the picture of finesse when wheeling and shooting for the basket. But, when you have the fifth best shooting percentage in the nation, looking like a ballerina isn't exactly necessary.

Against Connecticut Friday night Chuck scored 20 points, but had only four in the first half.

"It's all a matter of confidence," Chuck related. "I had that big 6-11 guy guarding me (Toby Kinball) and had him in my mind too much. But in the second half I said this ball is going to go in the basket and after that my shots started to fall."

Shots have been falling for Richards all season long.

"I think it's been a really fine season," the 6-8 junior says. "We have a very well balanced team and just playing with Dave Bing has made the season gratifying."

But the road that led Big Chuck to Syracuse wasn't straight by any means. After leaving high school in Poland, N.Y. to play for Manlius Prep School because "I wanted to play against tougher competition," Richards decided to pursue a career in the Army and spent his freshman year at West Point.

But one year at the academy convinced him that his future wasn't with the foot soldiers. He figured if he was going to transfer the best time to do it would be in his freshman year.

"I had plenty of offers from other schools and wasn't even considering Syracuse. I had to make my decision on Sunday and Mr. Lewis contacted me Friday."

Whatever it was that Fred said or did it was pretty effective because Chuck ignored his Sunday deadline, waited to confer with Lewis and a Syracuse admissions director, and decided to come to the Hill.

CHUCK RICHARDS

"It was a fluke decision," Chuck says smiling, "but I'm glad I made it."

Because a transfer student may not participate in athletics the year he transfers Chuck spent last year working with the frosh. He feels the year off helped him mature physically and the coaching tips he got from Morris Osburn frosh coach have contributed to his development as a player.

If Richards is glad he made the decision, Syracuse is even happier it made him the offer. When the season started cuse would be doing well to win as many games as it lost. But nobody figured on Chuck being a super-star.

When Chuck got that 500th point, he joined Dave Bing and Vinne Cohen in the magic circle.

"As far as I'm concerned though," Chuck says, "the whole team is in the 500 club. Without guys like Rich Duffy, Norm Goldsmith, and Dave Bing I never could have even come close to scoring that much."

Ironically Richards feels his personal high point of the season came when he wasn't even playing. It came against Miami in the Hurricane Classic. In the first game he had played with a 102 fever and by the day of the championship game with Miami his risen to 104. Lewis wouldn't let him play.

"I was lying in bed in the hotel listening to the game. When we fell behind 21-7 I got up out of bed, but the figured I had to play. So I next thing I knew I was on the floor."

"After the guys came back in the second half and then won in overtime, well it was just great. I sort of felt they won it for me."

He was sorta right.

To a man, they agree that their 86-85 overtime squeaker was their biggest win of the regular season.

The team with one fourth of their scoring punch in bed, had huddled before the game and decided to dedicate this one to Chuck.

Johnson May Visit 'Cuse

University Senate Hits Athletic Policy

By CAROL RUBRIGHT

A suggestion that Syracuse University "refrain from scheduling athletic contests with institutions that discriminate against Negroes" was made in a statement issued Friday by the university senate.

Chancellor William P. Tolley and Dean Eric Faigle, head of the athletic board, declined to comment on the statement.

The statement said that SU should "assert its moral leadership by publicly declaring itself to oppose intercollegiate competition with those institutions practicing racial discrimination."

The university senate is an academic governing body composed of 127 faculty members. The statement was made in reply to a Syracuse University Committee on Equality suggestion issued at the close of football season.

The senate also urges that SU "make a particular effort to schedule athletic events with integrated Southern institutions."

When Syracuse University participates in athletic events in the south, it should insist upon the integration of Negro athletes into all activities for competitors associated with these events.

The senate said that the university should change "existing in line with its suggestions. This suggestion implies cancellation of the scheduled football game with Virginia Polytechnical Institute (See Senate, Page 7)

Blood Drive Work Starts Tuesday

The American Red Cross bloodmobile will return to campus Thursday and Friday, April 9 and 10, for the second half of the university's annual blood drive.

Volunteers are needed to help collect information from students who are giving blood. A blood aide training program will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday in Shaw Dormitory recreation lounge for all students who would like to offer their services. Attendance is required at both meetings.

Last semester more than 700 pints of blood were donated by students. The 82 hospitals in Onondaga County which are recipients of the blood donated in the drive each use 250 pints each day. Student support of the drive is necessary to replenish the ever dwindling blood reserve so that in case of an emergency there always is enough blood on hand.

As last semester all students planning to donate must have a permission slip signed by their parents if they are under 21 years of age. These slips can be obtained from all living centers.

Signup sheets also will be available in each living center for students to indicate what time they wish to give blood. The bloodmobile will be open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Shaw recreation lounges.

For further information on the blood aide program contact Miss Slade, ext. 2259.

President to Dedicate S.I. Newhouse Center Early in August

President Lyndon Johnson may visit Syracuse University this summer for the dedication of the $15 million Samuel I. Newhouse Communications Center, it was learned Friday.

Johnson, originally asked to speak at the June graduation, is expected to attend the dedication of the complex, tentatively scheduled for some time in early August.

Vice President and Dean of Public Affairs Kenneth G. Bartlett said Friday that the President's visit is tentatively proposed for Aug. 2.

Final details and an exact announcement of Johnson's visit will be ironed out this week, according to University Vice President John F. Olson.

University plans had originally called for a speed up in the completion of the journalism building of the center so that the President might speak both at graduation and the dedication on June 6. However, prohibitive financial costs discouraged this plan, according to Olson.

The entire center, which will, when completed, take up the entire block surrounded by University avenue, University place, S. Crouse avenue and Waverly avenue is financed through a $15 million gift from Newhouse last year.

Newhouse is the owner of some 19 major newspapers throughout the country including both downtown Syracuse papers.

All American Presidents since Herbert Hoover have visited Syracuse University except Eisenhower. Hoover was on the Hill in 1937 for the dedication of the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs.

Panhel Announces New Bid System

Panhellenic has approved a new open bidding system which will be in effect from today until the last week of classes.

Under the new system all sororities which have not filled their quota may rush any girl who has registered for rush 1963-64 at the Panhellenic office.

Sororities will not have formal rush parties, a rusher may not spend more than $1 on rushees, and rushees may not be invited to any registered university function.

The open bid system, used on a number of campuses, is relaxed and informal, a Panhel spokesman said, and it may eventually replace informal rush. Continuation of the open bid system next year will depend upon the program's success this year.

If a sorority decides to open bid a rushee, Panhel must be contacted. The rushee must register with Panhellenic if she has not already done so.

Plowing

A university snowplow clears campus roads and sidewalks during recent snowfalls and their aftermath in Syracuse. The snowfalls caused disruptions in regular campus traffic, a library skylight to fall in, and more work for buildings and grounds employees.

South Asia Talk Slated

Myron Weiner, associate professor of political science at the Center for International Studies at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will deliver the third guest lecture in the South Asia series at 4 p.m. Tuesday in Gifford Auditorium.

Weiner will discuss "Political Change in India." Members of the South Asia seminar and club, as well as interested faculty, are invited to meet with Weiner at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Maxwell Hall Founder's Room.

From 1953 to 1955, Weiner studied and researched in India as a recipient of a Fulbright award and as a Ford Foundation Fellow. He has also traveled and studied in Pakistan, Japan and Southeast Asia.

He is the author of several books, including "Party Politics in India," "Politics of the Developing Areas," and "The Politics of Scarcity."

Blanchard Wins Fellowship

Robert Blanchard, assistant to Maxwell School Dean Stephen K. Bailey, has won a Congressional Fellowship award from the American Political Science Association.

Blanchard was one of 16 winners in the national competition. He will work in Washington, D.C. next year at a fulltime job in the offices of senators and members of the House of Representatives.

He will also receive a minimum stipend of $4,500 for the year. The program is financed by a Ford Foundation grant.

Blanchard received his masters degree in journalism from is currently a Ph.D. candidate School of Journalism.

He had five years of experience as a newspaper reporter before coming to Syracuse. He was a graduate assistant in citizenship for two years before becoming Dean Bailey's assistant.

The winners were selected on the basis of superior academic training and experience. Final selections were made by an advisory committee made up of top government officials, Washington newsmen and political scientists.

AWS ELECTIONS

City women students can vote in the AWS elections from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. today in the H.B. Crouse lobby.

A New Bay of Pigs

When Chancellor Tolley speaks of the university as being a farm for growing people he is speaking allegorically. But it becomes increasingly apparent that the university is also growing students with the habits of hogs and the manners of stampeding cattle.

The herd romped into Hendricks Chapel during the Footprints conference leaving a trail of refuse in every place but the containers appointed for material such as cigarette butts, used tissue and candy wrappers.

It is indeed unfortunate that Hendricks Chapel is the only large meeting place on campus. It was built for the purpose of housing worshippers and those associated with the practice of religion, and this should remain its central function. A lecture hall of comparable size is most necessary for a growing university.

But in the meantime Hendricks Chapel must continue to serve as a general meeting place. And those who want the continued privilege of using it for lectures and convocations had best keep in mind that it is available only because Dean Charles C. Noble appreciates the problem and is generous enough to keep an open house policy there.

Dean Noble has been patient to a fault with misuse of his chapel; he has the right to expect respectful, courteous behavior from those who use the building at his behest.

Hendricks Chapel is not a barn for the livestock which wander in off the quad.

New?

Editor's Note: The following was printed in an issue of the New Yorker magazine last year. It is reprinted here in case anybody missed it then. We will reserve comment.

We don't altogether understand the following conversation, but we reproduce it as a service to future historians. We got up early one morning last week, hailed a cab, and asked the driver to take us to the Yale Club where we had a breakfast appointment. "They still in business?" is what we thought we heard him say. We asked him to repeat himself. "They still in business?" he said. We asked him why he had inquired. "All you use to hear was Yale and Harvard, Yale and Harvard," he said. "You don't hear that much now." We asked him what he does hear. "Syracuse," he said.

The NIT

Those students who were in New York City for the Syracuse-NYU basketball game, as well as those who heard it on the radio here on campus cannot deny that the Violets were a better team on the floor that night.

They also saw eye-catching performances from NYU's Barry Kramer and Happy Hairston, as well as their own Dave Bing. The difference is that Kramer and Hairston are seniors, while Dave is but a sophomore.

Not until four minutes were left in the game did a senior walk on the court for the Orange. Several times this year Coach Freddy Lewis has gone the span of a game without a senior in his lineup.

This year's top seven scorers will return next year, to be joined by a bumper crop of freshmen. The Orange basketball story did not end on a Thursday in New York. It has barely begun.

DAILY ORANGE

Page 2

March 16, 1964

Editor-in-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS

Managing Editor Clayton F. Richards
News Editor Andrew Porte
Editorial Director Adair DuFire
Sports Editor Bernard M. Callum
Arts Editor Rea Turlet
Photography Editor Steve Schwimmer

National Adv. Mgr. Lynn Mandel
Classified Mgr. Christine Sedziak
Promotion Mgr. Stu Shapiro
Asst. Bus. Mgr. Jon Wesberg
Layout Managers Martha Johannek, Lilian Lahr

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 200 Brooklee Drive, Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter at U. S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N. Y.

The Other Side of the Rainbow

A Child's Guide

by Andrew Porte

See Dick run. Dick is a student. He goes to Syracuse. It is a school. Where is Dick running? He is going to class. Next semester Dick won't take any eight o'clocks.

See Jane run. Jane is also a student. She, too, goes to Syracuse. It is still a school. But where is Jane running. She is running back to the Mount. She has an afternoon date to go to TC.

Here is Jack. Jack is cool. Jack never goes to classes. He is taking Varsity 101. Jack is in his fourth year here. Why is he still a freshman?

There is Mary. She is an art student. She wears dungarees. Often, no socks. She eats in the Savoy. She studies in the Savoy. She makes phone calls in the Savoy. Sometimes she sleeps in the Savoy. Room there cost less.

Look at Tom. He is a student government leader. He is unemployed.

That is Fred. He is a BMOC. All the girls like Fred. He buys them coffee. He buys them beer. Fred knows everybody. Everybody knows Fred. Ain't that sweet.

Here is Joan. She is a sorority girl. She is not bigoted.

Some of her best friends are Negroes. The alumni of her house are openminded also. The Cohens have a Catholic housemother.

There is Ed. He is a Goon. He is full of pep. Nine-tenths of the time he is a Greek. He likes freshmen. He likes to dirty rush freshmen. Good ol' altruistic Ed.

See Sid jump. He is jumping all day. He is doing push-ups all night. Sid is a pledge. He is doing constructive work. Some day he will be a brother. Then he will help others to build character.

Here is Flora. She is a freshman. That is an excuse to be stupid. Someday she may be a senior. She will then have no excuse. She will then need lots of luck. Or she may get married.

There are Art, Al, Dick, Denny and Andy. They are geography majors. They want to see the world. They started at Watkins Glen. They ended in Jamesville. That's where the state prison is.

Here is Ralph. He is a football player. He is big. He is tough. Do not mess with Ralph. He is taking judo lessons. It is a three-hour course.

There is Leon. He is a medical student. He wears a white coat. He wears white ducks. He carries a stethoscope. He carries a thermometer. He drives a convertible. He is sicker than his patients.

See Sam picket. He is a CORE member. He wants equal rights. He wants integration. He has been arrested 12 times. He can picket with his left hand. He can picket with his right hand. He can picket with both hands. He learned all he knows in a sociology course.

Here is Sheila. She is a head resident. She loves to pass out late minutes. She holds the all-time Flint Hall record. She is not married. Better luck next time.

There is Pete. He is a fraternity man. He lives in his house. He eats in his house. He studies in his house. He believes in a well-balanced life.

See Sherman think. He is a business student. He is adding columns of figures. Next year he will learn how to subtract. He knows how to buy. He knows how to sell. He has traded his money for an education.

LETTERS

Party

To the Editor:

I'm standing in Kimmel Hall. There's voices: "Are you going to the Twister?" "Where is it?" "Up in Booth Hall." "Good, C'mon, lets go." The faces are eager, the front door slams and there is wet snow on the floor and silence. I leave too, and in a few minutes I get there. Booth Hall, and I hear music while I'm still out in the cold.

I'll be frank, I'm thinking of another university. It's big, and it's near here, and it serves beer for lunch in its campus eating places, and there are no drunks on the sidewalks or absent from class. Its senior girls have no hours, its boys can live in apartments and there's no moral breakdown or panic. Much less than here. Funny? Not at all.

And right now I am going to have a good time. Why do we go to a dance like this? To meet a girl, perhaps, to stand around and talk. To drink--well, a coke. Sometimes they don't have water here.

I go inside because I can hear voices. Some boys and a girl push past me at the metal room I see beyond the hallway and the smoky elevator is clean-lined sharp and simple. There's a band somewhere, I think, but I can't see it because of the wall of boys standing in the room. They're grouped around a small pocket of dancing couler, and sweating under a pall of dead, standing air and cigarette smoke and stares. Maybe it isn't such a small pocket of dancer, maybe it's a big pocket. Hope I can tell. I'm not seven feet tall, and I'd have to bend over the rows and rows and clumps of boys just standing and talking to one another and watch No girls. Ah, here's a break ing. What else can they do in the wall of sweaters and stairs.

There's no one I can talk faces flushed with lack of oxygen, going home.

I see where a couple of others wander among the bright cuspidors and unrelenting push of chairs. Where to sink in and be comfortable? Where could Hall and attempt to you lodge a romance in Booth judge the effectiveness of a of girls to boys I put it at one to twenty. No girls came to this Twister. Its called pep, I believe.

There's somebody else watching with me. A woman, an old woman, she sits on an orange chair. It's next to a bright yellow chair. She's impatient, she's a house mother, this her scene. The look on her face says it certainly isn't. More boys drift away; another couple pops out, gasping from the tight crowd. This is a joyless party, a twisted Twister. Finally, I find the band. It's down at one end on a thin spot in the crowd. Its a very electronic band, and I really am going to stay for awhile, right up close to the singer and the microphone and listen. I like this music.

I feel an invigorating push at my elbow. It's the housemother busily coming in past me, coming in to the band with a big eye on the university clock. She tries to yell over the din. She can't be heard, but her hand flaps a clear meaning: "Down, down, stop! Put it out, wipe this scene away. I mean it now! go away, clear out." The band doesn't dig it, but she snags a girl dancing by the drummer. She communicates. The girl gives a strange, competent trace of a smile. Her sorority pin is heavier than she is, and shinier now than it would look in class. She lays it on the singer behind the microphone. He sags to the wall behind him, and for a minute says a line about Cornell and a game, which I can't hear, because there's too much noise. Then he says "Goodnight" and the microphone drops. The metallic lights blast on full, and eyes blink. The party has been going for a whole hour. -It's moving.

The people drift away, but slowly, because some are still dancing, and some can't stop watching. What else had there been to do. Out in the hall, the smoky elevator surges full. "First load of characters going up!" I wander toward the door. I am thinking of parties and apartments and colored lights, and soft sofas, and girls and a sweetness, and records of the great rock and roll tunes on LP discs. Of bars near campus where stags can come in too, and see the jukebox and the dancing, and aren't penned out in front with their booze. I am also thinking of a person who was expelled from our university for over two years for trying to avoid living in a sterile dormitory. I'm glad you did that, housemother, I am glad you stopped the scene, even though this isn't why you did it.

Figuratively, like in the cartoons, I put the pistol to my head, and pull the trigger. I'm escaping, believe me, I am escaping. Goodnight.

C. H. Combs

Victory

To the Editor:

On March 10, in New Hampshire, the voters of the Republican Party listed an opinion, not only about the type of candidate but also about the type of policy and principles, that they support. Among the four leading contestants, only one man and his ideas suffered defeat, although he won second place in the preference poll (with almost all votes counted). Senator Goldwater, representing the conservative wing of his party, suffered a drastic and complete rejection. The people of New Hampshire, although tending to be more conservative than liberal, rejected him and his beliefs by over a four to one vote. When you add the votes for Nixon, Rockefeller, and Lodge, which are all votes for moderation of policy, the total vote is over four times that of Goldwater, the conservative leader. This repudiation of extreme policy, of policy which is too drastic and not thought out, of isolation from reality, of a stepping back into the past will be duplicated throughout the nation in future months.

Nelson Rockefeller will take the lead of the moderate-liberal groups because of this experience and obvious rejection of conservatism. The New Hampshire primary has been a regional victory for Lodge while being a national victory for Rockefeller. No matter how blurred this victory may seem, one thing is very clear and distinct. Barry Goldwater has been thoroughly defeated and the defeat of the conservative movement in relation to the Presidency is a clear fact for the first time in this election.

Bruce Kirschenbaum

Class of '65

Up in the Air

Number One

Carol Thorp

The vast wasteland is what critics used to call it. Television was fine if you had the mentality of a ten year old, or were just looking for laughs.

Television was condemned again and again for not taking up its responsibility as a communications media to keep the people informed.

Those days have now passed as television has emerged as the nation's primary news media.

Reasons for this triumph are many. The public has become aware that newspapers cannot always be trusted as they follow policies laid down by editors and publishers who may make their papers conform to personal prejudices.

News could be withheld or watered down. Too many papers still go in for sensationalism which does not carry an air of authority.

Television gained popularity because it gave the viewer a sense of immediacy, realism and limitless scope. Everyone could be an eyewitness to history.

Americans have a compulsion for conciseness and brevity. They want knowledge in capsule form for quick digestion.

Five or ten minute news shows fill this desire as only the most important facts are offered and can be quickly comprehended.

Newspapers must go into news in greater detail and take more effort on the part of the reader to understand current events. Most people are basically lazy and don't want to wade through a lot of type to piece together a story if they can get a summary of it in a few seconds.

Television can hold viewers' attention better as there is constant visual action. If a person can feel that he is actually present at an important event he is far more interested in the news coverage.

An example of this is the coverage of President Kennedy's funeral. Television was able to devote itself exclusively to bringing every bit of action to viewers, something that newspapers could not hope to do.

Thus viewers continue to think of television as the more reliable reporter of the two media. Facts have shown that 65 per cent of the people now get their news from television since the assassination coverage as opposed to 55 per cent before the President's death.

Another reason for television's rise in public opinion is that it has become a dominant factor in American life. It is much easier to relax and have information and entertainment fed to you than to have to seek it out yourself.

In its early days television was regarded as a moral problem contributing to juvenile delinquency and crime. This attitude has almost vanished from the public mind.

It has been surpassed by problems like segregation, false advertising and the elimination of prayers in school.

Now people are coming to regard television as a servant of the public interest.

This new view of television is the medium's reward for a rigorous campaign to make the viewer focus his attention on what is happening in his world and dispel the myth that television only deals in frivolities.

New summaries, analysis, known people like Edward R. Murrow and Eric Sevareid have given television an air of authority in the field of information programs related to the news have made people come to grips with social problems.

Riviera CINEMA
3116 SOUTH SALINA ST. GRB-4021

Special Return Engagement
ACADEMY AWARD NOMINEE
Best Film of the Year!
Lilies of the Field
Best Actor of the Year!
Sidney Poitier
AND Margaret Rutherford • Terry Thomas
The Mouse on the Moon

THE "BOOKSTALL"

147 Marshall Street
Fascinating Gifts, Fine Stationery, Fabulous Cards
38 Years by the Campus
Your Friendly Alumni Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow

Tuesday Evenings
Two Showings
7 and 9 p.m.

University
REGENT
Theatre
820 EAST GENESEE

TOMORROW

The Novel on Film

"CAMILLE"

(U. S. A.)

Tickets: Single, 75c
Series, $1.50

SECOND ANNUAL SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY FOLK FESTIVAL

MARCH 20, 21, 22, 1964

AN EXCITING ROUND-ROBIN OF CONCERTS, HOOTENANNIES, SEMINARS, WORKSHOPS, CLINICS, AND TALENT COMPETITION

—FEATURING AMERICA'S FINEST FOLK ARTISTS—

DOC WATSON JEAN RITCHIE THE GREENBRIAR BOYS
REV. GARY DAVIS GIL TURNER ROGER SPRUNG
THE SHANTY BOYS THE ALL-NIGHT SINGERS
AND MANY OTHERS.

YOUR FESTIVAL HOST

JERRY SILVERMAN

AUTHOR, PERFORMER, MUSICOLOGIST, ASSOCIATE EDITOR OF SING OUT

GENERAL ADMISSION TICKET FOR ENTIRE FESTIVAL $2.50

SPECIAL ADVANCED SALE - TO MARCH 18 ONLY - $2.00

FESTIVAL SPONSORED BY

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY
BOOKSTORES

FESTIVAL HEADQUARTERS

CORNER BOOKSTORE MUSIC DEPARTMENT
943 SO. CROUSE AVE. SYRACUSE, N.Y. 13210
PHONE 476-5571 EX 2008

TICKETS AND FULL INFORMATION AVAILABLE AT FESTIVAL HEADQUARTERS
AND AT FAMOUS ARTISTS TICKET OFFICE - CLARK MUSIC BLDG. SALINA ST.

100 LP RECORDS -- GUITARS -- SONG BOOKS WILL BE GIVEN AWAY

W A E R

88.3 mc

MONDAYS
4:00 WAER Highlights
4:15 Sign On, News
4:35 Experiment in Music
6:00 BBC World Report
6:15 Communique
6:30 Dan Stone and the News
6:45 International Report
7:00 Syracuse 164
7:10 Drama Workshop
7:30 Challenges to Democracy
10:45 The Late Night Report
11:30 The 4:10 Report
11:35 Contemporary Scene
11:00 The Sounds of Jazz
12:15 Headlines and Sign Off
TUESDAYS
4:00 Sign On, News
4:15 WAER Highlights
4:35 Experiment in Music
6:15 Communique
6:30 Dan Stone and the News

'Krapp's Tape' To Be Enacted

Nickel Theatre presents the Samuel Becket one-act play, "Krapp's Last Tape," 4:30 p.m. today in the Boar's Head Theatre, Machinery Hall.

The avant-garde play concerns an old man rumaging through his past in the attempt to rediscover himself.

Produced by the Ensemble Group, the play stars Richard Nathan in the role of the old man, and has been directed by David Hamilton.

Discussion will follow the play. Admission $.05, and coffee also costs a nickel.

S. U. Drama Department Presents "TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR ROOM"

MAR. 19, 20, 21
8:30 P. M.
$2.00 — $1.50

476-4536
UNIVERSITY
REGENT THEATRE
820 E. Genesee - Free Parking

Daily Crossword Puzzle

- | | | |
|--|--|--|
| ACROSS 1 Intent. 5 "___ in the Silly Night." 8 Australian state capital. 14 City on a Great Lake. 15 Nehemiah: Abbr. 16 Plains Indian. 17 Sublimity. 19 English poet. 20 1964, for instance: 2 words in Latin. 22 ___ Bank. 23 ___ generic. 24 Sioux. 28 Abstract identity. 30 Fuel. 32 Composed. 34 Former governor of N.Y. 36 Water sprite. 37 Hold. 38 These years. 39 Sault ___ Marie. 40 A security group: Abbr. 41 U.S. President. 42 Business degrees. 43 Alert: 2 words. 45 "The One-Hoss | 47 Panting. 48 Gypsy gentleman. 50 Dies ___. 52 Pulitzer Prize novel: 2 words. 55 New Zealanders. 58 Flight captains. 60 Burning: 2 words. 61 Johnny ___. 62 On the deep. 63 Novelist Sabatini. 64 Draft machinery: Abbr. 65 Mother of Apollo. | 10 John de ___, Scottish king. 11 Function. 12 Greek letter. 13 Big ___. 18 Lackluster. 21 Oxford, Ohio, university: Abbr. 25 Almost loses: Colloq: 4 words. 26 Santa ___. 27 Biological divisions. 29 Trifle. 31 Ancient Irish tenants. 32 Beverage. 33 Due. 35 Former. 38 Greenish-blue. 42 Conjugal. 44 Where Trieste is. 46 "Eyes" of beans, peas, etc.: Bot. 49 Place for a nest. 51 Florida bird. 53 Donkey: Ger. 54 Framework. 55 Morocco: Abbr. 56 Table talk. 57 Not working. 59 ___ Paulo. |
|--|--|--|

THE WARDROBE

Serving Hill Men for 42 Years
FORMAL WEAR — MILITARY OUTFITTERS
3444 Erie Blvd. East
Between Shoppingtown and Shopper's Fair
Parking at Front Door
PRESENTS

FLORIDA IS ONLY

$79⁴⁰
AWAY

Guaranteed Departure - Guaranteed Price

*S U Students, Faculty, And Staff Members
And Families Can Fly Non-Stop To Miami
For Only $79.40 Round Trip
Via Capitol Airways Super Constellation*

CONNECTIONS AVAILABLE VIA SCHEDULED FLIGHTS

Round trip tourist fare plus tax

Tampa	$29.50
Fort Lauderdale	5.00
Daytona Beach	42.10
Nassau	38.00

REMEMBER THIS FLIGHT IS OPEN TO STUDENTS, FACULTY, AND STAFF AND MEMBERS OF THEIR IMMEDIATE FAMILIES (PARENTS, BROTHERS, SISTERS, WIVES, CHILDREN)

HOTEL RESERVATIONS AND CAR RENTALS AVAILABLE

FOR RESERVATIONS AND INFORMATION:

Five Star Travel Service Inc.

"STUDENT OWNED AND OPERATED"

NOW IN THE MUSIC BOX

754 S. Crouse

DIAL 475-0135

"STUDENT TRAVEL THAT STUDENTS CAN AFFORD"

5 STAR & GREYHOUND DO IT AGAIN!!!

OUR SPRING VACATION SPECIAL

WITH EVERY GREYHOUND TICKET BOUGHT AT FIVE STAR (AND ONLY AT FIVE STAR) BETWEEN NOW AND NOON WEDNESDAY MARCH 25TH YOU RECEIVE A CHANCE ON A FREE TRIP TO EUROPE (Via charter flight for SU students faculty and staff)

SPECIAL EXCURSION ROUND TRIP

FARE TO NEW YORK $14 not available downtown

FIVE STAR HAS ARRANGED WITH GREYHOUND AND THE UNIVERSITY FOR THE FOLLOWING CAMPUS DEPARTURES ON WEDNESDAY, MARCH 25:

1:00 – Departures for Albany, Schenectady New York City, Rochester, Buffalo, Jamaica, LI and Yonkers.

3:15 – Departures for New York City, Schenectady, Albany, Rochester and Buffalo.

5:15 – Departure for Albany, Schenectady and New York City.

On Sunday, April 5, buses will return to campus from New York City, Schenectady, Rochester and Buffalo.

GO GREYHOUND THE NATION'S LOWEST COST FORM OF PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION

GO FIVE STAR AND WIN A TRIP TO EUROPE!!

FIVE STAR NOW HAS A COMPLETE TRAVEL SERVICE HOTEL RESERVATIONS – AIRLINE RESERVATIONS AND TICKETS – CAR RENTAL – EUROPEAN TOURS – WE HAVE $5 - $10 A DAY TOURS TO EUROPE.

FIVE STAR TRAVEL SERVICE, INC.
NOW IN THE MUSIC BOX

754 S. CROUSE

475-0135

OPEN: MON. 10-9, TUES.-SAT. 10-6

"STUDENT TRAVEL THAT STUDENTS CAN AFFORD"

Air Force Major Gets Degree

Maxwell Prof Visits Uganda

Persistence and patience were combined by Major Emanuel M. Abramson of Hancock Field, to fashion 10 years of night school into a master's degree in business administration from Syracuse University.

Major Abramson, chief of computer programming for the 26th air division, started work for the degree at Ohio State University in 1954. "At first, the work was to get myself out of a rut," he said.

"The degree itself did not seem too important until last year, when I realized how close I was, and then the real work started," he commented. Education just for the sake of learning is well worth the effort, he said.

Major Abramson did his work in the field of management information systems, with a research paper titled, "Committees: A Management Tool. He is a graduate of the City College of New York and currently lives in North Syracuse.

Viola, Violin Performance

Laraine Shapiro, a graduate student in the School of Music, will give a Master's recital on violin and viola at 8:30 p.m. today in Crouse Auditorium.

The recital program will include a "Telemann Concerto for Viola" by George Philipp, "Pocme" by Chausson, "Ives Sonata No. 4 for violin" and the Beethoven "Kreutzer Sonata." She will be accompanied by Calvin Custer and Lawrence Dennis.

Miss Shapiro is a student of Professor Louis Krasner and is working toward a Master of Music degree in Chamber Music. She is also a member of the Syracuse Symphony and has performed with the Krasner Chamber Ensemble.

Smart Major

Mrs. G. A. MINER of the basic education office congratulates EMANUEL M. ABRAMSON in a recent ceremony. Major Abramson was awarded a master's degree in business administration from Syracuse University.

Professor Bertram M. Gross of the Maxwell School has left for Uganda to help conduct a three week seminar on "Politics of Government Economic Activity."

This is a refresher seminar for English speaking political scientists in Africa. It is being conducted at Makerere College, Uganda by the International Political Science Association and UNESCO. Professor Gross will lead the seminar's work on national planning.

While in East Africa he will also visit with the National Planning Commissions in Uganda, Tanganyika and Kenya.

Dr. Frank Funk, chairman of the department of public address and director of the Discussion Leadership Center at Syracuse University, addressed 350 Pan American Airlines management personnel at Cape Kennedy. His speech, "Human Values and Communication", was presented at a meeting recently in Cocoa Beach, Florida.

the Kingston Trio

Tues. March 17 War Mem'l Concert Circle

$3.50 3.00 2.50 2.00

Famous Artists
Clark Music Bldg.

GR 1-0462

THE TRUTH ABOUT THE TRUTH ABOUT CHARTERED PLANES

In response to the full page list of assertions by R. J. Douglas, President and Manager of 5 Star Travel Service, Inc., we have the following response:

AIRLINE: The airline - Capital Airways is permitted by law to only run chartered flights. Therefore this is a non-scheduled and supplemental airline.

TRAVEL AGENCY: Our travel agency (Garber's Travel Service), is a United States agency and thus the patriotic Mr. Douglas need not be concerned with our gold reserves. Furthermore, Garber's Travel Service is the largest travel agency in New England, one of the largest in the East, and is one of the largest travel agencies dealing with student travel in nation. Obviously, then, travel is not a sideline for us either.

GUARANTEED DEPARTURE: For 5 Star Travel Service, guaranteed departure means this: The charter flight will take off whether or not the plane is sold to capacity. However, if the plane is not sold to capacity, the agency reserves the right, on penalty of the passenger losing his deposit, of charging as much as $460 for the trip. Whereas with us, if the plane is not sold to capacity, we give the passengers the choice of either paying an extra charge or cancelling the reservation with full refund.

GETTING TO LONDON: Round trip railroad fare from Paris to London is not $14.55 but rather $29.10.

EXPERIENCE: Despite any claims made in Wednesday's DO, this is the first International charter flight ever sponsored by 5 Star, whereas our agency has been responsible for the departure of hundreds of such flights.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION: Whereas our flight takes 6½ hours in the air, the 5 Star flight requires at least 13 full hours of air time. Swissair is a major, non - supplemental, scheduled airline for which even 5 Star has "the highest regard."

In conclusion we advise everyone to remember:

1. To deal with an experienced travel agency.
2. To deal with a reputable airline.
3. To be wary of ads or statements by inexperienced local representatives.

FOR INFORMATION AND RESERVATIONS CONTACT:

Alan Roth
Tau Epsilon Phi
GR 2-9486
478-4676

Chan Rudd
Delta Upsilon
GR 5-9048

TODAY
4 p. m. WAA volleyball, gym B.
4:30 p. m. Orange Pages, 110 Maxwell.
5:05 p. m. Lutheran choral vespers, north wing, Hendricks Chapel.

RECORD SAVINGS

REGULAR RETAIL	OUR PRICE
3.98	2.65
4.98	3.32
5.98	3.99
6.98	4.65

SU

Bookstores

CORNER STORE MUSIC CENTER

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

S	T	A	B	P	O	L	O	E	G	O	S
O	C	H	E	R	O	R	E	L	R	O	V	E
F	R	E	R	E	W	O	O	D	B	I	N	E	S
L	I	M	E	A	D	E	D	E	S	E	R	T
A	B	A	M	A	R	P	L	O	T	W	E	E
T	E	R	M	P	E	L	E	G	F	I	A	T
E	S	C	E	S	D	I	E	W	A	T	T	S
H	A	H	E	E	E	E	T	H	E	E	S
S	T	O	N	I	P	S	A	T	E	T	R	A
O	A	F	S	H	E	A	R	D	S	H	E	M
D	U	I	D	O	U	T	C	R	O	P	E	I
A	R	I	A	N	S	A	L	L	O	W	E	D
A	T	H	L	E	S	I	S	L	I	A	L	I	N	E
S	N	I	E	E	A	B	I	E	E	T	I	N	T	S
H	E	I	S	S	R	E	D	D	S	O	D	S

Food Meeting Attendance Low

Student interest in the improvement of food service bogged down last week when a scant 10 per cent of the membership in the Sims dining hall committee showed up for their scheduled meeting.

Opinion on the poor showing indicated that the students involved must be "satisfied with the service they are now getting — or only the responsible members showed up for the meeting.

Although representation was small, several agreements were reached at the meeting, stemming from previous complaints on the service.

No Injuries As Roof Falls

Ice and snow accumulating on roof of the Main Library has been labeled the cause of a broken skylight in the main reading room, Thursday, a security police spokesman said.

Heavy ice and snow resulting from last week's snowfalls caused the skylight to break at about 3:30 p.m. Thursday. The reading room was closed from then until noon Friday for repairs.

No people were injured.

Dr. Francis A. Wingate, vice president in charge of financial affairs, has arranged to purchase a portable "seconds machine," which can be brought into the dining hall proper for serving and to eliminate the long seconds lines. Announcement of the purchase was made by Ross Moriarty, assistant to the director of food service.

Moriarty also announced plans for converting the coffee urns to self-service dispensers, for "line-shortening" purposes.

Sims will also sport radio music during the meal hours, as soon as a proposed radio system is installed.

Personnel at the meeting stressed that with such a small percentage of representation at the meeting, little or nothing can be done about the "situation." The next meeting is scheduled for 3:15 p.m., Mar. 24, in Sims Dining Hall.

APPLICATIONS DUE

Sophomores and juniors on university scholarships are reminded that they must make out application forms and submit them to the financial aids office to retain the scholarships next year. Deadline for submission of the applications is Apr. 6.

Group Taps 4 Members

Sigma Tau Rho, men's professional speech honorary recently initiated four new members. The honorary, founded in 1948, chooses its members from School of Speech students with a minimum school cumulative average of 2.0.

The new members are Robert Feldman, Stephen Ross, J. Nelson Happy and Daniel Stone.

Feldman, a senior from Brookline, Mass., is program director of WAER. Happy, president of the School of Speech Advisory Council, is a senior from Lawrence, Kans.

Ross, a senior from Syracuse, is past news director of WAER, while Stone, a junior from Watkins Glen, is currently news director.

Senate . . .

(Continued from Page 1)

stitute next fall. In a letter to Chancellor Tolley last November, SUCE requested that the university sever all athletic ties with segregated schools.

In reply to the letter, Chancellor Tolley turned the matter over to the athletic board and said it was "free to take such action as it deems appropriate."

The athletic board stated in February that "We have scheduled teams in the past and may do so in the future, confident that fielding a fine athletic team sportsmanship is a good example for others to follow."

SUCE, having expressed dissatisfaction with the athletic board's statement, commented that it was pleased with the university senate's action.

An SUCE spokesman said that the committee is urging other ing student government, to issue similar statements.

Med Center Prof Wins Grant

Dr. Jerome J. DeCose, assistant professor of surgery and coordinator of the Cancer Teaching Program at the State University of New York Upstate Medical Center, has been awarded a $30,000 Markle Scholarship for a five year period from the John and Mary R. Markle Foundation, it was announced by John Russel, director of the Markle Foundation.

Dr. DeCose was one of 25 medical school faculty members in the United States and Canada who received an award in 1964. Candidates are nominated by deans and faculties of medical colleges. They are selected by committees composed of outstanding educators, business executives, and other professional men.

It is the purpose of these awards to support promising faculty members early in their careers, to help them prepare for positions of leadership in academic medicine, and to promote medical education and research. The awards need not be used for specific research programs but may be used at the discretion of their recipients.

Dr. DeCose, 35, was born in Valley City, N.D. He received his B.S. from the College of St. Thomas, St. Paul, Minn. in 1948, and his MD in 1952 from the University of Minnesota where he graduated.

LAST 2 DAYS
FOR DISCOUNT TICKETS
FOR
S. U. FOLK FESTIVAL

Make All Your Travel Arrangements Through A Professional And Reliable Travel Bureau

The UNIVERSITY BRANCH of the Syracuse Travel Bureau offers the following services at no extra charge:

- AIRLINE TICKETS to anywhere in the world
- STEAMSHIP TICKETS to anywhere in the world
- BUS TICKETS (Greyhound, etc.), U.S.A., Canada and Mexico
- CAR RENTALS in the U. S. and Abroad
- GROUP TOURS to Europe and the Near East
- CAR PURCHASES in Europe
- N. Y. WORLD'S FAIR TICKETS for $1-35
- STUDENT EMPLOYMENT in Europe
- PASSPORT and VISA Information
- EURAIL PASSES, ESCORTED TOURS

Please see us for all your travel needs.

We provide first class travel service at no extra charge.

UNIVERSITY BRANCH of the SYRACUSE TRAVEL BUREAU, Inc.

Upstairs in the Corner Store

Telephone 476-2178

SU Extensions: 2095 and 2096

Campus Classifieds

GR 6-5571, Ext. 2314

Rates, Min. of 15 words.
1 day	$.85
2 days	1.65
3 days	3.15
4 days	2.40
5 days	3.85
6 days	5.20
7 days	4.55
8 days	5.85
9 days	6.45
10 days	7.05
For each additional word over 15, 5c per extra word per day. Call between 12 and 1 p.m. Deadline 1 p.m. TWO days before publication; or mail ads to: Classified Dept., Syracuse Daily Orange, Prefab 7B, Syracuse University, Syracuse 10, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS

LEARN TO DRIVE easily, safely, correctly. UPSTATE AUTO DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 8-4040.

PRIVATE DRIVING LESSONS, automatic or standard shift. Full or refresher courses. Qualified professional instructors. Pick-up service. Auto Driving Academy. GR 6-3995.

AUTO DRIVING — driving problems analyzed and corrected quickly and smoothly. Dual controlled cars furnished. SULLIVAN'S DRIVING SCHOOL. HO 3-3451.

TYPEWRITERS—Repaired. Rented. Sold. Prompt attention. Call us any time. At GR 8-8833. SMITH BROS. EQUIPMENT CO.

ALTERATIONS DONE in 24 hours. Lilian M. Potter 207 Comstock Ave. GR 8-8447.

TO BUY OR SERVICE VOLKSWAGEN. Spague Motors, 1000 Hiawatha Blvd. W. 474-6007. Is the place.

GREYHOUND BUS TICKETS, plane tickets, hotel reservations, foreign tours, car rentals. Five Star Travel Service Inc. NOW in the MUSIC BOX, 754 S. Crocus Ave. Open Mon. 10-9. Tues.-Sat. 10-5. Dial GREYhound 5-0135.

DANCE LESSONS? Exclusive, inexpensive. All types, all ages. Fay Dance School, 1444 E. Genesee St. GR 2-0073.

CHARTER FLIGHT to Miami for Spring Vacation. $79.40 round trip including ground transportation to airport. Special Package includes hotel room. $123.00. 5 Star Travel Service Inc. in the Music Box, 754 So. Crocus 475-0135. SU Students and faculty members only.

EUROPEAN CHARTER FLIGHT — $240.50 — round trip New York to London. Guaranteed departure. Call Eugene Bailey or Steve Kehoe. GR 5-0135. SU students, faculty and staff only.

EUROPEAN JOBS — TRAVEL GRANTS for all students. Life guarding, office work, etc. For prospectus, application send $1. Dept. C, ASIS, 22 Avenue de la Liberte, Luxembourg City, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg.

FOR SALE

SHE'S A DOLL! and she is really. "FRIEND", the most adorable replica out of any book. "A Friend is Someone Who Likes You." Irresistible! Only at the BOOKSTALL.

NEAR UNIVERSITY, 1163 Meadowbrook Drive, four bedroom colonial. Sec. make offer, owner. GI 6-5146.

WATCH AND jewelry repair. Easter and Passover cards. Gaubaud de Paris cosmetics. Gifts for all occasions. Free gift wrapping. Jeune Creme Bleach. Lavaliers. Syracuse University jewelry. Prince and Princess Gardner and Buxton wallets. Riviera sun glasses. Ruth's Gifts, 734 S. Crocus Ave.

AUSTIN-HEALEY SPRITE — 3 months old — all equipped — spoke wheels. Call GR 5-6654.

240 lb. BILLARD BARBELL SET, $25 or best offer. Like new. GR 5-1076.

'63 SPRITE, black, white walls, wires, snow tires, radio, tonneau, luggage rack. 8500 miles. GR 6-8175.

NEW SUPPLY of Dormitory and Cottage name and address stationery in packets. Choice of four colors of paper, three colors of ink, two sizes of sheets. Bookstall.

NEW, EVERY MONDAY MORNING for the loverlorn—"missing you" cards. The Bookstall, 147 Marshall St.

1961 THUNDERBIRD, cream, excellent condition. GI 6-4025.

BRICK Colonial House — 4 bedrooms, beautifully finished game room, gorgeous new kitchen. Call HE 7-8865.

CAMERA — Leica IIIIf. latest self-timer model with f2 Summilux, 135 mm., tele., case, accessories. Spotless. Phone HU 8-4060 after 7 p. m.

denis interested call 492-1702, ask for Mr. Lovelace betw. 10 a. m. and 1:30 p. m.

MALE GRAD STUDENT to share apartment with same. Call 478-8057 after 6 P.M.

THE PSYCHOLOGICAL Laboratories of the Upstate Medical Center need female subjects to take part in an experiment. Will be paid $1.50 per hour for several hours. Must be right handed and 18-35 years old. Call Mr. Murphy. GR 6-3181, ext. 140.

WANTED — Ride to Kansas City area March 27-28. Will share expenses. A/Sc Mills. GR 2-9587.

RISE TO and From Campus, week days, 8:30 - 5, from 2400 Midland. Will pay. Ext. 2484. G. Richer.

FOR RENT

Not Approved for Single Undergraduate Students

3 ROOMS RECENTLY remodeled — furnished, heated, paneling—bus, light parking. $85.00. Call 478-4388.

3 RM. apartment, furnished and heated, newly painted. University section, very inexpensive. GI 6-1741 or 446-8527.

UNIVERSITY SECTION — 120 Oakland St. Pleasant six room upper flat. Furnished, unheated. $100.00. GR 8-1237.

BELLEVUE HEIGHTS, unfurnished 7-rm. house. Vacant. Fine location. $125 per month. Call owner. GR 8-1567.

TYPING

TYPEWRITER RENTALS. Late models, also sales and service. special student prices. Free pick up and delivery. THE TYPEWRITER STORE, INC., 220 E. Genesee St. HA 2-1457.

S.U. GRADUATE. IBM electric typewriter. Will do typing at home. Call Miss Carey. GR 8-7168.

IS HUNT AND PECK for the birds? Make a better impression with the clearer impression of the IBM electric. Central location, reasonable rates. 478-6611, ext. 261. Miss Rapalski.

EXPERT TYPING of term papers and theses done at home. Phone GI 6-2999.

PROFESSIONAL TYPING — Theses, term papers, etc. 20c per page. 463-8782.

TYPING DONE in my home. Electric typewriter. will pick-up and deliver. 463-2396.

College Capers at Mt Snow

Syracuse Vacation
Mar. 19 - Apr. 7

Special Rates
Mt. Snow Ski Weeks

The days are warm, the snow is crystalline and you are skiing, swimming, dancing, sunning and funning on the maddest ski vacation ever! 10 Double Chairlifts. Mt. Snow five day College Ski Special at your choice of 99 inns including Mt. Snow's own exciting Snow Lake Lodge. Week day budget rates include lodging, meals, entertainment, dancing, parties, heated outdoor sauna pool, ice skating, and much more, plus daily use of lifts and TEN LESSONS IN HARVEY CLIFFORD SKI SCHOOL. All yours to enjoy at the world's largest ski resort — MT. SNOW, Vt. Best Snow in the North East! New double chair! Mt. Snow's North Face for experts. Spring skiing at its greatest. Mt. Snow, Box 14, Mt. Snow Vt. Call 802-464-3333

Wrestlers Finish 3rd in Easterns

By RICHARD GOULD
LANCASTER, PA. — If football and baseball are games of inches, then wrestling is a game of seconds. For 8:55 top-seeded Terry Haise had complete control over Warren Crowe (Cornell). Suddenly Crowe reversed Haise and scored a predicament for a 4-3 decision.

With these five seconds of action, Syracuse's chance to repeat as Eastern champions faded. The six-point difference between first place that Terry might have gained and third place in which he finished would have given Syracuse 59 points to 58 points for now-champion Lehigh.

However, the Orangemen (53 points) turned in a commendable performance finishing third behind Lehigh and Pittsburgh (57 points) and producing two champions and three third-place men.

Terry Haise (123) was defeated in the semi-finals, but continued in the consolation round to earn a third-place berth with a 6-3 decision over Steenlage (Army). Ron Pritts (130) was decided in the preliminaries and was ineligible for the consolations.

Jim Murrin (137) rebounded from his semi-final round loss to capture third position with an exciting 3-2 victory over O'Korn (Pitt). John Dussling (147) was eliminated from the competition with a loss in the prelims.

Dick Slutzky (157) added to his successful season with four victories and an Eastern championship. The Orange captain easily decided Harley Ferguson (Lehigh), 6-2 in the finals.

George Riedener (167) lost two tough decisions to Lee Hall (Pitt), 3-2, in the quarter finals and to Pete Morgan (Navy), 5-4, in the second round consolations.

Lew Roberts dropped a 5-4 thriller to 177-pound champion

Gerry Franzen (Navy) in the semis, and then gained third position with a 3-2 win over Gwynn Vaughan (Army). Barry Raichlin (191) received a leg injury in the preliminary round and was unable to continue in the tournament.

Jim "Bo" Nance (unlimited) drew a lot of attention in his four matches. The defending Eastern and NCAA national champ decided Ed Sharer (Rutgers), 6-4, in the finals for his second consecutive Eastern crown and his 77th consecutive victory.

Individual champions are: 123 — Jay Windfelder (Penn State), 130 — Mike Johnson (Pitt), 137 — Wayne Hicks (Navy), 147 — Doug Koch (Lehigh), 157 — Slutzsky, 167 — Marty Strayer (Penn State), 177 — Franzen, 191 — John Gladdish (Lehigh), and unlimited — Nance.

Johnson was named winner of the most valuable wrestler award.

Jim Nance

Dick Slutzky

Baseball Squad To Battle Navy

By NEIL KERR and HOWIE SCHNEIDER

As the major league baseball teams go through the motions in sunny Florida (and Mexico), Ted Kleinhans' 25-man squad has been working out in the sunless confines of Manley Field House.

"We've been playing pretty bad," said coach Kleinhans. "But this is before the opening bell. The real test will come when the pressure is on, after the opening bell sounds."

For the Orangemen, the opening bell tolls in two weeks. On March 27 the team will journey to Annapolis to face Navy.

The team has been practicing for four weeks. Coach Kleinhans expects to cut the present 25-man squad to 18 players before embarking on the southern tour.

Kleinhans said that the only probable starters will be catcher Bill Burnett and pitcher Billy Cannon. "There are two or three contenders at every other position," he said. "I'll just have to wait and see."

At first base, sophomore Dick Haight, a converted catcher, has good power. Letterman Dave Rounds can play either first base or the outfield. At second base junior Bob Cohen is a good fielder. Sophomore Terry Marrs is giving Cohen a battle for the starting role, however.

"At shortstop Hal Rooney (Orange football player) is all by himself," said Kleinhans.

Three men are struggling for a first string position at third base. Senior Pat Lutz, letterman John DiBello and a sophomore transfer from Ithaca, Bob Maguire, are the contenders at the hot corner.

Backing up Bill Burnett at the catching spot is his roommate, sophomore Dave O'Neill.

Top candidates for the outfield positions are Billy Cannon, Dick Knapp, Dave Rounds, Dick Haight, and Rich King.

The pitching staff features righthanders Phil Schoff, Billy Cannon, Robert Langfeld, Steve Schofield, and Len Borkhuis. Kent Damon is the only south paw on the squad.

Last season, the team wound up with an unimpressive 6-8-1 record. But chances for improvement are good with many of last year's starters returning.

All-East

First Team—Wally Jones, Villanova; Willie Somerset, Duquesne; John Thompson, Providence; Bill Bradley, Princeton; Fred Crawford, St. Bonaventure.

Second Team—Steve Courtin, St. Joseph's (Pa.); Rick Kaminsky, Yale; Brian Generalovich, Pittsburgh; Barry Kramer, NYU; Frank Corace, La Salle.

Grieve Looks For Improvement; Team Practices For Opener

By JEFF LAZAR

With Spring only a week away, Syracuse track coach Bob Grieve has already started workouts in preparation for what he hopes will be a successful outdoor track season.

The indoor schedule turned out to be one of the most disappointing the Orangemen have experienced in quite awhile. The season wasn't completely lost, however, as the varsity salvaged a first and two thirds.

SU hopes had been bolstered and the IC4A Meet in New York City. He performed well as the leadoff man. However, the barriers suffered a tremendous loss when Brown injured himself during the New York AC Meet and was out for the remainder of the year. Dick Radune filled in admirably, but the team went downhill.

A disqualification and a dropped handoff all but ruined Grieve's year. "We had a few bad breaks here and there," he admits frankly. "But if I didn't look for improvement, there would be no future in this team. We always look for improvement."

The coach is working his boys at every opportunity, but the snow and ice has been an obstacle. As soon as it is gone, the team will work out in Archbold Stadium. Orange mainstays include Cal Evans, Ron Bukow, Billy Cihak, Mike Spino, Tom Higgins, Marty Miller, Dick Radune, and Dave Snipe.

There are about 30 freshmen who are working out now and Coach Grieve has expressed the desire to see some more boys come out. "The more the merrier," he says.

There are only five weeks until the SU outdoor track season is inaugurated with the Queens-Iona Meet.

The highlights of the season will come in the Penn Relays and the IC4A Meet in New York City. A triangular meet with Pitt and West Virginia should prove to be the most interesting home encounter of the 1964 outdoor track season.

Swordsmen

The Syracuse University fencing team competed for sectional honors over the weekend in the North Atlantic Championships in Paterson, New Jersey. Coach Alex Dako's squad finished the regular season, 5-5.

Syracuse Sponsors NASA Conference

America's space age plans and progress will be the subject of major attention at Syracuse University on Space Day, Monday, March 30, with a visit to this area by James E. Webb, administrator of the National Space Aeronautics Administration.

Webb will be the guest of Onondaga Congressman R. Walter Riehlman, a ranking member of the House of Representatives' Space Committee.

The nation's space chief will discuss his field with local industrial leaders, scientists, engineers, press and general public through a three-phased all-day and evening program.

Scheduled are a noon luncheon for specially interested educators, business and labor people, and a convocation at Syracuse with SU, Colgate and Cornell scientists at 3 p.m. in the afternoon in 104 White Hall. A Syracuse Press Club Forum in the evening will offer the public a chance to hear the NASA executive.

Administrator Webb is expected to cover also the challenges of space conquest, progress in the aero space sciences, and interrelated significances of space conquest for defense, scientific and human progress.

Webb will confer at a luncheon with a small group of area educational, business, labor and industrial people with special interest in the space program.

At 3 p.m. the special Space seminar has been scheduled under the auspices of Syracuse University, at which time the NASA head will probe the technical and scientific aspects of space with scientists, engineers, and other educators from the entire central New York area. For this presentation and the questioning period which will follow.

Webb will be accompanied by Dr. Robert Jastrow, Director of the Goddard Institute for Space Studies, a world-prominent scientist employed by the government for varied scientific aspects of the sophisticated space program.

JAMES E. WEBB

In the evening of Space Day, Mr. Webb will be a guest of the Syracuse Press Club at a 6:30 p.m. membership dinner and later at a Press Club News Forum at 8 p.m., which will be open to the public.

Syracuse University and other area institutions, through a variety of studies and grants and personnel assignments have been closely associated with NASA's operation.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration was born on October 1, 1958 as the result of an Act of Congress earlier that year to create a civilian agency to conduct an aggressive U.S. space program.

Webb was appointed NASA administrator in 1961. Long active in business and government circles, he was Under Secretary of the Treasury in 1946, and the same year was appointed Director of the Bureau of the Budget. He later served also as Under Secretary of State. He received honorary degree from Syracuse University in 1950.

His brother-in-law and sister, SU Professor and Mrs. Milton H. Williams, are residents of

Miss Tabakin Heads Guides

AWS Elects Kessler

JOAN MOORE

DIANE KESSLER

Junior Dianne Kessler was elected president of the Association of Women Students Monday night. The vote was 1,238 for Miss Kessler, and 981 for her opponent, Joan Moore.

Under AWS election rules, Miss Moore automatically becomes vice president.

Judy Tabakin was elected overall guide chairman over Myra Lampman by a vote of 1,231 to 713. Miss Lampman will become campus guide chairman.

The top six junior officer candidates were Rosalind Yuen, gaining 914 votes, Elaine McIntosh, 888, Laurie Sanderman, 794, Marty Rhea, 757, Jean Abbott, 751, and Lois Baker, 749.

The losing candidates were Larriane Jeffers, 681, Adele Clarke, 667, Patty Borger, 558, and Lynn Suto, 445.

The new AWS president, Miss Kessler, is an AWS junior officer, an assistant dorm council chairman, and vice president of Lambda Sigma Sigma, junior women's honorary. She is also a member of the junior class executive council, a majorette with the marching band and a member of Beta Theta Phi, philosophy honorary.

Miss Tabakin is a member of the Panhellenic executive council. (Continued on page 5)

LeMoyne, SU Start New Grad Program

Syracuse University and LeMoyne College have tentatively agreed to a program which would enable LeMoyne undergrads to earn Syracuse graduate credit.

The program is intended to cut down the time required to earn a Master of Science degree. The initial phase of the program, a practice familiar with an institution but rare between schools, would permit LeMoyne biology honor students to apply up to six credits toward an M.S. in zoology at SU.

A small number of students is expected to be allowed into the program in the fall.

Syracuse University officials praised the program, a LeMoyne conception, and suggested that it be extended to include botany and bacteriology majors.

The Rev. Cornelius Eller, S. J., dean of studies at LeMoyne, called initial letters of agreement between the two schools "historic documents."

He said that he is awaiting the time when students in almost all departments might earn graduate credits which will be applied to later study at Syracuse.

Students who take the special program and are accepted at SU grad school then may have six credits as partial completion of the M.S. LeMoyne has no graduate sequence.

There will be no actual courses taken on the Hill until the LeMoyne student has graduated.

LENTEN SERVICES

7:00 a.m. Holy Communion (Interdenominational) North Wing-Hendricks Chapel
12:05 p.m. Roman Catholic Mass-St. Thomas More Chapel (Daily)

4:05 p.m. Roman Catholic Mass-Hendricks Chapel (Daily)

5:05 p.m. Lutheran Holy Communion-North Wing-Hendricks Chapel

5:05 p.m. Episcopal Holy Communion-Chapel House

Inside Flint Hall

Dorm Has Established Traditions

By SANDI EHRLICH

Flint Hall has the only mailbox on the Mount. It is situated inside the door of the main entrance.

Other kinds of "male" tend to gravitate toward Flint Hall, however, and it traditionally has a reputation as a "swinging" social dorm.

According to Sue Ergang, a sophomore from Dayton, Ohio, "Boys tend to congregate here and loiter. The girls are always sidetracked when they walk through the lobby."

To give the female residents some privacy, Ladies Night every Wednesday is a Flint tradition.

Every Wednesday from dinnertime to curfew the lobby is reserved for women only. Men are not allowed in the building, and girls generally turn the lobby "into a huge study room."

On Friday nights, the recreation room is closed to men, and Flint residents may see movies or watch television there.

Flint, which was the first dorm on the Mount, opened in 1956, started an experimental program this year which may become permanent. Four upper-class women are "student assistants" to the head residents in the C wing of freshmen floors.

They provide "a liaison between the head resident and the student" and are able to have more contact with the students, according to Miss Ergang.

The students are Bette Leitman, the only junior, and Midge Chandler, Wendy Wriston, and Fredi Heinemann, all seniors.

They receive free room and board in return for at least 22 hours of work as a student head resident. The program will continue next year with four other student assistants.

Flint houses about 500 freshmen and sophomore women in two four-story wings. An underground tunnel connects both the Graham Dining Hall and Day Hall.

To assist the all-dorm student coordinator, Flint has a

(Continued on page 5)

Flint Hall

Black and White On The Field of Play

The Daily Orange is in full accord with the university faculty senate in its decision to stop athletic participation with segregated schools.

In principle, the decision is sound. However, the DO still maintains that the reasons brought up earlier this year by SUCE are not.

Since the university is one of the major football magnets in the nation, it should be Syracuse's place to set the norm and stop athletic contests with schools refusing to accept all men equal.

However, the premise that we should stop these contests because of the happenings at the Richmond game last year does not hold water. As you can't judge individuals in the same way, believing each person the same, so you can't judge schools in the same light. Every school has its own characteristic and every school must be judged accordingly.

To make the university a "shining example" is not only ridiculous, but impracticable. We are still dealing with men and not with inanimate objects. It will be our players who will have to bend because of others failure to see the senselessness of bigotry and intolerance. The "shining example" will not expand our prestige among other colleges and universities, as a champion of human rights and it might well hurt the image thus far built up.

The suggestion of the senate to participate with integrated Southern schools leaves a question of doubt. Although the idea is excellent, the question is how many integrated Southern schools will want to participate in athletics with SU and how wide would our choice be.

The Athletic Board of the university has thus far seen fit to ignore all requests on the part of SUCE, the students, faculty senate and even the Chancellor, who turned the matter over to them in the Fall.

Sportsmanship enters into the question, but more important is the problem of growing Syracuse image. We are no longer just a football school and although football reigns as king on the Hill for almost a full semester, we must consider the students who come to the university for a well-rounded education.

The problem is not uncomplicated. The university must stand by the students and those individuals who make the most logical recommendations. To play segregated schools, again in 1964, would be a rebuttal of the university senate, of the men who play for the Orange and the principles of the United States itself.

Blarney

The green beer will flow and the blarney will fly today as the Irishmen take over on this green March 17.

Let us as Orangemen bring out the shamrocks and wish our Irish brethren a happy Saint Pats Day.

The few sons of Erin on campus today will make a show of force with their Kelly greens.

So we wish all the O'Sullivan's and O'Reilly's. . . unless you're from Notre Dame, the best of shamrocks.

Page 2 March 17, 1964
Editor-In-Chief Allan T. Kort
Business Manager Stephen Moss

SENIOR EDITORS
Managing Editor Clayton F. Richards
News Editor Andrew Portie
Editorial Director Adair DuFino
Sports Editor Bernard MacCallum
Art Editor Rea Turel
Photography Editor Steve Schammer
National Adv. Mer. Lynn Mandel
Classified Mer. Christine Sedziak
Promotion Mer. Stu Shapiro
Asst. Bus. Mer. Jon Weisberg
Layout Managers Martha Johanski Lillian Lahr

Published Monday through Friday during the academic year by the students of Syracuse University. Offices located at 200 Brooklee Drive Fayetteville, New York. Entered as Second Class Matter at U.S. Post Office, Fayetteville, N.Y.

Guest Spot

Freedom

By Eric Benderson

Academic Freedom is a term commonly used to denote the ground rules for college teaching. In essence it allows a professor free reign over his classroom and his subject matter. Unfortunately, academic freedom along with many other things in the United States that contain the word freedom, have such emotional overtones that it is being used as a cover for the worst sort of injustices. This term has become so prostituted that its practitioners have come to regard it as an absolute.

Academic freedom has elbowed aside any effort by college administrators or department chairman to correct situations of teaching abuses. Who suffers from this? Of course it is the student body.

Syracuse University is no more negligent than any other university of comparable size. This situation pervades the whole American educational situation.

Any student expects to get only two dud courses a term if he is lucky. One teacher who has almost two hundred students in a beginning science course demands that all the boys wear tie and jackets. He goes to fantastic extremes. One boy was almost kicked out of an exam because he was wearing a sport jacket with no tie. Students were required to hand in a typewritten lab report every week. Some of these lab reports took all weekend to complete. At the end of the term they were informed that even though these reports constituted the most work they counted only one-seventh of the grade.

This of course is an extreme case, but there are many other examples that can demonstrate this state of affairs even more fully.

Last term, a professor teaching a social science course, who also happened to be the chairman of the department, was "so bogged down" in a research project he was doing that he failed to show up one third of the time. This wouldn't have been so bad if he would have sent a replacement, but the unfortunate students weren't even notified in advance when he would miss a class.

Only a few colleges have moved to correct the situation. Among these enlightened institutions Harvard and the University of Pennsylvania have perhaps been most effective. The method they have followed is quite simple. They have given the student body a chance to evaluate each course offered by the university in an appropriate way.

The University of Pennsylvania publishes what is known as a GUIDE TO COURSES. This little pamphlet is published every year and circulated among the students. Every spring 'evaluation sheets' are passed out to the student body and each person is required to evaluate the courses he or she has taken during the year. Thus, if some teacher is continually delinquent in some aspect of his teaching this is brought to the attention of the entire campus in an appropriate way.

This year's GUIDE, to cite just one example, termed the introductory political science course "a course in civics recommended for high school seniors."

Several students at Syracuse tried to start such a pamphlet. They got as far as a university vice-president before being told, politely, that Syracuse would have no part of it.

Dean Noble proposed that a separate issue of the Daily Orange be devoted to such an undertaking. This is still being considered. Meanwhile academic freedom continues to be abused.

LETTERS

Truth

To the Editor:

Today I heard on the radio the statement by members of the faculty saying that they were against Syracuse University's policy of participating in athletic competition with segregated schools. For this the faculty is to be commended. The administration replied by again referring to its ludicrous statement that we should not stop playing these schools but, rather, continue to set for them a "shining example of northern integration. I can not believe an intelligent administration can honestly be so naive, but rather that they are endorsing the system of segregation.

If I were a Negro football player I would be incensed with the university's policy. Clearly the only way to get action now is through the football players themselves. I have noticed at Ross Barnett's and John Lewis's lectures certain members of the team taking interest in civil rights. Do they propose to let the university continue to insult them while pursuing this outrageous policy? There is no course left except for the team to put direct pressures on the administration. I can not understand how the team can allow themselves to be put into a position where that we don't have the time to many members are exposed to direct insult and degradation.

Syracuse University is influential, being one of the top football schools in the country. Why not take a position of leadership, for once, and challenge the discriminatory system with which we play?

Rochelle Schwartz
Elayne Marcus
Class of '67

Suggestion

To the Editor:

Some months ago the Syracuse Chamber of Commerce sent a representative to a forum on integration problems in Hendricks Chapel. The representative was from the most "liberal" firms in the city; he was a dupe of the Chamber. He knew nothing beyond the attempts of his own company and he wallowed in the ignorance of his ideas thru the discussion. The members of the audience led a verbal attack on this person and the forum turned into a fry.

When Barnett arrived, 1400 students poured out of their dorms to see and touch this unknown species of Southern hayena. They got their show. He bawled about "meally-mouthed" liberals, spoke of water rights instead of civil rights, and mentioned "ouwa greaaaaat heritage of freedom" about six times. The questions asked again were mostly concerned with frying the speaker. Barnett's constitutional inconsistencies were destroyed to the delight of all; but to no purpose.

Both men were standing on clearly untenable grounds. They uttered obvious errors, inconsistencies, weak arguments. But in no case did the audience maturely by-pass these vulnerable spots and use the opportunity positively. That poor Commerce rep could have been made to understand his opposition, and perhaps to understand his own sad position, for what ever its worth. No one asked Barnett what it was about segregation that was good or desirable, as he must have thought. We could have explored that wretched mind to try and understand what makes it tick, and to see if non-political Mississippi minds felt the same way.

Instead, in both cases we had a party - we laughed at their open wounds. Somewhere, we should have stepped and not fallen to their level. Somewhere, we should have shown an understanding that both men so sorely lacked. Somewhere we should have tried to understand a mind, I fear, we know too little about.

Barney Sellers
Grad Student

Snow

To the Editor:

On the front page of Wednesday's D.O. (lower left-hand corner), there appeared the usual day-after-the-blizzard article. It seems to be the same one published in previous editions over the past winter. You state, in laudatory terms, what a swell job the snow-removal corps has done clearing the university parking lots during the night.

For at least the third time this winter, only after enduring much difficulty, exercising much more patience, and exuding still more profanity, was I able to gain access to a vacant snowdrift in the St. Thomas More lot. That lot, to my recollection, never has been plowed until several days after a heavy snowfall.

I doubt seriously that the condition of the parking area mentioned is unique. It seems to me that in order to maintain a consistent editorial policy, you should print a philippic about this matter, as you are wont to in other cases of (imagined or real) poor execution of university services.

Wayne S. Young
Class of '64

SU

To the Editor:

College students live in a vacuum unaware of anything except what goes in their immediate surroundings. Only a small minority of SU students look at a newspaper or a news magazine other than the DO. We are in college to learn profession so that we will be ready to go out into the world and cope with society and the world's problems.

How can we achieve this when we have only a slight idea of what is going on outside of the university society? This could be attributed to our own laziness or the fact sit down and read the New York Times or Time Magazine. Due to this fact we are suggesting that a summary, highlighting the week's news events, be included in the Friday issue of the DO.

Thank you.

Tina Pond
Class of '67
Sande Stockwell
Class of '67

LETTERS

The letters column is maintained for the expression of opinion by readers. However, the Daily Orange reserves the right to edit letters for grammar and good taste or to reject letters. Letters should be written legibly, preferably typed and no longer than 250 words. All letters must be signed with names and addresses; names will be withheld on request.

Et. Al.

Ars Antiqua

By Charles H. Barney

Through song and dance, painting and poetry Ars Antiqua explored the life of Lorenzo Dei Medici. Ars Antiqua, a Rochester group using Renaissance costumes and instruments, appeared at the Everson Museum Sunday as part of a special Museum Week program.

Lorenzo — the outstanding influence of the Florentine Renaissance — earned the title "the magnificent" since he was a patron of the arts and a polished artist.

In the spirit of Florence, a city of pageantry, the Ars Antiqua group marched in procession to the stage against a background of music by Heinrich Isaac. Gozzoli's Procession of the Magi was projected at the same time on a backstage screen.

All through the performance pictures of paintings and sculpture accompanied the music. Such spectacle, also including colorful costumes and 14 by 28 inch programs — compensated in part for serious shortcomings of stagecraft.

While somewhat tyrannical, the reign of Il Magnifico (the magnificent) was a creative reign. Whether in the poetry of Lorenzo himself — read by narrator, Joseph Baranowski — or the paintings of Mantegna and Masaccio, the individual expression of the Renaissance is evident.

The Florentines rallied behind Lorenzo during the Pazzi conspiracy. Lorenzo was nearly killed and brother Giuliano met death. Yet Isaac's music Pale, Pale (The Sign of the Medici) indicates support for that family.

When Lorenzo died, Isaac's music again preserves the close affection for the Medici with Quis dabit capiti meo aquam (Lament on the death of Lorenzo). Always the Ars Antiqua group enhanced its talent with instruments including a harpsicord, recorders, and a sackbut trombone.

