NOTES

Welcome

Rachel Feldman is a wellness momma and business success launch coach. Rachel helps her clients to build profitable and sustainable businesses so they can build successful business online and offline. After only earning 13K her first year in coaching, she knew she needed to learn how to create a sustainable business build with solid sales funnel. Rachel went from making 13k to 72k by years 2 ½ and then broke six figures in her third year business.

Today, Rachel teaches the same system she built her successful health coaching practice to other health and wellness professionals. She helped more than 8000, health coaches rock the biz to the next level with passion and profits. She works with coaches in her private practice and is the creator of the Done for you Programs for Health Coaches. She created these program for coaches so they could spend less time creating and more time marketing their business and brand. She knows the importance of saving time being a Mom and a CEO.

Rachel graduated from the Institute for Integrative Nutrition in New York City, Wild Rose Natural College of Healing, and International School of Detoxification and Natalia Advance Detox Certification Training.

Published in Florida Man and Woman magazine, Mind Body Green, Williams & Sonoma blog, and Ripe & Ready , among others, she's driven entrepreneur and spend her spare time teaching "How to create a profitable business" at Hippocrates Institute. Even though she's always on the go, teaching, speaking on podcast and summits, she makes time in her day for a green smoothie and chocolate at noon and cuddle session with her kids at night.
