The Difference in My Voice
By Michael Denson

My voice can be soft and peaceful, like a gentle wind blowing through a beautiful garden of roses.

My voice can be excited, like the sounds of people cheering, flowing through a crowd.

The tone of my voice can be stern, like an owner commanding obedience from its pet.

The tone of my voice can be nervous, like a person getting ready to speak to thousands of people.

It can be loud, like the mighty roar of a bear, moving toward its enemy.

It can be brave, like the courage of David’s battle against Goliath.

Proud of my voice. Not afraid to speak out, and speak up.

What does your voice sound like? Don’t be shy to share it with the world!
