

LV-14

Point Name: 期門 (qí mén) "Cyclic Gate"

Meridian: Liver

Element: Wood

Polarity: Yin

Peak Time: 1AM to 3AM

Location

Directly below the nipple, in the sixth intercostal space. Let the patient lie on their back while locating this point.

Local Anatomy: On the mamillary line, two ribs below the nipple, in the 6th intercostal space. This point is 6 cun above the navel and 3.5 cun lateral to GV-14, near the medial end of the 6th intercostal space in the internal and external oblique muscles and the aponeurosis of the transverse abdominal muscle.

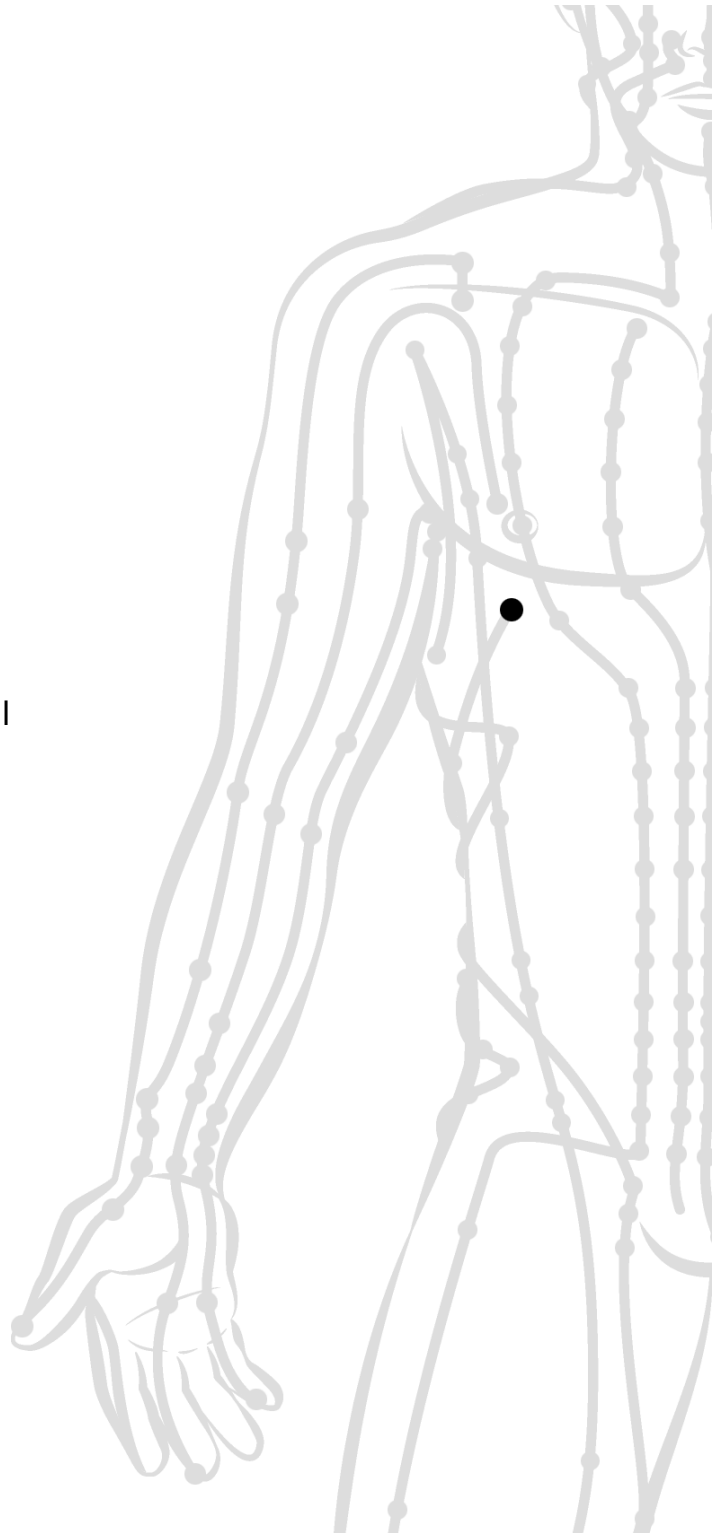

Vasculature: The sixth intercostal artery and vein.

Innervation: The sixth intercostal nerve.

Martial Arts Usage

- 108 Vital Point
- Dangerous
- Disrupt Energy
- Fight Ender
- Joint Manipulation
- Knockouts
- Organ Striking
- Sealing the Blood
- Sealing the Breath

Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM) Classes

- Alarm Point of the LV
- Exit Point
- Intersection Point of the Liver Meridian
- Intersection Point of the Spleen Meridian
- Intersection Point of the Yin Linking Vessel
- Meeting of the Liver with the Liver Divergent Meridian
- Meeting of the Liver with the Gall Bladder Divergent Meridian
- Origin Point
- Shokanten Point of the Absolute Yin: Pericardium & Liver
- Trigger Point of the Intercostals muscle

Attack Method: Obliquely 0.3 - 0.5 inch. Angle is 45°.

Description

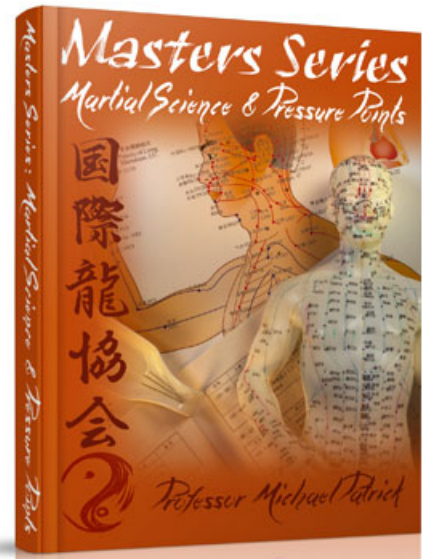

This point may cause mental problems and heart problems. It can even cause cardiac arrest! It can also cause the lungs to collapse, resulting in respiratory arrest!

The liver may also be made to stop functioning as a result of a hard strike. Even a light strike here will cause damage.

Knock out may occur immediately due to great energy drainage, even stopping the Qi temporarily. This point is one of the delayed death touch points.

The Source of this Information:

- Professor Michael Patrick of Dragon Society International
- Professor Rick Moneymaker, Founder of Dragon Society International
- Paperback: 630 pages. 8.5" x 11" 1.4" (3.9 lbs)
- Over 1,670 medical illustrations
- Over 80 detailed tables
- Over 100 photos demonstrating Kyusho Jutsu applications
- Over 30 special Pressure Point categories
- Western and Eastern anatomical illustrations
- Traditional Chinese Medicine principles and sciences
- Cross-reference of nerves, muscles, blood vessels, and arteries
- Main Meridians, Divergent Meridians, Connecting Vessels, Extraordinary Vessels, Sinew Channels
- Pressure Points for Healing, Knockouts, Joint Release, Attacking the Spirit, and more...

Visit www.dragonsociety.com to purchase or for more information.

About the Author:

Professor Michael Patrick

8th Degree Isshinryu Karate Black Belt
7th Degree Torite Jutsu / Kyusho Jutsu Black Belt
7th Degree Okinawan Kempo Karate Black Belt
7th Degree Tae Kwon Do Black Belt

www.dragonsociety.com

mike@dragonsociety.com

