"Holy Conferencing"

Every day it is becoming increasingly difficult to find evidence of Christ's love around us. Anger and feuding is crossing into platforms and onto stages that we are not accustomed to seeing them. Yet, with great distress, we as the church find ourselves in a position of great responsibility and opportunity. Regardless of where we think or believe on certain issues in our world, we are called to be a beacon of hope and a light unto the nations. The church has at no point been in complete agreement, but the church is at its strongest when people listen to one another. John Wesley believed strongly in "Holy Conferencing." He believed that in conversations with one another that we could hear the very voice of God. I challenge you this month to engage in conversations with those with whom you agree and disagree, and to dare to listen to them. You do not have to change your mind on anything, but show the love and respect to those that you disagree with that Christ would show them.
