

What Should Christians Do With Science?

- I. _____ is not an ultimate source of authority.
 - A. Science cannot be “unbiased” and is not limited to the physical world.
 - B. All science rests on the foundation of philosophy.

- II. Science and _____ can work together in a positive way.
 - A. Science and Christian Theology cannot be completely separated from one another.
 - B. A Christian who is a scientist is best primed to discover truth about the world through science.

- III. Do not automatically _____ or _____ to science.
 - A. Never submit the Bible to any other theory or “scientific fact.”
 - B. Do not automatically dismiss scientific discovery.

What Should Christians Do With Science?

- I. _____ is not an ultimate source of authority.
 - A. Science cannot be “unbiased” and is not limited to the physical world.
 - B. All science rests on the foundation of philosophy.

- II. Science and _____ can work together in a positive way.
 - A. Science and Christian Theology cannot be completely separated from one another.
 - B. A Christian who is a scientist is best primed to discover truth about the world through science.

- III. Do not automatically _____ or _____ to science.
 - A. Never submit the Bible to any other theory or “scientific fact.”
 - B. Do not automatically dismiss scientific discovery.