Why should I become a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach?

"The certification was foundational. It set the stage. It fed my Learner® theme. It helped me to feel competent and created credibility, and clients enjoy getting the credibility that comes from the certification. Gallup gave me an invaluable network of peers. They have been instrumental in the growth of my business. I love the different perspectives." — Becky Hammond, United States

"It gave me a tool that is more powerful than all of the others out there." — Alex Wong, Singapore

"I am a better coach as a result of the certification, and that has its own positive impact. Certification plays an important role in my ability to deliver quality services to really great clients. My growth is organic in nature, and in most cases, my footprint inside a company increases. That’s because I do good work." — Maureen Monte, United States

"As a paid professional development designer who attends numerous conferences every year, the professional development I received from Gallup was the best. The certification gave me a 'stamp of approval' that I did the work — that was important to me." — Carol Anne McGuire, United States

"It has brought a very positive slant to my coaching, allowing coachees to value their natural talents, identify how to aim them at specific challenges and opportunities, and leave coaching sessions feeling extremely inspired from the positivity of engaging around what they already do well. It’s also helped me develop business, as more and more clients realize the value and business benefit of focusing on strengths." — Andrew McLean, United Kingdom
It has accelerated my business growth significantly and enabled me to impact hundreds of people’s lives through coaching and workshops. It has helped expand my network, opening up more opportunities for collaboration, joint ventures and speaking opportunities. The Gallup name is respected across all industries, with clients connecting to the integrity and value of Gallup and its research."

— Murray Guest, Australia
From Coursework to Certification in Four Easy Steps

We take pride in our thorough and engaging process for becoming a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach.

We are confident that after you have completed all four steps, you will be able to effectively lead individuals and teams to the full benefits of strengths-based development.

Questions about any steps? Email certification@gallup.com.

STEP 1:
Complete Your Required Coursework

Learn how to be an effective strengths coach through Gallup's transformational coaching curriculum.

Choose from three learning paths:

• Complete the intensive Accelerated Strengths Coaching course.
• Complete the Successful Strengths Coaching course and the Coaching Individuals, Managers and Teams course.
• Complete the Successful Strengths Coaching course, the Coaching for Individual Performance course and the Coaching Managers and Teams course.

See pages 10 and 11 for more details about these courses.

STEP 2:
Complete Your Certification Application

Tell us more about you and your interest in strengths coaching.

From how you intend to coach to how you prefer we communicate with you, this is your chance to share your preferences.

Within five business days of completing your coursework, you will receive an email invitation to complete the brief online application and coach agreement.

See page 20 for the agreement and other legal considerations.
STEP 3: Complete Your Strengths Coaching Certification Exam

Test your knowledge of the concepts learned in your coursework.

Within five business days of submitting your application, you will receive an email invitation preparing you for the certification exam.

Your invitation will include instructions for taking the self-paced online exam and materials to help you prepare.

More details about the exam appear on page 12.

STEP 4: Collect Evaluations of Your Coaching From Six Clients

Demonstrate your strengths coaching abilities.

While your exam tests conceptual knowledge, these anonymous coaching evaluations help Gallup gauge your effectiveness as a strengths coach.

Congratulations!

You are a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach.

You are ready to join a community of coaches around the world working toward a common goal — to unleash the power of strengths in everyone they coach.

Once you have received a passing grade on the exam and evaluations that meet Gallup’s criteria, you will receive a two-year designation as a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach.

As a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach, you earn:

• a digital copy of the Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach logo
• your official certificate of designation as a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach
• access to CliftonStrengths development opportunities offered exclusively to Gallup-Certified Strengths Coaches

What are the greatest benefits of being part of the community of Gallup-Certified Strengths Coaches?

“Support. If I have a question, I can post it to the community, and I know that when I wake up, a solution will be there. You get unparalleled access to Gallup. I love the content like Called to Coach and Theme Thursdays and being able to ask questions live. You can tell the passion Gallup has for it.” — Carol Anne McGuire, United States

“The sharing and collaboration are amazing. It’s like having a bank of worldwide business experts and coaches on hand. If you have a query or problem, someone is there to help. The wealth of knowledge and experience is massive.” — Charlotte Blair, United States

"You are part of a worldwide movement — South America, Singapore, Japan, Mexico, etc. The community helps to support what I do, and Gallup is great at keeping us connected." — Keith Baldwin, United States

"There is a real abundance economy in the Gallup-Certified Strengths Coaches’ community, where members are so happy to share their knowledge, tools, insights, learnings and experiences to support the strengths movement. The community isn’t just a bunch of coaches; it’s a global group of leaders and strengths enthusiasts who are passionate about changing the people who change the world. People who want to help each other be successful and reach the goal of a billion people unlocking their strengths." — Murray Guest, Australia

"To be a part of the community gives you the chance to learn of different ways, tools and techniques to apply to your strengths coaching." — Alma Azuara, Mexico
The greatest part of the Gallup-Certified Strengths Coaches’ community is that 'we do not compete with one another, we complete and help one another.' I love it.

I have met some phenomenal people who have helped me as I impact the world with strengths. I have answered questions, provided suggestions or shared my experiences with other coaches. They are a wonderful, diverse and genuine group of people."

— Beverly Griffeth-Bryant, United States

Accelerated Strengths Coaching  4½ Days

Designed for those interested in a powerful, week-long immersion into strengths coaching

Based on more than four decades of the study of talents, strengths and success, Gallup’s Accelerated Strengths Coaching course provides you with an invaluable opportunity to understand and apply the principles and best practices of strengths-based development to advance your coaching and help your clients learn, grow, develop and achieve personal and professional success.

You will gain tools, techniques and invaluable experience to help you help others understand how they filter their world. And you will receive sophisticated insights to help your clients respond to situations, work with others, get work done and understand their biases and vulnerabilities.

You will learn to:

- apply your greatest talents in your role as a coach and integrate your strengths to become a more effective coach
- help your clients understand their talents and how to use them to produce results and reach their goals
- advise others on how to overcome obstacles, weaknesses and vulnerabilities
- educate your clients about how to use strengths to transform their relationships
- help individuals understand their unique strengths in the context of others
- provide managers with techniques for using strengths-based development to address specific team-related issues and challenges
- teach teams to discover, develop and use their unique talents for greater team engagement and productivity
PATH 2

Successful Strengths Coaching  2 Days

Coaching Individuals, Managers and Teams  3 Days

Designed for those wanting to spread out their coursework to allow for mastery of strengths coaching fundamentals

The Successful Strengths Coaching course provides unique insights into becoming an effective strengths coach. You will learn how to help others understand, apply and integrate CliftonStrengths results into their lives and work. You will also learn how to conduct the four core coaching conversations that strengths coaches should have with their clients.

This course provides you with practical approaches to assist in coaching others to find ways to use their unique talents and strengths to fulfill their goals, the demands of their role and other desired outcomes.

By completing this course, you will gain the knowledge and possess the foundation for becoming a strengths-based coach.

The Coaching Individuals, Managers and Teams course teaches you how to help individuals apply their greatest talents and strengths to enhance their relationships and improve their lives. You can help managers and teams incorporate strengths-based principles for greater engagement and performance.

During this course, you will learn how to conduct advanced coaching conversations with others to help them use their talents to manage the things that impede or restrict their effectiveness. You will also discover how to help managers and teams understand, apply and integrate their strengths into their respective roles.

Finally, you will learn how to facilitate small team sessions (up to 15 people) to help team members use their unique talents for greater team engagement, better team performance and improved business outcomes.

More Information About Completing Your Certification Exam

After applying to become a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach, you will receive an email from certification@gallup.com with information about:

- how to prepare for and take the certification exam
- how to collect and submit the six coaching evaluations

Your exam invitation will include:

- your unique coach ID (same ID used for the application)
- a study guide document and a link to a video designed to help you prepare for the exam; the video includes a review of key concepts from the course and questions submitted from coaches about the exam
- a link to the online exam

Certification exam details:

- The exam is not timed but must be completed in one sitting.
- You can reference any materials (e.g., coaching kits) during the exam.
- You cannot work with others to complete the exam.
- The exam includes 100 multiple-choice and true/false questions.
- You must correctly answer 85 or more questions to pass.
- Exam results are communicated as pass or fail; specific scores are not provided.
- Exam results are sent within five business days via email.

You are allowed to retake the exam should you not pass on the first attempt. An optional tutoring session with a Gallup strengths instructor is available. The instructor will go over the questions you missed on the exam to help you understand the concept(s).
More Information About Completing Your Coaching Evaluations

After applying for certification, you will receive information about submitting your coaching evaluations. To complete this step:

• Select six individuals to complete an anonymous evaluation of your strengths coaching abilities.
  - These should be people you have coached for a minimum of one hour, using their CliftonStrengths results.
  - These individuals can be current clients, colleagues, friends or relatives.
  - You can coach individuals on their top five or all 34 talent themes.
  - Gallup does not provide CliftonStrengths access codes to the individuals you invite to evaluate you. You are responsible for purchasing access codes for these individuals.
  - You do not have to wait to pass your exam to collect your evaluations.

• Email each individual the link to the online coaching evaluation; you will receive that link in your email from Gallup after applying for certification.
  - Be sure to include your unique coach ID, as the evaluators will need to provide your ID on the evaluation form.
  - Let your evaluators know their feedback is anonymous and to allow about 10 minutes to complete the evaluation.

Evaluation details:

• Gallup scores each evaluation on a five-point scale.
• Once we receive six evaluations containing your unique coach ID, we will provide your overall evaluation score.
• A passing score is a cumulative average of 4.0 or higher on a five-point scale.
• Coaching evaluation results are communicated as pass or fail; specific scores are not provided.

If you do not receive an overall score of 4.0 or higher, you can ask additional people to complete evaluations until your average score reaches the passing score.

After passing the exam and completing the evaluation requirements, you will receive notification indicating you have earned the Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach certification. Gallup will mail your certificate and a USB drive containing the Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach logo.
Questions?

The following are a collection of frequently asked questions about becoming a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach.

Can’t find what you’re looking for? Email certification@gallup.com with any questions you might have.

How long will it take to complete the certification process?

The certification process can be completed in as little as 30 days. The timeline ultimately depends on your diligence in completing the application and the exam, and in requesting others to complete the six required coaching evaluations. Note: You must complete the entire certification process within six months of completing the coursework.

Is there a certification application fee?

There is no certification application fee. However, Gallup does not provide the CliftonStrengths access codes for the six individual coaching sessions that comprise the evaluation step; those are your responsibility to purchase.

Why do you need my personal information on the application?

Like many professional certification applications, ours asks for some basic demographic information. Additionally, our application asks for your language and communication preferences, so we can better communicate with you in the future.

How should I prepare for the exam?

The exam covers the key concepts from the course(s), including the principles of strengths-based development, themes, theme dynamics and coaching principles.

Review the key concepts from the course(s) you completed. Refer to your learning journal and reference the learning resources provided in the other materials you received.
When is the earliest date I can take the exam? Can I take the exam immediately after I complete the course?

You must submit the certification application before taking the exam. Once Gallup processes your application, you will receive an email inviting you to take the exam at your earliest convenience. Usually, this occurs within five days.

How will my coaching be evaluated on the coaching evaluation form?

The coaching evaluation form is composed of seven statements focused on your coaching effectiveness. Raters will respond to each statement using a five-point scale. The coaching evaluation statements are:

• Overall value of the coaching session
• My coach understood my strengths.
• My coach and I generated insights that will improve my effectiveness.
• My coach helped me to see how my strengths impact my relationships.
• Afterwards, I immediately saw how my strengths increase productivity.
• The time I spent with my coach was a fantastic investment for me.
• I would recommend my coach to my closest colleagues.

How do I know how I am doing on the evaluations?

Once you receive six completed coaching evaluations, you will receive an email informing you of your results and next steps.

What tools can I use as a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach?

You can use all of the tools given to you from the course along with all tools provided through the various channels Gallup oversees for strengths coaching, including exclusive access to the Gallup Learning Series and the Certified Coaches Directory at Gallup Strengths Center. See the Copyright Guidelines inside the Strengths Coaching Starter Kit and the Coaching Managers and Teams Kit for full information on how to use the materials provided.
What advice would you give someone considering becoming a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach?

"Just do it — Positive Psychology is growing in the business world as leaders recognize the value in helping staff to identify and apply their natural talents and strengths. The training is excellent, the quality of materials you have to utilize with clients are second to none, and the ongoing support from Gallup makes you feel valued as a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach, and gives new opportunities to learn and grow your business." — Andrew McLean, United Kingdom

"You get so much great coaching information. It gives you a backbone, a structure for the coaching process. You don’t have to create a curriculum." — Ryan Haumond, United States

"I use to work with other behavioral instruments but the CliftonStrengths assessment is the one my clients are most happy with. The CliftonStrengths assessment is by far the best coaching supplement tool I’ve ever used. The biggest advantage with the CliftonStrengths assessment compared to other tests, in my opinion, is that it acknowledges that everyone is unique but still gives us ways to understand and talk about them." — Carina Kindkvist, Sweden

"Becoming a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach provides you with the research, language, frameworks and tools to grow your coaching business. The Gallup certification is well-respected and provides power marketing opportunities. I doubled the return on the certification investment within a couple of months, and I’ve helped over 500 people unlock their strengths in just over 12 months. I highly recommend this to anyone considering it." — Murray Guest, Australia
I believe in learning from the best.
You get to experience firsthand the incredible professionalism and deep subject-matter expertise that everyone in Gallup seems to possess.

Another important aspect of becoming a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach is experiencing confidence in your craft. Being certified, combined with lots and lots of practice and experience, will help take you to that next level."

— Maureen Monte, United States
Is there anything else you want to tell someone considering becoming a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach?

“I’ve been working with CliftonStrengths since 2005. I was previously 'certified' by a non-Gallup organization. While it wasn’t a waste of money, my Gallup certification experience was infinitely more rewarding. My Gallup instructors and speakers had a level of confidence that spoke volumes. Not only are the instructors and experts committed to our success, but I consider them my friends. It doesn’t get better than that.” — Maureen Monte, United States

“You get first access to the latest research, insights and data — the alumni networks.”
   — Charlotte Blair, United States

“It’s been extremely beneficial to me and can be extremely beneficial for anyone wanting to coach with a strengths perspective.” — Becky Hammond, United States

"It is life changing, believe me. If you are a strengths advocate, don’t hesitate. This certification definitely gives you all the tools for you to 'explode' this in your very unique way." — Alma Azuara, Mexico

"There is a real strengths-based movement in organizations, schools, communities, homes, families and lives. A movement that is helping people be the best they can, unlock their potential, build their confidence and let go of old mindsets that were holding them back. Becoming a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach provides you the real opportunity to be a part of this movement, make a difference and get real satisfaction from changing people’s lives significantly for the better." — Murray Guest, Australia
It’s the best investment that someone could make. If I could do it again, I would have skipped all of the other certifications I have and just do Gallup’s. It’s extremely individualized to who we are. Gallup gives great tools. You get to learn from the source. I love how it’s corporate-oriented. Other people are doing great things, but Gallup gives you the greatest credibility ever."

— Nicole Seichter, United States
Legal Guidelines for Gallup-Certified Strengths Coaches

Overview

As a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach, you embody Gallup’s powerful and important brand to those you coach. We take great care to ensure that Gallup-Certified Strengths Coaches accurately and effectively represent Gallup in accordance with the following professional conduct rules, which are part of our Product Terms of Use, our coach certification agreement and Gallup’s copyright and trademark protections.

Professional Conduct Rules

Gallup’s professional conduct rules describe the professional expectations we have of Gallup-Certified Strengths Coaches. These rules are part of the Product Terms of Use. For the full language, visit http://courses.gallup.com/producttermsofuse.

In your use of the content, any related strengths materials or the individual strengths of another individual for the purposes of coaching, training or consulting with that individual or an organization, you agree to conduct yourself in a way that reflects positively on Gallup and the content. The following professional conduct rules are the minimum expectations Gallup places on the relationships you create with individuals or organizations.

• You acknowledge that nothing in the product terms, the professional conduct rules or your work with strengths shall be construed as creating a partnership, joint venture, agency relationship or the granting of a franchise between Gallup and you.

• You shall not make any representations, warranties or guarantees to anyone on behalf of Gallup.

• You will not knowingly make untrue or misleading claims, and you are responsible for setting clear, appropriate and culturally sensitive boundaries.

• You acknowledge that CliftonStrengths® or BP10™ assessments are not validated as selection/hiring tools under the Uniform Guidelines promulgated by the EEOC, and as such, you will not use a CliftonStrengths or BP10 assessment as a hiring tool or for selection purposes.

• You shall not advertise, promote or suggest in any manner that the services you provide to individuals or organizations in connection with the strengths content are provided by or sponsored by Gallup, except to state that, if applicable, you have completed one or more Gallup Strengths Workshops, or you have successfully completed all requirements for coaching certification. Additionally, you will not claim that you are employed by, affiliated with or sponsored by Gallup.
• You will not claim to be a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach unless you complete the requirements to be certified, which includes successful completion of any required recertification programs.
• You will respect the right of the individual or organization to terminate the consulting process at any time.
• You will respect the confidentiality of the individual's or organization's information, except as otherwise authorized by the individual or organization or as required by law.
• You will obtain agreement from individuals or organizations before releasing their names as clients or references or any other identifying information.
• You will obtain agreement from any person you consult with before releasing information to another person compensating you.
• You will accurately create, maintain, store and dispose of any records of work done in relation to the practice of consulting in a way that promotes confidentiality and complies with any applicable laws.
• Your use of the content shall not harm the reputation of Gallup or the content.
• You must notify all participants in writing of Gallup's trademarks. A complete listing of Gallup's trademarks can be found at http://courses.gallup.com/trademarks.
• You must notify all participants in writing that you and your company are not authorized representatives of Gallup, and you must include the following text in any non-Gallup material:

  The non-Gallup information you are receiving has not been approved and is not sanctioned or endorsed by Gallup in any way. Opinions, views and interpretations of CliftonStrengths or BP10 results are solely the beliefs of [Insert Name of Company or Individual].

Coach Certification Agreement

The coach certification agreement describes the terms of your agreement with Gallup as a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach. The current version of the agreement can be found at https://www.gallupstrengthscenter.com/Home/en_us/Agreement.

Gallup’s strengths-based products and materials, including the Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach logo and any materials developed exclusively for the Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach program (“the Materials”) are offered as a service of Gallup and were created to enable everyone to discover, develop and apply their strengths in every aspect of their lives. Gallup has chosen to make the Materials more broadly available through education and providing training for independent coaches. This training will allow coaches to incorporate the Materials into their services and achieve Gallup-Certified status. Your use of the Materials is governed by this agreement and the Purchase and Use Terms located at https://www.gallupstrengthscenter.com/Home/en-US/Agreement. You should not use the Materials if those terms and this agreement are unacceptable to you.
Unleash the Power of CliftonStrengths®

You are required to sign and commit to comply with the terms of this agreement including but not limited to protecting the contents of the Materials being provided during this training session.

1) Gallup will train, certify and recertify you (“Coach”) as a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach in the methods and procedures involved; upon the condition that Coach abides by the terms of this agreement.

2) Eligibility for certification is based on successfully completing the educational and other requirements provided in the certification program. Upon completion of all required educational elements, Coach has one year to complete all other steps required for certification. Should Coach fail to complete all certification elements during this period, Coach must restart the certification process from the beginning.

3) All Materials are copyrighted and absent written permission from Gallup, may only be used as provided in Purchase and Use Terms. Should Coach observe any violation of the Purchase and Use Terms, Coach shall report such violation to Gallup.

4) Coach must be recertified every two years in order to use the Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach logo. If Coach fails to recertify within 24 months after the most recent certification, Coach shall cease marketing as a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach until such time as Coach has been recertified by Gallup and shall notify all clients to whom they are currently providing strengths services that they are no longer certified as a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach.

5) As long as Coach has valid certification, Coach will be entitled to use the Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach logo, in accordance with the Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach Logo Visual Identity Guidelines.

6) Coach’s right to use the Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach logo automatically terminates if Coach violates any provision of this agreement or the Purchase and Use Terms. In this event, Coach must remove the Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach logo from all marketing materials and communications immediately.

7) Gallup is not responsible for the financial viability of Coach, and as such Gallup has no responsibility or obligation to generate business leads, participation or revenue for Coach under this agreement.

Recertification date: Shall be on or before the two-year anniversary date of your most recent certification.

Gallup-Certified Strengths Coaching Trademark and Copyright Guidelines

Your status as a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach provides a variety of benefits and obligations when it comes to the use of Gallup intellectual property. Upon completion of the requirements for certification, you may:

• Identify yourself as a “Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach” on your business cards, website, social media, promotional materials, and other documentation.

• Use the official “Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach” logo, in accordance with the Logo Visual Identity Guidelines, so long as you maintain your ongoing certification.
• Make copies of certain Gallup® materials for use in your coaching that are specifically designated to be copied, such as those found on the portable media device (USB drive) included with physical copies of coaching kits or the downloadable resources from digital kits. These materials are only meant to be reproduced with individuals you are actually coaching. For example, these materials may not be mass produced and distributed within a large company where you are not coaching each individual that receives the materials. You may only reproduce the materials for individuals you are personally coaching.

• Use the generic term “Strengths” in your company name, trademarks, materials, and websites.

• Provide links to Gallup® webpages on your website.

• Provide biographical information to Gallup® in order to be listed in Gallup’s online directory of certified coaches. However, Gallup® does not provide this listing as anything other than a courtesy and does not represent this listing shall lead to any business.

There are specific limitations to your use of Gallup® and Gallup’s intellectual property. For your convenience, we have outlined some of the most relevant guidelines below:

• Use of any of Gallup® trademarks requires an executed licensing agreement with Gallup®.

• Reference to Gallup®, StrengthsFinder®, CliftonStrengths®, or other Gallup® trademarks must be used for only factual or descriptive purposes – for example, you cannot incorporate any of these terms in your business name, website domain, or to imply association with Gallup® in any way beyond your certified coaching status.

• You may not use Gallup’s name or trademarks to market or promote your own books, websites, or any other materials. For example, you may not put a statement on your materials that they are “based on” or “from” Gallup’s StrengthsFinder® assessment.

• You cannot use terms associated with Gallup®, CliftonStrengths®, StrengthsFinder® or other Gallup® trademarks in your business name or website domain. For example, you may not name your business “Clifton Strengths Coaching” or use “StrengthsFinder” in a domain name.

• You may not call yourself a partner or employee of Gallup®, nor may you say you are affiliated or sponsored by Gallup®.

• You may not design your website, books, or other materials to look and feel like official Gallup® property by incorporating colors and font which are too similar to Gallup’s websites, books, or other Gallup® materials.

• You may not reproduce any Gallup® materials not specifically designated to be reproduced.

• You may not incorporate, integrate, or “repackage” any of Gallup’s materials into your own materials. For example, you may not incorporate the items designated to be reproduced or copied from your Gallup® coaching materials into a workbook containing materials that you have created. All published material of Gallup® is protected by copyright. If you are interested in using CliftonStrengths® theme names and descriptions in your materials, or any other Gallup® content, please visit Gallup’s Permissions page for more information.

Failing to comply with these requirements may end in a revocation of your certified coaching status and subject you to legal accountability.
There are 7 billion people in the world. Imagine if all 7 billion received coaching to maximize their potential this week. It would change how humans develop. Even being coached just once per year to develop strengths can dramatically change one's life journey and improve the odds for an extraordinary life."

— Jim Clifton, Chairman and CEO, Gallup
