PROMOTE ACTIVE LEARNING AND CRITICAL THINKING

An interactive work text to the Student Edition, the Inquiry Journal facilitates the inquiry process. With active learning, students make a deeper connection with the content and develop investigative, critical thinking, and analysis skills—building blocks for active, informed citizens.

- Provides extension activities that strengthen source analysis and evidence-based writing
- Helps students learn how to effectively access and analyze primary and secondary sources
- Offers a citizenship oriented activity for students to make connections and get immersed in taking action in their community

Available in print and online for select Networks titles.
• Students ask their own questions to answer the Essential Question, linking content to bigger ideas and broader themes.
• Additional primary sources include analysis questions that help students strengthen geographic-, economic-, and civic-reasoning, as well as consider multiple perspectives.
• Direct connections to today engage students and build 21st century skills.
• The Report Your Findings section is a powerful tool to synthesize their learning as it circles back to answering the Essential Question.
• Each chapter offers a citizenship oriented activity for students to make real-world connections.

The Constitution is based on the principle of popular sovereignty. As the text notes, “Exercising the right to vote is probably the most important responsibility of a citizen,” but U.S. citizens do not get to vote on Constitutional amendments. These are decided upon through their elected representatives at the local, state, and national levels. Despite this, citizens are entitled to an active role in the lawmaking and Constitutional amendment process. This is done through a variety of means, including making proposals and advocating for them. Have students find out about a proposed Constitutional amendment, or devise their own proposal for a new amendment, and instruct them to devise a plan for citizens to take action to get that amendment passed by Congress and the states.
SyncBlasts™ provides reading and writing assignments called Blasts that present social studies and current event topics relevant to students’ lives and their world. Providing a variety of rich multimedia—including a news show, podcasts, and skills videos—SyncBlasts are an engaging and smart way to build critical thinking, writing, and research skills. New Blasts are published each school day at three Lexile®-levels.

Blasts challenge students to:

- Build vital research, writing, and critical-thinking skills while providing an easy entry point for peer review.
- Develop informed opinions on high-interest topics of cultural significance.
- Express their opinions succinctly, in a familiar, social media-like format.
- Participate in thoughtful discussions with an authentic audience of peers.
HOW IT WORKS

Teachers visit content channels to select and assign Blasts—short reading and writing assignments that inspire students to think critically about high interest topics. Students explore a robust platform of multimedia content to learn about the Blast topic and then complete assignments within our engaging social media-like platform.

Explainer videos
Short, fact-based videos focus on explaining an idea in a simple and compelling manner. Clear, concise language is paired with visuals, quickly teaching a concept prior to a deeper dive or discussion.

“The Point” news show
These videos get to the point with news and global issues. Students watch and become engaged with newscasts produced with peer-aged students.

Effective study time

Smartbook® is an adaptive ebook that utilizes LearnSmart® technology to guide students through reading making every minute a student studies as productive as possible.

Engage students with a personalized reading experience

Every student experiences SmartBook® differently. The interactive challenge format highlights content and helps each student identify content they know, don’t know, and are most likely to forget.

Easy-to-use so students retain what they learned

When LearnSmart® detects content a student is most likely to forget, the student is presented the content for review to improve knowledge retention.

Efficient reporting tools pinpoint learning gaps

Students study more efficiently because they are aware of content they know and don’t know.

Instructor reports identify at-risk students and highlight concepts the class as whole struggles to master.

Experience History: Interpreting America’s Past, AP Edition
(9e) ©2019, Davidson

A Narrative of Social History Through Multiple Perspectives and Interpretations

The first AP adaptation of the best-selling college text now in its 9th edition, this narrative is told from multiple perspectives and highlights how diverse actors have been at the center of US history. Students are lead to a richer engagement with and a deeper understanding of how history is created. Focusing on the lives and actions of ordinary Americans helps students to understand that no event is inevitable, and that the actions of the people create historical moments. Students see themselves as stakeholders in an ongoing historical narrative, rather than passive recipients of a historical legacy that has little to do with their individual lives.

A First-of-its-Kind for Today’s AP Classroom with:

- Critical Thinking features that focus on primary and secondary sources from different eras specifically developed with AP exam rubrics in mind.
- After the Fact, which visually flags key text and images to support the effective use of evidence in constructing a historical argument.
- Robust, adaptive teacher and student resources in the AP advantage.
- A printed Teacher’s Manual.

What Our Customers are Saying

"One of my greatest needs and desires has been fulfilled by the creation of a custom-bound Louisiana Fine Arts textbook. Not only does it cover the areas of fine arts textbook. Not only does it cover the areas of fine arts—it includes the connection of the arts to our everyday lives, and extends to architecture, photography, film and television, and video art. This comprehensive book is currently being used in classrooms across our Caddo district and around Louisiana."
