

LATISSE CONSENT

LATISSE by Allergan is a treatment for hypotrichosis (having inadequate or not enough eyelashes). This once daily prescription medication will enhance the length, thickness, and darkness of eyelashes in as little as eight weeks, with full results at sixteen weeks.

Apply LATISSE once daily at night to the skin of the upper eyelid margins at the base of the eyelashes using the FDA approved applicator. Do NOT apply to the lower eyelid.

LATISSE may cause adverse effects or have side effects of:

- Darkening of the eyelid skin, which may or may not be reversible
- Increased brown pigmentation of the iris (the colored part of the eye) which is likely to be permanent (more of a risk with hazel colored iris)
- Loss of periorbital fat tissue, which creates a “sunken in” appearance of the eyes
- Hair growth in other areas of your skin that LATISSE touches
- Itching eyes
- Redness of the eyes or lid margins

I have read the above information and understand the possible side effects that may occur with use of LATISSE. I also understand that yearly eye examinations are required to obtain and renew a prescription for the medication.
