Larkmead Vineyards is a historic winery located in the Napa Valley region of California, USA. It has a long history in the California wine industry with many stories. The winery was founded in 1895 by Lillie Hitchcock Coit, a colorful and prominent figure in San Francisco's history. One of the key features of Larkmead is its estate vineyard, which is known for its diverse soils and microclimates. This diversity allows the winery to grow a variety of grape varieties. Larkmead Vineyards has gained a reputation for producing high-quality, estate-grown wines that reflect the unique characteristics of the Napa Valley terroir.

Larkmead's 2019 Solari Estate Cabernet makes a fantastic Napa Valley wine that will make you stand out with your business clients, especially those who are prominent for your business. The Solari is the flagship wine at Larkmead Vineyards. As a 100% Cabernet Sauvignon, it is a quintessential Napa Valley wine with an abundance of elegance and complexity. The incredible red spends an impressive 18 months of aging in 70% new French oak and shows off a deep, dark fruit flavor balanced by dried rose petals and baking spices. Morello cherries, bramble berries, and delicate earthen notes offer a glimpse of the distinct Calistoga terroir in which the grapes are grown. Wine enthusiasts will appreciate they can enjoy it now or cellar it for 20+ years. Retail for $200 at larkmead.com.
