

Become a Volunteer for Hospice of Health First

If you are interested in helping those in need who may be faced with a serious illness, consider volunteering for Hospice of Health First.

Hospice volunteers are concerned and caring people who generously donate their time, effort and talent to hospice patients and their families when help is needed most.

To become a volunteer, attend a one-day training class and learn more about the opportunities at Hospice of Health First.

Because everyone's Journey matters.
