JENNIFER BROWN MSN, RN, CPNP, AC/PC

MEMBER SPOTLIGHT

BSN at UT at Austin, 2002; MSN, PNP at UT at Galveston 2009; Post-Masters Acute Care at UT at Arlington 2012

Jen has worked as a Pediatric Hematology/Oncology NP at Dell Children's Medical Center for the last 3 years. Jen has extensive experience in the trauma field, working for 5 years as an RN in DCMC ED and as a Trauma NP in Dallas at Children's Medical Center. During her time as an NP, Jen mentored acute care NP students, created an Orientation Manual and Basic Radiology Notebook for the new Trauma NP and spent time lecturing for the UT at Arlington PNP-AC Program.

FUN FACTS:

- Served as the social chair in 2016 for our NAPNAP chapter
- Played water polo at UT, Hook 'em Horns!
- Traveled to Casablanca, Morocco as a medical volunteer with Operation Smile. She has also traveled to the Dominican Republic and Veracruz, Mexico on medical mission trips providing medical care and medical education.

NP TIP: I would recommend finding a mentor. Learning from someone with experience and a different perspective is an invaluable opportunity, whether you've just started your first job or you're halfway through your career. Having had a guiding hand to help me figure out my role as a nurse practitioner has made an immense difference in my career.

THEY MAY FORGET YOUR NAME, BUT THEY WILL NEVER FORGET HOW YOU
MADE THEM FEEL.
