

If you are a licensed nurse practitioner, I invite you to take part in a voluntary, anonymous one-time, online survey examining your clinical reasoning and confidence that will take approximately 15 minutes to complete.

This DNP research project aims to quantitatively compare and explore the relationship between novice, experienced, and fellowship-trained nurse practitioners' clinical reasoning and confidence using a modified clinical reasoning and self-confidence assessment tool (CRESCAT).

Please click the link or scan the QR code below to take the survey.
