Dear NPCP Members,

One of the greatest strengths of our organization is the opportunity to combine high-quality education with meaningful networking and fellowship among colleagues. We value both aspects of our events and hope members leave each meeting having learned something new while also strengthening professional connections.

As we continue to grow, we'd like to offer a gentle reminder to be mindful of those around us during educational presentations. While conversation and networking are encouraged before and after sessions, minimizing side conversations during presentations helps ensure that everyone can hear, participate, and get the most from the educational experience. This does not mean the expectation is silence during presentations. We encourage engagement with the speaker, and robust conversation on the topic, in a professional manner.

We are grateful to our speakers for sharing their time and expertise and to our members for helping create an atmosphere that is both engaging and respectful.

Thank you for your continued support of NPCP. We look forward to seeing you at upcoming events.

Sincerely,

NPCP Executive Committee
